
CORPUS JURIS SECUNDUM
CJS
PRUDENTIA JURIS PERPETUA

CITE BY TITLE AND SECTION

Thus

43 C.J.S. Infants § 21

CORPUS JURIS SECUNDUM

A COMPLETE RESTATEMENT OF THE ENTIRE AMERICAN LAW

AS DEVELOPED BY

ALL REPORTED CASES

By

DONALD J. KISER, LL. D.

Editor in Chief

Assisted by The Combined Editorial Staffs of
The American Law Book Co. and West Publishing Co.

VOLUME XLIII

Kept to Date by Cumulative Annual Pocket Parts

Hooley-Bundschu Library

88955

Brooklyn, N. Y.

The American Law Book Co.

Copyright, 1945
By
The American Law Book Company

EXPLANATION

THE object in view in preparing Corpus Juris Secundum has been two-fold: First, to provide a complete encyclopedic treatment of the whole body of the law, which means that it must be based upon all the reported cases; Second, to present each title of the law in form and content most suitable as a means of practical reference for the Bench and Bar.

Corpus Juris Secundum is therefore a complete restatement of the entire body of American Law. The clear-cut and exhaustive propositions comprising the text are supported by all the authorities from the earliest times to date. The supporting case citations, conspicuously set out in the notes, point to all decisions handed down since the publication of Corpus Juris. When the searcher may wish to consult earlier authorities, a specific reference to Corpus Juris makes available all cases back to 1658.

Each title is preceded by a complete section analysis, greatly simplified to facilitate research. Where the scope of any section is such as to require it, a more minute analysis is found thereunder in its appropriate place within the title (see Abatement and Revival, Section 112). The convenience of this method—an innovation in encyclopedic writing—must immediately commend itself.

A concise black-letter summary, indicative of its scope, precedes the full treatment or statement of the law under each section. These introductory summaries, concise and free from interlineation of authorities, have proven of great convenience and value in legal research.

An index is found in the back of each volume covering the titles contained therein, thus providing another convenient means of ready access to the text and notes.

Corpus Juris Secundum is kept to date by means of annual cumulative pocket parts for each volume. This feature of supplementation which has proved so successful in modern digests and statutes conveniently, and with certainty, keeps each title constantly to date through current cases and new precedents.

Corpus Juris Secundum represents the combined products of the highest editorial talent and manufacturing skill. Its many excellent editorial features are fittingly accompanied by corresponding innovations and improvements in mechanical arrangement, typography, and design, which the publisher believes will commend themselves to the profession as representing a new standard in legal publications.

THE PUBLISHERS

TABLE OF ABBREVIATIONS

REPORTS AND TEXTBOOKS

A

A.	Atlantic Reporter
A.2d	Atlantic Reporter Second Series
Abb.	Abbott (U.S.)
Abb.Adm.	Abbott's Admiralty (U.S.)
Abb.App.Dec.	Abbott's Appeals Decisions (N.Y.)
Abb.Dec.	Abbott's Decisions (N.Y.)
Abb.N.Cas.	Abbott's New Cases (N.Y.)
Abb.Pr.	Abbott's Practice (N.Y.)
Abb.Pr.N.S.	Abbott's Practice New Series (N.Y.)
A'Beck.Res. Judgm.	A'Beckett's Reserved Judgments (Vict.)
[1917]A.C.	[1917] Appeal Cases (Can.)
[1918]A.C.	Law Reports [1918] Appeal Cases (Eng.)
Acton	Acton (Eng.)
Adams	Adams Reports (N.H.)
AdamsL.J.	Adams County Legal Journal (Pa.)
A.D.2d	Appellate Division Second Series (N.Y.)
Add.	Addison (Pa.)
Add.Eccl.	Addams' Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
A.&E.	Adolphus & Ellis (Eng.)
A.&E.Enc.L.	American & English Encyclopædia of Law
A.&E.Enc.L.&Pr.	American & English Encyclopædia of Law & Practice
Aik.	Aikens (Vt.)
A.K.Marsh.	A. K. Marshall (Ky.)
Ala.	Alabama
Ala.App.	Alabama Appellate Court
Alaska	Alaska
Alb.L.J.	Albany Law Journal
A.L.C.	American Leading Cases
Alc.&N.	Alcott & Napier (Eng.)
Alc.Reg.Cas.	Alcock's Registry Cases (Eng.)
Aleyn	Aleyn (Eng.)
Alison Pr.	Alison's Practice (Sc.)
Allen	Allen (Mass.)
Allen (N.B.)	Allen, New Brunswick
Alta.L.	Alberta Law
A.L.R.	American Law Reports
A.L.R.2d	American Law Reports, Second Series
Am.Bankr.	American Bankruptcy (U.S.)
Ambl.	Ambler (Eng.)
A.M.C.	American Maritime Cases
Am.Corp.Cas.	American Corporation Cases
Am.Cr.	American Criminal
Am.D.	American Decisions
Am.&E.Corp.Cas.	American & English Corporation Cases
Am.&E.Corp.Cas. N.S.	American & English Corporation Cases New Series
Am.&Eng.Ency. Law	American and English Encyclopedia of Law
Am.&Eng.Pat. Cas.	American & English Decisions in Equity
Am.&E.Eq.D.	American and English Patent Cases
Am.&Eng.R.R. Cas.	American and English Railroad Cases
Am.Electr.Cas.	American Electrical Cases
Am.&E.R.Cas.	American & English Railroad Cases
Am.&E.R.Cas.N. S.	American & English Railroad Cases New Series
Am.J.Int.L.	American Journal of International Law
Am.L.J.	American Law Journal (Pa.)
Am.L.J.N.S.	American Law Journal New Series (Pa.)
Am.L.Rec.	American Law Record (Ohio)
Am.L.Reg.	American Law Register
Am.L.Reg.N.S.	American Law Register New Series
Am.Law Reg.O.S.	American Law Register Old Series
Am.L.Rev.	American Law Review
Am.L.T.Bankr.	American Law Times Bankruptcy Reports
Am.Law Inst.	American Law Institute, Restatement of the Law
Am.Negl.Cas.	American Negligence Cases
Am.Negl.R.	American Negligence Reports
A.M.&O.	Armstrong, Macartney & Ogle (Ir.)
Am.Prob.	American Probate
Am.Prob.N.S.	American Probate New Series
Am.Pr.	American Practice
Am.R.	American Reports
Am.R.&Corp.	American Railroad & Corporation
Am.R.Rep.	American Railway Reports
Am.S.R.	American State Reports
Am.St.R.D.	American Street Railway Decisions
And.	Anderson (Eng.)
Andr.	Andrews (Eng.)
Ann.Cas.	American & English Annotated Cases
Ann.Cas.1912A	American Annotated Cases 1912A, et seq.
Anstr.	Anstruther (Eng.)
Anth.N.P.	Anthon's Nisi Prius (N.Y.)
App.D.C.	Appeal Cases (D.C.)
App.Cas.	Law Reports Appeal Cases (Eng.)
App.Div.	Appellate Division (N.Y.)
App.Div.2d	Appellate Division, Second Series (N.Y.)
Ariz.	Arizona
Ark.	Arkansas
Ark.Just.	Arkley's Justiciary (Sc.)
Arn.	Arnold (Eng.)
Arn.&H.	Arnold & Hodges (Eng.)
Ashm.	Ashmead (Pa.)
Aspin.	Aspinall's Maritime Cases (Eng.)
Atk.	Atkyn (Eng.)
Austr.C.L.R.	Commonwealth Law Reports, Australia
Austr.Jur.	Australian Jurist
Austr.L.T.	Australian Law Times

B

Bacon Abr.	Bacon's Abridgment (Eng.)
Bail.Eq.	Bailey's Equity (S.C.)
Bailey	Bailey's Law (S.C.)
B.&Ad.	Barnewall & Adolphus (Eng.)
B.&Ald.	Barnewall & Alderson (Eng.)
Baldw.	Baldwin (U.S.)
Balf.Pr.	Balfour's Practice (Sc.)
Ball&B.	Ball & Beatty (Ir.)
Bank.&Ins.R.	Bankruptcy and Insolvency Reports (Eng.)
Bann.	Bannister (Eng.)
Bann.&A.	Banning & Arden (U.S.)
Barb.	Barbour (N.Y.)
Barb.Ch.	Barbour's Chancery (N.Y.)
B.&Arn.	Barron & Arnold (Eng.)
Barn.	Barnardiston King's Bench (Eng.)
Barn.Ch.	Barnardiston Chancery (Eng.)
Barnes	Barnes' Practice Cases (Eng.)
Barnes Notes	Barnes' Notes (Eng.)
Batty	Batty (Ir.)
B.&Aust.	Barron & Austin (Eng.)
Baxt.	Baxter (Tenn.)
Bay	Bay (S.C.)
B.&B.	Broderip & Bingham (Eng.)
B.C.	British Columbia
B.&C.	Barnewall & Cresswell (Eng.)
B.&Macn.	Browne & Macnamara (Eng.)
B.D.&O.	Blackham, Dundas & Osborne (Ir.)
Beatty	Beatty (Ir.)

Beav.	Beavan (Eng.)
Beav.&Wal.Ry. Cas.	Beavan & Walford's Railway and Canal Cases (Eng.)
Beav.R.&C.Cas.	English Railway and Canal Cases
Beaver	Beaver County Legal Journal (Pa.)
Beaw.Lex.Mer.	Beawes Lex Mercatoria (Eng.)
Bee	Bee (U.S.)
Bell.	Bellewe (Eng.)
Bell App.Cas.	Bell's Appeal Cases (Sc.)
Bell Cas.	Bell's Cases (Sc.)
Bell C.C.	Bell's Crown Cases (Eng.)
Bell Comm.	Bell's Commentaries (Eng.)
Bell Sc.Cas.	Bell's Scotch Court of Session Cases
Ben.	Benedict (U.S.)
Benl.	Benloe (Eng.)
Benl.&D.	Benloe & Dallison (Eng.)
Berks	Berks County Law Journal (Pa.)
B.&H.Cr.Cas.	Bennett & Heard Leading Criminal Cases (Eng.)
Bibb	Bibb (Ky.)
Bing.	Bingham (Eng.)
Bing.N.Cas.	Bingham's New Cases (Eng.)
Binn.	Binney (Pa.)
Biss.	Bissell (U.S.)
Bitt.W.&P.	Bittleson, Wise & Parnell (Eng.)
Black	Black (U.S.)
Black L.D.	Black's Law Dictionary
Blackf.	Blackford (Ind.)
Blackstone Comm.	Blackstone Commentaries
Bla.H.	Henry Blackstone's English Common Pleas (Eng.)
Blair	Blair County (Pa.)
Bland	Bland (Md.)
Bland's Ch.	Bland's Chancery (Md.)
Blatchf.	Blatchford (U.S.)
Blatchf.&H.	Blatchford & Howland (U.S.)
Blatchf.PrizeCas.	Blatchford's Prize Cases (U.S.)
Bligh	Bligh (Eng.)
Bligh N.S.	Bligh New Series (Eng.)
B.Mon.	B. Monroe (Ky.)
Bond	Bond (U.S.)
Bouvier	Bouvier's Law Dictionary
Boyce	Boyce (Del.)
B.&P.	Bosanquet & Puller (Eng.)
B.&P.N.R.	Bosanquet & Puller's New Reports (Eng.)
Bract.	Bracton de Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliæ
Bradf.Surr.	Bradford's Surrogate (N.Y.)
Brayt.	Brayton (Vt.)
B.R.C.	British Ruling Cases
Brev.	Brevard (S.C.)
Brewst.	Brewster (Pa.)
Brightly	Brightly (Pa.)
Brightly El.Cas.	Brightly's Election Cases (Pa.)
Bro.Ch.	Brown's Chancery (Eng.)
Brock.	Brockenbrough (U.S.)
Brock.Cas.	Brockenbrough's Virginia Cases
Brod.&B.	Broderip & Bingham (Eng.)
Brod.&Fr.	Broderick & Fremantle's Ecclesiastical Cases
Brodix Am.&E. Pat.Cas.	Brodix's American & English Patent Cases
Bro.Just.	Broun's Justiciary (Sc.)
Brook Abr.	Brook's Abridgments (Eng.)
Brook N.Cas.	Brook's New Cases (Eng.)
Brooke N.C.	Brooke's New Cases
Bro.P.C.	Brown's Parliament Cases (Eng.)
Brown Adm.	Brown's Admiralty (U.S.)
Brown, Ch.	Brown's Chancery Cases (Eng.)
Brown Ecc.	Brown's Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
Brown N.P.	Brown's Michigan Nisi Prius
Brown,Parl.Cas.	Brown Parliamentary Cases (Eng.)
Browne	Browne (Pa.)
Brown.&L.	Browning & Lushington (Eng.)
Brownl.&G.	Brownlow & Goldesborough (Eng.)
Bruce	Bruce (Sc.)
Brunn.Coll.Cas.	Brunner's Collective Cases (U.S.)
B.&S.	Best & Smith (Eng.)
B.T.A.	Board of Tax Appeals (U.S.)
Buck	Buck (Eng.)
Bucks	Bucks County Law Reporter (Pa.)
Buller N.P.	Buller's Nisi Prius (Eng.)
Bulstr.	Bulstrode (Eng.)
Bunb.	Bunbury (Eng.)
Burn.	Burnett (Wis.)
Burr.	Burrows (Eng.)
Burr.S.Cas.	Burrows' Settlement Cases (Eng.)
Busb.	Busbee (N.C.)
Busb.Eq.	Busbee Equity (N.C.)
Bush	Bush (Ky.)
B.W.C.C.	Butterworth's Workmen's Compensation Cases (Eng.)

C

C.	California Reports
C.2d	California Reports, Second Series
C.A.	Court of Appeals (U.S.)
C.A.	California Appellate Reports
C.A.2d	California Appellate Reports, Second Series
Cab.&E.	Cababe & Ellis (Eng.)
Cai.	Caines (N.Y.)
Cai.Cas.	Caines' Cases (N.Y.)
Cald.	Caldecott (Eng.)
Cal.Rptr.	California Reporter
Call	Call (Va.)
Calthr.	Calthrop (Eng.)
Cal.Unrep.Cas.	California Unreported Cases
Cambria	Cambria County Legal Journal (Pa.)
Cam.Cas.	Cameron's Cases (Can.)
Campb.	Campbell (Eng.)
Canal Zone	Canal Zone Supreme Court
Can.App.Cas.	Canadian Appeal Cases
Can.Cr.Cas.	Canadian Criminal Cases
Can.Exch.	Canadian Exchequer
Can.L.J.	Canada Law Journal
Can.L.J.N.S.	Canada Law Journal New Series
Can.L.T.Occ. Notes	Canadian Law Times Occasional Notes
Can.R.Cas.	Canadian Railway Cases
Can.S.C.	Canada Supreme Court
Cane&L.	Cane & Leigh Crown Cases Reserved (Eng.)
Car.&K.	Carrington & Kirwan (Eng.)
Car.&M.	Carrington & Marshman (Eng.)
Car.&P.	Carrington & Payne (Eng.)
Car.H.&A.	Carrow, Hamerton & Allen (Eng.)
Carp.P.C.	Carpmael Patent Cases (Eng.)
Carter	Carter (Eng.)
Carth.	Carthew (Eng.)
Cartwr.Cas.	Cartwright's Cases (Can.)
Cary	Cary (Eng.)
Cas.	Casey (Pa.)
Cas.t.Hardw.	Cases temp. Hardwicke (Eng.)
Cas.t.Holt	Cases temp. Holt (Eng.)
Cas.t.King	Cases temp. King (Eng.)
Cas.t.Talb.	Cases temp. Talbot (Eng.)
C.B.	Common Bench (Manning, Granger & Scott) (Eng.)
C.B.N.S.	Common Bench New Series (Manning, Granger & Scott New Series) (Eng.)
C.C.A.	Circuit Court of Appeals (U.S.)
C.C.P.A.	Court of Customs and Patent Appeals
Centr.L.J.	Central Law Journal
[1891] Ch.	Law Reports [1891] Chancery (Eng.)
Chamb.Rep.	Chamber (Ont.)
Chandl.	Chandler (Wis.)
Charlt.R.M.	R. M. Charlton (Ga.)
Charlt.T.U.P.	T. U. P. Charlton (Ga.)
Chase	Chase (U.S.)
Ch.Cas.	Cases in Chancery (Eng.)
Ch.Chamb.	Chancery Chambers (U.C.)
Ch.Col.Op.	Chalmers' Colonial Opinions
Ch.D.	Law Reports Chancery Division (Eng.)
Chest.	Chester County (Pa.)
Chev.	Cheves (S.C.)
Chit.	Chitty (Eng.)
Choyce Cas.Ch.	Choyce Cases in Chancery (Eng.)
Ch.Rep.	Chancery Reports (Eng.)
Ch.Sent.	Chancery Sentinel (N.Y.)
Cinc.L.Bul.	Weekly Law Bulletin (Oh.)
Cinc.Super.	Cincinnati Superior Court Reporter (Oh.)
City Ct.R.	City Court Reports (N.Y.)
City Hall Rec.	City Hall Recorder (N.Y.)
Civ.Proc.Rep.	Civil Procedure Reports (N.Y.)

C.J.	Corpus Juris
C.J.Ann.	Corpus Juris Annotations
C.J.S.	Corpus Juris Secundum
C.&K.	Carrington & Kirwan (Eng.)
C.&L.	Connor & Lawson (Ir.)
Cl.App.	Clark's Appeal Cases (Eng.)
Cl.Ch.	Clarke's Chancery (N.Y.)
Clark &F.	Clark & Finnelly (Eng.)
Clark & Fin.N.S.	Clark's House of Lords Cases (Eng.)
Clarke	Clarke's Chancery (N.Y.)
Clarke&S.Dr.Cas.	Clarke & Scully's Drainage Cases (Ont.)
Clarke Ch.	Clarke's Chancery (N.Y.)
Clayt.	Clayton's Reports, York Assizes (Eng.)
C.L.Chamb.	Chamber's Common Law (U.C.)
Clev.L.Rec.	Cleveland Law Record (Oh.)
Clev.L.Rep.	Cleveland Law Reporter (Oh.)
Cl.&F.	Clark & Finnelly (Eng.)
Clif.El.Cas.	Clifford's Southwick Election Cases
Cliff.	Clifford (U.S.)
C.L.R.	Common Law Reports (Eng.)
C.&M.	Carrington & Marshman (Eng.)
C.M.&R.	Crompton, Meeson & Roscoe (Eng.)
Cock.&Rowe	Cockburn & Rowe's Election Cases
Code Rep.	Code Reporter (N.Y.)
Code Rep.N.S.	Code Reports New Series (N.Y.)
Coff.Prob.	Coffey's Probate (Cal.)
Co.Inst.	Coke's Institutes
Coke	Coke (Eng.)
Col.Cas.	Coleman's Cases (N.Y.)
Col.&C.Cas.	Coleman & Caines' Cases (N.Y.)
Col.C.C.	Collyer's Chancery Cases (Eng.)
Coldw.	Coldwell (Tenn.)
Coll.	Collyer (Eng.)
Col.L.Rep.	Colorado Law Reporter
Col.Law Review	Columbia Law Review
Coll.&E.Bank.	Collier and Eaton's American Bankruptcy Reports
Colles	Colles' Cases in Parliament (Eng.)
Colo.	Colorado
Colo.App.	Colorado Appeals
Colq.	Colquit
Coltm.	Coltman (Eng.)
Comb.	Comberbach (Eng.)
Com.Cas.	Commercial Cases (Eng.)
Com.L.	Commercial Law (Can.)
Comptr.Treas. Dec.	Comptroller, Treasury Decisions
Comst.	Comstock (N.Y.)
Comyns	Comyns (Eng.)
Comyns Dig.	Comyns Digest (Eng.)
Con.&Law.	Connor & Lawson (Ir.)
Conf.	Conference Reports (N.C.)
Conn.	Connecticut
Conn.Sup.	Connecticut Supplement
Conn.Surr.	Connolly's Surrogate (N.Y.)
Const.	Constitutional Reports (N.C.)
Cooke	Cooke (Eng.)
Cooke	Cooke (Tenn.)
Cooke & A.	Cooke & Alcock (Ir.)
Cook Vice-Adm.	Cook's Vice-Admiralty (L.C.)
Coop.	Cooper's Chancery (Eng.)
Coop.Pr.Cas.	Cooper's Practice Cases (Eng.)
Coop.t.Brough.	Cooper's Cases temp. Brougham (Eng.)
Coop.t.Cott.	Cooper's Cases temp. Cottenham (Eng.)
Coop.t.Eld.	Cooper's Cases tempore Eldon (Eng.)
Co.P.C.	Coke's Reports (Eng.)
Corb.&D.	Corbett & Daniell's Election Cases (Eng.)
Court.&Macl.	Courtney & Maclean (Sc.)
Cow.	Cowen (N.Y.)
Cow.Cr.Rep.	Cowen's Criminal (N.Y.)
Cowp.	Cowper (Eng.)
Cox Am.T.M.Cas.	Cox's American Trade-Mark Cases
Cox C.C.	Cox's Criminal Cases (Eng.)
Cox Ch.	Cox's Chancery (Eng.)
Cox &Atk.	Cox & Atkinson (Eng.)
C.&P.	Carrington & Payne (Eng.)
C.P.C.	C. P. Cooper's Chancery Practice Cases (Eng.)
C.P.D.	Law Reports Common Pleas Division (Eng.)
Crabbe	Crabbe (U.S.)
Cranch	Cranch (U.S.)
Cranch C.C.	Cranch's Circuit Court (U.S.)
Cranch Pat.Dec.	Cranch's Patent Decisions (U.S.)
Cr.App.	Criminal Appeals (Eng.)
Crawf.&D.	Crawford & Dix (Ir.)
Crawf.&D.Abr. Cas.	Crawford & Dix's Abridged Cases (Ir.)
Cripp's Ch.Cas.	Cripp's Church and Clergy Cases
Cr.L.Mag.	Criminal Law Magazine
Cr.&Ph.	Craig & Phillips (Eng.)
C.Rob.	Christopher Robinson's Admiralty (Eng.)
Cro.Car.	Croke Charles (Eng.)
Cro.Eliz.	Croke Elizabeth (Eng.)
Cro.Jac.	Croke's Reports tempore James (Jacobus) (Eng.)
Cromp.&J.	Crompton & Jervis (Eng.)
Cromp.&M.	Crompton & Meeson (Eng.)
Crosw.Pat.Cas.	Croswell's Collection of Patent Cases (U.S.)
Cr.&Ph.	Craig & Phillips (Eng.)
Ct.Cl.	Court of Claims (U.S.)
Ct.Cust.& Pat. App.	Court of Customs and Patent Appeals
Cumb.	Cumberland Law Journal (Pa.)
Cunn.	Cunningham (Eng.)
Curt.	Curtis (U.S.)
Curt.Eccl.	Curteis Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
Cush.	Cushing (Mass.)
Cust.A.	United States Customs Appeals
Cyc.	Cyclopedia of Law & Procedure
Cyc.Ann.	Cyclopedia of Law & Procedure Annotations

D

Dak.	Dakota
Dal.C.P.	Dalison's Common Pleas (Eng.)
Dall.	Dallaman's Decisions (Tex.)
Dall.	Dallas (Pa.)
Dall.	Dallas (U.S.)
Dalr.Dec.	Dalrymple's Decisions (Sc.)
Daly	Daly (N.Y.)
Dan.	Daniell (Eng.)
Dana	Dana (Ky.)
Dane Abr.	Dane's Abridgment
Dans.&L.	Danson & Lloyd (Eng.)
D'Anv.Abr.	D'Anver's Abridgment (Eng.)
Dauph.	Dauphin County (Pa.)
Dav.&M.	Davison & Merivale (Eng.)
Davys	Davys (Ir.)
Day	Day (Conn.)
D.B.&M.	Dunlop, Bell & Murray (Sc.)
D.C.	District of Columbia
D. & C.	District and County (Pa.)
D. & C.2d	District and County, Second Series (Pa.)
D.Chipm.	D. Chipman (Vt.)
D.C.Mun.App.	Municipal Court of Appeals (D.C.)
Deac.	Deacon (Eng.)
Deac.&C.	Deacon & Chitty (Eng.)
Deady	Deady (U.S.)
Dears.&B.	Dearsley & Bell (Eng.)
Dears.C.C.	Dearsley's Crown Cases (Eng.)
Deas & A.	Deas & Anderson (Eng.)
De Gex	De Gex (Eng.)
De G.F.&J.	De Gex, Fisher & Jones (Eng.)
De G.J.&S.	De Gex, Jones & Smith (Eng.)
De G.&J.	De Gex & Jones (Eng.)
De G.M.&G.	De Gex, MacNaghten & Gordon (Eng.)
De G.&Sm.	De Gex & Smale (Eng.)
Del.	Delaware
Del.Ch.	Delaware Chancery
Del.Co.	Delaware County (Pa.)
Dem.Surr.	Demarest's Surrogate (N.Y.)
Den.	Denio (N.Y.)
Den.C.C.	Denison's Crown Cases (Eng.)
Desaus.Eq.	Desaussure (S.C.)
Dev.Ct.Cl.	Devereux's Court of Claims (U.S.)
Dev.L.	Devereux (N.C.)
Dev.&Bat.	Devereux & Battle (N.C.)
Dick.	Dickens (Sc.)
Dill.	Dillon (U.S.)
Dirl.Dec.	Dirleton's Decisions (Sc.)
Disn.	Disney (Oh.)
D.&L.	Dowling & Lowndes (Eng.)
Dods.	Dodson's Admiralty (Eng.)

Dom.L.R.	Dominion Law Reports (Can.)
Donnelly	Donnelly (Eng.)
Dorion	Dorion (L.C.)
Dougl.	Douglas (Eng.)
Dougl.	Douglass (Mich.)
Dougl.El.Cas.	Douglas' Election Cases (Eng.)
Dow	Dow (Eng.)
Dow & Cl.	Dow & Clark (Eng.)
Dow.& L.	Dowling & Lowndes (Eng.)
Dow.N.S.	Dowling, New Series (Eng.)
Dowl.	Dowling's English Bail Court (Practice) Cases
Dowl.P.C.	Dowling's Practice Cases (Eng.)
Dowl.P.C.N.S.	Dowling's Practice Cases New Series (Eng.)
D.&R.	Dowling & Ryland (Eng.)
Draper	Draper (U.C.)
Drew.	Drewry (Eng.)
Drinkw.	Drinkwater (Eng.)
D.&R.Mag.Cas.	Dowling & Ryland's Magistrate Cases (Eng.)
D.&R.N.P.	Dowling & Ryland's Nisi Prius (Eng.)
Dr.&Sm.	Drewry & Smale (Eng.)
Drury	Drury (Ir.)
Dr.&Wal.	Drury & Walsh (Ir.)
Dr.&War.	Drury & Warren (Ir.)
D.&Sw.	Deane & Swabey (Eng.)
Dud.Eq.	Dudley (S.C.)
Dudl.	Dudley (Ga.)
Duer	Duer's Superior Court (N.Y.)
Dunl.B.&M.	Dunlop, Bell & Murray (Sc.)
Dunlop	Dunlop (Sc.)
Dunn.	Dunning (Eng.)
Durie	Durie (Sc.)
Durn.&E.	Durnford & East (Eng.)
Duv.	Duvall (Ky.)
Dyer	Dyer (Eng.)

E

East	East (Eng.)
East.L.R.	Eastern Law Reporter (Can.)
East P.C.	East's Pleas of the Crown (Eng.)
East.T.	Eastern Term (Eng.)
E.&B.	Ellis & Blackburn (Eng.)
E.B.&E.	Ellis, Blackburn & Ellis (Eng.)
E.B.&S.	Ellis, Best & Smith (Eng.)
E.C.L.	English Common Law
Eden	Eden (Eng.)
Edgar	Edgar (Sc.)
Edm.Sel.Cas.	Edmond's Select Cases (N.Y.)
E. D. Smith	E. D. Smith (N.Y.)
Edw.	Edwards (Eng.)
Edw.	Edwards' Chancery (N.Y.)
Edw.Abr.	Edwards' Abridgment of Prerogative Court Cases
Edw.Adm.	Edwards' Admiralty (Eng.)
E.&E.	Ellis & Ellis (Eng.)
Em.App.	Emergency Court of Appeals (U.S.)
Enc.Pl.&Pr.	Encyclopædia of Pleading & Practice
Ency.Law	American and English Encyclopædia of Law
Eng.Ad.	English Admiralty
Eng.C.C.	English Crown Cases
Eng.Ch.	English Chancery
Eng.Eccl.	English Ecclesiastical Reports
Eng.Ecc.R.	English Ecclesiastical Reports
Eng.Exch.	English Exchequer Reports
Eng.L.&Eq.	English Law & Equity
Eng.Rep.R.	English Reports, Full Reprint
Eng.Ry.&C.Cas.	English Railway and Canal Cases
Eng.&Ir.App.	Law Reports, English and Irish Appeal Cases
Eq.Cas.Abr.	Equity Cases Abridged (Eng.)
Eq.Rep.	Equity Reports (Eng.)
E.R.C.	English Ruling Cases
Erie	Erie County Law Journal (Pa.)
Esp.	Espinasse's Nisi Prius (Eng.)
Euer	Euer (Eng.)
Exch.	Exchequer (Eng.)
Exch.Cas.	Exchequer Cases (Sc.)
Ex.D.	Law Reports Exchequer Division (Eng.)
Eyre	Eyre's Reports (Eng.)

F

Falc.	Falconer's Court of Sessions (Sc.)
Falc.&F.	Falconer & Fitzherbert (Eng.)
Far.	Farresley (Eng.)
Fay.L.J.	Fayette Legal Journal (Pa.)
F.Cas.No.	Federal Cases (U.S.)
F.(Ct.Sess.)	Fraser's Court of Sessions Cases (Sc.)
F.	Federal Reporter (U.S.)
F.2d	Federal Reporter Second Series
F.R.D.	Federal Rules Decisions
F.Supp.	Federal Supplement
Ferg.Cons.	Ferguson's Consistory (Eng.)
F.&F.	Foster & Finlason (Eng.)
Fiduciary	Fiduciary Reporter (Pa.)
Fish.Pat.Cas.	Fisher's Patent Cases (U.S.)
Fish.Pat.R.	Fisher's Patent Reports (U.S.)
Fish.PrizeCas.	Fisher's Prize Cases (U.S.)
Fitzg.	Fitzgibbon (Eng.)
Fitzh.	Fitzherbert's Abridgment (Eng.)
Fitzh.N.Br.	Fitzherbert's Natura Brevium (Eng.)
Fla.	Florida
Flipp.	Flippin (U.S.)
Fl.&K.	Flanagan & Kelly (Ir.)
Fonb.Eq.	Fonblanque's Equity (Eng.)
Fonbl.	Fonblanque (Eng.)
Fonbl.R.	Fonblanque's English Cases
Forbes	Forbes (Eng.)
Forr.	Forrest (Eng.)
Forrester	Forrester's Cases (Eng.)
Fortesc.	Fortescue (Eng.)
Fost.	Foster (Eng.)
Fost.	Foster (N.H.)
Fost.&Fin.	Foster & Finlason (Eng.)
Fount.Dec.	Fountainhall's Decisions (Sc.)
Fox	Fox Reports (Eng.)
Fox & S.	Fox & Smith (Ir.)
Freem.	Freeman's Chancery (Eng.)
Freem.	Freeman's Chancery (Miss.)
Freem.K.B.	Freeman's King's Bench (Eng.)

G

Ga.	Georgia
Ga.App.	Georgia Appeals
Ga.Dec.	Georgia Decisions
Gale	Gale (Eng.)
Gal.	Gallison (U.S.)
G.Coop.	G. Cooper (Eng.)
G.&D.	Gale & Davidson (Eng.)
Geld.&M.	Geldart & Maddock (Eng.)
Gibb.Surr.	Gibbon's Surrogate (N.Y.)
Giffard	Giffard (Eng.)
Giff.&H.	Giffard and Hemming (Eng.)
Gil.	Gilfillan's Edition (Minn.)
Gilb.	Gilbert's (Eng.)
Gilb.Cas.	Gilbert's Cases (Eng.)
Gilb.C.P.	Gilbert's Common Pleas (Eng.)
Gilb.Exch.	Gilbert's Exchequer (Eng.)
Gill	Gill (Md.)
Gill&J.	Gill & Johnson (Md.)
Gilm.	Gilmer (Va.)
Gilm.&Falc.	Gilmour & Falconer (Sc.)
Gilp.	Gilpin (U.S.)
Glasc.	Glascock (Ir.)
Glyn&J.	Glyn & Jameson (Eng.)
Godb.	Godbolt (Eng.)
Godo.	Godolphin's Abridgment of Ecclesiastical Law
Goeb.	Goebel's Probate Court Cases
Gosf.	Gosford (Eng.)
Gouldsb.	Gouldsborough (Eng.)
Gow	Gow (Eng.)
Gow N.P.	Gow's English Nisi Prius Cases
Grant	Grant's Cases (Pa.)
Grant Ch.	Grant's Chancery (U.C.)
Grant Err.&App.	Grant's Error & Appeal (U.C.)
Gratt.	Grattan (Va.)
Gray	Gray (Mass.)
Green Cr.	Green's Criminal Law (Eng.)
Greene	Greene (Iowa)
Gwill.T.Cas.	Gwillim's Tithe Cases (Eng.)

H

Hadd.	Haddington (Eng.)
Hagg.Adm.	Haggard's Admiralty (Eng.)

Hagg.Cons.	Haggard's Consistory (Eng.)
Hagg.Eccl.	Haggard's Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
Hailes Dec.	Hailes' Decisions (Sc.)
Hale	Hale's Common Law (Eng.)
Hale Ecc.	Hale's Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
Hale P.C.	Hale's Pleas of the Crown (Eng.)
Hall	Hall's Superior Court (N.Y.)
Hall&T.	Hall & Twells (Eng.)
Halsbury L.Eng.	Halsbury's Law of England
Handy	Handy (Oh.)
Han.(N.B.)	Hannay's Reports, New Brunswick
Hard.	Hardin (Ky.)
Hardres	Hardres (Eng.)
Hare	Hare (Eng.)
Harp.Eq.	Harper (S.C.)
Harr.	Harrison's Chancery (Mich.)
Harr.Del.	Harrington (Del.)
Harr.Mich.	Harrington's Michigan Chancery Reports
Harr.&G.	Harris & Gill (Md.)
Harr.Ch.	Harrison's Chancery (Eng.)
Harr.&H.	Harrison & Hodgins (U.C.)
Harr.&J.	Harris & Johnson (Md.)
Harr.&M.	Harris & McHenry (Md.)
Harr.&R.	Harrison & Rutherford (Eng.)
Harr.&W.	Harrison & Wollaston (Eng.)
Hask.	Haskell (U.S.)
Havil.	Haviland (Pr.Edw.Isl.)
Hawaii	Hawaiian
Hawaii Fed.	Hawaiian Federal
Hawaii Rep.	Hawaii Reports
Hawk.P.C.	Hawkins' Pleas of the Crown (Eng.)
Hay.Exch.	Hayes Exchequer (Ir.)
Hayes	Hayes (Ir.)
Hayes&J.	Hayes & Jones (Ir.)
Hay&M.	Hay & Marriott (Eng.)
Hayw.	Haywood (N.C.)
Hayw.	Haywood (Tenn.)
Hayw.&H.	Haywood & Hazelton (U.S.)
Haz.Reg.	Hazard's Register (Pa.)
H.Bl.	Henry Blackstone (Eng.)
H.&C.	Hurlstone & Coltman (Eng.)
Head	Head (Tenn.)
Heisk.	Heiskell (Tenn.)
Hem.&M.	Hemming & Miller (Eng.)
Hempst.	Hempstead (U.S.)
Hen.&M.	Hening & Munford (Va.)
Het.	Hetley (Eng.)
Het.C.P.	Hetley's Common Pleas (Eng.)
H.&H.	Horn & Hurlstone (Eng.)
Hill	Hill (N.Y.)
Hill S.C.	Hill (S.C.)
Hill &Den.	Hill & Denio (N.Y.)
Hill &Den.Supp.	Lalor's Supplement to Hill & Denio's (N.Y.)
Hilt.	Hilton (N.Y.)
Hil.T.	Hilary Term (Eng.)
H.L.Cas.	House of Lords Cases (Eng.)
H.&N.	Hurlstone & Norman (Eng.)
Hob.	Hobart (Eng.)
Hodg.El.	Hodgins' Election (U.C.)
Hodges	Hodges (Eng.)
Hoffm.	Hoffman's Chancery (N.Y.)
Hoffm.Land Cas.	Hoffman's Land Cases (U.S.)
Hog.	Hogan (Ir.)
Holmes	Holmes (U.S.)
Holt's Adm.Cas.	Holt's English Admiralty Cases
Holt Eq.	Holt's Equity (Eng.)
Holt K.B.	Holt's King's Bench (Eng.)
Holt N.P.	Holt's Nisi Prius (Eng.)
Home	Home (Sc.)
Hope Dec.	Hope's Decisions (Sc.)
Hopk.	Hopkins' Chancery (N.Y.)
Hopk.Dec.	Hopkins' Decisions (Pa.)
Hopw.&C.	Hopwood & Coltman (Eng.)
Hopw.&P.	Hopwood & Philbrick (Eng.)
Hosea	Hosea (Ohio)
Houst.	Houston (Del.)
Houst.Cr.	Houston's Criminal Cases (Del.)
How.	Howard (U.S.)
How.Miss.	Howard (Miss.)
How.A.Cas.	Howard's Appeal Cases (N.Y.)
How.N.P.	Howell's Nisi Prius (Mich.)
How.Pr.	Howard's Practice (N.Y.)
How.Pr.N.S.	Howard's Practice New Series (N.Y.)
How.St.Tr.	Howell's State Trials (Eng.)
Hud.&B.	Hudson & Brooke (Ir.)
Hughes	Hughes (Ky.)
Hughes	Hughes (U.S.)
Hume	Hume's Decisions (Sc.)
Humphr.	Humphreys (Tenn.)
Hun	Hun (N.Y.)
Hurl.&Gord.	Hurlstone & Gordon (Eng.)
Hurl.&W.	Hurlstone & Walmsley (Eng.)
Hutt.	Hutton (Eng.)

I

Idaho	Idaho
Iddings D.R.D.	Iddings Dayton Term Reports
I.L.E.	Indiana Law Encyclopedia
Ill.	Illinois Reports
Ill.2d	Illinois Reports, Second Series
Ill.App.	Illinois Appellate Court Reports
Ill.App.2d	Illinois Appellate Court Reports, Second Series
Ill.Cir.	Illinois Circuit Court
I.L.P.	Illinois Law and Practice
Ind.	Indiana
Ind.App.	Indiana Appellate Court
Ind.T.	Indian Territory
Ins.L.J.	Insurance Law Journal
Int.Com.Commn.	Interstate Commerce Commission
Int.Com.Rep.	Interstate Commerce Reports
Int.Rev.Rec.	Internal Revenue Record
Iowa	Iowa
[1891] Ir.	Law Reports [1891] Irish
Ir.Ch.	Irish Chancery
Ir.C.L.	Irish Common Law
Ir.Eccl.	Irish Ecclesiastical Reports
Ired.	Iredell (N.C.)
Ir.Eq.	Irish Equity
Ir.Law Rep.	Irish Law Reports
Ir.Law& Eq.	Irish Law and Equity Reports
Ir.R.1894.	Irish Law Reports for Year 1894
Ir.R.C.L.	Irish Reports Common Law
Ir.R.Eq.	Irish Reports Equity
Irv.Just.	Irvine's Justiciary Cases (Eng.)

J

Jac.	Jacob (Eng.)
Jac.&W.	Jacob & Walker (Eng.)
J.Bridgm.	John Bridgman (Eng.)
J.&C.	Jones & Carey (Ir.)
Jebb &B.	Jebb & Bourke (Ir.)
Jebb C.C.	Jebb's Crown Cases (Ir.)
Jebb&S.	Jebb & Symes (Ir.)
Jeff.	Jefferson (Va.)
Jenk.	Jenkins (Eng.)
J.J.Marsh.	J. J. Marshall (Ky.)
J.&L.	Jones & La Touche (Eng.)
Johns.	Johnson (Eng.)
Johns.	Johnson (N.Y.)
Johns.Cas.	Johnson's Cases (N.Y.)
Johns.Ch.	Johnson's Chancery (N.Y.)
Johns.V.C.	Johnson's English Vice-Chancellors (Eng.)
Johns.&H.	Johnson & Hemming (Eng.)
Jones Exch.	Jones Exchequer (Ir.)
Jones T.	Sir Thomas Jones' English King's Bench Reports
Jones W.	Sir William Jones' English King's Bench Reports
Jones&Spen.	Jones & Spencer (N.Y.)
Journ.Jur.	Journal of Jurisprudence (Pa.)
J.P.	Justice of Peace (Eng.)
Jur.	Jurist (Eng.)
Jur.N.S.	Jurist New Series (Eng.)
Just.L.R.	Justices' Law Reporter (Pa.)

K

Kames Dec.	Kames' Decisions (Sc.)
Kames Elucid.	Kames' Elucidation (Sc.)
Kames Rem.Dec.	Kames' Remarkable Decisions (Sc.)
Kames Sel.Dec.	Kames' Select Decisions (Sc.)
Kan.	Kansas
Kan.App.	Kansas Appeals
Kay	Kay (Eng.)
Kay&J.	Kay & Johnson (Eng.)
[1917]K.B.	Law Reports [1917] King's Bench (Eng.)
Keane &Gr.	Keane & Grant (Eng.)

Keb.	Keble (Eng.)
Keen	Keen (Eng.)
Keil.	Keilwey (Eng.)
Keilw.	Keilway (Eng.)
Kel.C.C.	Kelyng's Crown Cases (Eng.)
Kelly	Kelly (Ga.)
Kelyng, J.	Kelyng's English Crown Cases
Kelynge, W.	Kelynge's Chancery (Eng.)
Keyes	Keyes (N.Y.)
K.&G.	Keane & Grant (Eng.)
Kilk.	Kilkerran's Decisions (Sc.)
Kirby	Kirby (Conn.)
Knapp	Knapp (Eng.)
Knapp&O.	Knapp & Ombler (Eng.)
Kn.&Moo.	Knapp & Moore (Eng.)
Knox	Knox (N.S.Wales)
Knox&F.	Knox & Fitzhardinge (N.S.Wales)
Kulp	Kulp (Pa.)
Ky.	Kentucky
Ky.Dec.	Kentucky Decisions
Ky.L.	Kentucky Law Reporter
Ky.Op.	Kentucky Opinions

L

La.	Louisiana
La.App.	Louisiana Court of Appeals
La.A.(Orleans)	Court of Appeal, Parish of Orleans
La.Ann.	Louisiana Annual
Lab.	Labatt's District Court (Cal.)
Lack.Bar	Lackawanna Bar (Pa.)
Lack.Jur.	Lackawanna Jurist (Pa.)
Lack.Leg.N.	Lackawanna Legal News (Pa.)
Lack.Leg.Rec.	Lackawanna Legal Record (Pa.)
Lalor	Lalor's Supplement to Hill & Denio (N.Y.)
Lanc.Bar	Lancaster Bar (Pa.)
Lanc.Rev.	Lancaster Law Review (Pa.)
Land Dec.	Land Decisions (U.S.)
Lane	Lane (Eng.)
Lans.	Lansing (N.Y.)
Lans.Ch.	Lansing Chancery Decisions (N.Y.)
Latch	Latch (Eng.)
Law Rep.N.S.	Law Reports New Series (N.Y.)
Law.L.J.	Lawrence Law Journal (Pa.)
L.C.	Lower Canada
L.&C.	Leigh & Cave (Eng.)
L.C.Jur.	Lower Canada Jurist
L.C.L.J.	Lower Canada Law Journal
L.C.Rep.S.Qu.	Lower Canada Reports Seignorial Questions
L.D.	Law Dictionary
Ld.Ken.	Lord Kenyon (Eng.)
Ld.Raym.	Lord Raymond (Eng.)
Lea	Lea (Tenn.)
Leach C.C.	Leach's Crown Cases (Eng.)
Lebanon	Lebanon County Legal Journal (Pa.)
L.Ed.	Lawyers' Edition United States Supreme Court
L.Ed.2d	Lawyer's Edition United States Supreme Court, Second Series
Lee Eccl.	Lee's Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
Lee t.Hardw.	Lee temp. Hardwicke (Eng.)
Lef.Dec.	Lefevre's Parliamentary Decisions (Eng.)
Leg.Chron.	Legal Chronicle (Pa.)
Leg.Gaz.	Legal Gazette (Pa.)
Leg.&Ins.R.	Legal & Insurance Reporter (Pa.)
Leg.Int.	Legal Intelligencer (Pa.)
Leg.Op.	Legal Opinions (Pa.)
Leg.Rec.	Legal Record (Pa.)
Leh.L.J.	Lehigh County Law Journal (Pa.)
Lehigh Val.L.R.	Lehigh Valley Law Reporter (Pa.)
Leigh	Leigh (Va.)
Leigh&C.	Leigh & Cave's English Crown Cases
Leon.	Leonard (Eng.)
Lev.	Levinz (Eng.)
Lew.C.C.	Lewin's Crown Cases (Eng.)
Ley	Ley (Eng.)
L.G.	Law Glossary
Liberian L.	Liberian Law
Litt.	Littell (Ky.)
Litt.	Littleton (Eng.)
Litt.Sel.Cas.	Littell's Select Cases (Ky.)
L.J.Adm.	Law Journal Admiralty New Series (Eng.)
L.J.Bankr.	Law Journal Bankruptcy New Series (Eng.)
L.J.Ch.	Law Journal Chancery New Series (Eng.)
L.J.Ch.O.S.	Law Journal Chancery Old Series (Eng.)
L.J.C.P.	Law Journal Common Pleas New Series (Eng.)
L.J.C.P.O.S.	Law Journal Common Pleas Old Series (Eng.)
L.J.Eccl.	Law Journal Ecclesiastical New Series (Eng.)
L.J.Exch.	Law Journal Exchequer New Series (Eng.)
L.J.Exch.O.S.	Law Journal Exchequer Old Series (Eng.)
L.J.K.B.	Law Journal King's Bench New Series (Eng.)
L.J.K.B.O.S	Law Journal King's Bench Old Series (Eng.)
L.J.M.C.	Law Journal Magistrate Cases New Series (Eng.)
L.J.M.C.O.S	Law Journal Magistrate Cases Old Series (Eng.)
L.J.P.C.	Law Journal Privy Council New Series (Eng.)
L.J.P.D.&Adm.	Law Journal Probate Divorce & Admiralty New Series (Eng.)
L.J.P.&M.	Law Journal Probate & Matrimonial New Series (Eng.)
L.J.Q.B.	Law Journal Queen's Bench New Series (Eng.)
L.J.Rep.	Law Journal Reports (Eng.)
Ll.&G.t.Pl.	Lloyd & Goold temp. Plunket (Ir.)
Ll.&G.t.S.	Lloyd & Goold temp. Sugden (Ir.)
Ll.&W.	Lloyd & Welsby (Eng.)
L.&M.	Lowndes & Maxwell (Eng.)
L.M.&P.	Lowndes, Maxwell & Pollack (Eng.)
Loc.Gov.	Local Government (Eng.)
Lofft	Lofft (Eng.)
Longf.&T.	Longfield & Townsend (Ir.)
Low.Can.Seign.	Lower Canada Seignorial Reports
Lowell	Lowell (U.S.)
L.R.	Law Reports (U.S.)
L.R.A.	Lawyers' Reports Annotated
L.R.A.1915A	Lawyers' Reports Annotated 1915A
L.R.App.Cas.	English Law Reports, Appeal Cases (Eng.)
L.R.A.&E.	Law Reports Admiralty & Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
L.R.A.N.S.	Lawyers' Reports Annotated New Series
L.R.C.C.	Law Reports Crown Cases (Eng.)
L.R.Ch.	Law Reports Chancery Appeal Cases (Eng.)
L.R.C.P.	Law Reports Common Pleas Cases (Eng.)
L.R.Eq.	Law Reports Equity Cases (Eng.)
L.R.Exch.	Law Reports Exchequer Cases (Eng.)
L.R.H.L.	Law Reports House of Lords (English & Irish Appeal Cases)
L.R.H.L.Sc.	Law Reports House of Lords (Scotch Appeal Cases)
L.R.Indian App.	Law Reports Indian Appeals (Eng.)
L.R.Ir.	Law Reports Irish
L.R.P.C.	Law Reports Privy Council (Eng.)
L.R.P.&D.	Law Reports Probate & Divorce (Eng.)
L.R.Q.B.	Law Reports Queen's Bench Cases (Eng.)
L.T.	Law Times (Pa.)
L.T.N.S.	Law Times, New Series (Pa.)
L.T.O.S.	Law Times, Old Series (Eng.)
L.T.O.S.	Law Times, Old Series (Pa.)
L.T.Rep.N.S.	Law Times Reports, New Series (Eng.)
Lush.	Lushington's Admiralty (Eng.)
Lutw.	Lutwyche (Eng.)
Lutw.Reg.Cas.	Lutwyche's Registration Cases (Eng.)
Luz.Leg.Obs.	Luzerne Legal Observer (Pa.)
Luz.Leg.Reg.	Luzerne Legal Register (Pa.)
Luz.L.J.	Luzerne Law Journal (Pa.)
Lycoming	Lycoming Reporter (Pa.)
Lynd.Prov.	Lyndwood's Provinciales

M

MacA.Pat.Cas.	MacArthur's Patent Cases (D.C.)
MacArth.	MacArthur's District of Columbia Reports

MacAr.&M.	MacArthur & Mackey's District of Columbia Reports
Maccl.	Macclesfield (Eng.)
MacFarl.	MacFarlane (Sc.)
Mackey	Mackey's Reports, District of Columbia
Macl.&R.	Maclean & Robinson (Eng.)
Macn.&G.	Macnaghten & Gordon (Eng.)
Macph.	Macpherson (Sc.)
Macph.S.&L.	Macpherson, Shirreff & Lee (Sc.)
Macq.	Macqueen's Scotch Appeal Cases
Madd.	Maddock (Eng.)
Madd.Ch.Pr.	Maddock's Chancery Practice (Eng.)
Malloy	Malloy (Ir.)
Man.	Manitoba Law
Man.El.Cas.	Manning's Election Cases (Eng.)
Man.Exch.Pr.	Manning's Exchequer Practice (Eng.)
Man.Gr.&S.	Manning, Granger & Scott (Eng.)
Man.L.J.	Manitoba Law Journal
Man.&Ry.	Manning & Ryland (Eng.)
Man.&Ry.Mag. Cas.	Manning & Ryland's Magistrates' Cases (Eng.)
Man.&S.	Manning & Scott (Eng.)
Man.Unrep.Cas.	Manning's Unreported Cases (La.)
Manson	Manson (Eng.)
Man.t.Wood	Manitoba temp. Wood
March	March (Eng.)
Mar.Prov.	Maritime Province Reports (Can.)
Mars.Adm.	Marsden's Admiralty (Eng.)
Marsh.	Marshall (Eng.)
Marsh.J.J.	J. J. Marshall (Ky.)
Mart.	Martin Old Series (La.)
Mart.	Martin (N.C.)
Mart.N.S.	Martin New Series (La.)
Mart.&Y.	Martin & Yerger (Tenn.)
Marv.	Marvel (Del.)
Mason	Mason (U.S.)
Mass.	Massachusetts
Maule & S.	Maule & Selwyn (Eng.)
Mayn.	Maynard (Eng.)
McAll.	McAllister (U.S.)
McC.	McCahon (Kan.)
McClell.	McClelland (Eng.)
McClell.&Y.	McClelland & Younge (Eng.)
McCord	McCord (S.C.)
McCrary	McCrary (U.S.)
McG.	McGloin (La.)
McLean	McLean (U.S.)
McMul.	McMullan (S.C.)
Md.	Maryland
Md.Ch.	Maryland Chancery
Me.	Maine
Mees.&Ros.	Meeson & Roscoe (Eng.)
Mees.&W.	Meeson & Welsby (Eng.)
Meg.	Megone (Eng.)
Meigs	Meigs (Tenn.)
Menzies Cape of Good Hope	Menzies Cape of Good Hope
Meriv.	Merivale (Eng.)
Metc.	Metcalf (Mass.)
Metc.	Metcalfe (Ky.)
M.&G.	Manning & Granger (Eng.)
M.&H.	Murphy & Hurlstone (Eng.)
Mich.	Michigan
Mich.N.P.	Michigan Nisi Prius
Mich.T.	Michaelmas Term (Eng.)
Miles	Miles (Pa.)
Mill Const.	Mill's Constitutional (S.C.)
Mill.Dec.	Miller's Decisions (U.S.)
Mills	Mills (N.Y.)
Milw.	Milward (Ir.)
Minn.	Minnesota
Minor	Minor (Ala.)
Misc.	Miscellaneous Reports (N.Y.)
Misc.2d	Miscellaneous Reports, Second Series (N.Y.)
Miss.	Mississippi
Miss.Dec.	Mississippi Decisions
Miss.St.Cas.	Mississippi State Cases
M.L.P.	Michigan Law and Practice
M.&M.	Moody & Malkin (Eng.)
Mo.	Missouri
Mo.App.	Missouri Appeals
Moak	Moak (Eng.)
Mo.A.R.	Missouri Appeals Reporter
Mod.	Modern (Eng.)
M.A.L.	Modern American Law
Mod.Cas.L.&Eq.	Modern Cases at Law and Equity (Eng.)
Molloy	Molloy (Ir.)
Mon.	Monaghan (Pa.)
Monroe L.R.	Monroe Law Reports (Pa.)
Mont.	Montana
Mont.	Montagu (Eng.)
Mont.Bank.Rep.	Montagu's English Bankruptcy Reports
Mont.L.R.	Montreal Law Reports (Can.)
Mont.&A.	Montagu & Ayrton (Eng.)
Mont.&B.	Montagu & Bligh (Eng.)
Mont.&C.	Montagu & Chitty (Eng.)
Mont.D.&DeG.	Montagu, Deacon & De Gex (Eng.)
Montg.	Montgomery County Law Reporter (Pa.)
Mont.&M.	Montagu & McArthur (Eng.)
Montr.Cond.Rep.	Montreal Condensed Reports
Montr.Leg.N.	Montreal Legal News
Montr.Q.B.	Montreal Law Reports Queen's Bench
Montr.Super.	Montreal Law Reports Superior Court
Moody C.C.	Moody's Crown Cases (Eng.)
Moore C.P.	Moore's Common Pleas (Eng.)
Moore Indian App.	Moore's Indian Appeals (Eng.)
Moore K.B.	Moore's King's Bench (Eng.)
Moore P.C.	Moore's Privy Council Old Series (Eng.)
Moore P.C.N.S.	Moore's Privy Council New Series (Eng.)
Moore&S.	Moore & Scott (Eng.)
Moore&W.	Moore & Walker (Tex.)
Mor.Min.Rep.	Morrison's Mining Reports
Morr.	Morris (Iowa)
Morr.Bankr.Cas.	Morrell's Bankruptcy Cases (Eng.)
Morr.St.Cas.	Morris' State Cases (Miss.)
Mosely	Mosely (Eng.)
M.&P.	Moore & Payne (Eng.)
M.&R.	Manning & Ryland (Eng.)
M.&Rob.	Moody & Robinson (Eng.)
M.&S.	Maule & Selwyn (Eng.)
Mun.	Municipal Law Reporter (Pa.)
Mun.Corp.Cas.	Municipal Corporation Cases
Munf.	Munford (Va.)
Murph.	Murphey (N.C.)
Murr.	Murray (Sc.)
M.&W.	Meeson & Welsby (Eng.)
Myl.&C.	Mylne & Craig (Eng.)
Myl.&K.	Mylne & Keen (Eng.)
Myr.Prob.	Myrick's Probate (Cal.)

N

Nat.Bankr.Reg.	National Bankruptcy Register (U.S.)
Nat.Corp.Rep.	National Corporation Reporter
Nat.L.Rep.	National Law Reporter
N.B.	New Brunswick
N.Benl.	New Benloe (Eng.)
N.B.Eq.	New Brunswick Equity
N.C.	North Carolina
N.Chipm.	N. Chipman (Vt.)
N.C.Conf.	North Carolina Conference
N.C.T.Rep.	North Carolina Term Reports
N.D.	North Dakota
N.E.	North Eastern Reporter
N.E.2d	North Eastern Reporter Second Series
Neb.	Nebraska
Neb.Unoff.	Nebraska Unofficial
Nels.	Nelson (Eng.)
Nels.Abr.	Nelson's Abridgment of the Common Law
Nev.	Nevada
Newb.Adm.	Newberry's Admiralty (U.S.)
Newfoundl.	Newfoundland
Newf.Sel.Cas.	Newfoundland Select Cases
NewRep.	New Reports in all Courts (Eng.)
NewSess.Cas.	New Session Cases (Eng.)
New Zeal.L.	New Zealand Law
N.H.	New Hampshire
N.J.	New Jersey Reports
N.J.Eq.	New Jersey Equity
N.J.Law	New Jersey Law
N.J.L.J.	New Jersey Law Journal
N.J.Misc.	New Jersey Miscellaneous
N.J.Super.	New Jersey Superior Court Reports
N.M.	New Mexico
N.&M.	Nevile & Manning (Eng.)

N.&Macn.	Neville & Macnamara (Eng.)
Nolan	Nolan (Eng.)
North.	Northington (Eng.)
North.	Northampton County Reporter (Pa.)
Northumb.Co.Leg. N.	Northumberland County Legal News (Pa.)
Northumb.L.J.	Northumberland Legal Journal (Pa.)
Notes of Cas.	Notes of Cases (Eng.)
Nott & McC.	Nott & McCord (S.C.)
Noy	Noy (Eng.)
N.&P.	Neville & Perry (Eng.)
N.S.	Nova Scotia
N.S.Dec.	Nova Scotia Decisions
N.S.Wales	New South Wales
N.S.Wales L.	New South Wales Law
N.S.Wales L.R.Eq.	New South Wales Law Reports Equity
N.W.	North Western Reporter
N.W.2d	North Western Reporter Second Series
N.Y.	New York
N.Y.2d	New York Second Series
N.Y.Ann.Cas.	New York Annotated Cases
N.Y.City Ct.	New York City Court
N.Y.City Ct.Suppl.	New York City Court Supplement
N.Y.Civ.Proc.	New York Civil Procedure
N.Y.Civ.Pr.Rep.	New York Civil Procedure Reports
N.Y.Code Reports N.S.	New York Code Reports, New Series
N.Y.Cr.	New York Criminal
N.Y.Leg.Obs.	New York Legal Observer
N.Y.L.Rec.	New York Law Record
N.Y.Month.L.Bul.	New York Monthly Law Bulletin
N.Y.S.	New York Supplement
N.Y.S.2d	New York Supplement Second Series
N.Y.St.	New York State Reporter
N.Y.Super.	New York Superior Court
N.Y.Wkly.Dig.	New York Weekly Digest

O

O.Ben.	Old Benloe (Eng.)
O.Bridgm.	Orlando Bridgman (Eng.)
Off.Gaz.	Official Gazette
Ohio	Ohio
Ohio App.	Ohio Court of Appeals
Ohio Cir.Ct.	Ohio Circuit Court
Ohio Cir.Ct.N.S.	Ohio Circuit Court New Series
Ohio Cir.Dec.	Ohio Circuit Decisions
Ohio Dec. Reprint	Ohio Decisions (Reprint)
Ohio F.Dec.	Ohio Federal Decisions
Ohio L.J.	Ohio Law Journal
Ohio N.P.	Ohio Nisi Prius
Ohio N.P.N.S.	Ohio Nisi Prius New Series
Ohio O.	Ohio Opinions
Ohio O.2d	Ohio Opinions, Second Series
Ohio Prob.	Ohio Probate
Ohio S.&C.P.	Ohio Superior & Common Pleas Decisions
Ohio St.	Ohio State
Ohio Supp.	Ohio Supplement
Okl.	Oklahoma
Okl.Cr.	Oklahoma Criminal
Olcott	Olcott (U.S.)
Oliv.B.&L.	Oliver, Beavan & Lefroy (Eng.)
O'M.&H.	O'Malley & Hardcastle (Ir.)
Ont.	Ontario
Ont.A.	Ontario Appeals
Ont.El.Cas.	Ontario Election Cases
Ont.L.	Ontario Law
Ont.L.J.	Ontario Law Journal
Ont.L.J.N.S.	Ontario Law Journal New Series
Ont.Pr.	Ontario Practice
Ont.W.N.	Ontario Weekly Notes
Ont.W.R.	Ontario Weekly Reporter
Op.Atty.-Gen.	Opinions of Attorneys-General (U.S.)
Op.Sol.Dept. Labor	Opinions of the Solicitor for the Department of Labor Dealing with Workmen's Compensation
Or.	Oregon
Orleans App.	Orleans Appeals (La.)
Overt.	Overton (Tenn.)
Owen	Owen (Eng.)

P

P.	Pacific Reporter
P.2d.	Pacific Reporter Second Series
[1891] P.	Law Reports [1891] Probate (Eng.)
Pa.	Pennsylvania State
Pa.Cas.	Pennsylvania Supreme Court Cases (Sadler)
Pa.Co.	Pennsylvania County Court
Pa.Corp.	Pennsylvania Corporation Reporter
Pa.C.Pl.	Common Pleas (Pa.)
Pa.Dist.	Pennsylvania District
Pa.D.&C.	Pennsylvania District and County
Pa.D.&C.2d	Pennsylvania District and County Second Series
Paige	Paige's Chancery (N.Y.)
Paine	Paine (U.S.)
Pa.L.J.	Pennsylvania Law Journal
Pa.L.Rec.	Pennsylvania Law Record
Pa.L.J.R.	Clark's Pennsylvania Law Journal Reports
Palm.	Palmer (Eng.)
Pa.Rec.	Pennsylvania Record
Park.	Parker (Eng.)
Park.Cr.	Parker's Criminal (N.Y.)
Park.Exch.	Parker's Exchequer (Eng.)
Park.Ins.	Parker's Insurance (Eng.)
Pars.Eq.Cas.	Parsons' Equity Cases (Pa.)
Pa.Super.	Pennsylvania Superior Court
Paton App.Cas.	Paton's Appeal Cases (Sc.)
Patrick El.Cas.	Patrick's Election Cases (Can.)
Patt.&H.	Patton & Heath (Va.)
P.D.	Law Reports Probate Division (Eng.)
P.&D.	Perry & Davison (Eng.)
Peake N.P.	Peake's Nisi Prius (Eng.)
Pearce C.C.	Pearce's Reports in Dearsly's (Eng.)
Pearson	Pearson (Pa.)
Peck	Peck (Tenn.)
Peck.El.Cas.	Peckwell's Election Cases (Eng.)
Pennew.	Pennewill (Del.)
Pennyp.	Pennypacker (Pa.)
Penr.&W.	Penrose & Watts (Pa.)
Perry & Kn.	Perry & Knapp Election Cases (Eng.)
Pet.	Peters (U.S.)
Pet.Adm.	Peters' Admiralty (U.S.)
Pet.C.C.	Peters' Circuit Court (U.S.)
Phil.	Phillips (Eng.)
Phil.	Phillip (N.C.)
Phila.	Philadelphia (Pa.)
Philippine	Philippine
Phillim.	Phillimore Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
Pick.	Pickering (Mass.)
Pig.&R.	Pigott & Rodwell (Eng.)
Pig.Rec.	Pigott's Recoveries (Eng.)
Pinn.	Pinney (Wis.)
Pittsb.	Pittsburgh (Pa.)
P.&K.	Perry & Knapp (Eng.)
P.L.E.	Pennsylvania Law Encyclopedia
P.L.J.	Pittsburgh Legal Journal (Pa.)
P.L.J.N.S.	Pittsburgh Legal Journal New Series (Pa.)
Plowd.	Plowden (Eng.)
Pollexf.	Pollexfen (Eng.)
Poph.	Popham (Eng.)
Port.	Porter (Ala.)
Posey	Posey's Unreported Cases (Tex.)
Puerto Rico	Puerto Rico
Puerto Rico Fed.	Puerto Rico Federal
Pow.Surr.	Powers' Surrogate (N.Y.)
P.R.&D.El.Cas.	Power, Rodwell & Dew's Election Cases (Eng.)
Prec.Ch.	Precedents in Chancery (Eng.)
Pr.Edw.Isl.	Prince Edward Island
Price	Price (Eng.)
Price Pr.Cas.	Price's Practice Cases (Eng.)
Prid.&C.	Prideaux & Cole (Eng.)
Prob.[1917]	Law Reports, Probate Division (Eng.)
Prob.Rep.	Probate Reports (Eng.)
Pr.Rep.	Practice Reports (Eng.)
P.Wms.	Peere-Williams (Eng.)
P.U.R.	Public Utilities Reports
Pyke	Pyke (Can.)

Q

Q.B.	Queen's Bench (Adolphus & Ellis New Series) (Eng.)

[1891]Q.B.	Law Reports [1891] Queen's Bench (Eng.)
Q.B.D.	Law Reports Queen's Bench Division (Eng.)
Queensl.J.P.	Queensland Justice of the Peace
Queensl.L.	Queensland Law
Queensl.L.J.	Queensland Law Journal
Que.L.	Quebec Law
Que.Pr.	Quebec Practice
Que.Q.B.	Quebec Official Reports Queen's Bench
Que.Rev.Jud.	Quebec Revised Judicial
Que.Super.	Quebec Official Reports Superior Court
Quincy	Quincy (Mass.)

R

Rand.	Randolph (Va.)
Rap.Jud. Q.C.S.	Rapport's Judiciaries de Quebec Cour Superieure
Rawle	Rawle (Pa.)
R.C.L.	Ruling Case Law
R.&Can.Cas.	Railway & Canal Cases (Eng.)
R.&Can.Tr.Cas.	Railway & Canal Traffic Cases (Eng.)
Redf.	Redfield's Surrogate (N.Y.)
Redf.&B.	Redfield & Bigelow's Leading Cases (Eng.)
Redf.R.Cas.	Redfield's Railway Cases (Eng.)
Redf.Surr.	Redfield's Surrogate (N.Y.)
Reeve Eng.L.	Reeve's English Law
Reports	Reports (Eng.)
Reprint	English Reprint
Rep.t.Finch	Cases temp. Finch (Eng.)
Rep.t.Hard.	Lee's Reports tempore Hardwicke (Eng.)
Rep.t.Holt	Reports tempore Holt (English Cases of Settlement)
Res.&Eq.Judgm.	Reserved & Equity Judgments (N.S. Wales)
Rev.Crit.	Revue Critique (Can.)
Rev.de Jur.	Revue de Jurisprudence (Can.)
Rev.de Legis.	Revue de Legislation (Can.)
Rev.Leg.	Revue Legale (Can.)
Rev.Leg.N.S.	Revue Legale New Series (Can.)
Rev.Rep.	Revised Reports (Eng.)
R.I.	Rhode Island
Rice	Rice (S.C.)
Rich.	Richardson (S.C.)
Rich.C.P.	Richardson's Practice Common Pleas (Eng.)
Ridg.	Ridgeway's Reports tempore Hardwicke (Eng.)
Ridg.Ap.	Ridgeway's Appeal (Ir.)
Ridg.L.&S.	Ridgeway, Lapp & Schoale (Ir.)
Ridg.P.C.	Ridgeway's Parliament Cases (Ir.)
Ridg.t.Hardw.	Ridgeway temp. Hardwicke (Eng.)
Riley	Riley (S.C.)
R.&M.	Ryan & Moody (Eng.)
R.M.Charlt.	R. M. Charlton (Ga.)
Rob.	Robinson (La.)
Rob.	Robinson (Va.)
Robb Pat.Cas.	Robb's Patent Cases (U.S.)
Robert.App.Cas.	Robertson's Appeal Cases (Sc.)
Rob.Eccl.	Robertson's Ecclesiastical (Eng.)
Robin.App.Cas.	Robinson's Appeal Cases (Sc.)
Rob.Wm.Adm.	William Robinson's Admiralty (Eng.)
Rolle	Rolle (Eng.)
Rolle Abr.	Rolle's Abridgment (Eng.)
Rolls Ct.Rep.	Rolls' Court Reports
Rom.Cas.	Romilly's Notes of Cases (Eng.)
Root	Root (Conn.)
Rose	Rose (Eng.)
Ross Lead.Cas.	Ross' Leading Cases (Eng.)
R.&R.	Russell & Ryan Crown Cases (Eng.)
Russ.	Russell (Eng.)
Russ.&C.Eq.Cas.	Russell's & Chesley's Equity Cases (N.S.)
Russ.Eq.Cas.	Russell's Equity Cases (N.S.)
Russ.&Geld.	Russell & Geldert, Nova Scotia
Russ.&M.	Russell & Mylne (Eng.)
Ry.&M.	Ryan & Moody (Eng.)

S

Salk.	Salkeld (Eng.)
Sandf.	Sandford's Superior Court (N.Y.)
Sandf.Ch.	Sandford's Chancery (N.Y.)
Sask.L.	Saskatchewan Law
Saund.	Saunders (Eng.)
Saund.&C.	Saunders & Cole (Eng.)
Sau.&Sc.	Sausse & Scully (Ir.)
S.Austr.L.	South Australia Law
Sav.	Savile (Eng.)
Sawy.	Sawyer (U.S.)
Saxt.	Saxton (N.J.)
Say.	Sayer (Eng.)
S.C.	South Carolina
[1907]S.C.	Court of Session Cases (Sc.)
Scam.	Scammon (Ill.)
S.C.Eq.	South Carolina Equity
Sch.&Lef.	Schoales & Lefroy (Ir.)
Sch.Leg.Rec.	Schuylkill Legal Record (Pa.)
Sch.Reg.	Schuylkill Register (Pa.)
[1907]S.C.(J.)	Court of Justiciary Cases (Sc.)
Sc.Jur.	Scottish Jurist
S.C.L.	South Carolina Law
Sc.L.Rep.	Scottish Law Reporter
ScotL.T.	Scot Law Times
Scott	Scott (Eng.)
Scott N.R.	Scott's New Reports (Eng.)
Scr.L.T.	Scranton Law Times (Pa.)
Sc.Sess.Cas.	Scotch Court of Session Cases
S.Ct.	Supreme Court Reporter (U.S.)
S.D.	South Dakota
S.E.	South Eastern Reporter
S.E.2d	South Eastern Reporter Second Series
Searle & Sm.	Searle & Smith (Eng.)
Sel.Cas.Ch.	Select Cases in Chancery (Eng.)
Seld.	Selden's Notes (N.Y.)
Selden	Selden (N.Y.)
Selw.	Selwyn's Nisi Prius (Eng.)
Serg.&R.	Sergeant & Rawle (Pa.)
Sess.Cas.	Court of Session Cases (Eng.)
Shan.	Shannon (Tenn.)
Shaw	Shaw (Sc.)
Shaw & D.	Shaw & Dunlop (Sc.)
Shaw Dec.	Shaw's Digest of Decisions (Sc.)
Shaw,Dunl.&B.	Shaw, Dunlop & Bell (Sc.)
Shaw&M.	Shaw & MacLean (Sc.)
Sheld.	Sheldon (N.Y.)
Shep.Abr.	Sheppard's Abridgment
Sheph.Sel.Cas.	Shepherd's Select Cases (Ala.)
Show.	Shower (Eng.)
Show.P.C.	Shower's Parliament Cases (Eng.)
Sid.	Siderfin (Eng.)
Silv.A.	Silvernail's Appeals (N.Y.)
Silv.Sup.	Silvernail's Supreme (N.Y.)
Sim.	Simons (Eng.)
Sim.N.S.	Simons New Series (Eng.)
Sim.&St.	Simons & Stuart (Eng.)
Skin.	Skinner (Eng.)
Smale&G.	Smale & Giffard (Eng.)
Smith	Smith (Ind.)
Smith	Smith (N.H.)
Smith&B.	Smith & Batty (Ir.)
Smith K.B.	Smith's King's Bench (Eng.)
Smith Lead.Cas.	Smith's Leading Cases (Eng.)
Smith Reg.	Smith's Registration (Eng.)
Sm.&M.	Smedes & Marshall (Miss.)
Sm.&M.Ch.	Smedes & Marshall Chancery (Miss.)
Smythe	Smythe (Ir.)
Sneed	Sneed (Tenn.)
So.	Southern Reporter
So.2d	Southern Reporter Second Series
Sol.J.	Solicitor's Journal (Eng.)
Som.	Somerset Legal Journal (Pa.)
Sp.	Speers (S.C.)
Spinks	Spinks Admiralty (Eng.)
Spinks	Spinks' Ecclesiastical and Admiralty (Eng.)
Spinks, P.C.	Spinks' Prize Cases (Eng.)
Spottisw.	Spottiswoode (Sc.)
Spottisw.Eq.	Spottiswoode's Equity (Sc.)
Sprague	Sprague (U.S.)
Stair	Stair (Sc.)
Stark.	Starkie Nisi Prius (Eng.)
Stat. at L.	United States Statutes at Large
Stew.	Stewart (Ala.)
Stew.	Stewart's Reports (N.S.)
Stew.&P.	Stewart & Porter (Ala.)
Stockt.Vice-Adm.	Stockton's Vice-Admiralty (N.B.)
Story	Story (U.S.)
Str.	Strange (Eng.)

Strob.	Strobhart (S.C.)
Stuart Vice-Adm.	Stuart's Vice-Admiralty (L.C.)
Stu.M.&P.	Stuart, Milne & Peddie (Sc.)
Style	Style (Eng.)
Sumn.	Sumner (U.S.)
Susq.Leg.Chron.	Susquehanna Legal Chronicle (Pa.)
S.W.	South Western Reporter
S.W.2d	South Western Reporter Second Series
Swab.	Swabey's Admiralty (Eng.)
Swab.&Tr.	Swabey & Tristram (Eng.)
Swan	Swan (Tenn.)
Swanst.	Swanston (Eng.)

T

Taml.	Tamlyn (Eng.)
Taney	Taney (U.S.)
Tapp.	Tappan (Oh.)
Taunt.	Taunton (Eng.)
Taylor	Taylor (N.C.)
T.B.Mon.	T. B. Monroe (Ky.)
Tenn.	Tennessee
Tenn.App.	Tennessee Appeals
Tenn.Cas.	Unreported Tennessee Cases
Tenn.Ch.	Tennessee Chancery
Tenn.Ch.A.	Tennessee Chancery Appeals
Tenn.Civ.A.	Tennessee Civil Appeals
Terr.L.	Territories Law (Northwest Territories)
Tex.	Texas
Tex.App.	Texas Court of Appeals
Tex.A.Civ.Cas.	White & Wilson's Civil Cases (Tex.)
Tex.Civ.App.	Texas Civil Appeals
Tex.Cr.	Texas Criminal
Tex.Suppl.	Texas Supplement
Tex.Unrep.Cas.	Posey's Unreported Cases (Tex.)
Thach.Cr.	Thacher's Criminal Cases (Mass.)
Thomps.&C.	Thompson & Cook (N.Y.)
Thomps.Cas.	Thompson's Cases (Tenn.)
Tinw.	Tinwald (Sc.)
T.Jones	Thomas Jones (Eng.)
T.L.R.	Times Law Reports (Eng.)
T.M.R.	Trade Mark Reports
T.&M.	Temple & Mew (Eng.)
Toth.	Tothill (Eng.)
T.R.	Term Reports (Durnford & East) (Eng.)
Transcr.A.	Transcript Appeals (N.Y.)
T.Raym.	Thomas Raymond (Eng.)
Tread.Const.	Treadway Constitutional (S.C.)
Treas.Dec.	Treasury Decisions (U.S.)
Tr.&H.Pr.	Troubat & Haly's Practice (Pa.)
Trint.T.	Trinity Term (Eng.)
Truem.Eq.Cas.	Truemann's Equity Cases (N.B.)
Tuck.Sel.Cas.	Tucker's Select Cases (Newfoundland)
Tuck.Surr.	Tucker's Surrogate (N.Y.)
T.U.P.Charlt.	T. U. P. Charlton (Ga.)
Turn.&R.	Turner & Russell (Eng.)
Tyler	Tyler (Vt.)
Tyrw.	Tyrwhitt (Eng.)
Tyrw.&G.	Tyrwhitt & Granger (Eng.)

U

U.C.	Upper Canada
U.C.Ch.	Upper Canada Chancery
U.C.Cham.	Upper Canada Chamber
U.C.C.P.	Upper Canada Common Pleas
U.C.E.&A.	Upper Canada Error and Appeal
U.C.K.B.	Upper Canada King's Bench Reports
U.C.Q.B.	Upper Canada Queen's Bench
U.C.Q.B.O.S.	Upper Canada Queen's Bench Old Series
U.S.	United States
U.S.App.D.C.	United States Appeal Cases (D.C.)
U.S.Aviation Rep.	Aviation Reports (U.S.)
U.S.C.A.	United States Code Annotated
Utah	Utah Reports
Utah 2d	Utah Reports Second Series

V

Va.	Virginia
Va.Cas.	Virginia Cases
Va.Ch.Dec.	Chancery Decisions (Va.)
Va.Dec.	Virginia Decisions
Van Ness Prize Cas.	Van Ness Prize Cases (U.S.)
Vaugh.	Vaughan (Eng.)
Vaux	Vaux's Decisions (Pa.)
Vent.	Ventris (Eng.)
Vern.	Vernon's Cases (Eng.)
Vern.Ch.	Vernon's Chancery (Eng.)
Vern.&S.	Vernon & Scriven (Ir.)
Ves.	Vesey Senior (Eng.)
Ves.& B.	Vesey & Beames (Eng.)
Ves.Jr.	Vesey Junior (Eng.)
Ves.Jr.Suppl.	Vesey Junior Supplement (Eng.)
Ves.Suppl.	Vesey Senior Supplement (Eng.)
Vict.	Victorian
Vict.L.	Victorian Law
Vict.L.T.	Victorian Law Times
Vict.Rep.	Victorian Reports
Vict.St.Tr.	Victorian State Trials
Vin.Abr.	Viner's Abridgment (Eng.)
Virgin Islands	Virgin Islands
Vt.	Vermont

W

Walk.	Walker (Pa.)
Walk.	Walker's Chancery (Mich.)
Wall.	Wallace (U.S.)
Wall.C.C.	Wallace (U.S.)
Wall.Jr.	Wallace Junior (U.S.)
Wall.Sr.	Wallace Senior (U.S.)
Wallis	Wallis (Ir.)
Ware	Ware (U.S.)
Wash.	Washington
Wash.2d	Washington Reports, Second Series
Wash.	Washington (Va.)
Wash.St.	Washington State
Wash.C.C.	Washington Circuit Court (U.S.)
Wash.Co.	Washington County Reports (Pa.)
Wash.T.	Washington Territory
Watts	Watts (Pa.)
Watts&S.	Watts & Sergeant (Pa.)
W.Bl.	William Blackstone (Eng.)
W.C.C.	Minton-Senhouse's Workmen's Compensation Cases (Eng.)
Webb, A'B.&W.I. P.& M.	Webb, A'Beckett & Williams' Insolvency, Probate, and Matrimonial Reports (Victoria)
Web.Pat.Cas.	Webster's Patent Cases (Eng.)
Webster New Int.D.	Webster's New International Dictionary
Welsh	Welsh Registry Cases (Ir.)
Wend.	Wendell (N.Y.)
West	West (Eng.)
West.	Westmoreland County Law Journal (Pa.)
West.L.J.	Western Law Journal (Oh.)
West.L.Month.	Western Law Monthly (Oh.)
West.L.R.	Western Law Reporter (Can.)
West.L.T.	Western Law Times (Can.)
West.R.	Western Reporter
West t.Hardw.	West temp. Hardwicke (Eng.)
West.Wkly.	Western Weekly (Can.)
[1917]West.Wkly.	[1917] Western Weekly (Can.)
Whart.	Wharton (Pa.)
Wheat.	Wheaton (U.S.)
Wheel.Cr.	Wheeler's Criminal (N.Y.)
White&T.Lead. Cas.Eq.	White & Tudor's Leading Cases in Equity (Eng.)
Whitm.Pat.Cas.	Whitman's Patent Cases (U.S.)
Wight.	Wightwicke (Eng.)
Wilcox	Wilcox (Pa.)
Willes	Willes (Eng.)
Wilm.	Wilmot's Notes (Eng.)
Wils.	Wilson (Ind.)
Wils.Ch.	Wilson's Chancery (Eng.)
Wils.C.P.	Wilson's Common Pleas (Eng.)
Wils.Exch.	Wilson's Exchequer (Eng.)
Wils.P.C.	Wilson's Privy Council (Eng.)
Wils.&S.	Wilson & Shaw (Sc.)
Winch	Winch (Eng.)
Winst.	Winston (N.C.)
Wis.	Wisconsin Reports
Wis.2d	Wisconsin Reports, Second Series
W.Jones	William Jones (Eng.)
W.Kel.	William Kelynge (Eng.)
Wkly.L.Gaz.	Weekly Law Gazette (Oh.)

Wkly.N.C.	Weekly Notes of Cases (Pa.)
Wkly.Rep.	Weekly Reporter (Eng.)
Wms.Saund.	Williams Notes to Saunders' Reports
W.N.	Weekly Notes (Eng.)
Wolf.&B.	Wolferstan & Bristow's Election Cases (Eng.)
Wolf.&D.	Wolferstan & Dew's Election Cases (Eng.)
Woll.	Wollaston (Eng.)
Woodb.&M.	Woodbury & Minot (U.S.)
Woods	Woods (U.S.)
Woodw.	Woodward's Decisions (Pa.)
Woolw.	Woolworth (U.S.)
Words & Phrases	Words & Phrases
Wright	Wright (Oh.)
W.Rob.	William Robinson's Admiralty (Eng.)
Wr.Pa.	Wright (Pa.)
W.Va.	West Virginia
W.W.Harr.	W. W. Harrington (Del.)
W.W.&D.	Willmore, Wollaston & Davidson (Eng.)
W.W.&H.	Willmore, Wollaston & Hodges (Eng.)
Wyo.	Wyoming
Wythe	Wythe's Chancery (Va.)
Wy.&W.	Wyatt & Webb (Vict.)
Wy.W.&A'Beck.	Wyatt, Webb & A'Beckett (Vict.)

Y

Yates Sel.Cas.	Yates Select Cases (N.Y.)
Y.B.	Year Book (Eng.)
Y.&C.Exch.	Younge & Collyer's Exchequer (Eng.)
Y.&Coll.	Younge & Collyer's Chancery (Eng.)
Yeates	Yeates (Pa.)
Yelv.	Yelverton (Eng.)
Yerg.	Yerger (Tenn.)
Y.&J.	Younge & Jervis (Eng.)
York	York Legal Record (Pa.)
Young Adm.	Young's Admiralty Decisions (N.S.)
Younge	Younge Exchequer (Eng.)

LAW REVIEWS AND LAW JOURNALS

A.B.A.Jour.	American Bar Association Journal
Ala.L.Rev.	Alabama Law Review
Albany L.Rev.	Albany Law Review
Am.J.Int.Law	American Journal of International Law
Am.Law S.Rev.	American Law School Review
Ark.L.Rev.	Arkansas Law Review
Aust.L.J.	Australian Law Journal
B.U.L.Rev.	Boston University Law Review
Brooklyn L.Rev.	Brooklyn Law Review
Calif.L.Rev.	California Law Review
Camb.L.J.	Cambridge Law Journal
Chi.-Kent Rev.	Chicago-Kent Review
Colum.L.Rev.	Columbia Law Review
Com.L.J.	Commercial Law Journal
Cornell L.Q.	Cornell Law Quarterly
Detroit L.Rev.	Detroit Law Review
Dick.L.Rev.	Dickinson Law Review
Fed.B.A.J.	Federal Bar Association Journal
Fla.L.J.	Florida Law Journal
Fordham L.Rev.	Fordham Law Review
Geo.Wash.L.Rev.	George Washington Law Review
Geo.L.J.	Georgetown Law Journal
Harv.L.Rev.	Harvard Law Review
Ia.L.Rev.	Iowa Law Review
Idaho L.J.	Idaho Law Journal
Ill.L.Rev.	Illinois Law Review
Ind.L.J.	Indiana Law Journal
J.Am.Jud.Soc.	Journal of the American Judicature Society
J.Comp.Leg.	Journal of the Society of Comparative Legislation
J.N.A.Referees Bank.	Journal of the National Association of Referees in Bankruptcy
J.Soc.Pub.Teach. Law	Journal of the Society of Pub. Teachers of Law
John Marshall L. Q.	The John Marshall Law Quarterly
Kan.City L.Rev.	Kansas City Law Review
Kan.St.L.J.	Kansas State Law Journal
Ky.L.J.	Kentucky Law Journal
L.J.	Law Journal
L.Lib.J.	Law Library Journal
Law Q.Rev.	Law Quarterly Review
Law Ser.Mo.Bull.	University of Missouri Bulletin, Law Series
Law Soc.J.	Law Society Journal
Lincoln L.Rev.	Lincoln Law Review
La.L.Rev.	Louisiana Law Review
Loyola L.Rev.	Loyola Law Review
Marq.L.Rev.	Marquette Law Review
Md.L.Rev.	Maryland Law Review
Mass.L.Q.	Massachusetts Law Quarterly
Mercer, Beasley L.Rev.	Mercer, Beasley Law Review
Miami L.Q.	Miami Law Quarterly
Mich.L.Rev.	Michigan Law Review
Minn.L.Rev.	Minnesota Law Review
Miss.L.J.	Mississippi Law Journal
Mo.L.Rev.	Missouri Law Review
Montana L.Rev.	Montana Law Review
Neb.L.B.	Nebraska Law Bulletin
N.J.L.J.	New Jersey Law Journal
N.J.L.Rev.	New Jersey Law Review
N.Y.U.L.Q.Rev.	New York University Law Quarterly Review
Notre Dame Law.	Notre Dame Lawyer
N.C.L.Rev.	North Carolina Law Review
Okla.L.Rev.	Oklahoma Law Review
Oreg.L.Rev.	Oregon Law Review
Phil.L.J.	Philippine Law Journal
Rocky Mt.L.Rev.	Rocky Mountain Law Review
Rutgers U.L.Rev.	Rutgers University Law Review
St. John's L.Rev.	St. John's Law Review
St. Louis L.Rev.	St. Louis Law Review (now Washton University Law Quarterly)
So.Calif.L.Rev.	Southern California Law Review
Southwestern L.J.	Southwestern Law Journal
Stanford L.Rev.	Stanford Law Review
Temp.L.Q.	Temple Law Quarterly
Tenn.L.Rev.	Tennessee Law Review
Tex.L.Rev.	Texas Law Review
Tul.L.Rev.	Tulane Law Review
U.Chi.L.Rev.	University of Chicago Law Review
U.Cin.L.Rev.	University of Cincinnati Law Review
U.Detroit L.J.	University of Detroit Law Journal
U.Florida L.Rev.	University of Florida Law Review
U.Kan.City L.Rev.	University of Kansas City Law Review.
U.Pa.L.Rev.	University of Pennsylvania Law Review
U. of Pitts.L.Rev.	University of Pittsburgh Law Review
U.Toronto L.J.	University of Toronto Law Journal
Vanderbilt L.Rev.	Vanderbilt Law Review
Va.L.Rev.	Virginia Law Review
Wash.L.Rev.	Washington Law Review
Wash.U.L.Q.	Washington University Law Quarterly
Wash.& Lee L.Rev.	Washington and Lee Law Review
W.Va.L.Q.	West Virginia Law Quarterly and The Bar
Wis.L.Rev.	Wisconsin Law Review
Wyo.L.J.	Wyoming Law Journal
Yale L.J.	Yale Law Journal

LIST OF TITLES
IN
CORPUS JURIS SECUNDUM

Abandonment
Abatement and Revival
Abduction Abortion
Absentees
Abstracts of Title
Accession
Accord and Satisfaction
Account, Action on Accounting
Account Stated
Acknowledgments
Actions
Adjoining Landowners Admiralty
Adoption of Children
Adulteration
Adultery
Adverse Possession
Aerial Navigation
Affidavits
Affray
Agency
Agriculture
Aliens
Alteration of Instruments
Ambassadors and Consuls
Amicus Curiæ
Animals
Annuities
Appeal and Error Appearances
Apprentices
Arbitration and Award
Architects
Army and Navy
Arrest
Arson
Assault and Battery
Assignments
Assignments for Benefit of Creditors Assistance, Writ of Associations
Assumpsit, Action of Asylums
Attachment
Attorney and Client
Attorney General
Auctions and Auctioneers
Audita Querela
Bail
Bailments
Bankruptcy
Banks and Banking
Barratry
Bastards
Beneficial Associations
Bigamy
Bills and Notes
Blasphemy
Bonds Boundaries
Bounties
Breach of Marriage Promise
Breach of the Peace
Bribery
Bridges
Brokers
Building and Loan Associations
Burglary
Business Trusts
Canals
Cancellation of Instruments
Carriers
Case, Action on Cemeteries
Census
Certiorari
Champerty and Maintenance
Charities
Chattel Mortgages
Citizens
Civil Rights
Clerks of Courts Clubs
Colleges and Universities Collision
Commerce
Common Lands
Common Law
Common Scold
Compositions with Creditors
Compounding Offenses
Compromise and Settlement
Concealment of Birth or Death
Conflict of Laws
Confusion of Goods
Conspiracy
Constitutional Law
Contempt
Continuances
Contracts
Contratos Contribution Conversion
Convicts
Copyright and Literary Property
Coroners Corporations
Costs
Counterfeiting Counties
Court Commissioners
Courts
Covenant, Action of Covenants
Creditors' Suits
Criminal Law
Crops
Culpa
Curtesy
Customs and Usages
Customs Duties
Damages
Dead Bodies
Death
Debt, Action of Declaratory Judgments

Dedication
Deeds
Dependencies, Colonies, and British Possessions
Depositaries
Depositions
Deposits in Court
Descent and Distribution
Detectives
Detinue
Discovery
Dismissal and Nonsuit
Disorderly Conduct
Disorderly Houses
District and Prosecuting Attorneys
District of Columbia
Disturbance of Public Meetings
Divorce
Domicile
Dower
Drains
Druggists
Drunkards
Dueling
Easements
Ejectment
Election of Remedies
Elections
Electricity
Embezzlement
Embracery
Eminent Domain
Entry, Writ of Equity
Escape
Escheat
Escrows Estates
Estoppel
Evidence
Exchange of Property
Exchanges Executions
Executors and Administrators Exemptions
Explosives
Extortion
Extradition
Extraterritoriality Factors
False Imprisonment
False Personation
False Pretenses
Federal Civil Procedure
Federal Courts
Fences
Ferries
Finding Lost Goods
Fines
Fires
Fish
Fixtures
Flags
Food
Forcible Entry and Detainer
Forfeitures
Forgery
Fornication
Franchises
Fraud
Frauds, Statute of Fraudulent Conveyances
Game
Gaming
Garnishment
Gas
Gifts
Good Will
Grand Juries
Ground Rents
Guaranty
Guardian and Ward
Habeas Corpus
Hawkers and Peddlers Health
Highways Holidays
Homesteads
Homicide
Hospitals
Husband and Wife
Improvements
Incest
Indemnity
Indians
Indictments and Informations
Industrial Co-operative Societies
Infants
Injunctions
Innkeepers
Insane Persons
Insolvency
Inspection
Insurance
Insurrection and Sedition
Interest
Internal Revenue
International Law
Interpleader
Intoxicating Liquors
Joint Adventures
Joint Stock Companies
Joint Tenancy
Judges Judgments Judicial Sales
Juries
Justices of the Peace
Kidnapping
Landlord and Tenant
Larceny
Levees and Flood Control
Lewdness
Libel and Slander Licenses
Liens
Limitations of Actions
Lis Pendens
Livery Stable Keepers
Logs and Logging
Lost Instruments
Lotteries
Malicious Mischief
Malicious Prosecution
Mandamus
Manufactures
Maritime Liens
Marriage
Marshaling Assets and Securities
Master and Servant
Masters' and Employers' Associations
Mayhem
Mechanics' Liens
Mercantile Agencies
Militia
Mills
Mines and Minerals Miscegenation
Modern Civil Law
Money Lenders
Money Lent
Money Paid
Money Received Monopolies
Mortgages
Motions and Orders
Motor Vehicles
Municipal Corporations
Names
Navigable Waters

Ne Exeat
Negligence
Neutrality Laws Newspapers
New Trial
Notaries
Notice
Novation
Nuisances
Oaths and Affirmations
Obscenity
Obstructing Justice
Officers
Pardons
Parent and Child
Parliamentary Law
Parties
Partition
Partnership Party Walls
Patents
Paupers
Pawnbrokers
Payment
Penalties
Pensions
Pent Roads
Peonage
Perjury
Perpetuities
Physicians and Surgeons
Pilots
Piracy
Pleading
Pledges
Poisons
Possessory Warrant
Post Office
Powers
Principal and Surety Prisons
Private Roads
Prize Fighting
Process
Profanity
Prohibition
Property
Prostitution
Public Administrative Bodies and Procedure
Public Lands
Public Utilities
Quieting Title
Quo Warranto
Railroads
Rape
Real Actions
Receivers
Receiving Stolen Goods
Recognizances Records
References
Reformation of Instruments
Reformatories
Registers of Deeds
Registration of Land Titles
Release
Religious Societies
Removal of Causes
Replevin
Reports
Rescue Review
Rewards
Right of Privacy Riot
Robbery
Sales
Salvage
Schools and School Districts
Scire Facias
Seals Seamen
Searches and Seizures
Seduction
Sequestration
Set-Off and Counterclaim
Sheriffs and Constables Shipping
Signatures
Slaves
Social Security and Public Welfare
Sodomy
Specific Performance
Spendthrifts
States Statutes Steam Stenographers Stipulations
Street Railroads
Submission of Controversy
Subrogation
Subscriptions
Suicide
Summary Proceedings
Sunday
Supersedeas
Taxation
Telegraphs, Telephones, Radio, and Television
Tenancy in Common Tender
Territories
Theaters and Shows
Threats and Unlawful Communications
Time
Torts
Towage
Towns
Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition
Trade Unions
Trading Stamps and Coupons
Treason
Treaties
Trespass
Trespass to Try Title
Trial
Trover and Conversion
Trusts
Turnpikes and Toll Roads
Undertakings
United States
United States Commissioners
United States Marshals
Unlawful Assembly
Use and Occupation
Usury
Vagrancy
Vendor and Purchaser
Venue
War and National Defense
Warehousemen and Safe Depositaries
Waste
Waters
Weapons
Weights and Measures Wharves
Wills
Witnesses
Woods and Forests
Work and Labor
Workmen's Compensation
Zoning

TITLES IN THIS VOLUME

	Page
Industrial Co-operative Societies	3
Infants	45
Injunctions	397
Innkeepers	1127

CORPUS JURIS SECUNDUM

VOLUME FORTY-THREE

INDUSTRIAL. A very large word,[1] defined as meaning consisting in, or pertaining to, industry;[2] relating to industry.[3] The term is also often employed as referring to something relating to manufactures, or to the product of industry or labor.[4]

It is the direct antithesis of "domestic," when the latter is used in its primary sense, see 27 C.J.S. p 1319 note 53.

Phrases employing the word are listed in the note.[5] Other phrases as to which more recent adjudications have not been found see 31 C.J.S. p 888–960 notes 66–76.

1. U.S.—Wells v. Northern Pac. R. Co., C.C.Or., 23 F. 469, 474, 10 Sawy. 441.
Okl.—Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. State, 201 P. 260, 264, 83 Okl. 161.

2. Mont.—Carver Mercantile Co. v. Hulme, 19 P. 213, 7 Mont. 566, 571.
Okl.—Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. State, 201 P. 260, 264, 83 Okl. 161.

3. Kan.—State v. Howat, 198 P. 686, 693, 109 Kan. 376.

4. Ala.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Fulgham, 8 So. 803, 804, 91 Ala. 555.

5. Phrases construed

(1) "Industrial activity" commonly means the treatment or processing of raw products in factories.—North Whittier Heights Citrus Ass'n v. National Labor Relations Board, C.C.A., 109 F.2d 76, 80.

(2) "Industrial blindness," described as less than 20/200 vision; and a person is said to be "industrially blind" if he has less than one-tenth normal vision, that is, if he does not have useful vision, although he may have light perception.—Cunya v. Vance, 197 N.E. 737, 739, 100 Ind. App. 687.

(3) "Industrial design" described as a profession which, in its brief career, has developed a technique for analyzing the function of a product, has set up standards for judging functional fitness, and has applied these methods and standards to innumerable objects ranging from domestic and office appliances to automobiles, ships and trains; and to industrial and commercial buildings, offices and shops, and the expositions in which industry explains itself to the public.—Teague v. Graves, 27 N.Y.S.2d 762, 764, 261 App.Div. 652.

(4) "Industrial diamonds" in contrast with "gem diamonds" are those used for a number of purposes in mechanical work, such as lapping, truing, grinding wheels, making diamond saws, cutting vitreous ware, lapping tools, boring tools, and the like. Their value depends upon the degree of hardness.—Goodman v. U.S., C.C.A.Cal., 128 F.2d 854, 855.

(5) "Industrial disease," or "occupational disease," within compensation statutes see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts § 169, also 71 C.J. p 599 note 69–p 603 note 90.

(6) "Industrial dispute," construed as not necessarily restricted to a dispute between employer and employees, but as a dispute that may be between employees and their union or bargaining agency, provided it involves the employer and affects the terms or conditions of employment.—Miller v. Unemployment Compensation Board of Review, 31 A.2d 740, 742, 152 Pa.Super. 315—31 C.J. pp 888–960 note 69.

(7) "Industrial enterprise," "industrial establishment," "industrial operation," and "industrial work" within the purview of compensation statutes, see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts § 36, also 71 C.J. p 381 notes 71–87.

(8) "Industrial establishment," distinguished from "commercial establishment" see 15 C.J.S. p 576 note 10, and defined generally as a place of business which employs much labor and capital and is a distinct branch of trade.—State ex rel. Kansas City Power & Light Co. v. Smith, 111 S.W.2d 513, 515, 342 Mo. 75—31 C.J. p 888–960 note 71.

(9) "Industrial insurance" see the C.J.S. title Insurance § 20, also 31 C.J. p 966 note 1–p 974 note 5.

(10) "Industrial loan companies" see Banks and Banking § 1045 a.

(11) "Industrial purpose," as inapplicable to the use of distilled spirits for the fortification of wine.—Monllor & Boscio v. Sancho, C.C.A.Puerto Rico, 136 F.2d 114, 115.

(12) "Industrial rate," compared with "domestic rate."—Pejebscot Paper Co. v. Town of Lisbon, 142 A. 194, 196, 127 Me. 161.

(13) "Industrial relations," construed in its context as referring to affairs relating to industry, and involving government departments devoted to public service.—State v. Howat, 198 P. 686, 693, 109 Kan. 376, 50 A.L.R. 1210.

(14) "Industrial school" see the C.J.S. title Reformatories § 1, also 53 C.J. p 1058 note 4.

(15) "Industrial services" with reference to carrier's charges see Carriers § 314 in Pocket Parts.

(16) "Industrial track" and "team track" distinguished see Railroads § 1, also 61 C.J. p 1751 note 26 [a].

(17) "Industrial use," as not including the use of a driveway lying within a commercial district merely for the passage of trucks hauling supplies to a brick manufactory located in an industrial district, and hauling the finished product therefrom.—Borough of Prospect Park v. McClaskey, 30 A.2d 179, 181, 151 Pa. Super. 467.

(18) "Industrial Workers of the World," an international organization, or movement, commonly known and designated as the "I. W. W."

Cal.—People v. Malley, 194 P. 48, 53, 49 Cal.App. 597.

Iowa.—State v. Tonn, 191 N.W. 530, 532, 195 Iowa 94.

(19) "Useful or mechanical or industrial arts," distinguished from "fine art" see 6 C.J.S. p 772 note 25.

INDUSTRIAL CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES

This Title includes co-operative associations and corporations formed for the purpose of carrying on in common an industry, trade, or business for mutual benefit, such as the production and distribution of commodities and products; rights, duties, and liabilities of such societies and of their members.

Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this work, see Descriptive-Work Index

Analysis

§ 1. Nature and classes—p 3
2. Organization, consolidation, and dissolution—p 4
3. Charter of incorporation, articles of association, and by-laws—p 6
4. Legality—p 7
5. Rights, powers, duties, and liabilities—p 7
6. Officers and agents—p 11
7. Members and stockholders—p 13
8. Offenses—p 33
9. Remedies—p 33

See also descriptive word index in the back of this Volume

§ 1. Nature and Classes

An industrial co-operative society, incorporated or otherwise, is a society formed by individuals to carry on in common an industry, trade, or business for their mutual benefit, and such societies have received legislative approval.

An industrial co-operative society, incorporated or otherwise, is a society formed by individuals to carry on in common an industry, trade, or business for their mutual benefit. Societies of this character fall generally into three classes, productive, marketing, and distributive. A productive society is one formed for the production of commodities by its members in common, the profits of the enterprise being shared in accordance with the amount of capital or labor contributed by each member.[1] A marketing society is one formed to market and sell commodities produced by its members either individually or in common, its purpose being to increase the profits of its members by means of their selling in common.[2] A distributive society is one formed for the procuring of commodities for distribution among its members without pecuniary profit to the society, its purpose being to economize by their buying commodities in common.[3]

The term "association" as hereinafter used in this title includes co-operative associations whether they are corporations or mere voluntary unincorporated societies, except where it is necessary to a clear understanding of the principles of law involved that the distinction be noted.

Legislative approval. The formation and development of co-operative societies or associations, especially for the marketing of agricultural commodities, has been encouraged both by federal and state laws,[4] and such statutes reveal widespread legislative approval of such plans for protecting scattered

1. Minn.—Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 53 N.W. 1150, 52 Minn. 239, 38 Am.S.R. 552, 18 L.R.A. 778.

2. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

Origin and growth

Co-operative marketing associations, composed of the growers or producers of agricultural or fruticultural products, are now to be found in many of the states and in every section of the country, and their origin and growth are founded on a pressing economic necessity.

Ala.—Warren v. Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, 104 So. 264, 213 Ala. 61.

Tenn.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Dunn, 266 S.W. 308, 150 Tenn. 614.

3. Ark.—Stuttgart Co-op. Buyers Ass'n v. Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation, 109 S.W.2d 862, 194 Ark. 779.

4. U.S.—Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Marketing Ass'n, 48 S.Ct. 291, 276 U.S. 71, 72 L.Ed. 473, affirming Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 271 S.W. 695, 208 Ky. 643—In re Wisconsin Co-op. Milk Pool, D.C.Wis., 35 F.Supp. 787, reversed on other grounds, C.C.A., 119 F.2d 999.

Neb.—Nebraska Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Smith, 212 N.W. 39, 115 Neb. 177.

Tenn.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Dunn, 266 S.W. 308, 150 Tenn. 614.

Tex.—Ex parte Tigner, 132 S.W.2d 885, 139 Tex.Cr. 452, affirmed Tigner v. State of Texas, 60 S.Ct. 879, 310 U.S. 141, 84 L.Ed. 1124, petition denied 60 S.Ct. 1092, 310 U.S. 659, 84 L.Ed. 1422.

Public policy

It is public policy to aid co-operative marketing.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Rogers, 150 N.E. 384, 88 Ind.App. 469.

producers and advancing the public interest.[5] The statutes have been generally held not invalid,[6] and they are given a liberal construction in order to accomplish the purposes for which they were enacted.[7]

§ 2. Organization, Consolidation, and Dissolution

Where the organization of co-operative societies is authorized and regulated by statute, there must be a substantial compliance with such provisions.

Where the organization of co-operative societies is authorized and regulated by statute, there must be a substantial compliance with such provisions.[8] While the principle of co-operative associations is not by any means new,[9] as corporations, these organizations are relatively recent.[10] Although it has been held that such corporations may be legally organized under general statutes providing for nonprofit corporations,[11] they may not be organized under a statute providing for the organization of eleemosynary and educational institutions,[12] but under some statutes a co-operative association may be organized as a corporation and carried on as such with each phase of its business determined under the statute without reference to the laws applicable to other business corporations,[13] and under such statutes, there comes a new form of corporation not

5. U.S.—In re Wisconsin Co-op. Milk Pool, D.C.Wis., 35 F.Supp. 787, reversed on other grounds, C. C.A., 119 F.2d 999.
Neb.—Nebraska Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Smith, 212 N.W. 39, 115 Neb. 177.
"It has been well said that such associations, wisely and economically administered, tend to work to the advantage of the producers, and that the pooling arrangement tends to stabilize prices and, in the long run, to secure to the members better prices by affording them better and cheaper warehouse facilities and by enabling them, when necessary, to sell direct to the manufacturers."—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 422, 171 Ark. 1155.

Purpose of legislation

(1) The enactment of the co-operative marketing statute manifests an effort to aid the agricultural producers of the state to co-operate to the end that the prices of their products might be stabilized, that waste might be eliminated, and that general prosperity might be promoted.
Tenn.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Dunn, 266 S.W. 308, 150 Tenn. 614—State ex rel. Attorney General v. Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Ass'n, 2 Tenn.App. 674.
Tex.—Ex parte Tigner, 132 S.W.2d 885, 139 Tex.Cr. 452, affirmed Tigner v. State of Texas, 60 S.Ct. 879, 310 U.S. 141, 84 L.Ed. 1124, petition denied 60 S.Ct. 1092, 310 U.S. 659, 84 L.Ed. 1422.
41 C.J. p 166 notes 42-56.

(2) The spirit and purpose of legislation authorizing the incorporation of nonprofit, co-operative agricultural associations were to create a system of group handling and marketing of produce of the farms as a part of the farmer's agricultural industry for the benefit of both producers and consumers.—California Employment Commission v. Butte County Rice Growers Ass'n, Cal.App., 138 P.2d 347.

6. U.S.—Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Marketing Ass'n, 48 S.Ct. 291, 276 U.S. 71, 72 L.Ed. 473, affirming Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 271 S.W. 695, 208 Ky. 643.
Fla.—Jellesma v. Tampa Better Milk Producers' Co-operative, etc., 147 So. 463, 109 Fla. 200.
Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Rowan, 254 P. 326, 123 Kan. 169.
Ky.—McFall v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 17 S.W.2d 432, 229 Ky. 432.
Minn.—Minnesota Wheat Growers' Co-op. Marketing Ass'n v. Huggins, 203 N.W. 420, 162 Minn. 471.
Ohio.—Burley Tobacco Grower's Co-Operative Ass'n v. Gardner, 25 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 1.
Tenn.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Dunn, 266 S.W. 308, 150 Tenn. 614.
Wis.—Northern Wisconsin Co-Op. Tobacco Pool v. Bekkedal, 197 N. W. 936, 182 Wis. 571.
Validity of co-operative marketing act:
As to constitutional guaranty of open court and remedy for injuries see Constitutional Law § 711.
As to due process see Constitutional Law § 707.
As to equal protection of laws see Constitutional Law § 511 f.

Discriminatory provisions of act relating to co-operative associations, not within police power, are invalid. —Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Clark, 107 So. 115, 160 La. 294.

Prohibiting credit

A statute authorizing the formation of co-operative associations, productive and distributive, is not invalid as conferring special privileges or immunities because of a provision therein that no credit shall be either given or taken by such associations, and that any credit given them in violation of such provision shall be forfeited.—In re Wyoming Valley Co-op. Ass'n, D.C.Pa., 198 F. 436.

7. Minn.—Minnesota Wheat Growers' Co-op. Marketing Ass'n v. Huggins, 203 N.W. 420, 162 Minn. 471.
Neb.—Nebraska Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Smith, 212 N.W. 39, 115 Neb. 177.
Tex.—State v. Standard Oil Co., 107 S.W.2d 550, 130 Tex. 313, reversing, Civ.App., 82 S.W.2d 402—Ex parte Tigner, 132 S.W.2d 885, 139 Tex.Cr. 452, affirmed Tigner v. State of Texas, 60 S.Ct. 879, 310 U.S. 141, 84 L.Ed. 1124, petition denied 60 S.Ct. 1092, 310 U.S. 659, 84 L.Ed. 1422.

Strained interpretation

A co-operative marketing statute should not receive a strained and technical interpretation for the purpose of defeating its manifest purposes.—Minnesota Wheat Growers' Co-op. Marketing Ass'n v. Huggins, 203 N.W. 420, 162 Minn. 471.

8. N.C.—Pittman v. Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 121 S.E. 634, 187 N.C. 340.

9. Ark.—Stuttgart Co-op. Buyers Ass'n v. Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation, 109 S.W.2d 862, 194 Ark. 779.

10. Ark.—Stuttgart Co-op. Buyers Ass'n v. Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation, supra.

11. Ill.—Milk Producers' Marketing Co. v. Bell, 234 Ill.App. 222.

12. Ky.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, 94 S.W.2d 645, 264 Ky. 338.

13. Ark.—Stuttgart Co-op. Buyers Ass'n v. Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation, 109 S.W.2d 682, 685, 194 Ark. 779.
"It was not the purpose of the Legislature in providing for the organization of associations as corporations to destroy that unity producing the groups, nor was it the purpose of the Legislature to destroy the beneficial effects of voluntary associations, of allied interests, but rather to supply a legal agency to take the place of the former almost futile and more dangerous volun-

hitherto known.[14] Where the association is incorporated, it has a distinct existence separate and apart from its stockholders.[15]

A statute authorizing the incorporation of agricultural associations does not authorize the incorporation of such an association for the purpose of operating electric light[16] and telephone[17] systems for its members, or of conducting a store to furnish them with groceries,[18] but the formation of an electric co-operative association is authorized under a statute authorizing co-operatives to conduct a mercantile, manufacturing, mechanical, or mining business.[19] Under a statute authorizing the incorporation of co-operative societies only where they are organized, not for pecuniary profit, but for the mutual benefit of their members, the fact that the by-laws of a marketing society impose on any member a charge of a fixed per cent of the gross sales of his produce made through others than the society does not indicate that the society is organized for pecuniary profit.[20]

If the declaration of incorporation recites that the corporation is incorporated under a particular act authorizing the incorporation of co-operative societies, and its charter confers on it the powers granted by that statute, the corporation is deemed a corporation organized under the act, although its charter provisions as to powers may in some particulars be more general in their scope than the act authorizes.[21]

The absence of some of the members of the organization committee at the time it was determined to incorporate is immaterial where more than a quorum were present,[22] and irregularity in organizing before the date authorized in the proposal cannot be urged by members who failed to withdraw within the time limit set for withdrawal.[23]

De facto corporation. Where there is an apparent attempt to perfect an organization under the law, but a failure to comply with some substantial requirement thereof, followed by user of corporate powers, a corporation de facto exists.[24]

Dissolution and receivership. The fact that an association has ceased to function for several years has been held not to mean that it has become dissolved,[25] and whether an inactive co-operative association should be held intact for future developments has been held to be within the sound discretion of the directors.[26] A mere showing that an association had collected large sums of money and refused to account therefor to its members,[27] or the fact that agents of the association, in violation of their instructions, made misrepresentations to secure contracts of members,[28] has been held insufficient to justify an ouster of the corporation. An association, chartered under a national organization, by subsequent application for a charter from a state organization and acceptance thereof ipso facto repudiated and surrendered its charter from the national organization.[29] A receiver may be appointed for a co-operative association in a proper case,[30] but a receiver will not be appointed when the acts complained of may be remedied by injunction, or are capable of redress by other available means.[31] Members are not entitled to a receivertary associations."—Stuttgart Co-op. Buyers Ass'n v. Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation, supra.

14. Ark.—Stuttgart Co-op. Buyers Ass'n v. Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation, supra.

15. Md.—Rutledge Co-op. Ass'n v. Baughman, 138 A. 29, 153 Md. 297, 56 A.L.R. 1042.

16. Pa.—In re Co-operative Agricultural Ass'n, 29 Pa.Dist. 321.

17. Pa.—In re Co-operative Agricultural Ass'n, supra.

18. Pa.—In re Co-operative Agricultural Ass'n, supra.

19. Iowa.—State ex rel. Winterfield v. Hardin County Rural Electric Co-op., 285 N.W. 219, 226 Iowa 896.

20. Ala.—Ex parte Baldwin County Producers' Corp., 83 So. 69, 203 Ala. 345, reversing 81 So. 862, 17 Ala.App. 84.

21. Ala.—Ex parte Baldwin County Producers' Corporation, supra.

22. Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, Civ.App., 16 S.W.2d 413.

23. Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, supra.

24. Ky.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, 94 S.W.2d 645, 264 Ky. 338.

25. Or.—Hendrickson v. Bloom, 80 P.2d 868, 159 Or. 428.

Title held not to revert

Although a local grange unit, to which property had been conveyed under a deed vesting title in trustees of the unit as long as the unit should exist and providing for reversion, had ceased to function or elect officers for several years, the grange unit remained in existence and title to property did not revert to the original grantors, where the unit had never surrendered its charter or disposed of its property, but had reorganized and was functioning under the original charter.—Hendrickson v. Bloom, supra.

26. Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Tipton, 11 S.W.2d 119, 227 Ky. 297.

27. Tenn.—State ex rel. Attorney General v. Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Ass'n, 2 Tenn.App. 674.

28. Tenn.—State ex rel. Attorney General v. Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Ass'n, supra.

29. Tex.—Ryan v. Witt, Civ.App., 173 S.W. 952.

30. Ala.—Leyden v. Calhoun Co-op. Creamery Co., 135 So. 317, 223 Ala. 289.

31. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

Mistaken construction of contract

Since mismanagement arose only through mistaken construction of a rice growers' association's contract, a receiver would not be appointed.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, supra.

ship and an accounting on the ground that the association had operated without technically adopting by-laws where the evidence showed that the association had always operated under by-laws and had formally adopted by-laws before the suit,[32] or because of an act or conduct which was not ultra vires.[33]

§ 3. Charter of Incorporation, Articles of Association, and By-Laws

The charter, articles of association, and by-laws of a co-operative society are governed by statutes specifically relating thereto, or in the absence of such provisions, by the general rules applicable to corporations or voluntary associations.

The charter of an incorporated society and the articles of association of an unincorporated society are governed by statutes specifically relating thereto, or in the absence of such provisions, by the general rules applicable to corporations or voluntary associations.[34] While the society has power to adopt all necessary and proper by-laws and rules for its government and operation,[35] the by-laws must be adopted in the mode prescribed by statutory or charter provisions in order to be valid,[36] and the by-laws may be amended only on substantial compliance with the formalities prescribed.[37] Where a by-law operates as a contract between the society and its members, such contract cannot be abrogated by repealing the by-law.[38] The failure to enact by-laws within the time required by statute has been held not to render acts of the association illegal.[39]

General rules apply in the construction of by-laws,[40] and valid by-laws are binding on the as-

32. Wash.—Boyle v. Pasco Growers' Ass'n, 17 P.2d 6, 170 Wash. 516.

33. Wash.—Boyle v. Pasco Growers' Ass'n, 17 P.2d 6, 170 Wash. 516.

34. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233.

Construction in light of statute

Articles of incorporation of a nonprofit association for distribution of a product of its members must be construed in the light of the statute. —Alfalfa Growers of California v. Icardo, 256 P. 287, 82 Cal.App. 641.

Recital in amendment of articles of incorporation of a farm bureau that the articles were amended on due notice being given was sufficient although details of the notice and procedure followed were not shown. —Appanoose County Farm Bureau v. Board of Sup'rs of Appanoose County, 256 N.W. 687, 218 Iowa 945.

Articles of incorporation held valid

Powers given to a power association incorporated by county rural electric co-operatives under an article authorizing the association to manage transmission lines, to acquire property, franchises, licenses, and easements, to borrow money, to make advances and extend credit, and to do all things permitted by law, were merely incidental to accomplishing the single purpose of association to procure and distribute electric energy, and the article did not violate the statute authorizing co-operatives to form associations to conduct a mercantile, manufacturing, mechanical, or mining business; and a statement in the articles of incorporation wherein county rural electric co-operatives formed an association to generate and distribute electric energy, that the association could purchase electric energy, was not invalid as a statement of a separate purpose or business where the whole object of association was to furnish co-operatives, their members, nonmembers, governmental bodies, and other patrons with an uninterrupted supply of electric current.—State ex rel. Winterfield v. Hardin County Rural Electric Co-op., 285 N. W. 219, 226 Iowa 896.

35. Neb.—Whitney v. Farmers' Co-op. Grain Co., 193 N.W. 103, 110 Neb. 157.

31 C.J. p 962 note 24.

Abrogating contracts

A co-operative grain company may not adopt any by-law abrogating its existing contracts with its members. Whitney v. Farmers' Co-op. Grain Co., supra.

36. Cal.—Tapo Citrus Ass'n v. Casey, 115 P.2d 203, 45 Cal.App.2d 796—Noble v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, 276 P. 636, 98 Cal.App. 230.

Signature by agent

The fact that the name of the holder of a certificate in an association was signed by an authorized agent is not fraud authorizing an injunction inhibiting the recognition of the validity of such certificate.—Willis v. Lauridson, 118 P. 530, 161 Cal. 106.

Long delay in filing the by-laws in a public office does not invalidate them where the statute prescribes no time for filing.—Willis v. Lauridson, supra.

37. Cal.—Willis v. Lauridson, supra—Noble v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, 276 P. 636, 98 Cal.App. 230.

Special statute applicable

Since a statute providing a mode of amendment of the by-laws of a non-profit co-operative marketing association was specifically written to apply to a nonprofit co-operative association, it, and not the general law, would be followed.—Tapo Citrus Ass'n v. Casey, 115 P.2d 203, 45 Cal. App.2d 796.

Majority of shares or majority of members

The purpose of a statute providing that a majority vote of members of a nonprofit co-operative marketing association or shares of stock outstanding entitled to vote, or written assent of a majority of members or of stockholders representing a majority of all shares of stock outstanding and entitled to vote, is necessary to adopt by-laws or to repeal or amend any by-laws, or to adopt additional by-laws, is to provide a mode of amendment of the by-laws for associations both with and without shares of stock, and where a nonprofit co-operative marketing association had no shares of stock outstanding, the mode of amending its by-laws was by vote or written assent of a majority in number of its members.—Tapo Citrus Ass'n v. Casey, supra.

38. Kan.—Loch v. Paola Farmers' Union Co-op. Creamery & Store Ass'n, 287 P. 269, 130 Kan. 522, denying rehearing 285 P. 523, 130 Kan. 136.

39. Tenn.—Tennessee Cotton Growers Ass'n v. Hanson, 2 Tenn.App. 118.

40. Quorum

A by-law of an association, providing that any meeting of the majority of the members present in person or represented by proxy shall constitute quorum, means that a majority of the members of the association shall constitute a quorum.—Everts v. Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 237 P. 1030, 119 Kan. 276.

sociation and its members.[41] They are not ordinarily binding on third persons dealing with the society;[42] but if a third person has actual notice of a by-law at the time he deals with the society, he is bound by it.[43]

§ 4. Legality

Although there is authority to the contrary, it has been held that a by-law or contract, requiring members of a marketing society to deliver to it all their produce, and to pay liquidated damages in case of breach, is not invalid as in restraint of trade or contrary to public policy.

In the absence of special provisions relating thereto, the legality of the objects of industrial co-operative societies and of their by-laws are governed by the principles of law applicable to associations or to corporations in general; and such associations have been held not illegal.[44] Activities of a legally organized association within the powers granted to the association are not open to attack as being against the public policy of the state.[45]

While it is usually held, sometimes by virtue of statutory provisions, that a by-law or contract requiring members of a marketing society to deliver to it all their produce, and to pay liquidated damages in case of their breach, is not invalid as in restraint of trade or contrary to public policy,[46] it has also been held that such a contract or by-law is invalid as in restraint of trade,[47] at least where the contract was made prior to the enactment of a statute which legalizes such contracts.[48]

Co-operative societies and contracts between them and their members as creating or tending to create a monopoly are considered in the C.J.S. title Monopolies § 78, also 41 C.J. p 166 note 57-p 168 note 88.

§ 5. Rights, Powers, Duties, and Liabilities

a. In general
b. Contracts

41. Mich.—Cole v. Southern Michigan Fruit Ass'n, 245 N.W. 534, 260 Mich. 617.
Or.—Davidson v. Apple Growers Ass'n, 79 P.2d 991, 159 Or. 473.

Reasonable amendments

An agreement by member of co-operative dairy organization to be bound by its by-laws and subsequent amendments thereto is valid, and such member is bound by all reasonable amendments that may be thereafter adopted.—East-West Dairymen's Ass'n v. Dias, 138 P.2d 772, 59 Cal.App.2d 437.

42. Mich.—Harley v. Hartford Fruit Growers' & Farmers' Exch., 184 N. W. 507, 216 Mich. 146.
31 C.J. p 962 note 30.

43. Mich.—Rundell v. Farmers' Co-op. El. Co., 178 N.W. 21, 210 Mich. 642.
31 C.J. p 962 note 31.

44. Ind.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Rogers, 150 N.E. 384, 88 Ind.App. 469—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Robertson, 150 N.E. 106, 84 Ind. App. 51.

45. Conn.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, 191 A. 326, 122 Conn. 482.

46. Ala.—Bishop v. Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, 110 So. 711, 215 Ala. 388—Warren v. Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, 104 So. 264, 213 Ala. 61.
Colo.—Rifle Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Smith, 240 P. 937, 78 Colo. 171.
Fla.—Lee v. Clearwater Growers' Ass'n, 111 So. 722, 93 Fla. 214.
Ind.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Rogers, 150 N.E. 384, 88 Ind.App. 469—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Robertson, 150 N.E. 106, 84 Ind.App. 51.
N.H.—Manchester Dairy System v. Hayward, 132 A. 12, 82 N.H. 193.
Ohio.—Brannan v. Ohio Poultry Producers' Co-op. Ass'n, 162 N.E. 453, 27 Ohio App. 426.
Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Com.App., 55 S.W.2d 543, reversing Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ.App., 37 S. W.2d 331.
Wash.—Guglielmelli v. Walla Walla Gardeners' Ass'n, 288 P. 251, 157 Wash. 109, 77 A.L.R. 385.
31 C.J. p 962 note 36, p 963 note 41—13 C.J. p 481 note 15—41 C.J. p 168 note 76.
Damages on breach of contract see infra § 9.

No interference by courts

General control conferred on a dairy co-operative marketing association by contract will not be interfered with by courts, in the absence of arbitrary action, unfair discrimination, fraud, or similar misconduct.—Olympia Milk Producers' Ass'n v. Herman, 29 P.2d 676, 176 Wash. 338.

Unfairness immaterial

Marketing contract, by which accused agreed to sell his potatoes to plaintiff only, was supported by a consideration, where plaintiff was required to buy, resell, and on certain conditions give accused something out of the proceeds, it being immaterial that the contract was unfair to accused, and that he received no benefit therefrom.—Rifle Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Smith, 240 P. 937, 78 Colo. 171.

Validity of statute

A statute authorizing co-operative associations, by contract with its members, to become the exclusive agency for the sale and purchase of certain commodities has been held not invalid.—Clear Lake Co-op. Live Stock Shippers' Ass'n v. Weir, 206 N.W. 297, 200 Iowa 1293.

General statute modified

A contract between a co-operative association and its members, whereby the members agree to sell all products grown by them to the association for five years, the contract to be effective when seventy-five per cent of the growers in the state signed similar agreements and to be self-renewing from year to year, and providing for liquidated damages in case of breach, is authorized by statute, and hence is not to be tested, in determining whether it constituted an unlawful restraint of trade, by the general provisions of the statute relating to contracts in restraint of trade.—Northern Wisconsin Co-Op. Tobacco Pool v. Bekkedal, 197 N.W. 936, 182 Wis. 571.

47. Iowa.—Reeves v. Decorah Farmers Co-op. Soc., 140 N.W. 844, 160 Iowa 194, 44 L.R.A.,N.S., 1104.
31 C.J. p 962 note 38, p 963 note 39.

48. Colo.—Atkinson v. Colorado Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 238 P. 1117, 77 Colo. 559.

Where association a de facto corporation

A co-operative marketing association's contract was held not valid, although the association was a de facto corporation.—Colorado Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Thede, 253 P. 30, 80 Colo. 529.

a. In General

The rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of a co-operative society depend on statutory provisions and its charter or articles of association.

In accordance with general rules of law applicable to corporations or to voluntary associations, the rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of a co-operative society depend on statutory provisions and its charter or articles of association,[49] and ordinarily a co-operative association is authorized to exercise all powers, rights, and privileges necessary or incidental to the purposes for which it was formed and to the activities in which it should engage.[50] In accordance therewith, it has been held that such a society may, within the exercise of a reasonable discretion, refuse an offer for commodities held by it,[51] employ an attorney,[52] incur debts,[53] use deductions for credits and commercial purposes to pay certain operating costs,[54] engage in the distribution of supplies purchased by agricultural producers,[55] expend reasonable sums to present, by fair and open means, the merits of a matter advocated before a legislative body,[56] make an assignment of funds due,[57] accept assignment of member's interest in commodities in the association's custody,[58] and may recover damages from a person converting property of the association.[59] The assets of the association, although belonging to the members, are subject to

49. Ark.—McCarroll v. Ozarks Rural Electric Co-op. Corporation, 146 S.W.2d 693, 201 Ark. 329.
Cal.—Willis v. Lauridson, 118 P. 530, 161 Cal. 106.
Ill.—Milk Producers' Marketing Co. v. Bell, 234 Ill.App. 222.
Iowa.—State ex rel. Winterfield v. Hardin County Rural Electric Co-op., 285 N.W. 219, 226 Iowa 896.

Notice of powers

Persons dealing with a co-operative association are bound to take notice of the powers of the association.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Rowan, 266 P. 101, 125 Kan. 710.

Manufacturing ice cream

A co-operative marketing association organized under the Cooperative Marketing Act is authorized to manufacture ice cream from milk supplied by its members.—Forrester v. Georgia Milk Producers Confederation, 19 S.E.2d 183, 66 Ga.App. 696.

Pledging credit of members

An agricultural co-operative marketing association was held to have power to purchase crates for members, pledge members' credit therefor to the extent of the amounts due to members, and to pay the seller therefor.—Bank of Aurora v. Aurora Co-op. Fruit Growing & Marketing Ass'n, Mo.App., 91 S.W.2d 177.

Pooling grain

A nonstock, nonprofit, co-operative marketing association duly organized may adopt and carry out a plan of marketing by pooling grain, and may do each and every thing reasonably necessary therefor.—Lexington Mill & Elevator Co. v. Browne, 219 N.W. 13, 116 Neb. 753.

Filing annual report

An incorporated society has been held required to file an annual report of its condition under a statute relating to corporations generally.—Anderson v. Equity Co-op. Ass'n of Roy, 215 P. 802, 67 Mont. 291.

Referendum under Agricultural Adjustment Act

Under a statute requiring the secretary of agriculture to consider approval or disapproval by a co-operative as the approval or disapproval of the producers represented by it, the secretary has the burden of ascertaining whether a co-operative meets the statutory requirements and he may not make additional qualifications for voting.—U. S. v. Rock Royal Co-op., D.C.N.Y., 26 F. Supp. 534, modified on other grounds 59 S.Ct. 993, 307 U.S. 533, 83 L.Ed. 1446, rehearing denied 60 S.Ct. 66, 308 U.S. 631, 84 L.Ed. 526, Dairymen's League Cooperative Ass'n v. Rock Royal Co-op., 60 S.Ct. 66, 308 U.S. 631, 84 L.Ed. 526 and Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency v. Rock Royal Co-op., 60 S.Ct. 67, 308 U.S. 631, 84 L.Ed. 526.

50. Conn.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, 191 A. 326, 122 Conn. 482.

51. Colo.—Mountain States Beet Growers' Marketing Ass'n v. Monroe, 269 P. 886, 84 Colo. 200.

52. Mo.—Bank of Aurora v. Aurora Co-op. Fruit Growing & Marketing Ass'n, App., 91 S.W.2d 177.

53. Minn.—In re Farmers' Dairy Co.'s Receivership, 225 N.W. 22, 177 Minn. 211.

54. Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, 17 S.W.2d 1002, 229 Ky. 696.

Indebtedness under arbitration award

That a marketing association's fund for credits and commercial purposes was a trust fund which, when invested in warehousing corporations' bonds, could only be used for obligations arising directly in connection with the fund, is too narrow a construction of the contract, and the fund may be used to settle the indebtedness from a violation of the contract with the warehousing corporations, as settled by an arbitration agreement and award.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, supra.

Provision for distribution of any surplus in fund for credits and commercial purposes did not prevent director's use of fund.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, supra.

55. Va.—Rockingham Co-op. Farm Bureau v. City of Harrisonburg, 198 S.E. 908, 171 Va. 339.

Peculiar connection with agricultural production

The word "supplies," as used in a statute providing that a co-operative marketing association may engage in the distribution of supplies purchased by agricultural producers, is confined to things which have a peculiar connection with agricultural production as defined in the statute, in contradistinction to the conduct of other businesses.—Rockingham Co-op. Farm Bureau v. City of Harrisonburg, 198 S.E. 908, 171 Va. 339.

56. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904.

57. Mo.—Bank of Aurora v. Aurora Co-op. Fruit Growing & Marketing Ass'n, App., 91 S.W.2d 177.

Transfer not shown

The fact that an agent of an unincorporated voluntary association later became the manager and secretary of an incorporated co-operative association was held not to transfer to the corporation an account of the association in the possession of the agent so that the corporation could sue thereon.—Idaho Apple Growers' Ass'n v. Brown, 7 P.2d 591, 51 Idaho 540.

Equitable lien created

Mo.—Bank of Aurora v. Aurora Co-op. Fruit Growing & Marketing Ass'n, App., 91 S.W.2d 177.

58. Cal.—Robinson v. Harry, 46 P.2d 806, 7 Cal.App.2d 312.

59. Cal.—California Grape Control Board v. Boothe Fruit Co., 29 P.2d 857, 220 Cal. 279.

claims of creditors of the association,[60] and a transfer thereof by the association to its members pending an action against it has been held to be in fraud of creditors.[61]

However, it has also been held that such a society is without authority to engage in transactions on credit,[62] devote unexpended funds to research where an agreement provides for the return thereof on expiration of such agreement,[63] or to close up or interfere with private business inimical to, and standing in the way of, accomplishment of the purposes of the association.[64]

Knowledge of one assisting in organizing a co-operative association has been held not to constitute notice to the corporation subsequently organized,[65] and notice to an officer or agent is not imputable to the association where the circumstances raise a clear presumption that he will not communicate his knowledge to the association, as where he acquires it while acting adversely to the association and entirely for his own purposes.[66]

Compliance with general regulatory statutes. It has been held that a statute requiring a certificate of convenience and necessity of public service corporations does not apply to an electric membership corporation where the statute under which it was organized is complete in itself and states that the provisions of other laws shall not apply to a corporation formed thereunder.[67] However, it has also been held that a co-operative association is not exempted from statutory provisions requiring certificates or permits where they perform the functions of a public utility,[68] and where an association has received a permit, it has no right, by accepting new members, to enter into competition with a competitor without procuring an extension of its permit.[69] Where the statute under which the association was organized does not authorize the operation of public markets, the association does not have the right to conduct a public market independently of statutes relating to such markets.[70] Where a license or certificate of convenience and necessity is necessary, each individual application must be considered on its own merits.[71]

Under some statutes, a foreign co-operative association, not a corporation for profit, need not file a copy of its charter with a designated state officer as a prerequisite to doing business within the state.[72]

Local and general associations. The contractual relation between a state co-operative union and a national union from which it had secured a charter was held to be fixed by the several documents existing between them and the action taken there-

60. Idaho.—Associated Fruit Co. v. Idaho-Oregon Fruit Growers' Ass'n, 256 P. 99, 44 Idaho 200.

Reserve fund of a cotton marketing association was available for the payment of debts.—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n v. Lennox, 297 S. W. 743, 117 Tex. 94.

61. Idaho.—Associated Fruit Co. v. Idaho-Oregon Fruit Growers' Ass'n, 256 P. 99, 44 Idaho 200.

62. U.S.—In re Wyoming Valley Co-op. Ass'n, D.C.Pa., 198 F. 436.

63. U.S.—Speh v. Bullard, C.C.A. Fla., 90 F.2d 227.

64. Ky.—Hy-Grade Dairies v. Falls City Milk Producers Ass'n, 86 S.W. 2d 1046, 261 Ky. 25.

May refuse to sell

A co-operative milk distributing association organized and operated under the Co-operative Marketing Act was held authorized to refuse to sell milk of members to an independent distributor and to refuse to permit members to sell milk to such distributor direct.—Hy-Grade Dairies v. Falls City Milk Producers Ass'n, supra.

65. Ky.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Alexander, 270 S.W. 677, 208 Ky. 572.

66. Miss.—American Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Union Compress & Warehouse Co., 7 So.2d 537, 193 Miss. 43.

Director or officer chargeable with knowledge of matters relating to affairs of association see infra § 6.

67. Ala.—Alabama Power Co. v. Cullman County Electric Membership Corporation, 174 So. 866, 234 Ala. 396, adhered to 178 So. 919, 235 Ala. 694.

N.C.—Carolina Power & Light Co. v. Johnston County Electric Membership Corporation, 192 S.E. 105, 211 N.C. 717.

68. Md.—West v. Tidewater Express Lines, 179 A. 176, 168 Md. 581—Parlett Co-operative, Inc. v. Tidewater Lines, Inc., 165 A. 313, 164 Md. 405—Rutledge Co-operative Ass'n v. Baughman, 138 A. 29, 153 Md. 297, 56 A.L.R. 1042.

Exemption statute invalid

A statute authorizing a public utility co-operative association without an adjudication of necessity has been held invalid.—Frost v. Corporation Commission of State of Oklahoma, Okl., 49 S.Ct. 235, 278 U.S. 515, 73 L.Ed. 483, reversing, D.C., 26 F.2d 508.

69. Md.—Madonna & Shawsville Co-op. Co. of Harford County v. West, 176 A. 611, 168 Md. 95.

70. W.Va.—West Central Producers Co-op. Ass'n v. Commissioner of Agriculture, 20 S.E.2d 797, 124 W. Va. 81.

71. Okl.—Pannell v. Farmers Union Co-op. Gin Ass'n of Sterling, 138 P.2d 817.

Lack of competition

(1) A corporation commission's order granting a license to a co-operative gin association to maintain and operate a cotton gin, on the ground that the two gins at the point in question were owned and operated by the same owners and lack of competition created a discrimination in prices, was supported by substantial evidence.—Pannell v. Farmers Union Co-op. Gin Ass'n of Sterling, supra.

(2) A commission is not confined to the question whether gins already located afford adequate facilities, but may consider facts affecting the reasonableness of existing facilities regarding the ultimate cost of ginning cotton.—Southwestern Cotton Oil Co. v. Farmers' Union Co-operative Gin Co., 24 P.2d 658, 165 Okl. 31.

72. Miss.—American Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Union Compress & Warehouse Co., 7 So.2d 537, 193 Miss. 43.

under by them.[73] Charges by an association against subsidiaries for a fund used to redeem subsidiaries' bonds is a valid obligation which the association may not cancel,[74] and a local association, although not a member of a general association, may be liable to the latter under a contract therewith under which obligations were incurred.[75] Ordinarily a national union is not liable to a third person because of an alleged tort of a local union, in the absence of a showing of a special interest or connection therewith.[76]

b. Contracts

An industrial co-operative society may make contracts in furtherance of its purposes.

An industrial co-operative society may make contracts[77] for the sale and future delivery of commodities,[78] and may provide for pooling proceeds of sales in a common fund, paying each producer in proportion to the quantity of his products to the entire amount sold by the association without regard to the amount obtained for the particular product.[79] Under some statutes, co-operative soci-

73. Neb.—Farmers Educational & Co-operative Union of America v. Farmers Educational & Co-operative State Union of Nebraska, 275 N.W. 464, 133 Neb. 397.

Payment of dues collected

A farmers educational and co-operative state union which had secured a charter from the national union and had paid annual dues to the national union for each member for about fifteen years was liable to pay to the national union dues collected and set apart, but not paid during a particular year, even though the articles of incorporation of the state union did not provide for such payment, since, by incorporating under charter, the state union acquiesced in its terms, and the contractual relation was fixed by several documents and action taken thereunder by the unions.—Farmers Educational & Co-operative Union of America v. Farmers Educational & Co-operative State Union of Nebraska, supra.

74. Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Tipton, 11 S.W.2d 119, 227 Ky. 297.

75. N.Y.—New York Canning Crops Co-op. Ass'n v. Slocum, 212 N.Y.S. 534, 126 Misc. 30.

"Cost" and "overhead"; estoppel

Under a statute authorizing contracts between such associations and providing for a charge for "the actual cost thereof, including the pro rata part of all overhead expenses," the terms "cost" and "overhead" mean expenses and obligations incurred in connection with operation of the general association; and the local co-operative association is estopped from setting up the defense of ultra vires as to obligations in carrying out a contract with the general association, after accepting benefits thereof.—New York Canning Crops Co-op. Ass'n v. Slocum, supra.

76. Personal injuries

A motorist could not recover from a farmers' cooperative union incorporated in a foreign state, for injuries sustained when the motorist stepped into a hole in the driveway in a gasoline service station operated by a local union which was chartered by the foreign union, in the absence of evidence that the latter operated or was interested in the operation of the filling station, or was in any way concerned in the maintenance of driveway, or was in any way responsible for the defective condition thereof, and in the absence of evidence that the local union operated the gasoline station as agent of the foreign union.—Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America v. Eakins, 108 P.2d 182, 188 Okl. 324.

77. Cal.—Loomis Fruit Growers' Ass'n v. California Fruit Exchange, 16 P.2d 1040, 128 Cal.App. 265.

Neb.—Lexington Mill & Elevator Co. v. Browne, 219 N.W. 12, 116 Neb. 753.

Uncertainty

Contract between a wheat marketing association and an owner of elevator facilities for the latter to handle wheat, although not designating the amount, was held not void for uncertainty, in view of the practical construction by the parties.—Fred Mosher Grain v. Kansas Co-op. Wheat Marketing Ass'n, 15 P.2d 421, 136 Kan. 269.

Agent of association

(1) Agreement between fruit growers' association and fruit exchange for marketing of deciduous fruits was held not to constitute the exchange the exclusive selling agent of the association, and the association, under a marketing agreement with the fruit exchange, was entitled to patronage dividends on withholdings from proceeds of ripe fruits and grapes delivered to the exchange.—Loomis Fruit Growers' Ass'n v. California Fruit Exchange, 16 P.2d 1040, 128 Cal.App. 265.

(2) A contract with a co-operative marketing association was held to make the other parties the association's agents for handling grain through elevator.—Lexington Mill & Elevator Co. v. Browne, 219 N.W. 12, 116 Neb. 753.

Duty to ascertain authority

Where a third person contracting with an association as agent of the growers is charged with knowledge that the authority of the agent is in writing, the third person has the duty to ascertain the extent and nature of the authority conferred and whether the agent is acting within the scope thereof.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 233 P. 547, 113 Or. 398.

78. Ark.—Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, 270 S.W. 946, 168 Ark. 504, supplemental opinion 270 S.W. 1119, 168 Ark. 504.

Fixing prices on seller's call

Contracts for sale of cotton, as modified, fixing prices on seller's call before or after delivery with mutual agreement to protect against fluctuations of the market were not "ultra vires" as to a co-operative marketing corporation.—South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Weil, 126 So. 637, 220 Ala. 568.

Exemption of members from liability

That part of the statute which exempted the members of a co-operative marketing association from individual liability for debts of the association was held not to restrict the power of the association, if properly exercised, to contract for the sale and future delivery of the cotton.—Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, 270 S.W. 946, 168 Ark. 504, supplemental opinion 270 S.W. 1119, 168 Ark. 504.

Possibility of loss

That the plan of a co-operative marketing association, to effect orderly marketing of cotton throughout the whole year, so as to prevent the forcing of cotton on the market during the short gathering season, or "dumping," as such condition is called, may result in loss to the association by reason of mistakes of judgment in connection with the sale of contracts of commodities for future delivery, was held not to render the plan illegal or beyond the scope of a member's contract with the association.—Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, supra.

79. N.Y.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, 202 N.Y.S. 663, 207 App.Div. 429, affirmed 147 N.E. 171, 239 N.Y.S. 503, reargument denied 147 N.E. 210, 239 N.Y. 596.

eties are not restricted as to the locality of their operations,[80] and they may contract for the purchase and sale of commodities outside the state where organized.[81]

Although it has been held that a co-operative society may contract with others than co-operative associations and members thereof[82] for the marketing of their produce,[83] but that it has no capacity to contract with nonmembers in conflict with statutory provisions relating to such contracts,[84] under some statutes it has been held that a co-operative marketing society can make contracts for delivery of produce only with its members.[85] Estoppel of a party to an ultra vires contract with a co-operative association to question its validity in so far as it is executed does not work against that part of the contract wholly unexecuted.[86]

Where the contract contains an option to terminate, notice of termination must be given in accordance with the terms thereof.[87]

Contracts of a co-operative association with its members are considered infra § 7 c.

§ 6. Officers and Agents

Matters relating to the election, appointment, authority, and removal of officers and agents of co-operative societies are frequently left to the discretion of the societies.

Matters relating to the election, appointment, authority, and removal of officers and agents of a co-operative society are frequently left to the discretion of the society itself.[88] The duly elected offi-

80. Tex.—Hollingsworth v. Texas Hay Ass'n, Civ.App., 246 S.W. 1068.

81. Kan.—Clark v. Murphy, 49 P.2d 973, 142 Kan. 426.

Validity; federal or local statute

The legality of purchases and sales of grain made by a co-operative grain company on Kansas City board of trade was held governed by the Federal Grain Futures Act, and not by a local "bucket shop" statute.—Clark v. Murphy, supra.

82. Minn.—In re Farmers' Dairy Co.'s receivership, 225 N.W. 22, 177 Minn. 211.

Revocation

If a marketing society is authorized by its members to enter into contracts for the sale of all their produce during a number of seasons, and it enters into such a contract with a third person and thus subjects itself to liability in damages for failure to make deliveries, it has such a power, coupled with an obligation, as prevents a revocation of its agency as to future deliveries within the period of years specified.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 201 P. 222, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090, rehearing denied 205 P. 970, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090.

83. N.Y.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, 202 N.Y.S. 663, 207 App.Div. 429, affirmed 147 N.E. 171, 239 N.Y. 503, reargument denied 147 N.E. 210, 239 N.Y. 596.

Meeting of minds

A provision of an exclusive marketing contract with a co-operative association for future loans, to be deducted from producers' share of proceeds, which did not prescribe the amount, duration, or interest, but left those elements to be determined by the association, was held invalid, because there was no meeting of the minds.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, supra.

84. N.Y.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, supra.

Share of overhead expenses

Although under a statute, no charges including a profit could be made by a co-operative association for services, either to members or nonmembers, the charges could include a pro rata share of the association's "overhead" expenses, which include continuous expenses of a business, irrespective of the outlay on particular contracts, but general losses of a co-operative association must be borne by the members, and cannot be shared by nonmembers under an exclusive marketing contract with the association, as the fact that the statute gives the association the status of a juridical person raises no implication of capacity to contract, in conflict with the provision of the statute limiting charges to nonmembers to the actual cost of its services.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, supra.

Provision ultra vires

A contract for exclusive marketing of products by nonmembers through a co-operative association, authorizing it to make deductions, unlimited in amount, for the retirement of loans, erection of buildings, etc., from proceeds of products sold, although such deductions were treated as loans, was held ultra vires, in view of the fact that the time of repayment and the amount of interest was in the discretion of the association.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, supra.

85. U.S.—American Live Stock Commission Co. v. U. S., D.C.Okl., 28 F.2d 63, reversed on other grounds U. S. v. American Livestock Commission Co., 49 S.Ct. 425, 279 U.S. 435, 73 L.Ed. 787.

Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

Okl.—Tulsa Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Hart, 292 P. 558, 145 Okl. 263.

Tex.—Texas Certified Cottonseed Breeders' Ass'n v. Aldridge, 61 S.W.2d 79, 122 Tex. 464, reversing, Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 320—Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Com. App., 55 S.W.2d 543, reversing Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 331.

Attempted contract not enforceable

A contract for the delivery of milk, signed by accused before organization of the co-operative marketing association, was held not enforceable against him, where he never thereafter became a member of organization.—Tulsa Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Hart, 292 P. 558, 145 Okl. 263.

86. N.Y.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, 202 N.Y.S. 663, 207 App.Div. 429, affirmed 147 N.E. 171, 239 N.Y.S. 503, reargument denied 147 N.E. 210, 239 N.Y. 596.

87. Kan.—Fred Mosher Grain v. Kansas Co-op. Wheat Marketing Ass'n, 15 P.2d 421, 136 Kan. 269.

88. Mich.—Rundell v. Farmers' Co-op. Elevator Co. of Corunna, 178 N.W. 21, 210 Mich. 642.

31 C.J. p 963 note 57.

Rule as to voting

Where the by-laws of a co-operative association, incorporated under a statute, authorized the directors to determine the election rules, a rule adopted by the directors, that, if a man voted twice, the ballot cast first should be counted, was held valid and applicable to a case where voters voted for one candidate for director, and later filed other ballots, containing written directions to cancel the first ballots and count their votes for the last candidate designated.—Davis v. South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n, 121 S.E. 260, 127 S.C. 353.

cers of an association are entitled to the charge and control of its property, books, etc.,[89] and while their valid acts are binding on other members of the organization,[90] ordinarily an officer or agent of the association may represent and bind the association in transactions with third persons only to the extent that authority to do so has been expressly or impliedly conferred on him.[91] In the absence of conduct creating an estoppel, a co-operative association may deny the authority of an alleged agent to represent and bind it in dealings with third persons.[92]

In the absence of statutes imposing liability under specified circumstances,[93] directors or officers of the association usually are not liable for debts incurred or sums lost by the association in lawful transactions.[94] Under some statutes, directors may be liable where they permit the association to exceed the limit of its indebtedness,[95] but one making a sale to an association with knowledge that the latter had exceeded its charter indebtedness would not be entitled to recover from the directors of the association.[96] As a general rule a director or officer is chargeable with knowledge of all matters relating to the affairs of the association which he actually knows or which it is his duty to know,[97] and directors are required to take notice of statutory and charter powers and limitations of the corporation whose affairs and business they control, and cannot plead ignorance thereof to protect them from individual liability imposed by statute.[98]

That an officer used funds of the association in violation of his trust has been held a good defense, to the extent of funds so diverted, to his action for salary accruing under a contract after he was discharged.[99]

Right to question validity. A person who is not a member of a co-operative corporation cannot challenge the validity of any action of the board of directors of such corporation in the management of the corporation business or the conduct of its affairs, on the ground that such action was unlawful or has unlawfully deprived him of a right, since he has no legal right which may be affected,[1] and

Removal

Where neither the articles of incorporation, the by-laws, nor the statutes, authorize removal of directors or officers of the association, the stockholders may not remove them at a meeting called for such purpose.—State v. Kylmanen, 226 N.W. 401, 178 Minn. 164, reargued 226 N. W. 709, 178 Minn. 164.

89. Tex.—Ryan v. Witt, Civ.App., 173 S.W. 952.

90. Tex.—Ryan v. Witt, supra.

91. Cal.—Christian v. Rice Growers Ass'n of California, 123 P.2d 534, 50 Cal.App.2d 617.

92. Mich.—David Stott Flour Mills v. Saginaw County Farm Bureau, 213 N.W. 147, 237 Mich. 657.

93. Mont.—Anderson v. Equity Co-op. Ass'n of Roy, 215 P. 802, 67 Mont. 291.

Failure to file annual report

Under a statute relating to corporations generally, the directors and trustees of a co-operative association are liable for all corporate debts or judgments existing, or which may be incurred, where no annual report of the condition of the association has been filed as required by statute.—Anderson v. Equity Co-op. Ass'n of Roy, supra.

94. Kan.—Clark v. Murphy, 49 P.2d 978, 142 Kan. 426.

Conversion

The officers of an association contracting to sell a grower's produce are not liable as for conversion because of the association's failure to pay over the proceeds before receivership.—Winans v. Brue, 248 P. 62, 140 Wash. 56.

95. Ky.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, 94 S.W.2d 645, 264 Ky. 338.

When debts created

Directors who permitted farm bureau to exceed its charter debt limit could not escape liability to seller of fertilizer on the ground that the directors sued were not directors when antecedent debts were created, where their liability did not arise solely from the fact that the bureau was indebted before sales of the fertilizer but arose out of their permitting purchase of the fertilizer when the bureau had already exceeded its debt limit.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, supra.

96. Ky.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, supra.

Time knowledge acquired

In determining whether a seller of fertilizer to a farm bureau had knowledge at the time of sale or delivery that the bureau had exceeded its charter debt limit, the issue must be decided on proved facts known to the seller or its salesman at the time of the meeting of minds of the salesmen and the general manager of the bureau in making the contracts for the sales of the fertilizer.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, supra.

97. Kan.—Darling & Co. v. Petri, 27 P.2d 255, 138 Kan. 666.

Notice to officer or agent imputed to association see supra § 5.

Director obtaining consigned property from the association cannot escape liability to the consignor because he had no actual knowledge of the consignment contract, since he was chargeable with notice thereof. —Darling & Co. v. Petri, supra.

Conversion by manager

Directors of farmers' co-operative grain company were not personally liable for conversion by manager of grain stored in company's elevator under secret agreement with manager of which directors had no knowledge and which they could not have discovered in the exercise of ordinary and reasonable supervision. —Lowell Holt & Co. v. Detig, 50 N. E.2d 602, 320 Ill.App. 179.

98. Ky.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, 94 S.W.2d 645, 264 Ky. 338.

99. Tex.—South Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Burgess, Civ.App., 103 S.W.2d 1095.

1. N.C.—Bailey v. Carolina Power & Light Co., 195 S.E. 64, 212 N.C. 768.

Resident of community

That a person is a member of the community or a resident of the territory in which an electric membership corporation is authorized to operate or that such person attended meetings preliminary to organization of such a corporation or might be eligible to membership therein does not entitle him to service by such corporation or give him any rights which may be affected by organization of corporation or by management of its business or conduct of its affairs by its board of directors.—

where the business of the association was done in a corporate manner and under a corporate franchise, the directors may not question the existence of the corporation to escape their liability, which would exist if the act done in the corporate name had been authorized by the pre-existence of a corporate capacity.[2]

§ 7. Members and Stockholders

a. In general
b. Rights and liabilities in general
c. Contracts
d. Advances and deductions; accounting
e. Termination of membership or contract

a. In General

Eligibility and admission to membership or ownership of stock in co-operative associations are commonly governed by statute, the articles of incorporation, by-laws of the society, and the contract of subscription.

Eligibility and admission to membership or ownership of stock in a co-operative society are commonly governed by statute, articles of incorporation, by-laws of the society, or the subscription contract.[3] A person may become a member of a co-operative association by signing an organization agreement or a contract of membership,[4] and sometimes by the execution of a marketing contract with the association,[5] but where membership is a question of intent, it cannot be established by facts which fail to show the existence of such intent.[6] Contracts of subscription and for the purchase of Bailey v. Carolina Power & Light Co., supra.

2. Ky.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, 94 S.W.2d 645, 264 Ky. 338.

3. N.D.—Chaffee v. Farmers' Co-op. El. Co., 168 N.W. 616, 39 N.D. 585.

By-law held valid

A provision of a charter or by-law that the stock of a warehousing corporation, organized as part of a co-operative association, shall be issued only to the members of the association has been held valid.—Carpenter v. Dummit, 297 S.W. 695, 221 Ky. 67.

Ownership of property

A provision in a subscription agreement for the purchase of one share of stock for every one thousand hens or a majority fraction of one thousand owned by each subscriber, the minimum subscription in any event being one share where the corporation was organized to include every producer in marketable quantities of hens, refers to the basis for the issuance of the stock, and is not a limitation on those entitled to subscribe, so that subscriptions by holders of minority fractions of one thousand hens were proper.—Poultry Producers of Central California v. Nilsson, 239 P. 1086, 197 Cal. 245.

Consent of managers

The statute may provide that no person may become a stockholder except by consent of the managers of the society.—Healey v. Steele Center Creamery Ass'n, 133 N.W. 69, 115 Minn. 451—Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 53 N.W. 1150, 52 Minn. 239, 38 Am.S.R. 552, 18 L.R.A. 778.

An infant may become a member under the statutes and by-laws, if he has attained a prescribed age.—Willis v. Lauridson, 118 P. 530, 161 Cal. 106.

Note in payment of stock

A note given to make good impaired capital stock of an association is not uncollectable on the ground that if it be held that the note was given for stock it violated a general statute requiring a statement that it was given for shares, etc., as the securities of a co-operative association are exempted from such provision.—Clark v. Pargeter, 52 P.2d 617, 142 Kan. 781.

Number of shares

The issuance of more than one share to a member does not constitute fraud, where the member assigns his excess shares to persons qualified to hold them before he attempts to benefit by the excess issue.—Willis v. Lauridson, 118 P. 530, 161 Cal. 106.

4. Tex.—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n v. Stovall, 253 S.W. 1101, 113 Tex. 273, reversing, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 1109—Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Com.App., 55 S.W.2d 543, reversing Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ. App., 37 S.W.2d 331.

Membership not shown

A recital in a contract giving a dealer an option to purchase milk from producers from year to year that there existed an additional consideration for producers' promises to deliver milk to dealer, although not conclusive, was evidence of a fact supporting the trial court's conclusion that the producers did not become bound as members of a co-operative league which knew of the contract and procured membership contracts from producers on the theory that their identification with the league would induce others to join and thus strengthen it.—Cooperative Dairymen's League v. Hansen, 73 P. 2d 627, 23 Cal.App.2d 493.

Notification

Where an organization contract was not to be binding until notification of incorporation, etc., a notice sent in the manner prescribed in the agreement has been held to constitute sufficient notice.—Tennessee Cotton Growers Ass'n v. Hanson, 2 Tenn.App. 118.

5. Mich.—Edmore Marketing Ass'n v. Skinner, 227 N.W. 681, 248 Mich. 695.

Neb.—Nebraska Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Smith, 212 N.W. 39, 115 Neb. 177.

Contract inoperative

Where membership is based solely on a marketing contract, if the contract is inoperative then the grower's membership in the association is likewise inoperative.—Edmore Marketing Ass'n v. Skinner, 227 N.W. 681, 248 Mich. 695.

Membership and marketing fused elements

Membership in the association cannot be separated from the obligation to fulfill a marketing agreement. Membership and marketing are fused elements of the co-operative scheme.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Massey, 253 P. 1093, 123 Kan. 183.

6. Cal.—Johanson v. Riverside County Select Groves, 40 P.2d 530, 4 Cal.App.2d 114.

Agent signing as individual

That a fruit owner's foreman signed a membership card in a co-operative marketing association was held not to create a membership relationship between the owner and the association, where the card was signed by the foreman as an individual and the foreman informed the association's manager that a foreman had no authority to contract for membership.—Johanson v. Riverside County Select Groves, supra.

Constructive notice

Information conveyed to the owner's general manager that proceeds stock are governed by the usual rules applicable to the construction of contracts,[7] and a membership subscription becomes irrevocable after the expenditure of money or the bestowing of labor on the faith of it.[8] Fraud, inducing the execution of a membership contract, may be waived.[9]

Transfer of stock; purchase by association. The right of stockholders of a co-operative association to transfer their stock may be regulated and limited.[10] If, in violation of the restrictions of a by-law, a stockholder sells and assigns a stock certificate containing a recital that it is issued and transferable subject to the restrictions prescribed by the by-laws, the transferee cannot compel the officers of the society to transfer the stock to him on its books.[11]

While, under some statutes and charters, a co-operative association may purchase, or contract to purchase, or adopt a by-law authorizing repurchase of, its own shares of stock provided it acts in good faith and without intent to injure creditors or stockholders,[12] in the absence of statutory or charter authority it has been held that an incorporated society formed to furnish its stockholders with supplies at cost has no power to agree with them, in consideration of their contributing a certain sum of money each on becoming members, that they may withdraw from membership at any time and receive back from the society, either in cash or in supplies, the amount of their contributions.[13] Since a fiduciary relationship exists between the managing officers of the association and its stockholders,[14] on purchase of outstanding stock by the association it is the duty of the officers to disclose to stockholders all known facts bearing on the value of the stock.[15]

Members of parent association. Members of local co-operative producers' corporations have been held members of the parent association so that the latter was bound by the acts of members of the locals.[16]

b. Rights and Liabilities in General

Subject to special statutory provisions relating thereto, the by-laws of the association, and the contract of membership, the rights and liabilities of members of co-operative associations are governed by the rules applicable to corporations and voluntary associations generally.

The relationship between a co-operative association and its members is that of a trustee to his beneficiary or between a principal and his agent.[17] Members of a co-operative association are bound to take notice of the powers of the association,[18] in payment of fruit were derived from certain pools where there was no proof that the association's practice in pooling fruit marketed was different from the method of marketing fruit employed by commercial concerns engaged in business for profit, or the fact that a fruit owner's general manager was informed that the fruit was being mingled with fruit of other growers and that funds received were derived from the proceeds of pools was held not to give the manager constructive notice that the association which marketed the fruit was strictly a co-operative institution furnishing service only to its members, where such information was not received until a month after the alleged contract of membership was entered into.—Johanson v. Riverside County Select Groves, supra.

7. Cal.—Poultry Producers of Central California v. Nilsson, 239 P. 1086, 197 Cal. 245—Irwindale Citrus Ass'n v. Semler, Cal.App., 140 P.2d 716.

8. Ill.—Jefferson County Farm Bureau v. Stewart, 235 Ill.App. 370.

Association, functioning as a de facto corporation at the time a subscription agreement was executed, and subsequently incorporated, is entitled to recover thereon.—Jefferson County Farm Bureau v. Stewart, supra.

9. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Rowan, 266 P. 104, 125 Kan. 657.

Wash.—Beaulaurier v. Washington State Hop Producers, 111 P.2d 559, 8 Wash.2d 79.

Participation in meetings of the association, as by executing a proxy for use at the meetings, has been held to constitute a waiver of any fraud in inducing the execution of a membership contract.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Oden, 257 P. 975, 124 Kan. 179, followed in Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Heter, 257 P. 979, 124 Kan. 76—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Massey, 253 P. 1093, 123 Kan. 183.

10. N.D.—Chaffee v. Farmers' Co-op. El. Co., 168 N.W. 616, 39 N.D. 585. 31 C.J. p 963 note 63.

Certificates not negotiable

Certificates of stock of some associations are in no sense negotiable. They are rather certificates of membership, but indicate also a voluntary contribution in funds by the member.—Stuttgart Co-op. Buyers Ass'n v. Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation, 109 S.W.2d 862, 194 Ark. 779.

11. N.D.—Chaffee v. Farmers' Co-op. El. Co., 168 N.W. 616, 39 N.D. 585.

12. Kan.—Loch v. Paola Farmers' Union Co-op. Creamery & Store Ass'n, 285 P. 523, 130 Kan. 136, rehearing denied 287 P. 269, 130 Kan. 522.

Neb.—Whitney v. Farmers' Co-op. Grain Co., 193 N.W. 103, 110 Neb. 157.

13. N.Y.—G. H. McGill Co. v. Underwood, 146 N.Y.S. 362, 161 App.Div. 30.

14. Iowa.—Snyder v. Colwell Co-op. Grain Exchange, 3 N.W.2d 507, 231 Iowa 1210.

15. Iowa.—Snyder v. Colwell Co-op. Grain Exchange, supra.

Rescission

Where an incorporated co-operative grain exchange, pursuant to a reorganization plan, offered a stockholder twelve dollars and fifty cents per share for her stock, and stated that the stock represented an investment equal to the amount of the offer, whereas the stock was worth at least twenty-four dollars and fifty cents per share, the stockholder was entitled to rescind sale of the stock.—Snyder v. Colwell Co-op. Grain Exchange, supra.

16. N.Y.—Barns v. Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n, 222 N.Y.S. 294, 220 App.Div. 624.

17. Colo.—Mountain States Beet Growers' Marketing Ass'n v. Monroe, 269 P. 886, 84 Colo. 300.

18. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Rowan, 266 P. 101, 125 Kan. 710.

and are not entitled to attack the validity of the statute under which the association was incorporated or organized,[19] and they are not in a position to attack the exercise of powers by the association which were reasonably within the scope of provisions of the contracts with the members.[20] The members are entitled to inspect the books, records, and papers of the association in proper cases and under reasonable circumstances,[21] notwithstanding a statutory requirement that the association file annual reports with a public official.[22]

While the net profits or the surplus of the society is ordinarily divisible among the members,[23] in the absence of a declaration of a dividend, a member is not entitled to recover a dividend alleged to be due him,[24] and a person to whom the issue of stock was void as an overissue is not entitled to recover a share of the profits of the association.[25] Although, under a statute relating to apportionment of earnings of the association, the word "may" has been held to mean that the directors may or may not apportion earnings, but that if they choose to do so, they must follow the statutory method of apportionment,[26] under a substantially similar statute it has been held that the statutory method of apportionment was not binding on the directors and stockholders.[27] Where an agreement between a co-operative association and its members provides for the return of contributions on the expiration thereof, unexpended funds must be so distributed.[28] A stockholder has the right to dispose of dividends due on his certificate;[29] and the payment of a dividend by the society to a third person is not necessarily invalid because no authority from the stockholder to do so is on file with the society.[30] A member, receiving certificates for products delivered to a co-operative association, after assignment of such certificates has no interest therein which is subject to

By-laws binding on members see supra § 3.

19. Ga.—Johnson v. Georgia-Carolina Retail Milk Producers Ass'n, 186 S.E. 824, 182 Ga. 695.

Collateral attack

The validity of a co-operative association which has been organized under a valid statute cannot be assailed in a collateral attack; and, even if a member of a co-operative association could bring a collateral attack to vitiate its incorporation, by alleging that the number of signers required by the statute had not been obtained, the burden was on him to produce evidence to that effect.—Pittman v. Tobacco Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n, 121 S.E. 634, 187 N.C. 340.

20. Conn.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, 191 A. 326, 122 Conn. 482.

Sale, transfer, or consolidation

(1) Where a new dairy co-operative association organized to acquire assets of old association protected the general purpose for which old association was organized, there was a fair transfer, and prospects of shareholders did not appear to have been detrimentally affected, minority members of old association were bound, since they entered into the relation with association subject to power of sale, transfer, merger, and consolidation in the majority members.—Pearson v. Clam Falls Co-op. Dairy Ass'n, 10 N.W.2d 132, 243 Wis. 369.

(2) Where a resolution approving a plan for consolidation of dairy associations declared dividends to patrons of old association payable in stock of new association, dissenting patrons had no right to insist on being paid their patronage dividends in cash.—Pearson v. Clam Falls Co-op. Dairy Ass'n, supra.

21. Minn.—State ex rel. Boldt v. St. Cloud Milk Producers' Ass'n, 273 N.W. 603, 200 Minn. 1.

Common-law right

A statute authorizing inspection of books, etc., of stock corporations has been held not to affect the common-law right of a member of a co-operative corporation to inspect books, records, and papers of the corporation in proper cases.—State ex rel. Boldt v. St. Cloud Milk Producers' Ass'n, supra.

Legislative intent

A statute providing for the organization of co-operative marketing corporations with capital stock manifests legislative intent to make the right of stockholders in a stock corporation to inspect the books of the corporation applicable to such co-operatives as have capital stock.—State ex rel. Boldt v. St. Cloud Milk Producers' Ass'n, supra.

22. Minn.—State ex rel. Boldt v. St. Cloud Milk Producers' Ass'n, supra.

23. Kan.—McClure v. Co-operative Elevator & Supply Co., 181 P. 573, 105 Kan. 91.

31 C.J. p 964 note 72.

Advances, deductions, and accounting see infra subdivision d of this section.

Assets as subject to claims of creditors see supra § 5.

Rights on withdrawal see infra subdivision e of this section.

24. Neb.—Callaway v. Farmers' Union Co-op. Ass'n of Fairbury, 226 N.W. 802, 119 Neb. 1.

25. Wis.—Graf v. Neith Co-op. Dairy Products Ass'n, 257 N.W. 618, 216 Wis. 519.

Unjust enrichment

Where a co-operative association's issuance of stock to a farmer was void as overissue, but the farmer had sustained no loss by delivering his milk to the association's cheese factory under the belief that he was a shareholder, the farmer was held not entitled to recover his share of the profits from the operation of factory on theory of money had and received, since establishing a loss of profit did not prove unjust enrichment of the association.—Graf v. Neith Co-op. Dairy Products Ass'n supra.

26. U.S.—Gallatin Farmers Co. v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, C.C.A., 132 F.2d 706.

27. Okl.—Doss v. Farmers Union Co-op. Gin Co. of Texola, Okl., 46 P.2d 950, 173 Okl. 70.

Dividends on capital stock

Where net earnings of a co-operative corporation organized under a statute providing for formation of corporations for conducting agricultural, mercantile, or industrial business on the co-operative plan are to be distributed, it is discretionary with the directors, subject to revision by the stockholders, whether a dividend shall be declared on the capital stock.—Doss v. Farmers Union Co-op. Gin Co. of Texola, Okl., supra.

28. U.S.—Speh v. Bullard, C.C.A. Fla., 90 F.2d 227.

29. Cal.—Wills v. Lauridson, 118 P. 530, 161 Cal. 106.

30. Cal.—Willis v. Lauridson, supra. 31 C.J. p 964 note 77.

attachment by his creditors.[31]

Meetings; voting. The subject of meetings of stockholders and members is commonly regulated by statute or provided for by the rules of the society.[32]

Liabilities. The liability of members for debts of a co-operative association depends on statutory provisions, the articles of incorporation or association, the by-laws of the society, the contracts with the association, and general rules relating to corporations and associations.[33] A certificate of incorporation of an association limiting a member's liability for indebtedness to a nominal sum has been held not to relieve the members from their statutory liability,[34] and where a statute provides a method of limitation of the members' liability by charter provisions, a by-law limiting the liability of members is void and ineffective in the absence of any limitation in the charter.[35]

Although an association may have no power to levy assessments where it has no capital stock,[36] or to levy assessments on members in excess of the amount paid or promised, or on members who have paid all that is required by their contract of membership, or by the constitution or by-laws of the association,[37] under some statutes, an association may levy assessments on their members.[38] Where neither the statutes nor by-laws specifically state the purposes for which assessments might be laid on members, the validity of assessments depends on whether they were made in the exercise of a power necessary or incidental to the purposes for which the association was formed or the activities in which it engaged,[39] and in determining what is necessary or incidental to carrying out its purposes and activities, in the absence of any provision in the stat-

31. Ky.—Stivers v. Steele, 20 S.W.2d 717, 230 Ky. 700.

32. Notice of meeting of a marketing society does not charge a stockholder with action taken at the meeting to apportion among stockholders the losses occasioned by the refusal of a large consumer to accept shipments unless it definitely states that such action is to be considered at the meeting, or unless the stockholder attends and affirmatively participates therein.—Steelman v. Oregon Dairymen's League, 192 P. 790, 97 Or. 535.

One vote for each member

Under the provisions in some cases, shares of stock are not voted at meetings, but the holder of stock may have one vote as a member without regard to the number of shares he may hold.

Ark.—Stuttgart Co-op. Buyers Ass'n v. Louisiana Oil Refining Corporation, 109 S.W.2d 862, 194 Ark. 779.

Minn.—Finnegan v. Noerenberg, 53 N.W. 1150, 52 Minn. 239, 38 Am. S.R. 552, 18 L.R.A. 778.

33. N.J.—Lewis v. Monmouth County Farmers' Co-op. Ass'n, 147 A. 550, 105 N.J.Eq. 257.

Wash.—Meikle v. Wenatchee North Central Fruit Distributors, 225 P. 819, 129 Wash. 619.

Original and additional liability

Under some statutes, the original liability of a member for debts of a co-operative association, in the absence of a limitation in the charter, is his per capita share based on the total membership, and his additional liability is his per capita share of defaulting members' liability.—Lewis v. Monmouth County Farmers' Co-op. Ass'n, 147 A. 550, 105 N.J.Eq. 257.

Farmers' union store

Mere membership in a farmers' co-operative union would not impose liability for goods sold to a union store conducted by some of the members, since no one could bind the members of the organization as partners or parties to an enterprise or contract of such character of which they did not assent, although those engaging in the business, that is, becoming members of the association for the purpose of carrying on the store or reaping profit from its business, became thereby liable for its obligations.—Dinsmore v. J. H. Calvin Co., 108 So. 583, 214 Ala. 666.

34. N.Y.—Lockport Co-op. Dairy Ass'n v. Buchner, 221 N.Y.S. 433, 129 Misc. 73, affirmed 216 N.Y.S. 865, 217 App.Div. 784, affirmed 155 N.E. 907, 244 N.Y. 585.

35. N.J.—Lewis v. Monmouth County Farmers' Co-op. Ass'n, 147 A. 550, 105 N.J.Eq. 257.

36. Cal.—Alfalfa Growers of California v. Icardo, 256 P. 287, 82 Cal. App. 641.

Under contract

Nonprofit association, to distribute product of members, could not enforce contract for assessments, where exactions would result in unjust discrimination.—Alfalfa Growers of California v. Icardo, supra.

37. Wash.—Meikle v. Wenatchee North Central Fruit Distributors, 225 P. 819, 129 Wash. 619.

38. Ala.—Ex parte Baldwin County Producers' Corp., 83 So. 69, 203 Ala. 345, reversing 81 So. 862, 17 Ala. App. 84.

Conn.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, 191 A. 326, 122 Conn. 482.

39. Conn.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, supra.

Attempt to find market

Attempt by a co-operative marketing corporation to find a market for products of its members was within the scope of the purposes of the corporation stated in its articles to promote and encourage co-operative marketing, to eliminate or minimize speculation and wastful methods of production, distribution, and marketing, and to act co-operatively in handling products and problems of its members.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, supra.

Financing excessive milk

Assessments of a co-operative milk marketing corporation on each hundred pounds of milk furnished it by its members to be placed into a fund for financing excessive milk which could not be sold as fluid milk, but which was required to be sold for manufacture of butter, cheese, ice cream, and like products, were reasonably within the statutory authority given the corporation to exercise all powers necessary or incidental to carry out the purposes for which it was created and the activities in which it engaged.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, supra.

Interference with milk control board

Assessments which were lawfully imposed by a co-operative milk marketing corporation on each hundred pounds of milk furnished by members of the corporation were held not illegal as being in derogation of the power of the milk control board to fix a minimum price which should be paid producers in the state for milk which they sold.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, supra.

utes, articles of association, or by-laws, the terms of the contracts between the association and its members would be the best guide.[40] Where an association is in receivership, the court may order an assessment of stockholders.[41]

The members of an incorporated society are not individually liable on contracts made by it in its name,[42] and the liability of members of a co-operative corporation beyond the statutory limits can arise only when the corporation is authorized to make contracts for them,[43] and if an incorporated society enters into a contract as agent of its members, they are bound thereby.[44] Ordinarily a member of an incorporated society is not individually liable on its contracts as an undisclosed principal, although he may become liable as such by ratification and adoption of a contract of the society.[45] Members of an unincorporated association are liable for authorized loans made to the association,[46] and where an unincorporated association acts as agent for the members, the latter are jointly liable to a commission merchant for excess advances made to the association on shipment of their products in bulk, and a demand on the association is a demand on the members.[47]

Where an association seeks to charge members with liability of the association incurred to third persons under a contract between the latter and the association, it is necessary that a valid claim against the association should have been established.[48] Unless authorized by its charter or by-laws, a marketing society cannot, as against a member with whom it is under special contract, apportion losses among the stockholders because of the refusal of a large consumer to accept the shipments ordered by him; and this is so, notwithstanding an agreement among stockholders generally to apportion losses.[49]

Members are not liable to the association or its receiver on notes given to the association where they were given under an agreement attached thereto that they should be used only for collateral security and must be indorsed to creditors of the association to be effective, none of them having been indorsed to a third person.[50]

c. Contracts

(1) In general
(2) Recording
(3) Construction
(4) Performance or breach
(5) Discontinuance of production; interests of third persons
(6) Effect of sale to third person

(1) In General

Contracts between a co-operative association and its members relating to the delivery of the members' produce to the association have generally been held valid.

Under the provisions of some contracts between co-operative associations and members or proposed members, they do not become operative until speci-

40. Conn.—Connecticut Milk Producers Ass'n v. Brock-Hall Dairy, supra.

41. Notice
Neither obvious misprint in the year of the published notice of the hearing nor a lack of proof of personal service defeated jurisdiction to assess stockholders of an insolvent co-operative corporation.—In re Farmers' Dairy Co.'s Receivership, 225 N.W. 22, 177 Minn. 211.

Justification of order
Showing that a co-operative corporation had no assets out of which to pay existing claims justified an assessment against the stockholders, and the liability and responsibility of an individual stockholder of a co-operative corporation need not be determined when making the assessment.—In re Farmers' Dairy Co.'s Receivership, supra.

Desire of creditors
The court, in fixing an assessment against stockholders need not consider a creditor's expressed desire that double liability should not be enforced, where the creditor had not filed a legal release or satisfaction.—In re Farmers' Dairy Co.'s Receivership, supra.

42. N.Y.—Mandell v. Cole, 155 N.E. 106, 244 N.Y. 221, reversing 216 N.Y.S. 870, 217 App.Div. 800.
Wash.—Barnett v. Lynn, 203 P. 387, 118 Wash. 308.

43. N.Y.—Mandell v. Cole, 155 N.E. 106, 244 N.Y. 221, reversing 216 N.Y.S. 870, 217 App.Div. 800.

Statute in effect at time of contract governs the legal effect of a contract by a co-operative marketing association.—Mandell v. Cole, supra.

44. Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 205 P. 970, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090, denying rehearing 201 P. 222, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090.
31 C.J. p 965 note 90.

Contract held binding
A fruit union which, with authority from the growers of berries, contracted to sell and deliver all the berries raised by them during a number of years and subjected itself to liability for damages for failure to make such deliveries, had such a power, coupled with an obligation, as prevented a revocation of the agency, and where the union, organized by growers of berries to facilitate the sale and delivery of their fruit products, as their agent, made a contract for the sale of their berries to plaintiff, defendants were bound thereby, although the contract was in writing, and executed in the name of the agent alone, where its body clearly showed that the party executing it was acting as agent and for whom he was acting.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, supra.

45. Wash.—Barnett v. Lynn, 203 P. 387, 118 Wash. 308.
31 C.J. p 965 note 89.

46. Ky.—Tomlin v. Petty, 51 S.W. 2d 663, 244 Ky. 542.

47. N.Y.—Mandell v. Moses, 205 N.Y.S. 254, 209 App.Div. 531, affirmed 147 N.E. 192, 239 N.Y. 555.

48. N.Y.—Fietz v. Central Milk Producers Co-op. Ass'n, 32 N.Y.S.2d 574.

49. Or.—Steelman v. Oregon Dairymen's League, 193 P. 790, 97 Or. 535.

50. Mich.—Runciman v. Brown, 193 N.W. 880, 233 Mich. 298.

fied conditions precedent have been performed,[51] in the absence of a waiver of performance of the conditions.[52]

Contracts between a co-operative association and its members relating to the delivery of the latter's produce to the association are generally held valid[53] as against objections of want of consideration,[54] or lack of certainty,[55] or that they are un-

51. Mich.—Edmore Marketing Ass'n v. Skinner, 227 N.W. 681, 248 Mich. 695.

Decision of organization committee

(1) A provision in the contract that the decision of the organization committee that conditions prerequisite to enforcement had been complied with should be final has been held valid and binding in the absence of any showing of fraud in the decision of the officials.

Ky.—Rowland v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 270 S.W. 784, 208 Ky. 300.

N.C.—Pittman v. Tobacco Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n, 121 S.E. 634, 187 N. C. 340.

Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, Civ.App., 16 S.W.2d 413.

Wash.—Northwest Hay Ass'n v. Chase, 239 P. 1, 136 Wash. 160—Washington Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Leifer, 232 P. 339, 132 Wash. 602.

(2) In a suit by a co-operative marketing association for damages and for specific performance of a marketing contract, a finding by court that contract was not to be in force until seventy-five per cent of growers signed, but that in fact only forty-five per cent signed, justified a defense of constructive fraud.—Northwest Hay Ass'n v. Chase, supra.

(3) In action by co-operative fruit association for breach of contract, where contract was to be inoperative unless four thousand two hundred cars of apples were signed, tonnage to be conclusively ascertained by association, it was held that although board of trustees acted in good faith in finding in tonnage ascertainment that four thousand two hundred cars had been signed, yet, where such finding was actually based on false and fraudulent data and tonnage was but half of that declared, trustee's finding was not conclusive on defendants.—Wenatchee Dist. Co-Op. Ass'n v. Mohler, 237 P. 300, 135 Wash. 169.

Community of interest

Where contract with fruit growers' association was to be binding when there were one thousand cars subscribed, and signers subscribed nine hundred forty-five cars, and other parties, subscribing two hundred cars, signed an identical contract, but there was no evidence of community of interest, the first contract never became binding.—Ozark Fruit Growers' Ass'n v. Erb, Mo.App., 182 S.W. 1048.

Duty to sign under subscription contract

Condition in produce sale agreement attached to subscription agreement, requiring corporation to secure contracts from owners of at least one million hens is complied with where sufficient number signed subscription agreement, although owners of fewer than one million signed the produce sale agreements, since subscription signers, being under a duty to sign such produce sale agreements, they are regarded as signed.—Poultry Producers of Central California v. Nilsson, 239 P. 1086, 197 Cal. 245.

Signing articles of incorporation

In action to enforce association and marketing agreement which designated committee of fifteen to incorporate but also provided for election by committee of new members in place of those not acting, signing of articles by original fifteen was held not condition precedent to suit.—Washington Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Leifer, 232 P. 339, 132 Wash. 602.

Adoption after incorporation

A contract with an association to be formed becomes effective on adoption by the association after incorporation.—Hart Potato Growers' Ass'n v. Greiner, 211 N.W. 45, 236 Mich. 638.

52. Wash.—Wenatchee Dist. Co-op. Ass'n v. Thompson, 255 P. 918, 143 Wash. 657.

53. La.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Clark, 107 So. 115, 160 La. 294—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-operative Ass'n v. Banister, 2 La.App. 620.

Tenn.—Tennessee Cotton Growers Ass'n v. Hanson, 2 Tenn.App. 118.

Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Com.App., 55 S.W.2d 543, reversing Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ.App., 37 S.W. 2d 331—Hollingsworth v. Texas Hay Ass'n, Civ.App., 246 S.W. 1068.

Co-operative marketing contracts as not lacking mutuality see Contracts § 100 a.

Validity of contract as in restraint of trade or violative of public policy see supra § 4.

Contract with foreign association

Ind.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Rogers, 150 N.E. 384, 88 Ind.App. 469.

Representation not authorized

Circular letter exhibited by agent when making contract with member, regarding financing, did not authorize agent's representation that association would pay for pecans when delivered.—Natchez Pecan Marketing Ass'n v. Bramlett, 143 So. 429, 163 Miss. 596.

Contract presumed fair

Under contract with co-operative marketing association, whereby dairyman continued to distribute to retailers, but was required to account to association, it would be presumed, in absence of contrary showing, that arrangement was fair, tending to preserve market.—Olympia Milk Producers' Ass'n v. Herman, 29 P.2d 676, 176 Wash. 338.

54. Ind.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Rogers, 150 N.E. 384, 88 Ind.App. 469—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Robertson, 150 N.E. 106, 84 Ind.App. 51.

Tex.—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n v. Stovall, 253 S.W. 1101, 113 Tex. 273, reversing, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 1109.

Sufficiency of consideration

While a promise by the association to receive or arrange for the receipt of all products, and to use reasonable efforts to make sales at reasonable market prices, might be implied, so that the contract was not unilateral and without consideration, a recital that it was in consideration of undescribed expenses to be incurred by the association in handling, manufacturing, and marketing such products, did not show a sufficient legal consideration, and past expenses of a co-operative association are no consideration for a contract to market products through the association exclusively.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, 202 N.Y.S. 663, 207 App.Div. 429, affirmed 147 N.E. 171, 239 N.Y.S. 503, reargument denied 147 N.E. 210, 239 N.Y. 596.

55. Ga.—Brown v. Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 139 S.E. 417, 164 Ga. 712.

La.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Clark, 107 So. 115, 160 La. 294.

Tex.—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n v. Stovall, 253 S.W. 1101, 113 Tex. 273, reversing, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 1109.

Consideration of by-laws

A provision in a contract, that it is to be effective when the signatures of a certain per cent of the producers in a township or trade territory are obtained, has been held not unjust, unreasonable, or inequitable.[56] A contract purporting to bind members by the provisions of the by-laws, rules, and regulations of the association has been held valid and binding,[57] and contract provisions authorizing an injunction[58] or specific performance,[59] or providing for the forfeiture of stock[60] and for attorney's fees in case of suit,[61] on breach of the contract have been held not invalid.

However, such contracts are invalid where obtained by such duress as to destroy the element of free and mutual consent essential thereto,[62] or where, through fraud of an officer or agent of the association, the contract does not express the real intention of the parties,[63] but a charge of fraud in obtaining a member's signature to the contract cannot be based on representations which were in the nature of future promises and expectations,[64] and fraud in the procuring of the contract may not be set up where the contract was ratified after discovery of the fraud.[65] While in some jurisdictions, sometimes by virtue of statutory provisions, a contract made before the association had a legal existence is not invalid,[66] a contract may be invalid where, at the time it was entered into, the association was not organized under the statutes relating to co-operative associations,[67] or where the contract is with a foreign association which had not filed its charter before the contract was made.[68]

The fact that the contract contains an illegal or invalid provision does not invalidate the entire contract where such provision is not so mingled and bound with the other valid promises that they cannot be separated.[69] Where the contract is void, it certain where the contract and by-laws provide for the determination of the trade territory.—Farmers' Educational & Co-Operative Union of America, Illinois Division, v. Langlois, 258 Ill.App. 522.

Description of land

A contract for the sale to a co-operative marketing association of products raised on a certain piece of land need not describe the land with such accuracy that it can be identified from the contract alone, the description being sufficient if it can be identified by extrinsic proof.—Oregon Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Lentz, 212 P. 811, 107 Or. 561.

56. Ala.—Warren v. Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, 104 So. 264, 213 Ala. 61.

57. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, denying rehearing 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

By-laws as binding on members generally see supra § 3.

58. Colo.—Rifle Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Smith, 240 P. 937, 78 Colo. 171.

Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Com.App., 55 S.W.2d 543, reversing Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ.App., 37 S.W. 2d 331.

59. Colo.—Rifle Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Smith, 240 P. 937, 78 Colo. 171.

Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Com.App., 55 S.W.2d 543, reversing Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 331.

60. Vt.—Bessette v. St. Albans Co-op. Creamery, 176 A. 307, 107 Vt. 103.

61. Ga.—Brown v. Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 139 S.E. 417, 164 Ga. 712.

Ill.—Milk Producers' Marketing Co. v. Bell, 234 Ill.App. 222.

62. Cal.—Sun-Maid Raisin Growers of California v. Papazian, 240 P. 47, 74 Cal.App. 231.

Responsibility of association

Mutual association of raisin growers, as assignor of contract, requiring defendant to deliver his crop of raisins to association, which had full knowledge of unlawful acts that were practiced by some of its members, or those "jointly interested," to secure defendant's signature thereto, held responsible for such acts.—Sun-Maid Raisin Growers of California v. Papazian, supra.

63. Cal.—Placentia Co-op. Orange Growers' Ass'n v. Henning, 5 P. 2d 444, 118 Cal.App. 487.

Ga.—Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Smith, 137 S.E. 233, 163 Ga. 761.

Time to raise objection

Where defendant who had agreed to sign a produce sale agreement was sent a copy which differed somewhat from the one attached to his subscription agreement, but to which no objections were made during the negotiations, he could not raise such objection for the first time at the trial, since if made timely it could have been cured.—Poultry Producers of Central California v. Nilsson, 239 P. 1086, 197 Cal. 245.

64. Ind.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Rogers, 150 N.E. 384, 88 Ind.App. 469.

Ohio.—Brannan v. Ohio Poultry Producers' Co-op. Ass'n, 162 N.E. 453, 27 Ohio App. 426.

S.C.—South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. English, 133 S.E. 542, 135 S.C. 19.

Existing facts

False representations as to purchase of tobacco warehouses by co-operative association held to relate to existing facts.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Rogers, 150 N.E. 384, 88 Ind.App. 469.

65. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Rowan, 254 P. 326, 123 Kan. 169—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Massey, 253 P. 1093, 123 Kan. 183.

Wash.—Beaulaurier v. Washington State Hop Producers, 111 P.2d 559, 8 Wash.2d 79.

66. Mich.—Hart Potato Growers' Ass'n v. Greiner, 211 N.W. 45, 236 Mich. 638.

67. Colo.—Colorado Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Thede, 253 P. 30, 80 Colo. 529.

68. Tenn.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Mason, 263 S.W. 60, 150 Tenn. 228.

Contract valid and binding

Foreign co-operative marketing association filing charter in the local state several days before mailing notice to tobacco grower of its acceptance of marketing contract, which provided that signature thereof should be deemed acceptance as of date of mailing notice, was held to have complied with state law when contract was made, even though it was signed by grower before charter was filed.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Mason, supra.

69. Cal.—Poultry Producers of Southern California, Inc. v. Barlow, 208 P. 93, 189 Cal. 278—Poultry Producers of Central California v. Murphy, 221 P. 962, 64 Cal.App. 450.

Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, rehearing denied 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

may not be validated by a subsequent statute.[70]

Where a preferential contract is authorized as to a specified class of members of the association, only those members within such class are entitled thereto,[71] and, where a contract as reformed was in accord with the legislative policy of the state, the fact that it was prohibited by the by-laws of the association has been held not to entitle the association to avoid it and compel enforcement of a standard agreement by which the parties did not originally intend to be bound.[72] The fact that a grower, who had entered into a marketing agreement, was a director and former officer of the association has been held not to change his rights under the contract in the absence of any showing that he abused his confidential position.[73] A provision in the contract with the association requiring written notice of a minimum price acceptable by the grower may be waived by the association.[74]

While preliminary agreements and negotiations are merged in the written contract,[75] a written marketing contract may sometimes be modified by a subsequent oral contract,[76] at least where such oral contract is fully executed,[77] and, where a person subscribes to a marketing agreement as modified, he is bound by the agreement and modification.[78]

Contract between members. A member's oral offer at a meeting of the association to purchase the crop of other members has been held binding on delivery of the produce by such members, irrespective of whether all such members were present at the meeting,[79] and recovery thereunder was held not precluded by the prior written contract among the members.[80] Under such a contract, no liability attached to the association or other members.[81]

Estoppel. A member of a co-operative association may be estopped to allege that he did not know the contents of a contract with the association,[82] and, as one of the favored class, a member is not entitled to attack the validity of the contract as discriminatory in favor of a certain class.[83] Also, where the contract is executed, the defense of ultra vires is not available.[84] However, performance under a void contract has been held not to estop a member to assert its invalidity,[85] and the fact that a person operated under the contract, in the absence

70. Colo.—Atkinson v. Colorado Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 238 P. 1117, 77 Colo. 559.
Okl.—McLain v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 258 P. 269, 125 Okl. 264—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Salyer, 243 P. 232, 114 Okl. 77, followed in Carmichael v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 245 P. 598, 117 Okl. 24 and Hooven v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 247 P. 39, 118 Okl. 238.

71. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233.

72. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1154, 11 Cal.2d 221—Stafford v. California Canning Peach Growers, 78 P.2d 1150, 11 Cal.2d 212—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harkey, 78 P.2d 1137, 11 Cal.2d 188.

Member's knowledge of by-laws

Where by-laws of co-operative association prohibited association from classifying its membership or dealing in products of nonmembers and provided for amendment of by-laws by majority vote of members, a resolution passed by board of directors authorizing management to deal with renters on different basis from that applicable to regular members was in excess of powers of board although not violative of statutory provisions; and a member of the association in entering into marketing agreement was not chargeable with greater knowledge of provisions of by-laws of association than that possessed by directors and managing agents who believed that they had power to enter into such an oral agreement in violation of by-laws.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harkey, supra.

Alleged disasterous effect

A co-operative association could not avoid its obligations under oral contract giving peach grower preference as to rented land, on ground that upholding contract would have disastrous effect on affairs of co-operatives and that only basis upon which they could survive was that of equality of treatment of all members, where legislature had determined that it was in the public interest to permit co-operatives to enter into preferential contracts.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harkey, supra.

73. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1154, 11 Cal.2d 221.

74. Ark.—Standard Rice Milling Co. v. Scott, 295 S.W. 401, 174 Ark. 1180.

75. Ind.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Rogers, 150 N.E. 384, 88 Ind.App. 469.

76. Tex.—Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 331, reversed on other grounds Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Com. App., 55 S.W.2d 543.

77. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1154, 11 Cal.2d 221.

78. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Goering, 256 P. 119, 123 Kan. 508.

79. Tex.—Adkins v. Smithfield Unit of Texas Honey Ball Ass'n, Civ. App., 1 S.W.2d 725.

80. Tex.—Adkins v. Smithfield Unit of Texas Honey Ball Ass'n, supra.

81. Tex.—Adkins v. Smithfield Unit of Texas Honey Ball Ass'n, supra.

82. N.C.—Pittman v. Tobacco Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n, 121 S.E. 634, 187 N.C. 340.

83. Ga.—Johnson v. Georgia-Carolina Retail Milk Producers Ass'n, 186 S.E. 824, 182 Ga. 695.

84. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1154, 11 Cal.2d 221—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harkey, 78 P.2d 1137, 11 Cal.2d 188.
Ill.—Milk Producers' Marketing Co. v. Bell, 234 Ill.App. 222.

General law applicable

A co-operative association, in entering into oral contract with peach grower ultra vires its by-laws, could claim no greater rights thereunder than a corporation under similar circumstances, as against contention that law applicable to ultra vires contracts of corporations did not apply to co-operatives.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harkey, 78 P.2d 1137, 11 Cal.2d 188.

85. Okl.—McLain v. Oklahoma Cotof knowledge of failure of performance of the conditions precedent, has been held not to estop him to deny that the contract was in force,[86] but a member of the organization committee of the association, to show the invalidity of his contract, has been held estopped to set up the nonperformance of conditions precedent and fraud, notwithstanding lack of actual notice, where he was intrusted with the duty of seeing that such conditions were fully met before the association was organized.[87] A member may be estopped to assert the invalidity of a marketing contract because of failure of the association to comply with statutory conditions precedent to the commencing of business.[88] Parties to a marketing agreement, optional with one party, are not estopped to deny being bound until the holder of the option exercises his right in the manner specified,[89] and the other party, not having any right to demand its acceptance, has no right that he can waive until it is accepted.[90]

(2) Recording

Under some statutes, marketing agreements between a co-operative association and its members may be recorded in which case they constitute notice to all persons of the interest of the association to the property covered thereby.

In at least one jurisdiction, statutes, which have been held valid, provide that a marketing contract between a co-operative association and its members may be recorded and that after the date of filing, it shall constitute notice to any and all persons that an interest in the title to all property agreed to be sold by the maker of the contract is vested in the association, and in case of a purchase thereafter of any such property by a third person, no title of any kind or nature shall pass to such purchaser and the property may be recovered by the association or the latter may sue for an injunction.[91] However, in order for such filing so to operate, the provisions of the statute must be substantially complied with,[92] and, where the copy of the contract filed was not the contract entered into with most of the members of the association, it does not constitute a substantial compliance with the statute, and amounts to notice only with reference to those who had in fact signed such a contract.[93] Where the statute prohibits third persons from buying the products of such members until a certificate of termination is filed, the fact that the contract filed does not show the exact time when it becomes effective does not impair the effectiveness of constructive notice.[94]

(3) Construction

The cardinal rule in construing contracts between co-operative associations and their members is to ascertain the intention of the parties.

Although where a contract between a co-operative association and a member thereof is free from ambiguity it needs no interpretation,[95] where such a contract is ambiguous the cardinal rule of construction is to ascertain the intention of the parties.[96] The meaning of the contract is to be gathton Growers' Ass'n, 258 P. 269, 125 Okl. 264.

86. Mich.—Edmore Marketing Ass'n v. Skinner, 227 N.W. 681, 248 Mich. 695.

87. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Windhorst, 292 P. 777, 131 Kan. 423, rehearing 283 P. 638, 129 Kan. 528, and reheard 294 P. 928, 132 Kan. 21.

88. Wash.—Pierce County Dairymen's Ass'n v. Templin, 215 P. 352, 124 Wash. 567.

89. Idaho.—Idaho Grimm Alfalfa Seed Growers' Ass'n v. Stroschein, 242 P. 444, 42 Idaho 12, 47 A.L.R. 916.

90. Idaho.—Idaho Grimm Alfalfa Seed Growers' Ass'n v. Stroschein, supra.

91. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, rehearing denied 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

Agency contracts

Contracts of association with members, although contracts of agency, are within the co-operative marketing statutes and may be filed in the office of the register of deeds for the purposes and effect prescribed by statute, such contracts being coupled with substantial vested interest in such stock, not merely in proceeds of sale thereof.—Spencer Co-op. Live Stock Shipping Ass'n v. Schultz, 245 N.W. 99, 209 Wis. 344.

Inducing breach of contract

The section of a statute, relating to co-operative associations, creating liability for inducing the breach of a contract of a producer with a co-operative association has been held intended to reach those who attempt to bring about breaches of contracts between the association and its members, but who have not subjected themselves to the remedies prescribed by the section set forth in the text above.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, rehearing denied 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

92. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., supra.

93. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., supra.

94. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, denying rehearing 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

Right to certificate

Where a member of a co-operative association validly terminates his contract, he is entitled to a certificate from the association that his contract is terminated, which he may place on file, and if the certificate is refused he is in the position of those who are entitled to performance of a duty on the part of another.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, denying rehearing 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

95. Cal.—Silveira v. Associated Milk Producers, 219 P. 461, 63 Cal.App. 572.

96. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

Tex.—Texas Certified Cottonseed Breeders' Ass'n v. Aldridge, 61 S.

ered from the instrument as a whole,[97] and the contract should be so construed as to give, if possible, full force and effect to every part of it.[98] Words are to be given their usual and ordinary meaning when this can be done,[99] and the court should place itself in the same situation as the parties to the contract so as to view the attendant circumstances as they viewed them in order to ascertain the intention of the parties from the language used in the contract.[1] In case of ambiguity the contract will be construed most strongly against the party preparing it or employing the words concerning which doubt arises,[2] and it has been broadly stated that a co-operative association has no rights other than those given in the contract.[3] However, rights created by statute relating to co-operative associations enter into and become a part of all contracts made under authority and within the provisions of such statute,[4] and some contracts have been construed, sometimes by virtue of express provisions therein, as embracing the articles of incorporation of the association and the provisions of the standard marketing agreement,[5] and also to include pertinent provisions of the by-laws of the association.[6]

A provision in the contract requiring a grower to sell all his products to or through the association has been held intended for the benefit of the association, each of the members, and, even beyond that, to be one involving the interests of the public.[7] Under some contracts and rules and regulations of the associations, an association need not keep the identical products of a member intact.[8] A statute providing that a marketing contract contain a date for settlement with members for the crop marketed has been held not to prevent the association from carrying over a crop if considered wise because of marketing conditions.[9] Under some contracts the association, acting in good faith, may sell the products of members through the ordinary market agencies.[10]

W.2d 79, 122 Tex. 464, reversing, Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 320.

Particular contracts construed

(1) In general.

Cal.—Irwindale Citrus Ass'n v. Semler, App., 140 P.2d 716.

Or.—Rhoten v. Dairy Co-op. Ass'n, 64 P.2d 523, 155 Or. 402.

(2) A marketing plan, whereby the growers pool their products and ship through a company, is not a joint venture that makes members responsible to company for its dealings with other members, where by its contract the company agreed to furnish each grower a complete itemized statement of his account.—Hudnall v. Pennington & Co., 239 P. 2, 136 Wash. 155.

(3) Association's method of pooling rice in the clean was proper under contract making matter discretionary.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

Admission

Where letter to co-operative association written by peach grower's father referred to land rented by grower, which was also mentioned in memorandum on cover of marketing contract, by stating that land belonging to father had apparently been included in contract, that statement did not constitute admission that contract actually covered that land.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harkey, 78 P.2d 1137, 11 Cal.2d 188.

97. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.
Tex.—Texas Certified Cottonseed Breeders' Ass'n v. Aldridge, 61 S. W.2d 79, 122 Tex. 464, reversing, Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 320.

98. S.C.—Burch v. South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 187 S.E. 422, 181 S.C. 295.

Provisions held not repugnant

Section of contract relating to marketing of cotton and providing for pools and option prices on cotton delivered thereunder held not repugnant to section of contract placing title to cotton in association and authorizing it to borrow money thereon.—Burch v. South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, supra.

99. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S. W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

1. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, supra.

2. Mich.—Edmore Marketing Ass'n v. Skinner, 227 N.W. 681, 248 Mich. 695.

3. Va.—Layne v. Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Ass'n, 133 S.E. 358, 147 Va. 878.

4. Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Salyer, 243 P. 232, 114 Okl. 77, followed in Carmichael v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 245 P. 598, 117 Okl. 24 and Hooven v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 247 P. 39, 118 Okl. 238.

5. Neb.—Nebraska Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Smith, 212 N.W. 39, 115 Neb. 177.

6. Neb.—Nebraska Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Smith, supra.
Or.—Davidson v. Apple Growers Ass'n, 79 P.2d 991, 159 Or. 473.
Vt.—Bessette v. St. Albans Co-op. Creamery, 176 A. 307, 107 Vt. 103.

Successor in interest bound

As respects liability of co-operative fruit growers association to vendors of realty under contracts requiring purchasers to market their fruit with association, for alleged misappropriation of proceeds of fruit, vendors were at best in position of a successor in interest of the purchasers, and hence were bound not only by terms of contracts between purchasers and association, but also by association's by-laws.—Davidson v. Apple Growers Ass'n, 79 P.2d 991, 159 Or. 473.

7. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harris, 267 P. 572, 91 Cal.App. 654.

8. Sale before order to sell

Cotton marketing association selling cotton received subject to grower's order before order to sell, but retaining equal amount of similar cotton subject to grower's order, was not guilty of conversion.—Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n v. Dale, 134 So. 646, 223 Ala. 164.

9. Wash.—Northwest Hay Ass'n v. Hanson, 236 P. 561, 135 Wash. 47.

Applies only to portion sold

Co-operative marketing contract, requiring payments to members in due proportion until accounts in each pool of season are settled, and requiring final settlement for each season by a specified date for products marketed before such date, held to require payment to producers in proportion to amounts in pool, not later than such date following year crop is produced, for portion sold on or before such date.—Northwest Hay Ass'n v. Hanson, supra.

10. Neb.—Nebraska Wheat Growers'

Contract of sale or agency. While some marketing agreements have been held to constitute a sale or contract to sell the products of the members,[11] the time when title passes, depending on the terms of the contract,[12] other contracts have been held not to constitute a present,[13] absolute[14] sale,[15] it being held that they create a fiduciary relationship, such as that of principal and agent or beneficiary and trustee.[16] A contract with a credit corporation granting a lien on a crop to be marketed through a growers' corporation has been held not to pass title to the growers' corporation as against a third person levying execution on the crop.[17]

(4) Performance or Breach

Ordinarily the parties to a marketing contract are required to perform it according to its terms and are liable for breach thereof.

Ordinarily the parties to a marketing contract are required to perform it according to its terms,[18] and are liable for a breach thereof.[19] The doing of an Ass'n v. Smith, 212 N.W. 39, 115 Neb. 177.

11. Colo.—Colorado-New Mexico Wool Marketing Ass'n v. Manning, 40 P.2d 972, 96 Colo. 186.
Tex.—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n v. Stovall, 253 S.W. 1101, 113 Tex. 273, reversing, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 1109.

Contract to buy at minimum fixed price

Oral contract by party to written marketing agreement that such party would guarantee growers fifteen dollars a ton for prunes, and pay in addition such sum per ton as the prunes might bring net above fifteen dollars, was held not a contract of guaranty which was ultra vires corporation making contract, but a contract to buy the prunes at a minimum fixed price.—Yakima Fruit Growers' Ass'n v. Hall, 40 P. 2d 123, 180 Wash. 365.

Between general and local association

A contract between a co-operative association and a local providing for the purchase of all the products of the local at an average price, less a uniform charge to cover marketing expenses, payment to be made at a time specifically set forth, with reasonable advances in the discretion of the association, has been held a contract of purchase and sale.—Neith Co-op. Dairy Products Ass'n v. National Cheese Producers' Federation, 257 N.W. 624, 217 Wis. 202.

12. Colo.—Colorado-New Mexico Wool Marketing Ass'n v. Manning, 40 P.2d 972, 96 Colo. 186.

Potential existence

Contract whereby wool marketing association purchased all wool produced by grower, with provision that wool should be at grower's risk until delivery at point directed by association, did not pass title to wool after shearing, prior to association's direction for delivery thereof, even though contract provided that title should pass as soon as wool had a "potential existence."—Colorado-New Mexico Wool Marketing Ass'n v. Manning, supra.

Acceptance by association

Ownership of milk purchased by farmers' and dairymen's co-operative association from its members and customers held to be in producer while in transit to association's plant with title not passing until final acceptance of milk by association.—West v. Tidewater Express Lines, 179 A. 176, 168 Md. 581.

13. N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. L. Harvey & Son Co., 127 S.E. 545, 189 N.C. 494.

14. Tex.—Texas Certified Cottonseed Breeders' Ass'n v. Aldridge, 61 S.W.2d 79, 122 Tex. 464, reversing, Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 320.

Insurance in favor of association

Under contract between breeder and co-operative marketing association, where price which breeder received for cottonseed was not determined until products were sold, the fact that cottonseed delivered by breeder to co-operative marketing association was insured in favor of association and amount of insurance collected therefor by association did not change relation between breeder and association so as to make delivery an absolute sale.—Texas Certified Cottonseed Breeders' Ass'n v. Aldridge, supra.

15. Me.—Haarparinne v. Butter Hill Fruit Growers' Ass'n, 119 A. 116, 122 Me. 138.
N.Y.—Rhodes v. Little Falls Dairy Co., 245 N.Y.S. 432, 230 App.Div. 571, reversing 243 N.Y.S. 92, 137 Misc. 579, and affirmed 177 N.E. 140, 256 N.Y. 559.

16. Cal.—Bogardus v. Santa Ana Walnut Growers Ass'n, 108 P.2d 52, 41 Cal.App.2d 939.
Ind.—Department of Treasury v. Ice Service, 41 N.E.2d 201, 220 Ind. 64.
Ky.—Tomlin v. Petty, 51 S.W.2d 663, 244 Ky. 542.
Me.—Haarparinne v. Butter Hill Fruit Growers' Ass'n, 119 A. 116, 122 Me. 138.
N.Y.—Rhodes v. Little Falls Dairy Co., 245 N.Y.S. 432, 230 App.Div. 571, reversing 243 N.Y.S. 92, 137 Misc. 579, and affirmed 177 N.E. 140, 256 N.Y. 559.
Wis.—Spencer Co-op. Live Stock Shipping Ass'n v. Schultz, 245 N. W. 99, 209 Wis. 344.

17. Ga.—A. J. Evans Marketing Agency v. Federated Fruit & Vegetable Growers, 152 S.E. 49, 170 Ga. 30.

18. Fla.—Winter Garden Citrus Growers' Ass'n v. Willits, 151 So. 509, 113 Fla. 131.
Tex.—Central Texas Dairymen's Ass'n v. Jones, Civ.App., 67 S.W. 2d 896.

Special contract

Where a distributor, who was the exclusive agent for the sale of all products controlled by contracts between an association and growers and was authorized to make advances and corresponding deductions from the returns due growers, made a special contract with a grower and the association for particular products of the grower, returns to be made within a specified time, the distributor was held required to remit either to the grower who was not indebted for advances, or to the association as the grower's agent, and it could not satisfy the obligation of the association or other growers by merely crediting the amount due on the general account of the association.—Sullivan v. American Fruit Growers, Inc., of Illinois, 260 P. 1029, 45 Idaho 153.

Purchase of products on open market

Association of rice growers under co-operative marketing act had power, under contract, to handle only mortgaged rice without profit or loss, and purchase of rice by association for profit was held violation of contract with members.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

Produce to be delivered

Members are required to deliver only the type of produce called for by the contracts.—Brame v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 278 S.W. 597, 212 Ky. 185.

19. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Massey, 253 P. 1093, 123 Kan. 183.
Discontinuance of production see infra subsection c (5) of this section.

Modifying method of computing price

Dairy corporation's arbitrary mod-authorized act,[20] or the doing of an act which is not prohibited by the contract,[21] or the failure to do a particular act, not required by the contract,[22] does not constitute a breach of contract. Under the usual marketing contract, the association is bound to accept products of members unless it can show a legal excuse for its refusal,[23] and the association, properly refusing to accept a member's product, breaches its contract where it prevents him from selling it in the open market.[24] Conversely, the failure or refusal of a member of a co-operative association to deliver his products to the association, pursuant to his contract, may constitute a continuing[25] breach[26] of the contract.

Where a co-operative association is authorized to exercise discretion with respect to marketing the products of its members, it is not liable for a mere mistake of judgment,[27] especially, in the absence of fraud or gross mistake, where the contract provides that the judgment of the association is conclusive.[28] However, the discretion given the association, under the standard form of marketing contract, to sell a member's crop to the best advantage according to the dictates of good judgment and business prudence must not be exercised arbitrarily, but fairly and reasonably, having due regard to the purposes of the organization and the conditions prevailing at the time,[29] and the association is obligated to exercise the same diligence and good faith to market the product of one member that it exercises to market the product of the other members and it cannot deliberately eliminate from the market a portion of the producers who are members in order that the remaining members may enjoy more favorable prices, and the contract is violated where it does so discriminate.[30] Where members, breaching their contracts, relied on a purported amendment to a by-law, the association is estopped to forfeit the members' property interest under the original by-law.[31]

Where a marketing contract was signed by persons "as joint tenants" they may, under some circumstances, be jointly and severally liable on breach of the contract.[32]

Excuses. An inability to carry out an improvidently made contract between a co-operative association and a member does not necessarily work a discharge of the contract itself as a legal obligation,[33] but a demand by the association that a member perform some act, which makes it impossible for him to comply with his contract, has been held to relieve him of the duty to deliver his product to the association.[34] A member is not justified in re-ification of method of computing price to be paid stockholders for milk constituted breach of contract, entitling stockholder to recover damages.—Rhodes v. Little Falls Dairy Co., 243 N.Y.S. 92, 137 Misc. 579, reversed on other grounds 245 N.Y.S. 432, 230 App.Div. 571 and affirmed 177 N.E. 140, 256 N.Y. 559.

20. Me.—Cunningham v. Long, 135 A. 198, 125 Me. 494.
Wash.—Washington Co-op. Egg & Poultry Ass'n v. Taylor, 210 P. 806, 122 Wash. 466.

Disposal of products of members by the association in conformity with a provision of the contract does not constitute a breach thereof.—Rifle Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Smith, 240 P. 937, 78 Colo. 171.

21. Wash.—Washington Co-op. Egg & Poultry Ass'n v. Taylor, 210 P. 806, 122 Wash. 466.

22. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Oden, 257 P. 975, 124 Kan. 179, followed in Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Heter, 257 P. 979, 124 Kan. 76.

Pooling and grading
A provision that the association shall pool the products of the members and grade them has been held not to impose a mandatory duty on the association, violation of which constitutes a breach of the contract.—Cunningham v. Long, 135 A. 198, 125 Me. 494.

23. Wash.—Guglielmelli v. Walla Walla Gardeners' Ass'n, 288 P. 251, 157 Wash. 109, 77 A.L.R. 385.

Returns insufficient to pay for marketing
Co-operative marketing association was held not bound to accept member's product, where returns of sale would not even pay costs of marketing.—Guglielmelli v. Walla Walla Gardeners' Ass'n, supra.

24. Wash.—Guglielmelli v. Walla Walla Gardeners' Ass'n, supra.

25. N.Y.—Parker v. Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n, 226 N.Y.S. 226, 222 App.Div. 341.

26. Ark.—Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, 270 S.W. 946, 168 Ark. 504, supplemental opinion 270 S.W. 1119, 168 Ark. 504.

Sale to landlord
Tenant's sale of wheat to landlord for debt held breach of tenant's co-operative marketing contract.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Brooks, 263 P. 787, 125 Kan. 296.

27. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904.

28. Ark.—Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, 16 S.W.2d 177, 179 Ark. 338.

29. N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bland, 121 S.E. 636, 187 N.C. 356.

Releasing member from obligation
Refusal of co-operative marketing association to release member from his obligation to deliver his product to the association where it was unable to secure a satisfactory marketing contract with third persons was held arbitrary and abuse of discretion.—Mountain States Beet Growers' Marketing Ass'n v. Monroe, 269 P. 886, 84 Colo. 300.

30. Wis.—Wheelright v. Pure Milk Ass'n, 242 N.W. 486, 208 Wis. 40, denied motion 240 N.W. 769, 208 Wis. 40.

31. Cal.—Buford v. Florin Fruit Growers' Ass'n, 291 P. 170, 210 Cal. 84.

32. Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, Civ.App., 16 S.W.2d 413.

33. Fla.—Miami Home Milk Producer's Ass'n v. La Course, 158 So. 117, 117 Fla. 345.

34. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 225 N.W. 799, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, rehearing denied 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

fusing to deliver his product to the association because he cannot learn at the time of delivery the price he will receive therefor,[35] nor, in some cases, may a member take advantake of alleged mismanagement of the association as a defense.[36] Also a member is not justified in violating the contract because a lienor demands a sale of the products on the open market.[37]

Breach by opposite party to contract. Not every breach of a marketing contract by the opposite party will operate as a discharge and justify an entire refusal to perform,[38] and whether a breach of a marketing contract justifies a suit for rescission or for damages for breach of the entire contract, or whether it merely gives rise to a claim for compensation, must be determined by the terms of the contract and the circumstances of each case.[39] On an unjustified refusal of the association to accept the products of a member in accordance with the marketing contract, the member is not liable as for a breach of contract because of his selling his products on the open market,[40] and refusal by the association of further performance of a contract, except on condition that a member sign a supplemental contract, is a material breach which will justify the member's refusal of further performance.[41] Also a breach of a marketing contract by the association, by employing brokers and failing properly to grade products of members, etc., has been held to warrant denial of relief to the association because of the breach of a contract by a member,[42] and where the association fails to sell the produce at the best price obtainable, as provided in the contract, the growers have been held to have the right to refuse to permit it to sell any more of their produce.[43] However, the failure of the association to test the product of a particular member, before classifying it, is not ground for complaint in the absence of a showing that the classification made was inaccurate,[44] and, a fortiori, a breach of the contract by the association is no excuse for a prior breach of the contract by a member.[45]

Where the total deductions made by a co-operative association on the sale of products of a member are within the amount authorized by the contract and by-laws, a member is not justified in breaching his contract,[46] and the withholding of a small amount due a member without warrant in law or in the provisions of the contract has been held not a breach of sufficient importance to justify an entire severance of the contract relations.[47] Although, where the association refuses to pay for all the products delivered in one year, it has been held that the grower is released from further performance on his part,[48] under some contracts payment by the association, on the sale of a crop, has been held not a condition precedent to a member's obligation to deliver the crops of subsequent years,[49] and deficiencies in credits to a member during a particular month have been held not to justify his refusal to make deliveries in later months, where he had continued to deliver for some time following such months and made no suggestion of irregularities during such time.[50] A slight delay in making payment for products delivered to the association has been held not a sufficient ground for the

35. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Schulte, 216 P. 311, 113 Kan. 672.

36. N.C.—Pittman v. Tobacco Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n, 121 S.E. 634, 187 N.C. 340.
Wash.—Washington Co-op. Egg & Poultry Ass'n v. Taylor, 210 P. 806, 122 Wash. 466.

37. N.C.—North Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bullock, 132 S.E. 154, 191 N.C. 464, 47 A.L.R. 924.

38. N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bland, 121 S.E. 636, 187 N.C. 356.

Injury to whole membership
A breach of a marketing contract by the association will not, in all cases, excuse performance by a member, because of the ensuing injury to the whole membership.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

39. Neb.—Nebraska Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Smith, 212 N.W. 39, 115 Neb. 177.

40. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Toothaker, 278 P. 716, 128 Kan. 469.
N.Y.—Frame v. Trenton Milk & Cream Co., 210 N.Y.S. 591, 125 Misc. 86.
Wash.—Guglielmelli v. Walla Walla Gardeners' Ass'n, 288 P. 251, 157 Wash. 109, 77 A.L.R. 385.
Wis.—Wisconsin Co-operative Milk Pool v. Saylesville Cheese Mfg. Co., 263 N.W. 197, 219 Wis. 350.

41. Wis.—Myrold v. Northern Wisconsin Co-op. Tobacco Pool, 239 N.W. 422, 206 Wis. 244.

42. N.J.—New Jersey Poultry Producers' Ass'n v. Tradelius, 126 A. 538, 96 N.J.Eq. 683.

Director-member held not estopped to set up such breach by association.—New Jersey Poultry Producers' Ass'n v. Tradelius, 126 A. 538, 96 N.J.Eq. 683.

43. Ga.—Georgia Peach Growers' Exchange v. Reeves, 167 S.E. 315, 46 Ga.App. 229.

44. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Oden, 257 P. 975, 124 Kan. 179, followed in Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Heter, 257 P. 979, 124 Kan. 76.

45. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904.

46. Wash.—Washington Co-op. Egg & Poultry Ass'n v. Taylor, 210 P. 806, 122 Wash. 466.

47. N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bland, 121 S.E. 636, 187 N.C. 356.

48. Or.—Oregon Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Lentz, 212 P. 811, 107 Or. 561.

49. Cal.—California Prune & Apricot Growers v. Baker, 246 P. 1081, 77 Cal.App. 393.

50. N.Y.—Parker v. Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n, 226 N.Y.S. 226, 222 App.Div. 341.

breach of the contract by a member,[51] and an unreasonable delay in accounting for the returns of a crop is not a defense to an action for a prior breach of contract by such member.[52]

Release; breach by other members. While the release by the association of certain members from the operation of their marketing agreements providing for the delivery of all their products to the association has been held a breach of contract by the association, releasing the other members from adhering thereto,[53] permitting members to withdraw crops from a pool has been held no excuse for another member's breach of contract, where it was not shown that the association suffered any detriment or that such withdrawal did not occur at a time when they had a right of withdrawal under the contract,[54] and, a fortiori, the issuance of a permit to some members to market their products outside the association in accordance with provisions of a by-law of the association does not constitute a breach by the association.[55] A third person, to whom the association had assigned the crop of a member, has no authority to release the member from delivery under the terms of the agreement between the association and its members,[56] and, notwithstanding such a release by a third person, a member is required to account for products sold to persons other than the association.[57] Unless such power is expressly conferred by the association on its officers or agents,[58] the officers of the association have been held not to have the power to release products grown by a member so as to exonerate him from accounting for the proceeds,[59] and the association is not estopped to recover damages against a member by reason of a letter informing the member it had sold his crop to a third person from whom the member procured a release of his crop.[60]

The fact that a member of the association had breached his contract and no action had been commenced against him is no defense to an action for a breach by another member.[61]

(5) Discontinuance of Production; Interests of Third Persons

In the absence of special statutory or contractual provisions, a member may cease production without incurring liability to a co-operative association under his marketing contract. The effect of mortgages and liens on products covered by marketing contracts depends on the provisions of the statutes and the marketing contract.

Marketing contracts have been held to include only the produce of the member produced on land either owned or rented by him,[62] and, since a mem-

51. Wash.—Washington Co-op. Egg & Poultry Ass'n v. Taylor, 210 P. 806, 122 Wash. 466.

52. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904.

53. Miss.—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Borodofsky, 108 So. 802, 143 Miss. 558.

Termination of membership or cancellation of contract see infra subdivision e of this section.

Conduct in past years

In co-operative marketing association's action against member thereof for breach of marketing contract by defendant's failure to deliver his orange crop to plaintiff for marketing, plaintiff's permission to other members to sell their fruit to others than plaintiff in previous years held no defense.—Irwindale Citrus Ass'n v. Semler, Cal.App., 140 P.2d 716.

54. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904.

55. Wash.—Washington Co-op. Egg & Poultry Ass'n v. Taylor, 210 P. 806, 122 Wash. 466.

56. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Downey, 243 P. 679, 76 Cal.App. 1.

Knowledge of elements of contract

Members are held to have knowledge of all the elements entering into marketing agreements.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Downey, supra.

57. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Downey, supra.

58. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harris, 267 P. 572, 91 Cal.App. 654.

Director or assumed agent

The fact that a person solicited membership in the association or was a director thereof has been held not to empower him to release a member from his marketing agreement; the test as to authority of a director to state that the association would refuse the crop of a member of the association is what a reasonable man would be justified in believing under the circumstances.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harris, supra.

59. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Downey, 243 P. 679, 76 Cal.App. 1.

60. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Downey, supra.

61. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904.

62. Cal.—Pacific Fruit Exchange v. Barkhaus, 298 P. 965, 212 Cal. 328

N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n v. Bissett, 121 S.E. 446, 187 N.C. 180.

Subsequent lease by wife

Where a lease of land by a wife covering land theretofore leased to her husband, a member of a co-operative association, was made in good faith, the husband is not liable for failure to deliver the products to the association.

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Lucas, 278 P. 6, 128 Kan. 350.

Va.—Layne v. Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Ass'n, 133 S.E. 358, 147 Va. 878.

Gift to wife

Where member of tobacco growers' co-operative association had orally given wife tobacco on small plat held by him under oral lease for year, which was personal property, sale of tobacco outside of association was held breach of agreement, in view of a statute requiring gifts between husband and wife to be in writing, to be valid against third persons, and knowledge of one assisting in organizing tobacco growers' co-operative association that tobacco on land leased by member was claimed by wife was not notice to corporation subsequently organized. —Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op.

ber of a co-operative association may not be required by his contract to continue to produce the commodity called for by the contract for the full term of the contract,[63] he may cease production without incurring any liability to the association,[64] and members of an association who, in good faith, sell, or lease for cash, their land or business and discontinue production ordinarily are not liable for the failure to deliver the commodity thereafter produced on such property.[65] However, a member may not escape liability to the association by raising the crops in the name of another,[66] as by a pretended sale or lease which is a mere device or subterfuge to avoid carrying out his agreement with the association.[67]

Where a lease by a member of a co-operative association provides that the tenants shall pay rent by delivering a portion of the crop, the member's share of the crop is subject to the marketing agreement,[68] but it has been held that the landlord is not liable for the penalty for nondelivery of produce by his tenant who was not a member of the association and who called for an actual division with him and declined to deliver his part of the produce to the association, since the landlord did not acquire or own any interest in the tenant's crop.[69] Also it has been held that a marketing contract cannot be enforced against produce raised on a share system in which tenants, not members of the association, had an undivided interest.[70] However, under some statutory provisions which have been held to constitute an essential part of a lease to a tenant knowing of the landlord's marketing contract,[71] the landlord has been held to violate the contract by failure to see that the product raised on land leased to another is marketed according to the contract,[72] and a co-operative association has been held entitled to recover against a tenant disposing of his crop in violation of the marketing contract of his landlord.[73] A statute authorizing replevin by co-operative associations to obtain the possession of property to the immediate possession of which they may be entitled has been held not to change the rule that replevin will not lie in favor of a co-tenant.[74]

Liens, mortgages, etc. The standard form of contract of some associations has been held not to prohibit a member from placing a mortgage or crop lien on his crop for the current year to enable him to cultivate and produce it.[75] While, under a marketing agreement providing that if the grower shall place a mortgage on the crop the association has the right to take delivery of the crop and pay off all or part of the mortgage and charge the grower's account, the association is entitled to delivery of the crop notwithstanding it refused to Ass'n v. Alexander, 270 S.W. 677, 208 Ky. 572.

63. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Garnett, 278 P. 5, 128 Kan. 337.

64. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Garnett, supra.
Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Devine, 289 S.W. 253, 217 Ky. 320.
Va.—Layne v. Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Ass'n, 133 S.E. 358, 147 Va. 878.

65. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233.
Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Garnett, 278 P. 5, 128 Kan. 337.
Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 233 P. 547, 113 Or. 398.
Wash.—Inland Empire Dairy Producers' Ass'n v. Casberg, 235 P. 13, 134 Wash. 702—Inland Empire Dairy Producers' Ass'n v. Melander, 235 P. 12, 134 Wash. 145.

66. Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Devine, 289 S.W. 253, 217 Ky. 320.

67. Colo.—Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bond, 252 P. 813, 80 Colo. 516.
Or.—Oregon Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Lentz, 212 P. 811, 107 Or. 561.
S.C.—South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. English, 133 S.E. 542, 135 S.C. 19.

68. Tex.—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n v. Kyle, Civ.App., 281 S.W. 629.

Authorizing tenant to sell and pay in money

A landlord's interest in a crop under a lease for a portion of the crop raised or produced by tenants has been held produced or acquired by or for him, notwithstanding he authorized the tenants to sell his part and pay him his share in money.—Main v. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, Tex.Civ.App., 271 S.W. 178—Long v. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, Tex.Civ.App., 270 S.W. 561.

Signing marketing agreement after rental contracts was held a practical construction by member of rental contracts with tenants, as giving him such interest in crops as would enable him to deliver cotton to association.—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n v. Kyle, Tex.Civ.App., 281 S.W. 629.

69. N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bissett, 121 S.E. 446, 187 N.C. 180.

70. La.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bacon, 113 So. 790, 164 La. 126—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bannister, 109 So. 776, 161 La. 957—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Clark, 107 So. 115, 160 La. 294.

71. Colo.—Wilson v. Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 260 P. 1080, 82 Colo. 428.
Ky.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Daniels, 284 S.W. 399, 215 Ky. 67.

72. Ky.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Daniels, supra.

73. Colo.—Wilson v. Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 260 P. 1080, 82 Colo. 428—Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bond, 252 P. 813, 80 Colo. 516.
Ky.—Feagain v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 261 S.W. 607, 202 Ky. 801.

74. Miss.—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Hemphill, 107 So. 24, 142 Miss. 298.

Outstanding title in tenants

Member of marketing association may defend replevin by association by showing outstanding title in tenants.—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Hemphill, supra.

75. N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-Op. Ass'n v. Patterson, 121 S.E. 631, 187 N.C. 252.

take a mortgage or advance money and the crop was mortgaged to a third person,[76] under some statutes a lien on a crop for the year in which advances are expended in cultivating the crop has been held superior to a co-operative association's rights under a marketing contract with the grower, notwithstanding the contract authorized the association to take the crop and pay the lien according to its regular method of distribution;[77] and where, under the laws of the state, pledges, with reference to each other, rank in the order of recordation, the pledge of the furnisher of money, recorded, primes an unrecorded marketing agreement as to the right of possession of the product pledged,[78] and the association cannot demand delivery of a member's product covered by a recorded pledge without payment of the debt or consent of the pledgee.[79] However, the fact that a member mortgaged his product has been held no defense to an action by a co-operative association for a breach of contract.[80] Products purchased by a member, a mortgage being executed as part of the transaction in which negotiable warehouse receipts were delivered to the mortgagee, have been held not subject to a marketing contract as such member had never acquired the products so as to enable him to comply with the contract.[81] A mortgagee, who took his mortgage with knowledge of the marketing contract of the mortgagor and actively consented to marketing the crop through the association, receiving advances made by the association, has been held liable for the difference between the advances made and the amount ultimately determined to be due the mortgagor.[82]

Under the provisions of some contracts a member may be estopped to assert that his product was previously mortgaged, and the existence of a prior mortgage in such case has been held not to relieve him of his obligation to deliver the product to the association.[83]

(6) Effect of Sale to Third Person

The passage of title to a commodity from a producer to a co-operative association under a marketing contract has been held not conclusive as against subsequent bona fide buyers from the producer.

The passage of title from a producer to a co-operative association under a marketing contract has been held not conclusive as against subsequent bona fide buyers from the producer, and does not preclude the defense of equitable estoppel. Where prospective purchasers know that a producer has executed some kind of marketing agreement with a co-operative association, it is incumbent on them to make further inquiry as to the contractual relations of the parties, unless by some act or word of the association they were induced not to do so.[84] Under the uniform sales act, a person buying from a producer in possession, for value and in good faith without notice of a previous sale to a co-operative association, has been held to acquire a good title.[85]

d. Advances and Deductions; Accounting

In making advances, a co-operative association should treat all members alike, and it may make only such deductions from the proceeds of the sale of members' produce as are authorized by statute or contract. The association may be required by its by-laws or by a suit in equity to render an account to its members.

While co-operative associations are generally authorized by statute or their contracts with producers to make deductions from the amount owing to the latter from the sum received on the sale of their produce,[86] a co-operative association may make only such deductions as are authorized by such stat-

76. Ky.—Redford v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 266 S.W. 24, 205 Ky. 515.

77. N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. L. Harvey & Son Co., 127 S.E. 545, 189 N.C. 494.

Lien securing other indebtedness

That amount secured by crop lien includes indebtedness not incurred for advances to grower does not entitle co-operative association to order enjoining enforcement of liens to extent of amounts advanced for current year to enable grower to cultivate and produce crops, amount being determinable in such action, if disputed.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. L. Harvey & Son Co., 127 S. E. 545, 189 N.C. 494.

78. La.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Clark, 107 So. 115, 160 La. 294.

79. La.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Clark, supra.

80. Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, Civ.App., 16 S.W.2d 413.

81. Tex.—Lennox v. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, supra.

82. U.S.—Baird v. Gleason, C.C.A. Ark., 53 F.2d 785.

83. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Leslie, 271 P. 284, 126 Kan. 694.

84. Or.—Pacific Wool Growers v. Draper & Co., 73 P.2d 1391, 158 Or. 1.

85. Or.—Pacific Wool Growers v. Draper & Co., supra.

Effect of recording marketing contract see supra subdivision c (2) of this section.

Effect of co-operative marketing act

The provisions of uniform sales act concerning rights of bona fide purchasers were not repealed by the subsequent enactment of the co-operative marketing act.—Pacific Wool Growers v. Draper & Co., supra.

86. U.S.—Van Dyke v. Mid-South Cotton Growers Ass'n, D.C.Tenn., 12 F.Supp. 138.

Reserve fund

Statute providing for the sale of cotton held by co-operative growers' association to the secretary of agriculture, but which did not compel payment for the cotton to be made directly to the growers, was held not to preclude the association from making a reasonable deduction from the sums received for reserves and pledging such reserves for debts due by the association to the United utes or contracts,[87] and a deduction for items not authorized has been held to constitute a breach of contract.[88] An association is not liable as for wrongful deductions where the total amount deducted was within the amount authorized to be deducted by the contract and by-laws,[89] and a member is not entitled to object to the retroactive effect of by-laws relating to the method of computing deductions for reserves where he had acquiesced in the practice.[90] A liability of the association because of a deficit under a contract with a third person has been held not an expense, so as to authorize the association to deduct the amount thereof from the producers' monthly checks for products delivered,[91] especially as to persons who were not members when the liability for such deficit occurred.[92]

Marketing contracts with co-operative associations frequently provide for advance payments to members and notification of an advance payment does not constitute a new oral contract with a member superseding the original agreement.[93] All members of a co-operative association are subject to the same regulations concerning advances.[94] A provision that advances may be deducted from the receipts on the sale of the grower's products necessarily implies that the grower will reimburse the association for all such advances,[95] and a co-operative association may recover excess advances to members.[96] Where the contract is one of purchase and sale, payment to be made at a time set forth, with reasonable advances in the discretion of the association, payments made at the designated times have been held not advances subject to revision by the association, notwithstanding surpluses were distributed at times among the members, the distribu-

States government, where the contract with the growers provided for a deduction for reserves.—Van Dyke v. Mid-South Cotton Growers Ass'n, supra.

87. Cal.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, 70 P.2d 190, 9 Cal.2d 181, rehearing 63 P.2d 1114—Silveira v. Associated Milk Producers, 219 P. 461, 63 Cal. App. 572.

No discretion

Contract requiring a marketing association to pay a grower the net amount received less the cost of handling did not give the association discretion in deducting such cost.—Brown v. Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 139 S.E. 417, 164 Ga. 712.

Limitation necessarily implied

The fact that the association is authorized to make deductions for certain items necessarily implies that deductions should be made only for such items.—Dryden Local Growers v. Dormaier, 2 P.2d 274, 163 Wash. 648.

Retention of money not ratified

The fact that fruit growers retained stock certificates of a growers corporation on which the corporation unauthorizedly applied money wrongfully withheld from the growers was held not to constitute ratification of wrongful withholding and application.—Dryden Local Growers v. Dormaier, supra.

88. Wash.—Dryden Local Growers v. Dormaier, supra.

Improper deductions as justifying breach by member see supra subdivision c (4) of this section.

89. Or.—Davidson v. Apple Growers Ass'n, 79 P.2d 991, 159 Or. 473.

90. Cal.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, 63 P.2d 1114, reheard 70 P.2d 190, 9 Cal.2d 181.

91. N.Y.—Fietz v. Central Milk Producers Coop. Ass'n, 32 N.Y.S.2d 574.

Deduction arbitrary

A milk producers cooperative association's deduction from producers' milk checks to cover a deficit incurred by the association under a contract with distributors was an arbitrary act, entitling producers to recover the amount deducted, since, if the association's assets were insufficient to discharge its obligations, then there might be a remedy to a limited extent against individual producers who would be entitled to their day in court to make their defenses.—Fietz v. Central Milk Producers Co-op. Ass'n, supra.

92. N.Y.—Fietz v. Central Milk Producers Co-op. Ass'n, supra.

93. Cal.—Meyer v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, 109 P.2d 726, 42 Cal.App.2d 632.

Notification by general association

Where a membership agreement between a prune grower and a county co-operative marketing association authorized the state cooperative marketing association to act for the county association, the fact that the state association notified the grower that it would make advance payment for his prune crop did not indicate a new oral contract superseding the membership agreement which provided for advance payments.—Meyer v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, supra.

94. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

Interest

In making advances, the association should do so to each member at the same percentage, or, if this is not done, a member should pay interest on the amount of advances received.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, supra.

95. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Williams, 255 P. 751, 82 Cal.App. 434.

Owner liable as guarantor on tenant's contract

Where an owner of land, leased on a share rental basis, signed the tenant's marketing contract with an association, it has been held that he is liable as guarantor as against a contention that the contract was a chattel mortgage as to him and that action thereon could not be brought until the security was exhausted, allegedly at the end of the contract period.—McDonald v. Gravenstein Apple Growers Co-op. Ass'n of Sonoma County, 108 P.2d 936, 42 Cal. App.2d 329.

96. Ark.—Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, 16 S.W.2d 177, 179 Ark. 338.

Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233.

Tex.—Texas Certified Cottonseed Breeders' Ass'n v. Aldridge, 61 S.W.2d 79, 122 Tex. 464, reversing, Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 320.

Voluntary association

Where a voluntary association is an agent of the growers under their contracts, and authorized to pay advancements to members and incur expenses, it may demand an accounting from the members and recover a deficit.—Tomlin v. Petty, 51 S.W.2d 663, 244 Ky. 542.

tees receiving the surpluses because they were members and not because they were vendors.[97]

Accounting. While an association may be required by its by-laws to render statements to members,[98] in the absence of provisions relating to the time for accounting, a co-operative association should render an account to its members as to the sale of their products within a reasonable time,[99] and an action therefor is maintainable in equity.[1] In arriving at a proper accounting, all items owing by a member to the association and credits properly allowable to the member should be considered,[2] and a member of the association is liable for amounts paid him for his produce in excess of the amount to which he was entitled.[3] A member has been held not entitled to have his claim for the proceeds of crops preferred to those of other members, where he allowed the association to mingle the proceeds of his produce with the proceeds of other members.[4] Where the by-laws provide for pro-rating each day's shipments, a grower delivering produce for shipment on a day when no deliveries were made by any other grower is entitled to payment after deduction of the association's charge for service rendered, as against a contention that the money received should be pro-rated by the association.[5]

The right of a person to participate in a reserve fund of a co-operative association depends on the provisions of the contract, the association's by-laws, and statutes relating thereto.[6] Under some contracts an unexpended fund deducted for credit and general purposes from the amounts received for crops has been held a continuous, permanent, reserve fund of the association and an annual distribution thereof is not required,[7] but it has been held that a year's profits are to be distributed completely at the year's end where no accumulation of a surplus fund, except the reserve fund provided for, is contemplated by the contract.[8] Under a by-law providing for pro rata division of any surplus from deductions, members are not entitled to share in the absence of a surplus.[9] Where the products of the members were destroyed by fire, the proceeds of an insurance policy were held to take the place

97. Wis.—Neith Co-op. Dairy Products Ass'n v. National Cheese Producers' Federation, 257 N.W. 624, 217 Wis. 202.

98. Cal.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, 63 P.2d 1114, reheard 70 P.2d 190, 9 Cal.2d 181.

Matters to be shown

(1) A by-law, requiring an association to render statements to its members, has been held to require statements that will inform the member as to the amount of the proportion of the gross proceeds of the pools to which he had contributed produce and the amount available for distribution to him, or as to the total tonnage and the gross proceeds of each pool.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, 63 P.2d 1114, reheard 70 P.2d 190, 9 Cal.2d 181.

(2) The account should give complete information concerning credits to, and charges against, all pools in which products delivered by a member were packed and sold, and the detail by which the corporation arrived at the net amount to be credited to each grower.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, 70 P.2d 190, 9 Cal.2d 181, rehearing 63 P.2d 1114.

99. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904.

Equalization requirements

Under a statute providing that nothing shall prevent a marketing co-operative, subject to an order issued by the secretary of agriculture, from making distribution of net proceeds in accordance with the contract with its members, the term "net proceeds" refers to the result of the co-operative sales in the marketing area after complying with the equalization requirements contained in the order.—U. S. v. Rock Royal Coop., N.Y., 59 S.Ct. 993, 307 U.S. 533, 83 L.Ed. 1446, modifying, D.C., 26 F. Supp. 534.

1. N.Y.—Rhodes v. Little Falls Dairy Co., 245 N.Y.S. 432, 230 App. Div. 571, reversing 243 N.Y.S. 92, 137 Misc. 579, and affirmed 177 N. E. 140, 256 N.Y. 559.

2. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233.

Changing method of computation

A resolution changing the method of computing an assessment for depreciation of plant and equipment with reference to a particular year's produce may not be applied in computing the assessment against crops of prior years.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, 63 P.2d 1114, reheard 70 P.2d 190, 9 Cal.2d 181.

3. Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233.

4. Wash.—Winans v. Brue, 248 P. 62, 140 Wash. 56.

5. Mich.—Cole v. Southern Michigan Fruit Ass'n, 245 N.W. 534, 260 Mich. 617.

6. Cal.—Rusconi v. California Fruit Exchange, 281 P. 84, 101 Cal.App. 750.

Assets as subject to claims of creditors see supra § 5.

Failure to deliver percentage of crop

A grower under a marketing contract, having failed to deliver the percentage of crop required to the marketing corporation, was held not entitled to participate in reserve fund accumulated from earnings.—Rusconi v. California Fruit Exchange, supra.

Inconsistent position

Where a husband became a member of, and acquired some retain certificates issued by a citrus growers association and contracted to sell, through the association, fruit which was the wife's separate property, and later breached the contract, the wife was not entitled to recover on the certificates, on the theory that they were her property and that the contract was that of her husband, and thus to be relieved from the penalty imposed on members for breach of contract.—Proodian v. Plymouth Citrus Growers Ass'n, Fla., 13 So.2d 15.

7. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 287 S.W. 419, 171 Ark. 1155.

8. Ark.—McCauley v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, supra.

9. Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Tipton, 11 S.W.2d 119, 227 Ky. 297.

of the products among the assets of the association, to be considered in the final accounting of assets.[10]

A local association, acquiescing in the central association's unauthorized retention, as a reserve fund, of the cash excess over the estimated net return of sales and entering into a contract authorizing such retention for a definite period as a trust fund, is not entitled to demand a portion of the fund until the contract is lawfully terminated.[11]

e. Termination of Membership or Contract

Termination of membership in, or cancellation of contracts with, a co-operative association and the rights and liabilities in consequence thereof usually are dependent on statutory or charter provisions, the by-laws of the association, and the contracts with the members.

The right of a member to withdraw from, or to terminate a contract with, a co-operative association and the power to expel members or stockholders thereof are sometimes regulated by statutory or charter provisions, the by-laws of the association, and the contracts with members,[12] and, where the power of expulsion is in the members or stockholders, directors are not entitled to expel members in the absence of a by-law expressly authorizing them to do so.[13]

A statute providing that the filing of a co-operative contract is notice of the validity thereof until its expiration according to its terms has been held not to destroy a member's absolute right of cancellation under the terms of the contract,[14] but where a contract specifies that it is to be in force until a specified date and thereafter until canceled it is not terminable at the option of one party until after the date specified.[15] An agreement between a member of the association and a third person waiving the member's right to withdraw from the association has been held not to constitute a binding contract between the member and the association,[16] and even if the contract be held to be for the benefit of the association the latter cannot enforce it where the member and third person had expressly rescinded it before an attempt was made to enforce it.[17] There must be substantial compliance with the provisions of marketing contracts with respect to the termination thereof,[18] and a marketing agreement, specifying exactly how it may be terminated, cannot be abrogated or modified by any one in violation of the rights of others to the contract.[19] Although, where a condition precedent to the contract becoming operative had not been performed, alleged members are entitled to withdraw from further participation in the undertaking,[20] the right to rescind for fraud must be exercised within a reasonable time.[21] On a substantial breach of the contract by the association, a member has been held entitled to

10. Tex.—Texas Certified Cottonseed Breeders' Ass'n v. Aldridge, 61 S.W.2d 79, 122 Tex. 464, reversing, Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 320.

11. Cal.—Mountain View Walnut Growers' Ass'n v. California Walnut Growers Ass'n, 65 P.2d 80, 19 Cal.App.2d 227.

12. Minn.—State ex rel. Boldt v. St. Cloud Milk Producers' Ass'n, 273 N.W. 603, 200 Minn. 1.
Neb.—Whitney v. Farmers' Co-op. Grain Co., 193 N.W. 103, 110 Neb. 157.

Necessity of providing for purchase of interest
Courts are reluctant to construe statutes so as to destroy co-operative associations without the consent of a majority of their members, and a statute providing that an association, under its by-laws, may provide for the manner of determining the value of a member's interest and make provisions for its purchase by the association on withdrawal or death of a member has been held not to require the association to do so.—Driscoll v. East-West Dairymen's Ass'n, 126 P.2d 467, 52 Cal.App.2d 468, prior opinion 122 P.2d 379.

Establishing market place elsewhere
Under a by-law authorizing withdrawal and payment back of money for stock on establishing a market place elsewhere, a member leaves the community and establishes a market place elsewhere when, for any valid reason, he is so located that another market place becomes more accessible to him and he acts honestly in the matter.—Whitney v. Farmers' Co-op. Grain Co., 193 N.W. 103, 110 Neb. 157.

13. Minn.—State ex rel. Boldt v. St. Cloud Milk Producers' Ass'n, 273 N.W. 603, 200 Minn. 1.

14. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, denying rehearing 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

15. Ill.—Egyptian Seed Growers' Exchange v. Hollinger, 238 Ill. App. 178.

16. Cal.—Hillside Packing Ass'n v. Cowles, 66 P.2d 451, 20 Cal.App.2d 26.

17. Cal.—Hillside Packing Ass'n v. Cowles, supra.

18. Wash.—Grays Harbor Dairymen's Ass'n v. Engen, 226 P. 496, 130 Wash. 169.

Effect of by-laws
By-laws of a co-operative marketing association providing that a member might withdraw from the association any time between January 1 and February 1 following of any year, were held not to affect the contract requirement that a written notice of intention to terminate contract must be given not later than thirty days before February 1.—Grays Harbor Dairymen's Ass'n v. Engen, supra.

19. Cal.—Meyer v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, 109 P.2d 726, 42 Cal.App.2d 632.

Notification of advance payment
Where membership agreement between prune grower and county co-operative marketing association provided for termination thereof by either party solely by registered mail notice between certain days of year, notification of grower by state co-operative marketing association, authorized by agreement to act for county association, that state association would make advance payment for grower's prune crop, did not supersede membership agreement.—Meyer v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, supra.

20. Wash.—Wenatchee Dist. Co-op. Ass'n v. Mohler, 237 P. 300, 135 Wash. 169.

21. Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Rowan, 254 P. 826, 127 Kan. 169.

withdraw.[22] Compromise agreements for cancellation and termination of marketing contracts of some members have been held valid and binding although made by the officers and directors without the consent of all the members,[23] and, while the execution of contracts releasing some members from their obligation to deliver their products to the association has been held to entitle other members to cancel their contracts,[24] it has also been held not to constitute a breach of contract with other members entitling them to cancel and rescind their contracts, where the association received a considerable amount of money under such compromise agreements and the other members participated as members after having knowledge thereof.[25] Growers are not entitled to cancellation of their marketing contracts because the association refused to permit them to withdraw in accordance with a by-law where such by-law had not been properly adopted.[26]

Rights on withdrawal. The rights of withdrawing members of a co-operative association depend on their contracts, statutory provisions, and the by-laws of the association.[27] A credit in the reserve fund in favor of a retiring owner of stock must be disposed of in accordance with the by-laws of the association,[28] and, under a by-law providing that in the event a member retires from the association all his rights and privileges shall thereupon cease and determine, a member who retires ordinarily is not entitled to a pro rata share of the reserve fund,[29] although where the association ceased to function soon after the grower resigned it has been held that he could recover his pro rata share of the reserve fund,[30] but he is not entitled to a pro rata part of the assets of the association where his practice was to join in the fall and resign in the spring after his produce had been disposed of and he was not responsible for the policy, obligations, or transactions of the association.[31] However, although a by-law of a marketing society provides that cancellation of membership terminates all benefits and all right and interest of the member, yet, if the contracts of the society with its members entitle them to share pro rata in any amount remaining in its hands after payment of its charges and expenses in the handling of produce for them, a member holding such a contract is entitled thereunder to share in the surplus notwithstanding he has canceled his membership.[32] Under a by-law providing that reserves shall be paid to withdrawing members coincident with like payments to nonwithdrawing members, a withdrawing member has been held not entitled to immediate repayment where it would have required liquidation of the association's affairs.[33]

22. Wash.—Guglielmelli v. Walla Walla Gardeners' Ass'n, 288 P. 251, 157 Wash. 109, 77 A.L.R. 385.

Refusal to accept products of member

On an unjustified refusal of the association to accept the products of a member in accordance with the contract, the member is entitled to cancellation of the contract.—Central Texas Dairymen's Ass'n v. Jones, Tex.Civ.App., 67 S.W.2d 896.

23. Wash.—Washington State Hop Producers v. Eglin, 108 P.2d 329, 6 Wash.2d 585.

24. Miss.—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Borodofsky, 108 So. 802, 143 Miss. 558.

25. Wash.—Beaulaurier v. Washington State Hop Producers, 111 P.2d 559, 8 Wash.2d 79.

Release of other members as justifying breach of contract see supra subdivision c (4) of this section.

26. Wash.—Beaulaurier v. Washington State Hop Producers, 111 P.2d 559, 8 Wash.2d 79.

27. Interest not forfeited

Where by-laws of co-operative marketing association provide that withdrawing stockholder can dispose of his stock by unanimous consent of board of directors, and that board shall provide for purchase of stock if stockholder cannot find a purchaser satisfactory to board, interest of stockholder is not forfeited on his retirement, but stockholder must find a purchaser for his stock satisfactory to the board, or the board must provide for the purchase of the stock.—Adams v. Sanford Growers Credit Corporation, 186 So. 239, 135 Fla. 513.

Payable on liquidation

A by-law of a cooperative association which provided that interests of members in the association's property should be payable on liquidation of association was valid, and members, who voluntarily withdrew from association which was a solvent, going concern and was not in process of liquidation, could not recover their share of money paid in and remaining in the funds of the association.—Driscoll v. East-West Dairymen's Ass'n, 126 P.2d 467, 52 Cal.App.2d 468, prior opinion 122 P. 2d 379.

Membership fee

On withdrawal, because of a substantial breach of the contract by the association, a member was held entitled to recover his membership fee.—Guglielmelli v. Walla Walla Gardeners' Ass'n, 288 P. 251, 157 Wash. 109, 77 A.L.R. 385.

28. Fla.—Adams v. Sanford Growers Credit Corporation, 186 So. 239, 135 Fla. 513.

29. Fla.—Ozona Citrus Growers' Ass'n v. McLean, 165 So. 625, 122 Fla. 188.

30. Fla.—Ozona Citrus Growers' Ass'n v. McLean, supra.

31. Fla.—Ozona Citrus Growers' Ass'n v. McLean, supra.

32. Cal.—Bogardus v. Santa Ana Walnut Growers Ass'n, 108 P.2d 52, 41 Cal.App.2d 939.

Method of determining surplus

The rendering of annual statements to the member of a fruit growers' marketing association does not show that he acquiesced in the business methods followed by the association with regard to creating a surplus, where the statements contained nothing more than the amount of sales of his fruit, together with the sum which the association had been paid, not including or in any manner referring to charges made in handling, storage, etc.—Hood River Orchard Co. v. Stone, 191 P. 662, 97 Or. 158.

33. Cal.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, 63 P.2d 1114, reheard 70 P.2d 190, 9 Cal. 2d 181.

Interest

Assignee of almond grower member who withdrew from nonprofit

Deductions from a member's net proceeds for reserves may not be recovered by a withdrawing member because such deductions were not authorized by the by-laws where the practice had been followed over a long period of years and was impliedly recognized and ratified by by-laws relating to distribution of such reserves,[34] and a grower who had settled his accounts with the association on his withdrawal has been held not entitled to recover net profits shown by shipment certificates received before such settlement.[35] In a suit to recover assets alleged to be due a retiring member of an association, where its by-laws provided for retirement of such stock at not more than par value, it is for the court to determine the reasonable value of the retiring member's stock.[36] Where members of a co-operative association are entitled to withdraw, they may set up withdrawal as a defense to an action by the association to enforce the contract.[37] However, where the contract provides that, on breach thereof by a member, his membership shall ipso facto cease and terminate, etc., it has been held that a defaulting member is not relieved from liability to deliver products in the future where the association took no steps to cancel his membership.[38]

§ 8. Offenses

Acts which a co-operative association may lawfully perform cannot be considered criminal as to its lawful agents acting within the scope of their authority.

In some jurisdictions various offenses are defined and penalized by statutes governing co-operative societies.[39] However, acts which a co-operative association may lawfully perform cannot be considered criminal as to its lawful agents acting within the scope of their authority.[40]

§ 9. Remedies

a. In general
b. Of, or against, third persons

a. In General

The usual remedies ordinarily are available for the enforcement of rights by or against a co-operative association.

The usual remedies ordinarily are available for the enforcement of rights by or against a co-operative association,[41] and a provision for liquidated damages in a contract between a co-operative association and a member has been held not to provide an exclusive remedy at the option of a member which should be accepted in lieu of performance.[42] In accordance with such rule, and sometimes by virtue of statutory and contractual provisions which have been upheld, an action may be maintained by or against a co-operative association for an injunction,[43] specific performance as shown in the corporation which marketed almonds by pool system held not entitled to object that corporation did not pay interest on balance of unpaid contributions to reserve for fixed assets as it did on contributions to working capital, where board of directors, under authorization from members, had fixed character of fund as non-interest-bearing reserve.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, supra.

34. Cal.—Reinert v. California Almond Growers Exchange, supra.

35. Fla.—Winter Garden Citrus Growers' Ass'n v. Willits, 151 So. 509, 113 Fla. 131.

36. Fla.—Adams v. Sanford Growers Credit Corporation, 9 So.2d 713, 151 Fla. 178.

37. Cal.—Noble v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, 276 P. 636, 98 Cal.App. 230.

38. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904—Milk Producers' Ass'n of San Diego County v. Webb, 275 P. 1001, 97 Cal.App. 650.

39. U.S.—Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Marketing Ass'n, Ky., 48 S.Ct. 291, 276 U.S. 71, 72 L.Ed. 473.

40. Neb.—Lexington Mill & Elevator Co. v. Browne, 219 N.W. 12, 116 Neb. 753.

41. Ky.—Feagain v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 261 S.W. 607, 202 Ky. 801.

Sequestration

An agreement of a grower to sell his produce to a co-operative association may be enforced by sequestration.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-operative Ass'n v. Banister, 2 La.App. 620.

Accounting not condition precedent

Where each grower agreed to pay his pro rata share of expenses and was entitled to all proceeds from the sale of his individual crop without division with any other grower and without liability for any loss or expenses sustained by other growers, a member of the association could be sued for indebtedness without an equitable accounting.—Idaho Apple Growers' Ass'n v. Brown, 293 P. 320, 50 Idaho 34.

42. Iowa.—Clear Lake Co-op. Live Stock Shippers' Ass'n v. Weir, 206 N.W. 297, 200 Iowa 1293.

N.H.—Manchester Dairy System v. Hayward, 132 A. 12, 82 N.H. 193.

43. Ark.—Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, 270 S.W. 946, 168 Ark. 504, supplemental opinion 270 S.W. 1119, 168 Ark. 504.

Cal.—Colma Vegetable Ass'n v. Bonetti, 267 P. 172, 91 Cal.App. 103.

Colo.—Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bond, 252 P. 813, 80 Colo. 516.

Fla.—Lee v. Clearwater Growers' Ass'n, 111 So. 722, 93 Fla. 214.

Ga.—Johnson v. Georgia-Carolina Retail Milk Producers Ass'n, 186 S. E. 824, 182 Ga. 695.

Ill.—Farmers' Educational & Co-Operative Union of America, Illinois Division, v. Langlois, 258 Ill.App. 522.

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Schulte, 216 P. 311, 113 Kan. 672.

Ky.—Feagain v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 261 S.W. 607, 202 Ky. 801—Potter v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 257 S.W. 33, 201 Ky. 441.

La.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-operative Ass'n v. Banister, 2 La.App. 620.

N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Battle, 121 S.E. 629, 187 N.C. 260.

S.C.—South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. English, 133 S.E. 542, 135 S.C. 19.

Tenn.—Tennessee Cotton Growers Ass'n v. Hanson, 2 Tenn.App. 118.

Tex.—Texas Farm Bureau Cotton

C.J.S. title Specific Performance §§ 65, 75, also 58 C.J. p 1035 notes 5–13, p 1051 note 50 [a], or for damages,[44] for a breach or threatened breach of contract. While rights of action by reason of a breach of contract must necessarily be determined by the law in force at that time,[45] remedies provided by statute are applicable to past as well as to future contracts.[46] Ordinarily questions of set-off and counterclaim, as between the society and its members, are governed by the rules applicable to set-off and counterclaim generally.[47]

In the absence of special statutory provisions relating thereto, the usual rules apply in actions between a co-operative association and its members with respect to venue,[48] parties,[49] and, likewise,

Ass'n v. Stovall, 253 S.W. 1101, 113 Tex. 273, reversing, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 1109.

Va.—Layne v. Commonwealth, 132 S. E. 306, 144 Va. 684.

Wash.—Beaulaurier v. Washington State Hop Producers, 111 P.2d 559, 8 Wash.2d 79—Grays Harbor Dairymen's Ass'n v. Engen, 226 P. 496, 130 Wash. 169.

Preliminary injunction

(1) A co-operative association has been held entitled to a preliminary injunction.

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Schulte, 216 P. 311, 113 Kan. 672.

Wis.—Wisconsin Co-operative Milk Pool v. Saylesville Cheese Mfg. Co., 263 N.W. 197, 219 Wis. 350.

(2) A statute entitling the association to a temporary restraining order and a preliminary injunction against a member has been held not to entitle the association to a preliminary injunction as a mere matter of right on the allegations of the complaint without a hearing, although the association may be so entitled to a temporary restraining order.

N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bland, 121 S.E. 636, 187 N.C. 356.

Wash.—State v. Superior Court of Washington for Snohomish County, 228 P. 847, 130 Wash. 668.

Price below cost of production

A co-operative association has been held not entitled to injunction against a member where the price to be paid him for his product was below the cost of production.—Miami Home Milk Producers' Ass'n v. La Course, 158 So. 117, 117 Fla. 345.

44. Ga.—Georgia Peach Growers' Exchange v. Reeves, 167 S.E. 315, 46 Ga.App. 229.

Wis.—Wisconsin Co-operative Milk Pool v. Saylesville Cheese Mfg. Co., 263 N.W. 197, 219 Wis. 350.

On prevention of sale by injunction

Members of co-operative marketing association could not recover damages therefrom for prevention of sale of cotton, not described in writ of injunction against breach of contract to sell all their cotton to association.—Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Tex.Com.App., 55 S.W.2d 543, reversing Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 331.

45. Okl.—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Salyer, 243 P. 232, 114 Okl. 77, followed in Carmichael v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 245 P. 598, 117 Okl. 24, and Hooven v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 247 P. 39, 118 Okl. 238.

Condition precedent

Where the right of the association to compel members to sell their products through the association is conditioned on a right being given to members to withdraw from the association, the latter cannot enforce the obligation of members to sell through the association if it has denied them a means of withdrawal. —Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Salyer, 243 P. 232, 114 Okl. 77, followed in Carmichael v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 245 P. 598, 117 Okl. 24, and Hooven v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 247 P. 39, 118 Okl. 238.

46. Cal.—Colma Vegetable Ass'n v. Bonetti, 267 P. 172, 91 Cal.App. 103.

Application of subsequent statute

In a suit by a foreign corporation against a member for breach of contract for the co-operative and systematic marketing of long staple cotton, entered into before the adoption of the co-operative marketing act, although the substantive rights of the parties are governed by the law as it stood before the adoption of the act, nevertheless such association is entitled to the remedies provided in the act which are applicable to past as well as future contracts, under the principle that a remedy afforded by a statute passed subsequent to the date of the contract may be invoked by a party to such contract, who has been wronged by its nonperformance.—Brown v. Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, 96 So. 849, 132 Miss. 859.

47. Or.—Steelman v. Oregon Dairymen's League, 192 P. 790, 97 Or. 535.

31 C.J. p 965 note 83.

Accrual of damages

Since a contract providing for liquidated damages on failure of a member to sell his produce to the association is valid, such breach may be set up as a counterclaim in an action by the member against the association without alleging that any specific damage accrued or even that any damage did accrue.—Clemo v. Dairymen's League Cooperative Ass'n, Inc., 28 Pa.Dist. & Co. 326.

48. County where products delivered

Suit by member of cheese producers' federation against federation for purchase price of products held properly brought in county wherein products were delivered, instead of in county wherein federation had principal office.—State v. Foley, 245 N. W. 107, 209 Wis. 471, followed in 245 N.W. 108, 209 Wis. 474, and 245 N.W. 108, 209 Wis. 475.

49. Unincorporated association

(1) An unincorporated voluntary co-operative association is not entitled to maintain an action in its own name.—Newton County Farmers' & Fruit Growers' Exchange v. Kansas City Southern Ry. Co., App., 2 S.W. 2d 125, opinion adopted in part 31 S.W.2d 803, 326 Mo. 617.

(2) On default of a member of an unincorporated voluntary association the members thereof are entitled to sue him directly.—Idaho Apple Growers' Ass'n v. Brown, 7 P.2d 591, 51 Idaho 540.

Products raised by wife

An injunction against a member of a co-operative association on breach of a contract has been held not void because the member's wife, who raised products under an arrangement which was a device or subterfuge to avoid carrying out the marketing contract, was not a party.—Layne v. Commonwealth, 132 S.E. 306, 144 Va. 684.

Owner of products

(1) Members of co-operative marketing association could not recover damages therefrom in amount by which price of cotton, covered by warehouse receipts delivered by them to bank as security for debt, decreased between issuance and dissolution of injunction against selling cotton to others than association, where association was not advised of mortgage as contract required and the bank as owner of such cotton was not a party to the action. —Lennox v. Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n, Tex.Com.App., 55 S.W.2d 543, reversing Texas Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Lennox, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 331.

with respect to pleading,[50] and with respect to issues, proof, and variance.[51] Also general rules usually are applicable in such actions with respect to presumptions and burden of proof,[52] admissibility of evidence[53] and the weight and sufficiency thereof,[54] and with regard to matters relating to trial,

(2) Injunction held not to lie to restrain owner of ninety-eight per cent of stock of dairy corporation from breaching contract under co-operative marketing act, which contract was entered into between owner and dairy co-operative association, where legality of act of incorporation was not attacked, and no fraud was alleged or proved beyond preponderating ownership of stock, "corporation" being separate entity from stockholders composing it.—Rapides Dairy Dealers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Mathews, 158 So. 247.

50. Petition or complaint held sufficient

(1) In general.

Ala.—Warren v. Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Ass'n, 104 So. 264, 213 Ala. 61.

Tex.—Adkins v. Smithfield Unit of Texas Honey Ball Ass'n, Civ.App., 1 S.W.2d 725.

(2) In suit for injunction.

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Schulte, 216 P. 311, 113 Kan. 672.

Va.—Layne v. Commonwealth, 132 S. E. 306, 144 Va. 684.

Petition or complaint held insufficient

Cal.—Meyer v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, 109 P.2d 726, 42 Cal.App.2d 632.

Okl.—Cunningham v. Oklahoma Wheat Growers' Ass'n, 250 P. 71, 120 Okl. 19—Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n v. Salyer, 243 P. 232, 114 Okl. 77, followed in Carmichael v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 245 P. 598, 117 Okl. 24, and Hooven v. Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Ass'n, 247 P. 39, 118 Okl. 238.

Fraud

Answer alleging improper charges and disbursements sufficiently alleged fraud authorizing repudiation of contract and recovery of improper charge.—Brown v. Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 139 S.E. 417, 164 Ga. 712.

Amendment

In suit to recover assets alleged to be due a retiring member of co-operative marketing association, retiring member would be permitted to amend his petition to show whether association's by-laws provided for retirement of capital stock of withdrawing members.—Adams v. Sanford Growers Credit Corporation, 186 So. 239, 135 Fla. 513.

51. Tex.—Adkins v. Smithfield Unit of Texas Honey Ball Ass'n, Civ. App., 1 S.W.2d 725.

Proof of allegations

(1) Material allegations in the pleadings, unless admitted, must be proved in order to support the cause of action or defense set up, and plaintiff may recover only on the issues raised by the pleadings.

Cal.—Meyer v. California Prune & Apricot Growers' Ass'n, 109 P.2d 726, 42 Cal.App.2d 632.

N.Y.—Parker v. Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n, 226 N.Y.S. 226, 222 App.Div. 341.

N.C.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Chilton, 130 S.E. 312, 190 N.C. 602.

(2) Immaterial matters need not be proved.

Ill.—Farmers' Educational & Co-Operative Union of America, Illinois Division, v. Langlois, 258 Ill.App. 522.

Wash.—Washington Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Leifer, 232 P. 339, 132 Wash. 602.

52. Statute providing conclusive presumption

(1) A statute providing that products produced by a person on the land of a member, etc., are conclusively presumed to belong to the member has been held invalid.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Clark, 107 So. 115, 160 La. 294.

(2) However, it has been held within the power of the legislature to provide a conclusive presumption of a landlord's power to control delivery of products raised by tenants, etc., where the tenancy was created or the terms changed after the execution of the marketing contract.

Colo.—Wilson v. Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 260 P. 1080, 82 Colo. 428—Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bond, 252 P. 813, 80 Colo. 516.

Ky.—Feagain v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 261 S.W. 607, 202 Ky. 801.

(3) But provisions of this nature have been held not to apply to contracts existing at the time of enactment of the statute.—Staple Cotton Co-op. Ass'n v. Hemphill, 107 So. 24, 142 Miss. 298.

(4) Where such a statute is in force, a landlord who is a member of a co-operative association cannot show that he did not have control of delivery of products raised on his land.

Colo.—Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bond, supra.

Ky.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Daniels, 284 S.W. 399, 215 Ky. 67—Feagain v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, supra.

Burden of proof

The burden of proof is on plaintiff and defendant, respectively, to establish the material allegations of his cause of action or defense.

Cal.—Johanson v. Riverside County Select Groves, 40 P.2d 530, 4 Cal. App.2d 114—Rusconi v. California Fruit Exchange, 281 P. 84, 101 Cal. App. 750.

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Bridges, 1 P.2d 265, 133 Kan. 397.

Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Jewell, 280 S.W. 1105, 213 Ky. 272.

N.Y.—Frame v. Trenton Milk & Cream Co., 210 N.Y.S. 591, 125 Misc. 86.

Va.—Elmore v. Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers' Ass'n, 134 S.E. 472, 145 Va. 42.

Wash.—Washington Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Leifer, 232 P. 339, 132 Wash. 602.

Burden of going forward

Co-operative association's performance of contract to resell crop and pay additional sum to grower presumed, and payment made held prima facie proof of performance imposing burden on grower to excuse breach.—California Prune & Apricot Growers v. Baker, 246 P. 1081, 77 Cal.App. 393.

53. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Williams, 255 P. 751, 82 Cal.App. 434.

Evidence held admissible

Cal.—Placentia Co-op. Orange Growers' Ass'n v. Henning, 5 P.2d 444, 118 Cal.App. 487—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Williams, 255 P. 751, 82 Cal.App. 434.

Evidence held inadmissible

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Windhorst, 283 P. 638, 129 Kan. 528, modified on other grounds on rehearing 292 P. 777, 131 Kan. 423, order supplemented on second rehearing 294 P. 928, 132 Kan. 21—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Leslie, 271 P. 284, 126 Kan. 694.

S.C.—Burch v. South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 187 S.E. 422, 181 S.C. 295.

54. Evidence held sufficient

(1) In general.

Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Williams, 78 P.2d 1161, 11 Cal.2d 233—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harkey, 78 P.2d 1137, 11 Cal.2d 188—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Sanders, 261 P. 717, 86 Cal.App. 689—California Canning Peach Growers v. Downey, 243 P. 679, 76 Cal.App. 1.

Fla.—Adams v. Sanford Growers Credit Corporation, 9 So.2d 713, 151 Fla. 178.

judgment, and costs, in the absence of statutory or contractual provisions relating thereto.[55]

Damages. Loss of profits to a co-operative association solely from resale of products withheld by a member is not necessarily the measure of damages,[56] and the provisions of statutes, by-laws, or contracts with members authorizing liquidated damages against members on breach of their marketing contracts have been held not invalid,[57] and the association is entitled to recover damages in accordance with such provisions.[58] For a continuing breach of contract the damages may be calculated Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Schulte, 216 P. 311, 113 Kan. 672—Farmers' Union Co-op. Shipping Ass'n of Natoma v. Schultze, 212 P. 670, 112 Kan. 675.

Ky.—Rowland v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 270 S.W. 784, 208 Ky. 300.

(2) To show existence of valid contract.—Elmore v. Maryland & Virginia Milk Producers' Ass'n, 134 S.E. 472, 145 Va. 42.

(3) To show fraud.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Windhorst, 283 P. 638, 129 Kan. 528, modified on other grounds on rehearing 292 P. 777, 131 Kan. 423, order supplemented on second rehearing 294 P. 928, 132 Kan. 21.

(4) To show breach of contract.

Cal.—Milk Producers' Ass'n of San Diego County v. Webb, 275 P. 1001, 97 Cal.App. 650—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Sanders, 261 P. 717, 86 Cal.App. 689.

N.Y.—Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n v. Holmes, 202 N.Y.S. 663, 207 App.Div. 429, affirmed 147 N. E. 171, 239 N.Y.S. 503, reargument denied 147 N.E. 210, 239 N.Y. 596.

(5) To show damages.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Sanders, 261 P. 717, 86 Cal.App. 689.

(6) To sustain finding that lease taken by wife covering land theretofore leased to member of wheat growers' association was made in good faith.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Lucas, 278 P. 6, 128 Kan. 350.

Evidence held insufficient

(1) In general.

Cal.—California Canning Peach Growers v. Harris, 267 P. 572, 91 Cal.App. 654—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Sanders, 261 P. 717, 86 Cal.App. 689—California Canning Peach Growers v. Downey, 243 P. 679, 76 Cal.App. 1.

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Bridges, 1 P.2d 265, 133 Kan. 397—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Toothaker, 278 P. 716, 128 Kan. 469.

(2) To show membership or valid contract.

Cal.—Johanson v. Riverside County Select Groves, 40 P.2d 530, 4 Cal. App.2d 114.

Ill.—Farmers' Educational & Co-Operative Union of America, Illinois Division, v. Langlois, 258 Ill.App. 522.

Mich.—Edmore Marketing Ass'n v. Skinner, 227 N.W. 681, 248 Mich. 695.

N.C.—Pittman v. Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 121 S.E. 634, 187 N.C. 340.

Conclusiveness of certificate of organization committee with respect to compliance with conditions precedent to enforcement of contracts see supra § 7 c (1).

55. Questions held for jury

(1) In general.

Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904.

Fla.—Winter Garden Citrus Growers' Ass'n v. Willits, 151 So. 509, 113 Fla. 131.

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Leslie, 271 P. 284, 126 Kan. 694—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Loehr, 264 P. 735, 125 Kan. 491.

Me.—Cunningham v. Long, 135 A. 198, 125 Me. 494.

S.C.—Burch v. South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 187 S. E. 422, 181 S.C. 295.

(2) Performance of contract.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Samples, 284 S.W. 1069, 215 Ky. 276.

(3) Whether lease of land was in good faith or was subterfuge to avoid contract obligations.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Garnett, 278 P. 5, 128 Kan. 337—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Lucas, 262 P. 551, 124 Kan. 773.

Sufficiency of evidence to go to jury

Ark.—Arkansas Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Brown, 16 S.W.2d 177, 179 Ark. 338.

Ky.—Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Jewell, 280 S.W. 1105, 213 Ky. 272.

N.C.—Dunbar v. Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 130 S.E. 505, 190 N. C. 608.

Instruction held erroneous

Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v. Leslie, 271 P. 284, 126 Kan. 694.

Decree in injunction suit

The decree in a suit for an injunction to restrain a member of a co-operative association from selling his products through others than the association in violation of his membership contract should restrain the sale only of those products covered by the contract.—Pierce County Dairymen's Ass'n v. Templin, 215 P. 352, 124 Wash. 567.

Costs and attorney's fees

Under some statutes or contractual provisions, a co-operative association has been held entitled to attorney's fees in an action against a member for a breach of his marketing contract.

Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Sanders, 261 P. 717, 86 Cal.App. 689.

Ky.—Coyle v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 277 S.W. 318, 211 Ky. 162.

La.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-operative Ass'n v. Banister, 2 La.App. 620.

S.C.—South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. English, 133 S. E. 542, 135 S.C. 19.

56. N.H.—Manchester Dairy System v. Hayward, 132 A. 12, 82 N.H. 193.

57. Cal.—California Bean Growers' Ass'n v. Rindge Land & Navigation Co., 248 P. 658, 199 Cal. 168, 47 A.L.R. 904—Colma Vegetable Ass'n v. Bonetti, 267 P. 172, 91 Cal.App. 103.

Ind.—Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Robertson, 150 N.E. 106, 84 Ind.App. 51.

Iowa.—Clear Lake Co-op. Live Stock Shippers' Ass'n v. Weir, 206 N.W. 297, 200 Iowa 1293.

La.—Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-operative Ass'n v. Banister, 2 La.App. 620.

N.Y.—Parker v. Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n, 226 N.Y.S. 226, 222 App.Div. 341.

Ohio.—Burley Tobacco Grower's Co-Operative Ass'n v. Gardner, 25 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 1.

31 C.J. p 964 note 80.

Provision for liquidated damages on breach of co-operative marketing contract as not in nature of penalty see Damages §§ 108, 113 c.

Failure to fix definite sum

Provision of contract between co-operative association and producer, requiring producer's payment of sum not exceeding one-fifth of value of products withheld as liquidated damages, has been held void.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, rehearing denied 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

58. S.C.—South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. English, 133 S.E. 542, 135 S.C. 19.

from the date of the first breach to the date of trial.[59] In an action by a member against the association he cannot recover damages for loss on breach of the contract on vague evidence.[60]

b. Of, or against, Third Persons

The usual remedies generally are available for the protection and enforcement of right and liabilities between co-operative associations and third persons.

While a statute providing for liability to a co-operative association for merely buying or handling products under contract to such an association has been held invalid,[61] statutes authorizing an injunction or providing for civil liability to a co-operative association for inducing or attempting to induce a member to breach his marketing contract with such association have been held valid.[62] A co-operative association may sue, sometimes by virtue of statutory provisions, to enjoin and to recover damages from third persons contracting with members with respect to products covered by a marketing agreement or attempting to induce members to breach such agreement,[63] and, in an action to restrain a third person from interfering with contracts of members, defendants may not object that the contracts are ultra vires, since such questions may be raised only by the state or by a member of the association,[64] nor may they challenge the contracts on the ground of representations made by the association in procuring them,[65] although, where a member is a party to the suit, the member has a right to assert as a defense that the conduct of the association prevented his performance of the contract.[66]

A contract between a fruit grower's society and its members whereby they agree to deliver their fruit to a third person to whom the society has contracted to sell it is enforceable by the buyer in an action against the members;[67] and he is entitled to an injunction against sales by the members to others.[68] The action is not barred by the pendency of a suit by the society against the buyer on the contract between the two,[69] and a release of one of the members from his individual contract by

59. N.Y.—Parker v. Dairymen's League Co-op. Ass'n, 226 N.Y.S. 226, 222 App.Div. 341.

60. Wash.—Guglielmelli v. Walla Walla Gardeners' Ass'n, 288 P. 251, 157 Wash. 109, 77 A.L.R. 385.

Method of computation

Damages for breach of contract by cotton growers' association in closing out producer's account in option pool should be computed from price of cotton on future market at date producer exercised price fixation option, and not from price of spot cotton at that date.—Burch v. South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 187 S.E. 422, 181 S.C. 295.

61. Minn.—Minnesota Wheat Growers' Co-op. Marketing Ass'n v. Radke, 204 N.W. 314, 163 Minn. 403.

62. U.S.—Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Marketing Ass'n, 48 S.Ct. 291, 276 U.S. 71, 72 L.Ed. 473, affirming Liberty Warehouse Co. v. Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 271 S.W. 695, 208 Ky. 643.

Colo.—Fort v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 319, 81 Colo. 431, followed in Western Seed Co. v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 329, 81 Colo. 448.

Tex.—Hollingsworth v. Texas Hay Ass'n, Civ.App., 246 S.W. 1068.

Person conducting public warehouse

Under some statutes any person, firm, or corporation conducting a public tobacco warehouse is liable in a civil suit where he or it knowingly solicits or permits any member of any co-operative association to breach his marketing contract with the association, and a warehouse serving the public and selling loose leaf tobacco at auction is "public tobacco warehouse" within the statute.—Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Danville Warehouse Co., 132 S.E. 482, 144 Va. 456.

Product subject to marketing agreement

Under act prohibiting inducement of member to breach agreement with marketing association one knowingly inducing sale is liable unless such product is not subject to marketing agreement.—Loewer v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 22 S.W. 2d 17, 180 Ark. 484.

63. Cal.—California Grape Control Board v. California Produce Corporation, 40 P.2d 846, 4 Cal.App.2d 242.

Colo.—Wilson v. Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 260 P. 1080, 82 Colo. 428—Fort v. People, 256 P. 325, 81 Colo. 420—Monte Vista Potato Growers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Bond, 252 P. 813, 80 Colo. 516.

Wis.—Spencer Co-op. Live Stock Shipping Ass'n v. Schultz, 245 N.W. 99, 209 Wis. 344—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, rehearing denied 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391—Northern Wisconsin Co-op. Tobacco Pool v. Bekkedal, 197 N.W. 936, 182 Wis. 571.

Unclean hands

Defense that co-operative association, seeking to restrain interference with members' contracts had unclean hands was held not to warrant denial of relief.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., supra.

Influence or inducement

To make person liable who purchases rice from member of marketing association, evidence must show purchaser influenced or induced sale.—Loewer v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 22 S.W.2d 17, 180 Ark. 484.

64. R.I.—Local Dairymen's Co-op. Ass'n v. Potvin, 173 A. 535, 54 R.I. 430.

Wis.—Northern Wisconsin Co-Op. Tobacco Pool v. Bekkedal, 197 N.W. 936, 182 Wis. 571.

65. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., 225 N.W. 209, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391, rehearing denied 226 N.W. 378, 199 Wis. 379, 77 A.L.R. 391.

66. Wis.—Watertown Milk Producers' Co-op. Ass'n v. Van Camp Packing Co., supra.

67. Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 233 P. 547, 113 Or. 398—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 205 P. 970, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090, denying rehearing 201 P. 222, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090.

68. Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 205 P. 970, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090, denying rehearing 201 P. 222, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090.

69. Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 201 P. 222, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090, rehearing denied 205 P. 970, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090.

the buyer and the society does not release the other members from their contracts.[70] While an injunction will lie at the suit of a competitive buyer to restrain the enforcement of an invalid by-law imposing a charge on members for selling products to another than the association,[71] a third person seeking an injunction against an association to prevent its alleged unlawful interference with a private business is bound by general equitable principles regulating the granting of injunctions.[72] The transfer of stock by a co-operative association to members may be attacked in garnishment proceedings against the members because of fraud on creditors.[73] Under the practice in at least one jurisdiction, in an action to recover excess advances to an association which have been distributed to its members, plaintiff cannot be compelled to elect to discontinue the action either against the association's president or against the individual members.[74]

In the absence of special statutory provisions relating thereto, the usual rules apply in actions between a co-operative association or its members and third persons with respect to venue,[75] parties,[76] pleading,[77] and evidence.[78] Also, in the absence of

70. Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 201 P. 222, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090, rehearing denied 205 P. 970, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090.

71. Iowa.—Reeves v. Decorah Farmers' Co-op. Soc., 140 N.W. 844, 160 Iowa 194, 44 L.R.A.,N.S., 1104.

72. Ky.—Hy-Grade Dairies v. Falls City Milk Producers Ass'n, 86 S.W. 2d 1046, 261 Ky. 25.

Danger that conduct will continue

In suit by milk distributor to enjoin co-operative milk distributing association from interfering with his business, plaintiff was entitled to injunction restraining association from doing specific and definable acts interfering with plaintiff's procuring milk from nonmembers of association, provided danger existed that such acts of association would be repeated.—Hy-Grade Dairies v. Falls City Milk Producers Ass'n, supra.

73. Idaho.—Associated Fruit Co. v. Idaho-Oregon Fruit Growers' Ass'n, 256 P. 99, 44 Idaho 200.

74. N.Y.—Mandell v. Moses, 198 N. Y.S. 583, 204 App.Div. 655.

75. Where association has principal office

A statute authorizing the bringing of an action by a co-operative association against a third person alleged to have interfered with a contract between the association and a member in the county where the co-operative association had its principal office has been held not invalid.—State ex rel. Sayiesville Cheese Mfg. Co. v. Zimmerman, 265 N.W. 856, 220 Wis. 682, appeal dismissed 57 S.Ct. 18, 299 U.S. 504, 81 L.Ed. 374.

76. U.S.—Lake Charles Rice Milling Co. v. Pacific Rice Growers' Ass'n, C.C.A.Cal., 295 F. 246, certiorari denied Pacific Rice Growers' Ass'n v. Lake Charles Rice Milling Co., 45 S.Ct. 90, 266 U.S. 602, 69 L.Ed. 462.

Necessary parties

(1) Co-operative association members, from whom others purchased products in violation of sellers' agency contracts with association, have been held not necessary parties to latters' action against purchasers for injunction and damages.—Spencer Co-op. Live Stock Shipping Ass'n v. Schultz, 245 N.W. 99, 209 Wis. 344.

(2) In an action against a co-operative association by a vendor of property under contracts requiring the purchaser of the property to market the produce through the association, the right of the purchaser to an offset will not be determined where the vendor shows no interest therein as to justify such adjudication, the purchaser not being a party to the action.—Davidson v. Apple Growers Ass'n, 79 P.2d 991, 159 Or. 473.

77. Allegations and proof of right to recover

(1) A vendor of property, to whom proceeds of sale of produce through the association were to be paid, has been held not entitled to recover a proportionate amount owing from the association for profits realized by the association in the absence of allegations and proof of the amount due.—Davidson v. Apple Growers Ass'n, supra.

(2) In action against co-operative milk distributing association for wrongful diversion from plaintiff of milk produced by nonmembers of association, plaintiff to recover must show that, but for wrongful act of association, he would have procured sufficient milk to meet needs and hence was damaged by association's act.—Hy-Grade Dairies v. Falls City Milk Producers Ass'n, 86 S.W.2d 1046, 261 Ky. 25.

Complaint or petition held sufficient

(1) In general.

U.S.—Lake Charles Rice Milling Co. v. Pacific Rice Growers' Ass'n, C.C. A.Cal., 295 F. 246, certiorari denied Pacific Rice Growers' Ass'n v. Lake Charles Rice Milling Co., 45 S.Ct. 90, 266 U.S. 602, 69 L.Ed. 462.

Tex.—Baker v. Farmers' Welfare Union, Civ.App., 3 S.W.2d 155.

(2) To warrant restraining order without notice.—Fort v. Co-Operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 319, 81 Colo. 431, followed in Western Seed Co. v. Co-operative Farmers' Exchange, 256 P. 329, 81 Colo. 448.

Bill held insufficient

Md.—Madonna & Shawsville Co-op. Co. of Harford County v. West, 176 A. 611, 168 Md. 95.

78. Burden of proof

(1) The rescission of a contract between the society and its members is an affirmative defense to an action by a third person thereon and the burden of proving it rests on the members.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 201 P. 222, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090, rehearing denied 205 P. 970, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090.

(2) Where directors defend an action against them for indebtedness of the association because it exceeded its debt limit on the ground that seller knew that association had exceeded its limit of indebtedness, the burden of proof is on the directors. —Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, 94 S.W.2d 645, 264 Ky. 338.

Admissibility of evidence

(1) In general.—Loewer v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 22 S. W.2d 17, 180 Ark. 484.

(2) In co-operative marketing association's action against a wool dealer to recover damages for conversion of wool purchased from growers who were members of association, evidence that association acted only as a broker in former years because of federal government's mortgages on wool which was inconsistent with present assertion of ownership was admissible under contention that association was estopped by its conduct from asserting title to wool.—Pacific Wool Growers v. Draper & Co., 73 P.2d 1391, 158 Or. 1.

Evidence held sufficient

Cal.—Robinson v. Harry, 46 P.2d 806, 7 Cal.App.2d 312—Loomis Fruit Growers' Ass'n v. California Fruit Exchange, 16 P.2d 1040, 128 Cal. App. 265.

Ky.—Hy-Grade Dairies v. Falls City Milk Producers Ass'n, 86 S.W.2d 1046, 261 Ky. 25.

Mo.—Recording Themometer Co. v. Missouri Fruit Exchange, App., 46 S.W.2d 191.

special regulations, general rules apply with respect to trial[79] and judgments.[80]

Damages. Although the members have disposed of their fruit to others, jurisdiction of an action by the buyer against them for injunction against sales to others may be retained in equity for the award of damages, and the buyer is entitled to recover the difference between the price of fruit sold to others and the lesser amount that he agreed to pay, although the impracticability of ascertaining probable profits may preclude recovery therefor;[81] and, where a third person contracting with the association is charged with the authority of the association is agent of the growers, the growers are liable only for the damages specified on failure to deliver their produce to such third person.[82] Producers are not liable for a penalty imposed by contract where they did not promise to pay the penalty and the evidence shows that they did not become members of the association.[83]

The damages that may be recovered from a person inducing, attempting to induce, or aiding in a breach of a marketing agreement between a co-operative association and a member thereof must be proved and reasonably sustained by evidence, and the association is not entitled to judgment for the actual value of the products purchased from a member.[84]

INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE. See the C.J.S. title Insurance § 20, also 31 C.J. p 966 note 1–p 974 note 5.

INDUSTRIAM, PER. Latin, literally "By industry." A qualified property in animals feræ naturæ may be acquired by man "per industriam," that is by reclaiming and making them tame by art, industry, and education, or by so confining them within his own immediate power that they cannot escape and use their natural liberty.[1]

INDUSTRY. The art, skill, and knowledge of a person in the practice of his profession or trade;[2] habitual diligence in any employment, either bodily or mental;[3] also any department or branch of art, occupation, or business, especially one which employs much labor and capital and is a distinct branch of trade, as the sugar industry;[4] that branch of trade employing capital and labor;[5] a particular branch of work; a trade; manufacture; occupation or labor employed in agriculture, arts, manufactures, and commerce; productive labor, specifically Wis.—Wesemann v. Watertown Milk Co-op. Ass'n, 269 N.W. 246, 222 Wis. 475.

Evidence held insufficient

(1) In general.—Davidson v. Apple Growers Ass'n, 79 P.2d 991, 159 Or. 473.

(2) To show defendant induced member of marketing association to sell products in violation of rules.—Loewer v. Arkansas Rice Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 22 S.W.2d 17, 180 Ark. 484.

79. Sufficiency of evidence to go to jury

Ky.—Federal Chemical Co. v. Paddock, 94 S.W.2d 645, 264 Ky. 338.

Questions of fact held for jury

Or.—Pacific Wool Growers v. Draper & Co., 73 P.2d 1391, 158 Or. 1.

Instructions must conform to the issues and evidence

Mich.—David Stott Flour Mills v. Saginaw County Farm Bureau, 213 N.W. 147, 237 Mich. 657.

80. Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 233 P. 547, 113 Or. 398.

Joint judgment

Where liability of members of association to a third person is joint, a single judgment against all the members is proper.—Mandell v. Moses, 205 N.Y.S. 254, 209 App.Div. 531, affirmed 147 N.E. 192, 239 N.Y. 555.

Restraining order not too broad or ambiguous

An order restraining defendants from interfering in any manner with the contracts of plaintiff, or with plaintiff's business matters, and from buying or attempting to buy tobacco, from persons having contracted to sell to plaintiff, or from receiving or attempting to receive tobacco under contract was held not invalid, as too general and ambiguous.—Northern Wisconsin Co-op. Tobacco Pool v. Bekkedal, 197 N.W. 936, 182 Wis. 571.

Enforcement

A joint personal judgment against the members of a co-operative association is collectable from the property of the members served or any of them.—Mandell v. Cole, 155 N.E. 106, 244 N.Y. 221, reversing 216 N.Y.S. 870, 217 App.Div. 800.

Statute applicable only to members

A statute authorizing a judgment for penalties, costs of executing a bond, and attorney's fees has been held applicable only to judgments against members of a co-operative association.—Coyle v. Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-op. Ass'n, 277 S.W. 318, 211 Ky. 162.

81. Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 201 P. 222, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090, rehearing denied 205 P. 970, 103 Or. 514, 25 A.L.R. 1090.

82. Or.—Phez Co. v. Salem Fruit Union, 233 P. 547, 113 Or. 398.

83. Cal.—Co-operative Dairymen's League v. Hansen, 73 P.2d 627, 23 Cal.App.2d 493.

84. Wis.—Neillsville Shipping Ass'n v. Lastofka, 274 N.W. 280, 225 Wis. 280.

1. Black L.D.

2. Puerto Rico.—People v. Beauchamp, 25 Puerto Rico 559, 561—People v. Gillies, 20 Puerto Rico 467, 471.

3. Mont.—Carver Mercantile Co. v. Hulme, 19 P. 213, 214, 7 Mont. 566.
Okl.—Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co. v. State, 201 P. 260, 264, 83 Okl. 161.

4. Ariz.—Southern Pac. Co. v. State Corporation Commission, 3 P.2d 518, 521, 39 Ariz. 1.
Ill.—People v. Maggi, 39 N.E.2d 317, 318, 378 Ill. 595.
Okl.—Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. State, 201 P. 260, 264, 83 Okl. 161.
Wash.—Dessen v. Department of Labor and Industries of Washington, 66 P.2d 867, 869, 190 Wash. 69.

5. Ill.—People ex rel. Padula v. Hughes, 16 N.E.2d 922, 924, 296 Ill.App. 587.

labor employed in manufacturing; the result of operations whereby man changes and makes fit for his use materials which were unserviceable in their natural state, in which sense industry is the opposite of "agriculture" and "commerce."[6]

The term has been held synonymous with "employment" see 30 C.J.S. p 234 note 67; and has been compared with, or distinguished from, "agricultural pursuit,"[7] "commerce" see Commerce 15 C.J.S. p 251 in Pocket Parts, "domestic employment" see 27 C.J.S. p 1321 note 85, "labor,"[8] and "plant."[9]

Within the purview of municipal zoning regulations see the C.J.S. title Municipal Corporations § 226, also 43 C.J. p 340 note 29, and of compensation statutes see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts § 36, also 71 C.J. p 381 notes 88, 89.

Phrases employing the word are set out in the note.[10]

INEBRIATE. As a noun defined generally as an habitual drunkard see Drunkards § 1 a note 20; and with particular refcrence to mental capacity see the C.J.S. title Insane Persons § 1 d, also 32 C.J. p 623 notes 93, 94; and compared with "addict" see 1 C.J. S. p 1453 note 37.

As an adjective, drunk; habitually given to drink; intoxicated; stupified.[11]

As a verb, to intoxicate; to make drunk.[12]

INEBRIATION and INEBRIETY. Act of inebriating, or condition of being inebriated; drunkenness; intoxication.[13] The terms are expressive of that state or condition which inevitably follows from taking into the body by swallowing, or drinking, excessive quantities of intoxicating liquors, and are said to be nearly synonymous with "intoxication."[14]

INE, CODE OF. A code of the West Saxons dating from 688 to 695. Adopted by Alford, probably with alterations.[15]

INEFFECTUAL. Inefficient; ineffective; not producing the proper or usual effect; useless; without effect.[16] The term has been distinguished from "void."[17]

INEFFICIENCY. Inadequacy; incompetency;

6. Puerto Rico.—People v. Beauchamp, 25 Puerto Rico 559, 561—People v. Gillies, 20 Puerto Rico 467, 470.

In economics

"Economic science operates logically in limiting the meaning of the word industry, confining it exclusively to the skill of man as a direct producer of wealth and not to man as an active being generally or to man in the exercise of all the faculties . . . and in the infinite variety of its applications it is not rare that the word industry is used to designate the aggregate or result of human labor without distinction of kind."—People v. Beauchamp, 25 Puerto Rico 559, 561—People v. Gillies, 20 Puerto Rico 467, 470.

Similarly expressed

"Occupation or labor employed in agriculture, manufacturing, commerce or mechanical arts."—People v. Beauchamp, 25 Puerto Rico 559, 561—People v. Gillies, 20 Puerto Rico 467, 470.

Defined in Australian statute

"'Industry' means business, trade, manufacture, undertaking, calling, service, or employment, on land or water, in which persons are employed for pay, hire, advantage, or reward, excepting only persons engaged in domestic service, and persons engaged in agricultural, viticultural, horticultural, or dairying pursuits."—Federated Engine-Drivers, etc., Assoc. v. Broken Hill Proprietary Co., Ltd., 12 Austr.C.L.R. 398, 408—31 C.J. p 974 note 7 [b].

7. Puerto Rico.—People v. Beauchamp, 25 Puerto Rico 559, 562.

8. Distinction discussed

"In order to avoid confusion and error the word 'industry' is also given a meaning which is not admitted by economic science. In fact, this word is very frequently used as a synonym of labor, when, in reality, these two words have clearly distinct meanings. By labor is understood the pure and simple exercise of the physical forces or the intellectual faculties of man. Hence, when the exercise of these forces or faculties is sufficient to produce wealth, it may be said indiscriminately that the man labors or that he conducts an industry. But this rarely occurs. Generally, in order to produce, not only is labor necessary, but also the combination with it of capital and all natural agencies. Production is, therefore, the result of a unity of combinations of which labor is only one of the elements."—People v. Beauchamp, 25 Puerto Rico 559, 561—People v. Gillies, 20 Puerto Rico 467, 470.

9. Ariz.—Southern Pac. Co. v. State Corporation Commission, 3 P.2d 518, 521, 39 Ariz. 1.

10. Phrases construed

(1) "Any industry."—Federated Engine-Drivers, etc., Assoc. v. Broken Hill Proprietary Co., Ltd., 12 Austr.C.L.R. 398, 408.

(2) "In or upon any new industry."—Rex v. Disney, 14 Can.Cr.Cas. 152, 158.

(3) "'Joint industry' of husband and wife," as meaning the industry of a husband and wife, each in his or her recognized sphere of marital activity, as distinguished from industry in the same course of employment and endeavor.—In re Stone, 206 P. 246, 248, 86 Okl. 33.

(4) "Other industry," as referring to an industry different from those already specifically named.—Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co. v. State, 201 P. 260, 264, 83 Okl. 161.

(5) "Within the plant or industry."—Southern Pac. Co. v. State Corporation Commission, 3 P.2d 518, 521, 39 Ariz. 1.

11. Webster New Int.D.
"Habitual drunkenness" defined see Drunkards § 1 b notes 31–34.

12. Webster New Int.D.

13. Webster New Int.D.

14. Ala.—Standard Life & Acc. Ins. Co. v. Jones, 10 So. 530, 94 Ala. 434, 441.
Ga.—Ring v. Ring, 38 S.E. 330, 332, 112 Ga. 854.
Mass.—Commonwealth v. Whitney, 11 Cush. 477, 479.
Neb.—Freeburg v. State, 138 N.W. 143, 144, 92 Neb. 346, Ann.Cas. 1913E 1101.

15. Black L.D.

16. Webster New Int.D.
N.Y.—Peck v. Ormsby, 8 N.Y.S. 372, 373, 55 Hun 265.

17. Mo.—Noll v. Alexander, 282 S. W. 739, 742.

lack of efficiency.[18] The word has been held sufficiently broad to include inability to read and write the English language.[19]

INEFFICIENT. Inadequate, incapable, incompetent, not producing or capable of producing the desired effect;[20] not efficient.[21] The antonym of "efficient."[22]

INELIGIBILITY. Disqualification or legal incapacity to be elected to an office; it may arise from various causes, and may be perpetual or temporary.[23]

INELIGIBLE. Not eligible, not qualified to be chosen to an office.[24] The term may mean disqualification to hold office as well as disqualification to be elected to an office.[25]

It is synonymous with "disqualified."[26]

"Ineligible" to citizenship under statute relating to loss of citizenship see Citizens § 16; and "ineligible" within meaning of statute relating to election board see Elections § 58.

IN EO, QUOD PLUS SIT, SEMPER INEST ET MINUS.[27]

IN EO QUOD VEL IS QUI PETIT, VEL IS A QUO PETITUR A LUCRI FACTUS EST, DURIOR CAUSA EST PETITORIS.[28]

IN EQUALI JURE MELIOR EST CONDITIO POSSIDENTIS.[29]

INEQUALITY. Disparity, disproportion, diversity, quality of being unequal, want of equality in any respect.[30] In its legal and constitutional sense, as when speaking of inequalities in taxation or assessment, the term refers to substantial, rather than accidental and unintentional, differences, usually in connection with large classes of property rather than cases of individual hardship, and to differences in the system or method of assessing or taxing such property which results in discriminations therein.[31]

"Inequality" of taxation generally see the C.J.S. title Taxation §§ 25–38, also 61 C.J. p 110 note 12–p 137 note 9.

INEQUITABLE. Not according to the principles of equity, not equitable, unjust.[32] "Inequitable" has been held synonymous with the phrase "fraud or fraudulent" see 37 C.J.S. p 199 note 38 (13); with "fraudulent" see 37 C.J.S. p 835 note 5, and "unconscientious."[33] Doctrine of inequitable conduct as bar to divorce see Divorce § 67 b (1); and inequitable and unconscionable transactions within exclusive jurisdiction of equity see Equity § 50 b.

INERT. Not having or manifesting active properties;[34] also useless.[35]

INERTIA. Defined as that property of matter by which it tends when at rest to remain so, and when in motion to continue in motion and in a straight line or direction unless acted on by some external force.[36]

18. Century D.

19. Tex.—Steinback v. . Galveston, Civ.App., 41 S.W. 822, 824.

20. U.S.—Spotts v. Baltimore & O. R. Co., C.C.A.Ind., 102 F.2d 160, 162.
N.M.—Thayer v. Denver & R. G. R. Co., 185 P. 542, 545, 25 N.M. 559.

21. N.M.—Thayer v. Denver & R. G. R. Co., supra.

22. N.M.—Thayer v. Denver & R. G. R. Co., supra.
"Efficient" defined see 28 C.J.S. p 840 notes 35–51.

23. Black L.D.
"Ineligibility" within meaning of statute permitting governor to fill vacancies caused by ineligibility of member of levy court see Counties § 75.
Ineligibility of candidate:
Generally as ground for election contest see Elections § 249.
Nominated at party primary as constituting vacancy see Elections § 93.

24. Ind.—Carroll v. Green, 47 N.E. 223, 224, 148 Ind. 362.
31 C.J. p 975 note 29.
"Eligible" defined see 29 C.J.S. p 663 note 69–p 664 note 98.

25. Wis.—State v. Murray, 28 Wis. 96, 99, 9 Am.R. 489.

26. Ind.—Carroll v. Green, 47 N.E. 223, 224, 148 Ind. 362.

27. A maxim meaning "In the greater is always included the less also."—Black L.D.

Similarly rendered
"The greater always includes the less."—Wharton L.Lex.

28. A maxim meaning "In that which either he who seeks, or he from whom it is sought for the sake of gain, the cause of the applicant is the harder."—Morgan Leg.Max.

29. A maxim meaning "In case of equal right, the condition of the party in possession is the better one," as applied in Fisk v. Potter, 2 Abb. Dec., N.Y., 138, 147, 2 Keyes 64, 75.

30. Webster New Int.D.

31. U.S.—Railroad & Telephone Cos. v. Tennessee Bd. of Equalizers, C. C.Tenn., 85 Fed. 302, 306.

32. Century D.

"Inequitable conduct"
Construed as consisting in doing acts, or omitting things, or making representations, tending naturally to deceive as to the true interpretation of a contract, which the court finds to be unconscionable.—American Fruit Product Co. v. Barrett, 128 N. W. 1009, 1011, 113 Minn. 22.

33. U.S.—The Ottumwa Belle, D.C. Iowa, 78 F. 643, 648.

34. Webster New Int.D.

35. U.S.—U. S. v. Thirty Dozen Packages of Roach Food, D.C.Md., 202 F. 271, 273.

36. Mo.—Byars v. St. Louis Public Service Co., 66 S.W.2d 894, 899, 334 Mo. 278.

Stated in other words
"Inertia is a purely negative though universal property of matter. It is the property that matter cannot of itself change its own state of motion or of rest. If a body is at rest it remains so until some force acts upon it; if it is in motion this motion can only be changed by the application of some force. This property of inertia is what is ex-

IN ESSE. See In 42 C.J.S. p 488 notes 95–97.

IN ESSE POTEST DONATIONI, MODUS, CONDITIO, SIVE CAUSA; UT, MODUS EST; SI, CONDITIO; QUIA, CAUSA.[37]

INEST DE JURE. Latin, it is implied of right; it is implied by law.[38]

INEVITABLE. The word must be considered as a relative term, and construed not absolutely, but reasonably, with regard to the circumstances of each particular case.[39] It has been defined as meaning fortuitous; incapable of being avoided; transcending the power of human care, foresight, or exertion to avoid or prevent, and therefore suspending legal relations so far as to excuse from the performance of contract obligations or from liability for consequent loss;[40] and is sometimes used, not as something bound to happen at all events, but as highly probable.[41]

The term has been held synonymous with "unavoidable."[42]

Phrases employing the word are set out in the note.[43]

INEWARDUS. A guard; a watchman.[44]

INEXCUSABLE. Not admitting excuse or justification; not excusable.[45]

IN EXECUTIONE SENTENTIÆ, ALIBI LATÆ, SERVARE JUS LOCI IN QUO FIT EXECUTIO; NON UBI RES JUDICATA.[46]

IN EXPOSITIONE INSTRUMENTORUM, MALA GRAMMATICA, QUOD FIERI POTEST, VITANDA EST.[47]

IN EXTREMIS. See Extremis 35 C.J.S. p 378 note 13, and In 42 C.J.S. p 385 note 64 and p 488 notes 90, 98.

IN FACT. See Fact 35 C.J.S. p 386 note 37 and In 42 C.J.S. p 477 notes 93, 94.

IN FACTO QUOD SE HABET AD BONUM ET MALUM MAGIS DE BONO QUAM DE MALO LEX INTENDIT.[48]

INFALISTATUS. In old English law, exposed upon the sands or seashore; the name of a species of punishment mentioned in Hengham.[49]

INFALLIBLE. Not fallible unerring, inerrable;[50] indubitable, sure, certain, not capable of erring, entirely exempt from liability to mistake.[51] The word implies something that never fails and that is certain of operation, incapable of error, and free from pressed by Newton's first law of motion."—Byars v. St. Louis Public Service Co., supra.

37. A maxim meaning "In a gift there may be a manner, condition, or cause; as ut introduces a manner; si, a condition; quia, a cause."—Black L.D.

38. Black L.D.

39. U.S.—Alliance Ins. Co. v. The Morning Light, N.Y., 2 Wall. 550, 560, 17 L.Ed. 862.
31 C.J. p 975 note 45.

40. Black L.D.

41. Kan.—Bradley v. Burgess, 198 P. 967, 969, 109 Kan. 347.

42. Ga.—Fish v. Chapman, 2 Ga. 349, 356, 46 Am.D. 393—Early v. Hampton, 82 S.E. 669, 671, 15 Ga. App. 95.

43. Phrases construed

(1) "Inevitable accident," defined generally and construed as equivalent to, or distinguished from, several other terms see 1 C.J.S. p 440 note 99–p 442 note 14; and more specifically as affecting tenant's liability to repair premises under covenant of lease at termination of tenancy see the C.J.S. title Landlord and Tenant § 412, also 36 C.J. p 200 note 68; or as used in the law of negligence see the C.J.S. title Negligence § 21, also 45 C.J. p 733 note 50–p 735 note 64.

(2) "Inevitable casualty" defined see 14 C.J.S. p 30 note 77, and compared with, or distinguished from, act of God see 1 C.J.S. p 1431 note 21.

(3) "Inevitable dangers of the river" see 25 C.J.S. p 999 note 69.

(4) "Inevitable difficulty" see 26 C.J.S. p 1306 note 81.

(5) "Inevitable necessity," authorizing a departure from a rule adopted to determine the line of a boundary of land held to refer to, or mean an impossibility of locating the lines in accordance with the rule.—Davis v. Commonwealth Land & Lumber Co., 141 F. 740, 755.

44. Black L.D.

45. Webster New Int.D.

Phrases construed

(1) "Inexcusable fault."—Montreal Tramways Co. v. Savignax, 27 Que. K.B. 246, 252—31 C.J. p 976 note 61 [a].

(2) "Inexcusable neglect."
Cal.—Hallett v. Slaughter, 140 P.2d 3, 6.
Tex.—American Casualty & Life Co. v. Malone, Civ.App., 168 S.W.2d 286, 288.
See specifically the C.J.S. titles Judgments §§ 280, 282, also 34 C.J. p 296 notes 3–8, p 302 note 58–p 310 note 93, p 363 note 46; and New Trial § 82, also 46 C.J. p 215 note 87–p 217 note 13.

46. A maxim meaning "In the execution of a judgment, otherwise extensive, the law of the place where the execution takes effect; not where the matter was adjudged shall prevail."—Tayler L.Gloss.

47. A maxim meaning "In the construction of instruments, bad grammar is to be avoided as much as possible."—Black L.D.
Applied in Finch's Case, 6 Coke 38b, 39b, 77 Reprint 310.

48. A maxim meaning "In an action which addresses itself to good and bad, the law looks more to the good than to the bad."—Wharton L. Lex.

Similarly rendered

"In an act or deed which admits of being considered as both good and bad, the law intends more from the good than from the bad; the law makes the more favorable construction."—Black L.D.

49. Black L.D.

50. Webster New Int.D.

51. U.S.—U. S. v. 237½ Bottles, 35-cent size, and 12½ Dozen Bottles, 70-cent size, of an Article of Drugs Labeled in Part "Lee's Save the Baby," D.C.Conn., 44 F.2d 831, 835.

uncertainty or liability to failure.[52]

It is not synonymous with "invaluable."[53]

INFAMADOR. In Spanish law, a defamer, slanderer, libeler.[54]

INFAMIA. In Latin, infamy, ignominy or disgrace.[55]

In Spanish law, the loss of standing, status, honor, and reputation. It was formerly, but is no longer, imposed as a penalty.[56]

INFAMIS. Latin, in Roman law, a person whose right of reputation was diminished, involving the loss of some of the rights of citizenship, either on account of his infamous avocation or because of conviction for crime.[57]

INFAMOUS. Primarily, without fame or good report;[58] hence in its general or common use, detestable, held in abhorrence, odious;[59] shameful or disgraceful.[60] The term "infamous" has been said to have a technical import more extensive than mere degradation or reproach.[61]

It has been held synonymous with "base" see 9 C.J.S. p 1553 note 15, "detestable,"[62] "disgraceful" see 27 C.J.S. p 146 note 66, "ignominious" see 42 C.J.S. p 378 note 50, "odious,"[63] "scandalous,"[64] "shameful,"[65] and "vile."[66]

Infamous punishment. A term which is said to embrace incarceration in a state prison[67] or in a penitentiary with or without hard labor.[68] It may include disqualification for office, if inflicted as a punishment for crime.[69]

Imprisonment in penitentiary for any term as infamous punishment see Criminal Law § 1974. Infamous punishment as used in extradition treaties see Extradition § 26 note 36; and in the law of libel see Libel and Slander § 53, also 36 C.J. p 1193 note 42–p 1196 note 90.

Other phrases employing the word are set out in the note.[70]

INFAMY. Loss of character, public disgrace;[71] that state which is produced by the conviction of crime and loss of honor;[72] that state of incompetency implying such a dereliction of moral princi-

52. U.S.—Hercules Powder Co. v Newton, D.C.N.Y., 254 F. 906, 907, affirmed, C.C.A., 266 F. 169, 171.

Used in describing smokeless powder

The term conveys "the idea that the smokeless powder will invariably do its work, or, putting the thought in another way, that it can be used with certainty for the purpose for which it is desired."—Hercules Powder Co. v. Newton, supra.

53. U.S.—U. S. v. 23 1/12 Dozen Bottles, 35-cent size, and 12 2/3 Dozen Bottles, 70-cent size, of an Article of Drugs Labeled in Part "Lee's Save the Baby," D.C.Conn., 44 F. 2d 831, 835.

54. Escriche Diccionario.

55. Black L.D.

"Infamia facti"

The infamy existing where one is supposed to be guilty of an infamous crime, but it has not been judicially proved.—Commonwealth v. Green, 17 Mass. 515, 541.

"Infamia juris"

Infamy established by law as the consequence of crime.—Commonwealth v. Green, supra.

56. Escriche Diccionario.

57. Black L.D.

58. U.S.—U. S. v. Block, D.C.Or., 24 F.Cas.No.14,609, 4 Sawy. 211, 212.

59. Pa.—Davis v. Carey, 8 Pa.Co. 578, 580.

60. Or.—Stevens v. Wilber, 300 P. 329, 330, 136 Or. 599.

61. Ky.—Sodusky v. McGee, 5 J.J. Marsh. 621, 622.

62. Ind.—Polson v. Polson, 39 N.E. 498, 499, 140 Ind. 310.

63. Ind.—Polson v. Polson, supra.

64. Ind.—Polson v. Polson, supra.

65. Ind.—Polson v. Polson, supra.

66. Ind.—Polson v. Polson, supra.

67. U.S.—Ex parte Wilson, Ark., 5 S.Ct. 935, 940, 941, 114 U.S. 417, 428, 29 L.Ed. 89.
31 C.J. p 977 note 81.

68. U.S.—Mackin v. U. S., Ill., 6 S. Ct. 777, 779, 117 U.S. 348, 29 L.Ed. 909.
31 C.J. p 977 note 82.

Sentence to hard labor not indispensable

"It is not necessary, to make a punishment infamous, that the law shall require that the party should in terms be sentenced to hard labor. If, under the law, he may be sentenced to a state-prison or penitentiary, either with or without hard labor, his punishment is infamous."—Ex parte McClusky, C.C.Ark., 40 F. 71, 73.

69. Ill.—People v. Kipley, 49 N.E. 229, 239, 171 Ill. 44, 41 L.R.A. 775.

70. Phrases construed

(1) "Conviction of infamous crime" see the C.J.S. titles Divorce § 23, as ground for divorce; Executors and Administrators § 46 e, as rendering person incompetent to become administrator, and § 84 c, as ground for revocation of letters of administration; Officers § 24, also 46 C.J. p 949 note 3 [a]–[c], as affecting eligibility to public office; Witnesses §§ 65–68, also 70 C.J. p 105 note 23–p 117 note 57, as affecting competency of witness, and § 507, also 70 C.J. p 850 note 6, impeachment of witness by proof of conviction of infamous crime.

(2) "'Infamous and disgraceful' conduct."—In re Telford, 11 B.C. 355, 359—31 C.J. p 976 note 76 [b].

(3) "Infamous conduct in any professional respect."—Allinson v. General Council Medical Education, etc., [1894] 1 Q.B. 760, 763—31 C.J. p 976 note 76 [a].

(4) "Infamous crime" generally see Criminal Law § 3; and within constitutional requirement of presentment or indictment by grand jury see Indictments and Informations § 9.

(5) "Infamous crime against nature" see the C.J.S. title Sodomy § 1, also 58 C.J. p 788 note 4.

(6) "Infamous persons," defined to be "such persons as may be challenged as juror propter delictum, and therefore shall never be admitted to give evidence to inform the jury, with whom they were too scandalous to associate."—McCafferty v. Guyer, 59 Pa. 109, 116, quoting 3 Blackstone Comm. p 370.

71. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Shaver, 3 Watts & S. 338, 343.

72. Ind.T.—Williams v. U. S., 69 S. W. 849, 852, 4 Ind.T. 204.

ple as carries with it a conclusion of a total disregard to the obligation of an oath.[73]

INFANCY. See Infants § 1.

INFANGENTHEF. In old English law, a privilege of lords of certain manors to judge any thief taken within their fee.[74]

INFANS. Latin, a civil law term signifying a child under the age of seven years, see Infants § 1.

INFANS EST QUIA, PROPTER DEFECTUM ÆTATIS, PRO SE FARI NEQUEAT.[75]

INFANS NON MULTUM A FURIOSO DISTAT.[76]

INFANTADO or INFANTAZGO. In Spanish law, the state of infancy; also the territory set aside for the support of a son or daughter of the sovereign.[77]

INFANTE. In Spanish law a minor under seven years, whether male or female. Under the Spanish monarchy, the term "infante" was applied to the legitimate son of the sovereign; and "infanta" to his daughter or to the wife of the "infante."[78]

INFANTES DE DAMNO PRÆSTARE TENENTUR, DE PŒNA NON ITEM.[79]

INFANTIA. Latin, in the civil law, the period of infancy between birth and the age of seven years.[80]

INFANTICIDE and INFANTICIDIO. See Homicide § 2.

73. Kan.—State v. Clark, 56 P. 767, 768, 60 Kan. 450.

Classification

"There are two kinds of infamy; the one founded in the opinions of the people respecting the mode of punishment; the other in the construction of law respecting the future credibility of the delinquent."—Ex parte Wilson, Ark., 5 S.Ct. 935, 937, 114 U.S. 417, 29 L.Ed. 89.

Scope of term

"Infamy extends to forgery, perjury, gross cheats, &c., and disables a man to be a witness or juror."—Commonwealth v. Shaver, 3 Watts & S., Pa., 338, 342.

74. Black L.D.

75. A maxim meaning "He is an infant who, on account of defect of age, can not speak for himself."—Morgan Leg.Max.

76. A maxim meaning "An infant does not differ much from a lunatic."—Black L.D.

77. Escriche Diccionario.

78. Escriche Diccionario.

79. A maxim meaning "Infants are sometimes obliged to performance involving loss, but never punishment."—Morgan Leg.Max.

80. Black L.D.

INFANTS

This Title includes persons not of full age; their rights and disabilities in general; judicial control and protection of their persons and property; and legal proceedings affecting them.

Matters not in this Title, treated elsewhere in this work, see Descriptive-Work Index

Analysis

I. WHO ARE INFANTS, §§ 1–3

II. CUSTODY AND PROTECTION, §§ 4–18

III. PRIVILEGES AND DISABILITIES GENERALLY, §§ 19–30

IV. PROPERTY AND CONVEYANCES, §§ 31–70
- A. Property Rights Generally, §§ 31–35
- B. Acquisition and Alienation of Property, §§ 36–56
  1. General Rules, §§ 36–46
  2. Application of Rules, §§ 47–56
- C. Jurisdiction of Courts over Estates of Infants, §§ 57–58
- D. Sales and Conveyances under Authority of Law in General, §§ 59–60
- E. Sales and Conveyances under Order of Court, §§ 61–70.

V. CONTRACTS, §§ 71–86
- A. In General, §§ 71–75
- B. Particular Transactions, §§ 76–86

VI. TORTS, §§ 87–92

VII. CRIMES AND COMMITMENT OF JUVENILE DELINQUENTS AND DEPENDENTS, §§ 93–102

VIII. ACTIONS, §§ 103–127

Sub-Analysis

I. WHO ARE INFANTS—p 49

§ 1. Definitions—p 49
2. Age of majority—p 49
3. —— Attainment—p 50

II. CUSTODY AND PROTECTION—p 50

§ 4. In general—p 50
5. Courts and their jurisdiction—p 51
6. —— Juvenile courts—p 53
7. Custody—p 55
8. —— Proceedings to determine—p 58
9. Support and maintenance—p 60
10. —— Mothers' pensions—p 61
11. Regulations for protection of health and morals—p 62
12. —— Regulation of employment—p 65
13. —— Contributing to dependency or delinquency of children—p 69

II. CUSTODY AND PROTECTION—Continued

§ 14. —— Cruelty to children—p 71
15. —— Permitting minors to frequent or play, and gaming with minors—p 72
16. —— Prosecutions for violation of regulations—p 73
17. Probation officers—p 80
18. Societies for care and protection of children—p 81

III. PRIVILEGES AND DISABILITIES GENERALLY—p 81

§ 19. Status in general—p 81
20. What law governs—p 82
21. Acting as agent or trustee—p 83
22. Admissions—p 84
23. Appointment of agent or attorney—p 84
24. Eligibility to public office or employment—p 85
25. Exercising right of election—p 86
26. Estoppel, waiver, or consent in general—p 86
27. —— False representation as to age—p 88
28. Removal of disabilities or emancipation—p 90
29. —— Emancipation by marriage—p 91
30. —— Judicial emancipation—p 93

IV. PROPERTY AND CONVEYANCES—p 99

A. PROPERTY RIGHTS GENERALLY—p 99

§ 31. General rule—p 99
32. Adverse possession—p 99
33. Infant as cotenant—p 100
34. Deposits by infant—p 100
35. Intermeddling with estates of infants—p 101

B. ACQUISITION AND ALIENATION OF PROPERTY—p 101

1. General Rules—p 101

§ 36. Capacity and validity generally—p 101
37. Property held in trust—p 102
38. Election to ratify or avoid transactions and necessity therefor—p 102
39. Ratification—p 103
40. —— What constitutes ratification—p 103
41. —— Time for ratification—p 105
42. Avoidance—p 105
43. —— Right to avoid and estoppel—p 105
44. —— Time for avoidance—p 107
45. —— What constitutes avoidance—p 108
46. —— Return of property or consideration—p 108

2. Application of Rules—p 110

§ 47. Acquisition of property—p 110
48. Alienation of property—p 119
49. —— Assignments—p 119
50. —— Contracts of sale—p 120
51. —— Conveyances and mortgages—p 120
52. —— Deeds of trust—p 129
53. —— Gifts—p 129
54. —— Leases—p 130

IV. PROPERTY AND CONVEYANCES—Continued

B. Acquisition and Alienation of Property—Continued

2. Application of Rules—Continued

§ 55. —— Marriage settlements and antenuptial contracts—p 130
56. —— Sales of personalty—p 131

C. Jurisdiction of Courts over Estates of Infants—p 132

§ 57. In general—p 132
58. Judicial allowances for support and maintenance—p 134

D. Sales and Conveyances under Authority of Law in General—p 134

§ 59. In general—p 134
60. Under private or special acts—p 134

E. Sales and Conveyances under Order of Court—p 135

§ 61. Sales of realty—p 135
62. —— Power of court to authorize sale—p 136
63. —— Purposes and grounds—p 137
64. —— Proceedings to obtain order of sale—p 139
65. —— Bond—p 148
66. —— Sale—p 149
67. —— Costs—p 157
68. Mortgages—p 158
69. Leases—p 159
70. Sales of personalty—p 159

V. CONTRACTS—p 160

A. In General—p 160

§ 71. Capacity to contract and validity of contracts in general—p 160
72. Ratification and avoidance—p 164
73. —— Election between ratification and avoidance and necessity therefor—p 164
74. —— Ratification of contracts—p 165
75. —— Avoidance of contracts—p 170

B. Particular Transactions—p 180

§ 76. In general—p 180
77. Bailments—p 186
78. Contracts for necessaries—p 186
79. Bills, notes, and checks—p 194
80. Compromises and settlements—p 196
81. Engaging in business—p 197
82. —— Partnership—p 198
83. Gambling contracts—p 199
84. Loans and advances—p 200
85. Services—p 200
86. Subscription to corporate stock—p 202

VI. TORTS—p 202

§ 87. Liability of infant in general—p 202
88. Malicious or intentional injuries—p 204
89. Torts connected with contracts—p 204

VI. TORTS—Continued

§ 90. Fraud and false representations—p 205
91. Negligence—p 206
92. Damages—p 209

VII. CRIMES AND COMMITMENT OF JUVENILE DELINQUENTS AND DEPENDENTS—p 210

§ 93. In general—p 210
94. Juvenile offender treated as criminal—p 210
95. —— Capacity and responsibility—p 211
96. —— Prosecution and punishment—p 212
97. Commitment of juvenile delinquents and dependents—p 225
98. —— Children who may be committed—p 228
99. —— Procedure affecting custody or commitment—p 239
100. —— Disposition of child—p 258
101. —— Conclusiveness and effect of adjudication—p 263
102. —— Commitment—p 265

VIII. ACTIONS—p 265

§ 103. In general—p 265
104. Rights of action and defenses—p 266
105. Protection of infant's interest by court—p 271
106. Parties in general—p 272
107. Representation by guardian ad litem or next friend—p 275
108. —— Necessity for representation—p 276
109. —— Authority to represent—p 283
110. —— Appointment, eligibility, and qualification—p 287
111. —— Powers, duties, and liabilities—p 299
112. —— Compensation and allowances—p 305
113. —— Termination of authority—p 310
114. Appearance and representation by attorney—p 311
115. Process—p 313
116. Pleading—p 320
117. Evidence—p 329
118. Dismissal and nonsuit—p 334
119. Trial and new trial—p 335
120. Judgment—p 338
121. —— Rendition, form, and entry—p 339
122. —— Validity and conclusiveness—p 339
123. —— Relief against judgment—p 345
124. —— Payment and satisfaction of judgment in infant's favor—p 359
125. Execution and enforcement of judgment—p 361
126. Appeal and error—p 362
127. Costs—p 369

See also descriptive word index in the back of this Volume

I. WHO ARE INFANTS

§ 1. Definitions

The term "infant" embraces any person who has not attained or arrived at the age of majority as prescribed by law. Related terms are "infancy," "infans," "minor," and "minority".

The term "infant" in its legal signification embraces any person who has not attained or arrived at the age of majority as prescribed by law;[1] a person within age, not of age, or not of full age; a minor;[2] at common law, a person under the age of twenty-one years,[3] although the term does not necessarily imply any definite age limit.[4] It has been distinguished from "child."[5]

Infancy. As used in law the word means minority; nonage; under the age of twenty-one years.[6] According to the sense in which the term is used it may denote the condition of the person merely with reference to his years, or the contractual disabilities which nonage entails, or his status with regard to other powers or relations.[7]

Infans. "Infans" is a civil-law term signifying a child under the age of seven years; so-called "quasi impos fandi," as not having the faculty of speech.[8]

Minor. "Minor" is a term derived from the civil law, which described a person under a certain age as "less than" so many years; an infant or person who is under the age of legal competence.[9]

Minority. "Minority" is the state or condition of a minor; infancy.[10] As applied to the disabilities which nonage entails, "minority" signifies the personal privilege allowed to an infant, by operation of law, to pursue his right.[11]

§ 2. Age of Majority

An infant reaches majority at the age of twenty-one years, except where a different period is prescribed by statute.

At common law the age at which an infant, whether male or female, reaches full majority is fixed at twenty-one years.[12] However, subject to constitutional limitations,[13] the age of minority or majority is a matter of legislative regulation,[14] and it may prescribe a longer period of minority for some purposes than for others.[15] While the common-law rule that an infant, male or female, reach-

1. Ala.—Beavers v. Southern Ry. Co., 103 So. 887, 889, 212 Ala. 600.
Mich.—Keating v. Michigan Cent. R. Co., 53 N.W. 1053, 94 Mich. 219, 221.

2. Black L.D.

Synonymous with "minor"
N.D.—State v. Flath, 228 N.W. 847, 848, 59 N.D. 121.
31 C.J. p 986 note 18 [a].

3. Black L.D.
31 C.J. p 986 note 14.

4. N.D.—State v. Flath, supra.

5. Ga.—Stone v. State, 57 S.E. 992, 1 Ga.App. 292.
N.D.—State v. Flath, 228 N.W. 847, 850, 59 N.D. 121.
"Child" defined see 14 C.J.S. p 1106 note 24-p 1110 note 99.

Child "sui juris" and "non sui juris" contrasted
Or.—Macdonald v. O'Reilly, 78 P. 753, 757, 45 Or. 589.

6. Mo.—Ewart v. Dalby, 5 S.W.2d 428, 436, 319 Mo. 108.

7. Black L.D.

8. Black L.D.

9. Black L.D.
31 C.J. p 986 note 18.

"Child" distinguished
Tex.—Allen v. State, 7 Tex.App. 298, 301.

10. Black L.D.
31 C.J. p 986 note 19.

11. S.C.—Rose v. Daniel, 7 S.C.L. 549, 563.

12. Ala.—Hutchison v. Till, 101 So. 676, 212 Ala. 64.
D.C.—Jones v. Jones, 72 F.2d 829, 63 App.D.C. 373, 95 A.L.R. 352—Interstate Bankers Corporation v. Larsen, Mun.App., 32 A.2d 103.
Fla.—Florida Power & Light Co. v. Bridgeman, 182 So. 911, 918, 133 Fla. 195, citing Corpus Juris—Riley v. Holmer, 131 So. 330, 331, 100 Fla. 938, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—Miller v. Miller, 257 Ill.App. 287.
Minn.—State ex rel. White v. Patterson, 247 N.W. 573, 575, 249 N.W. 187, 188 Minn. 492, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E. 726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437, affirming 264 N.Y.S. 806, 238 App. Div. 349—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 153 Misc. 673.
31 C.J. p 986 notes 22-24.

This "rule was arbitrary in the sense that it was of convenience and necessity, as distinguished from a substantive rule of law."—Springstun v. Springstun, 229 P. 14, 15, 131 Wash. 109, 40 A.L.R. 595.
What law governs see infra § 20.

13. Vt.—Rafus v. Daley, 154 A. 695, 103 Vt. 426.

Constitutional amendment prescribing twenty-one years as majority in certain cases held not to affect statute providing that females aged eighteen shall be considered of full age.—Rafus v. Daley, supra.

14. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Till, 101 So. 676, 212 Ala. 64.
Cal.—In re Herrera, 143 P.2d 345—Gouanillou v. Industrial Accident Commission, 193 P. 937, 938, 184 Cal. 418—Moore v. Williams, 127 P. 509, 19 Cal.App. 600.
D.C.—Jones v. Jones, 72 F.2d 829, 63 App.D.C. 373, 95 A.L.R. 352.
Fla.—Florida Power & Light Co. v. Bridgeman, 182 So. 911, 133 Fla. 195—Riley v. Holmer, 131 So. 330, 100 Fla. 938.
Ga.—Garner v. Wood, 4 S.E.2d 137, 188 Ga. 463.
Minn.—State ex rel. White v. Patterson, 247 N.W. 573, 249 N.W. 187, 188 Minn. 492.
Vt.—Rafus v. Daley, 154 A. 695, 103 Vt. 426.
Wash.—Springstun v. Springstun, 229 P. 14, 131 Wash. 109, 40 A.L.R. 595.
Power to:
Change age for exercising privileges see infra § 19.
Remove disabilities see infra § 28.

15. Cal.—In re Herrera, 143 P.2d 345—Gouanillou v. Industrial Accident Commission, 193 P. 937, 184 Cal. 418.
31 C.J. p 986 note 26.

Delinquent children
Legislature may fix age at which delinquent child shall attain majority different from that fixed for other children.—State ex rel. White v. Patterson, 247 N.W. 573, 249 N.W. 187, 188 Minn. 492.

es majority at twenty-one has been adopted by statute in many states,[16] the legislature may prescribe different ages for attaining majority by the different sexes,[17] and in some states the age of majority as to females, at least for some purposes, has been fixed at eighteen years.[18] Some of the legislatures that formerly fixed eighteen years as the age limit for the majority of females have since increased it to twenty-one years;[19] but such a statute is unconstitutional if it affects the rights of females who were eighteen when the statute was enacted.[20] The fact that a statute defines as minors those who have not attained a certain age merely sets forth an arbitrary rule that minority ends at that age and does not prevent its ending in some other way.[21]

§ 3. —— Attainment

An infant at common law becomes of full age on the day preceding the twenty-first anniversary of his birth.

At common law one becomes of full age on the day preceding the twenty-first anniversary of his birth,[22] on the first moment of that day.[23] Under some statutes, however, the age of majority is calculated from the first minute of the day on which the person was born to the same minute of the corresponding day completing the period of minority.[24]

II. CUSTODY AND PROTECTION

§ 4. In General

A minor, deprived of parental care and control, is a ward of the state, over whom the state may exercise its sovereign power of guardianship; and to effect such power the legislature may make reasonable regulations for the minor's protection and welfare.

A minor, deprived of parental care, control, and oversight, is considered a person under disability,[25] a ward of the state,[26] over whom the state may and should exercise its sovereign power of guardianship, through its duly constituted agencies;[27] and,

16. Mo.—Olsen v. East Side Packing Co., 3 S.W.2d 281, 221 Mo.App. 290.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
Wash.—Hinton v. Carmody, 60 P.2d 1108, 186 Wash. 242—Springstun v. Springstun, 229 P. 14, 131 Wash. 109, 40 A.L.R. 595.
31 C.J. p 987 note 27.

17. Fla.—Riley v. Holmer, 131 So. 330, 100 Fla. 938.
Minn.—State ex rel. White v. Patterson, 247 N.W. 573, 575, 249 N.W. 187, 188 Minn. 492.

18. D.C.—Interstate Bankers Corporation v. Larsen, Mun.App., 32 A. 2d 103.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.
Vt.—Rafus v. Daley, 154 A. 695, 103 Vt. 426.
31 C.J. p 987 note 28.

19. Neb.—State Bank of Beaver Crossing v. Mackley, 236 N.W. 165, 121 Neb. 28.
Ohio.—Pickering v. Peskind, 183 N. E. 301, 43 Ohio App. 401.
Wash.—Springstun v. Springstun, 229 P. 14, 131 Wash. 109, 40 A.L.R. 595.

In Minnesota

(1) Under L.1937 c 435 § 24, Mason Minn.St.1938 Suppl. § 8992-185, the word "minor" is declared to mean "a person under the age of twenty-one years," and the former discrimination against masculine youth is thereby removed, so that both sexes now attain majority at twenty-one years.—Vlasak v. Vlasak, 283 N.W. 489, 204 Minn. 331.

(2) Prior to this statute women attained their majority for all purposes at the age of eighteen, and this statutory rule was not changed by probate code, Rev.L.1905 § 3636, defining a minor as a male under twenty-one or a female under eighteen on ground that contextual reference restricted definition of a "minor."—Vlasak v. Vlasak, supra.

Statute not retroactive

Mo.—Nahorski v. St. Louis Electric Terminal Ry. Co., 274 S.W. 1025, 310 Mo. 227.
Ohio.—Pickering v. Peskind, 183 N.E. 301, 43 Ohio App. 401.

20. Mo.—Nahorski v. St. Louis Electric Terminal Ry. Co., 274 S.W. 1025, 310 Mo. 227.
Ohio.—Gigger v. Kelly, 24 Ohio N.P., N.S., 499.

21. La.—Thornton v. Central Surety & Insurance Corporation, App., 191 So. 179.
Emancipation see infra §§ 28-30.

22. Del.—State v. Clarke, 3 Del. 557.
Ga.—Thomas v. Couch, 156 S.E. 206, 209, 171 Ga. 602, citing Corpus Juris.
Ind.—Wells v. Wells, 6 Ind. 447.
Ky.—Erwin v. Benton, 87 S.W. 291, 120 Ky. 536, 9 Ann.Cas. 264—Hamlin v. Stevenson, 4 Dana 597.
Me.—Inhabitants of Town of Gouldsboro v. Inhabitants of Town of Sullivan, 170 A. 900, 132 Me. 342.
N.Y.—In re Bardol's Will, 300 N.Y.S. 60, 164 Misc. 907, modified on other grounds 4 N.Y.S.2d 795, 253 App. Div. 498, 254 App.Div. 498, 254 App.Div. 647, affirmed 16 N.E.2d 96, 287 N.Y. 343.
Tex.—Ross v. Morrow, 19 S.W. 1090, 85 Tex. 172, 16 L.R.A. 542.

23. U.S.—U. S. v. Wright, Okl., 197 F. 297, 116 C.C.A. 659.
Ga.—Thomas v. Couch, 156 S.E. 206, 171 Ga. 602.
N.C.—State v. Mason, 66 N.C. 636.

24. Cal.—Ex parte Wood, 90 P. 961, 5 Cal.App. 471—Ganahl v. Sohler, 5 P. 80, 2 Cal.Unrep.Cas. 415.
Okl.—Colby v. Glasco, 257 P. 322, 125 Okl. 224—Bynum v. Moore, 223 P. 687, 101 Okl. 128.

25. Kan.—In re Turner, 145 P. 871, 94 Kan. 115, Ann.Cas.1916E 1022.

26. Ala.—Pugh v. Pugh, 111 So. 644, 21 Ala.App. 650.
Ill.—Union Bank of Chicago v. Wormser, 256 Ill.App. 291.
Mich.—In re Volk, 235 N.W. 854, 254 Mich. 25.
N.Y.—In re Rothkowitz, 25 N.Y.S.2d 624, 175 Misc. 948—Application of Pressler, 13 N.Y.S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.
31 C.J. p 987 note 34.

Omission from general Children's Court Act, L.1922 c 547, of declaration that destitute or dependent children are wards of state is no evidence of abandonment of doctrine.—People ex rel. Our Lady of Victory Infant Home v. Venniro, 212 N.Y.S. 741, 126 Misc. 135.

27. Ala.—Pugh v. Pugh, 111 So. 644, 21 Ala.App. 650.
Neb.—State v. Young, 237 N.W. 677, 121 Neb. 619.

as parens patriæ, may assume for him parental authority and duty.[28] This power is not an unlimited and arbitrary one,[29] and is exercised only in cases where the child is destitute of that parental care and protection to which he is entitled.[30] To effect such power the legislature may and should make reasonable regulations tending toward the protection and welfare of the child;[31] and so important is this governmental function that the limitations of the constitutions are to be so construed, if possible, as not to interfere with its legitimate exercise.[32] Such legislation is beneficial and remedial,[33] not criminal in its nature,[34] and entitled to favorable and liberal construction.[35]

§ 5. Courts and Their Jurisdiction

A court of equity, or a court exercising equity jurisdiction, has jurisdiction over the custody, care, and control of resident infants, and under some constitutional or statutory provisions this jurisdiction is vested in particular courts.

Courts of equity independently of statute,[36] have inherent jurisdiction over the custody, care, and control of infants,[37] even though no property rights are involved.[38] This jurisdiction is continuous dur-

N.Y.—In re Rotkowitz, 25 N.Y.S.2d 624, 175 Misc. 948.
R.I.—Roullard v. McSoley, 172 A. 326, 54 R.I. 232.
Wash.—In re Hudson, 126 P.2d 765, 13 Wash.2d 673.
31 C.J. p 987 note 35.

Not dependent on statute
The right of the state to exercise guardianship over a child does not depend on a statute asserting that power.—In re Hudson, supra.
Commitment of dependent and delinquent juveniles see infra §§ 97–102.

28. Ariz.—Fladung v. Sanford, 75 P. 2d 685, 51 Ariz. 211.
Ill.—People ex rel. Noonan v. Wingate, 33 N.E.2d 467, 376 Ill. 244.
N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.
N.Y.—Application of Presler, 13 N.Y.S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559—Bedrick v. Bedrick, 270 N.Y.S. 566, 151 Misc. 4, affirmed 271 N.Y.S. 949, 241 App. Div. 807—People ex rel. Converse v. Derrick, 261 N.Y.S. 447, 146 Misc. 73.
N.C.—Latta v. Trustees of General Assembly of Presbyterian Church in U. S., 196 S.E. 862, 213 N.C. 462.
31 C.J. p 987 note 36.
Rights of state as parens patriæ see Parent and Child § 10, also 46 C. J. p 1222 note 59–p 1223 note 67.

29. N.C.—In re Watson, 72 S.E. 1049, 157 N.C. 340.
Utah.—Mill v. Brown, 88 P. 609, 31 Utah 473, 120 Am.S.R. 935.

30. N.C.—In re Watson, 72 S.E. 1049, 157 N.C. 340.
Wash.—In re Hudson, 126 P.2d 765, 13 Wash.2d 673.
31 C.J. p 987 note 38.

31. Cal.—Artukovich v. Astendorf, 131 P.2d 831, 21 Cal.2d 329.
D.C.—Bonner v. Moran, 126 F.2d 121, 75 U.S.App.D.C. 156, 139 A.L.R. 1366.
N.Y.—In re Vasko, 263 N.Y.S. 552, 238 App.Div. 128.
31 C.J. p 987 note 39.
Regulations for protection of health and morals see infra §§ 11–16.

32. Mo.—State v. Tincher, 166 S.W. 1028, 258 Mo. 1, Ann.Cas.1915D 696.

33. S.C.—State v. Cagle, 96 S.E. 291, 111 S.C. 548.
As to commitment of juvenile delinquents and dependents see infra § 97.

34. Wis.—In re Alley, 182 N.W. 360, 174 Wis. 85.

35. S.C.—State v. Cagle, 96 S.E. 291, 111 S.C. 548.
Construction of juvenile court acts see infra § 97.

36. Ala.—Clinkscales v. Clinkscales, 97 So. 922, 210 Ala. 358—Lassiter v. Wilson, 93 So. 598, 207 Ala. 669.
Cal.—Foy v. Foy, 73 P.2d 618, 25 Cal.App.2d 543.
D.C.—Emrich v. McNeil, 126 F.2d 841, 75 U.S.App.D.C. 307, 146 A. L.R. 1146.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Glendening v. Glendening, 19 N.Y.S.2d 693, 259 App.Div. 384, affirmed 29 N.E.2d 926, 284 N.Y. 598.
Wyo.—Urbach v. Urbach, 73 P.2d 953, 52 Wyo. 207, 113 A.L.R. 889.
31 C.J. p 988 note 48.

37. Ala.—Fletcher v. First Nat. Bank of Opelika, 11 So.2d 854—Chandler v. Whatley, 189 So. 751, 238 Ala 206—Rosa v. Underwood, 179 So. 530, 235 Ala. 447—Wright v. Price, 147 So. 675, 226 Ala. 468—First Nat. Bank v. Robertson, 127 So. 221, 220 Ala. 654—Thomas v. State, 109 So. 607, 215 Ala. 1, answer to certified questions conformed to 109 So. 608, 21 Ala.App. 533—Lassiter v. Wilson, 93 So. 598, 207 Ala. 669—Pugh v. Pugh, 111 So. 644, 21 Ala.App. 650.
Ark.—Crenshaw v. Crenshaw, 160 S. W.2d 37, 203 Ark. 1086.
Cal.—Foy v. Foy, 73 P.2d 618, 25 Cal.App.2d 543.
Fla.—Tenny v. Tenny, 3 So.2d 375, 147 Fla. 672—Duke v. Duke, 147 So. 588, 109 Fla. 325—Fisher v. Guidy, 142 So. 818, 106 Fla. 94.
Ill.—Chapman v. American Surety Co., 104 N.E. 247, 261 Ill. 594—Union Bank of Chicago v. Wormser, 256 Ill.App. 291.
Ky.—Cornett v. Muncy, 15 S.W.2d 251, 228 Ky. 390.
Mich.—Moebius v. McCracken, 246 N. W. 163, 261 Mich. 409—Post v. Grand Rapids Trust Co., 238 N.W. 206, 255 Mich. 436.
Miss.—Mitchell v. Film Transit Co., 13 So.2d 154—Davis v. Davis, 12 So.2d 435.
Mo.—Fadler v. Gabbert, 63 S.W.2d 121, 333 Mo. 851.
Mont.—Haynes v. Fillner, 75 P.2d 802, 106 Mont. 59.
N.Y.—In re Vanderbilt, 276 N.Y.S. 745, 153 Misc. 884—Bedrick v. Bedrick, 270 N.Y.S. 566, 151 Misc. 4, affirmed 271 N.Y.S. 949, 241 App. Div. 807.
N.C.—Latta v. Trustees of General Assembly of Presbyterian Church in U. S., 196 S.E. 862, 213 N.C. 462.
Pa.—Royer v. Royer, 9 Sch.Reg. 193.
Wash.—In re Hudson, 126 P.2d 765, 13 Wash.2d 673.
Wyo.—Urbach v. Urbach, 73 P.2d 953, 52 Wyo. 207, 113 A.L.R. 889.
31 C.J. p 988 note 50—21 C.J. p 154 note 18.

A chancery court takes nothing as confessed against infants, makes for them every valuable election, rescues them from faithless guardians, designing strangers, and even from unnatural parents, and generally takes all necessary steps to protect their interests.—Union Chevrolet Co. v. Arrington, 138 So. 593, 162 Miss. 816.

Any matter affecting a minor is the subject of equity jurisdiction.—First Nat. Bank v. Robertson, 127 So. 221, 220 Ala. 654—Allison v. Cox, 119 So. 675, 218 Ala. 548.
In proceedings for commitment see infra § 99.

38. Fla.—Duke v. Duke, 147 So. 588, 109 Fla. 325.
Mo.—In re Badger, 226 S.W. 936, 286 Mo. 139, 14 A.L.R. 286.
N.C.—Latta v. Trustees of General Assembly of Presbyterian Church in U. S., 196 S.E. 862, 213 N.C. 462.
Tex.—Green v. Green, Civ.App., 146 S.W. 567.
32 C.J. p 274 note 2.
"From the earliest times . . . generally the chancellor acted only when a property right was involved, ing the infant's minority,[39] and, in the absence of express provision, such jurisdiction is not taken away by statutes conferring like power on other courts.[40]

However, the jurisdiction of the courts in such matters is generally regulated by the constitutions or statutes,[41] and accordingly under some provisions it may be exercised by particular courts therein designated, as for instance, circuit courts,[42] county courts,[43] district courts,[44] probate courts,[45] superior courts,[46] and supreme courts,[47] and the jurisdiction must be exercised by a court which has such authority.[48] By whatever court the jurisdiction is exercised, it generally is of the same character as that exercised by the court of chancery over the persons of infants,[49] and the power may be implied from a general legislative or constitutional grant of chancery powers.[50]

Jurisdiction as determined by residence. Jurisdiction to control, and determine and regulate the custody of, an infant is in the courts of the state where the infant legally resides,[51] and the courts but this element went only to the exercise of jurisdiction, and not to the jurisdiction itself."—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 507, 508, 47 N.M. 140.

Jurisdiction of property rights see infra § 57.

39. Ala.—Rosa v. Underwood, 179 So. 530, 235 Ala. 447—Lassiter v. Wilson, 93 So. 598, 207 Ala. 669.

40. Fla.—Duke v. Duke, 147 So. 588, 589, 109 Fla. 325, citing Corpus Juris—Fisher v. Guidy, 142 So. 818, 821, 106 Fla. 94, quoting Corpus Juris.

Mont.—Haynes v. Fillner, 75 P.2d 802, 106 Mont. 59.

N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.

N.Y.—In re Caposella, 8 N.Y.S.2d 509, 255 App.Div. 987, denying reargument Caposella v. Leonardo, 7 N.Y.S.2d 606, 255 App.Div. 863.

31 C.J. p 988 note 51.

41. N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.

31 C.J. p 988 note 52.

Creation and jurisdiction of juvenile courts see infra § 6.

42. Ala.—Ex parte Pruitt, 92 So. 426, 207 Ala. 261—Pugh v. Pugh, 111 So. 644, 21 Ala.App. 650.

Fla.—Turner v. Andrews, 196 So. 449, 143 Fla. 88—Hillsborough County v. Savage, 58 So. 835, 63 Fla. 337.

Wis.—In re Stittgen, 86 N.W. 563, 110 Wis. 625.

43. Ark.—Ex parte King, 217 S.W. 465, 141 Ark. 213.

In Pennsylvania, under Act March 19, 1915, P.L. 531, 17 P.S. § 653, a county court may determine question of children's custody in connection with question of maintenance.—Commonwealth v. Miller, 156 A. 734, 102 Pa.Super. 323—Commonwealth ex rel. Berardino v. Berardino, 97 Pa. Super. 381.

44. Iowa.—Mollring v. Mollring, 167 N.W. 524, 184 Iowa 464.

Neb.—Geary v. Geary, 167 N.W. 778, 102 Neb. 511.

N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.

31 C.J. p 988 note 55.

In Texas

(1) Under the provisions of Const. art 5 § 8, the district court has original jurisdiction and control over minors under prescribed regulations of the legislature.—Ex parte Reeves, 103 S.W. 478, 100 Tex. 617—Whittenberg v. Craven, Com.App., 258 S.W. 152, reversing Ex parte Grimes, Civ. App., 216 S.W. 251—Hardy v. McCulloch, Civ.App., 286 S.W. 629—Wright v. Wright, Civ.App., 285 S.W. 909—Green v. Green, Civ.App., 146 S.W. 567—Estes v. Presswood, Civ.App., 137 S.W. 145.

(2) Such jurisdiction is not final.—Lawler v. Wray, Civ.App., 8 S.W.2d 524.

(3) The district court has exclusive jurisdiction to determine proper custodian of minor child after death of child's mother, to whom custody had been awarded on divorce.—Bradford v. Lincoln Bank & Trust Co. of Louisville, Ky., Civ. App., 96 S.W.2d 821, error dismissed.

(4) Under Vernon Civ.St. art 4639a, a district court has power to ascertain surroundings and circumstances of minor children in cases in which court's jurisdiction has attached.—Bowyer v. Bowyer, 109 S.W. 2d 741, 130 Tex. 257, affirming, Civ. App., 80 S.W.2d 475.

45. Ala.—Pugh v. Pugh, 111 So. 644, 21 Ala.App. 650—Smith v. Smith, 84 So. 870, 17 Ala.App. 357.

Conn.—Dunham v. Dunham, 117 A. 504, 97 Conn. 440.

Ill.—Sippel v. Wolff, 164 N.E. 678, 333 Ill. 284.

Mass.—Schmidt v. Schmidt, 182 N.E. 374, 280 Mass. 216.

N.Y.—In re Vanderbilt, 276 N.Y.S. 745, 153 Misc. 884.

46. N.C.—In re Hamilton, 108 S.E. 385, 182 N.C. 44.

In Georgia

(1) Superior court judge, presiding as chancellor, is especially vested with authority to superintend person of minor.—Chase v. Bartlett, 166 S.E. 832, 176 Ga. 40.

(2) His authority to issue child-placing licenses is not abolished by the transfer to the state department of public welfare of the powers and duties of the board of control of eleemosynary institutions.—Criswell v. Jones, 3 S.E.2d 115, 60 Ga.App. 81, transferred, see 199 S.E. 804, 187 Ga. 55.

47. In Louisiana, under Const.1921 art 7 § 10, the supreme court has appellate jurisdiction in a case involving tutorship of a minor or custody of a child.—Hattier v. Martinez, 1 So. 2d 51, 197 La. 121.

In New York

(1) The supreme court, acting as an equity court, has jurisdiction for some purposes over the persons and estates of infants.—Petition of Travers, 32 N.Y.S.2d 742, 177 Misc. 1044—In re Vanderbilt, 276 N.Y.S. 745, 153 Misc. 884—People ex rel. Sisson v. Sisson, 275 N.Y.S. 299, 153 Misc. 434.

(2) Supreme court has succeeded to jurisdiction of chancery over infants.—Weinberger v. Van Hessen, 257 N.Y.S. 738, 236 App.Div. 14, affirmed 183 N.E. 429, 260 N.Y. 294.

As to custody of infant see infra § 7 b.

48. Tex.—Ex parte Reeves, 103 S.W. 478, 100 Tex. 617—Estes v. Presswood, Civ.App., 137 S.W. 145.

49. Fla.—Turner v. Andrews, 196 So. 449, 143 Fla. 88.

Iowa.—Mollring v. Mollring, 167 N.W. 524, 184 Iowa 464.

N.Y.—Petition of Travers, 32 N.Y.S. 2d 742, 177 Misc. 1044.

31 C.J. p 988 note 60.

50. Ark.—State v. Grisby, 38 Ark. 406.

Ind.—McCord v. Ochiltree, 8 Blackf. 15.

31 C.J. p 988 note 59.

51. Fla.—Di Giorgio v. Di Giorgio, 13 So.2d 596—Dorman v. Friendly, 1 So.2d 734, 736, 146 Fla. 732, quoting Corpus Juris.

Mass.—Schmidt v. Schmidt, 182 N. E. 374, 280 Mass. 216.

Mich.—In re Volk, 235 N.W. 854, 254 Mich. 25.

Minn.—State ex rel. Larson v. Larson, 252 N.W. 329, 190 Minn. 489.

N.Y.—People ex rel. Sisson v. Sisson, 275 N.Y.S. 299, 153 Misc. 434—People v. Dewey, 50 N.Y.S. 1013, 23 Misc. 267.

of another state are without power in the premises,[52] and cannot obtain jurisdiction for such purpose over persons temporarily within the state.[53] However, if the child is actually within the jurisdiction of the court, the court may determine claims as to his custody, although his legal domicile is elsewhere,[54] and regardless of the domicile of its parents;[55] nor, in case of a nonresident parent, is the court's jurisdiction dependent on a judgment of the foreign state.[56] Where the jurisdiction of the court has attached, it is not affected by the subsequent residential status, in the state, of the custodian or of the infant.[57]

§ 6. —— Juvenile Courts

Juvenile courts are courts of special jurisdiction over delinquent and neglected children, their jurisdiction being limited by the terms of the constitutional or statutory provisions under which they are created.

A juvenile court is a court having special jurisdiction, of a paternal nature, over delinquent and neglected children.[58] It is a special court, having special jurisdiction,[59] and under some statutes is a court of record.[60] It is a statutory tribunal; that is, it is created by statute,[61] it being within the

Tex.—Lanning v. Gregory, 99 S.W. 542, 100 Tex. 310, 123 Am.S.R. 809, 10 L.R.A.,N.S., 690—Wright v. Wright, Civ.App., 285 S.W. 909.
Va.—Rogers v. Commonwealth, 11 S.E.2d 584, 176 Va. 355.

Jurisdiction not exclusive
Va.—Rogers v. Commonwealth, supra.

52. Fla.—Dorman v. Friendly, 1 So 2d 734, 146 Fla. 732.
N.Y.—People v. Dewey, 50 N.Y.S. 1013, 23 Misc. 267.
N.C.—Burrowes v. Burrowes, 188 S. E. 648, 652, 210 N.C. 788, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Lanning v. Gregory, 99 S.W. 542, 100 Tex. 310, 123 Am.S.R. 809, 10 L.R.A.,N.S., 690.
31 C.J. p 988 note 66.

53. Fla.—Dorman v. Friendly, 1 So. 2d 734, 146 Fla. 732.
N.M.—Evens v. Keller, 6 P.2d 200, 203, 35 N.M. 659, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—People v. Dewey, 50 N.Y.S. 1013, 23 Misc. 267.
Tex.—Lanning v. Gregory, 99 S.W. 542, 100 Tex. 310, 123 Am.S.R. 809, 10 L.R.A.,N.S., 690.
Wash.—Motichka v. Rollands, 253 P. 333, 144 Wash. 565.

As matter of comity courts of one state will refuse to deal with question of future custody of children where court of another state, at instance of their father, assumed jurisdiction, children being within that state, and awarded custody to him, and he in violation of decree took them from such state.—Burns v. Shapley, 77 So. 447, 16 Ala.App. 297.

54. Fla.—Di Giorgio v. Di Giorgio, 13 So.2d 596—Dorman v. Friendly, 1 So.2d 734, 736, 146 Fla. 732, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ill.—People ex rel. Noonan v. Wingate, 33 N.E.2d 467, 376 Ill. 244.
Mass.—Woodworth v. Spring, 4 Allen 321.
N.J.—In re Williams, 77 A. 350, 79 A. 686, 77 N.J.Eq. 478.
Tenn.—State ex rel. Hooten v. Hooten, 1 Tenn.App. 154.
Va.—Rogers v. Commonwealth, 11 S E.2d 584, 176 Va. 355.

55. Colo.—People ex rel. Wagner v. Torrence, 27 P.2d 1038, 97 Colo. 47.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Van Dyk v. Van Dyk, 33 N.Y.S.2d 766.
"The jurisdiction of a state to regulate the custody of infants found within its territory does not depend upon the domicile of the parents. It has its origin in the protection that is due to the incompetent or helpless."—Finlay v. Finlay, 148 N. E. 624, 625, 240 N.Y. 429—People ex rel. Van Dyk v. Van Dyk, 33 N.Y.S. 2d 766, 770.

56. Colo.—People ex rel. Wagner v. Torrence, 27 P.2d 1038, 97 Colo. 47.

57. Ala.—Lassiter v. Wilson, 93 So. 598, 207 Ala. 669.
The subsequent removal of the infant beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the court does not affect its jurisdiction.—Lassiter v. Wilson, supra.

58. La.—State, in Interest of Bolin, v. Bruce, 152 So. 911, 178 La. 1081.
Miss.—Bryant v. Broun, 118 So. 184, 188, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1335, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 508, 47 N.M. 140.
31 C.J. p 989 note 70.

59. Fla.—In re Whetstone, 188 So. 576, 137 Fla. 712.
La.—State v. Jacobs, 57 So. 905, 130 La. 245.
N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.
Okl.—Ex parte Parnell, 200 P. 456, 19 Okl.Cr. 273.
Tenn.—Cartwright v. Juvenile Court at Nashville, 113 S.W.2d 754, 172 Tenn. 626—Shelby County Juvenile Ct. v. State, 201 S.W. 771, 139 Tenn. 549, Ann.Cas.1918D 752.
Jurisdiction of juvenile courts:
For neglect to support bastard see Bastards § 20 a.
In bastardy proceedings see Bastards § 56.
Power of juvenile court to punish for contempt see Contempt § 46.

Not a trial court in ordinary sense
Cal.—Ex parte Jones, 93 P.2d 185, 34 Cal.App.2d 77.

Child placing agency
Ga.—Criswell v. Jones, 3 S.E.2d 115, 60 Ga.App. 81, transferred, see 199 S.E. 804, 187 Ga. 55.

Requisites of jurisdiction
A juvenile court has jurisdiction, in the sense that its erroneous action is voidable only and not void, when the parties are properly before it, the proceeding is of a kind or class which the court is authorized to adjudicate, and claim set forth in complaint is not obviously frivolous. —In re Stuart, 114 F.2d 825, 72 App. D.C. 389

60. Colo.—Smith v. People, 176 P. 959, 960, 64 Colo. 290—State Home Board of Control v. Mulertz, 154 P. 742, 60 Colo. 468.
Courts of record generally see Courts § 5.

61. Ala.—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.
Colo.—Abbott v. People, 16 P.2d 435, 91 Colo. 510.
Fla.—Gore v. Chapman, 196 So. 840, 143 Fla. 438.
31 C.J. p 989 note 75.

Purpose of establishment
(1) "To relieve juvenile defendants under certain circumstances from the rigidity of the law prevailing in courts of more general jurisdiction and for other humane and worthy purposes."—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 934, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.

(2) "To reclaim, rehabilitate, and salvage, wherever possible, youth that may have violated moral sense, decent conduct and the law."—In re Cotton, 30 N.Y.S.2d 421, 423.

(3) "To supplant parental supervision which has been lacking with view that the minor should not become a criminal, but a useful member of society."—People v. Renteria, Cal.App., 141 P.2d 37.

(4) The determination of civil liability is not a function of juvenile court, but its purpose is to check juvenile's evil tendencies by means of such care, guidance and control power of the legislature, within constitutional limitations, to create or establish such courts and to confer on them jurisdiction, powers, and duties which do not conflict with organic provisions.[62] Generally, in states where such courts exist, they have jurisdiction over matters relating to the care, control and custody of infants,[63] but can exercise such jurisdiction and powers only as have been conferred on them by the statute creating them;[64] and jurisdiction must be strictly construed,[65] and cannot be enlarged by a provision in the statute requiring the statute to be liberally construed, so that its purposes may be carried out.[66]

The jurisdiction of a juvenile court is exercised as between the state, or, so to speak, the child, and the parents of the child,[67] and is not concerned with a controversy between the parents or relatives of the child with regard to its custody, not affecting its morals, health, or welfare.[68]

Status as independent tribunal. Under some statutes the juvenile court is not an independent tribunal, but is a part of other established courts,[69] it being within the power of the legislature, within constitutional limitations, to designate other courts already established, or parts thereof, to sit as juvenile courts.[70] as are essential to children in the formative period of life.—In re Trignani, 24 A.2d 743, 148 Pa.Super. 142.

Repeal

The authority of juvenile courts to act as child-placing agencies is not withdrawn by a statute providing for the issuance of licenses to persons, hospitals, maternity homes, etc., as child-placing agencies.—Criswell v. Jones, 3 S.E.2d 115, 60 Ga.App. 81, transferred, see 199 S.E. 804, 187 Ga. 55.

62. Fla.—State v. Quigg, 90 So. 695, 83 Fla. 1.
N.C.—State v. Burnett, 102 S.E. 711, 179 N.C. 735.
31 C.J. p 989 note 77.

63. N.Y.—In re Cotton, 30 N.Y.S.2d 421.
N.C.—Winner v. Brice, 193 S.E. 400, 212 N.C. 294.
Ohio.—In re Decker, 28 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 433.
31 C.J. p 989 note 79.
Jurisdiction of juvenile court in:
Proceedings for commitment see infra § 99.
Prosecutions for violating regulations protecting infant see infra § 16.

64. Cal.—Ex parte Daedler, 228 P. 467, 194 Cal. 320—People v. Superior Court in and for San Bernardino County, 285 P. 871, 104 Cal. App. 276.
Colo.—Abbott v. People, 16 P.2d 435, 91 Colo. 510.
Del.—Thompson v. Thompson, 145 A. 9, 4 W.W.Harr. 156.
Fla.—Gore v. Chapman, 196 So. 840, 143 Fla. 438—In re Whetstone, 188 So. 576, 137 Fla. 712.
Mo.—State v. Gregori, 2 S.W.2d 747, 318 Mo. 998.
N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.
N.J.—Hagopian v. Hagopian, 20 A.2d 436, 130 N.J.Eq. 38—Zito v. Zito, 174 A. 421, 12 N.J.Misc. 712.
N.Y.—In re Montana, 30 N.Y.S.2d 199, 177 Misc. 171—In re Petersen, 269 N.Y.S. 646, 149 Misc. 869—Walsh v. Walsh, 263 N.Y.S. 517, 146 Misc. 604.
N.D.—Ex parte Blackey, 208 N.W. 238, 53 N.D. 852.
Ohio.—State v. Hoffman, 155 N.E. 499, 23 Ohio App. 348.
Okl.—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10.
Tenn.—Cartwright v. Juvenile Court at Nashville, 113 S.W.2d 754, 172 Tenn. 626.
31 C.J. p 989 note 83.

Limitation as to age

Fla.—Gore v. Chapman, 196 So. 840, 143 Fla. 438.

65. Fla.—In re Whetstone, 188 So. 576, 137 Fla. 712.

66. Mo.—State ex rel. Dew v. Trimble, 269 S.W. 617, 306 Mo. 657—Ex parte Label, App., 156 S.W.2d 37.

67. Colo.—Ross v. Ross, 5 P.2d 246, 89 Colo. 536, 78 A.L.R. 313.

68. Del.—Thompson v. Thompson, 145 A. 9, 4 W.W.Harr. 156.
La.—State, in Interest of Bolin, v. Bruce, 152 So. 911, 178 La. 1081—State v. McCloskey, 67 So. 813, 136 La. 739.
N.Y.—People v. Witchley, 284 N.Y.S. 292, 157 Misc. 237.

Courts of general civil jurisdiction, and not the juvenile court, are proper and exclusive tribunal to decide contest between two persons over custody of infant.—In re Owen, 127 So. 619, 170 La. 255.

Determination of jurisdiction

Supreme court, in determining whether juvenile court had jurisdiction, may consider facts found by judge of juvenile court.—State, in Interest of Bolin, v. Bruce, 152 So. 911, 178 La. 1081.

Welfare of child paramount

In proceedings in a juvenile court, the immediate welfare of the child is the paramount, if not the sole and controlling, consideration, and the fundamental purpose of the proceedings is the conservation of the welfare of the child.—In re Whetstone, 188 So. 576, 137 Fla. 712.

69. Cal.—People v. Superior Court in and for San Bernardino County, 285 P. 871, 104 Cal.App. 276.
D.C.—In re Stuart, 114 F.2d 825, 72 App.D.C. 389.
N.Y.—In re Caposella, 8 N.Y.S.2d 509, 255 App.Div. 987, denying reargument Caposella v. Leonardo, 7 N.Y.S.2d 606, 255 App.Div. 863.
N.D.—State v. Overby, 209 N.W. 552, 54 N.D. 295.
Wis.—In re Miedzinowski, 215 N.W. 583, 193 Wis. 635—In re Johnson, 181 N.W. 741, 173 Wis. 571.
31 C.J. p 989 note 80.

In California juvenile court is superior court, with inherent power to transfer case to another department thereof after reaching limits of special powers.—People v. Superior Court in and for San Bernardino County, 285 P. 871, 104 Cal. App. 276.

In Ohio

(1) Under Gen.Code §§ 1532, 1639-7, 8034-1, the common pleas court division of domestic relations, as such, has full and exclusive authority to function as the juvenile court in Montgomery county.—Elford v. Elford, Ohio App., 44 N.E.2d 124.

(2) Where distinction is made between action of domestic relations judge as such, and as juvenile judge, after certification of a cause, as relates to custody of a child to juvenile court, the cause reposes in juvenile court permanently and no reservation may be made by domestic relations division of the court to again consider such branch of the cause.—Elford v. Elford, supra.

Exclusive and concurrent jurisdiction of children's courts and juvenile courts with other courts generally see Courts § 490 c.

70. Okl.—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10.
W.Va.—Slater v. Melton, 193 S.E. 185, 119 W.Va. 259.
31 C.J. p 989 note 81.

Children's court division of domestic relations court

N.Y.—In re Montana, 30 N.Y.S.2d 199, 177 Misc. 171.

Criminal jurisdiction. Except to the extent that juvenile courts have statutory jurisdiction of the prosecutions under the laws for the protection of infants, as discussed infra § 16, a juvenile court is not a criminal court,[71] and the grant of jurisdiction to juvenile courts with regard to the custody and protection of the person of an infant is not a grant of general criminal jurisdiction.[72] Its practice and procedure are not governed by the rules applicable to proceedings strictly criminal,[73] but rather by those applicable in civil cases.[74]

Territorial jurisdiction. The territorial jurisdiction of juvenile courts is limited to that conferred by the statutes creating them,[75] and generally is limited to the city or county wherein the infant resides,[76] although, under some statutes, its jurisdiction may be exercised over a child who is actually in the city or county on a visit.[77] Under a statute providing that the juvenile courts may exercise their jurisdiction in their several counties, the juvenile court of one county has no jurisdiction over children before it who are not residents of, and are not in, the county of the juvenile court's jurisdiction,[78] and therefore is without jurisdiction to redetermine the custody of an infant which had been previously determined by the juvenile court of the county of his residence.[79]

§ 7. Custody

a. In general
b. Control of court

a. In General

The state may assume direction, control, and custody of the person of an infant, and may delegate such authority to whom it may see fit.

The primary control and custody of infants is with the government,[80] and the state in its capacity of parens patriæ, as stated supra § 4, may assume direction, control, and custody of his person,[81] and delegate such authority to whom it may see fit,[82] it being delegated generally to the natural[83] or legal[84] guardians as long as they are fit and suitable and the best interests of the child are served. It is not the province of the courts to determine generally what conditions or exigencies will warrant the state in assuming control of infants, as this is a legislative function which cannot be delegated to the courts.[85] Moreover, the legislature may impose any conditions, not contravening constitutional limitations, on persons receiving the custody of the state's infant wards.[86]

71. Cal.—Ex parte Jones, 93 P.2d 185, 34 Cal.App.2d 77.
Okl.—Ex parte Brown, 233 P. 1098, 29 Okl.Cr. 369.
Wis.—Ogden v. State, 156 N.W. 476, 162 Wis. 500, 502.
31 C.J. p 989 note 71.

Children's court division of domestic relations court does not partake of the nature of a court of criminal jurisdiction.—In re X, Y and Z, 43 N.Y.S.2d 361.

72. Colo.—Ex parte Songer, 177 P. 141, 65 Colo. 460—Colias v. People, 153 P. 224, 60 Colo. 230.
Ohio.—State v. Hoffman, 155 N.E. 499, 23 Ohio App. 348.
Character of proceedings for commitment of delinquents or dependents see infra § 99.

73. Ind.—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E.2d 91.
La.—State v. Bertucci, 87 So. 23, 148 La. 403.
Utah.—Mill v. Brown, 88 P. 609, 31 Utah 473, 120 Am.S.R. 935.
Wis.—State v. Zirbel, 177 N.W. 601, 171 Wis. 498.

74. Wis.—Ogden v. State, 156 N.W. 476, 162 Wis. 500.
Nature of proceedings for commitment see infra § 99.

75. Mo.—State v. Porterfield, 244 S.W. 966, 211 Mo.App. 499.

76. N.C.—Winner v. Brice, 193 S.E. 400, 212 N.C. 294.

77. Va.—Rogers v. Commonwealth, 11 S.E.2d 584, 176 Va. 355.

78. Cal.—Ex parte Edwards, 278 P. 910, 99 Cal.App. 541.
Mo.—State v. Porterfield, 244 S.W. 966, 211 Mo.App. 499.

79. Cal.—Ex parte Edwards, 278 P. 910, 99 Cal.App. 541.

80. Ala.—Tillman v. Roberts, 108 So. 62, 214 Ala. 71, granting certiorari 108 So. 61, 21 Ala.App. 241, and certiorari denied 108 So. 67, 214 Ala. 76—Ex parte Roberts, 85 So. 871, 17 Ala.App. 538.

81. Ky.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S.W.2d 748, 751, 281 Ky. 140, quoting Corpus Juris—Shelton v. Hensley, 299 S.W. 979, 981, 221 Ky. 808, quoting Corpus Juris.
Wash.—In re Hudson, 126 P.2d 765, 13 Wash.2d 673.
31 C.J. p 990 note 93.

82. Ky.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S.W.2d 748, 281 Ky. 140—Shelton v. Helmsley, 299 S.W. 979, 221 Ky. 808.
31 C.J. p 990 note 94.

83. Ala.—Tillman v. Roberts, 108 So. 62, 214 Ala. 71, granting certiorari 108 So. 61, 21 Ala.App. 241, and certiorari denied 108 So. 67, 214 Ala. 76—Ex parte Roberts, 85 So. 871, 17 Ala.App. 538.
Custody of infants by parents generally see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child §§ 11, 12, also 46 C.J. p 1223 note 69–p 1249 note 76.

84. Ala.—Tillman v. Roberts, 108 So. 62, 214 Ala. 71, granting certiorari 108 So. 61, 21 Ala.App. 241, and certiorari denied 108 So. 67, 214 Ala. 76.
Custody of guardian generally see Guardian and Ward § 56.

85. Ind.—Orr v. State, 123 N.E. 470, 70 Ind.App. 242.

86. Va.—Turner v. Children's Home Soc. of Virginia, 163 S.E. 399, 158 Va. 406, 80 A.L.R. 1125.

Right to attack constitutionality of statute

Persons in whose home society placed infant, committed to it by court, had no property or natural right entitling them to attack constitutionality of statute, requiring child's return to society whenever it deemed best, as depriving them of property without due process.—Turner v. Children's Home Soc. of Virginia, supra.

Bond

A statute requiring a bond to be executed when children of other states are placed in family homes within state requires a bond to be executed in case mother of child leaves state of her legal residence and comes into the state and gives birth to the child within territorial limits of state and thereafter seeks to have child placed in family home within the state.—In re Strininger, 11 Ohio Supp. 60.

b. Control of Court

(1) In general
(2) Preference of child
(3) Religious considerations

(1) In General

The custody of an infant, as a ward of the court having jurisdiction of his person, is subject to the control of such court, in the exercise of its judicial discretion, and in determining such custody the controlling matter to be considered by the court is the best interest and welfare of the infant. The infant should not be removed out of the jurisdiction of the court without its leave.

As stated in Corpus Juris, which has been cited and quoted with approval, an infant is considered as a ward of the court having jurisdiction of his person,[87] particularly of a court of equity;[88] and on the institution of any proceedings invoking the jurisdiction of the court as to the infant's person he immediately becomes a ward of the court.[89] The matter of his custody is subject to control by the court,[90] in the exercise of its broad judicial discretion,[91] although the infant's actual custody is already with the party petitioning for an award of

87. U.S.—Montgomery v. Erie R. Co., C.C.A.N.J., 97 F.2d 289.
Ala.—McWhorter v. Cox, 195 So. 435, 239 Ala. 441—Ex parte Roberts, 85 So. 871, 17 Ala.App. 538.
Fla.—Krivitsky v. Nye, 12 So.2d 595—Riesner v. Riesner, 9 So.2d 108, 151 Fla. 8—Davis v. Davis, 196 So. 614, 143 Fla. 282—Turner v. Andrews, 196 So. 449, 143 Fla. 88—Bourn v. Hinsey, 183 So. 614, 617, 134 Fla. 404, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—Millage v. Noble, 166 N.E. 50, 334 Ill. 315—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E.2d 297, 319 Ill.App. 265—Ellison v. Ward, 13 N.E.2d 649, 294 Ill.App. 197.
Ky.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S.W. 2d 748, 751, 281 Ky. 140, quoting Corpus Juris—Horney v. Downs, 272 S.W. 728, 209 Ky. 255.
Mo.—Gray v. Clement, 246 S.W. 940, 296 Mo. 497.
N.Y.—Honadle v. Stafford, 193 N.E. 172, 265 N.Y. 354, reversing 272 N.Y.S. 444, 241 App.Div. 395, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 27, 150 Misc. 412, motion denied 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 854 (first case), and 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 857 (second case)—In re Kempf's Estate, 289 N.Y.S. 74, 159 Misc. 298, reversed on other grounds In re Kempf's Will, 297 N.Y.S. 307, 252 App.Div. 28, affirmed 16 N.E.2d 123, 278 N.Y. 613—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App. Div. 1016—Leonard v. Home Owners Loan Corporation, 39 N.Y.S.2d 127.
31 C.J. p 990 note 98.
"An infant becomes a ward of the court when he is brought before the court for any purpose, as a party plaintiff or defendant to a suit, petition, order, application, or any other proceeding."—Sangster v. Toledo Mfg. Co., 19 S.E.2d 723, 726, 193 Ga. 685.

88. Ala.—Fletcher v. First Nat. Bank of Opelika, 11 So.2d 854—Rosa v. Underwood, 179 So. 530, 235 Ala. 447—Wright v. Price, 147 So. 675, 226 Ala. 468.
Ark.—Richards v. Taylor, 150 S.W. 2d 32, 202 Ark. 183—Kirk v. Jones, 12 S.W.2d 879, 178 Ark. 583—Ingram v. Raiford, 298 S.W. 507, 174 Ark. 1127.
Cal.—In re Reynolds' Guardianship, App., 141 P.2d 498, 501, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ga.—Chase v. Bartlett, 166 S.E. 832, 176 Ga. 40.
Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278—Anderson v. Anderson, 49 N.E.2d 841, 320 Ill.App. 75—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.
Ky.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S.W. 2d 748, 751, 281 Ky. 140.
Miss.—Union Chevrolet Co. v. Arrington, 138 So. 593, 162 Miss. 816.
Wyo.—Urbach v. Urbach, 73 P.2d 953, 958, 52 Wyo. 207, 113 A.L.R. 889, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 990 note 99.

89. Ala.—Fletcher v. First Nat. Bank of Opelika, 11 So.2d 854—Esco v. Davidson, 193 So. 308, 238 Ala. 653—Rosa v. Underwood, 179 So. 530, 235 Ala. 447—Allison v. Cox, 119 So. 675, 218 Ala. 548—Ward v. Jossen, 119 So. 220, 218 Ala. 530—Clinkscales v. Clinkscales, 97 So. 922, 210 Ala. 358—Lassiter v. Wilson, 93 So. 598, 207 Ala. 669.
Cal.—In re Reynolds' Guardianship, App., 141 P.2d 498, 501.
Ga.—Chase v. Bartlett, 166 S.E. 832, 176 Ga. 40.
Ky.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S.W.2d 748, 281 Ky. 140.
N.J.—In re Cox's Guardianship, 173 A. 602, 603, 12 N.J.Misc. 536, citing Corpus Juris.
Wash.—State ex rel. Cummings v. Kinne, 111 P.2d 222, 8 Wash.2d 1.
31 C.J. p 990 note 1.

Necessity of jurisdiction

(1) Court is powerless to act unless jurisdiction of infant is properly acquired.—Melnick v. Laszio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791.

(2) Jurisdiction under constitution of minors, etc., cannot be exercised by district court on its own motion.—Lawler v. Wray, Tex.Civ.App., 8 S.W.2d 524.

90. Ky.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S. W.2d 748, 751, 281 Ky. 140.
Or.—In re Henkle, 56 P.2d 343, 153 Or. 337.
31 C.J. p 990 note 2.

In New York

(1) The control or jurisdiction over the custody of infants is in the supreme court, superior to all junior courts.—Application of Chapin, 35 N.Y.S.2d 302, 264 App.Div. 172—In re Sisson, 274 N.Y.S. 857, 152 Misc. 806.

(2) It is its function, representing the state, to determine their custody.—People ex rel. Converse v. Derrick, 261 N.Y.S. 447, 146 Misc. 73.

(3) It has jurisdiction to enforce production of infant before it and decree child's placement in proper custody with persons designated by court.—In re Vanderbilt, 276 N.Y.S. 745, 153 Misc. 884.

(4) Its inherent powers are not limited by statute concerning habeas corpus proceeding.—People ex rel. Glendening v. Glendening, 19 N.Y.S. 2d 693, 259 App.Div. 384, affirmed 29 N.E.2d 926, 284 N.Y. 598.

(5) The jurisdiction of children's court relates only to temporary disposition of the child's custody in cases where prompt action is necessary or desirable and does not oust the supreme court of jurisdiction which is expressly reserved by statute.—In re Caposella, 8 N.Y.S.2d 509, 255 App.Div. 987, denying reargument Caposella v. Leonardo, 7 N.Y.S. 2d 606, 255 App.Div. 863.

91. Cal.—In re Reynolds' Guardianship, App., 141 P.2d 498, 501.
Fla.—Riesner v. Riesner, 9 So.2d 108, 151 Fla. 8.
Ga.—Awtrey v. Awtrey, 137 S.E. 760, 164 Ga. 69.
Ky.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S.W.2d 748, 751, 281 Ky. 140.
Or.—In re Henkle, 56 P.2d 343, 153 Or. 337.
Tex.—Conley v. St. Jacques, Civ.App., 110 S.W.2d 1238—Pickett v. Bush, Civ.App., 106 S.W.2d 845.
31 C.J. p 990 note 3.

Judgment of trial judge, based on facts disclosed in any given case, is entitled to great weight.—State ex rel. Johnson v. Ashmore, 2 So.2d its custody.[92] Such discretion, however, is not arbitrary or unlimited,[93] but is guided and governed by the rules of law.[94] The court should not refuse an application for the custody of a child by a person who has the legal right to the custody, if the applicant is a fit person.[95]

The controlling consideration in determining the custody of an infant is the best interest and welfare of the infant,[96] that is, the physical, intellectual, moral, and spiritual well-being of the child,[97] and to this all other considerations are subordinate.[98]

As between relative and stranger. In determining who should have custody of the infant, a relative of the child will usually be preferred as against a stranger,[99] but not always, as where it is not for the best interest and welfare of the child.[1]

Removal from jurisdiction. Infants as wards of the court should not be removed out of its ju-

897, 197 La. 971—State ex rel. Landry v. Robin, 192 So. 349, 193 La. 789.

92. Wyo.—Urbach v. Urbach, 73 P. 2d 953, 52 Wyo. 207, 113 A.L.R. 889.

93. Or.—In re Henkle, 56 P.2d 343, 153 Or. 337.
31 C.J. p 990 note 4.

94. Or.—In re Henkle, supra.
Tex.—Conley v. St. Jacques, Civ. App., 110 S.W.2d 1238.
31 C.J. p 990 note 5.

95. Mo.—Child Sav. Institute v. Knobel, 37 S.W.2d 920, 924, quoting Corpus Juris, and transferred, see, App., 29 S.W.2d 725.
Or.—In re Henkle, 56 P.2d 343, 346, 153 Or. 337, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 990 note 6.

96. U.S.—Simmons v. Simmons, D. C.S.C., 41 F.Supp. 545.
Ala.—Fletcher v. Preston, 148 So. 137, 226 Ala. 665—Wright v. Price, 147 So. 886, 226 Ala. 591—Ex parte Fletcher, 142 So. 30, 225 Ala. 139—Clinkscales v. Clinkscales, 97 So. 922, 210 Ala. 358—Hall v. Donnelly, 149 So. 867, 25 Ala.App. 481, certiorari denied 149 So. 872, 227 Ala. 289.
Cal.—In re Reynolds' Guardianship, App., 141 P.2d 498, 501, quoting Corpus Juris—Fewel v. Fewel, App., 133 P.2d 440.
Colo.—Hodgen v. Byrne, 98 P.2d 1000, 105 Colo. 410—Averch v. Averch, 90 P.2d 962, 104 Colo. 365—People ex rel. Wagner v. Torrence, 27 P.2d 1038, 97 Colo. 47.
Fla.—State ex rel. Bullard v. Clark, 179 So. 657, 131 Fla. 684.
Ga.—Kilgore v. Tiller, 22 S.E.2d 150, 194 Ga. 527.
Ill.—People ex rel. Noonan v. Wingate, 33 N.E.2d 467, 376 Ill. 244.
Ky.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S.W. 2d 748, 281 Ky. 140.
La.—Hattier v. Martinez, 1 So.2d 51, 197 La. 121.
Md.—Maddox v. Maddox, 199 A. 507, 174 Md. 470.
Neb.—In re Herten's Guardianship, 254 N.W. 698, 127 Neb. 88—State v. Young, 237 N.W. 677, 121 Neb. 619.
N.J.—Gardner v. Hall, 26 A.2d 799, 132 N.J.Eq. 64, affirmed 31 A.2d 805, 133 N.J.Eq. 287—In re Elmer's Guardianship, 4 A.2d 387, 125 N.J.Eq. 148—In re Lippincott, 124 A. 532, 96 N.J.Eq. 260, affirmed Lippincott v. Lippincott, 128 A. 254, 97 N.J.Eq. 517.
N.Y.—In re Thoemmes' Guardianship, 264 N.Y.S. 829, 238 App.Div. 541—People ex rel. Converse v. Derrick, 261 N.Y.S. 447, 146 Misc. 73—People ex rel. Van Dyk v. Van Dyk, 33 N.Y.S.2d 766.
Ohio.—In re Decker, 28 Ohio N.P.,N. S., 433.
Okl.—Smith v. Williams, 78 P.2d 808, 182 Okl. 531—Phelps v. Young, 299 P. 461, 149 Okl. 120—Ex parte McDaniels, 289 P. 704, 144 Okl. 65.
Or.—In re Henkle, 56 P.2d 343, 153 Or. 337.
Pa.—Conway v. Preston, 24 A.2d 772, 148 Pa.Super. 182—In re Rumsey, 7 A.2d 43, 135 Pa.Super. 515—Commonwealth v. Kent, 17 Pa.Dist. & Co. 223, 10 Northumb.Co.L.J. 265—Commonwealth ex rel. v. Kovacs, 85 Pittsb.Leg.J. 803—Commonwealth ex rel. v. Brewer, 24 West. Co.L.J. 17.
Tex.—Burckhalter v. Conyer, Com. App., 285 S.W. 606, error dismissed 7 S.W.2d 73, set aside on other grounds 9 S.W.2d 1029, reversing, Civ.App., 275 S.W. 606—Binion v. Mathis, Civ.App., 171 S.W.2d 512—Shoop v. Shoop, Civ.App., 114 S.W. 2d 373—Conley v. St. Jacques, Civ. App., 110 S.W.2d 1238—Pickett v. Bush, Civ.App., 106 S.W.2d 845.
Va.—Rogers v. Commonwealth, 11 S. E.2d 584, 176 Va. 355.
31 C.J. p 990 note 7.

Matters to be considered
In determining welfare of infant in dispute over custody, mutual affection between ward and his would-be custodian as founded upon blood relationship, as well as physical, mental, moral, and financial ability of proposed custodian and surroundings of his home necessary for the obtention of the best results, such as schools, churches, moral atmosphere, and other conditions conducive to the proper and best development of the minor, must be considered.—Ridgeway v. Walter, 133 S.W. 2d 748, 281 Ky. 140—31 C.J. p 990 note 7 [c].

Keeping children together
Generally, in determining custody of minor brother and sister, children should be kept together.—In re Herten's Guardianship, 254 N.W. 698, 127 Neb. 88.

97. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Kent, 17 Pa.Dist. & Co. 223, 10 Northumb. Co.L.J. 265.

98. Md.—Maddox v. Maddox, 199 A. 507, 174 Md. 470.
Pa.—Commonwealth ex rel. Conway v. Preston, 24 A.2d 772, 148 Pa. Super. 182—In re Rumsey, 7 A.2d 43, 135 Pa.Super. 515—Commonwealth ex rel. v. Kent, 17 Pa.Dist. & Co. 223, 10 Northumb.Co.L.J. 265.

Legal and moral rights of each claimant will be regarded, but the paramount consideration is the welfare of the child.—Clardy v. Ford, 26 S.E.2d 20, 203 S.C. 44.

Economic condition of person desirous of custody of child is not controlling, but should be considered in determining what is best for child. —Wright v. Price, 147 So. 886, 226 Ala. 591—31 C.J. p 990 note 7 [e].

Expressed wish of dying father should be given great weight, but does not relieve court of responsibility to determine what is for best interests and welfare of children.—In re Herten's Guardianship, 254 N. W. 698, 127 Neb. 88.

99. Pa.—Commonwealth ex rel. Conway v. Preston, 24 A.2d 772, 148 Pa.Super. 182.
31 C.J. p 992 note 16.

Paternal grandmother may be preferable to institution.—Maddox v. Maddox, 199 A. 507, 174 Md. 470.

1. Fla.—Marshall v. Reams, 14 So. 95, 32 Fla. 499, 37 Am.S.R. 118.
31 C.J. p 992 note 17.

Custody to friendly neighbors
Where the evidence so requires, the child's custody may be awarded to friendly neighbors of the child's family rather than to distant relatives, with right of relatives to visit the child at a proper time.—Commonwealth ex rel. Conway v. Preston, 24 A.2d 772, 148 Pa.Super. 182.

risdiction[2] without leave of the court,[3] and the court may prevent such a removal.[4] Such a removal during the pendency of an action relating to custody is wrongful, and constructively fraudulent, and becomes actually so where it is purposely contrived to defeat jurisdiction.[5] The court, however, may award the custody to a person who resides beyond its jurisdiction, and may authorize or permit the infant to be taken beyond its jurisdiction, but may require the custodian to give a bond for the child's return on a proper occasion and demand.[6]

(2) Preference of Child

The preference of the child, if of sufficient age and intelligence to choose, should be considered in determining his custody, but is not necessarily controlling.

If the infant is of sufficient age and intelligence to choose, his wishes should be taken into consideration, and are entitled to much weight, in determining his custody,[7] and in some cases the court will merely free him from restraint and, while possibly instructing and advising him, permit him to make his own choice.[8] The express wishes of the infant, however, are not necessarily controlling on the court[9] and the court may disregard such wishes,[10] especially where it does not consider the child of sufficient age or intelligence.[11]

(3) Religious Considerations

The religion in which the child is to be brought up is entitled to careful consideration in determining his custody.

The question of the religion in which the child shall be brought up is always entitled to careful consideration,[12] and if the temporal interests of the child will be equally well taken care of when the child is placed in the custody of persons of the same faith as the parents that fact should be considered as controlling.[13] However, if there are clear temporal advantages resulting from other custody, they may well be sufficient to be controlling the other way.[14]

§ 8. —— Proceedings to Determine

A proceeding to determine the custody of an infant may be conducted on any pleading, with notice to interested persons, which shows that the welfare of the infant requires an order as to his custody. The order or judgment should properly safeguard the interests of the infant; and a preliminary order for his custody and care pending the proceedings may be made.

A proceeding to determine custody of an infant is substantially in the nature of a guardianship proceeding,[15] and of an action in rem, the res being the child's status or his legal relationship to another.[16] The proceeding may be by habeas corpus, as discussed in Habeas Corpus §§ 41–47, or in divorce proceedings, as discussed in Divorce §§ 303–311, but such proceedings are not the only ones in which the right to the custody may be adjudicated;[17] it may be adjudicated in a suit for an injunction for the protection of the infant.[18] It may be brought to the attention of the court by bill or petition;[19] but

2. N.Y.—Wood v. Wood, 5 Paige 596, 28 Am.D. 451.
31 C.J. p 992 note 9.
Removal as contempt of court see Contempt § 21.

3. N.Y.—In re Lee, 116 N.E. 352, 220 N.Y. 532.
31 C.J. p 992 note 10.

4. N.Y.—Wood v. Wood, 5 Paige 596, 28 Am.D. 451.

5. Tex.—Burckhalter v. Conyer, Com.App., 285 S.W. 606, error dismissed 7 S.W.2d 73, set aside on other grounds 9 S.W.2d 1029, reversing, Civ.App., 275 S.W. 606.

6. S.C.—Watkins v. Rose, 105 S.E. 738, 115 S.C. 370.

7. Ala.—Wright v. Price, 147 So. 886, 226 Ala. 591.
Neb.—State v. Young, 237 N.W. 677, 121 Neb. 619.
N.J.—Gardner v. Hall, 26 A.2d 799, 132 N.J.Eq. 64, affirmed 31 A.2d 805, 133 N.J.Eq. 287.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Kane, 30 Del. Co. 431.
31 C.J. p 992 note 19.
Mental capacity, rather than age, is the criterion in determining whether substantial weight should be given to the desire of the child. —Commonwealth v. Kane, supra.
Preference of child as affecting custody as between parents see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child 12, also 46 C.J. p 1241 note 91-p 1242 note 4.
Wishes of infant in appointment of guardian see Guardian and Ward § 17 b.

8. U.S.—U. S. v. Green, C.C.R.I., 26 F.Cas.No.15,256, 3 Mason 482.
31 C.J. p 992 note 20.

9. Ala.—Wright v. Price, 147 So. 886, 226 Ala. 591.
31 C.J. p 992 note 21.

10. Colo.—Wilson v. Mitchell, 111 P. 21, 48 Colo. 454, 30 L.R.A.,N.S., 507.
31 C.J. p 993 note 22.

11. N.M.—Focks v. Munger, 149 P. 300, 20 N.M. 335, L.R.A.1915E 1019.
31 C.J. p 993 note 23.

12. Neb.—State v. Young, 237 N.W. 677, 121 Neb. 619.
Wis.—State v. Franz, 163 N.W. 191, 166 Wis. 32.
Religious convictions as affecting custody as between parents see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 12, also 46 C.J. p 1247 notes 54–58.
Religious consideration in appointment of guardian see Guardian and Ward § 17 c.

13. Neb.—State v. Young, 237 N.W. 677, 121 Neb. 619.
Wis.—State v. Franz, 163 N.W. 191, 166 Wis. 32.

14. Colo.—People v. Bolton, 146 P. 489, 490, 27 Colo.App. 39.
31 C.J. p 993 note 28.

15. S.D.—State v. Kelley, 143 N.W. 953, 32 S.D. 526.
Proceeding by or against guardian for custody of child see Guardian and Ward § 57.
Proceedings for commitment see infra § 99.

16. Minn.—State ex rel. Larson v. Larson, 252 N.W. 329, 190 Minn. 489.
Action in rem generally see Actions § 52.

17. Wyo.—Urbach v. Urbach, 73 P. 2d 953, 958, 52 Wyo. 207, 113 A.L.R. 889, quoting Corpus Juris.

18. Ga.—Chase v. Bartlett, 166 S.E. 832, 176 Ga. 40.
Tex.—Greene v. Greene, Civ.App., 146 S.W. 567.
32 C.J. p 274 note 2 [a].

19. Ala.—First Nat. Bank v. Rob-technical rules of pleading and practice generally are immaterial,[20] as any pleading which alleges facts sufficient to confer jurisdiction on the court,[21] and which shows on its face that the welfare of an infant requires that an order be made with regard to his custody is sufficient.[22]

Notice. Ordinarily the proceedings are required to be on notice to persons interested in the infant's custody and control.[23] The giving of such notice is jurisdictional, and an order entered without the required notice is void for want of jurisdiction even though the person entitled thereto is present in the court room, for if the required notice is not given it will not be presumed that the person entitled thereto appeared and waived notice.[24] The proceedings, however, cannot be attacked by a person who is not properly interested therein, on the ground of want of service of such notice.[25]

Investigation and judgment or order. It is the trial court's duty to ascertain all the facts and to make such an investigation as in its judgment will assist in reaching a proper conclusion as to the person who is best qualified to furnish a proper environment and home for the child,[26] and under some statutes a referee may be appointed.[27] The court should make such orders as to the infant's custody as will properly safeguard its best interests and welfare.[28] An order awarding the custody of a child merely adjudicates the rights of the parties on the question of which party should have the custody,[29] and is not res judicata with respect to future acts and conditions.[30] Furthermore the court cannot establish permanent custody of the infant, and thereby assume to foreclose future judicial consideration of action in the premises;[31] any order or decree affecting his custody is subject to future control and modification by the court, as subsequent conditions and circumstances may require for his welfare,[32] but an order decreeing custody may not be changed or modified unless an adequate cause therefor arises from changed conditions.[33] A judgment or decree of a juvenile court in custody proceedings should show the facts on which its jurisdiction rests.[34]

Obedience to a judgment or order relating to the custody of an infant is enforceable by seizure and restraint of the person.[35]

Preliminary orders. Pending the proceedings to ertson, 127 So. 221, 220 Ala. 654—McDaniel v. Youngblood, 77 So. 674, 201 Ala. 260—Pugh v. Pugh, 111 So. 644, 21 Ala.App. 650.

Mont.—Haynes v. Fillner, 75 P.2d 802, 106 Mont. 59.

20. Tex.—Conley v. St. Jacques, Civ. App., 110 S.W.2d 1238.

21. N.C.—Winner v. Brice, 193 S.E. 400, 212 N.C. 294.

22. Ala.—Bridges v. Bridges, 148 So. 816, 227 Ala. 144, quoting Corpus Juris—First Nat. Bank v. Robertson, 127 So. 221, 220 Ala. 654.
Wyo.—Urbach v. Urbach, 73 P.2d 953, 958, 52 Wyo. 207, 113 A.L.R. 889.
31 C.J. p 993 note 34.

23. Wash.—State v. Wheeler, 86 P. 394, 43 Wash. 183.

Temporary custodian
A notice, issued by juvenile court judge and addressed to and duly served on minor children's temporary custodians, that proceedings involving their custody had been commenced and was pending in such court, was sufficient compliance with a statute authorizing issuance of summons to minor child and its parents or persons having child's custody, whether summons should be issued to and served on children being within court's discretion.—Winner v. Brice, 193 S.E. 400, 212 N.C. 294.

Grandmother not interested person
Cal.—People ex rel. Pollock v. Bogart, 138 P.2d 360, 58 Cal.App.2d 831.
Necessity of notice of commitment proceedings see infra § 99.

24. Cal.—People v. Spiers, 62 P.2d 414, 17 Cal.App.2d 477.

Person having legal custody of the child is not divested thereof by order declaring child to be a ward of juvenile court which is so void for want of jurisdiction.—People v. Spiers, supra.

25. Cal.—People ex rel. Pollock v. Bogart, 138 P.2d 360, 58 Cal.App. 2d 831.

26. Fla.—State ex rel. Bullard v. Clark, 179 So. 657, 131 Fla. 684.
Tex.—Conley v. St. Jacques, Civ. App., 110 S.W.2d 1238, error dismissed.

27. Ohio.—Elford v. Elford, App., 44 N.E.2d 124.

Need not be attorney
The statute authorizing juvenile court judge to appoint referees does not require that appointee shall be an attorney at law.—Elford v. Elford, supra.

28. Ark.—Richards v. Taylor, 150 S.W.2d 32, 202 Ark. 183—Kirk v. Jones, 12 S.W.2d 879, 178 Ark. 583.
Fla.—Davis v. Davis, 196 So. 614, 143 Fla. 282.
Protection of infant's interest by court generally see infra § 105.

29. N.Y.—In re Grenier, 1 N.Y.S.2d 235, 165 Misc. 784.

30. Ala.—Rosa v. Underwood, 179 So. 530, 235 Ala. 447.
N.Y.—In re Grenier, 1 N.Y.S.2d 235, 165 Misc. 784.

31. Ala.—Lassiter v. Wilson, 93 So. 598, 207 Ala. 669—Decker v. Decker, 58 So. 195, 176 Ala. 299.

32. Ala.—Rosa v. Underwood, 179 So. 530, 235 Ala. 447—Allison v. Cox, 119 So. 675, 218 Ala. 548.
Cal.—In re Reynolds' Guardianship, App., 141 P.2d 498, 501, quoting Corpus Juris.
Fla.—Davis v. Davis, 196 So. 614, 143 Fla. 282.
Md.—Maddox v. Maddox, 199 A. 507, 174 Md. 470.
N.Y.—In re Grenier, 1 N.Y.S.2d 235, 165 Misc. 784.

Any change in circumstances justifying modification of decree awarding custody of child should be addressed to court having assumed jurisdiction.—Allison v. Cox, 119 So. 675, 218 Ala. 548.

33. Utah.—State v. Sorensen, 132 P.2d 132, 102 Utah 474.

34. La.—State v. Bertucci, 87 So. 23, 148 La. 403.
31 C.J. p 990 note 84.

Mere adjudication by court that minor is ward of court without such finding is insufficient.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487.
In commitment proceedings see infra § 99.

35. Va.—Buchanan v. Buchanan, 197 S.E. 426, 170 Va. 458, 116 A.L.R. 688.

determine the custody of an infant the court, in its discretion, may, without notice,[36] make such preliminary orders for his temporary custody and care as it may deem fit,[37] and may provide for the maintenance of the child pending the determination of his custody.[38]

Objections. An order awarding the custody of a child, under some statutes, cannot be attacked after the time for appeal and the period for statutory relief has expired, unless a fatal error appears on the face of the record;[39] and if a petition to set aside the order does not disclose any change in the conditions which would demand a change in the order, and the record discloses that notice had been properly given to interested persons, the court may refuse to hear proof on the merits of the petition.[40] A judgment of a juvenile court awarding temporary custody of the child, and assuming permanent custody of him as a ward of the state, is not subject to collateral attack in adoption proceedings.[41] Under some statutes a judgment of a juvenile court determining the right to custody is not superseded by service on the juvenile court judge of notice of intention to apply for a writ of certiorari and the filing of a pauper's affidavit as provided for in the statute, or by the service on such judge of the writ of certiorari duly sanctioned, although the judge in such a case may order that the judgment be superseded.[42]

§ 9. Support and Maintenance

The state may provide for the support and maintenance of a child whose parent is unable to support it, and may place liability therefor on certain public authorities.

The state, as parens patriæ, has the power to provide for the support of a child on the sole ground of the financial inability of the parent to support it,[43] and under some statutes certain public authorities are made liable for the support of dependent children,[44] such as, for instance, the county.[45] Where the statute so provides, a juvenile court may have the power to make an order for appliances or apparatus or devices for a child in need.[46]

36. N.Y.—People v. New York Nursery & Child's Hospital, 129 N.E. 341, 230 N.Y. 119.

37. Ala.—Ex parte Wright, 142 So. 672, 225 Ala. 220—Ex parte Fletcher, 142 So. 30, 225 Ala. 139.
N.J.—In re Cox' Guardianship, 173 A. 602, 603, 12 N.J.Misc. 536, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—People v. New York Nursery & Child's Hospital, 129 N.E. 341, 230 N.Y. 119.
Wash.—State v. Reynolds, 110 P. 633, 60 Wash. 12.
31 C.J. p 993 note 38.

Custodian subject to orders
Person having infant's custody by court decree pending appeal becomes court's agent, and is subject to orders thereof that infant's health and best interest be conserved pending litigation and thereafter.—Ex parte Wright, 142 So. 672, 225 Ala. 220.

On a petition for an interlocutory injunction
In proceeding to restrain applications pending in another county for unnecessary administration of estates of which minor was undisputed sole heir, the court may allow grandmother-petitioner to retain custody of minor as temporary guardian.—Chase v. Bartlett, 166 S.E. 832, 176 Ga. 40.

38. Cal.—Foy v. Foy, 73 P.2d 618, 23 Cal.App.2d 543.
Support and maintenance generally see infra § 9.

39. Cal.—People ex rel. Pollock v. Bogart, 138 P.2d 360, 58 Cal.App.2d 831.

40. Cal.—People ex rel. Pollock v. Bogart, supra.

Where fact of service of notice is stated in the record, orders declaring movant's minor grandchildren to be wards of the juvenile court would not be set aside more than a year after their issuance on ground that it could not be presumed that movant claiming to have had custody of the children at the time was served with citation.—People ex rel. Pollock v. Bogart, supra.

As collateral attack
Where record showed nothing inconsistent with recital of orders declaring movant's minor grandchildren to be wards of the juvenile court, that "due and legal notice" had been given to "all parties entitled thereto" recital was accepted as "prima facie truth" and all presumptions not contradicted by the record were in favor of the judgment, and movant's offer of proof that she had not been served with notice of the proceeding was properly refused on ground that motion to set aside orders was a "collateral attack" on orders.—People ex rel. Pollock v. Bogart, supra.

41. Ga.—Criswell v. Jones, 3 S.E.2d 115, 60 Ga.App. 81, transferred, see 199 S.E. 804, 187 Ga. 55.

42. Ga.—Owens v. Watkins, 5 S.E.2d 905, 189 Ga. 311.

43. Minn.—State v. Klasen, 143 N.W. 984, 123 Minn. 382, 49 L.R.A., N.S., 597.
Neb.—Rumsey v. Saline County, 167 N.W. 66, 102 Neb. 302.
Judicial allowances for support see infra § 58.
Liability of:
Guardian see Guardian and Ward §§ 61–63.
Minors for necessaries see infra § 78.
Parent see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child §§ 14–21, also 46 C.J. p 1256 note 88–p 1278 note 50.

44. N.Y.—People v. Nassau County, 153 N.Y.S. 1076, 168 App.Div. 863.

Statute requiring municipality to pay cost of secular instruction of children maintained by it in institutions or boarded out is mandatory.—Domes v. Board of Sup'rs of Erie County, 243 N.Y.S. 640, 230 App.Div. 276.
Illegitimate child as public charge see Bastards § 18 d.

45. N.Y.—People v. Nassau County, 153 N.Y.S. 1076, 168 App.Div. 863.
Ohio.—State v. Wead, 150 N.E. 80, 113 Ohio St. 692.

Infant orphans, or abandoned half orphans, who were boarded out by county as "dependent" and "neglected" children within the meaning of the statute.—Domes v. Board of Sup'rs of Erie County, 243 N.Y.S. 640, 230 App.Div. 276.

County liable to school district for tuition and medical attendance furnished neglected children boarded out in families in district in which children had not previously resided.—Domes v. Board of Sup'rs of Erie County, supra.

46. Special shoes prescribed for child by medical authority may be ordered under Dom.Rel.Ct.Act § 85.

§ 10. —— Mothers' Pensions

Under statutory provisions for mothers' pensions, an indigent widow or abandoned mother, who has resided in a designated subdivision of the state for a specified period, is entitled, on a proper application therefor, to a pension for the support of her children. The right to such pension may be terminated at the will of the legislature; but it cannot be arbitrarily revoked by the tribunal which administers the pension.

The legislature may provide for periodical payments to indigent widows or abandoned mothers for support of their children in their own homes,[47] to be paid out of the funds of designated local subdivisions of the government, according to the provisions of the particular statute.[48] Such legislation has been held constitutional,[49] but not where it provides for the pension regardless of the financial condition of the mothers or the widows.[50] The legislation should receive a broad application[51] and a liberal construction.[52] The pension is in the nature of a compensation by the state for services rendered in rearing future citizens in proper surroundings,[53] and the statute providing therefor is not a poor relief statute,[54] and its operation is not affected by the statutes providing for the relief of the poor generally,[55] nor is it affected by a constitutional provision with regard to a general pension system.[56]

In order to entitle a mother to such pension she must bring herself within the terms of the statute.[57] The right to the pension is not dependent on either the delinquency of the child or on any unfitness on the part of the parent.[58] However, ordinarily the mother is not entitled to the pension where the child has sufficient property of its own for its support.[59]

Residence as element. Residence in the county for a specified period ordinarily is required.[60] The terms "residence," "legal residence," and "legal settlement" in this connection are not synonymous,[61] and a mother's or widow's "residence" within the county may be sufficient to support a petition for the pension although her "legal settlement" is elsewhere.[62] A temporary absence or removal from —In re Lewis, 15 N.Y.S.2d 708, 172 Misc. 736.

Mother may be required to appear for testimony which may permit order fixing a contribution by her to the cost of orthopedic shoes.—In re Lewis, supra.

Evidence held sufficient to justify order for furnishing orthopedic shoes.—In re Lewis, supra.

47. Minn.—State v. Klasen, 143 N. W. 984, 123 Minn. 382, 49 L.R.A., N.S., 597.
Pa.—In re Mothers' Pension Act, 24 Pa.Dist. 285.
31 C.J. p 993 note 47.

48. N.D.—Pierce County v. Rugby, 181 N.W. 954, 47 N.D. 301.
Utah.—Startup v. Harmon, 203 P. 637, 59 Utah 329.
31 C.J. p 993 note 47 [c].

49. Md.—Mayor and City Council of Baltimore v. Fuget, 165 A. 618, 164 Md. 335, 88 A.L.R. 1058.
Tenn.—State v. Trotter, 276 S.W. 867, 152 Tenn. 217.

50. Ariz.—State Bd. of Control v. Buckstegge, 158 P. 837, 18 Ariz. 277.

51. Pa.—In re Mothers' Pensions, 28 Pa.Dist. 157.

52. Iowa.—In re Newhouse, 9 N.W. 2d 372.
Minn.—In re Koopman, 177 N.W. 777, 146 Minn. 36.
Pa.—In re State Supervisor, Mothers' Assistance Fund, 28 Pa.Dist. 244.

53. N.D.—In re Walker, 193 N.W. 250, 49 N.D. 682.

54. Neb.—Frontier County v. Palmer, 251 N.W. 830, 125 Neb. 716.
N.D.—In re Walker, 193 N.W. 250, 49 N.D. 682.

Statutes distinguished
The mothers' pension act and the pauper statutes were enacted with entirely different objects in view and to remedy conditions altogether different. Their respective subject matters are entirely distinct.—Frontier County v. Palmer, 251 N.W. 830, 125 Neb. 716.

55. Minn.—State v. Klasen, 143 N. W. 984, 123 Minn. 382, 49 L.R.A., N.S., 597.
N.D.—Pierce County v. Rugby, 181 N.W. 954, 47 N.D. 301.

A statute apportioning the expenses of a pauper's care between a county and the township where he has a legal residence, has no application to allowance for mothers' pensions, and a city is not liable for a part of such allowances paid by the county.—City of Bismarck v. Burleigh County, 190 N.W. 811, 49 N.D. 205—Pierce County v. Rugby, 181 N.W. 954, 47 N.D. 301.

Mothers' pension law prevails over prior enacted poor laws to extent of conflict.—State v. Juvenile Court of Wadena County, 246 N.W. 544, 188 Minn. 125.
Support of paupers by local authorities generally see the C.J.S. title Paupers §§ 66–70, also 48 C.J. p 521 note 16–p 535 note 89.

56. Md.—Mayor and City Council of Baltimore v. Fuget, 165 A. 618, 164 Md. 335, 88 A.L.R. 1058.

57. Iowa.—Debrot v. Marion County, 145 N.W. 467, 164 Iowa 208.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Powell, 100 A. 964, 256 Pa. 470, L.R.A.1917E 1150, reversing 44 Pa.Co. 622.
31 C.J. p 993 note 50.

Mother whose husband is in an insane asylum is not within a statute which applies only to a mother who is widowed or has been deserted. —In re Mothers' Pension Act, 24 Pa. Dist. 285.

Widowed grandmother
Allowance for support of fatherless minor children in charge of widowed grandmother is not authorized, a grandmother not being a "mother" within the statute providing that the child or children for whose benefit the allowance is to be made must be living with the mother.—In re Stone, 204 N.W. 946, 48 S.D. 428.

58. Minn.—State v. Klasen, 143 N. W. 984, 123 Minn. 382, 49 L.R.A., N.S., 597.

59. Or.—Buster v. Marion County, 165 P. 1168, 84 Or. 624.

Under repealed statute
Pa.—In re Reiver's Estate, 10 Som. Leg.J. 134, 54 York.Leg.Rec. 97, reversed after statutory change 22 A.2d 655, 343 Pa. 137.

60. Iowa.—In re Newhouse, 9 N.W. 2d 372.
N.D.—Kost v. Sheridan County, 179 N.W. 703, 46 N.D. 75.
Or.—Ross v. Marion County Court, 35 P.2d 484, 147 Or. 695.
Pa.—In re State Supervisor, Mothers' Assistance Fund, 28 Pa.Dist. 244.
31 C.J. p 994 note 51.

61. Iowa.—In re Newhouse, 9 N.W. 2d 372.

62. Iowa.—In re Newhouse, supra—

the county does not defeat the right to the pension;[63] but, under some statutes, a widow may be barred from securing a pension in a county in which she has established a sufficient residence by the service of notice on her to depart and return to the place of her settlement prior to her filing an application for the pension.[64]

Procedure. The pension is awarded on an application,[65] which may be an informal ex parte application.[66] The application should be made to a court having jurisdiction in the premises,[67] alleging sufficient facts to warrant the granting of the relief.[68]

Subject to the limitation that the relief granted cannot be other than that provided by the statute,[69] the grant or allowance of the pension is within the discretion of the authority on whom the power to grant it has been vested, such as the overseers of the poor, and in the exercise of such discretion it may be refused.[70]

Repeal of statute, and termination of right. A mother's pension is a mere gratuity, in which the pensioner has no vested legal right,[71] and therefore is terminable without notice at the will of the legislature,[72] as by repeal of the statute making provision for its allowance,[73] but such a repeal does not affect an amount due and accrued under the prior act, although no action is taken on an application therefor until after the enactment of the repealing act.[74] The right to the pension cannot be arbitrarily terminated by the tribunal which administers the pension, and, although it may be revoked for a good cause, it cannot be revoked because of a report against the mother's character without giving her notice and an opportunity to be heard.[75]

Recovery against husband and father. Money paid under a mothers' pension law is paid out in pursuance of a sound public policy and is not recoverable in a civil action against the husband and father.[76]

§ 11. Regulations for Protection of Health and Morals

It is within the powers of the legislature to enact regulations for the protection of the health and morals of infants; and under this power various acts detrimental to infants are made punishable as crimes.

It is within the powers of the legislature to enact regulations for the protection of the health and

Adams County v. Maxwell, 212 N. W. 152, 202 Iowa 1327.
Minn.—State v. Juvenile Court of Wadena County, 246 N.W. 544, 188 Minn. 125.

Family's settlement for purpose of poor relief in another county does not bar granting of mother's pension, but is relevant in determining amount allowable.—State v. Juvenile Court of Wadena County, supra.

63. Iowa.—In re Newhouse, 9 N.W. 2d 372.
N.D.—In re Walker, 193 N.W. 250, 49 N.D. 682.
Pa.—In re Mothers' Assistance Fund, 12 Pa.Dist. & Co. 246—In re State Supervisor, Mothers' Assistance Fund, 28 Pa.Dist. 244.

64. Iowa.—In re Newhouse, 9 N.W. 2d 372.

Sufficiency of notice
Fact that notice to depart from county and return of service thereon was not shown to have been filed with county board of supervisors or with auditor as clerk of board was not sufficient to establish that statute relating thereto was not substantially complied with.—In re Newhouse, supra.

Record showing service of notice
Iowa.—In re Newhouse, supra.

65. Minn.—State v. Klasen, 143 N. W. 984, 123 Minn. 382, 49 L.R.A., N.S., 597.
31 C.J. p 994 note 55.

County judge, in preparing application for dependent mothers' assistance, acts for petitioner and not for county court.—Ross v. Marion County Court, 35 P.2d 484, 147 Or. 695.

66. Tenn.—State v. Trotter, 276 S. W. 867, 152 Tenn. 217.

It is not necessary to bring suit and make the county and county judges parties, under a statute providing that allowance shall be made after public hearing by judge of juvenile court on application of mother.—State v. Trotter, supra.

67. N.D.—Cass County v. Nixon, 161 N.W. 204, 35 N.D. 601, L.R.A.1917C 897.
Tenn.—State v. Trotter, 276 S.W. 867, 152 Tenn. 217.
31 C.J. p 994 note 56.

68. Or.—Badura v. Multnomah County, 170 P. 938, 87 Or. 446.
31 C.J. p 994 note 57.

69. Or.—Finley v. Marion County, 159 P. 557, 81 Or. 294, followed in In re Wolfe, 159 P. 558, 81 Or. 297.
31 C.J. p 994 note 62.

Assistance from date of order
Under statute prohibiting giving of any assistance to dependent mother prior to order giving such assistance, petitioner is precluded from obtaining order granting assistance from date of application.—Ross v. Marion County Court, 35 P.2d 484, 147 Or. 695.

70. Mass.—Soper v. Wheeler, 132 N. E. 46, 239 Mass. 327.

71. Wash.—In re Snyder, 160 P. 12, 93 Wash. 59, 3 A.L.R. 1230.
W.Va.—Densmore v. Mercer County Court, 145 S.E. 641, 106 W.Va. 317.

72. W.Va.—Densmore v. Mercer County Court, supra.

73. Wash.—In re Snyder, 160 P. 12, 93 Wash. 59, 3 A.L.R. 1230.
31 C.J. p 994 note 64.

Repeal and reënactment of earlier statute
Md.—Mayor and City Council of Baltimore v. Fuget, 165 A. 618, 164 Md. 335, 88 A.L.R. 1058.

Act not repealed
"Mothers' relief" law as a public general law, is not repealed or affected by a city's adoption of a charter under home rule amendment.—Mayor and City Council of Baltimore v. Fuget, supra.

74. Or.—Finley v. Marion County, 159 P. 557, 81 Or. 294, followed in In re Wolfe, 159 P. 581, 81 Or. 297.

75. W.Va.—Densmore v. Mercer County Court, 145 S.E. 641, 106 W.Va. 317.

76. Neb.—Frontier County v. Palmer, 251 N.W. 830, 125 Neb. 716.
S.D.—Haakon County v. Staley, 243 N.W. 671, 60 S.D. 87.

morals of infants,[77] and to make punishable any act that contributes toward the destruction of their health or morals.[78] Accordingly, under statutes enacted in the exercise of such power, persons are prohibited from, and punishable for, committing lewd and lascivious acts on the body of children under certain ages;[79] taking indecent liberties with children;[80] enticing a child into a room, office, or

77. Ga.—Glen v. State, 72 S.E. 927, 10 Ga.App. 128.
31 C.J. p 994 note 66.
Power of municipal corporation to enact regulations to protect morals of infants see the C.J.S. title Municipal Corporations § 269, also 43 C.J. p 389 notes 68, 69.

The law has special regard for the health of children, and for their moral care, training, and guidance. —In re Vasko, 263 N.Y.S. 552, 238 App.Div. 128—In re Rotkowitz, 25 N.Y.S.2d 624, 175 Misc. 948.

78. Minn.—State v. Rosenfield, 126 N.W. 1068, 111 Minn. 301, 137 Am. S.R. 557, 29 L.R.A.,N.S., 331.
31 C.J. p 994 note 67.

79. Cal.—People v. Maine, 269 P. 194, 93 Cal.App. 141.
Mont.—State v. Kocher, 119 P.2d 35, 112 Mont. 511, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 994 note 70.

Acts constituting other crimes

(1) Some statutes penalizing lewd and lascivious acts on the body of a child expressly exclude acts constituting crimes against nature and certain other sexual crimes.—People v. Dant, 229 P. 983, 68 Cal.App. 588.

(2) But one who has committed lewd and lascivious acts leading up to the consummation of a crime excluded from the statute may, nevertheless, be punished for his preliminary acts if they are not inseparable from the subsequent crime.—People v. O'Donnell, 81 P.2d 939, 11 Cal.2d 666—People v. Paris, 139 P.2d 671, 59 Cal.App.2d 699—People v. Bush, 133 P.2d 870, 56 Cal.App.2d 877—People v. Hunt, 61 P.2d 1208, 17 Cal. App.2d 284—People v. Epperson, 45 P.2d 359, 7 Cal.App.2d 125—People v. Parker, 241 P. 401, 74 Cal.App. 540—People v. Lind, 229 P. 990, 68 Cal.App. 575.

(3) So, too, one who commits lewd and lascivious acts not constituting excepted crimes after having consummated the commission of one of the excepted crimes, may be punished for such subsequent lewd conduct.—People v. Karpinski, 111 P.2d 393, 43 Cal.App.2d 545.

Elements generally
Mont.—State v. Kocher, 119 P.2d 35, 112 Mont. 511.

Contact as element

(1) Under some statutes, it is not necessary to prove that defendant laid hands on any particular part of the body of the child.—People v. Hartshorn, 138 P.2d 782, 59 Cal.App. 2d 285.

(2) Indeed the crime may be completed without actual contact with the child's body.—People v. Lanham, 31 P.2d 410, 137 Cal.App. 737.

(3) Under other statutes, however, there must be a physical contact between perpetrator and child, although it need not be a "flesh to flesh" contact.—State v. Kocher, 119 P.2d 35, 112 Mont. 511.

Intent as element

(1) The specific intent required to constitute a violation of the statute is that the prohibited acts be accompanied by the intent of arousing, appealing to, or gratifying the lust, passions, or sexual desires of defendant or of the child involved in the alleged offense.
Cal.—People v. Taylor, 88 P.2d 942, 31 Cal.App.2d 723—People v. Bronson, 230 P. 213, 69 Cal.App. 83.
Mont.—State v. Kocher, 119 P.2d 35, 112 Mont. 511.

(2) Fact that act committed on child is one of intercourse does not alter the actor's intent to arouse his lusts and passions by lewd and lascivious acts.—People v. Bush, 133 P. 2d 870, 56 Cal.App.2d 877—People v. Bronson, 230 P. 213, 69 Cal.App. 83.

(3) In determining the intent, the court is guided by the statutory rule that intent is manifested by the circumstances connected with the offense, and the sound mind and discretion of accused.—State v. Kocher, supra.

Age of child

Prosecutrix, who was born on November 4, 1927, was fourteen years old on November 3, 1941, and hence defendant could not be convicted for violation of the statute based on acts allegedly committed on prosecutrix on such date, in view of provision thereof requiring acts to have been committed on "a child under the age of fourteen years."—People v. Dudley, 127 P.2d 569, 53 Cal.App.2d 181.

Nature of act

A merely licentious act is sufficient to justify conviction of violation of the statute.—People v. Beaty, 130 P.2d 433, 55 Cal.App.2d 258.

Words "lewdly" and "lasciviously" have somewhat the same meaning, and "lewdly and lasciviously playing with a female child" within the statute making such act a misdemeanor means playing or dallying with or touching or handling such child in an indecent and obscene manner calculated to excite passions. —State v. Martin, 183 A. 334, 7 W. W.Harr., Del., 342.

80. Colo.—Martinez v. People, 137 P.2d 690—Koontz v. People, 263 P. 19, 82 Colo. 589.
Minn.—State v. Phillips, 223 N.W. 98, 176 Minn. 249.
31 C.J. p 994 note 79.

Acts constituting other crimes

"A statute punishing any indecent liberty with or on the person of any child, which act under the law does not amount to 'rape or attempt to commit rape, or assault, with the intent to commit rape or sodomy, or other crime against nature,' is a law punishing any and all indecent liberties taken with any child, unless they are within the excepted classes specified, and such indecent liberty need not relate to any of these excepted crimes, nor must it be an 'assault with intent to commit rape, or sodomy, or other crime against nature.' "—State v. Flath, 228 N.W. 847, 59 N.D. 121.

Elements

(1) Under some statutes, neither assault with intent to commit rape nor intent to have carnal knowledge are elements of crime of taking immoral, improper, and indecent liberties with female child.—People v. Gilmore, 150 N.E. 631, 320 Ill. 233.

(2) Under other statutes, however, it is held that assault and battery are necessarily involved in the crime of taking improper liberties with female child, and that the crime is not committed by an intent, short of consummation.—People v. Visel, 265 N.W. 781, 275 Mich. 77.

"Indecent liberties" defined

(1) Liberties referred to are such as common sense of society would regard as indecent and improper.—People v. Lakin, 282 N.W. 149, 286 Mich. 282—People v. Visel, 265 N.W. 781, 275 Mich. 77—People v. Healy, 251 N.W. 393, 265 Mich. 317.

(2) The liberty taken may be indecent, even if consented to by one capable of giving consent, yet not punishable by statute since the term is one of propriety differing with age, code of morals, and generally accepted standards of society.—State v. Hoffman, 2 N.W.2d 707, 240 Wis. 142.

Accomplishment of intent

Under information alleging that defendant committed certain lewd acts on nine year old girl with intent of arousing, appealing to, and gratifying lust and passions and sexual desires of child "and" defendant, the use of word "and" instead of "or," as in the statute, does not require proof that acts gratified to any other place for the purpose of taking indecent liberties;[81] enticing female children under certain ages into a house of ill fame, or assignation, or elsewhere, for the purpose of prostitution or for individual sexual intercourse;[82] abusing a confidential relationship to facilitate prostitution or corruption of a minor for the purpose of satisfying the lust of another;[83] endangering the morals of a minor;[84] having carnal knowledge of, and sexual intercourse with, a male infant;[85] enticing minors from the person or place of their commitment;[86] permitting minors in prohibited places;[87] purchasing junk from minors;[88] selling or furnishing cigars, cigarettes, or tobacco to minors under certain ages;[89] selling, lending, giving, or exhibiting to minors stories or pictures of bloodshed, lust, or crime;[90] and various other acts considered in the ensuing sections and in other titles of this work. The legislature may authorize a court to order medical or surgical care of children in proper cases.[91] Statutes such as these should be construed desires both of child and defendant, since gist of crime is intent with which act is done and not its accomplishment.

Cal.—People v. Hunt, 61 P.2d 1208, 17 Cal.App.2d 284.
Wis.—State v. Hoffman, 2 N.W.2d 707, 240 Wis. 142.

Consent of child is no defense in prosecution for taking indecent liberty with child's person.—State v. Flath, 228 N.W. 847, 59 N.D. 121.

Distinguished from attempted rape

In an attempt to commit rape on a female under the age of consent, the intent is the gist of the offense, and is distinguishable from the offense of taking indecent liberties with the person of a female.—Thomas v. State, 95 P.2d 658, 68 Okl.Cr. 1—Hall v. State, 93 P.2d 1107, 67 Okl.Cr. 330.

"Child" has been defined as any human being under age of eighteen. —State v. Flath, 228 N.W. 847, 59 N.D. 121.

Attempt

Prosecution for attempt to take improper liberties with minor is maintainable under statute relative to attempts to commit felony.—Ambrose v. Reichenbach, 229 N.W. 35, 201 Wis. 17.

81. "Any other place"

The statute is not, under the "ejusdem generis" rule, applicable only to children who happen to be in rooms or offices, but under the words "or to any other place" includes an automobile parked on a public street. —Martinez v. People, Colo., 137 P. 2d 690.

82. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Walker, 34 Pa.Super. 14.
31 C.J. p 994 note 72.
Harboring minors for the purpose of prostitution see the C.J.S. title Prostitution § 7, also 50 C.J. p 807 note 2–p 808 note 11.

83. Master and servant

The relation of master and servant is one of confidence, and a master who abuses his female servant's confidence and induces her to lead a life of prostitution is guilty of the offense.—U. S. v. Chu Chang, 6 Philippine 74.

84. Actual impairment of the morals of the minor is not an essential element of the offense under a statute punishing one who knowingly places an infant of less than a specified age in a situation whereby its morals might be impaired.—People, on Complaint of Barber, v. Caminiti, 28 N.Y.S.2d 133.

85. Ky.—Madden v. Commonwealth, 261 S.W. 273, 202 Ky. 782.

86. Wis.—State v. Meyers, 167 N. W. 255, 167 Wis. 278.
31 C.J. p 994 note 73.

87. Minn.—State v. Rosenfield, 126 N.W. 1068, 111 Minn. 301, 137 Am. S.R. 557, 29 L.R.A.,N.S., 331.
Admission of children to:
Places where liquor is sold see the C.J.S. title Intoxicating Liquors § 231, also 33 C.J. p 590 note 84.
Theaters and other places of amusement see the C.J.S. title Theaters and Shows § 58, also 62 C.J. p 887 notes 19, 20, and 31 C.J. p 994 note 75 [a], [b], [c].
Gaming places see infra § 15.

Accompaniment by parent

Admitting child actually or apparently under sixteen to certain enumerated places is a crime only if the child is unaccompanied by parent or guardian, but admitting such a child to a reputed house of prostitution or assignation, or to a place where opium is smoked, or permitting child to remain therein is forbidden, regardless of whether child is accompanied by parent or guardian.—People, on Complaint of Rosner, v. Rose, 284 N.Y.S. 962, 158 Misc. 508.

88. N.Y.—People v. McGuire, 99 N. Y.S. 91, 113 App.Div. 631.
12 C.J. p 920 note 41.

Stolen

Where the statute prohibits the purchasing of such junk as might have been stolen, it has been held that it is not necessary to prove that defendant knew that it had been stolen if, in fact, it was stolen.—State v. Serritella, 97 A. 770, 89 N. J.Law 127.

89. Ill.—Chicago v. Betti, 192 Ill. App. 87.
N.Y.—People v. Zabor, 76 N.E. 17, 183 N.Y. 242.
Prohibition of sale of intoxicants to minors see the C.J.S. title Intoxicating Liquors § 259, also 33 C.J. p 601 note 3.

Purchase at direction of officer

That sheriff caused minor to make purchase of cigarettes does not prevent sale from being criminal.—State v. Johnson, 246 P. 531, 42 Idaho 381.

Recovery on dealer's bond

Entire penalty of statutory cigarette dealer's bond, conditioned on compliance with law prohibiting sale of cigarettes to minors, was recoverable by state for breach, without regard to damage actually sustained, or proof thereof, and without necessity of previous conviction of dealer for unlawful sale of cigarettes to minor.—State v. Vending Mach. Corporation of America, 51 P.2d 724, 174 Okl. 603, 103 A.L.R. 391.

Statute not repealed by statute punishing contributing to delinquency of minor.—Stone v. State, 41 N.E. 2d 609, 220 Ind. 165.

90. Ill.—Strohm v. People, 43 N.E. 622, 160 Ill. 582, affirming 60 Ill. App. 128.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Dowling, 14 Pa.Co. 607.

91. Circumstances warranting order

(1) The statute empowers the court to order an operation not only if the parents consent thereto and if the life of the child is at stake, but also if the health, the limb, the person and the future of the child is at stake.—In re Rotkowitz, 25 N. Y.S.2d 624, 175 Misc. 948.

(2) Thus, where an operation on child was necessary to correct and prevent extension of leg deformity induced by poliomyelitis and mother of the child favored such operation, an operation would be ordered by the domestic relations court of the City of New York, over objection of the father.—In re Rotkowitz, supra.

(3) Where parents arbitrarily refused to permit removal of eye of two-year old child as recommended by medical experts, court did not abuse discretion in ordering opera-liberally to effectuate their purpose,[92] and will not be deemed repealed by a later statute unless such intent is clearly manifested.[93]

§ 12. —— Regulation of Employment

In many jurisdictions the employment of minors is regulated by statute; and frequently such statutes restrict or prohibit the employment of minors in certain occupations or establishments.

It is within the police power of the legislature to make proper regulations as to the employment of children.[94]

Construction. General rules governing the construction of statutes are applicable to statutes regulating the employment of minors.[95] Accordingly, such regulations, in so far as they provide remedies for infants employed in violation thereof, should be liberally construed to effectuate their purpose;[96] but the criminal violations of the regulations, which are considered as mala prohibita[97] and not mala in se,[98] should be strictly construed.[99] However, in the final analysis the meaning of the statute depends on the intention of the legislature as manifested by the language employed and the purpose for which it was enacted.[1]

Particular regulations. Among the various regulations relating to the employment of minors which have been construed and applied are regulations which prohibit or restrict the employment of children under a designated age,[2] in occupations specition.—In re Vasko, 263 N.Y.S. 552, 238 App.Div. 128.

92. Or.—State v. Eisen, 99 P. 282, 53 Or. 297, rehearing denied 100 P. 257, 53 Or. 297.

Different statutes providing different penalties for offenses against minors are not inconsistent or in conflict with each other where the principal elements thereof are similar but are accompanied by varying circumstances aggravating or affecting the degree of such offenses.—In re Cooper, 15 N.E.2d 634, 134 Ohio St. 40, affirming 16 N.E.2d 954, 58 Ohio App. 519.

93. Ind.—Stone v. State, 41 N.E.2d 609, 220 Ind. 165.
Ohio.—In re Cooper, 15 N.E.2d 634, 134 Ohio St. 40, affirming 16 N.E. 2d 954, 58 Ohio App. 519.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Walker, 34 Pa.Super. 14.

94. U.S.—Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. v. Stapleton, 49 S.Ct. 442, 279 U. S. 587, 73 L.Ed. 861, reversing Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. v. Stapleton's Guardian, 3 S.W.2d 209, 223 Ky. 154, certiorari granted Chesapeake & O. R. Co. v. Stapleton, 49 S.Ct. 8, 278 U.S. 585, 73 L.Ed. 520.
Fla.—Tampa Shipbuilding & Engineering v. Adams, 181 So. 403, 132 Fla. 419, rehearing denied Tampa Shipbuilding & Engineering Co. v. Adams, 181 So. 893, 132 Fla. 419.
Ill.—Gill v. Boston Store of Chicago, 168 N.E. 895, 337 Ill. 70—Kowalczyk v. Swift & Co., 160 N.E. 588, 329 Ill. 308.
Iowa.—State v. Erle, 232 N.W. 279, 210 Iowa 974, 72 A.L.R. 137.
Mass.—Commonwealth v. Prince, 46 N.E.2d 755, 313 Mass. 223, affirmed Prince v. Commonwealth of Massachusetts, 64 S.Ct. 438, 321 U. S. 158, 88 L.Ed. ——, rehearing denied 64 S.Ct. 784—Commonwealth v. Riley, 97 N.E. 367, 210 Mass. 387, Ann.Cas.1912D, 388, affirmed 34 S.Ct. 469, 232 U.S. 671, 58 L.Ed. 788.
Ohio.—Kendall v. State, 148 N.E. 367, 113 Ohio St. 111—Collings-Taylor Co. v. American Fidelity Co., 117 N.E. 158, 96 Ohio St. 123.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Mecca Co-operative Co., 60 Pa.Super. 314—In re Employment Certificates, 25 Pa. Dist. 920—Commissioner of Labor and Industry v. Laskey, 25 Pa. Dist. 907, 43 Pa.Co. 299, 63 Pittsb. Leg.J. 330—In re Employment of Minors, 25 Pa.Dist. 903—Commonwealth v. Swan, 19 Pa.Dist. 624, 38 Pa.Co. 24.
Vt.—Wlock v. Fort Dummer Mills, 129 A. 311, 98 Vt. 449.
31 C.J. p 995 note 84.
Statutory regulation of wages of minors see the C.J.S. title Master and Servant § 152, also 39 C.J. p 224 note 36–p 225 note 47.

95. Ill.—Wright v. Stresenreuter Bros., 234 Ill.App. 15.
Mont.—Shaw v. Kendall, 136 P.2d 748.
N.Y.—Balser v. Gammel, 12 N.Y.S. 2d 312, 257 App.Div. 85, appeal denied 14 N.Y.S.2d 496, 257 App. Div. 1044, affirmed 31 N.E.2d 923, 284 N.Y. 797.
Pa.—In re Child Labor Law, 9 Pa. Dist. & Co. 779.

With reference to other statutes
The child labor statute and the workmen's compensation act are not in pari materia and are not to be construed together so as to except agricultural pursuits and employment from operation of child labor act because excepted from provisions of workmen's compensation act. —Kronvall v. Garvey, 84 P.2d 858, 148 Kan. 802.

Sections read together
To ascertain intent of legislature, sections of child labor law should be considered together.—Carso v. Norwich Union Indemnity Co., Tex. Civ.App., 293 S.W. 306.

96. Ala.—De Soto Coal, Mining & Development Co. v. Hill, 60 So. 583, 179 Ala. 186.
Ark.—Cox Cash Stores v. Allen, 268 S.W. 361, 167 Ark. 364.
31 C.J. p 995 note 86.

97. N.Y.—People v. Taylor, 85 N.E. 759, 192 N.Y. 398—People v. Sheffield Farms-Slawson-Decker Co., 167 N.Y.S. 958, 180 App.Div. 615, affirmed 121 N.E. 474, 225 N.Y. 25.

98. N.Y.—People v. Taylor, 85 N. E. 759, 192 N.Y. 398—People v. Sheffield Farms-Slawson-Decker Co., 167 N.Y.S. 958, 180 App Div. 615, affirmed 121 N.E. 474, 225 N. Y. 25.

99. N.Y.—People v. Taylor, 85 N.E. 759, 192 N.Y. 398.

1. Ark.—Blankenship v. Cox, 162 S. W.2d 918, 204 Ark. 427.
N.Y.—Balser v. Gammel, 12 N.Y.S. 2d 312, 257 App.Div. 85, appeal denied 14 N.Y.S.2d 496, 257 App.Div. 1044, affirmed 31 N.E.2d 923, 284 N.Y. 797.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Ritch, 14 Pa. Dist. & Co. 722—In re Employment of Minors, 37 Pa.Co. 265, 13 Dauph.Co. 71.

2. Ark.—Terry Dairy Co. v. Nalley, 225 S.W. 887, 146 Ark. 448, 12 A. L.R. 1208.
Ind.—Ping v. Indianapolis Soap Co., 184 N.E. 903, 206 Ind. 287.
N.M.—Nelson v. Hill, 232 P. 526, 528, 30 N.M. 288.

Minor past age specified
Statute prohibiting employment of children "between" ages of fourteen and sixteen was inapplicable to boy sixteen years, eleven months of age, where the statute did not use the word "inclusive."—Hobson v. Postal Telegraph-Cable Co., 32 S.W.2d 1046, 161 Tenn. 419.

Occasional errands
Defendant's sending of stepson on occasional errands, without hiring, payment, or promise of payment, was not unlawful "employment" of child. —People v. Regell, 221 N.Y.S. 537, 220 App.Div. 743.

fied[3] as well as those which prohibit or restrict employment in occupations other than those Working without owner's knowledge

Factory owner giving adult work to be done at home was not punishable because of work done by child without owner's knowledge.—People on Inf. Flannery v. First American Natural Fern Co., 245 N.Y.S. 270, 230 App.Div. 502.

Activities held prohibited

(1) Artistic or theatrical work.—Commonwealth v. Ritch, 14 Pa.Dist. & Co. 722—In re Child Labor Law, 9 Pa.Dist. & Co. 779.

(2) Caddying.—In re Caddies Under Fourteen, 13 Pa.Dist. & Co. 385.

Activities held not prohibited

Pa.—Commonwealth v. McKaig, 29 Pa.Dist. & Co. 629.

31 C.J. p 995 note 91.

3. U.S.—Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. v. Stapleton, 49 S.Ct. 442, 279 U.S. 587, reversing Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. v. Stapleton's Guardian, 3 S.W.2d 209, 223 Ky. 154, certiorari granted Chesapeake & O. R. Co. v. Stapleton, 49 S.Ct. 8, 278 U.S. 585, 73 L.Ed. 520—Sturges & Burn Mfg. Co. v. Beauchamp, 34 S. Ct. 60, 231 U.S. 320, 58 L.Ed. 245, L.R.A.1915A, affirming Beauchamp v. Sturges & Burn Mfg. Co., 95 N.E. 204, 250 Ill. 303.

Ala.—Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co. v. Bearden, 74 So. 230, 199 Ala. 132.

Cal.—Ex parte Weber, 86 P. 809, 149 Cal. 392.

Ill.—Purtell v. Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co., 99 N.E. 899, 256 Ill. 110, 43 L.R.A.,N.S., 193, Ann.Cas.1913E 335.

Ind.—Inland Steel Co. v. Yedinak, 87 N.E. 229, 172 Ind. 423, 139 Am. S.R. 389, transferred, see 86 N.E. 503, 42 Ind.App. 629.

Kan.—Kronvall v. Garvey, 84 P.2d 858, 148 Kan. 802.

Mass.—Commonwealth v. Hamilton Mfg. Co., 120 Mass. 383.

Minn.—Westerlund v. Kettle River Co., 162 N.W. 680, 137 Minn. 24.

N.Y.—People v. Taylor, 85 N.E. 759, 192 N.Y. 398—People v. Butler, Inc., 138 N.Y.S. 1068, 154 App.Div. 311, 28 N.Y.Cr. 465.

S.C.—Newsom v. F. W. Poe Mfg. Co., 86 S.E. 195, 102 S.C. 77.

Vt.—Wlock v. Fort Dummer Mills, 129 A. 311, 98 Vt. 449.

Wis.—Squires v. Brown, 174 N.W. 548, 170 Wis. 165—Green v. Appleton Woolen Mills, 155 N.W. 958, 162 Wis. 145—O'Sullivan v. J. S. Stearns Lumber Co., 143 N.W. 160, 154 Wis. 467.

31 C.J. p 995 note 92.

"Occupation"

A statute prohibiting children under a stated age from engaging in the occupation of oiling or cleaning machinery does not include the oiling and wiping of idle machinery, where the oiling and wiping of idle machinery were not an "occupation" in the state at the time of the enactment of the statute.—Blankenship v. Cox, 162 S.W.2d 918, 204 Ark. 427.

"Working" at street trades

(1) Under a statute imposing penalty on custodian of minor who permits minor to "work" in violation of law, the word work, in so far as it refers to provision regulating street trades for children, means selling, exposing, or offering articles for sale, regardless of whether such activity is carried on under technical employment or for a wage, and permitting a minor to sell a religious magazine on the street is a violation of the statute.—Commonwealth v. Prince, 46 N.E.2d 755, 313 Mass. 223, affirmed Prince v. Commonwealth of Massachusetts, 64 S.Ct. 438, 321 U. S. 158, 88 L.Ed. ——, rehearing denied 64 S.Ct. 784.

(2) But in another jurisdiction it has been held that, where boy under ten years of age under his mother's auspices sold magazines devoted to the religion of his paid leader's sect as a Jehovah's Witness for a negligible commission to serve the cause, the boy's services were not a "business enterprise" or "work" and the boy was not a "newsboy" and the leader was not the boy's "employer" and neither permitted nor suffered boy "to be employed or to work" within statute penalizing the sale of magazines by boys under ten.—State v. Richardson, 27 A.2d 94, 92 N.H. 178.

Oiling, wiping, or cleaning machinery

(1) The word "machinery" in statute prohibiting employment of children to oil, wipe, or clean machinery meant a more or less complex combination of mechanical parts operating in such manner as to fascinate or confound a person of tender years.—Blankenship v. Cox, 162 S.W. 2d 918, 204 Ark. 427.

(2) The employment of a minor who is less than eighteen years of age to oil or clean dangerous machinery while it is in action or to permit him to do such work is a violation of statute prohibiting such employment.—In re West, 46 N.E.2d 760, 313 Mass. 146.

Steam machinery, which children are prohibited from operating under the statute, does not include a meat hasher.—Swift & Co. v. Rennard, 128 Ill.App. 181.

Manufacturing tobacco

Prohibition against employment in manufacturing tobacco is not applicable to manufacture of cigars.—Commonwealth v. Wormser, 103 A. 500, 260 Pa. 44—In re Employment Certificates, 25 Pa.Dist. 920.

Selling newspapers

(1) A statute prohibiting the employment of boys under fourteen years of age in cities of the first, second, and third class, in connection with the sale of newspapers, and boys between the ages of fourteen and sixteen in such cities in connection with the sale of magazines, periodicals, or circulars, prohibits the sale of newspapers to a boy under fourteen for resale in such cities.—Commonwealth v. Jarrett, 281 S.W. 805, 213 Ky. 618, followed in Commonwealth v. Schultz, 281 S.W. 806, 213 Ky. 620.

(2) It does not prohibit the sale of newspapers in such cities by boys between the ages of fourteen and sixteen.—Commonwealth v. Lipginski, 279 S.W. 339, 212 Ky. 366.

(3) Nor does it prohibit the employment of a boy under fourteen years for the sale and distribution of newspapers in a city of the sixth class, if such employment does not conflict with the prohibition against employment during school hours.—Cincinnati Times Star Co. v. Clay, 243 S.W. 16, 195 Ky. 465.

Appearing on stage

(1) Some statutes prohibit the employment of children for appearance or exhibition on the stage.—Kendall v. State, 148 N.E. 367, 113 Ohio St. 111—62 C.J. p 886 note 18.

(2) The reason for prohibiting employment of children of tender years from dancing in a public exhibition is that dancing might injure the child's physical condition.—Balser v. Gammel, 12 N.Y.S.2d 312, 257 App. Div. 85, appeal denied 14 N.Y.S.2d 496, 257 App.Div. 1044, affirmed 31 N.E.2d 923, 284 N.Y. 797.

(3) Under a statute prohibiting the exhibition of any child under the age of sixteen years either in singing, or dancing, or playing on a musical instrument, or in a theatrical exhibition, or in any wandering occupation, but providing that it does not apply to the employment of any child as a singer or musician in a church, school, or academy, or in teaching or learning the science or practice of music, or as a musician in any concert, or in a theatrical exhibition, with the written consent of the mayor of the city, the mayor cannot consent to a theatrical exhibition which includes singing or dancing by such child.—People v. Grant, 24 N.Y.S. 776, 70 Hun 233, followed in In re Stevens, 24 N.Y.S. 780, 70 Hun 243.

(4) Nor, under such a statute, can the mayor issue a permit authorizspecified,[4] or in certain places or establishments,[5] or under certain conditions,[6] or after certain hours,[7] or when school is in session,[8] or, generally, in occupations which are, or are liable to prove, injurious to morals[9] or health,[10] or which are dangerous, hazardous, or extrahazardous.[11]

Employment certificate. In some jurisdictions, it is unlawful to employ children under a certain age in the prohibited activities without an employment certificate issued and filed as provided by statute.[12] ing a theatrical exhibition, including a speaking part by such child.—Children's Aid & Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children of Erie County v. Schwab, 230 N.Y.S. 206, 132 Misc. 283, appeal dismissed 230 N.Y.S. 814, 224 App.Div. 875.

4. Ky.—Cincinnati Times Star Co. v. Clay, 243 S.W. 16, 195 Ky. 465.
31 C.J. p 995 note 93.

5. Fla.—Tampa Shipbuilding & Engineering v. Adams, 181 So. 403, 132 Fla. 419, rehearing denied Tampa Shipbuilding & Engineering Co. v. Adams, 181 So. 893, 132 Fla. 419.
Iowa.—State v. Erle, 232 N.W. 279, 210 Iowa 974, 72 A.L.R. 137.
Pa.—In re Employment of Minors, 37 Pa.Co. 265, 13 Dauph.Co. 71.
Vt.—Wlock v. Fort Dummer Mills, 129 A. 311, 98 Vt. 449.
W.Va.—Jackson v. Monitor Coal & Coke Co., 126 S.E. 492, 98 W.Va 58.
Prohibition of employment of minors in place where liquor is sold see the C.J.S. title Intoxicating Liquors § 231, also 33 C.J. p 890 note 89.
Prohibition by municipal ordinance of employment of minors in houses of prostitution see the C.J.S. title Municipal Corporations § 247, also 43 C.J. p 365 note 82.

"Ejusdem generis"

As used in statute prohibiting employment of minors in, on, or about any mine, mill, smelter, workshop, factory, steam, electric, hydraulic, or compressed-air railroad, or passenger or freight elevator "or where any machinery is operated," quoted words under rule of "ejusdem generis" are intended to include all places similar to those specifically enumerated where machinery is operated, but are not intended to include every place where machinery is operated whether similar to those places enumerated or not.—Shaw v. Kendall, Mont., 136 P.2d 748.

Theaters

(1) The section of the statute prohibiting employment of children under fourteen years has been held to apply to "work" in a theater, as distinguished from an exhibition therein.—Balser v. Gammel, 12 N.Y.S.2d 312, 257 App.Div. 85, appeal denied 14 N.Y.S.2d 496, 257 App.Div. 1044, affirmed 31 N.E.2d 923, 284 N.Y. 797.

(2) So, too, a statute providing that no child under fourteen years shall be "employed" or permitted to "work" in theater, does not forbid proprietor of theater to allow child, casually, under control of teacher or parents, to go on stage voluntarily, without compensation, to entertain public by giving four-minute exhibitions of dancing, acting, or singing.—Taylor v. State, 199 N.W. 22, 112 Neb. 112.

"Collieries and breakers" include the mine proper.—In re Employment of Minors in Coal Mines, 19 Pa.Dist. 846.

"About" specified establishments

The omission of the words "or about" from a statute prohibiting the employment of children to work in specified establishments did not manifest an intention on the part of the legislature to limit the prohibition to work in such places and to permit work "about" them.—Carso v. Norwich Union Indemnity Co., Tex.Civ. App., 293 S.W. 306.

Employment held not prohibited

Assisting in delivering milk from wagon is not employment in mercantile establishment, mine, quarry, or agricultural pursuit, within statute prohibiting employment of minors under certain ages in such pursuits.—Kelleher v. Borden's Condensed Milk Co., 128 A. 866, 3 N.J.Misc. 522.

6. Ark.—Terry Dairy Co. v. Nalley, 225 S.W. 887, 146 Ark. 448, 12 A.L.R. 1208.

7. Singing and dancing

Participation by girls in singing and dancing exhibition was "work," within statute prohibiting girls under twenty-one years to work after certain hours.—Commonwealth v. Wallace Y. Hong, 158 N.E. 759, 261 Mass. 226, 55 A.L.R. 640.

8. Ill.—Gill v. Boston Store of Chicago, 168 N.E. 895, 337 Ill. 70.

During recess

Statute did not prohibit the employment of children under fourteen years of age except when schools are actually in session for purposes of instruction, so that under such statute a schoolteacher who required a pupil to sweep the schoolroom floor during noon recess did not violate the statute.—Nelson v. Hill, 232 P. 526, 30 N.M. 288.

9. Ark.—Blankenship v. Cox, 162 S.W.2d 918, 204 Ark. 427.
Iowa.—State v. Erle, 232 N.W. 279, 210 Iowa 974, 72 A.L.R. 137.
Kan.—Kronvall v. Garvey, 84 P.2d 858, 148 Kan. 802.
Mont.—Shaw v. Kendall, 136 P.2d 748.
31 C.J. p 995 note 94.

10. Ark.—Blankenship v. Cox, 162 S.W.2d 918, 204 Ark. 427.
Kan.—Kronvall v. Garvey, 84 P.2d 858, 148 Kan. 802.
Mont.—Shaw v. Kendall, 136 P.2d 748.
Pa.—In re Employment of Minors, 25 Pa.Super. 903.
31 C.J. p 995 note 95.

11. Ark.—Blankenship v. Cox, 162 S.W.2d 918, 204 Ark. 427.
Fla.—Kendrick v. Ideal Holding Co., 188 So. 778, 137 Fla. 600.
Ill.—Kowalczyk v. Swift & Co., 160 N.E. 588, 329 Ill. 308.
Iowa.—State v. Erle, 232 N.W. 279, 210 Iowa 974, 72 A.L.R. 137.
Mont.—Shaw v. Kendall, 136 P.2d 748.
Pa.—Johnson v. Endura Mfg. Co., 127 A. 635, 282 Pa. 322.

Approval of industrial board

The industrial board of department of labor may declare certain occupations dangerous or unwholesome and prohibit employment of minors therein.—In re Employment of Minors, 25 Pa.Dist. 903—In re Commissioner of Labor and Industry, 23 Pa.Dist. 217.

"Dangerous machinery"

(1) A log loading machine, track laying outfit, or a locomotive engine propelled by steam, is a "dangerous machine" within a statute prohibiting the employment of certain infants in establishments using dangerous machinery.—Waterman Lumber Co. v. Beatty, Tex.Civ.App., 204 S.W. 448.

(2) An infant employed as a sweeper in a factory is not employed in operating dangerous machinery, within the statute, because he sweeps around the machinery.—Bledsoe v. Bostic Lumber, etc., Co., 73 So. 881, 113 Miss. 118.

On farm

The fact that labor is being performed on a farm does not take employment from operation of child labor statute providing that no person under sixteen years of age shall be employed at any occupation at any place dangerous or injurious to life, limb, health, or morals.—Kronvall v. Garvey, 84 P.2d 858, 148 Kan. 802.

12. Ill.—Gill v. Boston Store of Chicago, 168 N.E. 895, 337 Ill. 70.
Ind.—Ping v. Indianapolis Soap Co., 184 N.E. 903, 206 Ind. 287.
N.Y.—Braiter v. Addie Co., 9 N.Y.S.

The mere fact that the authority to issue such certificates is vested in the school authorities does not make the statute ancillary to the compulsory school attendance law.[13] Where, however, there was another statute regulating the employment of minors generally, it was held that a statute requiring the issuance of a certificate by the school authorities as a condition for the employment of minors was concerned with school attendance rather than with the employment of minors.[14] The issuance of employment certificates or permits by school authorities under school laws is considered in the C.J.S. title Schools and School Districts § 465, also 56 C.J. p 828 notes 28–37.

Parents' consent or supervision. Under some statutes the employment of minors in certain activities does not constitute a violation of the regulations if the stated conditions as to approval, control, and supervision by the parents are fulfilled.[15]

Effect of violation. Violation of child labor regulations may subject the offender to criminal prosecution, as discussed infra § 16; and it may also render the contract of employment illegal.[16]

Persons liable. What persons may be liable for the violations of these regulations depends on the statutes.[17] Ordinarily the owner of the business or establishment in which the infant has been unlawfully employed is liable,[18] whether it is a corporation,[19] a joint association,[20] or a natural person,[21] and wholly without regard to whether the employment is an intentional or willful violation of the regulation.[22] Also the person actually entering into the contract by which a child is employed contrary to the regulations is liable therefor, although such person acts as the agent or employee of another; but an employee of a corporation, who is the superior in authority of another employee, is not individually liable for such employment, when it is made by the subordinate without the knowledge or consent of the person charged with the offense, and contrary to his express direction.[23] Under some statutes, if a minor is employed by a contractor who assigns him to work on the premises or in the establishment of another contrary to the statute, the owner of the establishment for which the work is being done is not liable;[24] but under other statutes, it is no defense to a prosecution for permitting a minor to work contrary to statute that such minor was employed and furnished by an independent contractor.[25] Under some statutes a parent who procures or consents to the employment of the child

2d 280, 256 App.Div. 882, reargument denied 11 N.Y.S.2d 242, 256 App.Div. 1016, affirmed 26 N.E.2d 277, 282 N.Y. 326.

Pa.—Commonwealth v. Wormser, 103 A. 500, 260 Pa. 44—In re Employment Certificates, 25 Pa.Dist. 920.

Vt.—Wlock v. Fort Dummer Mills, 129 A. 311, 98 Vt. 449.

W.Va.—Jackson v. Monitor Coal & Coke Co., 126 S.E. 492, 98 W.Va. 58.

31 C.J. p 996 note 96.

Necessity during school vacation

(1) Under some statutes a certificate is required for employment during school vacation.—Ocean Accident & Guarantee Corporation, Ltd., v. Peoples Wet Wash Laundry Co., N.H., 29 A.2d 418.

(2) But under others it is not.—Collings-Taylor Co. v. American Fidelity Co., 117 N.E. 158, 96 Ohio St. 123.

Change of employer

The fact that a certificate for a minor child's employment by other concerns had previously been issued would not excuse the parents permitting such child's employment by another party without the issuance of another certificate.—Cervinka v. Adams, 225 Ill.App. 45.

13. Ill.—Gill v. Boston Store of Chicago, 168 N.E. 895, 337 Ill. 70.

14. Ind.—Ping v. Indianapolis Soap Co., 134 N.E. 903, 206 Ind. 287.

15. Iowa.—State v. Erle, 232 N.W. 279, 210 Iowa 974, 72 A.L.R. 137.

Street trades

Where boy under ten years of age sold, under his mother's auspices, magazines devoted to paid leader's religious sect as a Jehovah's Witness for a negligible commission to serve the cause, the leader was not guilty of an offense on ground that statute making employer of boys under ten for sale of magazines in a public place guilty of a criminal offense was enacted from a design to protect young children's morals by keeping them off the streets and out of public places since the boy was in his mother's custody.—State v. Richardson, 27 A.2d 94, 92 N.H. 178.

16. N.H.—Ocean Accident & Guarantee Corporation, Ltd., v. Peoples Wet Wash Laundry Co., 29 A.2d 418.

N.Y.—Newman v. Rogers, 248 N.Y.S. 297, 139 Misc. 795.

Not void

Contract of hiring minor in violation of child labor law is an illegal contract, but is not void, at least as respects the minor's compensation for injuries sustained in the employment.—Landry v. E. G. Shinner & Co., 176 N.E. 895, 344 Ill. 579.

17. Member of religious sect

The statutes providing penalty for furnishing articles to be sold by minor engaged in street trade and permitting minor under one's custody to work at street trade, in violation of law, were properly applied to member of religious sect who furnished minor girl with religious magazines and permitted her to sell them on street.—Commonwealth v. Prince, 46 N.E.2d 755, 313 Mass. 223, affirmed Prince v. Commonwealth of Massachusetts, 64 S.Ct. 438, 321 U.S. 158, 88 L.Ed. ——, rehearing denied 64 S.Ct. 784.

18. Mass.—In re West, 46 N.E.2d 760, 313 Mass. 146.

31 C.J. p 996 note 99.

19. N.Y.—People v. Sheffield Farms-Slawson-Decker Co., 121 N.E. 474, 225 N.Y. 25, affirming 167 N.Y.S. 958, 180 App.Div. 615.

31 C.J. p 996 note 1.

20. N.Y.—People v. Taylor, 85 N.E. 759, 192 N.Y. 398.

21. N.Y.—People v. Sheffield Farms-Slawson-Decker Co., 167 N.Y.S. 958, 180 App.Div. 615, affirmed 121 N.E. 474, 225 N.Y. 25.

31 C.J. p 996 note 3.

22. N.Y.—Buffalo Steel Co. v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 141 N.Y.S. 1027, 156 App.Div. 453, affirmed 109 N.E. 1067, 215 N.Y. 688.

31 C.J. p 996 note 4.

23. N.Y.—People v. Taylor, 85 N.E. 759, 192 N.Y. 398.

24. Pa.—Rugart v. Keebler-Weyl Baking Co., 121 A. 198, 277 Pa. 408.

25. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Walin the prohibited activity is guilty.[26] The employer's knowledge of the fact that the child employed is within the prohibited age is not an ingredient of the offense;[27] the offense is complete if the employer should have known by the exercise of reasonable diligence that the child was under the specified age.[28] The employer's good faith is no defense, even though the child misrepresented his age[29] and the employer acted on the statement of the child and an affidavit of its father that it was above such age.[30]

§ 13. —— Contributing to Dependency or Delinquency of Children

In many jurisdictions it is a criminal offense to contribute to the delinquency or dependency of a minor. The rules differ under the various statutes with respect to whether it is essential to the crime that the minor shall have actually become or have been adjudged a delinquent.

In many jurisdictions statutes variously worded make it punishable as a crime to contribute to the delinquency or dependency of a child.[31] The offense thus created is a statutory one and unknown to the common law.[32] Such statutes are criminal in nature,[33] and should be construed as criminal statutes by giving their terms a fair import so as to promote justice;[34] but the broad policy of protecting the infant should not be overlooked.[35]

Although under some statutes a contrary rule obtains,[36] it is generally not required that the child shall have been delinquent or dependent prior to the conduct or acts of accused;[37] but in a number of jurisdictions the child must have become delinquent after accused has committed the prohibited acts,[38] and some statutes have been held to require that the minor shall actually have been adjudged delinquent,[39] or have been convicted of an offense or of-lace Y. Hong, 158 N.E. 759, 261 Mass. 226, 55 A.L.R. 640.

26. Ill.—Cervinka v. Adams, 225 Ill. App. 45.
N.Y.—People v. Ewer, 36 N.E. 4, 141 N.Y. 129, 38 Am.S.R. 788, 25 L.R.A. 794.

27. Ohio.—Kendall v. State, 148 N.E. 367, 113 Ohio St. 111.

Knowledge of minority sufficient
Where a statute penalizes the employment of a child under a specified age by an employer who knows the child is a minor, knowledge of the child's minority is enough to make the employer guilty, even though he honestly believes the child to be over the age specified.—In re West, 46 N.E.2d 760, 313 Mass. 146.

28. Colo.—Overland Cotton Mill Co. v. People, 75 P. 924, 32 Colo. 263, 105 Am.S.R. 74.

29. N.Y.—Braiter v. Addie Co., 9 N.Y.S.2d 280, 256 App.Div. 882, reargument denied 11 N.Y.S.2d 242, 256 App.Div. 1016, affirmed 26 N.E.2d 277, 282 N.Y. 326.
N.H.—Ocean Accident & Guarantee Corporation, Ltd., v. Peoples Wet Wash Laundry Co., 29 A.2d 418.

30. N.Y.—City of New York v. Chelsea Jute Mills, 88 N.Y.S. 1085, 43 Misc. 266.
31 C.J. p 996 note 9.

31. Ariz.—Loveland v. State, 86 P.2d 942, 33 Ariz. 131.
Ark.—Chambers v. State, 270 S.W. 528, 168 Ark. 248.
Cal.—People v. Slenpol, 85 P.2d 474, 30 Cal.App.2d 64—People v. Hemma, 270 P. 457, 94 Cal.App. 25—People v. McDougal, 241 P. 598, 74 Cal.App. 666—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 62 Cal.App. 521.
Ill.—People v. Brosnan, 198 N.E. 708, 361 Ill. 545—People v. Day, 152 N.E. 495, 321 Ill. 552.
Ind.—Stone v. State, 41 N.E.2d 609, 220 Ind. 165—Eckert v. State, 151 N.E. 131, 197 Ind. 412, denying rehearing 147 N.E. 150, 197 Ind. 412.
La.—State v. Scallan, 10 So.2d 885, 201 La. 1026.
Mo.—State v. Johnson, App., 145 S.W.2d 468—Ex parte Fisk, 77 S.W.2d 503, 228 Mo.App. 1028.
Neb.—Bolker v. State, 278 N.W. 377, 134 Neb. 255.
31 C.J. p 996 note 11.
Parent's abandonment of or neglect to support child as offense see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child §§ 91–99, also 46 C.J. p 1347 note 73–p 1365 note 57.

32. N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Barber, v. Caminiti, 28 N.Y.S.2d 133.
Wash.—State v. Williams, 132 P. 415, 73 Wash. 678.

33. N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Barber, v. Caminiti, 28 N.Y.S.2d 133.
31 C.J. p 996 note 13.

34. Or.—State v. Dunn, 99 P. 278, 100 P. 258, 53 Or. 304.
Wash.—State v. Adams, 163 P. 403, 95 Wash. 189.

35. N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Barber, v. Caminiti, 28 N.Y.S.2d 133, 136, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Jordan, 7 A.2d 523, 136 Pa.Super. 242.
Wash.—State v. Adams, 163 P. 403, 95 Wash. 189.
"The purpose of the juvenile law as now framed . . . is to protect the youth of our state from those evil and designing persons who would lead them astray, and we are not disposed to in any way impair its usefulness by giving any narrow or strained construction to any of its plain and obvious provisions."—People v. Hemma, 270 P. 457, 458, 94 Cal.App. 25—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 80, 62 Cal.App. 521.

36. Tex.—Dunn v. State, 298 S.W. 903, 108 Tex.Cr. 68.

37. D.C.—Frizzell v. U. S., 2 F.2d 398, 55 App.D.C. 103.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Jordan, 7 A.2d 523, 136 Pa.Super. 242.
31 C.J. p 997 note 24.

38. Ohio.—Peefer v. State, 182 N.E. 117, 42 Ohio App. 276—Edmonds v. State, 164 N.E. 649, 30 Ohio App. 195—Anss v. State, 16 Ohio App. 502.

39. N.Y.—People v. Smith, 41 N.Y.S.2d 512, 266 App.Div. 57, distinguishing People v. Dritz, 18 N.Y.S.2d 455, 259 App.Div. 210.
N.C.—State v. Ferguson, 132 S.E. 664, 191 N.C. 668.

Jurisdiction of juvenile court must have attached.—Commonwealth v. Jordan, 7 A.2d 523, 136 Pa.Super. 242.

Under former California statute
(1) It was held that a showing that the condition of the child as having become impressed with the character of a dependent or delinquent was an indispensable requisite to the maintenance of the charge.—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 62 Cal.App. 521—People v. Pierro, 121 P. 689, 17 Cal.App. 741.

(2) But it was not necessary that the status of the child as such should be adjudicated prior to the prosecution of another person for contributing to his dependency or delinquency; if properly alleged, the facts bringing him within such class could be established at the trial of the prosecution as any other fact.—Edgington v. Yolo County Super. Ct., 124 P. 450, 18 Cal.App. 739, rehearing denied 128 P. 338, 18 Cal.App. 739.

fenses so as to be within the statutory definition of a delinquent,[40] before the prosecution of accused; and in the latter case it is essential to accused's conviction that he shall have caused, or contributed to, the minor's commission of an offense of which the minor has been convicted.[41] There is also authority for the view that to constitute the offense it is not essential that the child shall have been adjudged delinquent;[42] and under some statutes the extreme position is maintained that it is not even necessary that the child shall have become delinquent,[43] it being sufficient if it is shown that the conduct of accused tended toward causing such delinquency.[44] Accused's acts, it has been held, need not be the sole cause of the delinquency or dependency.[45]

One who commits the prohibited acts is guilty irrespective of the success of his efforts or their effect on the child;[46] and the minor's previous unchastity is no defense.[47] Under some statutes knowledge of accused that the child was under the age is an essential element of the crime,[48] but under others it is not.[49] Knowledge of the child's character has been held not to be an essential element of the offense.[50] Under a number of statutes it has been held that criminal intent is not an essential element of the offense.[51] So, under a statute making it a crime willfully to permit an infant female to be placed in such a situation that her morals are likely to be impaired, it is enough if the acts of accused were knowingly done and were such that they were likely to impair the morals of an infant, even though there was no criminal or malicious intent.[52]

Relation to child. Under some statutes it is not necessary that accused stand in loco parentis,[53] anyone who contributes to the dependency or delinquency of a child being guilty of the offense.[54] Under other statutes it has been held that it is necessary that accused occupy toward the delinquent child a relation in loco parentis,[55] at least where the child

40. D.C.—Frizzell v. U. S., 2 F.2d 398, 55 App.D.C. 103.

41. D.C.—Frizzell v. U. S., supra.

Relation to child

Under a statute so providing, a prior conviction must be shown where accused does not stand in loco parentis, but need not be shown where accused is a parent, guardian, or other person having custody of the child. —State v. Ferguson, 132 S.E. 664, 191 N.C. 668.

42. La.—State v. Lewis, 165 So. 1, 183 La. 824—State v. Ramey, 137 So. 859, 173 La. 478.
Mo.—State v. Johnson, App., 145 S. W.2d 468.
W.Va.—State v. Harris, 141 S.E. 637, 105 W.Va. 165.

Ward of court

A married female under twenty-one years who is not a ward of the juvenile court may charge a person with the crime of contributing to her delinquency.—People v. Slepnol, 85 P.2d 474, 30 Cal.App.2d 64.

Where accused is parent

N.C.—State v. Ferguson, 132 S.E. 664, 191 N.C. 668.

43. Ark.—Chambers v. State, 270 S. W. 528, 168 Ark. 248.
Cal.—People v. Calkins, 119 P.2d 142, 48 Cal.App.2d 33.
Ill.—People v. Brosnan, 198 N.E. 708, 361 Ill. 545—People v. Klyczek, 138 N.E. 275, 307 Ill. 150, affirming 225 Ill.App. 658.
La.—State v. Scallan, 10 So.2d 885, 201 La. 1026.
31 C.J. p 996 note 21.

44. Ark.—Chambers v. State, 270 S. W. 528, 168 Ark. 248.
Cal.—People v. Calkins, 119 P.2d 142, 48 Cal.App.2d 33—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 62 Cal.App. 521.
Ill.—People v. Klyczek, 138 N.E. 275, 307 Ill. 150, affirming 225 Ill.App. 658.
W.Va.—State v. Harris, 141 S.E. 637, 105 W.Va. 165.
31 C.J. p 996 note 22.

"It [the statute] is intended to protect and safeguard children from those influences which would manifestly incline them toward entering a state of dependency or delinquency."—People v. McDougal, 241 P. 598, 600, 74 Cal.App. 666.

45. Ariz.—Loveland v. State, 86 P.2d 942, 53 Ariz. 131.
31 C.J. p 997 note 23.

If accused contributed to the cause for which the minor was adjudged a delinquent he is guilty, even though accused's act alone was insufficient to support such an adjudication.—State v. McCain, 121 So. 583, 168 La. 87.

46. Cal.—People v. Kinser, 279 P. 488, 99 Cal.App. 778—People v. Lamanuzzi, 246 P. 557, 77 Cal.App. 301—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 62 Cal.App. 521.

Seeking rendezvous

Man who delivered note to girl, requesting her presence at night at secluded rendezvous, could be guilty of contributing to minor's delinquency even though the girl never kept the rendezvous.—People v. Hemma, 270 P. 457, 94 Cal.App. 25.

47. Cal.—People v. Griffin, 4 P.2d 592, 118 Cal.App. 18.

48. Va.—Gottlieb v. Commonwealth, 101 S.E. 872, 126 Va. 807.

49. Ind.—Marsh v. State, 8 N.E.2d 121, 104 Ind.App. 377.

50. D.C.—Frizzell v. U. S., 2 F.2d 398, 55 App.D.C. 103.

51. W.Va.—State v. Harris, 141 S.E. 637, 105 W.Va. 165.

Admitting minor to prohibited place

Where the contribution to delinquency consists of admitting a minor to a place where minors are not permitted by law to be admitted, criminal intent on the part of accused is not an essential element of the offense, and the operator of the place is liable for the acts of his servants in admitting the minor while in discharge of their duties within the scope of their employment.—State v. Sobelman, 271 N.W. 484, 199 Minn. 232.

52. N.Y.—People ex rel. Kwiatkowski v. Trenkle, 9 N.Y.S.2d 661, 169 Misc. 687—People ex rel. Tanis v. Benedict, 28 N.Y.S.2d 202—People, on Complaint of Barber, v. Caminiti, 28 N.Y.S.2d 133.

53. D.C.—Frizzell v. U. S., 2 F.2d 398, 55 App.D.C. 103.
N.Y.—Zambrotto v. Jannette, 290 N. Y.S. 338, 160 Misc. 558.
Tex.—Winters v. State, 139 S.W.2d 789, 139 Tex.Cr. 328.
31 C.J. p 997 note 26.

54. N.Y.—Zambrotto v. Jannette, 290 N.Y.S. 338, 160 Misc. 558.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Jordan, 7 A. 2d 523, 136 Pa.Super. 242.
Tex.—Winters v. State, 139 S.W.2d 789, 139 Tex.Cr. 328.
11 C.J. p 997 note 27.

55. Colo.—Sass v. People, 109 P. 268, 48 Colo. 125.
31 C.J. p 997 note 28.

has not been adjudged a delinquent.[56]

What constitutes delinquency or dependency is determined largely from the language of the statute and such definitions as it may contain.[57]

§ 14. —— Cruelty to Children

In many jurisdictions it is a criminal offense for anyone to use cruelty to children, or for anyone on whom the law imposes the duty to fail willfully to provide food, shelter, and other necessaries.

In many jurisdictions, under statutes enacted as an incident of the state's power to protect the health and morals of infants, it is a criminal offense for anyone to use cruelty to children;[58] willfully to cause the endangering of the life or injuring of the health of a child in his care or custody;[59] cruelly or unlawfully to punish it;[60] to expose it to the inclemency of the weather;[61] or willfully to omit,[62] without lawful excuse,[63] to perform a duty imposed on him by law[64] to furnish food, clothing, shelter, or medical attendance[65] to a minor. These statutes, being penal in their nature, are, according to the well established rule of construction, to be strictly construed.[66]

56. N.C.—State v. Ferguson, 132 S. E. 664, 191 N.C. 668.

57. Ill.—See People v. Ellis, 185 Ill. App. 417.
Ohio.—Edmonds v. State, 164 N.E. 649, 30 Ohio App. 195.
Wash.—State v. Lehman, 217 P. 15, 125 Wash. 617.
18 C.J. p 475 note 84.
Meaning of delinquency and dependency as respects commitment of children see infra § 98.

Delinquency

(1) Under a statute punishing the crime of contributing to the delinquency of a child and defining a delinquent child in part as one that absents itself from its home or place of abode, it is not necessary in order to come within this definition that the child absent itself for immoral purposes, but it is necessary that there be more than a mere temporary leaving with intention to return.—People v. Day, 152 N.E. 495, 321 Ill. 552.

(2) A liquor dealer, instructing her minor son to watch volunteer bartender while she was gone from her place of business and leaving such son in barroom with strangers late at night when she left place was guilty of misdemeanor of "acting in a way tending to cause delinquency" of minor in selling whiskey to other minors during mother's absence, since a fifteen-year old boy's sale of whiskey to two minors under eighteen years of age constituted an act of "delinquency."—State v. Butler, 11 Ohio Supp. 18.

(3) The statute prohibiting "contributing to delinquency of minor" was not intended to cover and punish a single isolated act of giving a cigarette to a minor.—Stone v. State, 41 N.E.2d 609, 220 Ind. 165.

(4) The fact that certain night club was licensed place, attended by many men, women, and children of community, was irrelevant on question whether it was place where morals of minor girl might be corrupted or impaired, as required to warrant conviction of her father for contributing to her delinquency by encouraging and permitting her to enter such club.—State v. Scallan, 10 So.2d 885, 201 La. 1026.

(5) Other holdings.
Minn.—State v. Sobelman, 271 N.W. 484, 199 Minn. 232.
Mo.—Ex parte Fisk, 77 S.W.2d 503, 228 Mo.App. 1028.
Neb.—Bolker v. State, 278 N.W. 377, 134 Neb. 255.

Dependency

(1) A dependent child has been defined as one "who is dependent on the public for support, or who is destitute, homeless, or abandoned"—Wheeler v. State, 100 N.E. 25, 51 Ind.App. 622.

(2) A child in a public school who refuses to salute the American flag is not a dependent or neglected child within the statute so as to make its parents guilty of contributing to its dependency or neglect by advising and directing such refusal.—People v. Chiafreddo, 44 N.E.2d 888, 381 Ill. 214.

Marriage

(1) Marriage of girl of nearly fifteen to man of forty-one years of age without parent's consent did not constitute her a "delinquent," or render man guilty of contribution to her delinquency.—Peefer v. State, 182 N.E. 117, 42 Ohio App. 276.

(2) But where a female minor was in the habit of wandering about the streets at night and was shown to be incorrigible by the fact that she left home without her parents' knowledge or consent, the acts of accused in inducing her to leave home and marry him were held to constitute the offense of contributing towards her delinquency.—State v. Wilcox, 26 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 343.

Terms synonymous

The terms "dependent child" and "delinquent child," as used in juvenile court law, are largely synonymous.—State v. Clevenger, 296 P. 1054, 161 Wash. 306.

58. Mo.—State v. Evans, 270 S.W. 684.
N.J.—Myslewitz v. Sullivan, 131 A. 57, 102 N.J.Law 61.
31 C.J. p 997 note 31.

Justification

Since a statute providing that whoever shall torture, torment, deprive of necessary sustenance, mutilate, cruelly, unreasonably, and maliciously beat or ill treat any child, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, makes no mention of justification, justification is therefore an affirmative defense.—Crowe v. Constitution Pub. Co., 11 S.E.2d 513, 63 Ga.App. 497.

59. N.J.—Myslewitz v. Sullivan, 131 A. 57, 102 N.J.Law 61.
31 C.J. p 997 note 32.

60. Mich.—People v. Loomis, 126 N. W. 985, 161 Mich. 651.
N.J.—Richardson v. State Board of Control of Institutions and Agencies, 121 A. 457, 98 N.J.Law 690, affirmed 123 A. 720, 98 N.J.Eq. 690.

61. Ill.—Lyman v. People, 65 Ill. App. 687.

62. La.—State v. Clark, 83 So. 696, 146 La. 421.
N.Y.—People v. Pierson, 68 N.E. 243, 176 N.Y. 201, 98 Am.S.R. 666, 63 L. R.A. 187, reversing 81 N.Y.S. 214, 80 App.Div. 415.

63. N.Y.—People v. Pierson, supra.

64. The phrase "a duty by law imposed," as used in Pen.Code § 288, has reference to persons designated by the common law and by the statute, as parents, guardians, or those who by adoption or otherwise have assumed the relation in loco parentis, and on whom the duty is made obligatory by statute, although not required by the common law.—People v. Pierson, 68 N.E. 243, 176 N.Y. 201, 98 Am.S.R. 666, 63 L.R.A. 187, reversing 81 N.Y.S. 214, 80 App.Div. 415.

65. Minn.—State v. Kasper, 167 N. W. 1035, 140 Minn. 259.
N.Y.—People v. Pierson, supra.
31 C.J. p 997 note 41.

66. Ga.—Justice v. State, 42 S.E. 1013, 116 Ga. 605, 59 L.R.A. 601.

Parents' abandonment of, or neglect to support, child as offense is considered in the C.J.S. title Parent and Child §§ 91–99, also 46 C.J. p 1347 note 73–p 1365 note 57.

§ 15. —— Permitting Minors to Frequent or Play, and Gaming with Minors

When all the statutory conditions are present, it is an offense to allow the presence of minors in places wherein certain games are played, to permit minors to congregate in such places, to allow minors to play at certain games, and to bet with minors.

It is within the power of the legislature to make it an offense to allow the presence of minors in places wherein certain games are played.[67] The elements of the offense depend on the statutory provisions.[68] Under some statutes, it is held that knowledge of the minority of the party is not an element of the offense;[69] thus the keeper of such place cannot avoid his guilt by showing that the offense was only that of his servant, for both are considered guilty of the offense.[70] In some jurisdictions, the offense is limited to cases wherein the minor was permitted to be present without the consent of his parent or guardian;[71] and in such cases it has been held that defendant is entitled to show his want of knowledge that the written order of consent was not genuine.[72] Under other statutes the offense is committed only if the minor is not accompanied by parent or guardian.[73]

Permitting minors to congregate. Under a statute prohibiting the permitting of minors to congregate at a public place where any billiard table, etc., is kept, it is essential to show that the minors did in fact congregate at the place alleged, and that two or more minors were found there together.[74]

Permitting minors to play. It may also be made punishable to allow minors to play at certain games in certain places,[75] as in saloons,[76] or where intoxicating liquors are sold,[77] and where billiard or pool tables are kept.[78] Ordinarily it is necessary that the minor play in the game,[79] mere sport or pastime on a billiard table or playing with the balls not being sufficient;[80] that defendant be the owner or keeper of such table or game;[81] and that he have knowledge that the party playing is a minor.[82] However, in the absence of a statute requiring it, it has been held that knowledge of the minority of the party playing is immaterial;[83] and also that, if defendant, after due diligence, thinks that the person is not a minor, he is not guilty.[84] The operator of such a place who delegates his authority to an agent is liable for the latter's violation of the statute, and the agent's knowledge that the minor was such is imputable to him.[85] Ordinarily it is not essential that the game be played for a wager,[86] or that the minor actually bet.[87] Some of the statutes limit the offense to when it is permitted without the consent of the parent or guardian.[88]

Gaming with minors. Under some statutes it is an offense for a person of full age to bet with a 67. Ind.—Manheim v. State, 66 Ind. 65.

31 C.J. p 997 note 44.

68. Wash.—State v. Anderson, 112 P. 931, 61 Wash. 674.
31 C.J. p 997 note 45.

Applicability to employees

(1) It has been held that such a statute is applicable to employees of public pool and billiard rooms and bowling saloons, no less than to mere frequenters of such places.—Commonwealth v. Climenti, 89 Pa. Super. 195.

(2) But under another statute it has been held that employing a minor in a pool room is not a violation of a statute prohibiting the keeper to permit minors to "frequent or congregate" therein.—Halliday v. State, 179 S.W. 1004, 120 Ark. 482.

69. Iowa.—State v. Probasco, 17 N. W. 607, 62 Iowa 400.
31 C.J. p 997 note 46.

70. Iowa.—State v. Probasco, supra.

71. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Emmons, 98 Mass. 6.
Tex.—Simpson v. State, 125 S.W. 398, 58 Tex.Cr. 253.

72. Tex.—Simpson v. State, supra.

73. N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Rosner, v. Rose, 284 N.Y.S. 962, 158 Misc. 508.

74. Ind.—Powell v. State, 62 Ind. 531.

75. Ky.—Dezarn v. Commonwealth, 243 S.W. 921, 195 Ky. 686.
N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Rosner, v. Rose, 284 N.Y.S. 962, 158 Misc. 508.
31 C.J. p 998 note 53.

76. Ark.—Snow v. State, 9 S.W. 306, 50 Ark. 557.
31 C.J. p 998 note 54.

77. Ind.—Williams v. Warsaw, 60 Ind. 457.

78. Ky.—Justice v. Commonwealth, 281 S.W. 803, 213 Ky. 617—Dezarn v. Commonwealth, 243 S.W. 921, 195 Ky. 686.
W.Va.—State v. Furr, 132 S.E. 504, 101 W.Va. 178.
31 C.J. p 998 note 56.

79. Ind.—Donniger v. State, 52 Ind. 326—Zook v. State, 47 Ind. 463.

80. Ala.—Sikes v. State, 67 Ala. 77.

81. Ind.—Hanrahan v. State, 57 Ind. 527.
31 C.J. p 998 note 59.

82. Ky.—Commonwealth v. Wills, 89 S.W. 144, 121 Ky. 103, 28 Ky.L. 77.
31 C.J. p 998 note 60.

83. W.Va.—State v. Furr, 132 S.E. 504, 101 W.Va. 178.
31 C.J. p 998 note 61.

84. Ga.—Stern v. State, 53 Ga. 229, 21 Am.R. 266.

85. Ky.—Dezarn v. Commonwealth, 243 S.W. 921, 195 Ky. 686.

86. Ind.—Bond v. State, 52 Ind. 457.
31 C.J. p 998 note 63.

87. Ky.—Green v. Commonwealth, 5 Bush 327.

88. Tenn.—Rhodes v. State, 102 S. W. 899, 118 Tenn. 761.
31 C.J. p 998 note 65.

Forged consent

Conviction for permitting minor to play on pool tables could not be sustained, where defendant in good faith relied on forged consent.—Justice v. Commonwealth, 281 S. W. 803, 213 Ky. 617.

minor under certain circumstances.[89] Such statutes are intended to prevent bets with or against a minor, that is, betting with a minor as an adversary, or betting jointly with the minor against others.[90]

§ 16. —— Prosecutions for Violation of Regulations

a. In general
b. Jurisdiction
c. Indictment and information
d. Evidence
e. Province of court and jury
f. Instructions
g. Verdict and sentence
h. Review

a. In General

Prosecutions for violations of laws for the protection of children are criminal in nature and should be conducted in the same manner as other criminal prosecutions.

Prosecutions for violations of the laws for the protection of children are criminal in nature[91] and should be conducted in the same manner as other criminal prosecutions;[92] and statutes denying defendants under these prosecutions the right to trial as for any other crime have been declared unconstitutional.[93]

b. Jurisdiction

Ordinarily the question as to what court has jurisdiction is governed by general rules, but the legislature may confer the jurisdiction on particular courts, such as juvenile courts. The jurisdiction of juvenile courts over prosecutions of this character is no greater than that conferred by statute.

Ordinarily, the question as to what court has jurisdiction in the premises is governed by the general rules applicable to other prosecutions.[94] The legislature, however, may confer the jurisdiction on particular courts,[95] such as, for instance, the juvenile courts.[96] However, as stated supra § 6, the grant of jurisdiction to juvenile courts in regard to the custody and protection of the person of an infant is not a grant of general criminal jurisdiction, and the juvenile court has no greater jurisdiction in criminal prosecutions than is conferred on it by statute.[97] A statute giving jurisdiction to juvenile

89. Mo.—State v. Delmar Jockey Club, 92 S.W. 185, 200 Mo. 34, appeal dismissed 28 S.Ct. 732, 210 U.S. 324, 52 L.Ed. 1080.
31 C.J. p 998 note 66.

90. Ala.—Lang v. State, 50 So. 353, 162 Ala. 85.

91. Cal.—Ex parte Leach, 279 P. 157, 99 Cal.App. 645.

92. Cal.—People v. Thourwald, 189 P. 124, 46 Cal.App. 261.
31 C.J. p 998 note 70.

New trial

Where there are numerous discrepancies in the testimony of the state's witnesses, and the trial is not fairly conducted, defendant is entitled to a new trial.—People v. De Salvo, 294 N.Y.S. 87, 250 App.Div. 292.

93. Utah.—Mill v. Brown, 88 P. 609, 31 Utah 473, 120 Am.S.R. 935.

94. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Lash, 30 A.2d 609, 151 Pa.Super. 601.
Wash.—State v. Strom, 258 P. 15, 144 Wash. 334—State v. Williams, 132 P. 415, 73 Wash. 678.

Superior court had original jurisdiction of prosecution for contributing to delinquency of fourteen-year-old girl, notwithstanding such offense was a misdemeanor.—Loveland v. State, 86 P.2d 942, 53 Ariz. 131.

Municipal court of Los Angeles has exclusive jurisdiction of misdemeanor of contributing to delinquency of minor committed outside city but within county.—Ex parte Leach, 279 P. 157, 99 Cal.App. 645.

Justice's court has no jurisdiction to try one accused of contributing to minor's delinquency.—People v. Superior Court in and for San Bernardino County, 285 P. 871, 104 Cal. App. 276.

Police court

Where party was charged by complaint filed in police court with contributing to delinquency of minor girls, police court had preliminary jurisdiction of case.—Butler v. Hastings, 34 P.2d 751, 139 Cal.App. 641.

95. Cal.—People v. Superior Court in and for San Bernardino County, 285 P. 871, 104 Cal.App. 276.
31 C.J. p 999 note 74.

Domestic relations court

Provision of statute granting domestic relations court jurisdiction to punish acts contributory to delinquency of minors, whether committed by parents or other persons in which offense is of lesser grade than felony, was held constitutional.—Zambrotto v. Jannette, 290 N.Y.S. 338, 160 Misc. 558.

96. La.—State v. Campbell, 148 So. 708, 177 La. 559.
N.Y.—People v. Smith, 41 N.Y.S.2d 512, 266 App.Div. 57—People v. Dritz, 18 N.Y.S.2d 455, 259 App. Div. 210—People v. Kelley, 243 N.Y.S. 613, 230 App.Div. 249, 251, 252, followed in 244 N.Y.S. 774 (two cases), 230 App.Div. 252.
Ohio.—Petticrew v. Webster, 27 N. E.2d 151, 63 Ohio App. 456, appeal dismissed 24 N.E.2d 455, 136 Ohio St. 158.
31 C.J. p 999 note 75.

Superior court as juvenile court

Under a statute authorizing the superior court to sit as a juvenile court in proceedings for violations of the Juvenile Court Law, and to impose a penalty where defendant pleads guilty, the court, as juvenile court, has no power to try a defendant who pleads not guilty, but it may, as a superior court, try such defendant if there has been a preliminary hearing so as to authorize the filing of an information; hence, where defendant pleads not guilty and the limits of the juvenile court have been reached, it is the duty of the judge to transfer the cause to the superior court if preliminary hearings have been held, defendant held to answer, and an information has been filed.—Ex parte Gamo, 10 P.2d 770, 122 Cal.App. 725—People v. Superior Court in and for San Bernardino County, 285 P. 871, 104 Cal. App. 276.

97. Colo.—Abbott v. People, 16 P.2d 435, 91 Colo. 510.
N.Y.—People v. Smith, 41 N.Y.S.2d 512, 266 App.Div. 57—People v. Hopkins, 203 N.Y.S. 653, 208 App. Div. 438.
31 C.J. p 999 note 77.

Power to transfer only

Under Juvenile Court Law, the juvenile court does not have jurisdiction over indictable offenses of adults, involving children, except that, when one is noticed in the course of exercise of appropriate functions of the juvenile court, the case shall be returned to the prop-courts of such prosecutions is limited to the violation of laws relating to the physical, moral, and mental well-being of children,[98] and does not confer jurisdiction of a prosecution for assault and battery on a child,[99] or for statutory rape.[1] The fact that the acts constituting the offense with which defendant is charged in the juvenile court also constitute a felony under some other law does not divest the juvenile court of its jurisdiction;[2] but it has been held that, where the offense charged consists of acts constituting an offense triable by jury, it cannot be tried summarily under the statute relating to the welfare of children.[3]

c. Indictment and Information

The sufficiency of the indictment or information is governed by the rules applicable in criminal prosecutions generally.

The sufficiency of an indictment or information is generally governed by the rules applicable to informations and indictments in other criminal prosecutions.[4] The indictment or information must set forth with certainty all the facts and circumstances essential to constitute the crime, so as to bring accused within the provisions of the statute;[5] and this rule has been applied in prosecutions for contributing to the dependency or delinquency of a child.[6] In accordance with the rules stated in In-er court for trial; hence, an adult defendant could be indicted and tried for offense of contributing to delinquency of minor child, in court of quarter sessions, without first having hearing before juvenile court.—Commonwealth v. Lash, 30 A.2d 609, 151 Pa.Super. 601.

98. La.—State v. Jacobs, 57 So. 905, 130 La. 245—State v. Rose, 52 So. 165, 125 La. 1080.

99. La.—State v. Jacobs, 57 So. 905, 130 La. 245.

1. Colo.—Abbott v. People, 16 P.2d 435, 91 Colo. 510.

2. La.—State v. Campbell, 148 So. 708, 177 La. 559.

3. N.J.—Richardson v. State Board of Control of Institutions and Agencies, 121 A. 457, 98 N.J.Law 690, affirmed 123 A. 720, 98 N.J.Eq. 690.

4. Ala.—Reynolds v. State, 125 So. 204, 23 Ala.App. 333.
31 C.J. p 999 note 80.

Sufficiency of evidence to justify

(1) The finding of a grand jury that unsworn testimony of two girls, seven and eight years of age, that accused had carnally abused them, was sufficiently supported by other evidence given under oath so as to justify indictment of accused, was consistent with the powers of the grand jury, since the grand jury is clothed with power to determine both the facts and the law.—People v. Masiano, 3 N.Y.S.2d 766, 253 App. Div. 454.

(2) Evidence held sufficient to justify indictment.—People v. Masiano, 3 N.Y.S.2d 766, 253 App.Div. 454—People v. Ortiz, 40 N.Y.S.2d 680.

(3) Evidence held insufficient to justify indictment.—People v. Cummings, 29 N.Y.S.2d 402, 177 Misc. 111.

Surplusage may be rejected.
Ariz.—State v. Davis, 120 P.2d 808, 58 Ariz. 444.
Mo.—State v. Evans, 270 S.W. 684.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Lash, 30 A.2d 609, 151 Pa.Super. 601.

5. N.J.—Richardson v. State Board of Control of Institutions and Agencies, 121 A. 457, 98 N.J.Law 690, affirmed 123 A. 720, 98 N.J.Eq. 690.
31 C.J. p 999 note 81.

Indictments held sufficient

(1) Generally.—Madden v. Commonwealth, 261 S.W. 273, 202 Ky. 782—31 C.J. p 999 note 81 [a] (1).

(2) To charge lewd acts on body of child.
Ariz.—Bocchi v. State, 212 P. 463, 25 Ariz. 37.
Cal.—People v. Carskaddon, 11 P.2d 38, 123 Cal.App. 177—People v. Maine, 269 P. 194, 93 Cal.App. 141—People v. Dant, 229 P. 983, 68 Cal.App. 588—People v. Gavin, App., 195 P. 436, 50 Cal.App. 424.
Mont.—State v. Kocher, 119 P.2d 35, 112 Mont. 511.

(3) To charge taking indecent liberties.
Mich.—People v. Stone, 292 N.W. 520, 293 Mich. 658.
Wash.—State v. Stuhr, 96 P.2d 479, 1 Wash.2d 521.
31 C.J. p 714 note 98.

(4) To charge endangering morals.—People ex rel. Tanis v. Benedict, 28 N.Y.S.2d 202.

Indictments held insufficient

(1) Generally.
N.Y.—People v. Lindloff, 18 N.Y.S.2d 695, 259 App.Div. 749.
Ohio.—State v. Eisen, 99 P. 282, 53 Or. 297, rehearing denied 100 P. 257, 53 Or. 297.

(2) To charge cruelty.—Myslewitz v. Sullivan, 131 A. 57, 102 N.J.Law 61—State v. Hankins, 67 A. 1057, 75 N.J.Law 318.

Negating exceptions

Information should negative fact that factory, in which child under prescribed age was employed, was part of work of farm, ranch, dairy, agricultural, or stock-raising pursuit.—Macaleb v. State, 13 S.W.2d 91, 111 Tex.Cr. 318.

Knowledge of minority

Under statute, prohibiting owner to permit persons under particular age to play pool in his place of business, which is silent as to owner's knowledge, indictment need not allege that he knew fact.—State v. Furr, 132 S.E. 504, 101 W.Va. 178.

6. Ala.—Reynolds v. State, 125 So. 204, 23 Ala.App. 333.
Or.—State v. Stone, 226 P. 430, 111 Or. 227.
31 C.J. p 999 note 82.

Alleging dependency or delinquency

(1) If the child against whom the offense is alleged to have been committed has been adjudicated to be a delinquent or dependent child, then it will be sufficient to plead such adjudication.—State v. McCain, 121 So. 583, 168 La. 87—31 C.J. p 999 note 82 [a] (1).

(2) Where the delinquent character of the minor is predicated on a conviction, it is necessary under some statutes to allege that the conviction was for an offense to the commission of which the acts of defendant contributed.
D.C.—Frizzell v. U. S., 2 F.2d 398, 55 App.D.C. 103.
N.Y.—People v. Smith, 41 N.Y.S.2d 512, 266 App.Div. 57.

(3) Unless the statute makes it an essential element, it is not necessary to allege an adjudication of delinquency.
La.—State v. Lewis, 165 So. 1, 183 La. 824—State v. Ramey, 137 So. 859, 173 La. 478.
Mo.—State v. Johnson, App., 145 S.W.2d 468.

(4) Where no adjudication is relied on as showing the delinquency of the child, the facts which make the child a dependent or delinquent must be alleged.
Ariz.—Jackson v. State, 286 P. 824, 36 Ariz. 446, followed in Durgelogh v. State, 292 P. 1116.
Ohio.—Peefer v. State, 182 N.E. 117, 42 Ohio App. 276—Edmonds v. State, 164 N.E. 649, 30 Ohio App. 195.
31 C.J. p 999 note 82 [a] (2).

dictments and Informations § 139, an indictment or information which charges an offense against an infant in the language of the statute is sufficient if the statute sufficiently defines the crime;[7] but, where the statute creating the offense does not describe the act or acts which compose it, such acts must be specifically averred.[8]

Issues, proof, and variance. General rules as to issues, proof, and variance in criminal prosecutions are applicable.[9] Where the indictment charges the commission of the offense in several different ways, each of which constitutes a complete offense in itself, a conviction is sustained by proof that the offense was committed in one of the ways alleged, there being no necessity of proving that it was committed in each of the ways alleged.[10]

d. Evidence

General rules governing evidence in criminal prosecutions are applicable, and determine questions relating to the burden of proof, admissibility of evidence, and the weight and sufficiency thereof.

In prosecutions of this kind, the general rules in regard to evidence apply.[11]

Burden of proof. The burden is on the prosecution to establish every material averment of the indictment or information.[12]

(5) Under some statutes it is not even necessary to allege that the child has actually become delinquent; it is sufficient to allege that defendant committed certain specified acts which tended to cause delinquency.

Ariz.—Loveland v. State, 86 P.2d 942, 53 Ariz. 131.

Cal.—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 62 Cal.App. 521.

Or.—State v. Dunn, 99 P. 278, 53 Or. 304, rehearing denied 100 P. 258, 53 Or. 304.

(6) But if no such acts are alleged, the indictment or information is insufficient.—People v. Wortman, 30 P.2d 565, 137 Cal.App. 339—People v. Giminiani, 232 P. 993, 70 Cal.App. 195.

Negating exceptions

(1) An information charging violation of law condemning acts tending to cause a female under twenty-one to lead an idle, dissolute, and immoral life need not allege that such female is not defendant's wife.—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 62 Cal.App. 521.

(2) Affidavit charging accused with contributing to child's delinquency did not have to negative that accused was parent, tutor, or similar custodian of child.—State v. Ramey, 137 So. 859, 173 La. 478.

Age of defendant

In prosecution for contributing to delinquency of a child, age of defendant is not a matter of defense, but is a matter which must be alleged and proved; thus under a statute condemning acts by an adult contributing to delinquency of a child, the affidavit must allege that defendant is an adult.—Stone v. State, 41 N.E.2d 609, 220 Ind. 165.

Indictment or information held sufficient

Ariz.—State v. Davis, 120 P.2d 808, 58 Ariz. 444—Loveland v. State, 86 P.2d 942, 53 Ariz. 131.

Ark.—Chambers v. State, 270 S.W. 528, 168 Ark. 248.

Cal.—People v. Wortman, 30 P.2d 565, 137 Cal.App. 339—People v. Wilkerson, 278 P. 466, 99 Cal.App. 123—People v. McDougal, 241 P. 598, 74 Cal.App. 666—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 62 Cal.App. 521.

Colo.—Sharp v. People, 9 P.2d 483, 90 Colo. 356.

Ill.—People v. Billow, 30 N.E.2d 795, 307 Ill.App. 546—People v. Walker, 27 N.E.2d 662, 305 Ill.App. 500.

La.—State v. McCain, 121 So. 583, 168 La. 87.

Tex.—Winters v. State, 139 S.W.2d 789, 139 Tex.Cr. 328.

Wash.—State v. Clevenger, 296 P. 1054, 161 Wash. 306.

31 C.J. p 999 note 82 [d].

Indictment or information held insufficient

(1) Generally.

Ariz.—Jackson v. State, 286 P. 824, 36 Ariz. 446, followed in Durgelogh v. State, 292 P. 1116.

Cal.—People v. Perfetti, 264 P. 318, 88 Cal.App. 609—People v. Salisbury, 210 P. 642, 59 Cal.App. 299.

Ind.—Stone v. State, 41 N.E.2d 609, 220 Ind. 165.

Ohio.—Edmonds v. State, 164 N.E. 649, 30 Ohio App. 195.

31 C.J. p 999 note 82 [c].

(2) Information alleging that defendants gave minor intoxicating liquor and left her in man's room.—People v. Kinser, 279 P. 488, 99 Cal. App. 778.

(3) An information, charging that defendant willfully failed to do that which directly tended to prevent her minor children's state of dependency and neglect, "to wit: did eject said children from their home," did not allege that they were dependent and neglected children within statute defining offense of contributing to dependency and neglect of children.—People v. Anderson, 14 N.E.2d 527, 295 Ill.App. 27.

Bill of particulars

Under indictment charging contributing to delinquency by encouraging minor to commit acts, naming them, defendant is not entitled to bill of particulars.—State v. Harris, 141 S.E. 637, 105 W.Va. 165.

7. Ill.—People v. Klemann, 48 N.E. 2d 957—People v. Rogers, 154 N. E. 909, 324 Ill. 224—People v. Billow, 30 N.E.2d 795, 307 Ill.App. 546.

Iowa.—State v. Schumacher, 191 N. W. 870, 195 Iowa 276.

Mo.—State v. Evans, 270 S.W. 684.

31 C.J. p 714 note 98, p 715 note 13, p 717 note 25 [a] (10), p 999 note 80 [a].

8. Ill.—People v. Chiafreddo, 44 N.E. 2d 888, 381 Ill. 214.

N.J.—Myslewitz v. Sullivan, 131 A. 57.

Ohio.—Edmonds v. State, 164 N.E. 649, 30 Ohio App. 195.

9. Fatal variance not present

Cal.—People v. Halistik, 230 P. 972, 69 Cal.App. 174.

Ill.—People v. Klemann, 48 N.E.2d 957, 383 Ill. 236.

Utah.—State v. Saunders, 22 P.2d 1043, 82 Utah 170.

10. Wash.—State v. Stuhr, 96 P.2d 479, 1 Wash.2d 520.

Child's guilty knowledge

In prosecution for contributing to daughter's delinquency by requiring her to sell liquor, state was not required to prove that daughter knew that sale was wrongful and hence violated law, where information also charged and state proved that daughter was put in danger of "immoral life."—People v. Ferello, 268 P. 915, 92 Cal.App. 683.

11. N.Y.—Cowley v. People, 21 Hun 415, 8 Abb.N.Cas. 1, affirmed 83 N.Y. 464, 38 Am.R. 464.

31 C.J. p 999 note 83.

12. Or.—State v. Stone, 226 P. 430, 111 Or. 227.

31 C.J. p 1000 note 84.

Lewd and lascivious conduct

Del.—State v. Martin, 183 A. 334, 7 W.W.Harr. 342.

Taking indecent liberties

Wash.—State v. Moss, 108 P.2d 633, 6 Wash.2d 629.

Permitting gaming

N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Rosner v. Rose, 284 N.Y.S. 962, 158 Misc. 508.

Admissibility. Any competent and material evidence which tends to prove an element of the offense is admissible on behalf of the state;[13] and any evidence which legitimately tends to disprove any of the elements of the crime is admissible on behalf of accused.[14] However, evidence which is incompetent, immaterial, or irrelevant, is inadmissible.[15] The admissibility of evidence in the face of an objection that it is too remote should ordinarily be left to the sound discretion of the trial judge.[16] These rules have been applied in prosecutions for lewd and lascivious conduct on the body of a child,[17] for contributing to delinquency or dependency,[18] and for taking indecent liberties.[19]

W.Va.—State v. Furr, 132 S.E. 504, 101 W.Va. 178.

Age of child

In order to sustain a conviction it is necessary to prove that the child against whom the offense was committed was under the age specified in the statute.—People v. Adams, 47 P.2d 320, 7 Cal.App.2d 743.

13. Cal.—People v. Watrous, 45 P.2d 380, 7 Cal.App.2d 7.
31 C.J. p 999 note 83 [e].

14. Del.—State v. Wood, 131 A. 567, 3 W.W.Harr. 127.

15. Cal.—People v. Pappens, 43 P.2d 371, 5 Cal.App.2d 544.
Del.—State v. Casper, 138 A. 633, 3 W.W.Harr. 432.

Evidence held inadmissible

La.—State v. Campbell, 148 So. 708, 177 La. 559.
31 C.J. p 999 note 83 [f].

16. Cal.—People v. Arrangoiz, 74 P.2d 789, 24 Cal.App.2d 116.

17. Complaint or outcry

(1) Evidence showing that complaining witness made complaint or outcry after the commission of the offense is admissible.

Cal.—People v. Huston, 134 P.2d 758, 21 Cal.2d 690, prior opinion, App., 127 P.2d 1021—People v. Hubbell, 128 P.2d 579, 54 Cal.App.2d 49—People v. Morcumb, 82 P.2d 714, 28 Cal.App.2d 465—People v. Watrous, 45 P.2d 380, 7 Cal.App.2d 7—People v. Ferrari, 251 P. 692, 80 Cal.App. 182—People v. Ewing, 234 P. 917, 71 Cal.App. 138.

Iowa.—State v. Rounds, 248 N.W. 500, 216 Iowa 131.

(2) The complaint must have been made while the occurrence was recent.—People v. Hubbell, supra.

(3) Such evidence may be given by the complaining witness or by the person to whom the complaint was made.—People v. Adams, 93 P.2d 146, 14 Cal.2d 154, superseding, App., 87 P.2d 372.

(4) But details recited in the complaint or outcry, or the name of the person accused therein, is inadmissible.

Cal.—People v. Huston, 134 P.2d 758, 21 Cal.2d 690, prior opinion, App., 127 P.2d 1021—People v. Adams, supra—People v. Watrous, 45 P.2d 380, 7 Cal.App.2d 7—People v. Ewing, 234 P. 917, 71 Cal.App. 138.

Iowa.—State v. Rounds, 248 N.W. 500, 216 Iowa 131.

(5) Proof that the person to whom the complaint was made reported it to someone else is inadmissible under the rule.—People v. Hubbell, 128 P.2d 579, 54 Cal.App.2d 49.

Evidence held admissible

(1) Generally.—People v. Sargent, 3 P.2d 319, 117 Cal.App. 50.

(2) Evidence that defendant exhibited obscene pictures, corroborated by police officer's testimony as to obscenity.—People v. Linton, 283 P. 389, 102 Cal.App. 608.

(3) Testimony that, at same time and place as commission of acts charged and in presence of each other, defendant committed same acts on two of prosecutrix' playmates.—People v. Hunt, 61 P.2d 1208, 17 Cal.App.2d 284.

Evidence held inadmissible

(1) Generally.—People v. Huston, 134 P.2d 758, 21 Cal.2d 690, prior opinion, App., 127 P.2d 1021—People v. Piburn, 31 P.2d 470, 138 Cal.App. 56—People v. Heath, 248 P. 1027, 79 Cal.App. 20—People v. Ewing, 234 P. 917, 71 Cal.App. 138.

(2) Testimony of child's mother relating to conversation with child relative to details of former similar conduct toward child by defendant which had taken place approximately two years prior to alleged commission of offense, when child was only three years old.—People v. Adams, 93 P.2d 146, 14 Cal.2d 154, superseding, App., 87 P.2d 372.

(3) Defendant's offer to show child's consent.—People v. Russell, 251 P. 699, 80 Cal.App. 243.

(4) Defendant's offer of physician's testimony as to condition of the child's private parts.—Bocchi v. State, 212 P. 463, 25 Ariz. 37.

18. Rule in trial of children distinguished

The provision of the Juvenile Delinquency Act authorizing admission of any character of evidence which court may deem proper refers to trial of neglected and delinquent children, not to those contributing to such condition; in the trial of the latter, the statute does not permit introduction of purely hearsay testimony.—State v. Campbell, 148 So. 708, 177 La. 559.

Evidence held admissible

(1) Generally.

Cal.—People v. Ferello, 268 P. 915, 92 Cal.App. 683.

Wash.—State v. Tweedy, 5 P.2d 335, 165 Wash. 281.

(2) Where, in a prosecution for contributing to the delinquency of a female child, a young woman, who was a companion of the infant and defendants, testified as to the manner and by whom she and the infant were brought to a certain city, and that a room was procured for them at a hotel, it was not error to permit her to testify that the room was procured by a brother of one of the defendants and another boy.—State v. Hempke, 209 P. 10, 121 Wash. 226.

(3) In prosecution for contributing to the delinquency of a fourteen-year old child by soliciting, encouraging, and advising her to associate with immoral persons, where defendants themselves were the immoral persons with whom they caused the child to associate, the defendants' characters were an issuable fact, and proof of the reputations of the defendants for morality was admissible over objection that unless the defendant in a criminal case puts his character in issue the state cannot attack it.—State v. Johnson, Mo.App., 145 S.W.2d 468.

(4) In a prosecution for aiding, encouraging, and abetting another in committing acts contributing to the delinquency of a fifteen-year-old girl, evidence that she and her companion were taken by defendant to his home on a prior occasion was held admissible.—State v. Lehman, 217 P. 15, 125 Wash. 617.

Evidence held inadmissible

(1) Generally.

Cal.—People v. Brown, 77 P.2d 880, 25 Cal.App.2d 513—People v. Pappens, 43 P.2d 371, 5 Cal.App.2d 544.

Tex.—Duplichan v. State, 276 S.W. 435, 101 Tex.Cr. 580.

(2) Accused's offer of evidence of girl's intoxication on arriving at defendants' home, and that others caused such condition.—Loveland v. State, 86 P.2d 942, 53 Ariz. 131.

19. Complaint or outcry

(1) In a case in which the admission of evidence of prosecutrix's complaint of defendant's conduct was held error, it was said broadly that the rule permitting evidence of prosecutrix's complaint in rape cases does not extend to the crime of taking indecent liberties with a child.—

Weight and sufficiency. In order to sustain a conviction accused's guilt must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt.[20] The offense need not be proved by direct and positive testimony; circumstantial evidence may be sufficient.[21] The fact that there is some conflict among the witnesses for the prosecution does not prevent a conviction.[22] Although the evidence against accused may be so manifestly false or inherently improbable as to be insufficient in law to sustain a conviction,[23] the fact that certain evidence is inherently improbable will not prevent a conviction if there is sufficient evidence apart from the improbable testimony to support it,[24] or if the inconsistencies, contradictions, or improbabilities do not render the evidence entirely unbelievable but merely affect its weight.[25] Reference is made in the notes to cases in which the sufficiency of the evidence in prosecutions for lewd and lascivious acts,[26] for contributing to the delinquency or dependency of minors,[27] for taking indecent liber-

People v. Romano, 138 N.E. 169, 306 Ill. 502.

(2) However, in a subsequent case holding the admission of evidence of prosecutrix' complaint together with the details recited therein erroneous, the court intimated that the mere fact that a complaint was made, without any proof of the details or the name of the person accused, would not be inadmissible.—People v. Phipps, 170 N.E. 305, 338 Ill. 373.

Evidence held inadmissible

Ill.—People v. Heine, 35 N.E.2d 323, 377 Ill. 134—People v. Bernsee, 11 N.E.2d 961, 367 Ill. 518.

Mich.—People v. Cook, 232 N.W. 349, 251 Mich. 364.

20. Cal.—People v. Ewing, 234 P. 917, 71 Cal.App. 138.

Del.—State v. Martin, 183 A. 334, 7 W.W.Harr. 342.

21. Cal.—People v. Mohr, 75 P.2d 616, 24 Cal.App.2d 580—People v. Ewing, 234 P. 917, 71 Cal.App. 138.

Ill.—People v. Sukdol, 153 N.E. 727, 322 Ill. 540.

22. Cal.—People v. Beatty, 130 P.2d 433, 55 Cal.App.2d 258.

Ill.—People v. Anderson, 30 N.E.2d 648, 375 Ill. 163.

23. Cal.—People v. Trippell, 61 P.2d 929, 7 Cal.2d 612—People v. Gonzales, 92 P.2d 482, 33 Cal.App.2d 482.

24. Cal.—People v. Gimiliani, 114 P. 2d 392, 45 Cal.App.2d 535—People v. Taylor, 78 P.2d 207, 25 Cal.App. 2d 525—People v. Quinn, 55 P.2d 1277, 12 Cal.App.2d 752—People v. Russell, 251 P. 699, 80 Cal.App. 243.

25. Cal.—People v. Huston, 134 P.2d 758, 21 Cal.2d 690, prior opinion, App., 127 P.2d 1021—People v. Schultz, 120 P.2d 893, 49 Cal.2d 38—People v. Gimiliani, 114 P.2d 392, 45 Cal.App.2d 535—People v. Gonzales, 92 P.2d 482, 33 Cal.App. 2d 482—People v. Miller, 81 P.2d 567, 27 Cal.App.2d 722—People v. Ralls, 70 P.2d 265, 21 Cal.App.2d 674—People v. Quinn, 55 P.2d 1277, 12 Cal.App.2d 752—People v. Vosger, 11 P.2d 649, 123 Cal.App. 503—People v. Geonzelis, 289 P. 667, 106 Cal.App. 434—People v. Morotti, 215 P. 719, 61 Cal.App. 689.

26. Evidence held sufficient

(1) Generally.—People v. Crownover, 92 P.2d 929, 34 Cal.App.2d 7—People v. Ewing, 234 P. 917, 71 Cal. App. 138.

(2) To sustain conviction.

Cal.—People v. Putnam, 129 P.2d 367, 28 Cal.2d 885, prior opinion, App., 123 P.2d 573—People v. Kearney, 126 P.2d 612, 20 Cal.2d 435, prior opinion, App., 120 P.2d 156—People v. Trippell, 61 P.2d 929, 7 Cal.2d 612—People v. Reyes, 229 P. 947, 194 Cal. 650—People v. Pollock, App., 142 P 2d 328—People v. Paris, 139 P.2d 671, 59 Cal. App.2d 699—People v. Bush, 133 P.2d 870, 56 Cal.App.2d 877—People v. Beatty, 130 P.2d 433, 55 Cal.App.2d 258—People v. Hubbell, 128 P.2d 579, 54 Cal.App.2d 49—People v. King, 127 P.2d 605, 53 Cal.App.2d 123—People v. Hyche, 126 P.2d 885, 52 Cal.App.2d 661—People v. Smith, 122 P.2d 288, 49 Cal.App.2d 720—People v. Harrison, 117 P.2d 19, 46 Cal.App.2d 779—People v. Gimiliani, 114 P.2d 392, 45 Cal.App.2d 535—People v. Nobles, 112 P.2d 651, 44 Cal.App. 2d 422—People v. Karpinski, 111 P. 2d 393, 43 Cal.App.2d 545—People v. Von Benson, 101 P.2d 527, 38 Cal.App.2d 431, superseding 99 P. 2d 295—People v. Loehr, 94 P.2d 390, 35 Cal.App.2d 1—People v. Bresh, 91 P.2d 193, 33 Cal.App.2d 161—People v. Christensen, 89 P. 2d 1095, 32 Cal.App.2d 380—People v. Asavis, 81 P.2d 595, 27 Cal.App. 2d 685—People v. Freeman, 75 P.2d 640, 24 Cal.App.2d 619—People v. Mack, 75 P.2d 547, 24 Cal.App.2d 438—People v. Arrangoiz, 74 P.2d 789, 24 Cal.App.2d 116—People v. Spillard, 59 P.2d 887, 15 Cal.App.2d 649—People v. Connell, 59 P.2d 433, 15 Cal.App.2d 380—People v. Roebling, 58 P.2d 929, 14 Cal.App. 2d 586—People v. Adams, 47 P.2d 320, 7 Cal.App.2d 743—People v. Mangus, 42 P.2d 681, 5 Cal.App.2d 353—People v. Kocalis, 35 P.2d 584, 140 Cal.App. 566—People v. Lanham, 31 P.2d 410, 137 Cal.App. 737—People v. Guiterez, 14 P.2d 838, 126 Cal.App. 526—People v. Sargent, 3 P.2d 319, 117 Cal.App. 50—Ex parte Jeffcoates, 262 P. 1105, 88 Cal.App. 221—People v. Russell, 251 P. 699, 80 Cal.App. 243—People v. Ferrari, 251 P. 692, 80 Cal.App. 182—People v. Whitholt, 247 P. 245, 77 Cal.App. 587—People v. Halistik, 230 P. 972, 69 Cal. App. 174—People v. King, 223 P. 1001, 65 Cal.App. 306.

Iowa.—State v. Ragona, 5 N.W.2d 907—State v. Derry, 209 N.W. 514, 202 Iowa 352.

Nev.—Skidmore v. State, 92 P.2d 979, 59 Nev. 320.

31 C.J. p 1000 note 84 [c] (3).

(3) To establish corpus delicti.—People v. Mohr, 75 P.2d 616, 24 Cal. App.2d 580.

(4) To fix date of lascivious conduct.—People v. Barnett, 278 P. 885, 99 Cal.App. 409.

(5) To show that the acts committed by accused were such as are denounced by the statute.

Cal.—People v. McCurdy, 213 P. 59, 60 Cal.App. 499.

Mont.—State v. Kocher, 119 P.2d 35, 112 Mont. 511.

(6) To support finding that no such intent accompanied acts as would make them punishable under some other statute.—People v. Parker, 241 P. 401, 74 Cal.App. 540.

Evidence held insufficient

Cal.—People v. Briggs, 4 P.2d 593, 117 Cal.App. 708—People v. De Vaughan, 288 P. 113, 105 Cal.App. 516.

31 C.J. p 1000 note 84 [d] (4).

27. Evidence held sufficient

(1) To sustain conviction.

Cal.—People v. Lucas, 105 P.2d 102, 16 Cal.2d 178, 130 A.L.R. 1485, superseding, App., 99 P.2d 547—People v. Dorland, 40 P.2d 474, 2 Cal. 2d 235—People v. Calkins, 119 P.2d 142, 48 Cal.App.2d 33—People v. Lopez, 117 P.2d 10, 46 Cal.App. 857—People v. Slepnol, 85 P.2d 474, 30 Cal.App.2d 64—People v. Potter, 44 P.2d 610, 6 Cal.App.2d 474—People v. Wortman, 30 P.2d 565, 137 Cal.App. 339—People v. Koenig, 24 P.2d 852, 133 Cal.App. 701—People v. Kinser, 279 P. 488, 99 Cal. App. 778—People v. Ferello, 268 P. 915, 92 Cal.App. 683—People v. Cohen, 217 P. 78, 62 Cal.App. 521—People v. Morotti, 215 P. 719, 61 Cal.App. 689.

ties,[28] for impairing or endangering the morals of minors,[29] for cruelty to children,[30] for unlawfully employing minors,[31] and other crimes against children[32] has been considered.

Corroboration. To sustain a conviction for the type of crime under discussion it is generally held that the testimony of the complaining witness need not be corroborated;[33] but it has been said that corroboration is desirable to the fullest extent possible,[34] and that a conviction on uncorroborated testimony will not be sustained under all circumstances[35] but will in fact be reversed unless the testimony and surrounding circumstances are quite clear, convincing, and decisive of guilt.[36] In some jurisdictions corroboration is held essential where the complaining witness is incompetent to understand the nature of an oath,[37] or where the complaining witness by testifying to his willing participation in the acts charged places himself in the category of an accomplice whose testimony requires corroboration.[38] Where corroboration is required, it must, of course, be sufficient;[39] there must be corrobora-

Colo.—Sharp v. People, 9 P.2d 483, 90 Colo. 356.
Ill.—People v. Brosnan, 198 N.E. 708, 361 Ill. 545.
Mo.—State v. Johnson, App., 145 S.W.2d 468.
Neb.—Bolker v. State, 278 N.W. 377, 134 Neb. 255.
Wash.—State v. Clevenger, 296 P. 1054, 161 Wash. 306—State v. Lehman, 217 P. 15, 125 Wash. 617.
31 C.J. p 1000 note 84 [c] (2).

(2) To identify accused.—People v. Taylor, 78 P.2d 207, 25 Cal.App.2d 525.

(3) To show minor's delinquency or dependency.—Chambers v. State, 270 S.W. 528, 168 Ark. 248.

(4) To prove corpus delicti.—People v. Carter, 52 P.2d 294, 10 Cal.App.2d 387.

(5) To prove other particular matters.—People v. Miller, 19 P.2d 814, 130 Cal.App. 191.

Evidence held insufficient
Cal.—People v. Wilkerson, 278 P. 466, 99 Cal.App. 123.
Ill.—People v. Chiafreddo, 44 N.E.2d 888, 381 Ill. 214.
Ind.—Stone v. State, 41 N.E.2d 609, 220 Ind. 165.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Lash, 30 A.2d 609, 151 Pa.Super. 601.
Tex.—Hamilton v. State, 277 S.W. 1069, 102 Tex.Cr. 368—McAbee v. State, 271 S.W. 908, 100 Tex.Cr. 79.
31 C.J. p 1000 note 84 [d] (3).

28. Colo.—Paxton v. People, 246 P. 276, 79 Colo. 361.

Evidence held sufficient
(1) To sustain conviction.
Ill.—People v. Klemann, 48 N.E.2d 957, 383 Ill. 236—People v. Heine, 35 N.E.2d 323, 377 Ill. 134—People v. Anderson, 30 N.E.2d 648, 375 Ill. 163—People v. Sukdol, 153 N.E. 727, 322 Ill. 540—People v. Gilmore, 150 N.E. 631, 320 Ill. 233—People v. Peck, 145 N.E. 353, 314 Ill. 237.
Minn.—State v. McReady, 191 N.W. 816, 154 Minn. 366.
Wash.—State v. Moss, 108 P.2d 633, 6 Wash.2d 629—State v. Stuhr, 96 P.2d 479, 1 Wash.2d 521.
Wis.—State v. Hoffman, 2 N.W.2d 707, 240 Wis. 142.

(2) To sustain finding as to accused's age.—State v. Dorathy, 170 A. 506, 132 Me. 291.

(3) To justify binding over accused for trial.—People v. Lakin, 282 N.W. 149, 286 Mich. 282.

Evidence held insufficient
Ill.—People v. Martin, 44 N.E.2d 49, 380 Ill. 328—People v. Herzberger, 23 N.E.2d 37, 372 Ill. 251—People v. Schwabauer, 16 N.E.2d 723, 369 Ill. 261—People v. Langaas, 171 N.E. 144, 339 Ill. 267.
Mich.—People v. Healy, 251 N.W. 393, 265 Mich. 317.

29. Evidence held sufficient
N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Barber, v. Caminiti, 28 N.Y.S.2d 133.

Evidence held insufficient
N.Y.—People v. Klein, 194 N.E. 402, 266 N.Y. 188—People v. Levy, 37 N.Y.S.2d 648, 265 App.Div. 841—People v. Seto, 9 N.Y.S.2d 429, 256 App.Div. 848—People v. Slaughter, 15 N.E.2d 70, 278 N.Y. 479, reversing 1 N.Y.S.2d 673, 253 App.Div. 802.

30. Evidence held sufficient
Mo.—State v. Evans, 270 S.W. 684.
Ohio.—Nebgen v. State, 192 N.E. 130, 47 Ohio App. 431.

Evidence held insufficient
N.J.—State v. Hankins, 67 A. 1057, 75 N.J.Law 318.

31. Evidence held sufficient
Mass.—Commonwealth v. Wallace Y. Hong, 158 N.E. 759, 261 Mass. 226, 55 A.L.R. 640.

Evidence held insufficient
Tex.—Limon v. State, 124 S.W.2d 122, 136 Tex.Cr. 107.

32. Evidence held sufficient
(1) Generally.
Ky.—Dezarn v. Commonwealth, 243 S.W. 921, 195 Ky. 686.
Miss.—Allen v. State, 166 So. 922, 175 Miss. 745.
Okl.—State v. Vending Mach. Corporation of America, 51 P.2d 724, 174 Okl. 603, 103 A.L.R. 391.
31 C.J. p 1000 note 84 [c].

(2) In action on cigarette dealer's bond.—State v. Vending Mach. Corporation of America, 51 P.2d 724, 174 Okl. 603, 103 A.L.R. 391.

Evidence held insufficient
N.Y.—People, on Complaint of Rosner, v. Rose, 284 N.Y.S. 962, 158 Misc. 508.
31 C.J. p 1000 note 84 [d] (1).

33. Cal.—People v. Lucas, 105 P.2d 102, 16 Cal.2d 178, 130 A.L.R. 1485, superseding, App., 99 P.2d 547—People v. Beatty, 130 P.2d 433, 55 Cal.App.2d 258—People v. Hubbell, 128 P.2d 579, 54 Cal.App.2d 49—People v. Karpinski, 111 P.2d 393, 43 Cal.App.2d 545—People v. Spillard, 59 P.2d 887, 15 Cal.App.2d 649—People v. Chaddock, 38 P.2d 473, 2 Cal.App.2d 643—People v. Geonzelis, 289 P. 667, 106 Cal.App. 434—People v. Anastasion, 249 P. 209, 79 Cal.App. 268—People v. Barbera, 248 P. 304, 78 Cal.App. 277.
31 C.J. p 999 note 83 [c].

Weak testimony
Cal.—People v. Gump, 61 P.2d 970, 17 Cal.App.2d 221.

34. Wis.—Rice v. State, 217 N.W. 697, 195 Wis. 181.

35. Wis.—Rice v. State, supra.

36. Ill.—People v. Herzberger, 23 N.E.2d 37, 372 Ill. 251.
Wis.—Rice v. State, 217 N.W. 697, 195 Wis. 181.

37. N.Y.—People v. Masiano, 3 N.Y.S.2d 766, 253 App.Div. 454—People v. Haber, 12 N.Y.S.2d 406—People v. Fazio, 5 N.Y.S.2d 195.

Necessity of preliminary examination
In view of the statutory presumption that a child under twelve years of age is incompetent to understand the nature of an oath, where such a child was permitted to testify without a preliminary examination as to his competency to be sworn his uncorroborated testimony was insufficient to support a conviction.—People v. Klein, 194 N.E. 402, 266 N.Y. 188.

38. Tex.—Gallager v. State, 97 S.W.2d 954, 131 Tex.Cr. 254.

39. Ill.—People v. Martin, 44 N.E.2d 49, 380 Ill. 328.

tion as to each essential fact of the crime,[40] and a lack of the necessary corroboration cannot be supplied by the testimony of accused after the close of the state's case.[41]

e. Province of Court and Jury

Questions of fact are for the jury; and the weight to be accorded any evidence is exclusively a matter for their determination.

In accordance with the general rule in criminal prosecutions, questions of fact are for the jury provided there is sufficient evidence to support one of several possible findings.[42] The weight to be accorded any evidence is exclusively a matter for the determination of the jury,[43] and their acceptance of the testimony of a witness will not be disturbed unless it appears that such testimony is inherently improbable or impossible of belief.[44]

f. Instructions

General rules governing instructions in criminal prosecutions are applicable.

The general rules governing instructions in criminal prosecutions are applicable in prosecutions for crimes of the type under discussion,[45] such as committing lewd and lascivious acts on the body of a child,[46] contributing to the delinquency or dependency of a minor,[47] or taking indecent liberties.[48]

g. Verdict and Sentence

General rules governing verdicts in criminal prosecutions are applicable. The sentence imposed must conform to the applicable statutory provisions.

General rules respecting verdicts in criminal prosecutions are applicable to the type of prosecutions under discussion.[49] The sentence imposed must con-

Corroboration insufficient

In prosecution for taking indecent liberties with a child, the testimony of prosecuting witness' mother as to identity of guilty person which was based only on prosecuting witness' description of guilty person's automobile was not "corroborative" of prosecuting witness' testimony.—People v. Martin, supra.

40. N.Y.—People v. Haber, 12 N.Y.S.2d 406—People v. Fazio, 5 N.Y.S.2d 195.

41. N.Y.—People v. Fazio, supra.

42. Cal.—People v. Schultz, 120 P.2d 893, 49 Cal.2d 38—People v. Quinn, 55 P.2d 1277, 12 Cal.App.2d 752—People v. Agullana, 40 P.2d 848, 4 Cal.App.2d 34.

Questions held for jury

(1) What is cruel treatment.—Crowe v. Constitution Pub. Co., 11 S.E.2d 513, 63 Ga.App. 497.

(2) Whether acts had tendency to cause delinquency.—State v. Stone, 226 P. 430, 111 Or. 227.

(3) Whether conduct amounts to taking of "indecent liberties."—State v. Hoffman, 2 N.W.2d 707, 240 Wis. 142.

(4) Other questions.—People v. McDougal, 241 P. 598, 74 Cal.App. 666.

Evidence sufficient to go to jury

Cal.—People v. Piburn, 31 P.2d 470, 138 Cal.App. 56—People v. Bronson, 230 P. 213, 69 Cal.App. 83.

Ill.—People v. Klemann, 48 N.E.2d 957, 383 Ill. 236—People v. Haas, 127 N.E. 740, 293 Ill. 274.

Iowa.—State v. Hall, 283 N.W. 414, 225 Iowa 1316.

Mich.—People v. McGovern, 11 N.W.2d 15, 306 Mich. 427.

N.J.—State v. Browne, 143 A. 810, 7 N.J.Misc. 1, certiorari denied 146 A. 350, 7 N.J.Misc. 525.

Va.—McWilliams v. Commonwealth, 181 S.E. 391, 165 Va. 725.

Wash.—State v. Tweedy, 5 P.2d 335, 165 Wash. 281.

31 C.J. p 1000 note 86 [b].

43. Cal.—People v. Huston, 134 P.2d 758, 21 Cal.2d 690, prior opinion, App., 127 P.2d 1021—People v. Schultz, 120 P.2d 893, 49 Cal.2d 38—People v. Slaughter, 115 P.2d 30, 45 Cal.App.2d 724—People v. Loehr, 94 P.2d 390, 35 Cal.App.2d 1—People v. Crownover, 92 P.2d 929, 34 Cal.App.2d 7—People v. Gonzales, 92 P.2d 482, 33 Cal.App.2d 482—People v. Quinn, 55 P.2d 1277, 12 Cal.App.2d 752—People v. Agullana, 40 P.2d 848, 4 Cal.App.2d 34—People v. Ferello, 268 P. 915, 92 Cal.App. 683—People v. Parker, 241 P. 401, 74 Cal.App. 540.

Colo.—Sharp v. People, 9 P.2d 483, 90 Colo. 356.

Ill.—People v. Klemann, 48 N.E.2d 957, 383 Ill. 236.

44. Cal.—People v. Huston, 134 P.2d 758, 21 Cal.2d 690, prior opinion, App., 127 P.2d 1021—People v. Loehr, 94 P.2d 390, 35 Cal.App.2d 1—People v. Ralls, 70 P.2d 265, 21 Cal.App.2d 674—People v. Ferello, 268 P. 915, 92 Cal.App. 683.

45. Cal.—People v. Bush, 133 P.2d 870, 56 Cal.App.2d 877.

Instructions held erroneous

Ill.—People v. Crane, 134 N.E. 99, 302 Ill. 217.

Instructions held not erroneous

Cal.—People v. Young, 186 P. 383, 44 Cal.App. 279.

Instructions held properly refused

Cal.—People v. Troutman, 201 P. 928, 187 Cal. 313.

46. Instructions held proper

(1) Generally.—People v. Schultz, 120 P.2d 893, 49 Cal.2d 38—People v. Navarette, 69 P.2d 449, 21 Cal.App.2d 598—People v. Halistik, 230 P. 972, 69 Cal.App. 174.

(2) As not misleading.—People v. Bush, 133 P.2d 870, 56 Cal.App.2d 877.

(3) As having sufficiently differentiated between the crime charged and other crimes against children.—People v. Dant, 229 P. 983, 68 Cal.App. 588—People v. King, 223 P. 1001, 65 Cal.App. 306.

Instructions held improper

Cal.—People v. Piburn, 31 P.2d 470, 138 Cal.App. 56.

Iowa.—State v. Rounds, 248 N.W. 500, 216 Iowa 131.

47. Instructions held proper

(1) Generally.—People v. Wortman, 30 P.2d 565, 137 Cal.App. 339.

(2) Instruction to acquit of contributing to delinquency of child, unless child was already delinquent at date of alleged offense.—Dunn v. State, 298 S.W. 903, 108 Tex.Cr. 68.

Instructions held improper or properly refused

La.—State v. Scallan, 10 So.2d 885, 201 La. 1026—State v. McCain, 121 So. 583, 168 La. 87.

48. Instructions held proper

Ill.—People v. Czajkowski, 173 N.E. 817, 342 Ill. 144.

Instructions held improper

Ill.—People v. Phipps, 170 N.E. 305, 338 Ill. 373.

Mich.—People v. Visel, 265 N.W. 781, 275 Mich. 77.

49. Necessity of special finding

Where information charged accused with unlawfully, knowingly and wilfully encouraging a male person of the age of sixteen years to become a delinquent child, general verdict finding accused guilty as charged in the information was valid, notwithstanding there was no special finding as to the boy's age.—People v. Kappos, 19 N.E.2d 441, 298 Ill.App. 625.

form to the applicable statutory provisions.[50] The propriety of sentences on convictions for contributing to the delinquency or dependency of minors[51] and other offenses[52] have been passed on by the courts.

h. Review

In the absence of an independent statement of facts, the appellate court is confined to consideration of the facts disclosed by the record before it. Generally speaking, if the proceedings below were correct and proper and free from prejudicial error, the judgment will not be reversed.

In the absence of an independent statement of facts, the appellate court is confined to consideration of the facts as disclosed by the record before it.[53] Under a statute providing that when an appeal from a judgment of the juvenile court is prayed, the judge shall certify the facts of the case in the form of a special finding, and that the finding shall be considered as the basis of the judgment rendered, and that no judgment shall be reversed except as the finding or evidence shall be found to be insufficient, where the finding is not presented to the appellate court no question is presented for review;[54] the court will presume in such case that the findings cover all the facts and that they are sufficient.[55] So, too, where the evidence is not brought up for review, the court will presume that the trial court performed its duty and that the evidence is sufficient.[56] The only proper assignment of error under such a statute is that the decision of the juvenile court is contrary to law.[57]

Generally speaking, if the proceedings in the court below were correct and proper and free from prejudicial error, the judgment will not be reversed.[58] It has been said, however, that in prosecutions of the type under discussion, because of the ease with which such charges are made and the difficulty of disproving them, errors committed either by the prosecution or the court, which ordinarily might be considered trivial, may be regarded as of greater importance,[59] and that courts of last resort will rigorously insist on the observance by the trial court of the rules of evidence and procedure which assure accused of a fair trial.[60] Where a majority of the court are for reversal but do not agree on the specific ground for reversing, the judgment is nevertheless reversed.[61]

§ 17. Probation Officers

Under appropriate statutory provisions, probation officers may be appointed for the purpose of aiding the court in exercising proper control and custody of children.

In most jurisdictions, by force of statute, probation officers may be appointed for the purpose of aiding the court in exercising proper control and custody of children.[62] Such an officer is practical-

50. Cal.—People v. Phair, 31 P.2d 421, 137 Cal.App. 612.

51. Sentence held proper

(1) Under a statute relating to the crime of willfully encouraging a male person of the age of sixteen years to become a delinquent child, sentence of defendant to confinement in the house of correction for a term of one year and to pay fine of one dollar was authorized, and the court was justified in disregarding the jury's recommendation that accused be punished by imposition of fine.—People v. Kappos, 19 N.E.2d 441, 298 Ill.App. 625.

(2) Under provisions for imprisonment in penitentiary, or jail, or fine, for contributing to delinquency of child, penitentiary sentence was proper, notwithstanding prosecuting witness was a wayward girl.—State v. Taylor, 209 N.W. 287, 202 Iowa 189.

(3) The court had jurisdiction to impose sentence of three months in workhouse on conviction for crime of contributing to the dependency of defendant's minor children.—Petticrew v. Webster, 27 N.E.2d 151, 63 Ohio App. 456, appeal dismissed 24 N.E.2d 455, 136 Ohio St. 158.

Imprisonment limited to one year

Cal.—People v. Yalo, 89 P.2d 391, 13 Cal.2d 765—People v. Phair, 31 P.2d 421, 137 Cal.App. 612.

N.Y.—People v. Kelley, 243 N.Y.S. 613, 230 App.Div. 249, 251, 252, followed in 244 N.Y.S. 774 (two cases), 230 App.Div. 252.

52. N.Y.—People v. De Salvo, 294 N.Y.S. 87, 250 App.Div. 292.

Tex.—Clausse v. State, 127 S.W.2d 900, 137 Tex.Cr. 49.

53. Tex.—Walcott v. State, 88 S.W. 2d 714, 129 Tex.Cr. 485.

54. Ind.—Dedrick v. State, 6 N.E.2d 730, 103 Ind.App. 706—Alvey v. State, 199 N.E. 432, 101 Ind.App. 391—Femeyer v. State, 152 N.E. 853, 85 Ind.App. 596—Eddy v. State, 102 N.E. 277, 54 Ind.App. 93.

Time for appeal

Under the statute providing that an appeal to the appellate court shall lie from judgment of the juvenile court, if brought within thirty days, appeal from a conviction for contributing to the delinquency of a ward of the court must be brought within such time, regardless of another statute providing that any person convicted of such charge may appeal to the appellate court.—Cline v. State, 135 N.E. 159, 80 Ind. App. 251.

Findings held sufficient

Ind.—Parker v. State, 113 N.E. 763, 63 Ind.App. 671—Murphy v. State, 111 N.E. 806, 61 Ind.App. 226.

55. Ind.—Alvey v. State, 199 N.E. 432, 101 Ind.App. 391—Yeager v. State, 144 N.E. 846, 82 Ind.App. 566.

56. Ind.—Murphy v. State, 111 N.E. 806, 61 Ind.App. 226.

57. Ind.—Blake v. State, App., 48 N.E.2d 651—Alvey v. State, 199 N. E. 432, 101 Ind.App. 391.

31 C.J. p 999 note 72 [b].

58. Idaho.—State v. Johnson, 246 P. 531, 42 Idaho 381.

59. Cal.—People v. Adams, 93 P.2d 146, 14 Cal.2d 154, superseding, App., 87 P.2d 372.

60. Cal.—People v. Adams, supra.

61. D.C.—Campbell v. District of Columbia, 32 A.2d 394.

62. W.Va.—State v. Monongalia County Court, 96 S.E. 966, 82 W. Va. 564.

31 C.J. p 1000 note 89.

Probation officers:

Generally see Courts § 143.

As county officers see Courts § 143 a.

ly a guardian ad litem for each child brought into court.[63] It is his duty to be present in court in order to represent the interest of the child when the case is heard;[64] and to take such charge of any child, before and after trial, as may be directed by the court.[65] He has authority to make arrests only when such power is incident or necessary to the performance of his duties.[66]

§ 18. Societies for Care and Protection of Children

Societies may be organized to care for dependent or neglected children or for the prevention of cruelty to children. The powers of such organizations are determined by their charters or the governing statutes.

Corporations or societies may be organized for the purpose of caring for dependent or neglected children,[67] to whom the custody and control of such children may be delegated,[68] subject to the supervision of the courts,[69] or for the purpose of preventing cruelty to children.[70] Such organizations occupy the relation of guardians to the children committed to their care.[71] The powers of such incorporated associations are extended and limited to those conferred by their charter or the governing statutes;[72] and any person dealing with them is bound to take notice of such limitations.[73] Ordinarily, such organizations are created for the purpose of securing homes for dependent or neglected children by adoption or otherwise into private families, and with authority to receive such children for such purposes.[74] The legislature may authorize such societies to bind out to service children committed to their care, the societies reserving the right of supervision to see that the children are properly cared for.[75]

III. PRIVILEGES AND DISABILITIES GENERALLY

§ 19. Status in General

Infants have certain disabilities and privileges which do not attach to adults although generally they are bound by the same law.

While generally infants are bound by the law of the land the same as adults,[76] their rights not being superior to those of adults,[77] at common law infants do not possess the power to exercise the same legal rights as adults.[78]

The disabilities of infants are really privileges, which the law gives them, and which they may exercise for their own benefit,[79] the object of the law being to secure infants from damaging themselves or their property by their own improvident acts[80] or prevent them from being imposed on by the 63. Cal.—Nicholl v. Koster, 108 P. 302, 157 Cal. 416.

Ill.—Witter v. Cook County, 100 N. E. 248, 256 Ill. 616.

64. W.Va.—State v. Monongalia County Ct., 96 S.E. 966, 82 W.Va. 564.
31 C.J. p 1000 note 98.

65. W.Va.—State v. Monongalia County Ct., supra.
31 C.J. p 1000 note 99.

66. W.Va.—State v. Monongalia County Ct., supra.

67. N.D.—In re Kol, 88 N.W. 273, 10 N.D. 493.

68. S.D.—McFall v. Simmons, 81 N. W. 898, 12 S.D. 562.
Va.—Napier v. Prison Assoc., 28 S. E. 598, 95 Va. 431.

69. N.D.—In re Kol, 88 N.W. 273, 10 N.D. 493.

70. N.J.—Esping v. Elizabeth S. P. C. C., 75 A. 547, 79 N.J.Law 357.

71. N.D.—In re Kol, 88 N.W. 273, 10 N.D. 493.

72. N.Y.—People v. New York Catholic Protectory, 4 N.E. 177, 101 N. Y. 195.
31 C.J. p 1001 note 22.

73. Ind.—Milligan v. State, 97 Ind. 355.

Right to reclaim custody
Persons, to whom licensed agency gave temporary custody of child committed to it by court, were charged with knowledge of agency's statutory right to terminate such custody.—Turner v. Children's Home Soc. of Virginia, 163 S.E. 399, 158 Va. 406, 80 A.L.R. 1125.

74. Ind.—Milligan v. State, 97 Ind. 355.
N.D.—In re Kol, 88 N.W. 273, 10 N. D. 493.

75. Ga.—Kennedy v. Meara, 56 S.E. 243, 127 Ga. 68, 9 Ann.Cas. 396.

76. Alaska.—Johnson v. Kennecott Copper Corp., 5 Alaska 571.

Where statute makes no exception of infants from its application, court can make none on ground of any inherent equity applicable to infants. —Application of Presler, 13 N.Y.S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.

77. N.J.—Anderson v. Anderson, 32 A.2d 83, 183 N.J.Eq. 311—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J. Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661—Caruso v. Caruso, 141 A. 16, 102 N.J.Eq. 393, reversed on other grounds 148 A. 882, 106 N.J. Eq. 130—Graves v. Graves, 120 A. 420, 94 N.J.Eq. 268—In re March's Estate, 6 A.2d 478, 17 N.J.Misc. 157.
31 C.J. p 1001 note 29.

The rights of adults are not to be defeated because the adversary parties are infants.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661—Graves v. Graves, 120 A. 420, 94 N.J.Eq. 268 —In re Shreve, 103 A. 683, 87 N.J.Eq. 7, 710.

78. N.J.—Young v. Sterling Leather Works, 102 A. 395, 91 N.J.Law 289.

Infancy as badge of incompetency
Minority, and particularly minority to the extent of tender years, is in itself a recognized badge of incompetency of an infant to handle his own affairs.—Hampton v. Ewert, C. C.A.Okl., 22 F.2d 81, certiorari denied Ewert v. Hampton, 48 S.Ct. 303, 276 U.S. 623, 72 L.Ed. 737.

79. Del.—King v Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 306, 6 W.W.Harr. 418, citing Corpus Juris.

80. Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.

Hardships arising in particular cases must yield to the operation of the general rule founded on public policy, intended to protect infants from their imprudent acts.—Yubas v. Witaskis, 95 Pa.Super. 296.

fraud of others.[81] While the rights of infants are not superior, they are of greater concern to a court of equity than those of adults,[82] and the rights of infants must be protected by the court, while adults must protect their own rights.[83] Persons dealing with the infant must take notice of his privileges and disabilities.[84]

Although after the death of an infant the privilege of infancy extends to his legal personal representatives,[85] infancy is a personal privilege.[86] An infant cannot disaffirm acts done for others and not affecting his own property.[87]

The limits on the legal capacity of minors to act in their own behalf were not established to defeat the enforcement of their rights.[88] On the other hand, as is often stated, infancy is a shield for the protection of an infant and not a weapon of attack;[89] consequently an infant cannot take advantage of his infancy for the purpose of perpetrating a fraud,[90] nor may he have the benefits from claiming his personal privilege without having imposed on him the disabilities of infancy.[91]

The common-law disability of an infant to enter into a binding transaction is not a property right,[92] and hence such disability may be constitutionally interfered with by the legislature.[93] Accordingly, in the absence of constitutional inhibition, the legislature has the power to fix the age at which the disabilities of infancy shall be removed[94] and to change the age at which an infant is privileged to exercise legal rights which shall be binding on him.[95]

Specific privileges and disabilities which attach to infancy are elsewhere considered, such as the power of acting as agent or trustee see infra § 21; the effect of admissions by infants see infra § 22; adverse possession by or against infants see infra § 32; appointment of agents or attorneys by infants see infra § 23; the capacity of an infant to acquire domicile see Domicile § 12, to acquire property see infra § 47, to act as executor or administrator see Executors and Administrators §§ 28, 46, to act as witness see the C.J.S. title Witnesses § 58, also 70 C.J. p 92 note 2–p 94 note 19, to alienate property see infra §§ 48–56, to commit crime see infra § 95, to commit tort see infra § 87, to contract see infra § 71, to execute power see the C.J.S. title Powers § 35, also 49 C.J. p 1278 notes 51–56, to make will see the C.J.S. title Wills § 8, also 68 C.J. p 419 notes 16–31, to marry see the C.J.S. title Marriage § 11, also 38 C.J. p 1283 note 97–p 1285 note 29, to release dower see Dower § 65, the eligibility of infants to public office or employment see infra § 24; their capacity to exercise the right of election see infra § 25; and their immunity from estoppel see infra §§ 26–27, from laches see Equity § 122, and from waiver or consent see infra § 26.

§ 20. What Law Governs

The status of a person as an infant ordinarily is determined by the law of his domicile but the validity and effect of the acts and transactions of an infant are controlled by the law applicable to such acts and transactions in other cases.

As a general rule in the case of a conflict of laws the law of the domicile regulates the status of a person as an infant[96] and determines as to his

81. Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.

82. N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.

83. N.J.—Anderson v. Anderson, 32 A.2d 83, 133 N.J.Eq. 311—Caruso v. Caruso, 141 A. 16, 102 N.J.Eq. 393, reversed on other grounds 148 A. 882, 106 N.J.Eq. 130—In re March's Estate, 6 A.2d 478, 17 N.J. Misc. 157.

Jurisdiction of courts over property of infants generally see infra § 57.

84. Miss.—Watson v. Peebles, 59 So. 881, 102 Miss. 725.

85. Vt.—Person v. Chase, 37 Vt. 647, 88 Am.D. 630.

31 C.J. p 1001 note 35.

86. Fla.—Persons v. Pflum, 135 So. 878, 102 Fla. 402.

31 C.J. p 1001 note 36.

Who may avoid infant's:

Contract see infra § 75.

Transaction in respect to property see infra § 43.

87. Ohio.—Sheldon v. Newton, 3 Ohio St. 494.

Tex.—Hughes v. Hughes, Com.App., 221 S.W. 970.

88. Mass.—Dellamano v. Francis, 33 N.E.2d 327, 308 Mass. 502.

89. Ky.—Baisden v. Gibson, 270 S.W. 830, 208 Ky. 341—Conrad v. Martin, 270 S.W. 805, 208 Ky. 411.

Or.—Potter v. Davidson, 20 P.2d 409, 143 Or. 101, rehearing denied 21 P.2d 785, 143 Or. 101.

90. Ky.—Conrad v. Martin, 270 S.W. 805, 208 Ky. 411.

31 C.J. p 1001 note 41.

Estoppel by fraud see infra §§ 26, 27.

Tort liability for fraud see infra § 90.

91. Or.—Potter v. Davidson, 20 P. 2d 409, 143 Or. 101, rehearing denied 21 P.2d 785, 143 Or. 101.

Full effect must be given plaintiff's status, where he seeks affirmative relief because of his infancy.—Potter v. Davidson, 21 P.2d 785, 143 Or. 101, denying rehearing 20 P.2d 409, 143 Or. 101.

92. N.J.—Young v. Sterling Leather Works, 102 A. 395, 91 N.J.Law 289.

93. Tenn.—Scott v. Nashville Bridge Co., 223 S.W. 844, 143 Tenn. 86.

31 C.J. p 1001 note 39.

94. Tenn.—Campbell v. Bon Air Coal & Iron Corporation, 268 S.W. 377, 151 Tenn. 132.

95. N.J.—Young v. Sterling Leather Works, 102 A. 395, 91 N.J.Law 289.

31 C.J. p 1001 note 40.

Power to:

Change age of majority generally see supra § 2.

Remove disabilities see infra § 28.

Extending minority of female

Wash.—Springstun v. Springstun, 229 P. 14, 131 Wash. 109, 40 A.L.R. 595.

96. Me.—White v. Shalit, 1 A.2d 765, 136 Me. 65.

minority or majority, if the status is one recognized by the law of the state where it is called in question, and there is nothing in its law to prohibit giving it effect.[97] On a change of domicile, the question is determined by the law of the new domicile.[98] However, the status of persons within a state is a matter exclusively for the state to determine for itself, and as to transactions within the state by an infant it will not recognize a decree of a foreign state conferring on him rights to transact business with the same effect as though such business were transacted by a person who had acquired a status of majority.[99]

As to a right acquired by law or a legal remedy given, the general rule is that the law of the jurisdiction wherein the right is acquired or the remedy given governs.[1]

As to acts done or contracts made in the place of domicile, it is generally held that the law of the domicile, as to the capacity or incapacity of the person, governs.[2] Where the place of domicile and of the act or contract are not the same, although there may be authority inclined to the contrary,[3] the general rule is that, in case of a conflict between the lex domicilii and lex loci contractus aut actus, the latter will prevail.[4] However, according to the accepted principle governing the exercise of comity, such law will not be given effect where it is contrary to the public policy of the forum.[5] It has been held that where the contract is made in a state other than that of the domicile and the promise is made and is to be substantially performed in the state of the domicile, the law of the latter state governs.[6]

The capacity or incapacity to deal with real estate is governed by the lex loci rei sitæ.[7]

A minor, like any other person, is entitled to the protection of the laws of the state or territory in which he resides or is domiciled.[8]

§ 21. Acting as Agent or Trustee

a. Acting as agent
b. Acting as trustee

a. Acting as Agent

An infant may act as an agent and bind his principal.

It is generally held that an infant may act as agent,[9] his capacity being limited only by the readiness of the principal to intrust to him a commission, and his own physical and mental capacity to carry out the instructions under which he acts.[10] Such agency may be created by parol.[11] To the extent and within the limits discussed in Agency §§ 231–274, the acts of an infant acting as an agent are binding on the principal.[12]

b. Acting as Trustee

An infant may be a trustee and when he acts in such capacity he may not claim the disabilities of infancy.

An infant may be created or charged as a trustee,[13] and in such case he is as much bound to carry out the trust as though he were an adult.[14] Since the infant's right to disaffirmance is personal, as discussed supra § 19 and infra §§ 43, 75, such right does not extend to acts performed by him in a fiduciary capacity.[15] He will not be permitted to re-

97. Md.—Harding v. Schapiro, 87 A. 951, 120 Md. 541.
31 C.J. p 1001 note 43.

98. Ind.—Hiestand v. Kuns, 8 Blackf. 345, 46 Am.D. 481.
Infant's domicile see Domicile § 12.

99. Cal.—Deason v. Jones, 45 P.2d 1025, 7 Cal.App.2d 482.

1. Ky.—Harris v. Berry, 82 Ky. 137, 6 Ky.L. 157.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 47.

Legacy to take effect on majority
Where a provision in a will provides that a gift of personalty shall take effect on the legatee attaining her majority, the question as to the age at which majority is attained is to be determined according to the law of the testator's domicile, and not according to the law of the legatee's domicile.—Harding v. Schapiro, 87 A. 951, 120 Md. 541.

Under federal statute
In disposing of the proceeds of a death action under a federal statute, the determination of the legal age of majority is governed by the law of the United States.—Miller v. Miller, 257 Ill.App. 287.

2. Ind.—Hiestand v. Kuns, 8 Blackf. 345, 46 Am.D. 481.
Pa.—Kohne's Estate, 1 Pars.Eq.Cas. 399.

3. Pa.—Kohne's Estate, supra.

4. Ala.—Wilkinson v. Buster, 26 So. 940, 124 Ala. 574.
Ga.—Peretzman v. Borochoff, 200 S.E. 331, 58 Ga.App. 838.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 50.

5. La.—Le Breton v. Nouchet, 3 Mart. 59, 5 Am.D. 736.

6. N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115.

7. Ark.—Beauchamp v. Bertig, 119 S.W. 75, 90 Ark. 351, 23 L.R.A.,N.S., 659.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 55.

8. D.C.—Lehmer v. Hardy, 294 F. 407, 54 App.D.C. 51.

9. Ala.—Cornelius v. Moore, 100 So. 895, 211 Ala. 544.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 57.

10. Ala.—Lyon v. Kent, 45 Ala. 656.

11. Ky.—Talbot v. Bowen, 1 A.K. Marsh. 436, 10 Am.D. 747.

12. Ky.—Talbot v. Bowen, supra.
N.Y.—Kanevsky v. New York, O. & W. R. Co., 103 N.Y.S. 727, 53 Misc. 564.

13. Okl.—Fibikowski v. Fibikowski, 94 P.2d 921, 185 Okl. 520.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 64.
Persons under legal disability as trustees generally see the C.J.S. title Trusts § 205, also 65 C.J. p 570 notes 87–90.

14. Va.—Clary v. Spain, 89 S.E. 130, 119 Va. 58.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 65.

15. Tex.—Hughes v. Hughes, Com. App., 221 S.W. 970.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 67.

ceive property to his own exclusive benefit and then repudiate the trust or equitable charge created by the person from whom he derived it.[16]

§ 22. Admissions

Although admissions of an infant may be shown for what they are worth, they are not binding on him nor do the admissions of another person affect an infant's rights.

An infant is incapable of making an admission which can affect his rights.[17] Although admissions of an infant may be shown for what they are worth,[18] nevertheless they are not binding on him.[19] a fortiori, the admissions of another person cannot affect an infant's rights[20] nor can the admissions of infants bind other persons.[21]

§ 23. Appointment of Agent or Attorney

There is a conflict of authority as to whether an infant may appoint an agent, but even where it is permitted such appointment is voidable.

It is well settled that an infant cannot bind himself absolutely by the appointment of an agent,[22] or by a power, warrant, or letter of attorney.[23] There is a conflict of authority, however, as to whether such act is absolutely void or merely voidable.[24] The modern trend of authorities is that the appointment of an agent by an infant and the acts of the agent under such appointment are not void but only voidable,[25] subject to affirmance or disaffirmance depending on whether or not it is to the infant's advantage,[26] and that he may ratify or deny both the appointment of the agent and the act which the 16. N.Y.—Levin v. Ritz, 41 N.Y.S. 405, 17 Misc. 737.

17. Fla.—Hodges v. Atlantic Nat. Bank of Jacksonville, 184 So. 875.
Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 70.
Admissions of persons not sui juris generally see Evidence § 315.
Confessions by children see Criminal Law § 829.

18. Fla.—Hodges v. Atlantic Nat. Bank of Jacksonville, 184 So. 875.
Ill.—Reed v. Kabureck, 229 Ill.App. 36.
Mo.—Gebhardt v. United Rys. Co. of St. Louis, 220 S.W. 677, 9 A.L.R. 1076.
N.J.—Bankers' Trust Co. v. Bank of Rockville Center Trust Co., 168 A. 733, 114 N.J.Eq. 391, 89 A.L.R. 697, reversing 159 A. 505, 110 N.J. Eq. 203.
N.Y.—Ackerman v. Runyon, 1 Hilt. 169, 3 Abb.Pr. 111.
22 C.J. p 345 note 5.

19. Fla.—Hodges v. Atlantic Nat. Bank of Jacksonville, 184 So. 875.
22 C.J. p 345 note 9.

20. Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com. App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ. App., 33 S.W.2d 292.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 71.
Admission of:
Adult codefendant see infra § 117.
Guardian see Evidence § 367.
Guardian ad litem or next friend see infra §§ 111, 117.

21. Colo.—Barker v. Hamilton, 3 Colo. 291.
Mich.—Smith v. Smith, 13 Mich. 258.

22. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313, 316, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Curtis v. Alexander, 257 S.W. 432—Hodge v. Feiner, App., 78 S. W.2d 478, affirmed 90 S.W.2d 90, 338 Mo. 268, 103 A.L.R. 483.
31 C.J. p 1002 note 74.
Liability of infant for torts of his agent see infra § 87.

Advice of family meeting
An attorney representing a minor was powerless to act for his client without advice of family meeting.—Milburn v. Wemple, 101 So. 132, 156 La. 759.

Liability for acts
Infants are affected by acts done on their account by a person whom they direct so to act, to the extent to which they have capacity to give consent and become parties to the transaction.—Woodson v. Hare, Ala., 13 So.2d 172.

23. Mo.—Curtis v. Alexander, 257 S. W. 432.
R.I.—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.
31 C.J. p 1003 note 75.
Appearance and representation by attorney see infra § 114.
Professional services of attorney as necessaries see infra § 78.

Warrant to confess judgment
(1) A warrant of attorney by a minor to confess a judgment, is void no matter what the circumstances.—Vacuum Oil Co. v. Pitarra, 32 Luz. Leg.Reg., Pa., 224.

(2) Judgment confessed on bond after infant's majority pursuant to warrant of attorney executed shortly before infant's majority could not be repudiated by infant for the first time more than ten years later, even though he was merely a surety on such bond.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr, Del., 418.

24. Or.—Blomquist v. Jennings, 250 P. 1101, 119 Or. 691.

25. Colo.—Sipes v. Sipes, 287 P. 284, 87 Colo. 301.
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.
Kan.—Crawford v. Firmin, 59 P.2d 27, 144 Kan. 270.
Mass.—Chamberlain v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corporation, 194 N.E. 310, 289 Mass. 412.
N.J.—Scott v. Schisler, 153 A. 395, 107 N.J.Law 397.
Pa.—Feagles v. Sullivan, 32 Pa.Dist. & Co. 47.
31 C.J. p 1003 note 82.

At least voidable
U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313.

Better rule is that minor's appointment of an agent is voidable and not void.—Blomquist v. Jennings, 250 P. 1101, 119 Or. 691.

Well-considered case
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 306, 6 W.W.Harr. 418, citing Corpus Juris.

In New York
(1) Earlier cases held that an infant's appointment of an agent was void.—Fonda v. Van Horn, 15 Wend. 631—31 C.J. p 1003 note 76.

(2) However, it is now well established that an infant may appoint an agent, although his agreement in this regard, like his other contracts, is voidable at his election.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 673, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116—Application of Goodchild, 290 N.Y.S. 683, 160 Misc. 738—Goldfinger v. Doherty, 276 N.Y. S. 289, 153 Misc. 826, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 778, 244 App.Div. 779.

(3) "Notwithstanding numerous general statements in the books, sound principles compel the conclusion that no satisfactory distinction can be drawn between a sale and delivery by the infant and delivery by an agent for him . . . [and] dicta and general statements to the contrary are no longer respectable authority."—Casey v. Kastel, supra.

26. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313.

agent has assumed to do for him.[27] On the other hand, it has frequently been asserted that an infant's appointment of an agent is absolutely void[28] and cannot be ratified by him after he becomes of age;[29] but most of these statements seem to be mere dicta, the cases either involving no question of agency at all,[30] or containing other facts or circumstances which may have lead the court to the same decision whether the act was void or voidable.[31] Many of the cases were actions in which the infant was seeking to disaffirm the act of the agent[32] or in which there had been no ratification of the act by the infant on reaching majority.[33]

The rule that an infant is incapable of appointing an attorney does not preclude the right or power of the infant's next friend to appoint an attorney.[34]

§ 24. Eligibility to Public Office or Employment

At common law infants are eligible to offices which are ministerial but not to offices which are judicial or concern the administration of justice.

At common law infants are eligible to offices which are ministerial in their character and call for the exercise of skill and diligence only;[35] but they are not eligible to offices which are judicial or concern the administration of justice,[36] nor should offices imposing duties to the proper discharge of which judgment, discretion, and experience are necessary be intrusted to infants.[37] In accordance with these rules it has been held that an infant may be an appraiser of land to be sold on execution,[38] an overseer of a public road,[39] or a deputy county clerk.[40] On the other hand, it has been held that an infant cannot act as a deputy sheriff[41] or a constable.[42]

Service of process or writ by an infant generally is considered in the C.J.S. title Process § 30, also 50 C.J. p 474 notes 64, 65, and by an infant specially deputized or appointed in the C.J.S. title Process § 29, also 31 C.J. p 1004 notes 6-8.

Acting as de facto officer. To the extent and within the limitations governing the acts of de facto

Colo.—Sipes v. Sipes, 287 P. 284, 87 Colo. 301.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 83.

27. Mass.—Chamberlain v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corporation, 194 N.E. 310, 289 Mass. 412.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 84.

Acceptance of investment
Where, under court order, fund belonging to infant was deposited with city chamberlain who purchased mortgage certificate constituting legal investment for trust funds, infant's acceptance of mortgage certificate on his attaining majority precluded him from making claim against city because certificate had depreciated in value.—Nepola v. City of New York, 284 N.Y.S. 314, 246 App. Div. 15.

Time of ratification
An infant cannot, during minority, ratify an act done by one assuming without authority to act as its agent.—Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116, and modified on other grounds Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995.

28. U.S.—Thompson v. Bell, C.C.A. Mich., 129 F.2d 211.
Ill.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E.2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N.E.2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E.2d 297, 319 Ill.App. 265.
Mo.—Curtis v. Alexander, 257 S.W. 432—Hodge v. Feiner, App., 78 S.W.2d 478, affirmed 90 S.W.2d 90, 338 Mo. 268, 103 A.L.R. 483.
Tenn.—Wilson v. Moudy, 123 S.W. 2d 828, 22 Tenn.App. 356.
31 C.J. p 1003 note 76.
Infant's avoidance of contracts generally see infra § 75.

At common law, powers of attorney and agencies of all sorts were among those contracts of an infant which were absolutely void.—Siegelstein v. Fenner & Beane, 17 S.E.2d 907, 66 Ga.App. 345.

Minor cannot give a delegation of power
N.D.—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 56 N.D. 60.

29. Mo.—Curtis v. Alexander, 257 S. W. 432—Hodge v. Feiner, App., 78 S.W.2d 478, affirmed 90 S.W.2d 90, 338 Mo. 268, 103 A.L.R. 483.
Ratification of:
Contracts see infra § 74.
Conveyances see infra § 39.

30. Ill.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E.2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N. E.2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582.
31 C.J. p 1003 note 77.

31. Ill.—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E. 2d 297, 319 Ill.App. 265.
31 C.J. p 1003 note 78.

32. Ga.—Siegelstein v. Fenner and Beane, 17 S.E.2d 907, 66 Ga.App. 345.
31 C.J. p 1003 note 79.
Right to avoid:
Contracts see infra § 75.
Property transactions see infra § 43.

33. Ind.—Burns v. Smith, 64 N.E. 94, 29 Ind.App. 181, 94 Am.S.R. 268.
31 C.J. p 1003 note 81.

34. Ala.—Smoot v. Ryan, 65 So. 828, 187 Ala. 396.
Appearance and representation by attorney see infra § 114.

35. N.H.—In re Golding, 57 N.H. 146, 24 Am.R. 66.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 87.

36. Tex.—Harkreader v. State, 33 S. W. 117, 35 Tex.Cr. 243, 60 Am.S.R. 40.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 88.

37. N.H.—In re Golding, 57 N.H. 146, 24 Am R. 66—Moore v. Graves, 3 N.H. 408.
Infant's eligibility to be:
Clerk of court see Clerks of Courts § 86.
Grand juror see Grand Juries § 6 (b).
Juror see the C.J.S. title Juries § 138, also 35 C.J. p 245 note 42-p 246 note 44.
Justice of the peace see the C.J.S. title Justices of the Peace § 5, also 35 C.J. p 457 note 98.
Notary see the C.J.S. title Notaries § 2, also 46 C.J. p 503 notes 27-29.

38. Ky.—White v. Laurel Land Co., 82 S.W. 571, 26 Ky.L. 775, 83 S.W. 628, 26 Ky.L. 1235.

39. Ala.—Allison v. State, 60 Ala. 54.

40. Tex.—Harkreader v. State, 33 S. W. 117, 35 Tex.Cr. 243, 60 Am.S.R. 40.

41. Ind.—New Albany & S. R. Co. v. Grooms, 9 Ind. 243.

42. Ala.—Floyd v. State, 79 Ala. 39.

officers, considered in the C.J.S. title Officers §§ 135–147, also 46 C.J. p 1053 note 85–p 1062 note 82, where a minor exercises an office which his infancy prevents him from holding lawfully his acts are not necessarily void,[43] but may be sustained as those of a de facto officer.[44]

§ 25. Exercising Right of Election

An infant does not have the legal capacity to exercise a right or power of election without the consent of the court; such exercise should be by the court, which will act only if it is beneficial to the infant.

An infant has not the legal capacity to exercise a right or power of election[45] without consent of the court,[46] and the exercise should be by the court.[47] Where other rights are involved a court of equity may exercise the right for him[48] or bar him from a future exercise of the right.[49] The court in making an election for an infant will consider whether it is beneficial to do so,[50] and in case it is not beneficial will not make the election.[51]

§ 26. Estoppel, Waiver, or Consent in General

a. Estoppel
b. Waiver or consent

a. Estoppel

As a general rule the doctrine of estoppel is not applicable to an infant although exceptions are recognized to the rule or its application is denied where the infant has attained years of discretion and his conduct is intentional and fraudulent.

It has been laid down that as a general rule the doctrine of estoppel has no application to an infant,[52] even though he has reached the age of discretion.[53] However, there are cases recognizing an exception to this rule or denying its application where the conduct of the infant, on which the estoppel is sought to be based, was intentional and fraudulent, and the infant was at the time of years of discretion.[54] Under particular circumstances the 43. Cal.—Page v. Mintzer, 184 P. 690, 42 Cal.App. 694.

31 C.J. p 1004 note 10.

44. Miss.—Wimberly v. Boland, 16 So. 905, 72 Miss. 241.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 11.

45. N.Y.—Crowe v. Fort Greene Nat. Bank in New York, 3 N.Y.S.2d 513, 515, 167 Misc. 100, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 13.
Election:
By:
Guardian see Guardian and Ward § 68.
Guardian ad litem or next friend see infra § 111.
Under will see the C.J.S. title Wills § 1246, also 69 C.J. p 1109 notes 95–98.

46. N.Y.—Crowe v. Fort Greene Nat. Bank in New York, 3 N.Y.S.2d 513, 167 Misc. 100.

47. Ala.—Abney v. Abney, 62 So. 64, 182 Ala. 213.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 14.

48. Ala.—Goodman v. Winter, 64 Ala. 410, 38 Am.R. 13.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 15.

49. Ill.—Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am.D. 726.

50. Ky.—Moorman v. Louisville Trust Co., 203 S.W. 856, 181 Ky. 30.
S.C.—Cauldwell v. Hannahan, 16 S. C.Eq. 352.

51. Ky.—Moorman v. Louisville Trust Co., 203 S.W. 856, 181 Ky. 30.
31 C.J. p 1004 note 18.

52. Fla.—Watkins v. Watkins, 166 So. 577, 578, 123 Fla. 267, citing Corpus Juris.
Ga.—Brown v. Anderson, 197 S.E. 761, 186 Ga. 220, followed in 197 S.E. 833, 186 Ga. 222—Pierce v. J. A. Alford & Sons, 179 S.E. 84, 180 Ga. 327—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—Keal v. Rhydderck, 148 N.E. 53, 317 Ill. 231—McInness v. Oscar F. Wilson Printing Co., 258 Ill.App. 161.
Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 232 P. 531, 72 Mont. 106.
N.J.—Rothenberg v. Franklin Washington Trust Co., 19 A.2d 640, 129 N.J.Eq. 361, modifying 13 A.2d 667, 127 N.J.Eq. 406.
N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App. Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116.
Or.—Skyles v. Kincaid, 264 P. 432, 436, 124 Or. 443, citing Corpus Juris.
S.C.—Floyd v. Page, 124 S.E. 1, 129 S. C. 301.
Tex.—Uhlmann Grain Co. of Texas v. Wilson, Civ.App., 68 S.W.2d 281.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 20.
Estoppel of:
Emancipated minor see infra § 30.
Person accepting benefits of contract to assert invalidity of contract because of minority of a party see Estoppel § 110 a.
Third persons acquiescing in employment of infant to repudiate transaction see Estoppel § 114 b.

Status of majority cannot be created by estoppel.—Broussard v. Rosenblum, 5 La.App. 245.

If there can be no legal waiver the principle of estoppel does not arise as against a minor.—Hess v. Gerhart, 19 Pa.Dist. & Co. 253, 43 Lanc.L.Rev. 585, 47 York Leg.Rec. 97.

In actions ex contractu
In view of Rev.St.1919 § 2173, in actions ex contractu, an infant is not estopped by misrepresentations made during infancy.—Gerkey v. Hampe, Mo.App., 274 S.W. 510.

53. Mo.—Orchard v. Wright-Dalton-Bell-Anchor Store Co., 197 S.W. 42; Miller v. St. Louis & S. F. R. Co., 174 S.W. 166, 188 Mo.App. 402.

54. Ga.—Siegelstein v. Fenner & Beane, 17 S.E.2d 907, 66 Ga.App. 345—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S.E. 711, 54 Ga.App. 290—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203.
Ill.—Keal v. Rhydderck, 148 N.E. 53, 317 Ill. 231—McInness v. Oscar F. Wilson Printing Co., 258 Ill.App. 161.
S.C.—Floyd v. Page, 124 S.E. 1, 6, 129 S.C. 301, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 22.
Fraudulent misrepresentation as to age see infra § 27.
"Waivers or estoppels [are] not ordinarily imputable against infants, except an estoppel in pais based on fraud and deceit by an infant who has reached an age of discretion when fraud can be imputed against him."—Brown v. Anderson, 197 S.E. 761, 762, 186 Ga. 220, followed in 197 S.E. 833, 186 Ga. 222.

Doctrine based on tort
The only theory on which doctrine of estoppel is ever applicable to civil transactions of infants is that conduct relied on constitutes a tort, unconnected with contract for which infant might be held civilly liable.—Floyd v. Page, 124 S.E. 1, 129 S.C. 301.

Rule applicable at law
Infant of sufficient age and capacity to comprehend nature, signifi-

benefits of a particular transaction may have been so appropriated for his advantage as to give rise to a form of equitable estoppel.[55] However, in order that an estoppel may become effective against an infant, the evidence supporting it must be certain, clear, and unequivocal.[56]

Elements of estoppel. If an estoppel can arise against an infant, all the elements of estoppel must concur.[57] The conduct of the infant must have been fraudulent,[58] and believed in, relied on, and acted on by the other party[59] to his detriment.[60]

Estoppel to assert title to property. Although exceptions to the rule have been recognized,[61] ordinarily an infant cannot estop himself to assert title or right to his own property,[62] and certainly he cannot be estopped by the acts or admissions of other persons.[63] Still his declarations that he does not own certain property may be competent evidence against him when the title to the property is in question.[64]

Estoppel to disaffirm transaction. While, if the particular transaction is considered void, no estoppel can arise,[65] in case of a merely voidable transaction the doctrine of estoppel being as a general rule not applicable to infants, the courts are reluctant to hold that the acts of an infant during infancy have created an estoppel against him to disaffirm his civil acts or transactions where the facts are at all consistent with a contrary opinion.[66] Certainly he cannot be estopped to do so by the acts, admissions, or misrepresentations of other persons.[67] Some cases hold that an infant cannot be estopped by a fraudulent representation that is the basis of a contract between him and another.[68] However, some authorities which maintain this doctrine assert the right of estoppel against him where, cance, and probable consequences of his contractual undertaking, who procured making of such agreement by fraud, acquired benefits thereof, and retained them, may be estopped even in court of law to escape liability because of infancy.—Sawicki v. Slahor, 167 A. 691, 11 N.J.Misc. 604.

Even as against innocent purchaser for value, minor is not estopped by his acts which mislead another to his injury unless such acts were intentional and fraudulent.—Uhlmann Grain Co. of Texas v. Wilson, Tex. Civ.App., 68 S.W.2d 281.

55. Or.—Skyles v. Kincaid, 264 P. 432, 124 Or. 443.
S.C.—Davis v. Strauss, 174 S.E. 908, 173 S.C. 99.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 23.
Equitable estoppel generally see Estoppel §§ 59–129.

Infant's consumption of irreturnable benefits

An infant is estopped to exercise his privilege of avoiding a fair and reasonable contract on the ground of his minority at the time the agreement was made, where it appears that he has received, enjoyed, and consumed its irreturnable benefits.—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S.E. 711, 54 Ga.App. 290—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203.

56. Mo.—Gerkey v. Hampe, App., 274 S.W. 510.

57. Fla.—Watkins v. Watkins, 166 So. 577, 578, 123 Fla. 267, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—McInness v. Oscar F. Wilson Printing Co., 258 Ill.App. 161, 168, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 30.

58. Fla.—Watkins v. Watkins, 166 So. 577, 578, 123 Fla. 267, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—McInness v. Oscar F. Wilson Printing Co., 258 Ill.App. 161, 168, citing Corpus Juris.
S.C.—Floyd v. Page, 124 S.E. 1, 6, 129 S.C. 301, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 31.

59. Fla.—Watkins v. Watkins, 166 So. 577, 123 Fla. 267.
Ill.—McInness v. Oscar F. Wilson Printing Co., 258 Ill.App. 161, 168, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 32.

Evidence held insufficient to show that purchaser was misled by infant's misrepresentations.—Floyd v. Page, 124 S.E. 1, 129 S.C. 301.

60. S.C.—Floyd v. Page, supra.

61. Ala.—Cheek v. Odom, 100 So. 782, 20 Ala.App. 31.
Or.—Skyles v. Kincaid, 264 P. 432, 124 Or. 443.

62. Fla.—Hodges v. Atlantic Nat. Bank of Jacksonville, 184 So. 875, 876, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 26.

Matters not constituting estoppel

(1) Notification to infant that person would buy property from his alleged grantee.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795.

(2) Failure to declare ownership and assert rights at time of wrongful levy does not preclude action therefor.—Cheek v. Odom, 100 So. 782, 20 Ala.App. 31.

(3) Acceptance of share of money from sale of homestead during minority does not preclude setting aside sale.—Hart v. Wimberly, 296 S.W. 39, 173 Ark. 1083.

(4) Leaving documents in possession of father is not such negligence as to forfeit rights as against bona fide purchaser of documents.—Application of Goodchild, 290 N.Y.S. 683, 160 Misc. 738.

63. Fla.—Hodges v. Atlantic Nat. Bank of Jacksonville, 184 So. 875, 876, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 27.

64. Fla.—Hodges v. Atlantic Nat. Bank of Jacksonville, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 28.

65. Cal.—Hakes Inv. Co. v. Lyons, 137 P. 911, 166 Cal. 557.
31 C.J. p 1006 note 34.

66. Ark.—Hart v. Wimberly, 296 S.W. 39, 173 Ark. 1083.
Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795.
N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116—Application of Goodchild, 290 N.Y.S. 683, 160 Misc. 738.
S.C.—Floyd v. Page, 124 S.E. 1, 129 S.C. 301.
31 C.J. p 1006 note 36.
Estoppel by acts after:
Attaining majority see infra §§ 43, 75.
Emancipation see infra § 30.

67. Tex.—Uhlmann Grain Co. of Texas v. Wilson, Civ.App., 68 S.W. 2d 281.
31 C.J. p 1006 note 37.

68. Miss.—Ferguson v. Bobo, 54 Miss. 121.
Mo.—Gerkey v. Hampe, App., 274 S. W. 510.

Reason for rule

"To hold otherwise would be to enforce the contract which the law permits the minor to avoid; it would convert a representation into a warranty, and be equivalent to holding that the fraud itself was an undertaking or warranty."—Woodall v.

by his conduct, he has led others to act to their prejudice in dealing with persons other than himself,[69] and it is generally held that, if the infant has arrived at years of discretion, his fraudulent conduct, which has been intentional or willful, on which the other party to the transaction has in good faith relied, and which has worked detriment to such party, may estop him to avoid or disaffirm his civil acts or transactions,[70] at least without returning the consideration.[71]

The receipt of money or property by an infant during the course of a transaction does not preclude him from repudiating such transaction.[72]

Right to assert estoppel. It has been said that an infant is not bound by an estoppel in pais and therefore he cannot claim one against an adult since such an estoppel would lack mutuality.[73]

b. Waiver or Consent

An infant is not capable of waiving his rights or of consenting to a violation thereof, nor can there be such a waiver or consent by a third person unless authorized by law.

In the absence of bad faith the doctrine of waiver does not apply to an infant,[74] nor can he consent to the violation of his rights,[75] and no third person not authorized by law to do so can under any circumstances dispose of or weaken the infant's rights by any consent or waiver.[76]

§ 27. —— False Representation as to Age

The authorities are divided as to whether an infant's false representation as to his age will estop him from claiming the disabilities of infancy as to his voidable transactions, but even in jurisdictions permitting such estoppel, before it can be invoked, all the elements of an estoppel must coexist.

On the question as to what effect the false representation of an infant as to his age has on a merely voidable civil transaction entered into by the other party relying thereon, there is conflict of authority.[77]

According to the weight of authority, the fact that an infant, at the time of entering into such transaction, misrepresented his age to the person with whom he dealt does not give any validity to the transaction or estop the infant from disaffirming the same or setting up the defense of infancy, against the enforcement of any rights thereunder.[78]

Grant & Co., 9 S.E.2d 95, 62 Ga.App. 581.

69. Miss.—Ferguson v. Bobo, 54 Miss. 121.
31 C.J. p 1006 note 39.

70. Ga.—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S. E. 711, 54 Ga.App. 290.
Ky.—Marceiliac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383.
31 C.J. p 1006 note 40.

71. Ky.—Smith v. Cole, 146 S.W. 30, 148 Ky. 138.
Return of property or consideration on disaffirmance of:
Contract see infra § 75.
Property transaction see infra § 46.

72. Ark.—Hart v. Wimberly, 296 S. W. 39, 173 Ark. 1083.
N.C.—Millsaps v. Estes, 50 S.E. 227, 137 N.C. 535, 107 Am.S.R. 496, 70 L.R.A. 170, rehearing 46 S.E. 988, 134 N.C. 486.

73. Ala.—Montgomery v. Gordon, 51 Ala. 377.

74. Ga.—Brown v. Anderson, 197 S. E. 761, 186 Ga. 220, followed in 197 S.E. 833, 186 Ga. 222.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 67.
"Minors being persons non sui juris cannot themselves waive any rights."—Watson v. Glenn, Tex.Civ. App., 82 S.W.2d 704.
Appointment of guardian
(1) A minor cannot waive the legal requirement that an action against him can be maintained only through the appointment of a guardian.—Hess v. Gerhart, 19 Pa.Dist. & Co. 253, 43 Lanc.L.Rev. 585, 47 York Leg.Rec. 97.
(2) Necessity for appointment of guardian ad litem or next friend see infra § 108.

75. N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 68.

76. Me.—Therriault v. Breton, 95 A. 699, 114 Me. 137.
N.Y.—Jongers v. First Trust & Deposit Co., 263 N.Y.S. 619, 147 Misc. 260.
Consent or waiver by:
General guardian see Guardian and Ward § 73.
Guardian ad litem or next friend see infra § 111.
No consent can be given for infant which will waive any of her substantive rights under law governing distribution of assets of estate.—Caruso v. Caruso, 143 A. 771, 103 N.J. Eq. 487, reversed on other grounds 148 A. 882, 106 N.J.Eq. 130.

77. U.S.—Myers v. Hurley Motor Co., App.D.C., 47 S.Ct. 277, 273 U. S. 18, 71 L.Ed. 515, 50 A.L.R. 1181.
Ga.—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S.E. 711, 713, 54 Ga.App. 290, citing Corpus Juris.

78. U.S.—Myers v. Hurley Motor Co., App.D.C., 47 S.Ct. 277, 273 U. S. 18, 71 L.Ed. 515, 50 A.L.R. 1181.
Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 235 Ala. 275.
Ark.—Foreman v. Dickinson, 6 S.W. 2d 829, 177 Ark. 121—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S. W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.
Cal.—Williams v. Leon T. Shettler Co., 276 P. 1065, 98 Cal.App. 282.
Me.—Sawyer Boot & Shoe Co. v. Braveman, 136 A. 290, 126 Me. 70.
Mass.—Tracey v. Brown, 163 N.E. 885, 265 Mass. 163—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.
Minn.—Steigerwalt v. Woodhead Co., 244 N.W. 412, 186 Minn. 558.
N.Y.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E. 726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437, affirming 264 N.Y.S. 806, 238 App. Div. 349—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224.
N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
Ohio.—Summit Auto Co. v. Jenkins, 153 N.E. 153, 20 Ohio App. 229.
Pa.—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 44 Lack. Jur. 145—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 43 Lack.Jur. 189, 56 York Leg.Rec. 123.
31 C.J. p 1006 note 46.
Estoppel where transaction is void see supra § 26 a.
Reason for rule
If a minor cannot make a valid contract, he cannot by his act or conduct, during minority, become legally bound thereby.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.

This has been held true notwithstanding the infant's appearance of maturity,[79] and the rule has been applied to deeds, mortgages, or other instruments affecting an infant's realty.[80] Under other authorities such misrepresentations may, under some circumstances,[81] when accompanied with the other elements of estoppel, and in the absence of bad faith on the part of the other party to the transaction,[82] or where the infant made the false representation of his age with fraudulent intent,[83] estop the infant from disaffirming the transaction both at law[84] and in equity,[85] especially if the situation and appearance of the alleged infant at the time were such as tended to corroborate the statement as to his being of full age.[86] This rule has been applied to deeds, mortgages, or other instruments affecting an infant's realty.[87] By force of statute, in some jurisdictions, no contract or transaction can be disaffirmed where, on account of the infant's misrepresentation as to his majority, the other party had good reason to believe the infant capable of contracting.[88]

If a misrepresentation as to age may work an estoppel the other elements of estoppel must coexist in order that it may do so.[89] The rule that will work an estoppel will be applied only when necessary to protect the other party to the transaction from what would otherwise be a fraud.[90] It will not be applied where he has knowledge of the infancy,[91] or where, from the infant's appearance,

Remedy in tort

(1) In an action by an infant who had disaffirmed his contract, the fact that the infant, at the time the contract was made, fraudulently represented that he was of age cannot be used defensively by defendant, and defendant's remedy, if any, for the fraud of the infant is in tort in the nature of an action of deceit against the minor.—Creer v. Active Automobile Exch., 121 A. 888, 99 Conn. 266.

(2) Infant's false representations as to age, inducing contract, may be set up by defendant in infant's action ex contractu as a separate defense in tort.—Chasser v. Hutton, 248 N.Y.S. 136, 139 Misc. 623.

79. Conn.—Creer v. Active Automobile Exch., 121 A. 888, 99 Conn. 266.

80. Ark.—Moore v. Smith, 155 S.W. 2d 572, 202 Ark. 1197.
S.C.—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 47.

81. Ky.—Young v. Daniel, 255 S.W. 854, 201 Ky. 65.
N.J.—Horwitz v. Hudson County Nat. Bank, 13 A.2d 495, 125 N.J.Law 3.
Tex.—Mitchell v. Higginbotham-Pearlstone Hardware Co., Civ.App., 38 S.W.2d 390.

Absence of verbal representation

If infant's conduct was such as naturally and reasonably to induce another to believe that he was of full age and to deal with him on that assumption, although he may have made no verbal misstatement as to his age, infant was estopped from defending on the ground of minority.—First State Bank v. Edwards, Tex. Civ.App., 245 S.W. 478.

82. Ga.—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S. E. 711, 54 Ga.App. 290—Watters v. Arrington, 146 S.E. 773, 39 Ga.App. 275—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203.
Ky.—Burk v. Moore, 272 S.W. 38, 209 Ky. 24.
Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 232 P. 531, 72 Mont. 106.
N.J.—Reggiori v. Forbes, 26 A.2d 145, 128 N.J.Law 391.
Tenn.—Tuck v. Payne, 17 S.W.2d 8, 159 Tenn. 192.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 48.

83. Ga.—Siegelstein v. Fenner & Beane, 17 S.E.2d 907, 66 Ga.App. 345.

Positive fraud

(1) Mere silence or passive acquiescence is insufficient.—Wood v. Imperial Motor Co., 5 Tenn.App. 246.

(2) Active fraud is required.—Conrad v. Martin, 270 S.W. 805, 208 Ky. 411.

Fraud not shown

Ill.—Burnet v. Chapin, 274 Ill.App. 186—Hunter v. Egolf Motor Co., 268 Ill.App. 1.

84. N.J.—Reggiori v. Forbes, 26 A. 2d 145, 128 N.J.Law 391—La Rosa v. Nichols, 105 A. 201, 92 N.J.Law 375, 6 A.L.R. 412, reversing 103 A. 390, 91 N.J.Law 355.

85. N.J.—Reggiori v. Forbes, 26 A. 2d 145, 128 N.J.Law 391.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 50.

86. N.J.—Brinkman v. Dorsey Motors, Inc., 1 A.2d 473, 121 N.J.Law 115.
Tenn.—Tuck v. Payne, 17 S.W.2d 8, 159 Tenn. 192, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 51.

Appearance of majority coupled with fraud

Personal appearance, family surroundings, or business activities, coupled with a misrepresentation by the infant leading one who deals with him in good faith and not knowing of his infancy to believe he is of age, will estop him from thereafter maintaining an action to avoid an executed contract.—Pinnacle Motor Co. v. Daugherty, 21 S.W.2d 1001, 231 Ky. 626—Young v. Daniel, 255 S.W. 854, 201 Ky. 65.

87. Tex.—First State Bank v. Edwards, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 478.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 52.

Subsequent purchaser from infant affected by estoppel

Ky.—Burk v. Moore, 272 S.W. 38, 209 Ky. 24—Damron v. Commonwealth, 61 S.W. 459, 22 Ky.L. 1717.

88. Wash.—Thosath v. Transport Motor Co., 240 P. 921, 136 Wash. 565.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 53.

Good reason held not to exist

Kan.—McClure Motor Co. v. Irwin, 21 P.2d 403, 137 Kan. 528, reheard 23 P.2d 470, 138 Kan. 35.

89. Tenn.—Wood v. Imperial Motor Co., 5 Tenn.App. 246.
31 C.J. p 1005 note 30 [a].

Damage or detriment

In the absence of fraudulent intent in making a misrepresentation of age and proof of actual damages suffered by the party dealing with the infant in reliance on the representation, the infant may disaffirm the transaction.—Burnet v. Chapin, 274 Ill.App. 186.

Right to rely

Grantee was not entitled to rely on estoppel based on minor grantor's misrepresentation of age, where grantee sustained a confidential relationship to infant and could not have been deceived by the misrepresentation, and she procured the land for a mere pittance.—Mitchell v. Swartz, 270 S.W. 22, 207 Ky. 780.

90. Ga.—Siegelstein v. Fenner & Beane, 17 S.E.2d 907, 66 Ga.App. 345.
Ky.—Asher v. Bennett, 136 S.W. 879, 143 Ky. 361.
Tenn.—Giddens v. D. S. Etheridge Co., Inc., 2 Tenn.App. 324.

91. Kan.—McClure Motor Co. v. Irwin, 23 P.2d 470, 138 Kan. 35, rehearing 21 P.2d 403, 137 Kan. 528.
Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v.

situation, or other circumstance, he should, as a reasonably prudent man, have knowledge of the infancy.[92] If the misrepresentation as to his age was induced by the other party to the transaction,[93] or by the agent of such party,[94] no estoppel arises.

Under some authorities, an infant who represents himself to be an adult, is estopped from setting up infancy only if he has received a benefit under the contract or transaction he fraudulently induced,[95] and retains it,[96] but on the other hand, it is stated that if the infant is able to do so and makes timely offer to return such benefit or the reasonable value of the use and benefit which inured to him, he will not be estopped because of his misrepresentation of age.[97]

Mere failure to give notice of the fact of infancy, without any representations on the subject or any intent to defraud, has been held insufficient to create an estoppel,[98] although the infant appeared to be of age and was believed by the other party so to be.[99] The execution of the instrument is not in itself a sufficient misrepresentation by the infant as to his age.[1] There is authority, however, to the effect that if the infant has arrived at the age of discretion and under the circumstances of the case it was his duty to disclose his minority, he may be estopped by his failure to do so,[2] as, for example, where the infant's personal appearance, family surroundings, or business activities, coupled with his fraudulent concealment, lead one, who deals with him in good faith and not knowing of his infancy, to believe he is of age.[3]

Representation by third person. One who holds out an infant as being of full age is estopped to set up the infancy against a person who has acted on the representation with nothing to put him on notice of the truth,[4] but the infant is not estopped by such third person's misrepresentation of the infant's age.[5]

§ 28. Removal of Disabilities or Emancipation

Subject to constitutional prohibitions, the legislature has the power to remove the disabilities of infancy.

The extent to which the disability of minority may be removed depends on statutory and consti-

Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 948, 261 Ky. 795, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617, affirmed Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 126 Tex. 480.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 57.

92. Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 948, 261 Ky. 795, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 58.
Investigation
(1) It is not necessary for the party relying on the infant's misrepresentation of age to show that he made an independent investigation as to the age of the infant, where no fact or circumstance appears, such as the youthful appearance of the infant, to throw some doubt or suspicion on the truthfulness of the representation.—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S.E. 711, 54 Ga.App. 290.
(2) The party dealing with the infant has the duty to make at least a reasonable effort, when it is doubtful whether he is of legal age, to ascertain the minor's true age before dealing with him, although the minor represents himself to be of age.—Burnet v. Chapin, 274 Ill.App. 186.
Ready means of ascertaining truth
Failure to use all ready means of ascertaining the truth touching on the infant's apparent majority may constitute lack of justification in reliance on the representation of majority.—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203.

93. Conn.—International Text Book Co. v. Doran, 68 A. 255, 80 Conn. 307.
Failure of infant to read contract
The representation of a minor, in a written contract with which he is sought to be bound, that he is twenty-one years of age, will not estop him from avoiding the contract, especially when the uncontradicted evidence shows that he did not read the contract.—Woodall v. Grant & Co., 9 S.E.2d 95, 62 Ga.App. 581.

94. Conn.—International Text Book Co. v. Doran, 68 A. 255, 80 Conn. 307.

95. Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 232 P. 531, 72 Mont. 106.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 55.

96. Ga.—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203.
N.J.—Reggiori v. Forbes, 26 A.2d 145, 128 N.J.Law 391—Feinsilver v. Schifter Motors, 23 A.2d 283, 127 N.J.Law 459—Brinkman v. Dorsey Motors, Inc., 1 A.2d 473, 121 N.J. Law 115.
Tenn.—Giddens v. D. S. Etheridge Co., Inc., 2 Tenn.App. 324.
Retaining proceeds of sale
If an infant sold his property for a fair price and received and retained the proceeds, and then seeks to retake the property to the prejudice of those who in good faith acted on the transaction as valid, he will be estopped.—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72.

97. N.J.—Reggiori v. Forbes, 26 A. 145, 128 N.J.Law 391—Feinsilver v. Schifter Motors, 23 A.2d 283, 127 N.J.Law 459.
Return of property or consideration on disaffirmance of:
Acquisition or alienation of property see infra § 46.
Contract generally see infra § 75

98. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Ga.—Woodall v. Grant & Co., 9 S.E. 2d 95, 62 Ga.App. 581.
Tenn.—Wood v. Imperial Motor Co., 5 Tenn.App. 246.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 61.

99. Ky.—Conrad v. Martin, 270 S.W. 805, 208 Ky. 411.
Pa.—Frank Spangler Co. v. Haupt, 53 Pa.Super. 545.
31 C.J. p 1007 note 61.

1. Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795—Conrad v. Martin, 270 S.W. 805, 208 Ky. 411.

2. D.C.—Utermehle v. McGreal, 1 App.D.C. 359, reversing on other grounds MacGreal v. Taylor, 17 S. Ct. 961, 167 U.S. 688, 42 L.Ed. 326.
Tenn.—Adams v. Fite, 3 Baxt. 69.
Tex.—First State Bank v. Edwards, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 478.

3. Ky.—Young v. Daniel, 255 S.W. 854, 201 Ky. 65.

4. Ky.—Harris v. Ronk, 107 S.W. 341, 32 Ky.L. 966.

5. Tex.—Uhlmann Grain Co. of Texas v. Wilson, Civ.App., 68 S.W.2d 281, error dismissed.

tutional provisions.[6] In the absence of constitutional inhibition,[7] it is within the power of the legislature to remove the disabilities of infancy,[8] to emancipate infants,[9] and to endow minors with the right to enter into transactions otherwise lawful.[10] Such power may be exercised by the legislature without intervention of other authority,[11] or it may delegate the exercise of such power to some other authority,[12] even to an officer or commission having no judicial authority.[13]

An infant may be emancipated by his parents, as discussed in the C.J.S. title Parent and Child §§ 86–90, also 46 C.J. p 1341 note 79–p 1346 note 53, by his marriage, as considered infra § 29, or by judicial proceedings to that effect, considered infra § 30. Although parental emancipation may free the infant from parental control, it does not remove all of the disabilities of infancy.[14] It does not, for example, enlarge or affect the minor's capacity or incapacity to contract.[15] Also, it has been held that it does not render him capable of suing without a guardian.[16]

Under the civil law, unless and until emancipation of a minor is revoked, the emancipated minor has the simple administration of his property,[17] and although he may encumber his interest in real property without the necessity of judicial authorization,[18] he cannot alienate or encumber it without the consent of parent, curator, tutor, or family council,[19] or appear in real actions except through one of them.[20] After his emancipation, transactions authorized by the minor and executed in conformity to law are binding on him.[21] Ratification by an infant, after his emancipation, of a transaction made prior to emancipation is legally effective.[22] A statute providing that a father cannot represent a minor son if there is an incompatibility of interests between father and son is applicable only to unemancipated sons.[23]

A person emancipated by the attainment of majority thereby acquires full civil rights.[24]

§ 29. —— Emancipation by Marriage

Marriage does not remove the disabilities of infancy unless it is so provided for by statute, and the extent to which such disabilities are removed is dependent on the statutes; the authorities are divided as to whether the consent of the parent or guardian to the marriage is necessary to effect the infant's emancipation.

While in most jurisdictions the marriage of a minor works an emancipation as to his person,[25]

6. Fla.—Riley v. Holmer, 131 So. 330, 100 Fla. 938.

Terms of statute

Statute, relieving against disability of minor depositor, does not extend to validating a release to bank which has been executed by minor. —Harris v. Columbia County Bank, 298 S.W. 872, 175 Ark. 143.

7. Mo.—Dickens v. Carr, 84 Mo. 658.

8. Mich.—Naudzius v. Lahr, 234 N. W. 581, 253 Mich. 216.
N.Y.—Application of Presler, 13 N.Y. S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 71.
Abrogation of disability to contract see infra § 71.

9. Tenn.—Campbell v. Bon Air Coal & Iron Corporation, 268 S.W. 377, 151 Tenn. 132.

10. N.Y.—Application v. Presler, 13 N.Y.S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 72.

11. Miss.—Marks v. McElroy, 7 So. 408, 67 Miss. 545.

12. Tex.—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S. W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S. W. 841, 75 Tex. 385.

13. Miss.—Marks v. McElroy, 7 So. 408, 67 Miss. 545.

14. N.Y.—Cohen v. Delaware, L. & W. R. Co., 269 N.Y.S. 667, 150 Misc. 450.

15. Tenn.—Giddens v. D. S. Etheridge Co., Inc., 2 Tenn.App. 324.
Wis.—Schoenung v. Gallet, 233 N.W. 852, 853, 206 Wis. 52, 78 A.L.R. 387, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 80.

Collection of wages

Emancipated infant cannot repudiate collections of wages during infancy, after attaining majority.—Acme Lumber Co. v. Miller, 139 S.E. 246, 148 Va. 409.

16. Mont.—Hoskins v. White, 32 P. 163, 13 Mont. 70.
Necessity of representation generally see infra § 108.

17. Philippine.—Ibañez de Aldecoa v. Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corp., 30 Philippine 228.
40 C.J. p 1277 note 27.

18. U.S.—Benitez v. Bank of Nova Scotia, C.C.A.Puerto Rico, 116 F.2d 359.

19. La.—Grigsby v. Louisiana Bank, 3 La. 491.
40 C.J. p 1277 note 28.

Form of consent

A father's consent, required by Puerto Rican law, to emancipated minor's encumbrance or sale of realty, need not be manifest by formal instrument executed by father in father's capacity as guardian, but can be shown by implication.—Benitez v. Bank of Nova Scotia, C.C.A. Puerto Rico, 116 F.2d 359.

20. La.—Richardson v. Richardson, 38 La.Ann. 639.
40 C.J. p 1278 note 29.

21. U.S.—Benitez v. Bank of Nova Scotia, C.C.A.Puerto Rico, 116 F.2d 359.

22. U.S.—Benitez v. Bank of Nova Scotia, supra.

23. U.S.—Benitez v. Bank of Nova Scotia, supra.

24. Philippine.—U. S. v. De la Santa, 9 Philippine 22.
40 C.J. p 1278 note 31.

25. U.S.—Miller v. U. S., C.C.A.Ark. 123 F.2d 715, applying law of Arkansas, opinion supplemented 124 F.2d 849, opinion supplemented 126 F.2d 462, certiorari granted 62 S. Ct. 1307, 316 U.S. 658, 86 L.Ed. 1736, remanded on other grounds 63 S.Ct. 187, 317 U.S. 192, 87 L.Ed. 179, rehearing denied 63 S.Ct. 438, 317 U.S. 713, 87 L.Ed. 567.
Miss.—Bickerstaff v. Marlin, 60 Miss. 509, 45 Am.R. 418.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
N.Y.—Inakay v. Sun Laundry Corporation, 42 N.Y.S.2d 344, 180 Misc. 550.
Wis.—La Crosse County v. Vernon County, 290 N.W. 279, 233 Wis. 664.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 83.
Marriage of minor as affecting capacity to acquire domicile see Domicile § 12 (b), (9).
Minor's marriage as terminating guardianship see Guardian and Ward § 43.

the emancipation of a minor by marriage, although it may free him from parental control, as discussed in the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 87, also 46 C.J. p 1345 note 52–p 1346 note 53, does not, in the absence of express statutory provision to that effect,[26] remove the civil disabilities imposed on him as a minor.[27] To what extent such disabilities are removed depends on the statutes and the construction thereof.[28] Accordingly, the mere fact that a woman's disability of infancy is asserted during her coverture does not give it any greater or less force than it would have if asserted out of coverture.[29] Some statutes, however, have the effect of relieving minors, whether male[30] or female,[31] who come within the terms of the statute, of the disabilities of infancy as though they had attained the age of majority.[32]

Subject to the disability of coverture, as considered in Husband and Wife § 165 emancipation by marriage has the effect of removing the disability of incapacity to mortgage or alienate real estate,[33] or to sue without representation,[34] and to permit the operation of the rules of limitation of actions[35] or prescription[36] against the minor as though he were an adult. Where a statute secures to a minor married woman her rights in property in the same manner and with the same effect as though she were of full age, her conveyance is not voidable on the ground of infancy.[37]

According to some authorities a marriage made in violation of law will not effect an emancipation,[38] but, according to a different view, the emancipation is nevertheless effected.[39] While a marriage without the consent of the parent may work an emancipation from the control and authority of the parent, as discussed in the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 89, also 46 C.J. p 1345 note 48, according to some authorities a marriage to work an emancipation, removing the disabilities of infancy, should be contracted with the consent of the parent or guard-

Male or female minor is emancipated by marriage.—Bonnette v. Flournoy, 119 So. 736, 9 La.App. 467.

26. Miss.—Chapman v. Hughes, 61 Miss. 339.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 974, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.

27. U.S.—Miller v. U. S., C.C.A.Ark., 123 F.2d 715, applying law of Arkansas, opinion supplemented 124 F.2d 849, opinion supplemented 126 F.2d 462, certiorari granted 62 S. Ct. 1307, 316 U.S. 658, 86 L.Ed. 1736, remanded on other grounds 63 S.Ct. 187, 317 U.S. 192, 87 L.Ed. 179, rehearing denied 63 S.Ct. 438, 317 U.S. 713, 87 L.Ed. 567.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 974, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.
Tex.—Newberry v. Johnson, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 456, reversed on other grounds, Com.App., 267 S.W. 476.
Wis.—La Crosse County v. Vernon County, 290 N.W. 279, 233 Wis. 664.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 82, p 1009 notes 97, 2.
Married infants as subject to delinquency statutes see infra § 98.

Property or property rights
(1) The marriage of a woman before she attains majority, although it emancipates her as to her person, does not affect her property or property rights.—Inakay v. Sun Laundry Corporation, 42 N.Y.S.2d 344, 180 Misc. 550.

(2) A deed executed by an infant feme covert pursuant to the statutory requirements stands on precisely the same footing as a deed executed by an infant feme sole, and the deed is not binding.—Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S.W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.

28. Ala.—State v. De Marco, 100 So. 574, 20 Ala.App. 52.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 98.

Setting aside judgment
Under a statute so providing, an infant married woman may be precluded from moving to set aside a judgment rendered against her.—Schlenker v. Clark, 11 S.W.2d 725, 226 Ky. 665.

29. Mo.—Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S.W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.

30. La.—Roe v. Caldwell, 83 So. 43, 145 La. 853.

31. Ala.—State v. De Marco, 100 So. 574, 20 Ala.App. 52.
La.—Succession of Hecker, 185 So. 32, 191 La. 302, reversing, App., 180 So. 228.
Neb.—Rotzin v. Miller, 274 N.W. 190, 133 Neb. 4, vacated on other grounds 277 N.W. 811, 134 Neb. 8.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 4.

Default judgment
Husband and infant wife, making no defense to action to enforce mortgages signed by them, could not have judgment set aside after term in which it was rendered, on ground that wife was under age when signing mortgage.—Schlenker v. Clark, 11 S.W.2d 725, 226 Ky. 665.

32. Ala.—State v. De Marco, 100 So. 574, 20 Ala.App. 52.
Ga.—Irby v. State, 196 S.E. 101, 57 Ga.App. 717.
Iowa.—Boehm v. Rohts, 276 N.W. 105, 224 Iowa 226.
La.—Thorton v. Central Surety and Insurance Corporation, App., 191 So. 179—Murray v. Hardee, App., 189 So. 376.
Tex.—Thompson v. Crim, 126 S.W.2d 18, 132 Tex. 586, affirming, Civ. App., 103 S.W.2d 855.

The purpose of the act relative to the emancipation of minors over eighteen years of age by marriage was to relieve such minors of all the disabilities of minority and fully emancipate them and give them the status of a major.—Succession of Hecker, 185 So. 32, 191 La. 302, reversing, App., 180 So. 228.

33. La.—Succession of Hecker, supra—Arrington v. Gray, 108 So. 790, 161 La. 413—Murray v. Hardee, App., 189 So. 376.

34. La.—Bonnette v. Flournoy, 119 So. 736, 9 La.App. 467—Goldsby v. Lowrey, 6 La.App. 450.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 5.

35. La.—Murray v. Hardee, App., 189 So. 376.

36. La.—Succession of Hecker, 185 So. 32, 191 La. 302, reversing, Civ. App., 180 So. 228.

37. Me.—Fields v. Mitchell, 92 A. 293, 112 Me. 368.

38. La.—Guillebert v. Grenier, 32 So. 238, 107 La. 614.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 85.

39. Ga.—Irby v. State, 196 S.E. 101, 57 Ga.App. 717.

ian,[40] while other authorities state that such consent is not necessary, especially where it is not required by the statute providing for emancipation by marriage.[41]

Statutes discharging minors from guardianship on their marriage do not necessarily remove the disabilities of infancy;[42] nor does the removal of the disability of coverture necessarily remove the disability of infancy.[43] Accordingly, statutes conferring on married women power and authority over their property,[44] power to contract generally,[45] to convey their separate real estate with or without the consent of their husbands,[46] or to sue or be sued in the same manner as though they were sole,[47] may not operate to remove the disabilities of infancy. In some jurisdictions, however, by force of statute, on the removal of the disability of coverture, the disability of infancy of a married woman is also removed.[48] Where an infant emancipated by marriage becomes a widow before reaching the age of majority, she does not relapse into pupilage.[49]

Statutes deemed remedial. The statutes providing for the emancipation and removal of the disabilities of married infants are remedial in their nature, and should be construed to effect the legislative purpose.[50]

§ 30. —— Judicial Emancipation

a. In general
b. Proceedings
c. Conclusiveness and effect of judicial emancipation

a. In General

In some jurisdictions proceedings to remove the disabilities of minority may be instituted in cases within the intent of statutes providing therefor.

By virtue of the power of the legislatures to remove the disabilities of infancy, considered supra § 28, in some jurisdictions, by force of statute, proceedings may be instituted leading up to an order or decree removing the disabilities of a minor.[51] The right to emancipation must come within the provisions of the statutes providing for such emancipation.[52]

Ordinarily it should appear that removal of the disabilities is for the best interest of the minor,[53] and that he is capable of attending to his own affairs or business;[54] and an order removing the disability of a minor not so capable has been held void.[55] The statutory requirements concerning the 40. Iowa.—Boehm v. Rohlfs, 276 N. W. 105, 224 Iowa 226.

31 C.J. p 1008 note 87.

41. Ga.—Irby v. State, 196 S.E. 101, 57 Ga.App. 717.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 87.

Applicability of statute
A statute, which states that a minor, emancipated by marriage on attaining the age of eighteen years, shall have the full powers of one twenty-one years of age, applies to all married minors who attain the age of eighteen years, without qualification or limitation.—Succession of Hecker, 185 So. 32, 191 La. 302, reversing, App., 180 So. 228.

42. Miss.—Chapman v. Hughes, 61 Miss. 339.
N.Y.—Inakay v. Sun Laundry Corporation, 42 N.Y.S.2d 344, 180 Misc. 550.
31 C.J. p 1008 note 88.

43. N.Y.—Inakay v. Sun Laundry Corporation, supra—Application of Presler, 13 N.Y.S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.
Pa.—Reese v. Reese, 13 Pa.Dist. & Co. 8, 41 Lanc.L.Rev. 475, 43 York Leg.Rec. 30.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 89.

44. N.Y.—Inakay v. Sun Laundry Corporation, 42 N.Y.S.2d 344, 180 Misc. 550—Application of Presler, 13 N.Y.S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.

45. Ind.—Shipley v. Smith, 70 N.E. 803, 162 Ind. 526.

46. Ind.—Shipley v. Smith, supra.

47. Hawaii.—Beckley v. Brown, 20 Hawaii 596.
S.C.—Hiers v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 55 S.E. 457, 75 S.C. 311, 9 Ann.Cas. 1114.

48. Me.—Fields v. Mitchell, 92 A. 293, 112 Me. 368, explaining Cummings v. Everett, 19 A. 456, 82 Me. 260.

49. N.J.—Rinaldi v. Rinaldi, 118 A. 685, 94 N.J.Eq. 14.
La.—Wilcox v. Henderson, 7 Rob. 338.

50. Ala.—Hays v. Bowdoin, 49 So. 122, 159 Ala. 600.

51. Ala.—Cornelius v. Moore, 100 So. 895, 211 Ala. 544.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 11.

Necessity of proceeding
Common-law status of minority continues to age of twenty-one, and only by express statute may minor over age of nineteen have disability of minority removed by conformity to the statutory proceedings.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111, modified on other grounds, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198.

52. La.—Emancipation of Dupuy, 199 So. 384, 196 La. 439.

Illegitimate minor may present cause for removal of disabilities of minority.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

Indian
The district court of Oklahoma has authority to confer majority rights on a minor heir of one thirty-second Cherokee Indian blood and may emancipate such heir from the disabilities of minority the same as any other minor of the state.—Hardesty v. Gordon, 119 P.2d 70, 189 Okl. 677.

53. Miss.—McLeiter v. Rackley, 114 So. 128, 148 Miss. 75.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 12.

Interest of third persons
Statute providing that minors above the age of nineteen may have their disabilities of minority removed was passed in the interest of minors and was not intended to aid others.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111, modified on other grounds 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198.

Joinder in mineral lease
Disability could be removed as to minor over eighteen years in order to enable him to join in oil and gas lease on homestead.—Wilson v. Magnolia Petroleum Co., 26 S.W.2d 92, 181 Ark. 391.

54. Ark.—Dalton v. Bradley Lumber Co., 205 S.W. 695, 135 Ark. 392.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 13.

55. Ark.—Doles v. Hilton, 3 S.W. 193, 48 Ark. 305.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 14.

age of the minor must be complied with in order to bring a proceeding for the removal of his disabilities,[56] but in the absence of a prescribed minimum age therefor, a particular youthful age will not necessarily preclude the court from the exercise of its power to remove the disabilities of minority.[57]

A proceeding to remove the disability of minority is not a case in equity.[58]

b. Proceedings

(1) In general
(2) Jurisdiction and venue
(3) Parties
(4) Application
(5) Notice and service of application
(6) Hearing and determination
(7) Evidence
(8) Order, decree, or judgment

(1) In General

Proceedings for the removal of a minor's disabilities are governed by, and must conform to, the statute under which they are brought. Although the statutory requirements must be substantially followed, literal compliance is not necessary.

The proceedings to remove a minor's disabilities are governed by, and must conform to, the statute of the particular jurisdiction in which they are had,[59] and, although the statute must be substantially followed, a literal compliance is not necessary.[60] Irregularities in the proceedings do not render the order or decree void,[61] especially where the jurisdiction of the person and the subject matter is shown.[62] On the other hand, where the proceedings are had before a judge or chancellor, acting as a commissioner, and not as a court, ordinarily, they are ex parte,[63] not judicial in character,[64] the minor having no adversary,[65] and affect only the status of the minor.[66]

(2) Jurisdiction and Venue

Except as otherwise provided by statute, chancery courts and probate courts in the county where the minor resides usually are vested with the statutory jurisdiction to remove the disabilities of the minor.

In the matter of the removal of disabilities of minority, the source of power of the court to act is the Constitution or statute conferring the jurisdiction,[67] and the question as to what particular court has jurisdiction is one depending entirely on the Constitution and statutes.[68] Such jurisdiction is limited and restricted.[69] Usually the power to remove such disability is vested in courts of chancery[70] or of probate.[71]

Residence of the infant within the county where the court is held is ordinarily a jurisdictional requi-

56. Ark.—Crabtree v. Bonner, 93 S.W.2d 134, 192 Ark. 377—Wilson v. Magnolia Petroleum Co., 26 S.W.2d 92, 181 Ark. 391—Tays v. Johnson, 292 S.W. 122, 173 Ark. 223.
Tex.—Cunningham v. Robinson, 136 S.W. 441, 104 Tex. 227—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111, modified on other grounds 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198.

Voidable decree

Decree removing disabilities of minors who were fifteen and seventeen years of age to enable them to convey their interests in realty was voidable only and not subject to collateral attack in suit to recover possession of realty conveyed, where no suit had been brought to set aside decree removing disabilities within time prescribed after minors had reached majority.—Crabtree v. Bonner, 93 S.W.2d 134, 192 Ark. 377.

57. Miss.—McLeiter v. Rackley, 114 So. 128, 148 Miss. 75.

58. Miss.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

59. U.S.—Johnson v. Mississippi Power Co., C.C.A.Miss., 68 F.2d 545.
Ark.—Gilmore v. Union Sawmill Co., 10 S.W.2d 517, 178 Ark. 297.
La.—Emancipation of Dupuy, 199 So. 384, 196 La. 439.
Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111, modified on other grounds 120 S.W. 2d 798, 132 Tex. 198.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 20.

60. Tex.—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S.W. 111, 841, 75 Tex. 385.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 20.

61. Ala.—Boykin v. Collins, 37 So. 248, 140 Ala. 407.
Tex.—Stewart v. Robbins, 65 S.W. 899, 27 Tex.Civ.App. 188.

62. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Till, 101 So. 676, 212 Ala. 64.

63. Tex.—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S.W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S.W. 841, 75 Tex. 385.

64. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.
31 C.J. p 1009 note 17.

65. Tex.—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S.W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S.W. 841, 75 Tex. 385.

66. Miss.—Marks v. McElroy, 7 So. 408, 67 Miss. 545.
Tex.—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S.W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S.W. 841, 75 Tex. 385.

67. Miss.—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.
Tex.—Hobbs v. Boyd, Civ.App., 292 S.W. 947.

68. Tex.—Hobbs v. Boyd, Civ.App., 292 S.W. 947.
31 C.J. p 1010 note 24.

69. Miss.—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.

In Texas

(1) In proceedings for the removal of disabilities of minors, the district courts, according to most cases, do not exercise jurisdiction of a court, but only such special and limited jurisdiction as provided by statute.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111—31 C.J. p 1009 note 17.

(2) However, there is authority holding that the district court exercises general original jurisdiction in such proceedings, and its judgments should be given the same consideration as any other judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction.—Hobbs v. Boyd, Civ.App., 292 S.W. 947.

70. Miss.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.
31 C.J. p 1010 note 25.

71. Ark.—Doles v. Hilton, 3 S.W. 193, 48 Ark. 305.

site.[72] Although under a statute so providing the court may remove a nonresident minor's disability as to a sale or conveyance of the minor's real estate interests within the county of the court's jurisdiction, if the proceeding is not brought under such statute, the court does not have jurisdiction where it is not shown that the minor resided within the county where the proceeding is brought.[73]

(3) Parties

Necessary parties in a proceeding to remove the disabilities of a minor are determined by the governing statute. Usually the petition is presented by the minor; sometimes his parents or guardian may be required to join in, or assent to, the petition, and sometimes it is required that it be presented by the minor's next friend.

A petition for removal of an infant's disabilities is usually required to be presented by the infant,[74] and his parents or guardian may sometimes be required to join in, or assent to, the petition.[75] It is sometimes required that the application should be by the minor's next friend,[76] and in such case a petition by the minor and his parents is insufficient to confer jurisdiction.[77] Where the statute requires that the petition be filed by the parent, if living, the minor has no right to file the petition, notwithstanding the parent is a nonresident.[78] The governing statute determines who must be joined as parties to the proceeding,[79] and when the petition names the parties in compliance with the statute, the court has complete jurisdiction of the parties and subject matter.[80] Under a statute so providing, all the kindred within the third degree, known to the minor or to his copetitioners, must be made parties to, or join in, the application.[81] An ex parte petition for the removal of the disabilities of a minor, filed by the minor through his father and mother as next friends, meets the requirements of a statute providing that, if any two of the nearest of kin within the third degree, known to the minor or his copetitioners, shall unite with the minor in his application, it shall not be necessary to make any person defendant.[82] Under some authorities, the rule is 72. Miss.—Howard v. McMurchy, 166 So. 917, 175 Miss. 328—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

31 C.J. p 1010 note 27.

Minor's right to fix residence
District court of county, to which minor came to establish residence, without his parents' consent, was without jurisdiction of proceeding to remove his disabilities.—Deterly v. Wells, Tex.Civ.App., 53 S.W.2d 847, error refused.

73. Miss.—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.

74. Ala.—Boykin v. Collins, 37 So. 248, 140 Ala. 407.
31 C.J. p 1010 note 29.

Preparation of petition by person adversely interested
Decrees removing deceased employee's widow's disability of minority were not vitiated by the fact that the attorney for employer, offering a compromise settlement of widow's death claim, prepared and submitted petitions for such relief.—Johnson v. Mississippi Power Co., C.C.A.Miss., 68 F.2d 545.

75. Ala.—Boykin v. Collins, 37 So. 248, 140 Ala. 407.

In Louisiana
(1) The law does not favor displacement of parental authority without consent of the parents.—Emancipation of Dupuy, 199 So. 384, 196 La. 439.

(2) When the father and mother are both living, both parents must consent to the emancipation proceeding.—Emancipation of Dupuy, supra—State ex rel. Billington v. Sacred Heart Orphan Asylum, 98 So. 406, 154 La. 883—Folse v. Hannagriff & Edmondson, 127 So. 663, 14 La.App. 249.

(3) However, such consent is not necessary if the application is made on the ground of ill treatment, refusal to support, or corrupt examples.—Emancipation of Dupuy, supra.

(4) The unexplained absence of the father is not such cruelty as permits judgment of emancipation without the consent of the father or tutor.—Gaston v. Rainach, 74 So. 890, 141 La. 162.

(5) It is the mother's consent that is essential when the father has been divested of his parental authority.—Emancipation of Dupuy, supra.

(6) The judgment of emancipation is void, notwithstanding the consent of a parent to the proceeding, where a duly appointed and qualified tutor existed who did not give assent thereto.—In re Webster's Tutorship, 177 So. 688, 188 La. 623.

(7) Where the minor has neither father nor mother, the petition must be accompanied by the assent of a duly appointed and qualified tutor.—Emancipation of Dupuy, supra.

(8) If there is no tutor, a special one is appointed for that purpose.—In re Webster's Tutorship, supra—Gaston v. Rainach, supra.

(9) Emancipation proceedings carried on without the assent of a duly appointed and qualified tutor or a special tutor are void.—In re Webster's Tutorship, supra—31 C.J. p 1010 note 30 [a] (1), (2).

(10) The reasons for refusal of parental consent are immaterial because the court is not authorized to entertain the application without the parental consent.—Emancipation of Dupuy, supra.

(11) The court may, however, inquire into the reasons why the tutor refuses to give his consent.—Emancipation of Dupuy, supra.

76. Miss.—Poole v. Jones, 101 So. 786, 136 Miss. 645—Jackson v. Jackson, 63 So. 275, 105 Miss. 868, Ann.Cas.1915D 489.

77. Miss.—Jackson v. Jackson, supra.

78. Ala.—Ex parte Singleton, 68 So. 253, 192 Ala. 117.

79. U.S.—Johnson v. Mississippi Power Co., C.C.A.Miss., 68 F.2d 545. Miss.—Milham v. Higdon, 95 So. 433, 131 Miss. 260.

Statutory requirements held satisfied
Miss.—Eastman-Gardner Co. v. Leverett, 106 So. 106, 141 Miss. 96.

80. Miss.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

Relatives and friends, although proper parties to intervene, are not, because of that, necessary parties.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, supra.

81. Miss.—Wilson v. McCorkle, 99 So. 366, 135 Miss. 525—Milham v. Higdon, 95 So. 433, 131 Miss. 260.
31 C.J. p 1010 note 31.

82. Miss.—Bazor v. J. J. Newman Lumber Co., 97 So. 761, 133 Miss. 538.

Dual capacity
The adult petitioner may appear in a dual capacity of kinsman and next friend.—Eastman-Gardner Co. v. Leverett, 106 So. 106, 141 Miss. 96.

that if both parents are alive they must both be made parties to the proceeding,[83] and that the father, if he is living, is a necessary party defendant.[84] On the other hand, if there be only one parent of whom the law can take cognizance, then it is only that parent who must be made a party, so that in the event that the minor is illegitimate, the mother is the only parent necessary as a party defendant to the proceeding.[85]

(4) Application

Proceedings for the removal of a minor's disabilities are ordinarily commenced by petition which must state all the jurisdictional requisites prescribed by statute.

The requirements concerning the application for emancipation of an infant must conform to the applicable statute.[86] Such proceedings are usually commenced by a petition[87] in writing.[88]

The petition should state all the necessary jurisdictional requisites,[89] such as the cause for the removal asked,[90] that the minor resides in the county in which the proceeding is brought,[91] and that the minor is capable of managing his own affairs;[92] but it has been held that a petition may be sufficient without alleging that the relief sought will be to the interest of the minor.[93] It is sometimes required that the petition shall be sworn to by some person cognizant of the facts set out therein.[94]

On filing of a sufficient petition the jurisdiction of the court attaches.[95]

(5) Notice and Service of Application

Issuance of process or notice of the filing of the petition for the removal of an infant's disabilities is sometimes required as in other suits, but it may be waived.

Process sometimes must be issued in removal of disabilities proceeding, as in other suits.[96] Notice by publication of the filing of the petition is sometimes required, but the failure to do so has been held not to be a jurisdictional defect.[97] Issuance or service of process may be waived.[98] Under a statute so providing, if the father of the minor is not living, a copy of the petition shall be served on the county judge of the county in which the proceeding is instituted,[99] but a waiver of such service satisfies this provision of the statute.[1] The appearance of the county judge implies a waiver of the service of a copy of the application.[2]

(6) Hearing and Determination

There should be a hearing on an application for the removal of a minor's disabilities and it may be contested; the determination of the application is within the discretion of the court or judge.

There should be a hearing on the petition for the removal of a minor's disabilities,[3] at which it may

83. Miss.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

84. Miss.—Lake v. Perry, 49 So. 569, 95 Miss. 550.

85. Miss.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

86. Miss.—Poole v. Jones, 101 So. 786, 136 Miss. 645.

Fraudulent allegations

(1) A false averment of a necessary jurisdictional fact, knowingly made, constitutes such legal or constructive fraud as renders a decree based on such false petition void.—Wilson v. McCorkle, 99 So. 366, 135 Miss. 525.

(2) However, a false and fraudulent allegation of an immaterial fact will not vitiate the emancipation decree.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

(3) Fraud will not be presumed because illegitimate states in petition to remove disabilities of minority that father is dead.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, supra.

87. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, Civ.App., 92 S.W. 2d 1111, modified on other grounds 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198.
31 C.J. p 1010 note 28.

Petition jurisdictional
Miss.—Hayes v. Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, La., 140 So. 340, 162 Miss. 877.

88. Miss.—Poole v. Jones, 101 So. 786, 136 Miss. 645.

89. Miss.—Dullon v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.

90. Tex.—Stewart v. Robbins, 65 S. W. 899, 27 Tex.Civ.App. 188.

91. Miss.—Dullon v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.

92. La.—Pochelu's Emancipation, 6 So. 541, 41 La.Ann. 331.

93. Ala.—Boykin v. Collins, 37 So. 248, 140 Ala. 407.

94. Tex.—Stewart v. Robbins, 65 S. W. 899, 27 Tex.Civ.App., 188.

95. U.S.—Johnson v. Mississippi Power Co., C.C.A.Miss., 68 F.2d 545.

96. Miss.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

97. Ala.—Boykin v. Collins, 37 So. 248, 140 Ala. 407.

98. Miss.—McLeiter v. Rackley, 114 So. 128, 148 Miss. 75.

By filing an answer a party waives the issuance and service of process. —Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

99. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S.W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S.W. 841, 75 Tex. 385.

1. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S.W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S.W. 841, 75 Tex. 385.

2. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.

3. Ark.—Bickle v. Turner, 202 S.W. 703, 133 Ark. 536.
31 C.J. p 1010 note 46.

In vacation

(1) If the jurisdiction is conferred on the court and not on the judge or chancellor, the order removing the disabilities cannot be rendered in vacation.—Bickle v. Turner, supra.

(2) But, if the authority is conferred on the judge or chancellor and not on the court, the hearing may be in term time or vacation.
Miss.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141—Poole v. Jones, 101 So. 786, 136 Miss. 645.
Tex.—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S.W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S.W. 841, 75 Tex. 385.

(3) Petition for removal of disabilities of minority may be made returnable in vacation.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

be contested.[4] The grant or refusal of the application is within the discretion of the court or judge.[5] The judge, in ordering removal of the minor's disabilities, has the implied authority to determine the existence of all facts on which the validity of the order depends.[6]

(7) Evidence

General rules governing the weight and sufficiency of evidence ordinarily apply in proceedings for the removal of disabilities of infancy.

General rules governing the weight and sufficiency of evidence in civil proceedings ordinarily apply in proceedings for the removal of disabilities of infancy.[7]

(8) Order, Decree, or Judgment

A decree, order, or judgment removing disabilities of infancy should comply with the statute and practice of the jurisdiction in which it is entered; the facts giving jurisdiction to the court must plainly appear in the judgment.

The removal of the disabilities of infancy by judicial emancipation is effected by a decree, order, or judgment[8] which should comply with the statutes and practice of the jurisdiction in which it is entered;[9] if it substantially follows the language of the statute, it is sufficient.[10] The facts giving jurisdiction to the court must plainly appear in the judgment of the court, such as, that the minor was a resident of the county in which the proceeding was brought, and that he reached the age required by the statute for bringing on such proceeding.[11] It is not necessary for a decree removing disabilities of minority to recite that the chancellor heard evidence in support thereof; that he properly satisfied himself that the disabilities should be removed will be presumed.[12]

Under a statute so providing, a certified copy of the decree or order should be filed,[13] but it has been held that the decree or order goes into effect immediately on its rendition, notwithstanding the failure to file it.[14]

c. Conclusiveness and Effect of Judicial Emancipation

An emancipation order by a court of limited jurisdiction where the jurisdictional facts do not appear on the face of the record is not conclusive, and one relying on such order must show that the court had acquired jurisdiction; however, such an order by a court of general jurisdiction is not subject to collateral attack except for fraud. The scope of the order determines the extent to which the infant's disabilities are removed.

If the proceedings are had before a judge or chancellor acting as a commissioner, and not as a court, or before a chancery court of limited or special jurisdiction, the judgment, order, or decree, is not as conclusive as an ordinary judgment,[15] especially as to jurisdiction,[16] and no presumptions will be indulged in in favor of the jurisdiction or regularity of the proceedings,[17] even on collateral attack;[18] nor does a presumption of jurisdiction arise from the mere fact of the exercise of jurisdiction.[19] One

4. Ala.—Boykin v. Collins, 37 So. 248, 140 Ala. 407.

Persons entitled to resist application
Where the statute so provides, any person made a party or any other relative or friend of the minor may appear and resist the application.—Wilkerson v. Swayze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.

Proof of nonresidence of minor
Decree removing disabilities of minority was held invalid, where evidence disclosed that minor did not reside in county in judicial district of court which entered order notwithstanding petition recited that minor lived in such county.—Howard v. McMurchy, 166 So. 917, 175 Miss. 328.

5. Tex.—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S. W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S.W. 841, 75 Tex. 385.

6. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.

7. Evidence held insufficient to show that mother was guilty of ill treatment to minor, so as to entitle minor to emancipation without his mother's consent.—Emancipation of Dupuy, 199 So. 384, 196 La. 439.

8. Miss.—Poole v. Jones, 101 So. 786, 136 Miss. 645.

9. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.

10. Ala.—Ketchum v. Faircloth-Segrest Co., 46 So. 476, 155 Ala. 256.

11. Ark.—Gilmore v. Union Sawmill Co., 10 S.W.2d 517, 178 Ark. 297.

12. Miss.—McLeiter v. Rackley, 114 So. 128, 148 Miss. 75.

13. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank of Dallas v. Dolan, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111, modified on other grounds 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198.

14. Ala.—Ketchum v. Faircloth-Segrest Co., 46 So. 476, 155 Ala. 256.
31 C.J. p 1010 note 52.

15. Miss.—Hayes v. Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, La., 140 So. 340, 162 Miss. 877.
Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.
31 C.J. p 1010 note 53.

However, there is a positive dictum that a proceeding to remove minor's disabilities, under Vernon Sayles' Civ.St.Annot.1914 arts 5947, 5948, constitutional amendment of 1891 art 5 § 8, is judicial, and judgment should be viewed as any other judgment.—Hobbs v. Boyd, Tex.Civ. App., 292 S.W. 947.

16. Miss.—Howard v. McMurchy, 166 So. 917, 175 Miss. 328.
Tex.—Cunningham v. Robison, 136 S. W. 441, 104 Tex. 227.

17. Miss.—Howard v. McMurchy, 166 So. 917, 175 Miss. 328—Hayes v. Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, La., 140 So. 340, 162 Miss. 877—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.
Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 55.

18. Tex.—Brown v. Wheelock, 12 S. W. 111, 75 Tex. 385, reheard 12 S.W. 841, 75 Tex. 385—Buckley v. Herder, Civ.App., 133 S.W. 703.

19. Ark.—Gilmore v. Union Sawmill Co., 10 S.W.2d 517, 178 Ark. 297.

relying on the decree removing the disability of minority must show that there was compliance with all the prerequisites for the court to acquire jurisdiction.[20] The fact that the minor appeared in the proceeding does not show or create a presumption that the court obtained jurisdiction.[21] However, jurisdictional facts which appear on the face of the record establish the validity of the emancipation order,[22] and recitals thereof in the order are conclusive of the facts recited,[23] except in a suit brought in the proper court to vacate or annul the emancipation order,[24] and the verity of such recitals is immune from collateral attack.[25]

If the proceedings are had before a court of general jurisdiction, following the general rule, considered in the C.J.S. title Judgments § 401, also 34 C.J. p 511 note 46, the judgment, order, or decree is not subject to collateral attack.[26]

The order may in all cases be attacked on jurisdictional grounds,[27] and the transactions of the minor under a decree invalid on such grounds may be rendered ineffectual or avoided.[28]

The effect of an order or decree fully emancipating an infant or removing his disabilities ordinarily invests him with all the powers and capacities and subjects him to all the liabilities and obligations which he would have or to which he would be subject if he had actually reached his majority.[29] Under some statutes the removal of the disabilities may be restricted to certain purposes,[30] and, when the order or decree so limits the removal of the disability, any transaction not within the scope of the order or decree is subject to the same rules regarding the invalidity of civil acts of infants.[31] Where the words of a decree are plain and unambiguous, the power thereby conferred cannot be extended beyond the plain meaning of the language used.[32]

20. Ark.—Gilmore v. Union Sawmill Co., supra—Tays v. Johnson, 292 S. W. 122, 173 Ark. 223.
Miss.—Howard v. McMurchy, 166 So. 917, 175 Miss. 328—Hayes v. Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, La., 140 So. 340, 162 Miss. 877.
Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.

Where no petition could be found praying removal of disabilities of minors, presumption was that chancery court, a court not of record in such proceeding when rendering decree removing disabilities, did not have jurisdiction.—Hayes v. Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, La., 140 So. 340, 162 Miss. 877.

21. Miss.—Hayes v. Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, La., 140 So. 340, 162 Miss. 877—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.

22. Ark.—Gilmore v. Union Sawmill Co., 10 S.W.2d 517, 178 Ark. 297.
Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W. 2d 1111.

23. U.S.—Johnson v. Mississippi Power Co., C.C.A.Miss., 68 F.2d 545.
Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.

Where all statutory requirements were complied with in suit for removal of disabilities of minor, recitals in order of removal that special guardian was appointed and county judge served with copy of petition, and that both asked that disabilities be removed, were held to import absolute verity to order, and were conclusive against everyone.—Hobbs v. Boyd, Tex.Civ.App., 292 S. W. 947.

Necessity of showing evidence
Order removing disabilities of minor is deemed conclusive without showing of evidence on which judge acted, where statute was complied with.—Hobbs v. Boyd, supra.

24. Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111.

25. Ark.—Gilmore v. Union Sawmill Co., 10 S.W.2d 517, 178 Ark. 297.
Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198, modifying, Civ., 92 S.W.2d 1111.

Evidence outside record
Order removing disabilities of minor cannot be set aside by evidence outside record.—Hobbs v. Boyd, Tex. Civ.App., 292 S.W. 947.

26. La.—Wilson v. Lyon Lumber Co., 7 La.App. 169.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 58.

After spending inheritance minor was not entitled to avoid decree, not shown to have been obtained by fraud, removing disabilities of nonage, and compel mother's estate to account for his expenditures.—McGathey v. Thompson, 138 So. 841, 224 Ala. 163.

27. Miss.—Howard v. McMurchy, 166 So. 917, 175 Miss. 328.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 59.

Infant under statutory age
The judgment, order, or decree removing the disabilities of a minor, under the age required by statute for removal of disabilities of minority, is void and subject to collateral attack.
Ark.—Crabtree v. Bonner, 93 S.W.2d 134, 192 Ark. 377—Tays v. Johnson, 292 S.W. 122, 173 Ark. 223.
Tex.—Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank of Dallas v. Dolan, Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 1111, modified on other grounds Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank v. Dolan, 120 S.W.2d 798, 132 Tex. 198—Brox v. Kelly, Civ. App., 87 S.W.2d 753, error dismissed agreement.

28. Ark.—Crabtree v. Bonner, 93 S. W.2d 134, 192 Ark. 377.
Miss.—Howard v. McMurchy, 166 So. 917, 175 Miss. 328.

29. Tex.—Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617, affirmed Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 126 Tex. 480.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 60.

Decree as notice to third persons
The law contemplates that the decree becomes a public record and is notice to all persons that they are free to do business with the party as though he were twenty-one years of age.—Hutchinson v. Till, 101 So. 676, 212 Ala. 64.

30. Miss.—Wilkerson v. Sawyze, 113 So. 327, 147 Miss. 141.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 61.

31. Miss.—Watson v. Peebles, 59 So. 881, 102 Miss. 725.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 62.

Authority to mortgage
Decrees removing disabilities of minority whereby minors were authorized to sue and be sued, to buy and sell real and personal property in their own names, and perform all acts necessary for proper management of their estates, were insufficient to authorize minors to mortgage their property.—Howard v. McMurchy, 166 So. 917, 175 Miss. 328.

32. Miss.—Howard v. McMurchy, supra.

If the order or decree is valid on its face, the emancipated minor is estopped from evoking its nullity against third persons who have dealt with him as an emancipated minor,[33] and any transaction made in the exercise of the authority and power thereby vested cannot be set aside so as to affect innocent parties,[34] but the minor is not so estopped against those who are not innocent parties where the emancipation decree is void.[35]

A direct action to annul a judgment of emancipation of a minor should be brought contradictorily with the minor and not contradictorily with a curator ad hoc, but an irregularity in this respect is cured if the minor voluntarily appears.[36]

Territorial effect. It has been held that an order removing the disabilities of infancy can have no operation without the state wherein it was rendered.[37]

IV. PROPERTY AND CONVEYANCES

A. PROPERTY RIGHTS GENERALLY

§ 31. General Rule

Generally an infant may acquire property rights; but he cannot be deprived thereof except as provided by law. An infant does not have the management of his property.

Generally, an infant may acquire property rights;[38] but he cannot be deprived thereof save in the modes provided by law.[39] However, an infant is not regarded as capable of managing his property;[40] hence, the law does not intrust him with the custody or control of his estate,[41] but places it in the hands of a guardian for its preservation and probable increase, as is discussed in Guardian and Ward §§ 68–104. However, when a minor attains his majority the whole legal title to his lands vests in him and he can thereafter dispose of it as he sees fit.[42] In dealing with the funds of a minor, the best interest of the minor must be considered.[43]

Abandonment. An infant has no legal capacity irrevocably to abandon his property rights.[44]

Equitable conversion. An infant is incapable of determining whether a change from one kind of property to another is for his interest,[45] and hence the general rule has been, in dealing with the property of infants, to impress it during the infants' minority with its original character, whatever change may have actually occurred, as considered in Conversion §§ 34, 35.

§ 32. Adverse Possession

Generally, under statutes to that effect, the statute of limitations, so far as it permits the acquisition of property by adverse possession, is suspended, as against infants, during their disability, or is otherwise restricted in its application.

Ordinarily, the statute of limitations so far as it permits the acquisition of property by adverse possession is suspended, as against infants, during their disability,[46] although such exemption does not rest

33. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Till, 101 So. 676, 212 Ala. 64.
La.—State ex rel. Billington v. Sacred Heart Orphan Asylum, 98 So. 406, 154 La. 883—Allison v. Watson, 36 La.Ann. 616.
Immunity of infants from estoppel see supra § 26.

34. Ala.—Hutchinson v. Till, 101 So. 676, 677, 212 Ala. 64, citing Corpus Juris.
Ark.—Young v. Hiner, 79 S.W. 1062, 72 Ark. 299.
Tex.—Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617, affirmed Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 126 Tex. 480.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 64.

Receiving benefits of transaction made after emancipation
Where minors, after being fully emancipated and relieved from all disabilities attaching to minors, received property according to partition previously made and were enjoying fruits and revenue from property, and made no offer to return property as interest in their deceased father's estate, they are estopped to attack judgment and proceedings in partition.—Porter v. Porter, 111 So. 664, 163 La. 167.

35. Tex.—Brox v. Kelly, Civ.App., 87 S.W.2d 753, error dismissed agreement.

36. La.—State ex rel. Billington v. Sacred Heart Orphan Asylum, 98 So. 406, 154 La. 883.

37. Cal.—Deason v. Jones, 45 P.2d 1025, 7 Cal.App.2d 482.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 65.
What law governs capacity generally see supra § 20.

38. Me.—Therriault v. Breton, 95 A. 699, 114 Me. 137.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 66.

39. Wyo.—Kreigh v. Cogswell, 21 P. 2d 831, 833, 45 Wyo. 531, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 67.

40. Ky.—Hudson v. Hudson, 169 S. W. 891, 160 Ky. 432.
N.Y.—Horton v. McCoy, 47 N.Y. 21.

41. Ky.—Hudson v. Hudson, 169 S. W. 891, 160 Ky. 432.

42. Okl.—Harrison v. Elliott, 232 P. 23, 105 Okl. 163.

43. Iowa.—Irwin v. Keokuk Sav. Bank & Trust Co., 255 N.W. 671, 218 Iowa 477.

Cancellation of bequeathed pledge
Where an antichresis or pledge of a plantation, carrying with it obligations on the creditor to cultivate, repair, and pay taxes and charges, was bequeathed to impecunious minors, it was held that the antichresis was properly ordered canceled by judgment rendered on the recommendation of a family meeting.—In re Bennett, 70 So. 1011, 138 La. 975.

44. Ky.—Baker v. Lane, 118 S.W. 963.

45. N.Y.—Horton v. McCoy, 47 N.Y. 21.

46. Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795.

on any doctrine of law, but on express provisions of statute;[47] and in some jurisdictions, under statute to that effect, the period of prescription can begin to run during the infant's minority, but an additional period, after majority has been attained, is allowed before the prescriptive right accrues.[48] Such limitations ordinarily do begin to run after the infant becomes of age,[49] and then title may be acquired as against him by adverse possession during the period of limitations prescribed by statute.[50] In some jurisdictions limitations begin to run against a female minor on her marriage.[51] The disability of infancy of one cotenant does not extend to the protection of the interest of the others against the running of limitations.[52]

The elements that constitute the acquisition of title by adverse possession against an infant are generally the same as those applicable in other cases.[53] The adverse possession must continue for the requisite period after the minor becomes of age.[54]

§ 33. Infant as Cotenant

The rights and liabilities of infants as tenants in common are considered in the C.J.S. title Tenancy in Common, in connection with the particular right or liability involved, as, for example, the right of an infant to collect his share of the rents and profits from his cotenant is considered in § 47 of that title, and the liability of an infant to contribute for the expense of his cotenant in protecting the common title is considered in § 66.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 34. Deposits by Infant

An infant may deposit his money in a bank and may reclaim it at any time even during minority; and the depositary assumes no risk in paying out the money so reclaimed.

Where an infant is in absolute and lawful possession of money as his own property, he has a right to deposit it in any place for safe-keeping,[55] as in a bank;[56] and he has a right to reclaim it at any time,[57] although he is yet a minor;[58] and the

Miss.—McLeiter v. Rackley, 114 So. 128, 148 Miss. 75.
N.J.—Dobbelaar v. Hughes, 156 A. 469, 109 N.J.Eq. 200.
Tex.—Shell Petroleum Corporation v. Howth, Civ.App., 133 S.W.2d 253, modified on other grounds Shell Oil Co. v. Howth, 159 S.W.2d 483, 138 Tex. 357—Coleman v. Buttram, Civ.App., 40 S.W.2d 977—Lee v. Kirby, Civ.App., 277 S.W. 225—Smith v. Lancaster, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 472.
31 C.J. p 1011 note 75.
Application of statutes of limitations generally to infants see the C.J.S. title Limitations of Actions §§ 235–240, also 37 C.J. p 1018 note 29–p 1024 note 65.

As affecting mineral servitude

Where husband reserved mineral servitude during existence of community, and thereafter died leaving wife and several children and grandchildren, two of grandchildren being minors, failure of wife, as owner of half interest in servitude and as usufructuary of other half interest, to explore property for minerals while such incapacities to some of heirs existed, did not cause prescription period to extinguish servitude.—State ex rel. Bourgaux v. Fontenot, 187 So. 66, 192 La. 95.

Pleading

(1) In order that infancy during the statutory period be available to defeat a claim of title by adverse possession, defendant must specially plead the defense of infancy.—Niemann v. Garcia, Tex.Civ.App., 144 S.W.2d 621, error dismissed, judgment correct.

47. U.S.—Schauble v. Schulz, N.D., 137 F. 389, 69 C.C.A. 581.
Okl.—Pearson v. Hasty, 137 P.2d 545, 546, 547, 192 Okl. 425, 147 A.L.R. 232, citing and quoting Corpus Juris—Wirick v. Nance, 62 P.2d 997, 1004, 178 Okl. 180, citing Corpus Juris.

48. La.—Sample v. Whitaker, 140 So. 36, 174 La. 245—Stubbs v. Bain, 138 So. 96, 173 La. 544.
Okl.—Pearson v. Hasty, 137 P.2d 545, 192 Okl. 425, 147 A.L.R. 232.

49. Ga.—Thomas v. Couch, 156 S.E. 206, 171 Ga. 602.
Tex.—Smith v. Lancaster, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 472.
31 C.J. p 1012 note 77.

50. Ga.—Thomas v. Couch, 156 S.E. 206, 171 Ga. 602.
Mo.—Barker v. Hayes, 147 S.W.2d 429, 347 Mo. 265.
31 C.J. p 1012 note 78.

Evidence held sufficient

Tex.—Smith v. Lancaster, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 472.

51. Tex.—Louisiana & Texas Lumber Co. v. Lovell, Civ.App., 147 S.W. 366.

52. S.C.—Sibley v. Sibley, 70 S.E. 615, 88 S.C. 184, Ann.Cas.1912C 1170.
Tex.—Shell Petroleum Corporation v. Howth, Civ.App., 133 S.W.2d 253, modified on other grounds Shell Oil Co. v. Howth, 159 S.W.2d 483, 138 Tex. 357.

53. Okl.—Pearson v. Hasty, 137 P.2d 545, 546, 192 Okl. 425, 147 A.L.R. 232, citing Corpus Juris—Wirick v. Nance, 62 P.2d 997, 1004, 178 Okl. 180, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1012 note 81.

54. Tex.—Burnham v. Hardy Oil Co., Civ.App., 147 S.W. 330.

55. Ind.—Smalley v. Central Trust & Savings Co., 125 N.E. 789, 72 Ind. App. 296.
Mo.—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 926, 231 Mo.App. 1178, quoting Corpus Juris.

56. Mo.—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1012 note 93.

Bank examiner's reduction of minors' deposit accounts in insolvent bank, without judge's authorization, was illegal.—Gay v. Sabine State Bank & Trust Co., 127 So. 14, 13 La.App. 41.

57. Mo.—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 926, 231 Mo.App. 1178, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1012 note 94.
Liability on checks see infra § 79.

Where minor made time deposit in bank which thereafter became insolvent, minor was entitled to disaffirm contract, rendering it void, either during minority or within a reasonable time after attaining majority.—Stinson v. Bank of Queen City, Mo.App., 101 S.W.2d 537.

58. Mo.—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 926, 231 Mo.App. 1178, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1012 note 95.

person or institution so paying it to him assumes no risk in so doing.[59] A minor drawing money from a bank for a third person cannot disaffirm the withdrawing of the money, where, after attaining majority, he made a settlement with such third person in full satisfaction of all moneys received from him by such third person.[60]

§ 35. Intermeddling with Estates of Infants

Anyone who intermeddles with the property of an infant without authority is liable therefor.

Anyone who intermeddles with the property of an infant, without authority, is liable to account therefor.[61] Thus he may be liable for rents and profits[62] or for any injury to the infant's estate, although he may not be liable for such injury if his administration is beneficial and he accounts fairly.[63]

Such a person may be treated by the infant as his guardian or bailee, although the relation cannot be set up for his own benefit against the infant owner.[64]

In equity the intermeddler will be treated as a trustee of the infant. He cannot buy an outstanding legal title to the infant's prejudice.[65]

B. ACQUISITION AND ALIENATION OF PROPERTY

1. General Rules

§ 36. Capacity and Validity Generally

While an infant may acquire or alienate property, such acquisition or alienation is voidable at his election.

An infant has capacity to acquire property,[66] as more fully discussed infra § 47, in which the different methods of acquiring property are considered; but as appears therein such acquisition is generally voidable at the infant's election.

As more fully discussed infra §§ 48–56, in which the different methods of alienating property are considered, an infant has not the legal capacity irrevocably to alienate or dispose of his property,[67] even for necessaries.[68] However, the alienation or

Building and loan deposits

Where a two-year-old infant, by his mother, deposited certain sums of money in a building and loan association over a period of years, and the association, on proper notice of withdrawals, refused to permit withdrawals, and minor was under fourteen years of age throughout the transactions, he could disaffirm the agreement and recover the sums deposited with interest at six per cent. —Leonard v. Tulsa Building & Loan Ass'n, 88 P.2d 875, 184 Okl. 558.

59. Ind.—Smalley v. Central Trust & Savings Co., 125 N.E. 789, 72 Ind. App. 296.
Mo.—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 926, 231 Mo.App. 1178, quoting Corpus Juris.

Statutory provisions

(1) Provision of Banking Law relating to repayment of trust deposits, joint deposits, and deposits of minors, permitted payment of trust deposit to infant by savings bank, and savings bank was protected in paying trust deposit to infant at least in absence of proof that infant lacked capacity to understand transaction.—McCarthy v. North River Sav. Bank, 296 N.Y.S. 298, 163 Misc. 58.

(2) The statute providing that an infant may deposit and withdraw funds as if an adult and that as between the infant and the bank the infant should be subject to all obligations, equities, and defenses to which an adult would be subject in similar transactions was intended to place an infant in the same category with an adult in the matter of depositing and withdrawing funds.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J.Misc. 455.

(3) Under statute so providing, where a minor applied for, and received from, a bank a draft for part of her deposit therein, it amounted to payment to her of the sum named, and when the draft, indorsed by her, was paid by the bank, her indorsement constituted a receipt for the amount so paid.—Peterson v. Weimar, 194 N.W. 346, 181 Wis. 231.

60. Ind.—Smalley v. Central Trust & Savings Co., 125 N.E. 789, 72 Ind. App. 296.

61. U.S.—Lenox v. Notrebe, Super. Ark., 15 F.Cas.No.8,246b, Hempst. 225.
31 C.J. p 1012 note 98.

Conversion

Parties who intermeddle with the property of an infant are guilty of conversion.—L. P. Steuart & Bro. v. Capital View Realty Co., 112 F.2d 583, 72 App.D.C. 193.

62. Ky.—Patrick v. Woods, 3 Bibb 29.

63. La.—Bird v. Black, 5 La.Ann. 189.

64. N.C.—Smith v. Reid, 51 N.C. 494.

65. U.S.—Lenox v. Notrebe, Super. Ark., 15 F.Cas.No.8,246b, Hempst. 225.

66. Cal.—In re Tetsubumi Yano, 206 P. 995, 188 Cal. 645.
Ky.—Davis' Committee v. Loney, 162 S.W.2d 189, 290 Ky. 644.
Nev.—Warren v. De Long, 59 P.2d 1165, 1169, 57 Nev. 131, citing Corpus Juris, and petition denied 60 P.2d 608, 57 Nev. 148.
Infant's right to acquire homestead see Homesteads § 27.

Shares of stock

Tenn.—McDowell v. Rees, 122 S.W.2d 839, 22 Tenn.App. 336.

67. Ark.—Walker v. Goodlett, 144 S.W. 189, 102 Ark. 383.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 15.
"The disposition of an infant's real property is hedged about with legal barriers. Because of a conclusive presumption of incapacity, he is denied the right of disposing of it according to his own wishes."—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 929, 244 Ky. 658.

A minor cannot be held liable on his contracts for the disposition of his property.—Bonner v. Moran, 126 F.2d 121, 75 U.S.App.D.C. 156, 139 A.L.R. 1366.

68. Ark.—Walker v. Goodlett, 144 S. W. 189, 102 Ark. 383.
Liability for necessaries see infra § 78.

disposal of his property may operate to transmit title thereto,[69] it being generally considered to be merely voidable,[70] not absolutely void.[71]

However, when an infant has become sui juris, he may validly alienate his realty.[72]

§ 37. Property Held in Trust

Rules governing infants' transactions as to property generally apply to an infant's acceptance of a conveyance in trust; but a conveyance by the infant in execution of the trust is not subject to disaffirmance.

Rules governing infants' transactions with property generally, as discussed supra § 36 and infra §§ 38–46, have been applied to an infant's acceptance of a conveyance which he is to hold in trust.[73] However, since infancy is a personal privilege, see supra § 19, if an infant takes the legal title to property in trust for another, and in the execution of that trust makes a conveyance, he cannot afterward disaffirm or avoid it on the plea of his infancy.[74] So also an infant trustee may be directed by order or decree of court to make a conveyance,[75] and a conveyance made by the infant trustee pursuant to such a decree is good until the decree is reversed and the conveyance avoided.[76]

§ 38. Election to Ratify or Avoid Transactions and Necessity Therefor

Voidable property transactions may be ratified or avoided; but ratification is not necessary since the transaction is valid unless disaffirmed. A single transaction must be ratified or avoided in its entirety.

If a transaction is considered absolutely void, it is not subject to ratification,[77] and there is no necessity for any act of disaffirmance;[78] but if the transaction is considered merely voidable it may be either ratified[79] or avoided.[80] These rules include transactions in which other persons have assumed to act for infants.[81]

The election to ratify or avoid an infant's contracts and the necessity therefor are considered infra § 73; and the application of the rules stated herein to particular property transactions is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Necessity of ratification. The voidable act or transaction holds good until some act has been done by the infant to avoid it.[82] Its validity does not depend on ratification by the infant;[83] but when there is an effort to avoid the transaction it becomes important to inquire whether there has been a previous confirmation or ratification,[84] for, if so, the matter has passed beyond the control of the party and is no longer voidable as appears infra § 39, and then it may become necessary to show a prior avoidance.[85] A ratification may be necessary where other persons have assumed to act for the infant subject to the infant's ratification upon his attaining majority.[86]

Partial ratification. The transaction must be either affirmed or ratified in its entirety;[87] that part which is beneficial cannot be ratified,[88] while disaffirming the other part.[89] However, where there are several acts not forming part of the same trans-

69. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, 55 So. 844, 61 Fla. 720, 36 L.R.A.,N.S., 33.

70. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, supra.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 18.

71. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, supra.

72. La.—Murray v. Hardee, App., 189 So. 376.

Married person of eighteen years
La.—Arrington v. Gray, 108 So. 790, 161 La. 413—Murray v. Hardee, App., 189 So. 376.

Validity of change of age of majority
Amendment of statute changing age of majority of females from eighteen to twenty-one was held not unconstitutional as respects right of female persons between ages of eighteen and twenty-one to convey realty.—Coleman v. Coleman, 200 N. E. 197, 51 Ohio App. 221.

73. Assent after majority
An infant will be bound by the terms of a conveyance of property which he is to hold in trust, at least where he assents to such conveyance after attaining his majority.—Collins v. Collins, 52 P.2d 1169, 46 Ariz. 485.

74. Fla.—Persons v. Pflum, 135 So. 878, 102 Fla. 402.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 22.

75. Del.—Bradford v. Robinson, 30 A. 670, 12 Del. 29.
N.Y.—Livingston v. Livingston, 2 Johns.Ch. 537.

76. S.C.—Thompson v. Dulles, 26 S. C.Eq. 370.

77. Cal.—Lee v. Hibernia Savings & Loan Soc., 171 P. 677, 177 Cal. 656.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 28.

78. Tenn.—Chambers v. Chattanooga Union R. Co., 171 S.W. 84, 130 Tenn. 459.

79. N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 31.

80. N.C.—Barger v. M. & J. Finance Corporation, 18 S.E.2d 826, 221 N. C. 64—Hight v. Harris, 124 S.E. 623, 188 N.C. 328—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 32.

81. Miss.—Gambrel v. Harper, 74 So. 623, 113 Miss. 715.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 33.

82. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, 55 So. 844, 61 Fla. 720, 36 L.R.A.,N.S., 33.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 38.

83. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, supra.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 39.

84. S.C.—Ihley v. Padgett, 3 S.E. 468, 27 S.C. 300.
Tex.—Hieatt v. Dixon, Civ.App., 26 S.W. 263.

85. Tex.—Hieatt v. Dixon, Civ.App., 26 S.W. 263.

86. La.—Marty v. His Creditors, 5 Rob. 193.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 43.

87. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 180 S.E. 462, 464, 176 S.C. 476, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 34.

88. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 35.

89. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 36.

action, some of them may be affirmed and others avoided.[90]

§ 39. Ratification

Ratification of an infant's property transaction is a right personal to the infant. Ratification makes the transaction binding ab initio, and it cannot be avoided thereafter.

As in the case of his contracts, as discussed infra § 74, ratification of a transaction affecting the property rights of an infant is a right personal to an infant or his personal representatives after death.[91]

What constitutes ratification is considered infra § 40, and the time therefor is considered infra § 41. Ratification with regard to particular transactions respecting infants' property is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Effect of ratification. The ratification makes the transaction binding ab initio,[92] and it cannot be avoided thereafter.[93] It is the ratification which is the effective act and which rescues the transaction from the possibility of its avoidance.[94]

§ 40. —— What Constitutes Ratification

a. In general
b. Lapse of time without disaffirmance
c. Retention or disposal of property or consideration
d. Instruments showing ratification

a. In General

Infants' property transactions may be ratified expressly or, ordinarily, by implication from acts showing an intention to ratify.

The act or transaction may be affirmed by express ratification,[95] or, except in some jurisdictions in which, by force of statute, the ratification is required to be in writing,[96] by the performance of acts from which an affirmance may reasonably be implied.[97] Thus ordinarily it is not necessary that there should be an instrument of ratification,[98] or that there should be a reacknowledgment of the instrument executed during infancy.[99]

Express ratification may be by deed, release, or declaration.[1]

If an implied confirmation is relied on, this must appear from facts and circumstances tending to prove a recognition of the transaction and inconsistent with the idea of any intention to avoid it;[2] but any act by which the infant after becoming of age assents to or recognizes as valid his act performed during minority may be sufficient to confirm it.[3] The confirmation may be by acts of less solemn character than would be required to avoid the transaction.[4]

In order to constitute a ratification there must be some positive and clear act performed for the purpose of ratification,[5] with a full knowledge of its consequences.[6]

What constitutes ratification as to contracts is considered infra § 74; and what constitutes ratification in particular transactions involving the property of infants is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Knowledge of nonliability. It has been held that the ratification must be with knowledge that the transaction was not binding.[7] Where the same lack of knowledge exists at the time of the alleged

90. Pa.—Citizens' Bldg. & Loan Ass'n v. Arvin, 56 A. 870, 207 Pa. 293.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 37.

91. Ala.—Hines v. Seibels, 86 So. 43, 204 Ala. 382.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 49.
Ratification by guardian see Guardian and Ward § 73.

92. Wis.—In re Kane, 168 N.W. 402, 168 Wis. 1.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 2.

93. Ga.—McGarrity v. Cook, 114 S.E. 213, 154 Ga. 311.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 3.

94. Ill.—Black v. Hills, 36 Ill. 376, 87 Am.D. 224.

95. La.—Whitney Nat. Bank of New Orleans v. Schwob, 13 So.2d 782, 203 La. 175.
N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 51.

96. Ky.—Moore v. Cleveland, 6 Ky. Op. 588.
S.C.—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72.

97. U.S.—Benitez v. Bank of Nova Scotia, C.C.A.Puerto Rico, 116 F.2d 359.
La.—Whitney Nat. Bank of New Orleans v. Schwob, 13 So.2d 782, 203 La. 175.
N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 774, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, citing Corpus Juris, and affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 56.

98. Mo.—Craig v. Van Bebber, 13 S.W. 906, 100 Mo. 584, 18 Am.S.R. 569.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 63.

99. Ky.—Syck v. Hellier, 131 S.W. 30, 140 Ky. 388—Hoffert v. Miller, 6 S.W. 447, 86 Ky. 572, 9 Ky.L. 732.

1. Pa.—Dolph v. Hand, 27 A. 114, 156 Pa. 91, 36 Am.S.R. 25.

2. Ala.—American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. v. Dykes, 18 So. 292, 111 Ala. 178, 56 Am.S.R. 38.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 57.

Acts held to constitute ratification
Ga.—Biederman v. Jones, 188 S.E. 519, 183 Ga. 351.

Acts held not to constitute ratification
Tex.—Fulwiler Electric Co. v. Spann, Civ.App., 252 S.W. 892.

3. Ky.—Henson v. Culp, 163 S.W. 455, 157 Ky. 442.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 65.

4. U.S.—Irvine v. Irvine, Minn., 9 Wall. 617, 19 L.Ed. 800.

5. Ill.—Coe v. Moon, 102 N.E. 1074, 260 Ill. 76.
31 C.J. p 1015 notes 59, 61.

6. Ill.—Davidson v. Young, 38 Ill. 145.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 55.

7. Mo.—Ridgeway v. Herbert, 51 S.

disposal of his property may operate to transmit title thereto,[69] it being generally considered to be merely voidable,[70] not absolutely void.[71]

However, when an infant has become sui juris, he may validly alienate his realty.[72]

§ 37. Property Held in Trust

Rules governing infants' transactions as to property generally apply to an infant's acceptance of a conveyance in trust; but a conveyance by the infant in execution of the trust is not subject to disaffirmance.

Rules governing infants' transactions with property generally, as discussed supra § 36 and infra §§ 38–46, have been applied to an infant's acceptance of a conveyance which he is to hold in trust.[73] However, since infancy is a personal privilege, see supra § 19, if an infant takes the legal title to property in trust for another, and in the execution of that trust makes a conveyance, he cannot afterward disaffirm or avoid it on the plea of his infancy.[74] So also an infant trustee may be directed by order or decree of court to make a conveyance,[75] and a conveyance made by the infant trustee pursuant to such a decree is good until the decree is reversed and the conveyance avoided.[76]

§ 38. Election to Ratify or Avoid Transactions and Necessity Therefor

Voidable property transactions may be ratified or avoided; but ratification is not necessary since the transaction is valid unless disaffirmed. A single transaction must be ratified or avoided in its entirety.

If a transaction is considered absolutely void, it is not subject to ratification,[77] and there is no necessity for any act of disaffirmance;[78] but if the transaction is considered merely voidable it may be either ratified[79] or avoided.[80] These rules include transactions in which other persons have assumed to act for infants.[81]

The election to ratify or avoid an infant's contracts and the necessity therefor are considered infra § 73; and the application of the rules stated herein to particular property transactions is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Necessity of ratification. The voidable act or transaction holds good until some act has been done by the infant to avoid it.[82] Its validity does not depend on ratification by the infant;[83] but when there is an effort to avoid the transaction it becomes important to inquire whether there has been a previous confirmation or ratification,[84] for, if so, the matter has passed beyond the control of the party and is no longer voidable as appears infra § 39, and then it may become necessary to show a prior avoidance.[85] A ratification may be necessary where other persons have assumed to act for the infant subject to the infant's ratification upon his attaining majority.[86]

Partial ratification. The transaction must be either affirmed or ratified in its entirety;[87] that part which is beneficial cannot be ratified,[88] while disaffirming the other part.[89] However, where there are several acts not forming part of the same trans-

69. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, 55 So. 844, 61 Fla. 720, 36 L.R.A.,N.S., 33.

70. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, supra.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 18.

71. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, supra.

72. La.—Murray v. Hardee, App., 189 So. 376.

Married person of eighteen years
La.—Arrington v. Gray, 108 So. 790, 161 La. 413—Murray v. Hardee, App., 189 So. 376.

Validity of change of age of majority
Amendment of statute changing age of majority of females from eighteen to twenty-one was held not unconstitutional as respects right of female persons between ages of eighteen and twenty-one to convey realty.—Coleman v. Coleman, 200 N. E. 197, 51 Ohio App. 221.

73. Assent after majority
An infant will be bound by the terms of a conveyance of property which he is to hold in trust, at least where he assents to such conveyance after attaining his majority.—Collins v. Collins, 52 P.2d 1169, 46 Ariz. 485.

74. Fla.—Persons v. Pflum, 135 So. 878, 102 Fla. 402.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 22.

75. Del.—Bradford v. Robinson, 30 A. 670, 12 Del. 29.
N.Y.—Livingston v. Livingston, 2 Johns.Ch. 537.

76. S.C.—Thompson v. Dulles, 26 S. C.Eq. 370.

77. Cal.—Lee v. Hibernia Savings & Loan Soc., 171 P. 677, 177 Cal. 656.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 28.

78. Tenn.—Chambers v. Chattanooga Union R. Co., 171 S.W. 84, 130 Tenn. 459.

79. N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 31.

80. N.C.—Barger v. M. & J. Finance Corporation, 18 S.E.2d 826, 221 N. C. 64—Hight v. Harris, 124 S.E. 623, 188 N.C. 328—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 32.

81. Miss.—Gambrel v. Harper, 74 So. 623, 113 Miss. 715.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 33.

82. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, 55 So. 844, 61 Fla. 720, 36 L.R.A.,N.S., 33.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 38.

83. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, supra.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 39.

84. S.C.—Ihley v. Padgett, 3 S.E. 468, 27 S.C. 300.
Tex.—Hieatt v. Dixon, Civ.App., 26 S.W. 263.

85. Tex.—Hieatt v. Dixon, Civ.App., 26 S.W. 263.

86. La.—Marty v. His Creditors, 5 Rob. 193.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 43.

87. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 180 S.E. 462, 464, 176 S.C. 476, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1013 note 34.

88. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 35.

89. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 36.

action, some of them may be affirmed and others avoided.[90]

§ 39. Ratification

Ratification of an infant's property transaction is a right personal to the infant. Ratification makes the transaction binding ab initio, and it cannot be avoided thereafter.

As in the case of his contracts, as discussed infra § 74, ratification of a transaction affecting the property rights of an infant is a right personal to an infant or his personal representatives after death.[91]

What constitutes ratification is considered infra § 40, and the time therefor is considered infra § 41. Ratification with regard to particular transactions respecting infants' property is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Effect of ratification. The ratification makes the transaction binding ab initio,[92] and it cannot be avoided thereafter.[93] It is the ratification which is the effective act and which rescues the transaction from the possibility of its avoidance.[94]

§ 40. —— What Constitutes Ratification

a. In general
b. Lapse of time without disaffirmance
c. Retention or disposal of property or consideration
d. Instruments showing ratification

a. In General

Infants' property transactions may be ratified expressly or, ordinarily, by implication from acts showing an intention to ratify.

The act or transaction may be affirmed by express ratification,[95] or, except in some jurisdictions in which, by force of statute, the ratification is required to be in writing,[96] by the performance of acts from which an affirmance may reasonably be implied.[97] Thus ordinarily it is not necessary that there should be an instrument of ratification,[98] or that there should be a reacknowledgment of the instrument executed during infancy.[99]

Express ratification may be by deed, release, or declaration.[1]

If an implied confirmation is relied on, this must appear from facts and circumstances tending to prove a recognition of the transaction and inconsistent with the idea of any intention to avoid it;[2] but any act by which the infant after becoming of age assents to or recognizes as valid his act performed during minority may be sufficient to confirm it.[3] The confirmation may be by acts of less solemn character than would be required to avoid the transaction.[4]

In order to constitute a ratification there must be some positive and clear act performed for the purpose of ratification,[5] with a full knowledge of its consequences.[6]

What constitutes ratification as to contracts is considered infra § 74; and what constitutes ratification in particular transactions involving the property of infants is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Knowledge of nonliability. It has been held that the ratification must be with knowledge that the transaction was not binding.[7] Where the same lack of knowledge exists at the time of the alleged

90. Pa.—Citizens' Bldg. & Loan Ass'n v. Arvin, 56 A. 870, 207 Pa. 293.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 37.

91. Ala.—Hines v. Seibels, 86 So. 43, 204 Ala. 382.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 49.
Ratification by guardian see Guardian and Ward § 73.

92. Wis.—In re Kane, 168 N.W. 402, 168 Wis. 1.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 2.

93. Ga.—McGarrity v. Cook, 114 S.E. 213, 154 Ga. 311.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 3.

94. Ill.—Black v. Hills, 36 Ill. 376, 87 Am.D. 224.

95. La.—Whitney Nat. Bank of New Orleans v. Schwob, 13 So.2d 782, 203 La. 175.
N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 51.

96. Ky.—Moore v. Cleveland, 6 Ky. Op. 588.
S.C.—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72.

97. U.S.—Benitez v. Bank of Nova Scotia, C.C.A.Puerto Rico, 116 F.2d 359.
La.—Whitney Nat. Bank of New Orleans v. Schwob, 13 So.2d 782, 203 La. 175.
N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 774, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, citing Corpus Juris, and affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 56.

98. Mo.—Craig v. Van Bebber, 13 S.W. 906, 100 Mo. 584, 18 Am.S.R. 569.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 63.

99. Ky.—Syck v. Hellier, 131 S.W. 30, 140 Ky. 388—Hoffert v. Miller, 6 S.W. 447, 86 Ky. 572, 9 Ky.L. 732.

1. Pa.—Dolph v. Hand, 27 A. 114, 156 Pa. 91, 36 Am.S.R. 25.

2. Ala.—American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. v. Dykes, 18 So. 292, 111 Ala. 178, 56 Am.S.R. 38.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 57.
Acts held to constitute ratification
Ga.—Biederman v. Jones, 188 S.E. 519, 183 Ga. 351.
Acts held not to constitute ratification
Tex.—Fulwiler Electric Co. v. Spann, Civ.App., 252 S.W. 892.

3. Ky.—Henson v. Culp, 163 S.W. 455, 157 Ky. 442.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 65.

4. U.S.—Irvine v. Irvine, Minn., 9 Wall. 617, 19 L.Ed. 800.

5. Ill.—Coe v. Moon, 102 N.E. 1074, 260 Ill. 76.
31 C.J. p 1015 notes 59, 61.

6. Ill.—Davidson v. Young, 38 Ill. 145.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 55.

7. Mo.—Ridgeway v. Herbert, 51 S.

ratification as existed at the time of the original conveyance, in such case the ratification is held to be a part of the original transaction and to be ineffectual.[8]

No new consideration is necessary to validate the ratification.[9]

b. Lapse of Time without Disaffirmance

An infant's failure to disaffirm within a reasonable time after reaching majority may constitute a ratification. What is a reasonable time is generally a question of fact depending on the circumstances, although some courts have set particular periods for disaffirmance, generally based on the period of statutory limitations.

The mere failure to disaffirm the transaction within a reasonable time after his majority may operate as a ratification thereof,[10] especially when other iniquities exist,[11] or the rights of third persons have intervened;[12] and in some jurisdictions, by force of statute, the transaction is binding unless disaffirmed within a reasonable time.[13]

The failure to disaffirm within a reasonable time as ratification of a contract is considered infra § 74, and as ratification of particular property transactions, infra §§ 47–56.

What is a reasonable time is determined by the circumstances of the particular case,[14] and is considered a question of fact,[15] although it has been held that it may become a question of law.[16] In some jurisdictions the courts have set particular periods within which the late infant may avoid the transaction and after which he cannot do so, the transaction being considered ratified,[17] as, for example, the time fixed by the statute of limitations.[18] However, in any event he may be required to act sooner by peculiar circumstances or have the transaction considered ratified,[19] as where he has acted inconsistently with the right to repudiate,[20] or permitted the purchaser to spend money or make improvements on the property.[21]

If the transaction is considered void the unreasonableness of the time within which it is sought to be avoided does not work a ratification so as to prevent avoidance.[22]

c. Retention or Disposal of Property or Consideration

The infant's disposal or retention of property or other consideration received pursuant to a transaction involving property, after reaching his majority, may constitute a ratification of such transaction.

Where an infant who has dealt with property, at the time of reaching his majority, still has the property or other consideration received by him, his subsequent disposal of the same to a third person,[23] or retaining it and treating it as his own for an unreasonable time without electing to disaffirm,[24] will amount to a ratification. However, it has also been held that the mere retention of the purchase money paid to him during his minority does not amount to a confirmation.[25]

The retention or disposal of the consideration as constituting a ratification of contracts entered into by an infant is considered infra § 74, and as constituting a ratification of purchases of property, infra § 47.

d. Instruments Showing Ratification

Ratification may be by written instrument executed with an intent to ratify; and it may be by reacknowledgment or redelivery of the original instrument.

While the ratification ordinarily need not be by

W. 1040, 150 Mo. 606, 73 Am.S.R. 464.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 67.

8. Ill.—Coe v. Moon, 102 N.E. 1074, 260 Ill. 76.

9. Kan.—Calhoun v. Anderson, 98 P. 275, 78 Kan. 749.

10. Me.—Robinson v. Weeks, 56 Me. 102—Dana v. Coombs, 6 Me. 89.
N.Y.—Pedro v. Pedro, 127 N.Y.S. 997, 71 Misc. 296.
Tex.—Holden v. Murphy, Civ.App., 62 S.W.2d 189, error refused—Miller v. McAden, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901—Lawder v. Larkin, Civ.App., 94 S.W. 171.
31 C.J. p 1015 note 74.

11. Pa.—Boyd v. Shiffer, 27 A. 60, 156 Pa. 100.
Wash.—Kline v. Galland, 102 P. 440, 53 Wash. 504.

12. Ky.—Martin v. Elkhorn Coal Corporation, 13 S.W.2d 780, 227 Ky. 623.
31 C.J. p 1016 note 76.

13. Kan.—Brown v. Staab, 176 P. 113, 103 Kan. 611—Ralph v. Ball, 164 P. 1081, 100 Kan. 460.

14. Tex.—Miller v. McAden, Civ. App., 253 S.W. 901.
31 C.J. p 1016 note 78.

15. Tex.—Miller v. McAden, supra.
31 C.J. p 1016 note 79.

16. Hawaii.—McCandless v. Lansing, 19 Hawaii 474.

17. Mo.—Parrish v. Treadway, 183 S.W. 580, 267 Mo. 91.
31 C.J. p 1016 note 81.

18. U.S.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Allen, C.C.A., 108 F.2d 961, certiorari denied Allen v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 60 S.Ct. 718, 309 U.S. 680, 84 L.Ed. 1023.
La.—Whitney Nat. Bank of New Orleans v. Schwob, 13 So.2d 782, 203 La. 175.
31 C.J. p 1016 note 82.

19. Ind.—Sims v. Bardoner, 86 Ind. 87, 44 Am.R. 263.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 83.

20. U.S.—Wells v. Seixas, C.C.N.Y., 24 F. 82, 23 Blatchf. 242.

21. Ind.—Sims v. Bardoner, 86 Ind. 87, 44 Am.R. 263.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 85.

22. Cal.—Hakes Inv. Co. v. Lyons, 137 P. 911, 166 Cal. 557.

23. U.S.—MacGreal v. Taylor, App. D.C., 17 S.Ct. 961, 167 U.S. 688, 42 L.Ed. 326.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 89.

24. U.S.—MacGreal v. Taylor, supra.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 90.

25. Ky.—Peters v. Noble, 244 S.W. 416, 196 Ky. 123—Syck v. Hellier, 131 S.W. 30, 140 Ky. 388.

the execution of a written instrument, as considered supra subdivision a of this section, it may be by written instrument.[26] However, the subsequent instrument must be executed with an intent to ratify; and if it is executed with specific revocation of the earlier one, no ratification takes effect.[27] So, also, while there need not be a reacknowledgment of the instrument executed during infancy for ratification to take effect, as considered supra subdivision a of this section, ratification may take effect by reacknowledging[28] or redelivering[29] the same, after attaining majority.[30]

§ 41. —— Time for Ratification

Generally the power to ratify does not exist prior to the attainment of majority.

The power to ratify does not exist during infancy, but the ratification can be only after attaining majority,[31] unless the infant has been emancipated prior to that time.[32]

The time for ratification of contracts is considered infra § 74.

§ 42. Avoidance

The avoidance of an infant's transaction affecting property renders it void ab initio, and the avoidance cannot be withdrawn, or the transaction ratified.

The avoidance of an infant's transaction affecting property renders the same void ab initio by relation,[33] and there can be no ratification thereafter.[34] After disaffirmance by the late infant, all persons may take advantage thereof and treat the transaction as null;[35] and the infant is entitled to recover the consideration paid in money or property.[36]

The right of avoidance of an infant's transactions affecting property, the time therefor, and the steps necessary to effect it, are discussed infra §§ 43–46. The avoidance of an infant's contracts is considered infra § 75, and the avoidance of particular transactions affecting property, infra §§ 47–56.

Withdrawal of avoidance. Where the late infant has unequivocally disaffirmed and elected to avoid the transaction, he cannot subsequently withdraw or rescind the avoidance and insist on having the transaction stand,[37] even though he has not returned the purchase money and no suit for its recovery has been brought.[38]

§ 43. —— Right to Avoid and Estoppel

a. In general
b. Who may avoid

a. In General

The right of avoidance is independent of the good faith or consent of the other party to the transaction, and exists in the infant even though an adult is a joint party. It is generally superior to all equities of other persons. The right may, however, be lost by acts constituting an estoppel.

The right of avoidance is not affected by the presence of good faith on the part of the other party to the transaction;[39] and it may be exercised without his consent,[40] unless in making it the infant merely did, without suit, what the law would have compelled him to do if suit had been brought for that purpose,[41] or unless he has previously ratified the same, as considered supra § 39. As appears supra § 38, the infant may not avoid part of a transaction while affirming the rest.

The right to avoid contracts made by infants is considered infra § 75, and the right to avoid par-

26. Ky.—Keller v. Cooper, 12 Ky.L. 188.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 93.

27. N.Y.—Pedro v. Pedro, 127 N.Y.S. 997, 71 Misc. 296.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 95.

28. Ind.—Blair v. Whittaker, 69 N.E. 182, 31 Ind.App. 664.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 97.

29. Ill.—Davidson v. Young, 38 Ill. 145.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 98.

30. Ky.—Outland v. Vance, 34 S.W. 22, 17 Ky.L. 1226.
31 C.J. p 1017 note 99.

31. Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795.
Mich.—Milligan v. S. W. Straus & Co., 256 N.W. 449, 268 Mich. 317.
N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1014 note 46.
Ratification or disaffirmance of guardian's unauthorized transactions see Guardian and Ward § 96.

32. La.—Lyne's Succession, 12 La. Ann. 155—Wilson v. Craighead, 6 Rob. 429.

33. Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S.W.2d 348, 350, 332 Mo. 1098, citing Corpus Juris.
N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
Tex.—Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 989, 126 Tex. 480, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1022 note 96.
Limitation
An infant's disaffirmance of a contract is retroactive only to the extent that, when it is accomplished, parties thereafter intermeddling in the infant's property are guilty of conversion.—L. P. Steuart & Bro. v. Capital View Realty Co., 112 F.2d 583, 72 App.D.C. 193.

34. N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
31 C.J. p 1022 note 97.

35. Pa.—Love v. Dobson, 5 Wkly.N.C. 359.

36. N.C.—Hight v. Harris, 124 S.E. 623, 188 N.C. 328.

37. Tex.—Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 126 Tex. 480, affirming Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 99.

38. Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., 8 So. 417, 92 Ala. 463, 12 L.R.A. 136.

39. Miss.—Lake v. Perry, 49 So. 569, 95 Miss. 550.

40. Ill.—Baker v. Pratt, 15 Ill. 568.

41. U.S.—Irvine v. Irvine, Minn., 9 Wall. 617, 19 L.Ed. 800.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 9.

ticular transactions relating to the property of an infant is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Transactions jointly with adult. Where an infant and an adult who have estates or interests in the same property join in a transaction in respect thereof, the infant still has the right to disaffirm it as to his interest;[42] but such transaction is not voidable as to the adult party.[43]

Effect of other's equities. The right of avoidance generally is superior to all equities of other persons,[44] and may therefore be exercised against, or regardless of the existence of, a bona fide purchaser[45] or mortgagee.[46] Infants holding merely an equity in land, when the legal title thereto is acquired by an innocent purchaser, are in no better condition than they would have been if they were adults;[47] and it has been held that the principle that a purchaser of land for value and without notice of a senior unrecorded deed acquires superior title applies even though the senior vendee is a minor.[48]

Estoppel to disaffirm. The question whether the infant's acts or conduct during his infancy may or may not give rise to an estoppel to disaffirm has been discussed, supra §§ 26, 27. After the infant has reached majority the rules of estoppel are more strictly applied, and he may readily, by either his acts or his acquiescence, become estopped to dispute his acquisition or alienation of property, even though it occurred during his infancy;[49] but even in such case all the elements of estoppel must coexist.[50]

The heirs may be estopped to exercise their right to avoid their infant ancestor's transaction by their conduct, as by lapse of time.[51]

b. Who May Avoid

The right to avoid an infant's transaction respecting property rests primarily in the infant himself; and it cannot be exercised by third persons, even, it is generally held, by privies in estate. After the infant's death, however, the right may be exercised by the infant's personal representatives or those succeeding to his rights.

Infancy, being a personal privilege, the right to avoid a transaction with respect to property rests primarily in the infant himself,[52] and is a privilege personal to him,[53] and not assignable,[54] or capable of being exercised by strangers.[55]

Who may avoid an infant's contracts is considered infra § 75.

By privies in estate. Although there is authority to the contrary,[56] it is generally held that the privilege of avoidance cannot be exercised by the infant's privies in estate merely.[57] However, when an infant has avoided the transaction his privies in estate may avail themselves of such avoidance.[58]

42. Ind.—Obering v. Swain-Roach Lumber Co., 155 N.E. 712, 86 Ind. App. 632.
N.J.—Levine v. Mallon Oldsmobile Co., 21 A.2d 852, 127 N.J.Law 197.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 12.

43. Ind.—Obering v. Swain-Roach Lumber Co., 155 N.E. 712, 86 Ind. App. 632.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 13.

44. Ga.—Ware v. Mobley, 9 S.E.2d 67, 69, 190 Ga. 249, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 35.

45. Ga.—Ware v. Mobley, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 36.
"There is no such person as an innocent successor in title to property conveyed by a minor during his minority if no deceit is practiced by the infant. Nothing less than an express or implied ratification by the former minor, after attaining his majority, affords any protection to any grantee, no matter how remote he may be, who is holding under a deed made by such minor during his minority."—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 945, 261 Ky. 795.

46. Ga.—Ware v. Mobley, 9 S.E.2d 67, 69, 190 Ga. 249, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Oneida County Sav. Bank v. Saunders, 166 N.Y.S. 280, 179 App. Div. 282.

47. Ky.—Hardin v. Harrington, 11 Bush 367.
Miss.—Barksdale v. Learnard, 73 So. 736, 112 Miss. 861.

48. Ga.—Coniff v. Hunnicutt, 122 S.E. 694, 157 Ga. 823.

49. N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
S.C.—Davis v. Strauss, 174 S.E. 908, 173 S.C. 99—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 30, p 1005 note 30 [b].
Facts held to constitute estoppel
Iowa.—First Nat. Bank v. Torkelson, 228 N.W. 655, 209 Iowa 659.
Ky.—Martin v. Elkhorn Coal Corporation, 13 S.W.2d 780, 227 Ky. 623—J. I. Case Threshing Mach. Co. v. Dulworth, 287 S.W. 994, 216 Ky. 637.
Tex.—Hinnant v. Rodriguez, Civ. App., 255 S.W. 1000, affirmed, Com. App., 267 S.W. 471.
Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.

50. Ind.—Miles v. Lingerman, 24 Ind. 385.
Facts held not to constitute estoppel
Or.—Skyles v. Kincaid, 264 P. 432, 124 Or. 445.
S.C.—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72—Floyd v. Page, 124 S.E. 1, 129 S.C. 301.

51. Ky.—Sanders v. Bennett, 1 S.W. 436.

52. N.Y.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S.2d 988, 165 Misc. 853.
N.C.—Vail v. Stone, 23 S.E.2d 329, 222 N.C. 431.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 17.

53. Ind.—Obering v. Swain-Roach Lumber Co., 155 N.E. 712, 86 Ind. App. 632.
N.Y.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S. 2d 988, 165 Misc. 853.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 18.

54. Ind.—Gillenwaters v. Campbell, 41 N.E. 1041, 142 Ind. 529.

55. Ind.—Obering v. Swain-Roach Lumber Co., 155 N.E. 712, 86 Ind. App. 632.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 20.

56. N.Y.—Dominick v. Michael, 6 N.Y.Super. 374.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 24.

57. Mass.—Mansfield v. Gordon, 10 N.E. 773, 144 Mass. 168.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 25.

58. Ind.—Shrock v. Crowl, 83 Ind. 243.

The committee of an infant lunatic may plead his infancy in avoidance of his transactions.[59]

After infant's death. The privilege of avoidance can be exercised in case of the infant's death by one who has succeeded beneficially to all rights of the infant by inheritance or bequest,[60] in the same manner as it might have been by the late infant if alive.[61] It has also been held that it may be exercised by the infant's personal representatives.[62]

§ 44. —— Time for Avoidance

An infant must exercise a right to avoid within a reasonable time after reaching his majority; and, except with respect to personal property, ordinarily he may not avoid before reaching majority.

The right to avoid need not be exercised before the removal of the disability of infancy.[63] The infant must, however, avoid within a reasonable time after attaining his majority;[64] and the failure to do so may constitute a ratification, as appears supra § 40 b, in which section the question of what constitutes a reasonable time is also discussed. If the infant delays beyond the period of limitation after reaching majority, his right to disaffirm is lost.[65]

The time for avoidance of an infant's contracts is considered infra § 75, and the time for avoidance of particular transactions involving an infant's property is considered infra §§ 47–56.

The heirs of an infant may, it has been held, disaffirm the transaction within the same time that the infant might himself have disaffirmed if living.[66] It has been held that it should be disaffirmed within a reasonable time after his death, and the right to do so may be barred by the statute of limitations.[67]

Before or after majority. Ordinarily the time to avoid a transaction affecting an infant's realty, on the ground of infancy, is after the removal of such disability,[68] and not prior thereto.[69] However, such transaction may be avoided on the ground of fraud before the infant's arrival at majority;[70] and even on the mere ground of the disability of infancy it may be avoided prior to attaining majority where a delay will work injury to the infant.[71] Also, in some jurisdictions, it has been held that a transaction affecting realty may be avoided by the infant through his guardian during his minority in a proper proceeding for that purpose.[72] So also infancy may be pleaded or set up in any action or proceeding, during minority, wherein the transaction is sought to be enforced to the prejudice of the infant.[73] According to some authorities an infant may, during infancy, enter and take the profits of the land,[74] or avoid his conveyance so far as to be enabled to recover the income of the estate conveyed.[75]

As to transactions with relation to personal property, the disaffirmance may be effected as well before as after majority,[76] although there is also some authority to the contrary.[77]

59. Pa.—Ledger Bldg. Assoc. v. Cook, 12 Phila. 434.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 27.

60. N.Y.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S.2d 988, 165 Misc. 853.
31 C.J. p 1018 note 21.

61. Tenn.—Walton v. Gaines, 29 S.W. 458, 94 Tenn. 420.
Tex.—Veal v. Fortson, 57 Tex. 482.

62. R.I.—Tillinghast v. Holbrook, 7 R.I. 230.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 28.

63. Mo.—Parrish v. Treadway, 183 S.W. 580, 267 Mo. 91.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 39.

64. Mo.—Stinson v. Bank of Queen City, App., 101 S.W.2d 537, 538, citing Corpus Juris.

65. Ky.—Justice v. Justice, 186 S.W. 148, 170 Ky. 423.
31 C.J. p 1019 note 42.

66. Ill.—Illinois Land & Loan Co. v. Bonner, 75 Ill. 315.
Mo.—Singer Mfg. Co. v. Lamb, 81 Mo. 221.

67. Mo.—Robinson v. Allison, 91 S.W. 115, 192 Mo. 366.

68. Tex.—Holden v. Murphy, Civ. App., 62 S.W.2d 189, error refused —Miller v. McAden, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 46.

69. Tex.—Holden v. Murphy, Civ. App., 62 S.W.2d 189, error refused.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 47.

70. Mich.—Gillmett v. Tourcott, 182 N.W. 128, 213 Mich. 617.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 48.

71. D.C.—Adriaans v. Dill, 37 App. D.C. 59.
Tenn.—Matherson v. Davis, 2 Coldw. 443.

72. Ky.—New Domain Oil & Gas Co. v. McKinney, 221 S.W. 245, 188 Ky. 183.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 50.

73. Mo.—Schneider v. Stahr, 20 Mo. 269.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 51.

74. N.Y.—Bool v. Mix, 17 Wend. 119, 31 Am.D. 285.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 52.

75. Ind.—Sims v. Bardoner, 86 Ind. 87, 44 Am.R. 263.

76. Ill.—Lewellyn v. Hawkins, 253 Ill.App. 368.
Mo.—Stinson v. Bank of Queen City, App., 101 S.W.2d 537, 538, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116.
N.C.—McCormick v. Crotts, 153 S.E. 152, 198 N.C. 664—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659—Hight v. Harris, 124 S.E. 623, 188 N.C. 328—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
Vt.—McNaughton v. Granite City Auto Sales, 183 A. 340, 108 Vt. 130.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 54, p 1067 note 24.
"All contracts of an infant in relation to personal property (not excepted by statute), whether executory or executed, may be disaffirmed by the infant during his minority." —Harris v. Cannon, 6 Ga. 382, 387—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S.E. 793, 794, 33 Ga.App. 784—Gonackey v. General Accident Assurance Corporation, 65 S.E. 53, 6 Ga.App. 381.

77. Mich.—Milligan v. S. W. Straus & Co., 256 N.W. 449, 268 Mich. 317.
31 C.J. p 1067 note 22.

§ 45. —— What Constitutes Avoidance

Avoidance must be effected by some positive act of disaffirmance which shows an intention not to be bound. It need not be by a writing but may be by an act inconsistent with the continued validity of the transaction.

The avoidance of the transaction must be effected not only by refraining from any act of affirmance, but by performing some positive act of disaffirmance[78] which is of such a character as clearly to show an intention not to be bound.[79] While an act or instrument of equal solemnity with the one sought to be avoided is sufficient to effect an avoidance,[80] such an act or instrument is not essential to an avoidance.[81] It is not even necessary that the disaffirmance should be in writing; but any act on the part of the late infant done with the intent to disaffirm, which shows that he does not intend to be bound, and is inconsistent with the continued validity of the transaction, is sufficient.[82] Thus denial of the execution of the instrument is a sufficient act of avoidance.[83]

What constitutes avoidance of an infant's contracts is considered infra § 75; and what constitutes avoidance of particular property transactions of infants is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Notice of disaffirmance. The giving of notice of disaffirmance is a sufficient notice of avoidance.[84] While the giving of notice of rescission of the transaction and a tender of the consideration received have been held to be conditions precedent to the maintenance of an action at law based on such rescission, the failure to do so will not warrant dismissal of such a suit where the infant has disposed of the consideration and has nothing of value left to tender back.[85]

Disaffirmance by written instrument. While the avoidance need not be effected by written instrument, as appears supra note 82, a written instrument executed after the disability of infancy is removed and, with the intent to avoid, may have that effect.[86] A letter written to the other person stating the infant's intention of repudiating the transaction may be sufficient.[87]

Bringing or defending suit. The institution of a suit to set aside the transaction is an avoidance of it, although it is not essential to an avoidance, there being other ways of disaffirmance.[88] Setting up the defense of infancy in a suit by the other party to enforce his rights under the transaction is also a sufficient avoidance.[89]

§ 46. —— Return of Property or Consideration

An infant is generally required, in connection with the disaffirmance of a voidable transaction affecting property, or as a condition precedent to his action to recover what he has parted with, to return the property or consideration received by him, at least to the extent that he still has it.

In accordance with the general rules governing the necessity of restoring the consideration as a condition of avoiding the contracts of an infant, considered infra § 75, if an infant's transaction affecting property is voidable, the infant, in connection with the disaffirmance, and sometimes as a condition precedent thereto, as hereinafter appears, is generally required to return the property or consideration received by him,[90] at least to the extent that he still has the property or consideration;[91] and it has been held that he must account for so much of its value as may have been invested in other property which he still controls.[92] However, if, during infancy, the infant has disposed of the property received or spent or wasted the consideration, he is not obliged to make restitution on his avoid-

78. N.Y.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S.2d 988, 165 Misc. 853.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 56.

79. Tex.—O'Brien v. Smith, Civ. App., 118 S.W.2d 474, 478, citing Corpus Juris—Jones v. Teat, Civ. App., 57 S.W.2d 617, 620, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 57.

80. Ky.—Vallandingham v. Johnson, 3 S.W. 173, 85 Ky. 288, 8 Ky.L. 940.

81. Ind.—Shroyer v. Pittenger, 67 N.E. 475, 31 Ind.App. 158.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 59.

82. Ind.—Shroyer v. Pittenger, supra.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 62.

83. N.C.—Ricks v. Wilson, 70 S.E. 476, 154 N.C. 282.

84. U.S.—Sims v. Everhardt, Ind., 102 U.S. 300, 26 L.Ed. 87.
31 C.J. p 1020 note 63.

85. N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116.

86. Ky.—Phillips v. Hoskins, 108 S.W. 283, 128 Ky. 371, 33 Ky.L. 378.
N.Y.—McIlvaine v. Kadel, 26 N.Y. Super. 429, 30 How.Pr. 193.

87. Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., 8 So. 417, 92 Ala. 463, 12 L.R.A. 136.

88. Ky.—Brown v. Elk Horn Coal Corporation, 8 S.W.2d 404, 406, 225 Ky. 288, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Parrish v. Treadway, 183 S.W. 580, 267 Mo. 91.

89. N.H.—Roberts v. Wiggin, 1 N.H. 73, 8 Am.D. 38.

90. Ariz.—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A.L.R. 1363.

91. Ky.—Begley v. Holliday's Committee, 58 S.W.2d 654, 655, 248 Ky. 453, citing Corpus Juris.
N.C.—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659—Wright v. Hepler, 140 S.E. 90, 91, 194 N.C. 542, quoting Corpus Juris—Hight v. Harris, 124 S.E. 623, 188 N.C. 328.
31 C.J. p 1021 note 82.

92. N.C.—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659—Hight v. Harris, 124 S.E. 623, 188 N.C. 328.

ance.[93] The same rules apply where the transaction is sought to be avoided, not by the late infant himself, but by some other person claiming in his right.[94] Under a statute to that effect, in order to avoid a transaction affecting the real property of an infant under a certain age it is not necessary to return the consideration.[95]

On the other hand, if the transaction is considered absolutely void, it has been held that no legal duty devolves on the late infant, as a condition of its disaffirmance, to restore the consideration received;[96] nor is the necessity of restoring the consideration as a condition to avoid the transaction involved in cases where the infant disposed of his property while under guardianship; and his guardian may recover such property without restoring the consideration.[97]

The necessity of restoring property or consideration received in connection with the avoidance of particular transactions affecting property is considered infra §§ 47–56.

Restoration or tender as condition precedent. Some cases seem to hold that, if the late infant still has in his possession the consideration received, he must restore or offer to restore the same before he can maintain an action to avoid the transaction and to recover what he has parted with.[98] However, it is held in some jurisdictions that the late infant need not tender anything which he may have acquired or received in the transaction which he seeks to disaffirm in order to exercise the right of avoidance;[99] but by exercising the right he subjects himself to liability to account for what he has received and has in his possession when he reaches majority.[1] Where restoration of the property or consideration received is essential to an effectual disaffirmance, the duty to restore becomes a right to restore, which cannot be defeated by the other party refusing to take it back.[2]

Consideration not received by infant. Even though the transaction is merely voidable, and therefore subject to avoidance, the consideration need not be restored in order to avoid the transaction where the consideration was not received by the infant,[3] notwithstanding the receipt thereof is recited in the instrument,[4] as where it was paid to some other person than the infant,[5] even though the person who received it was the recognized agent of the infant;[6] and this rule applies to part of the consideration received by other than the infant, where the infant received no benefit therefrom.[7]

Infant's fraud or deceit. Under[8] or apart from[9] statute to that effect, the late infant may be required to return the property or consideration, in order to avoid the transaction, where it was entered into through his fraud or deceit, particularly as to his age.

Illegal administrator's sale. Where an infant heir receives from his curator the proceeds of an administrator's illegal sale, without knowledge on his part or on the part of his curator of the illegality of the transaction, it has been held that the infant is not

93. Me.—Whitman v. Allen, 121 A. 160, 123 Me. 1, 36 A.L.R. 776.
Minn.—Johnson v. Northwest Mut. Life Ins. Co., 57 N.W. 934, 56 Minn. 365, 45 Am.S.R. 473, 26 L.R.A. 187, affirmed 59 N.W. 992, 56 Minn. 365, 26 L.R.A. 187, 45 Am.S.R. 473.
N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, which affirmed Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116.
Pa.—Musser v. Schock, 95 Pa.Super. 406, 410, citing Corpus Juris.
Wis.—Olson v. Veum, 222 N.W. 233, 197 Wis. 342.
31 C.J. p 1021 note 83.

Condition of property

Infant disaffirming contract is only required to return or tender vendor the object purchased in whatever condition it may be.—Musser v. Schock, 95 Pa.Super. 406—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 43 Lack.Jur. 189, 56 York Leg.Rec. 123.

94. Miss.—Harvey v. Briggs, 8 So. 274, 68 Miss. 60, 10 L.R.A. 62.
31 C.J. p 1022 note 84.

95. Okl.—Rice v. Anderson, 134 P. 1120, 39 Okl. 279.

96. Cal.—Lee v. Hibernia Sav. & Loan Soc., 171 P. 677, 177 Cal. 656.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.

97. Ga.—Hughes v. Murphy, 63 S.E. 231, 5 Ga.App. 328.

98. N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App. Div. 793, which affirmed Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116.
31 C.J. p 1022 note 92.

99. U.S.—Bernstein v. Biscayne View Corporation, D.C.Fla., 16 F. 2d 1010.
Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., 8 So. 417, 92 Ala. 463, 12 L.R.A. 136.

1. Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., supra.
31 C.J. p 1022 note 94.

2. N.M.—Evants v. Taylor, 137 P. 583, 18 N.M. 371, 50 L.R.A.,N.S., 1113.

3. Ark.—Stull v. Harris, 11 S.W. 104, 51 Ark. 294, 2 L.R.A. 741.
31 C.J. p 1021 note 77.

4. Miss.—Cook v. Toumbs, 36 Miss. 685.

5. Tenn.—Bowers v. Henning, 4 Tenn.Civ.App. 698.
31 C.J. p 1021 note 77.

6. Tex.—Vogelsang v. Null, 3 S.W. 451, 67 Tex. 465.

7. Tenn.—Bowers v. Henning, 4 Tenn.Civ.App. 698.

8. Ind.—Gillenwaters v. Campbell, 41 N.E. 1041, 142 Ind. 529.
31 C.J. p 1022 note 89 [a].

9. Ga.—Watters v. Arrington, 146 S.E. 773, 39 Ga.App. 275.
Okl.—International Land Co. v. Marshall, 98 P. 951, 22 Okl. 693, 19 L.R.A.,N.S., 1056.

required to make a tender of the proceeds before joining in a suit to avoid the transaction. However, he may be required to do so where he had knowledge of the illegality.[10]

2. Application of Rules

§ 47. Acquisition of Property

a. By purchase
b. By mortgage
c. By lease
d. By gift

a. By Purchase

(1) Validity
(2) Ratification
(3) Avoidance
(4) Vendors' liens

(1) Validity

An infant can purchase realty and personalty and can enter into a contract of purchase; but such purchase or contract is voidable.

In accordance with the rules as to the validity of an infant's property transactions generally, discussed supra § 36, while under some statutes an infant cannot purchase property without the authority of justice, although he may ratify such purchase on coming of age,[11] it is generally held, as hereinafter appears, that he may be a grantee in a conveyance or the purchaser of personalty.

Realty. An infant may be a grantee in a conveyance of land,[12] and the estate conveyed vests in him,[13] subject only to be divested in case he disagrees to the conveyance when of full age,[14] which he has power to do.[15] The conveyance is binding on the grantor.[16]

While ordinarily a delivery of the deed is necessary,[17] it is not essential that there shall be an actual delivery to make it a legal conveyance.[18] An infant may assent to a deed delivered to a third person for the benefit of the infant, so as to vest the estate,[19] or delivery of a deed executed in behalf of an infant to a witness of the deed, for the benefit of the infant, may operate as a delivery to the infant.[20] The mere recording of a voluntary deed with the intent that the beneficial title shall pass to an infant grantee amounts to a delivery whereby the title passes to the infant.[21] Where a deed clearly beneficial to an infant is given to him, his acceptance of the deed will be presumed,[22] but such presumption is only prima facie and is rebuttable.[23]

Personalty. A purchase of personalty by an infant is also voidable at his option,[24] especially where unfair advantage was taken of the infant;[25] but such purchase is not void,[26] and the adult seller cannot avoid the transaction.[27] In the absence of fraud the sale is a valid transfer of property out of the seller,[28] although the infant is not bound to pay

10. Mo.—Orchard v. Wright-Dalton-Bell-Anchor Store Co., 197 S.W. 42.

11. La.—Sarapure v. Debuys, 6 Mart.,N.S., 18.

12. Cal.—In re Tetsubumi Yano's Estate, 206 P. 995, 188 Cal. 645.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 13.

13. Ky.—Mullins v. Mullins, 87 S. W. 764, 120 Ky. 643, 27 Ky.L. 1048.
Utah.—Rohwer v. First Judicial Dist. Ct., 125 P. 671, 41 Utah 279.

14. Md.—Monumental Bldg. Assoc. No. 2 v. Herman, 33 Md. 128.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 15.

15. N.M.—Evants v. Taylor, 137 P. 583, 18 N.M. 371, 50 L.R.A.,N.S., 1113.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 16.

16. N.C.—Armfield v. Tate, 29 N.C. 258.

17. Ala.—Foster v. Mitchell, 15 Ala. 571.
Necessity and sufficiency of delivery of deeds generally see Deeds §§ 94–129.

18. Ky.—Mullins v. Mullins, 87 S. W. 764, 120 Ky. 643, 27 Ky.L. 1048.

19. N.C.—Tate v. Tate, 31 N.C. 22.

20. Ga.—Watson v. Myers, 73 Ga. 138.

21. Colo.—Annis v. Wilson, 25 P. 304, 15 Colo. 236.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 23.

22. Ill.—McReynolds v. Stoats 122 N.E. 860, 288 Ill. 22.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 24.
Presumption of acceptance of gifts see infra subdivision d of this section.

23. Mo.—McNear v. Williamson, 66 S.W. 160, 166 Mo. 358.

24. Ala.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.
Ariz.—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A.L.R. 1363.
Kan.—McClure Motor Co. v. Irwin, 23 P.2d 470, 138 Kan. 35, modifying 21 P.2d 403, 137 Kan. 528.
Ky.—Wright v. Stanley Motor Co., 60 S.W.2d 144, 249 Ky. 20.
N.J.—Levine v. Mallon Oldsmobile Co., 21 A.2d 852, 127 N.J.Law 197.
N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747.
Tex.—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ. App., 2 S.W.2d 873.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 26.

Seller could not recover on contract of sale with infant.—Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Co. v. Bernstein, 254 N.Y.S. 588, 142 Misc. 501.

25. Mich.—Welch v. Olmsted, 51 N. W. 541, 90 Mich. 492.

26. N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747.
Tex.—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ. App., 2 S.W.2d 873.

27. Mass.—Oliver v. Houdlet, 13 Mass. 237, 7 Am.D. 134.
Tex.—Youngblood v. Hoeffle, Civ. App., 201 S.W. 1057.
Dealings at seller's peril
One contracting to sell automobile to infant without ascertaining his age, of which he made no representation, dealt with him at seller's peril, where automobile was not necessity under facts appearing.—Mosko v. Forsythe, 76 P.2d 1106, 102 Colo. 115.

28. Me.—Lankin v. Le Doux, 64 A.

the price stipulated.[29] It has been held that the failure of the infant, after coming of age, to pay for the property does not revest it in the vendor; nor does his sale thereof render him liable to an action for money had and received.[30]

Until a contract of purchase is avoided by the infant's disaffirmance thereof, an infant purchaser has the capacity to pass good title to the property.[31] However, a statute providing that title to property sold under a conditional sale contract shall remain in the seller applies to property purchased by an infant under such a contract, and the minor by his sale of the property cannot defeat the seller's title.[32]

If an infant obtains personal property by fraud, the contract is void from the beginning and requires no repudiation from the infant to render it so, even though the contract did not involve necessaries.[33] In such case title to the property does not pass, but remains in the seller, and his title is superior to that of attaching creditors.[34]

Contracts of purchase. Following the general rule with regard to contracts, discussed infra § 71, ordinarily a contract by an infant for the purchase of property is voidable,[35] although not void.[36] It is binding on the adult party unless disaffirmed.[37] Where an infant's agreement to purchase land has been assigned by the infant during his minority, it has been held that the assignee cannot enforce a specific performance thereof without proof of some affirmance by the late infant, both of the original agreement and the assignment thereof.[38]

(2) Ratification

The general rules governing the ratification of infants' transactions as to property ordinarily apply to the ratification of purchases of property.

In accordance with the rules governing the ratification of an infant's transactions as to property generally, as discussed supra §§ 38–41, ratification or disaffirmance of a contract of purchase must be of the entire contract, and the infant cannot ratify one part and disaffirm another.[39]

A voidable purchase of property by an infant may be confirmed by acts which might not confirm a sale by him.[40] The purchase may be ratified after reaching majority by acts indicating an intention to ratify,[41] as where the late infant pays part of the purchase money,[42] or promises to pay a note given for the price,[43] or enters upon the property,[44] or exercises ownership over the property.[45]

Retention or disposition of property. While it has been held that, where an infant purchases property and gives his note or promise to pay therefor, his retention of the property, after his coming of age, is not a ratification,[46] it is generally held that if he retains the property for an unreasonable time,[47] or disposes of it,[48] there is a ratification of the promise to pay. Where the infant tenders back the property received by him, and on refusal of his tender, brings suit, the mere retention of the property after arrival at majority cannot be deemed a ratification.[49]

1048, 101 Me. 581, 8 L.R.A.,N.S., 104.
S.C.—Crymes v. Day, 17 S.C.L. 320.

29. S.C.—Crymes v. Day, supra.

30. Me.—Lankin v. Le Doux, 64 A. 1048, 101 Me. 581, 8 L.R.A.,N.S., 104.
Liability for torts connected with contracts see infra § 89.

31. D.C.—L. P. Steuart & Bro. v. Capital View Realty Co., 112 F.2d 583, 72 App.D.C. 193.

32. Okl.—Oklahoma Maytag Co. v. Worthen, 97 P.2d 562, 186 Okl. 267.

33. Ind.—Butler Bros. v. Snyder, 142 N.E. 398, 81 Ind.App. 44.

34. Mo.—Wray v. Wrightsman, 124 S.W. 38, 139 Mo.App. 635.
31 C.J. p 1023 notes 34, 35.

35. N.J.—Levine v. Mallon Oldsmobile Co., 21 A.2d 852, 127 N.J.Law 197.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 62.
Conditional sale contract
D.C.—L. P. Steuart & Bro. v. Capital View Realty Co., 112 F.2d 583, 72 App.D.C. 193.

36. Ind.—Rice v. Boyer, 9 N.E. 420, 108 Ind. 472, 58 Am.R. 53.
Conditional sale contract
D.C.—L. P. Steuart & Bro. v. Capital View Realty Co., 112 F.2d 583, 72 App.D.C. 193.

37. Pa.—McGinn v. Shaeffer, 7 Watts 412.

38. Mich.—Carrell v. Potter, 23 Mich. 377.

39. Pa.—Oransky v. Stepanavich, 155 A. 290, 304 Pa. 84, 77 A.L.R. 983.

40. Ky.—Middleton v. Hoge, 5 Bush 478.

41. N.C.—Wright v. Hepler, 140 S.E. 90, 194 N.C. 542.
Giving mortgage on property
N.C.—Wright v. Hepler, supra.
Acts held not affirmance as matter of law
Minn.—Gislason v. Henry L. Doherty & Co., 260 N.W. 883, 194 Minn. 476.

42. N.C.—Dewey v. Burbank, 77 N. C. 259.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 9.
Schedule of debt in bankruptcy after reaching majority was not "ratification" of contract.—Sawyer Boot & Shoe Co. v. Braveman, 136 A. 290, 126 Me. 70.
Intention to ratify held not shown
N.Y.—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 689, 251 App.Div. 722, affirming 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751.

43. N.C.—Armfield v. Pate, 29 N.C. 258.

44. Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., 8 So. 417, 92 Ala. 468, 12 L.R.A. 136.

45. Facts held to constitute ratification
N.Y.—Whitman v. Home Guardian Co. of New York, 238 N.Y.S. 301, 135 Misc. 598.

46. Conn.—Benham v. Bishop, 9 Conn. 330, 23 Am.D. 358.

47. Me.—Hilton v. Shepherd, 42 A. 387, 92 Me. 160.
31 C.J. p 1065 note 83.

48. Mich.—Minock v. Shortridge, 21 Mich. 304.
31 C.J. p 1065 note 84.

49. Ind.—House v. Alexander, 4 N.

Lapse of time without disaffirmance. It has been held that the failure of an infant to disaffirm within a reasonable time after reaching his majority, or within the period of statutory limitations, constitutes a ratification;[50] and acquiescence for a shorter period does not constitute ratification.[51] What constitutes a reasonable time for disaffirmance of a purchase is considered infra subdivision a (3) (b) of this section.

(3) Avoidance
- (a) In general
- (b) Time for avoidance
- (c) What constitutes avoidance
- (d) Restoration of property; liability for use or depreciation
- (e) Effect of avoidance

(a) In General

An infant has the right to disaffirm a contract of purchase even though it has been executed.

An infant has the right to disaffirm a contract of purchase[52] even though it has been executed;[53] and infancy at the time of the making of a contract to purchase is available not only as a defense to an action on the contract, but is also available as a basis for affirmative relief.[54] Thus an infant may relinquish property purchased by him during infancy and reclaim the money paid therefor,[55] even though the property has been damaged while in his possession.[56]

It has been held that an emancipated minor who authorized deductions from his wages to pay for certain property cannot, on reaching his majority, repudiate the purchase, since such payments were lawful when made;[57] but a statute providing that infants over fourteen years of age may become members in a building and loan association and shall be subject to the same duties and liabilities as adult members has been held not to preclude an infant's disaffirmance of a purchase financed by the association.[58]

An infant is not estopped to assert the right to avoid a purchase by reason of the fact that he filed an answer and replevied the property before a guardian ad litem was appointed;[59] nor will he be estopped by the fact that he continued to use the property after he became of age.[60]

Partial disaffirmance. An infant cannot disaffirm part of a purchase transaction and ratify some other part, and when the infant does disaffirm part of the transaction it operates as a disaffirmance of the entire transaction.[61]

(b) Time for Avoidance

An infant must disaffirm his purchase within a reasonable time after reaching majority.

In accordance with the rules governing the time for avoidance of an infant's property transactions generally, discussed supra § 44, the right of an infant to disaffirm a purchase and recover the money paid must be exercised within a reasonable time after reaching majority;[62] and the failure to do so within a reasonable time may be regarded as a ratification of the purchase, as appears supra subdivision a (2) of this section. It is frequently held that the question whether disaffirmance occurred within a reasonable time is one of fact,[63] and depends on all the circumstances of the case.[64] However, it

E. 891, 105 Ind. 109, 55 Am.R. 189.

50. N.Y.—Levenberg v. Ludington, 274 N.Y.S. 193, 152 Misc. 735.

51. N.Y.—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751, affirmed 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 689, 251 App. Div. 722.

52. Ky.—Harris v. Shaffer, 246 S.W. 26, 197 Ky. 54.

Agreement made by mother
Ill.—Lewellyn v. Hawkins, 253 Ill. App. 368.

Disaffirmance for fraud
Minn.—Gislason v. Henry L. Doherty & Co., 260 N.W. 883, 194 Minn. 476.

53. N.Y.—Pieri v. Nebbia, 34 N.Y.S. 2d 317, 178 Misc. 388.

54. U.S.—Bernstein v. Biscayne View Corporation, D.C.Fla., 16 F.2d 1010.

55. Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.

56. Pa.—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 44 Lack.Jur. 145.

57. Va.—Acme Lumber Co. v. Miller, 139 S.E. 246, 148 Va. 409.
Emancipation of minor and effect thereof generally see supra §§ 28–30.

58. Ky.—National Savings & Building Ass'n v. Hutchinson, 144 S.W. 2d 1029, 284 Ky. 408.

59. N.C.—McCormick v. Crotts, 153 S.E. 152, 198 N.C. 664.

60. Ala.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.

61. Disaffirmance of purchase money obligation
Where infant wife, on reaching majority, disaffirms liability on purchase-money note, mortgage, or judgment, she disaffirms as between herself and owner of judgment all title to property.—Oransky v. Stepanavich, 155 A. 290, 304 Pa. 84, 77 A.L.R. 983.

62. Ill.—Mourant v. Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, 41 N.E.2d 1007, 314 Ill.App. 567.

63. Minn.—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N. W. 460, 194 Minn. 465.

64. Time held not reasonable
(1) More than six months.—Herschede Motor Car Co. v. Bangham, 26 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 232.
(2) More than eight years.—Mourant v. Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, 41 N.E.2d 1007, 314 Ill.App. 567.

Time held reasonable
(1) In general.—Gislason v. Henry L. Doherty & Co., 260 N.W. 883, 194 Minn. 476.
(2) Within fifty-two days.—Eckrich v. Hogan Bros., 263 N.W. 308, 220 Iowa 755.

has also been held that disaffirmance is timely if made within the statutory period of limitations after the infant has reached full age.[65]

A purchase of personalty can be avoided before as well as after the infant has attained his majority.[66]

(c) What Constitutes Avoidance

A purchase may be disaffirmed by any act on the part of the minor clearly showing an intention not to be bound thereby.

In accordance with the rules as to what constitutes disaffirmance of an infant's property transactions generally, discussed supra § 45, a purchase may be disaffirmed by any act on the part of the minor clearly showing an intention not to be bound thereby.[67] Thus a suit by the late infant to recover the money paid by him on a contract of purchase is an act of avoidance;[68] and the setting up of infancy as a defense in an answer to a suit for the purchase price constitutes an election to rescind.[69] An infant may also disaffirm a purchase by returning the property purchased.[70]

Restoration of the property to the seller as a condition precedent to disaffirmance is considered infra subdivision a (3) (d) of this section.

(d) Restoration of Property; Liability for Use or Depreciation

While there is a conflict of authority on the subject, it usually is held that an infant must, to disaffirm a purchase and recover payments thereon, restore the property only if it is in his control, or only so much of it as remains in his control; and where the property is returned ordinarily it is held that the infant is not liable for the use or depreciation of the property.

The conflict of authority with regard to the necessity of an infant's placing the other party to a contract or property transaction in statu quo, discussed supra § 46, infra § 75, seems to apply to an infant's purchases. Thus it has been held in some jurisdictions that, on the disaffirmance of a contract for the purchase of personalty in order to recover the money paid thereon, it is not necessary first to return or offer to return the goods purchased.[71] In others it has been held that the right to disaffirm his contract of purchase of personalty is limited to cases wherein he can place the seller in the position he was in before the contract was made and offers to do so.[72] However, it is the more usual rule, announced and followed by the great majority of the courts, that the infant must, in order to disaffirm the purchase and recover his payments, restore the property if it is still in his control, or must restore so much of it as remains in his control,[73] unless he shows some legal excuse for not doing so;[74] and the infant is not required to make good that which has been lost or wasted or otherwise disposed of during infancy.[75] In some jurisdictions this rule has been extended so that the infant, if he has dis-

(3) Less than two months.—Burnet v. Chapin, 274 Ill.App. 186.

(4) Within five months.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266.

65. N.Y.—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751, affirmed 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 689, 251 App.Div. 722.

Purchase of stock not within rule
Minn.—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N.W. 460, 194 Minn. 465.

66. N.C.—McCormick v. Crotts, 153 S.E. 152, 198 N.C. 664.

Avoidance before or after majority as to property transactions generally see supra § 44.

67. Vt.—McNaughton v. Granite City Auto Sales, 183 A. 340, 108 Vt. 130.

Disaffirmance need not be express
Tenn.—McDowell v. Rees, 122 S.W. 2d 839, 22 Tenn.App. 336.

Statement by minor to seller that he was under age, wanted money back, and that sellers could get automobile, was disaffirmance of contract.—Tracey v. Brown, 163 N.E. 885, 265 Mass. 163.

68. Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., 8 So. 417, 92 Ala. 463, 12 L.R.A. 136.
Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 84 Cal.App. 526.
Vt.—McNaughton v. Granite City Auto Sales, 183 A. 340, 108 Vt. 130.

69. N.Y.—H. L. Braham & Co. v. Zittel, 250 N.Y.S. 44, 232 App.Div. 406—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266.

70. Pa.—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 44 Lack.Jur. 145.

The mere proposal to rescind the contract, wherein only a conditional tender of the purchased property is made, is not tantamount to actual repudiation.—Clyde v. Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co., 95 S.E. 734, 22 Ga. App. 192.

71. Ind.—Shirk v. Shultz, 15 N.E. 12, 113 Ind. 571.

72. Pa.—Friedman v. Huber, 92 Pa. Super. 245, 247, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1025 note 91.

73. U.S.—Nations v. Gregg, C.C.A. Neb., 290 F. 157.
Ala.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.
Colo.—Mosko v. Forsythe, 76 P.2d 1106, 102 Colo. 115.
Kan.—Weeks v. Berschauer, 86 P.2d 81, 140 Kan. 244.
N.C.—McCormick v. Crotts, 153 S.E. 152, 198 N.C. 664—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
Tex.—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ. App., 2 S.W.2d 873.
Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 173 Wash. 86.

74. Ala.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.
Tex.—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ. App., 2 S.W.2d 873.

Futility of offer to restore property
Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 84 Cal.App. 526.

Claim of lien for payments on automobile bought while minor was sufficient excuse for not restoring automobile on disaffirming purchase.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.

Restitution by seller
Seller was entitled to return of automobile on condition that he first restore to infant automobile traded in or its value.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227.

75. N.C.—McCormick v. Crotts, 153 S.E. 152, 198 N.C. 664—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659.

posed of the property, must turn over to the seller any substitute or equivalent which the infant may have received for it.[76] In any event, since the disaffirmance of a contract of purchase renders it void ab initio, the infant cannot after disaffirmance of the purchase retain the property, but must return it;[77] and it has been held that the disaffirmance without the return of the property or its equivalent will not relieve the infant from liability for the purchase price.[78]

Where the seller seeks to enforce the contract against the infant, the infant may plead his disability without returning or offering to return what he has received; but the legal effect of the plea is to annul the contract and to revest the seller with the title to the property.[79] A plea of infancy is not a defense in an action by the seller for claim and delivery when it appears that the infant's right to possession is contingent on compliance with the terms of the contract under which he originally came into possession.[80]

It is sufficient to support a disaffirmance that the property was recovered by the seller, and it is immaterial how the property came into his hands, as where it was repossessed by the seller for default in payments.[81] Where the property was restored to the seller it is immaterial that the seller's assignee was not notified.[82]

Statutory provisions. In some jurisdictions having statutes to that effect, restoration of the property or its equivalent or an offer to restore is a condition precedent to an infant's disaffirmance of a purchase.[83] Under such statutes it has been held that the infant has the right to elect either to return the goods purchased or pay the purchase price thereof, and where there is full and complete restoration made the seller cannot defeat the infant's right to disaffirm the contract by his refusal to accept the goods.[84]

Tender of property purchased. Even in those jurisdictions in which or under those circumstances where return of the property is required, a minor who has made a proper tender to the seller of the property is entitled to recover any payments made thereon.[85] To constitute a valid tender of property purchased so as to support a disaffirmance, the tender must be unconditional.[86]

Use or depreciation. Authorities differ as to whether, where the infant does return the property, he is required to pay for its use, depreciation, or damage. It is generally held that where the infant does return the property he is not liable for its use[87] or for depreciation of, or damages to, the property,[88] even though he has misrepresented his

Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 173 Wash. 86.

Reasonable value of merchandise with which infant had since parted need not be paid as condition of pleading infancy against seller.—Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Co. v. Bernstein, 254 N.Y.S. 588, 142 Misc. 501.

76. Me.—Whitman v. Allen, 121 A. 160, 123 Me. 1, 36 A.L.R. 776.

Proceeds of sale

Ariz.—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A.L.R. 1363.

77. Minn.—Gislason v. Henry L. Doherty & Co., 260 N.W. 883, 194 Minn. 476.

Conditional sales

Idaho.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Mizer, 296 P. 580, 50 Idaho 388.

Ill.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Vaughn, 193 N.E. 483, 358 Ill. 541.

After recovery of the purchase price the infant cannot hold the goods purchased as against his vendor.—Shirk v. Shultz, 15 N.E. 12, 113 Ind. 571.

78. N.Y.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266—Pieri v. Nebbia, 34 N.Y.S.2d 317, 178 Misc. 388.

79. W.Va.—Wallace v. Leroy, 50 S.E. 243, 57 W.Va. 263, 110 Am.S.R. 777.

80. Idaho.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Mizer, 296 P. 580, 50 Idaho 388.

Me.—Robinson v. Berry, 45 A. 34, 93 Me. 320.

81. Tex.—Standard Motor Co. v. Stillians, Civ.App., 1 S.W.2d 332, error dismissed—Fulwiler Electric Co. v. Spann, Civ.App., 252 S.W. 892.

W.Va.—Zink v. Gray, 142 S.E. 428, 105 W.Va. 232.

Failure to surrender certificate of title

Fact that infant in returning truck trailer to seller did not surrender certificate of title was held not to preclude infant's rescission of contract and recovery of purchase price, where seller became repossessed of the trailer and, acting under power reserved to it in mortgage, subsequently sold trailer to a third person and conveyed both the title and possession to him.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., Mo.App., 102 S.W.2d 743.

82. Ohio.—Hoffman v. Edson Co., 173 N.E. 307, 37 Ohio App. 262.

83. Cal.—Freitas v. Cordeiro, 9 P.2d 882, 122 Cal.App. 319—Murdock v. Fisher Finance Corporation, 251 P. 319, 79 Cal.App. 787.

N.D.—Luce v. Jestrab, 97 N.W. 848, 12 N.D. 548.

84. Mont.—Stanhope v. Shambow, 170 P. 752, 54 Mont. 360.

85. Tex.—McKnight Chevrolet Co. v. Strahan, Civ.App., 11 S.W.2d 259.

Offer held sufficient

Cal.—Le Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal.App. 536.

86. Ga.—Holland v. Peerless Furniture Co., 3 S.E.2d 138, 60 Ga.App. 149.

87. Ala.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.

Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.

Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743.

N.C.—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.

31 C.J. p 1025 note 87.

88. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.

N.C.—McCormick v. Crotts, 153 S.E. 152, 198 N.C. 664—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659.

Tex.—Standard Motor Co. v. Stilliage to induce the transaction,[89] unless it is on the ground of tort, discussed infra § 89. However, it has been held in some jurisdictions that the infant cannot recover what he has paid on account without accounting for or setting off the reasonable value of use or deterioration in value of the property,[90] at least where the infant fraudulently represented himself as of age when he made the contract;[91] and in effecting the rescission the equities running through the entire transaction should be balanced to determine whether the parties had been restored to status quo.[92] In at least one jurisdiction it has been held, on the ground that restoration to status quo means restoration to the original condition of the parties at the time of the consummation of the sale, that the infant is liable for depreciation in value while the property was in his possession, but is not liable for the use of the property.[93] Where the property never came into the infant's possession, the right of the minor to return of the money paid on the purchase price is not affected by any depreciation in value of the property between the date of the contract and the date of final sale of the property.[94]

Under a statute providing that when minors are admitted to the benefit of restitution against their engagements the reimbursement of what may have been received by them is not required unless it be proved that it accrued to their benefit, the infant purchaser need not pay to the seller depreciation resulting from the contract.[95]

Where the infant continued to use the property after he became of age the seller will be entitled to recover for the use of the property or for the deterioration in value resulting therefrom.[96]

Restoration of realty. It has been held that the minor disaffirming a purchase of realty must restore,[97] or offer to restore,[98] the property to his vendor, or the profit or benefit derived therefrom.[99] However, it has also been held that, where a contract of sale of realty is rescinded, the vendor cannot recover from the minor, or set off, the value of the minor's use and occupation of the property.[1] ans, Civ.App., 1 S.W.2d 332, error dismissed.

31 C.J. p 1025 note 88.

Condition of property immaterial
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743.
Pa.—Musser v. Schock, 95 Pa.Super. 406—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 44 Lack.Jur. 145.
Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 173 Wash. 86.

Expenses in recovering property
A counterclaim by the seller for expenses incurred in getting the car sold from the place where it had been abandoned by the minor after it had been damaged by him will not be allowed.—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 43 Lack.Jur., Pa., 189, 56 York Leg. Rec. 123.

89. Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 235 Ala. 275.

90. Cal.—Freitas v. Cordeiro, 9 P.2d 882, 122 Cal.App. 319—Toon v. Mack International Motor Truck Corporation, 262 P. 51, 87 Cal.App. 151—Murdock v. Fisher Finance Corporation, 251 P. 319, 79 Cal.App. 787.
N.J.—Levine v. Mallon Oldsmobile Co., 21 A.2d 852, 127 N.J.Law 197, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Wolf v. Vim Electric Co., 24 N.Y.S.2d 643.
31 C.J. p 1025 note 92.

Determination of value of use
It has been held that the amount to be deducted as the value of infant's use is not the reasonable rental value during the time the property was in his possession, but the amount of benefits actually received by the infant from their use.—Berglund v. American Multigraph Sales Co., 160 N.W. 191, 135 Minn. 67.

91. D.C.—Dick Murphy, Inc., v. Holcer, 57 F.2d 431, 61 App.D.C. 65.
Ill.—Berryman v. Highway Trailer Co., 30 N.E.2d 761, 307 Ill.App. 480.
Ohio.—Mestetzko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575.
Contra Summit Auto Co. v. Jenkins, 153 N.E. 153, 20 Ohio App. 229.

Natural justice
Where the infant has misrepresented his age, natural justice will not permit him to recover the money paid for the property without compelling him to account for the injury which his deceit has inflicted on the other person.
U.S.—Myers v. Hurley Motor Co., App.D.C., 47 S.Ct. 277, 273 U.S. 18, 71 L.Ed. 515, 50 A.L.R. 1181.
D.C.—Myers v. Hurley Motor Co., 18 F.2d 187, 57 App.D.C. 145.
Minn.—Steigerwalt v. Woodhead Co., 244 N.W. 412, 186 Minn. 558.

92. Cal.—Le Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal.App. 536.

Complicated facts
Where the transaction involves complicated facts equity cannot be done until an accounting is had of the charges and countercharges as to each party.—Murdock v. Fisher Finance Corporation, 251 P. 319, 79 Cal.App. 787.

93. Conn.—Creer v. Active Automobile Exch., 121 A. 888, 99 Conn. 266.

94. Vt.—McNaughton v. Granite City Auto Sales, 183 A. 340, 108 Vt. 130.

95. La.—Smith v. Hempen, 8 La. App. 120.

96. Ala.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.

97. N.C.—Wright v. Hepler, 140 S.E. 90, 194 N.C. 542.

Inability to restore unencumbered title
Where a minor who purchased land executed a mortgage thereon after reaching his majority, he was unable to restore unencumbered title, and could not disaffirm and recover the purchase price.—Wright v. Hepler, supra.

98. Offer held sufficient
An offer by one seeking to rescind a contract for the purchase of realty, entered into during his minority, to execute a deed reconveying the property, and a tender into court of a deed duly executed, was held sufficient to constitute a tender back of such property.—Miller v. McAden, Tex.Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901.

99. Executory contract
An infant purchaser of realty under executory contract received no profit or benefit which she could return or account for as condition of disaffirmance of contract after reaching her majority.—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751, affirmed 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 689, 251 App.Div. 722.

1. Mich.—Lawrence v. Baxter, 267 N.W. 742, 275 Mich. 587.

It has been held that the infant is liable for the reasonable rental value of property purchased where he had no other place to live so that the rental of the property was a necessity.[2]

Where an infant repudiated a purchase of property which had been financed by a third person, the court may direct that the property be conveyed to such third person rather than be returned to the vendor.[3]

Infant's expenses as to property. Where the property which the infant had purchased and then returned on disaffirmance was a business, he will be entitled to an allowance for the expenses of operating the business;[4] and where the proceeds of sales of some of the property included in the purchase of the business were used to pay the expenses of the business they are not chargeable to the minor.[5]

(e) Effect of Avoidance

Rules governing the effect of an infant's avoidance of transactions as to property generally, apply to contracts of purchase. The infant may recover whatever he has parted with in payment of the purchase price; but the rights of an infant after disaffirmance do not attach to an adult party to the contract.

In accordance with the rules governing the effect of an infant's avoidance of his property transactions generally, as discussed supra § 42, the effect of the disaffirmance of a contract by an infant to purchase property is to render it void ab initio,[6] and the other party is reinvested with a right to whatever he has parted with under the contract and may sue to recover it,[7] except where the property has been transferred to a bona fide purchaser.[8] It has been held that the disaffirmance does not ipso facto retransfer the legal title to land to the vendor so as to enable him to recover the land in ejectment;[9] but it has been held, with regard to an infant's purchase of personal property, that on disaffirmance title to the property remains in the seller.[10]

Rights of infant. An infant's disaffirmance of a contract of purchase absolves him from all liability under the contract,[11] and entitles him to recover from the seller whatever he has parted with in payment of the purchase price,[12] even though part of

2. Ky.—Marcelliac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383.

3. Ky.—National Savings & Building Ass'n v. Hutchinson, 144 S.W. 2d 1029, 284 Ky. 408.

4. Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 84 Cal.App. 526—Le Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal.App. 536.

5. Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 84 Cal.App. 526.

6. Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., 8 So. 417, 92 Ala. 463, 12 L.R.A. 136.
Colo.—Mosko v. Forsythe, 76 P.2d 1106, 102 Colo. 115.
Vt.—Hoyt v. Wilkinson, 57 Vt. 404.

Rights fixed by law
Ill.—Fuller v. Pool, 258 Ill.App. 513.

7. Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., 8 So. 417, 92 Ala. 463, 12 L.R.A. 136.
31 C.J. p 1025 note 80.
Necessity of return of property or consideration by infant see supra subdivision a (3) (d) of this section.

Rights of third persons receiving notes
Where an owner of land conveyed it and successfully attempted to retain a vendor's lien, and the purchaser resold the land to an infant, giving the infant's notes for the purchase price as collateral to loans from third persons, and the infant, subsequently renouncing his agreement, procured the cancellation of the notes, it was held that the land was subject to a lien in favor of such third persons for the amount obtained from them by the first purchaser.—Harris v. Shaffer, 246 S.W. 26, 197 Ky. 54.

8. Sale on mortgage foreclosure
A purchaser of realty at mortgage foreclosure sale before mortgagor disaffirmed his contract, made while he was an infant, to purchase oil burner, annexed by him to mortgaged realty with intent to make it a permanent part thereof, acquired good title to burner, as rescission of contract did not render original transfer of title void ab initio, so that seller of burner had neither title to it nor right to possession thereof at time of its alleged conversion by foreclosure purchaser and could not recover damages therefor from such purchaser.—L. P. Steuart & Bro. v. Capital View Realty Co., 112 F.2d 583, 72 App.D.C. 193.

9. Ala.—McCarty v. Woodstock Iron Co., 8 So. 417, 92 Ala. 463, 12 L.R.A. 136.

10. Neb.—Curtis v. Kent, 131 N.W. 944, 89 Neb. 496, 52 L.R.A.,N.S., 723.

Conditional sale contracts
(1) Conditional sale contracts are within the rule.—Curtis v. Kent, supra.

(2) Infant, to have special property in truck after rescission, must have had legal possession thereof, with right to retain possession as against seller.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Vaughn, 193 N.E. 483, 358 Ill. 541.

11. N.Y.—H. L. Braham & Co. v. Zittel, 250 N.Y.S. 44, 232 App.Div. 406.

12. U.S.—Nations v. Gregg, C.C.A. Neb., 290 F. 157.
Ark.—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S.W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.
Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 84 Cal.App. 526.
Colo.—Mosko v. Forsythe, 76 P.2d 1106, 102 Colo. 115.
Iowa.—Mubler v. Gates, 229 N.W. 767, 209 Iowa 1198.
Ky.—Harris v. Shaffer, 246 S.W. 26, 197 Ky. 54.
N.J.—Levine v. Mallon Oldsmobile Co., 21 A.2d 852, 127 N.J.Law 197.
N.C.—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659.
Tex.—Lockhart v. National Cash Register Co., Civ.App., 66 S.W.2d 796.
31 C.J. p 1025 notes 75, 82.
Necessity of infant's restoring property to seller as condition precedent to recovery of payments see supra subdivision a (3) (d) of this section.
Rights and remedies of infants on disaffirmance of contracts generally see infra § 75.

Recovery from broker
Infant who directed stockbrokers to purchase stock could rescind and recover money paid brokers, on tendering shares purchased, notwithstanding defense that brokers paid undisclosed sellers and profited only to extent of commissions.—Schroeder v. Hitt, 260 N.Y.S. 2, 236 App.Div. 466, affirmed 185 N.E. 786, 261 N.Y. 671.

the consideration was property of the infant which he traded in;[13] but he is not entitled to recover payments made by another than himself.[14] The rights of an infant disaffirming a contract for the purchase of realty have been held to be limited to an action for the recovery of money paid under the contract; and he has no possessory rights in the property.[15] Thus, it has been held that the infant's right to recover the purchase money paid for the property cannot be effectuated by the interposition of a counterclaim or set-off therefor in the seller's action of replevin to recover the property, particularly where an adult is a joint party with the infant.[16] If the infant has been in possession and paid rents, it has been held that he has no right to recover the same.[17]

While it is generally held that, where property traded in by the infant as part of the price is beyond reach of the seller, the infant is entitled to the reasonable value of the property at the time of the purchase, rather than the value fixed in the purchase agreement,[18] it has also been held that he is entitled to receive the value fixed in the agreement.[19]

It has been held that, since a purchaser trading in other property as part of the payment knows that his vendor will attempt to sell it, he is estopped to pursue the property against an innocent purchaser from his seller;[20] and, under a statute providing that a purchaser from a seller having a voidable title acquires good title provided he buys in good faith, for value, and without notice of the seller's defect of title, it has been held that the infant cannot recover the proceeds realized by his vendor from the sale of the property traded in by the infant, since such sale is not a tortious act, notwithstanding the disaffirmance relates back to the date of the contract.[21]

It has been held that where there has been a disaffirmance, the infant is entitled to interest on the money paid to the seller from the date of its payment,[22] and that where the infant had turned over some property to the seller in the course of the transaction, the seller, on the return of the property after disaffirmance of the transaction, was chargeable with the use and depreciation of such property.[23] On the other hand where the seller took property of the infant in part payment, and paid off a chattel mortgage on such property, on rescission of the purchase the seller is not liable for the failure to return the property to the infant, until the infant refunds to him the amount paid on the chattel mortgage, since such payment inured to the benefit of the infant.[24]

The infant may have a lien on the property for the purchase money paid; and he may enforce the lien against a subsequent purchaser who had or should have had notice thereof.[25] Where the infant was granted a lien on the property returned to the seller to secure repayment of the purchase price paid to the seller, the lien could not be enforced against insurance on the property in the hands of a purchaser from the seller, since the insurance did not protect the lien interest, which the infant could himself have insured.[26]

13. Tex.—Lockhart v. National Cash Register Co., Civ.App., 66 S.W.2d 796.

14. Cal.—Freitas v. Cordeiro, 9 P.2d 882, 122 Cal.App. 319.
31 C.J. p 1025 note 77.

Judgment paid by mother
Infant disaffirming contract to purchase automobile cannot recover amount of judgment voluntarily paid by infant's mother to holder of installment notes.—Fuller v. Pool, 258 Ill.App. 513.

15. Pa.—Funk v. Wharen, 165 A. 513, 108 Pa.Super. 556.

16. On theory of recoupment
In suit to replevin truck sold to infant under conditional sales contract, infant was not entitled to recover payment made and value of automobile exchanged on theory of recoupment, since "recoupment" is weapon of defense, never of offense, and applies only by way of reduction, mitigation, or abatement of damages claimed by plaintiff.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Vaughn, 193 N.E. 483, 358 Ill. 541.

17. S.C.—Jennings v. Hare, 25 S.E. 198, 47 S.C. 279.

18. Mass.—Carpenter v. Grow, 141 N.E. 859, 247 Mass. 133.
N.C.—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659.

Credit slip
Where the infant has a credit slip for property which he has transferred as part of the purchase price, the credit slip does not become the equivalent of a cash obligation on rescission, since he is entitled only to the reasonable value of the property and not the agreed value.—Cook v. Clarke Chevrolet Co., 153 S.E. 88, 41 Ga.App. 389.

Real property held within rule
Mich.—Lawrence v. Baxter, 267 N.W. 742, 275 Mich. 587.

19. Tex.—Lockhart v. National Cash Register Co., Civ.App., 66 S.W.2d 796.

Presumption as to value
Where, on infant's disaffirmance, defendant cannot restore automobile, defendant will be charged with the value thereof, which is presumed to be the sum at which he valued it in the trade-in.—Schoenung v. Gallet, 238 N.W. 852, 206 Wis. 52, 78 A.L.R. 387.

20. Automobile
Fla.—Russell v. Donaldson, 195 So. 198, 142 Fla. 394.

21. Mass.—Carpenter v. Grow, 141 N.E. 859, 247 Mass. 133.

22. Cal.—Le Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal.App. 536.

23. Cal.—Murdock v. Fisher Finance Corporation, 251 P. 319, 79 Cal. App. 787.

24. La.—Smith v. Hempen, 8 La. App. 120.

25. Infant in possession
Ky.—Marceillac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383.

26. Ky.—Marceillac's Adm'r v. Taylor, 289 S.W. 283, 217 Ky. 354.

Rights and liabilities of adult parties to transaction. An infant's disaffirmance of a contract of purchase does not protect or release an adult who has contracted jointly with the infant;[27] nor does it protect the principal for whom the infant has been acting as agent,[28] or an adult who has made an independent purchase for the benefit of the infant.[29]

Where the consideration turned over by the infant to the seller in making the purchase was furnished for that purpose by an adult, it cannot be recovered;[30] but where the contract was one with the infant, it may be repudiated by the infant even though the money was furnished to the infant, or directly to the vendor, by an adult.[31]

Both parties infants. If both parties to a sale are infants, the purchaser cannot recover the purchase price which the seller has spent;[32] but where an adult had participated in the transaction, the buyer is entitled to recover from him so much of the purchase price as was received by him.[33]

(4) Vendors' Liens

The vendor may have a lien on the property where the infant ratifies, or where he disaffirms but retains the property, or where the infant disaffirms but an adult is a joint party.

If an infant purchaser ratifies his purchase of land, the vendor has a lien thereon for the unpaid purchase price;[34] and if the infant successfully pleads infancy as a defense to an action for the purchase price, and retains the property, the property is still subject to the vendor's lien.[35] Where the purchase is made by an infant and an adult jointly, and the infant disaffirms, the vendor still retains a lien on the property for the entire purchase price.[36]

b. By Mortgage

An infant may take a mortgage of real or personal property.

An infant may take a mortgage of personal property,[37] or become a mortgagee of realty.[38]

The cancellation, satisfaction, or release of a mortgage by an infant mortgagee may be disaffirmed by him when he reaches his majority.[39]

c. By Lease

Rules governing infants' property transactions generally apply, ordinarily, to an infant's lease of property.

In accordance with the rules governing infants' property transactions generally, considered supra §§ 36–46, a lease to an infant, while voidable,[40] is not void.[41] Thus, where an infant enters into possession under a lease, an estate vests in him, until he repudiates the lease and redelivers possession.[42]

Ratification. The retaining of possession of the leased premises for sometime after attaining majority may work a ratification;[43] but the taking of a new lease after the expiration of the old one has been held not to operate as a ratification of the prior lease.[44]

Disaffirmance. Since the right to avoid a transaction respecting property is in the infant personally, as considered supra § 43, infancy, as a defense to liability on a lease, cannot be asserted by third persons.[45]

Even though he has disaffirmed the lease, the infant is liable for rent under the lease for the period before the disaffirmance and during which he occupied the premises and received the benefits thereof;[46] but he is not liable for rent for the period after the disaffirmance of the lease, even though

27. Ind.—Obering v. Swain-Roach Lumber Co., 155 N.E. 712, 86 Ind. App. 632.
Ky.—Gray v. Grimm, 163 S.W. 762, 157 Ky. 603.
Husband
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.

28. Pa.—Keystone Discount Co. v. Demby, 91 Pittsb.Leg.J. 437.

29. Purchase by mother
N.Y.—Marsak v. Title Guarantee & Trust Co., 276 N.Y.S. 891, 154 Misc. 295.

30. Father's car traded in Seller was not liable for value of old car traded in for new one while buyer disaffirming purchase was a minor, where his father gave him old automobile solely to trade in.—McCarty-Greene Motor Co. v. McCluney, 121 So. 713, 219 Ala. 211.

31. Ill.—Moskovitz v. Kerman Stores Co., 259 Ill.App. 480.

32. Mass.—Drude v. Curtis, 67 N.E. 317, 183 Mass. 317, 62 L.R.A. 755.
Tex.—Dodson v. Roberts, Civ.App., 4 S.W.2d 155.

33. Tex.—Dodson v. Roberts, supra.

34. Ill.—Wright v. Buchanan, 123 N.E. 53, 287 Ill. 468.

35. Vt.—Weed v. Beebe, 21 Vt. 495.

36. Ky.—Gray v. Grimm, 163 S.W. 762, 157 Ky. 603.

37. Mass.—Bradford v. French, 110 Mass. 365—Barnard v. Eaton, 2 Cush. 294.

38. Mass.—Parker v. Lincoln, 12 Mass. 16.
31 C.J. p 1023 note 38.

39. N.Y.—Foy v. Salzano, 136 N.Y.S. 699, 152 App.Div. 47.
N.C.—Faircloth v. Johnson, 127 S.E. 346, 189 N.C. 429.

40. Neb.—Cole v. Manners, 107 N.W. 777, 76 Neb. 454.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 41.
Lease of personal property
Pa.—Camera & Radio Shop v. Zalewske, 157 A. 376, 102 Pa.Super. 562.

41. Mo.—Griffith v. Schwenderman, 27 Mo. 412.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 42.

42. N.Y.—9302 Boardwalk Corporation v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124.

43. S.C.—Ihley v. Padgett, 3 S.E. 468, 27 S.C. 300.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 49.

44. Ala.—Flexner v. Dickerson, 72 Ala. 318.

45. Mo.—Griffith v. Schwenderman, 27 Mo. 412.

46. N.Y.—9302 Boardwalk Corpora-

such period is within the term covered by the lease.[47] He may recover the rent paid where he has received no benefits from the leased premises.[48] The lessor has been held to have no counterclaim against the infant for damages because of inability to rent the premises to advantage after the disaffirmance, in the absence of fraud or other special circumstances.[49]

Restraining irreparable injury. The plea of infancy is not available in a suit brought to restrain an infant lessee from making use of his possession to inflict irreparable injury on the landlord.[50]

d. By Gift

An infant may be a donee of property; and where the gift is for his advantage formal acceptance is unnecessary, since the law will presume acceptance.

An infant is capable of being a donee of property.[51] In the case of a gift to an infant no formal acceptance is necessary.[52] If the gift is for his advantage the law will presume acceptance;[53] the law accepts it for him, and will hold the donor bound.[54] However, if the gift is not for the infant's advantage, the law will repudiate it at his instance,[55] even though he may in terms have accepted it.[56] Under a statute permitting the grandparents of a child to accept a donation of realty for the minor, a formal acceptance by the grandparents is required.[57] Where a deed of gift to an infant appeared in the possession of the trustee of the gift, its delivery will be presumed.[58]

Where a widow purchased property in the name of herself and her children without authority, she could sell the property and pass valid title so long as the purchase was not ratified by the children or by an appropriate judicial proceeding.[59] Where the infant received the gift as the result of the fraud of another, and retained the property after maturity, he was held to have ratified the agency of the person procuring the gift and therefore to be subject to all infirmities of title.[60] Where an infant inherits property subject to certain indebtedness under a will, he should be permitted to pay the indebtedness where the property value exceeds the debt.[61]

§ 48. Alienation of Property

The alienation of property by an infant is ordinarily governed by the rules applicable to infants' property transactions generally, considered supra §§ 36–46, as appears infra §§ 49–56, in which particular kinds of alienation are discussed.

The partition of property of which an infant is one of the owners is considered infra § 51 c.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 49. —— Assignments

An infant's assignment ordinarily is voidable and not void.

An assignment being of the nature of a contract, as discussed in Assignments § 2, an infant's assignment of a property right is, in accordance with the rules governing the contracts of infants generally, discussed infra §§ 71–75, ordinarily voidable,[62] but tion v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124.

31 C.J. p 1024 note 45.

47. Conn.—Gregory v. Lee, 30 A. 53, 64 Conn. 407, 25 L.R.A. 618.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 46.

48. Ala.—Ex parte McFerren, 63 So. 159, 184 Ala. 223, 224, 47 L.R.A.,N.S., 543, Ann.Cas.1915B 672.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 48.

49. Ohio.—Hewitt v. Klein, 191 N.E. 836, 47 Ohio App. 355.

50. Neb.—Cole v. Manners, 107 N.W. 777, 76 Neb. 454.

51. N.Y.—Stromberg v. Rubenstein, 44 N.Y.S. 405, 19 Misc. 647.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 53.
Gifts between parent and child see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 60, also 46 C.J. p 1319 note 31–p 1324 note 31.

52. Tex.—Youngblood v. Hoeffle, Civ.App., 201 S.W. 1057.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 54.

53. Conn.—Hammond v. Lummis, 137 A. 767, 106 Conn. 276.
Ind.—Klingaman v. Burch, 25 N.E.2d 996, 999, 216 Ind. 695, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ky.—Davis' Committee v. Loney, 162 S.W.2d 189, 290 Ky. 644—Collins v. Collins' Adm'r, 45 S.W.2d 811, 242 Ky. 5.
Tenn.—McDowell v. Rees, 122 S.W.2d 839, 850, 22 Tenn.App. 336, quoting Corpus Juris.
Utah.—Wood v. Wood, 49 P.2d 416, 87 Utah 394.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 55—28 C.J. p 673 note 76.

54. Ind.—Klingaman v. Burch, 25 N.E.2d 996, 999, 216 Ind. 695, quoting Corpus Juris.
Miss.—Brown v. Long Bell Co., 103 So. 353, 138 Miss. 548.
31 C.J. p 1024 note 56—28 C.J. p 673 note 77.

55. Cal.—De Levillain v. Evans, 39 Cal. 120.
Tex.—Youngblood v. Hoeffle, Civ. App., 201 S.W. 1057.

56. Cal.—De Levillain v. Evans, 39 Cal. 120.

57. La.—Works v. Noble, 149 So. 423, 177 La. 681.

58. Ky.—Taylor v. Purdy, 151 S.W. 45, 151 Ky. 82.

59. La.—Williams v. Horn, 129 So. 122, 170 La. 663.

60. Cal.—Simmons v. Briggs, 231 P. 604, 69 Cal.App. 447.

61. Ill.—Van Epps v. Arbuckle, 164 N.E. 1, 332 Ill. 551.

62. Mass.—Kingman v. Perkins, 105 Mass. 111.
Assignment of dower by infant see Dower § 82 c (2).
Certificate of deposit
Infant may avoid transfer of certificates of deposit, particularly when held by one not holder for value.—Bankers' Trust Co. v. Bank of Rockville Center Trust Co., 168 A. 733, 114 N.J.Eq. 391, 89 A.L.R. 697, reversing 159 A. 505, 110 N.J.Eq. 203.
Executed contract of assignment
Minor establishing her minority at time she assigned her stock certificates to cover margin on grain account had right to disaffirm assignment and have it canceled and recover market value of stock, notwithstanding assignment was fully ex-not void.[62] The same rule has been applied to assignments for the benefit of creditors made by infants, see Assignments for Benefit of Creditors § 7.

An infant's assignment cannot be avoided by his creditors on the mere ground of his infancy.[64]

§ 50. —— Contracts of Sale

The general rules governing transactions of infants relating to their property apply to an infant's contracts of sale.

In accordance with the general rules governing transactions of infants relating to their property, see supra §§ 36–46, a contract of sale or bond to convey entered into or executed by an infant is voidable[65] but not void,[66] although, under a statute providing that realty can be sold by infants under specified conditions only, a contract of sale not within the statute is illegal and will not be enforced.[67] It may be avoided[68] or ratified[69] after the infant reaches his majority.

It has been held that a purchaser after rescinding a contract of sale on the ground of the fraud of the infant seller may recover the purchase price paid in an action in assumpsit.[70]

Rights and liabilities of adult parties to contract. The contract is binding on the adult party thereto until disaffirmed by the infant;[71] and the infancy of one vendor does not release other vendors from their obligations on the sale contract.[72] However, an executory contract for the sale of land owned jointly by infants and adults which is void as to the infants is void altogether, as the parts cannot be separated.[73]

§ 51. —— Conveyances and Mortgages

a. Conveyances and mortgages generally
b. Conveyances and mortgages of infant wife or husband
c. Partition

a. Conveyances and Mortgages Generally

(1) Validity
(2) Ratification
(3) Avoidance

(1) Validity
(a) Conveyances
(b) Mortgages

(a) Conveyances

Subject to some exceptions, an infant's conveyance is merely voidable and not void.

In accordance with the rules governing the acquisition and alienation of property by infants generally, as discussed supra §§ 36–46, ordinarily an infant's conveyance is merely voidable,[74] and not absolutely void;[75] and, under the rule stated, an in-ecuted before any notice to assignee of its disaffirmance.—Uhlmann Grain Co. of Texas v. Wilson, Tex.Civ.App., 68 S.W.2d 281, error dismissed.

Ratification

(1) A minor assignor of an application for patent was held to have affirmed the assignment by actively assisting the assignee in obtaining the patent after attaining his majority.—New Departure Mfg. Co. v. Rockwell-Drake Corporation, C.C.A. Conn., 287 F. 328, modifying, D.C., 270 F. 219.

(2) An assignment of a patent application by a minor was held valid, where not disaffirmed by the assignor within lapse of ten years after he attained his majority.—New Departure Mfg. Co. v. Rockwell-Drake Corporation, supra.

62. Mass.—Kingman v. Perkins, 105 Mass. 111.

64. Mass.—Kingman v. Perkins, supra.

65. N.Y.—Persico v. Guernsey, 220 N.Y.S. 689, 129 Misc. 190, affirmed 225 N.Y.S. 890, 222 App.Div. 719.
31 C.J. p 1026 note 8.

66. N.Y.—Persico v. Guernsey, supra.
31 C.J. p 1026 note 9.

67. Minn.—Terrell v. Kopp, 210 N. W. 632, 168 Minn. 479.

68. Ark.—Cook v. Bronaugh, 13 Ark. 183.
31 C.J. p 1026 note 10.

69. Or.—Haldeman v. Weeks, 175 P. 445, 90 Or. 201.
31 C.J. p 1026 note 11.

70. Mich.—Patterson v. Kasper, 148 N.W. 690, 182 Mich. 281, L.R.A. 1915A 1221.
31 C.J. p 1026 note 16.
Liability of infant for torts arising out of contract see infra § 89.

71. N.Y.—Persico v. Guernsey, 220 N.Y.S. 689, 129 Misc. 190, affirmed 225 N.Y.S. 890, 222 App.Div. 719.
Pa.—McGinn v. Shaeffer, 7 Watts 412.

72. N.Y.—Persico v. Guernsey, 220 N.Y.S. 689, 129 Misc. 190, affirmed 225 N.Y.S. 890, 222 App.Div. 719.

73. Minn.—Terrell v. Kopp, 210 N. W. 632, 168 Minn. 479.

74. Ga.—Taylor v. Brown, 141 S.E. 898, 165 Ga. 698.
Ill.—Schlig v. Spear, 177 N.E. 730, 345 Ill. 219.
Ky.—Baisden v. Gibson, 270 S.W. 830, 208 Ky. 341—Peters v. Noble, 244 S.W. 416, 196 Ky. 123.
Miss.—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.
Neb.—Klapka v. Shrauger, 281 N.W. 612, 135 Neb. 354.
N.J.—Mott v. Iossa, 181 A. 689, 119 N.J.Eq. 185.
N.Y.—Application of Presler, 13 N.Y.S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.
Okl.—McElroy v. Calhoun, 57 P.2d 827, 177 Okl. 38—Warner v. Williams, 12 P.2d 525, 158 Okl. 66.
Tex.—Neill v. Pure Oil Co., Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 402, error refused—McGill v. Reed, Civ.App., 64 S.W.2d 358—Holden v. Murphy, Civ.App., 62 S.W.2d 189, error refused.
Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.
Va.—New v. H. E. Harman Coal Corporation, 26 S.E.2d 39, 181 Va. 627.
31 C.J. p 1026 note 18.

Deed by female between eighteen and twenty-one, executed after effective date of amendment to statute changing age of majority of females from eighteen to twenty-one, was voidable.—Coleman v. Coleman, 200 N.E. 197, 51 Ohio App. 221.

75. Ill.—Schlig v. Spear, 177 N.E. 730, 345 Ill. 219.
Ky.—Baisden v. Gibson, 270 S.W. 830, 208 Ky. 341—Peters v. Noble, 244 S.W. 416, 196 Ky. 123.

fant's conveyance operates to transmit title,[76] subject to the infant's right to disaffirm on attaining majority.[77]

However, under statute to that effect in some jurisdictions, where the infant is under a specified age his conveyance is void and not merely voidable.[78] An infant's conveyance may also be held to be void when it appears from its face to be to his prejudice;[79] and it has been held that conveyances without consideration, by way of gift, are void, as discussed infra § 53. The deed of an infant which the law will compel him to make is as valid as though he were of full age.[80] The acknowledgment by an infant, in open court, of a deed executed by him does not render it irrevocable.[81]

Conveyances of mining claims. In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, a conveyance by an infant under a certain age of mining locations and claims is as valid as though it had been executed by an adult.[82]

(b) Mortgages

Subject to some exceptions, an infant's mortgage of realty or chattels is merely voidable and not void. It cannot be foreclosed until it is no longer avoidable; and when it is given to secure the purchase price of a conveyance to the infant it cannot be disaffirmed if the conveyance is not also disaffirmed.

In accordance with the rules governing the acquisition and alienation of property by infants generally, discussed supra §§ 36-46, an infant may make a mortgage of his lands.[83] While the infant may avoid such a mortgage[84] on attaining his majority,[85] such mortgage is voidable only and not void,[86] and is valid until some act is done by him to avoid it.[87]

If the mortgage is given without consideration, it is void;[88] and in some jurisdictions, by force of statute, a mortgage of land by an infant, under a certain age, is void and not merely voidable.[89]

A chattel mortgage given by an infant is subject to the same rules as obtain in the case of a mortgage of real estate;[90] it is not void but merely voidable.[91]

Foreclosure of mortgage. A mortgage may not be made the subject of foreclosure until and unless its status shall have been first established as that of a conveyance not subject to avoidance at the will of the mortgagor.[92] Under a statute to that effect, a minor has one year after arriving at the age of twenty-one years to show cause against an order or judgment of foreclosure, even though such right is not reserved in the order or judgment.[93]

N.J.—Mott v. Iossa, 181 A. 689, 119 N.J.Eq. 185.
Okl.—Warner v. Williams, 12 P.2d 525, 158 Okl. 66.
Tex.—Neill v. Pure Oil Co., Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 402, error refused—McGill v. Reed, Civ.App., 64 S.W.2d 358—Holden v. Murphy, Civ. App., 62 S.W.2d 189, error refused.
Va.—New v. H. E. Harman Coal Corporation, 26 S.E.2d 39, 181 Va. 627.
31 C.J. p 1026 note 19.

76. Neb.—Klapka v. Shrauger, 281 N.W. 612, 135 Neb. 354.
Okl.—Warner v. Williams, 12 P.2d 525, 158 Okl. 66.
Tex.—Neill v. Pure Oil Co., Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 402, error refused—McGill v. Reed, Civ.App., 64 S.W.2d 358.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 20.

77. Neb.—Klapka v. Shrauger, 281 N.W. 612, 135 Neb. 354.
Okl.—Warner v. Williams, 12 P.2d 525, 158 Okl. 66.
Tex.—McGill v. Reed, Civ.App., 64 S.W.2d 358.
Va.—New v. H. E. Harman Coal Corporation, 26 S.E.2d 39, 181 Va. 627.

78. Okl.—Lawson v. Bridges, 43 P.2d 111, 171 Okl. 502.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 21.

79. U.S.—MacGreal v. Taylor, App. D.C., 17 S.Ct. 961, 167 U.S. 688, 42 L.Ed. 326.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 22.
When the benefit of the infant demands, his conveyance may be held void.
Ga.—Wellborn v. Rogers, 24 Ga. 558.
Ky.—Breckenridge v. Ormsby, 1 J.J. Marsh. 236, 19 Am.D. 71.

80. Ala.—Sims v. Gunter, 78 So. 62, 201 Ala. 286.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 25.

81. Ala.—Slaughter v. Cunningham, 24 Ala. 260, 60 Am.D. 463.

82. Nev.—Keyworth v. Nevada Packard Mines Co., 186 P. 1110, 43 Nev. 428.

83. Tex.—Askey v. Williams, 11 S. W. 1101, 74 Tex. 294, 5 L.R.A. 176.

84. Mass.—Ready v. Pinkham, 63 N. E. 887, 181 Mass. 351.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 31.

85. N.Y.—Palmer v. Miller, 25 Barb. 399.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 32.

86. S.C.—Jones v. Godwin, 198 S.E. 36, 187 S.C. 510.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 33.

87. Neb.—Uecker v. Koehn, 32 N.W. 583, 21 Neb. 559, 59 Am.R. 849.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 36.

88. Pa.—In re Steger's Estate, 11 Phila. 158.

89. S.D.—Gruba v. Chapman, 153 N. W. 929, 36 S.D. 119.
31 C.J. p 1028 note 38.

90. Mich.—Barney v. Rutledge, 62 N.W. 369, 104 Mich. 289.
31 C.J. p 1028 note 39.

91. Okl.—Drumhiller v. Norick Motor Co., 289 P. 698, 144 Okl. 174, 69 A.L.R. 1368.
31 C.J. p 1028 note 40.
Infancy as defense
While generally infancy is no excuse for wrongful detention of property of another, it is available as defense, as in actions ex contractu, where plaintiff claims title and right of possession through chattel mortgage given by infant.—Hooper Motor Co. v. Harris, 146 So. 618, 226 Ala. 278.
Mortgage jointly with adult
Crop mortgage executed by father and infant son which did not call for crops on any specific land was not binding on infant, but passed only crops of father.—Hooper Motor Co. v. Harris, 146 So. 618, 226 Ala. 278.

92. Conn.—Watson v. Ruderman, 66 A. 515, 79 Conn. 687.

93. Okl.—Leslie v. Hammond, 50 P. 2d 321, 174 Okl. 212.

Following the rule that a transaction must be avoided or affirmed in its entirety only and not in part, considered supra § 38, where an infant has given a purchase-money mortgage to secure the purchase money of a conveyance to him the infancy of the mortgagor is no defense to a foreclosure proceeding, when such conveyance has not been disaffirmed.[94]

(2) Ratification

The general rules governing the ratification of transactions of acquisition or alienation of property by infants apply to the ratification of conveyances and mortgages of infants.

In accordance with the rules governing the ratification of transactions of acquisition or alienation of property by infants generally, discussed supra §§ 39-41, if the conveyance[95] or mortgage[96] is considered void it is not subject to ratification. If, however, the conveyance[97] or mortgage[98] is considered merely voidable it is subject to ratification. Where a deed or mortgage executed by an infant does not name him in the instrument, the infant will not be bound thereby even though he again executes and acknowledges the instrument after reaching his majority.[99]

What constitutes ratification. It has been held that an infant's conveyance may be ratified by any decisive act showing intention to affirm,[1] as by a subsequent conveyance to the same grantee after his arrival at majority,[2] by retaining the consideration or a part thereof, and enjoying the same after coming of full age[3] although there is also some authority to the contrary,[4] by accepting part of the consideration after majority,[5] by suing for the purchase price,[6] by renting the land from the grantee,[7] or by otherwise receiving benefits under the deed after arriving at full age.[8]

A verbal confirmation of a deed after the infant reaches majority is sufficient,[9] but mere declarations or a promise on a contingency to make a deed of affirmance will not confirm the deed.[10] It has been asserted that more solemn and decisive acts are requisite to prove ratification of a conveyance than of a purchase by the infant.[11] Where an infant conveyed land which a third person claimed as a remote grantee of the infant's grantor, and the infant, on attaining majority, conveys it to the third person, the conveyance does not ratify the former deed but vests in the third person the infant's title.[12]

A mortgage may be ratified by any acts, after attaining majority, tending to recognize it and inconsistent with the idea of any intention to avoid it,[13] such as, for instance, by conveying the property subject to the mortgage,[14] by executing a subsequent mortgage recognizing the validity of the prior mortgage,[15] by executing a will directing that all his just debts be paid,[16] by paying the interest,[17] by agreeing to pay the interest,[18] by procuring from the mortgagee releases of portions of the mortgaged

94. Ohio.—Robinson v. Bergholz, 4 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 103, 1 Clev.L. Rep. 29.

95. Okl.—Colby v. Hayes, 97 P.2d 65, 66, 186 Okl. 283, citing Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1028 note 47.

96. Ind.—Wetherill v. Harris, 67 Ind. 452.

97. Ky.—Damron v. Ratliff, 97 S.W. 401, 123 Ky. 758, 30 Ky.L. 67.

Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.

98. Ala.—American Mortg. Co. v. Wright, 14 So. 399, 101 Ala. 658.

31 C.J. p 1028 note 50.

99. Ky.—Goodrum's Guardian v. Kelsey, 50 S.W.2d 932, 244 Ky. 349—Hall v. Ditto, 12 S.W. 941, 11 Ky.L. 667.

1. Ill.—Schlig v. Spear, 177 N.E. 730, 345 Ill. 219.

N.J.—Mott v. Iossa, 181 A. 689, 119 N.J.Eq. 185.

Collecting rent for grantee

Ill.—Schlig v. Spear, 177 N.E. 730, 345 Ill. 219.

2. N.C.—Cox v. McGowan, 21 S.E. 108, 116 N.C. 131.

31 C.J. p 1028 note 52.

3. Mo.—Lacy v. Pixler, 25 S.W. 206, 120 Mo. 383.

31 C.J. p 1028 note 53.

4. Ky.—Peters v. Noble, 244 S.W. 416, 196 Ky. 123.

Contra Damon v. Ratliff, 97 S.W. 401, 123 Ky. 758, 30 Ky.L. 67.

5. Ky.—Frazier v. Rockhouse Realty Co., 295 S.W. 1042, 220 Ky. 761—Peters v. Noble, 244 S.W. 416, 196 Ky. 123.

31 C.J. p 1028 note 54.

6. La.—Harty v. Harty, 2 La. 518.

7. Ky.—Ingram v. Ison, 80 S.W. 787, 26 Ky.L. 48.

8. Ky.—Damron v. Ratliff, 97 S.W. 401, 123 Ky. 758, 30 Ky.L. 67.

31 C.J. p 1028 note 57.

9. N.C.—Houser v. Reynolds, 2 N. C. 114, 1 Am.D. 551.

10. Mo.—Craig v. Van Bebber, 13 S.W. 906, 100 Mo. 584, 18 Am.S.R. 569—Clamorgan v. Lane, 9 Mo. 446.

Performance of condition

Statements by grantor after reaching majority that if promised consideration for deed executed during minority was paid, he would let deed stand did not amount to "ratification," in absence of proof that consideration was paid.—Ware v. Molley, 9 S.E.2d 67, 190 Ga. 249.

11. Ky.—Syck v. Hellier, 131 S.W. 30, 140 Ky. 388.

Mich.—Carrell v. Potter, 23 Mich. 377.

12. Tex.—Allen v. Anderson, Civ. App., 96 S.W. 54.

13. N.Y.—Coney v. Harris, 118 N.Y. S. 244, 133 App.Div. 686, affirmed 93 N.E. 1118, 200 N.Y. 534.

Acts held not to constitute ratification

Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.

S.C.—Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation v. Chandler, 167 S.E. 663, 168 S.C. 425.

14. Mass.—Boston Bank v. Chamberlin, 15 Mass. 220.

31 C.J. p 1028 note 63.

15. N.C.—Ward v. Anderson, 15 S. E. 933, 111 N.C. 115.

16. N.Y.—Merchants' Fire Ins. Co. v. Grant, 2 Edw. 544.

17. Ala.—American Mortg. Co. v. Wright, 14 So. 399, 101 Ala. 658.

18. Mich.—Ruehle v. Lange, 194 N. W. 492, 223 Mich. 690.

premises,[19] by failing to defend an action for its foreclosure,[20] or by, when the consideration is executory, receiving a part thereof after attaining majority.[21]

The rule that the infant's failure to disaffirm the transaction within a reasonable time after reaching his majority constitutes a ratification of the transaction, discussed supra § 40, applies to an infant's conveyances and mortgages.[22]

Time for ratification. In accordance with the rule that the power to ratify does not exist during infancy, as discussed supra § 41, a deed is not ratified by the execution of another deed during infancy.[23]

Effect of ratification. While the ratification renders the transaction valid ab initio, discussed supra § 39, it is the ratification which rescues the conveyance from its liability to be avoided.[24] After a conveyance or mortgage has been ratified it cannot subsequently be disaffirmed.[25]

A subsequent purchaser for valuable consideration of land conveyed by an infant during his minority will hold the land as against a ratification by the grantor of which the subsequent purchaser had neither actual nor constructive notice;[26] but an infant's deed ratified after reaching his majority is superior to the title of a person claiming under a deed executed after such ratification, of which the subsequent grantee had notice.[27] If a mortgage is ratified and executed after obtaining majority, it is superior to a deed made during infancy but not ratified until after the ratification and execution of such mortgage; such deed is subject to the mortgage previously ratified.[28]

(3) Avoidance

(a) In general

(b) What constitutes avoidance

(a) In General

In general, rules governing the avoidance of the transactions of an infant relating to his property generally, apply to the avoidance of infants' conveyances and mortgages.

Rules governing the avoidance by infants of transactions relating to property generally, considered supra §§ 42–46, have been applied to the avoidance of infants' conveyances and mortgages.[29] It is not necessary to entitle one who has conveyed land while an infant to disaffirm that he should be in a position to recover possession of the land.[30] An infant may rid himself of the obligation of a mortgage on realty by disaffirming it, even if he still retains title to the property.[31] The duty of the infant to disaffirm if he elects to do so is a positive duty enjoined by the law.[32]

As considered supra § 43, the right of avoidance is superior to, and may be exercised against, or regardless of, a bona fide purchaser or mortgagee.

Time for avoidance. In accordance with the rules governing the right to avoid transactions as to property of infants generally, considered supra § 44, the right of an infant to disaffirm a conveyance or mortgage may and must be exercised within a reasonable time after reaching majority;[33] and the failure to do so within a reasonable time may constitute a ratification, as considered supra sub-

19. N.Y.—Wilson v. Darragh, 7 N.Y.S. 810.

20. Mich.—Terry v. McClintock, 2 N.W. 787, 41 Mich. 492.
31 C.J. p 1028 note 68.

21. Mass.—Keegan v. Cox, 116 Mass. 289.

22. Ga.—Merritt v. Jowers, 193 S.E. 238, 184 Ga. 762—Holbrook v. Bank of Cumming, 147 S.E. 526, 168 Ga. 245.
Iowa.—Stout v. Ruschke, 202 N.W. 88, 199 Iowa 402.
N.C.—Hogan v. Utter, 95 S.E. 565, 175 N.C. 332.
Okl.—McElroy v. Calhoun, 57 P.2d 827, 177 Okl. 38.
S.C.—Jones v. Godwin, 198 S.E. 36, 187 S.C. 510.
What constitutes reasonable time for avoidance see infra subdivision a (3) of this section.

23. Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795.

24. Ill.—Black v. Hills, 36 Ill. 376, 87 Am.D. 224.

25. Ga.—Taylor v. Brown, 141 S.E. 898, 165 Ga. 698.
Ky.—Frazier v. Rockhouse Realty Co., 295 S.W. 1042, 220 Ky. 761.
Mich.—Ruehle v. Lange, 194 N.W. 492, 223 Mich. 690.
N.J.—Mott v. Iossa, 181 A. 689, 119 N.J.Eq. 185.

26. Ill.—Black v. Hills, 36 Ill. 376, 87 Am.D. 224.
31 C.J. p 1028 note 74.

27. S.C.—Tolar v. Marion County Lumber Co., 75 S.E. 545, 93 S.C. 274, Ann.Cas.1914D 844.

28. S.C.—Tolar v. Marion County Lumber Co., supra.

29. Ga.—Merritt v. Jowers, 193 S.E. 238, 184 Ga. 762.

30. Ind.—Long v. Williams, 74 Ind. 115.

31. N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224.

32. Ky.—Brown v. Elk Horn Coal Corporation, 8 S.W.2d 404, 225 Ky. 288.

33. U.S.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Allen, C.C.A., 108 F.2d 961, certiorari denied Allen v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 60 S.Ct. 718, 309 U.S. 680, 84 L.Ed. 1023.
Ga.—Holbrook v. Montgomery, 141 S.E. 408, 165 Ga. 514.
Hawaii.—Jellings v. Pioneer Mill Co., 30 Hawaii 184.
Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W.2d 716, 253 Ky. 378—Martin v. Elkhorn Coal Corporation, 13 S.W.2d 780, 227 Ky. 623.
S.C.—Jones v. Godwin, 198 S.E. 36, 187 S.C. 510.
Tex.—McGill v. Reed, Civ.App., 64 S.W.2d 358.
Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.
W.Va.—Muncey v. Norfolk & W. Ry. Co., 145 S.E. 581, 106 W.Va. 348.

division a (2) of this section. What is a reasonable time is a question of fact,[34] and depends on the circumstances of the case,[35] provided, in some jurisdictions, that it does not exceed a specified time,[36] or that it is not within a specified period during which disaffirmance is regarded as a matter of right.[37]

An infant remainderman who has joined with the life tenant in a conveyance of the premises may disaffirm his deed and proceed to have the same annulled as to him as soon as he reaches his majority, notwithstanding the life tenant is still living and the late infant consequently has no right to claim actual possession of any portion of the premises.[38] It has been held that he is under no obligation to bring suit before the life tenant's death and his failure to do so puts him in no legal default;[39] but it has also been held that he will not be excused from disaffirming within a reasonable time because the right to bring suit has not accrued,[40] as a suit is not necessary to disaffirm, as hereinafter appears.

Necessity of return of consideration. In accordance with the rules as to the necessity of returning property or consideration received by the infant in connection with his avoidance of a transaction relating to property, stated supra § 46, in some jurisdictions the infant is required, as a condition precedent to avoidance of a conveyance or mortgage, to restore the consideration received therefor if he still has it;[41] but he is not required to make restitution as a condition precedent to a disaffirmance if he has expended or otherwise disposed of the consideration received,[42] although it has also been broadly stated, without qualification, that disaffirmance will not be permitted with respect to a purchaser from the infant in good faith without notice of his infancy without restoration of the value of the consideration received.[43] It has been held that where no sufficient reason is given why the consideration should not be restored, the grantee under the disaffirmed conveyance may be granted a lien on the property to the extent of such consideration.[44] A tender of the consideration has been held to be a sufficient compliance with the requirement that the consideration be restored;[45] but even a tender of the consideration is not a condition precedent where such tender would be futile.[46]

34. U.S.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Allen, C.C.A., 108 F.2d 961, certiorari denied Allen v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 60 S.Ct. 718, 309 U.S. 680, 84 L.Ed. 1023.

35. U.S.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Allen, supra.

Lack of legal knowledge that infant must disaffirm deed within reasonable time after majority would not alone excuse delay in disaffirming.—Holbrook v. Bank of Cumming, 147 S.E. 526, 168 Ga. 245.

Time held unreasonable

(1) Seventeen years.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.

(2) Eleven years.—Jones v. Godwin, 198 S.E. 86, 187 S.C. 510.

(3) Four years and eight months.—Muncey v. Norfolk & W. Ry. Co., 145 S.E. 581, 106 W.Va. 348.

(4) One year with knowledge grantee had been erecting valuable improvements.—Jellings v. Pioneer Mill Co., 30 Hawaii 184.

Time held not unreasonable

(1) Two years.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S.2d 988, 165 Misc. 853.

(2) Delay from January 27, 1926, when plaintiff reached majority, until October 30, 1926, when she sued to cancel deed was held not unreasonable, particularly where there were negotiations between the parties during that time.—Muncey v. Norfolk & W. Ry. Co., 145 S.E. 581, 106 W.Va. 348.

36. U.S.—Collins v. Dye, C.C.A.Ariz., 94 F.2d 799, certiorari denied Collins, by Hughes v. Dye, 59 S.Ct. 62, 305 U.S. 601, 83 L.Ed. 381.

Ga.—Merritt v. Jowers, 193 S.E. 238, 184 Ga. 762—Holbrook v. Bank of Cumming, 147 S.E. 526, 168 Ga. 245—Holbrook v. Montgomery, 141 S.E. 408, 165 Ga. 514.

Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W.2d 716, 253 Ky. 378—Martin v. Elkhorn Coal Corporation, 13 S.W.2d 780, 227 Ky. 623.

Under statute to that effect, all deeds, mortgages, and other instruments affecting title to land, executed by a minor, are binding on him unless he disaffirms in accordance with the statute within a specified period after the removal of the disability of minority.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S.W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.

37. Twenty years

N.J.—Mott v. Iossa, 181 A. 689, 119 N.J.Eq. 185.

38. Miss.—Shipp v. McKee, 31 So. 197, 80 Miss. 741, 92 Am.S.R. 616, suggestions of error overruled 32 So. 281, 80 Miss. 741, 92 Am.S.R. 616, following Fox v. Coon, 1 So. 629, 64 Miss. 465.

31 C.J. p 1029 note 81.

39. Miss.—Shipp v. McKee, 31 So. 197, 80 Miss. 741, 92 Am.S.R. 616, suggestions of error overruled 32 So. 281, 80 Miss. 741, 92 Am.S.R. 616.

S.C.—Steele v. Poe, 60 S.E. 951, 79 S.C. 407.

40. Ga.—Nathans v. Arkwright, 66 Ga. 179.

41. Ga.—Merritt v. Jowers, 193 S.E. 238, 184 Ga. 762.

Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278.

42. Ga.—Merritt v. Jowers, 193 S.E. 238, 184 Ga. 762.

Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278.

Ky.—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W.2d 716, 253 Ky. 378.

43. Tex.—Westbrook v. Adams, Civ. App., 17 S.W.2d 116, affirmed Adams v. Bankers Life Co., Com. App., 36 S.W.2d 182.

44. Deceased grantor

Where deed of deceased grantor was canceled, land in possession of grantee's successors was restored to grantor's daughter on ground that grantor was minor when deed was executed, and no reason was presented why consideration received by grantor should not be restored, the successors were given lien on land to extent of consideration paid to grantor.—Hart v. Davidson, 120 S.W.2d 214, 274 Ky. 663.

45. Ky.—Mitchell v. Swartz, 270 S.W. 22, 207 Ky. 780.

46. After refusal of previous offer

Grantees, refusing offer to repay loan secured by deed of minor, and seeking to enforce deed as absolute conveyance, cannot demand tender of amount paid as condition pre-

In the case of a purchase-money mortgage given by the infant, the consideration which he must return is the land which he received; but where the infant had paid part of the purchase price and the mortgage was given only for the balance, he is not required to reconvey the property until the consideration he had paid is restored to him; and the rights of the infant could not be adjusted where the grantors of the lots were not made parties to the action.[47] Moreover, where an infant mortgagor has himself invested in the mortgaged property, he need not, on disaffirming the mortgage, redeliver possession of the property to the mortgagee, unless the mortgagee pays the amount that has been invested; but a court of equity may decree the sale of the property so that all parties may be protected by equitably sharing in the proceeds.[48]

Effect of avoidance; rights and liabilities of purchaser. Since the effect of the disaffirmance of a transaction entered into by an infant is to render the same void ab initio by relation,[49] in case of a conveyance, possession of the property may be recovered by the late infant.[50] The disaffirmed conveyance cannot subsequently be reinstated by ratification or express agreement.[51]

The late infant is entitled to charge the purchaser under the deed which has been avoided with rents and profits for the whole time during which he was in possession of the property claiming under such deed,[52] but some decisions have restricted the right of recovery for rents as from the date of the disaffirmance of the conveyance.[53] It has been held that the purchaser is not liable for rents on his improvements.[54] A purchaser who has paid off a judgment lien on the land as a part of the purchase price is entitled to credit therefor in his accounting for the rents of the land.[55]

The purchaser may also be charged with the value of timber cut by him while in possession.[56] The late infant need not offer to do equity by offering to let his part of the damages for the grantee's waste be deducted from the consideration paid him, where the consideration has been disposed of during minority.[57]

On the other hand the purchaser from an infant whose deed has been avoided is ordinarily entitled to be allowed for improvements placed by him on the property,[58] and for taxes paid,[59] and for the payment of claims against the property discharged by him for which it would have been liable after the infant reached his majority,[60] by setting off the same against the rents and profits.[61] To secure the repayment he may be entitled to a lien on the realty.[62] However, it has been held that the late infant cannot be required to compensate him for improvements exceeding the rental value.[63] The right of the purchaser to be allowed for improvements may be barred where he knew of the vendor's infancy.[64]

(b) What Constitutes Avoidance

An infant's conveyance or mortgage may be disaffirmed by any act which shows that he does not intend to be bound and which is inconsistent with the original alienation, such as by bringing a suit to set aside the alienation, or defending a suit to enforce it, by reëntering or reclaiming the property, or by a subsequent conveyance or mortgage of the same property.

In accordance with the general rules as to what constitutes avoidance of a transaction affecting the property of an infant, considered supra § 45, an infant's conveyance or mortgage may be disaffirmed by any act on his part which shows that he does not intend to be bound, and which is inconsistent with the continued validity of the conveyance or mortgage.[65] Under statute to that effect, all deeds, cedent to setting aside deed.—Murphy v. Smith, Tex.Civ.App., 277 S.W. 228.

47. N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224.

48. Ala.—Brasher v. Grayson, 117 So. 301, 217 Ala. 674.

49. Miss.—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.
Mo.—Windisch v. Farrow, App., 159 S.W.2d 392.

50. Va.—Mustard v. Wohlford, 15 Gratt. 329, 56 Va. 329, 76 Am.D. 209.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 18.

51. Tex.—Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 126 Tex. 480, affirming Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617.

52. Tex.—Merida v. Cummings, Civ. App., 115 S.W. 613.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 19.

53. Ky.—Peters v. Noble, 244 S.W. 416, 196 Ky. 123.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 20.

54. Ky.—Peters v. Noble, 244 S.W. 416, 196 Ky. 123—Wornack v. Loar, 11 S.W. 438, 11 Ky.L. 6.

55. Miss.—French v. McAndrew, 61 Miss. 187.

56. Ky.—Peters v. Noble, 244 S.W. 416, 196 Ky. 123.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 30.

57. Ala.—Bell v. Burkhalter, 57 So. 460, 176 Ala. 62.

58. Ky.—Baisden v. Gibson, 270 S.W. 830, 208 Ky. 341.
Md.—Quynn v. Staines, 3 Harr. & M. 128.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 23.

59. Ky.—Baisden v. Gibson, 270 S.W. 830, 208 Ky. 341.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 24.

60. Ark.—Beauchamp v. Bertig, 119 S.W. 75, 90 Ark. 351, 23 L.R.A.,N.S., 659.

61. Ill.—Coe v. Moon, 102 N.E. 1074, 260 Ill. 76.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 26.

62. Ky.—Baisden v. Gibson, 270 S.W. 830, 208 Ky. 341.
Tenn.—Bowers v. Henning, 4 Tenn. Civ.A. 698.

63. Ky.—Sewell v. Sewell, 18 S.W. 162, 92 Ky. 500, 36 Am.S.R. 606.

64. Mont.—Clark v. Tate, 14 P. 761, 7 Mont. 171.

65. Ala.—Slaughter v. Cunningham, 24 Ala. 260, 60 Am.D. 463.
Ind.—Long v. Williams, 74 Ind. 115.
Tender back of purchase price
Miss.—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.

mortgages, and other instruments affecting title to land, executed by a minor, are binding on him unless he files a duly executed disaffirmance in accordance with the statute.[66]

Bringing or defending suit. The institution of a suit to set aside a conveyance is an avoidance of it,[67] although it is not essential to an avoidance.[68] Setting up the defense of infancy in a suit by the other party to enforce his rights under the deed, etc., is also a sufficient avoidance.[69] The weight of authority supports the rule that, where one, after reaching majority, brings suit to recover possession of land which he has conveyed during infancy, this is a sufficient disaffirmance,[70] but there is also authority for the view that some previous act of disaffirmance is necessary to authorize the bringing of a suit for possession of the land.[71]

Reëntry or reclaiming property. An entry by the late infant on real estate conveyed by him or his reclaiming the property sold shows his disaffirmance; but such acts of ownership must be distinct and unequivocal.[72]

Subsequent conveyance or mortgage. In order that a subsequent conveyance or mortgage shall operate as a disaffirmance of the former act it must be inconsistent therewith, and if both can properly stand together there is no disaffirmance.[73] Subject to this limitation, and that of the necessity for entry which is required in some jurisdictions under some circumstances, as hereinafter discussed, it is generally held that a subsequent conveyance executed operates as a disaffirmance of a conveyance executed during infancy,[74] even though the subsequent deed is a mere quitclaim, while the one executed during infancy is a warranty deed.[75] The purchaser from the late infant acquires a good title,[76] even though he has knowledge of the prior conveyance,[77] and is entitled to a decree quieting his title, without restoring the consideration for the voidable conveyance.[78] The avoidance of an infant's conveyance may also be effected by the execution of a mortgage on the same land on his arrival at majority.[79]

The execution after reaching majority of an absolute conveyance or warranty deed containing no reference to a mortgage executed during infancy is a disaffirmance of the mortgage;[80] but it has also been held that the disaffirmance of a mortgage will not be inferred from a mere conveyance of the same premises without referring to the mortgage, that, in such case, the grantee takes subject to the mortgage.[81] Whether a mere quitclaim deed will have the effect of avoiding the mortgage is a question on which there is a conflict of authority, it being held, in some jurisdictions, that such a deed will not have such effect,[82] and in others that it will have such effect.[83] It has been held that an infant's sale of personalty on which he previously gave a chattel mortgage disaffirms the chattel mortgage.[84]

In order that an infant's conveyance or mortgage

66. Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S.W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.

67. Ky.—Brown v. Elk Horn Coal Corporation, 8 S.W.2d 404, 225 Ky. 288.
Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.
31 C.J. p 1029 note 87.

68. Ky.—Brown v. Elk Horn Coal Corporation, 8 S.W.2d 404, 225 Ky. 288.
Mo.—Parrish v. Treadway, 183 S.W. 580, 267 Mo. 91.

69. N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224.
31 C.J. p 1029 note 89.

70. Mo.—Craig v. Van Bebber, 13 S.W. 906, 100 Mo. 584, 18 Am.S.R. 569.
31 C.J. p 1029 note 90.

71. N.Y.—Tomczek v. Wieser, 108 N.Y.S. 784, 58 Misc. 46, 47.
31 C.J. p 1029 note 91.

72. Tex.—Harris v. Musgrove, 59 Tex. 401.
31 C.J. p 1029 note 92.

73. Neb.—Buchanan v. Griggs, 24 N.W. 452, 18 Neb. 121.
31 C.J. p 1029 note 94.

Execution of mortgage for grantee The fact that minor grantor under unrecorded deed executed mortgage at request and for accommodation of grantee did not constitute disaffirmance of deed this being entirely consistent with continued ownership in the grantee.—Collins v. Dye, C.C.A.Ariz., 94 F.2d 799, certiorari denied Collins, by Hughes, v. Dye, 59 S.Ct. 62, 305 U.S. 601, 83 L.Ed. 381.

74. Tex.—O'Brien v. Smith, Civ.App., 118 S.W.2d 474, 478, citing Corpus Juris—Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617, 620, citing Corpus Juris, and affirmed Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 126 Tex. 480.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 99.
Subsequent conveyance as champertous see Champerty § 33 d.

75. Ark.—Beauchamp v. Bertig, 119 S.W. 75, 90 Ark. 351, 23 L.R.A.,N.S., 659—Bagley v. Fletcher, 44 Ark. 153.

76. Okl.—Drumhiller v. Norick Motor Co., 289 P. 698, 144 Okl. 174, 69 A.L.R. 1368.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 2.

77. Okl.—Drumhiller v. Norick Motor Co., supra.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 3.

78. U.S.—Nettleton v. Morrison, C.C. Minn., 18 F.Cas.No.10,127, 5 Dill. 503.

79. Ark.—Watkins v. Wassell, 15 Ark. 73.
Ky.—Phillips v. Hoskins, 108 S.W. 283, 128 Ky. 371, 33 Ky.L. 378.

80. Ala.—Scott v. Brown, 17 So. 731, 106 Ala. 604.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 6.

81. N.Y.—Palmer v. Miller, 25 Barb. 399.

82. Mich.—Shreeves v. Caldwell, 97 N.W. 764, 135 Mich. 323, 106 Am.S.R. 396.
Mo.—Singer Mfg. Co. v. Lamb, 81 Mo. 221.

83. Ohio.—Hetterick v. Porter, 20 Ohio Cir.Ct. 110, 11 Ohio Cir.Dec. 145.

84. Okl.—Drumhiller v. Norick Motor Co., 289 P. 698, 144 Okl. 174, 69 A.L.R. 1368.

may be considered disaffirmed by a subsequent alienation by the infant, the subsequent alienation must be made by the infant,[85] after attaining majority,[86] and must be of the same property.[87] However, it has been held that a conveyance by the heirs of the infant grantor may operate as a disaffirmance of a conveyance executed by the infant, during his infancy, of the same land.[88]

It has been held that an infant's conveyance of land may be disaffirmed on his attaining majority without entry by conveying the land to another person.[89] However, it has also been held that while this rule applies to cases where the land continues in the possession of the infant[90] or is vacated and uncultivated,[91] a second deed executed by the infant after arriving at full age, while the land is held adversely to him under the first, and without an entry by him for the purpose of avoiding the first conveyance, will not amount to a revocation thereof.[92]

b. Conveyances and Mortgages of Infant Wife or Husband

In general, conveyances and mortgages by an infant wife or husband are voidable; and where both spouses joined in the transaction it is voidable at the election of the infant spouse only. Authorities differ as to whether the time within which an infant married woman may avoid such transaction begins at her majority or when the disabilities of both infancy and coverture are removed.

While in some jurisdictions, by force of statute, a deed or mortgage by an infant married woman executed jointly with her husband is binding,[93] ordinarily such transaction, in the absence of statute providing otherwise, stands on the same footing as that of an infant feme sole,[94] except as it may be affected by the disability of coverture, considered in Husband and Wife §§ 194–203.

In general, she cannot irrevocably bind herself by her conveyance or mortgage.[95] Thus, while there are some early decisions to the effect that the conveyance or mortgage of an infant feme covert is absolutely void,[96] it is generally held that such transaction is merely voidable,[97] but not absolutely void.[98] Where the statute removing the disability of coverture limits the removal of such disability to a feme covert under a certain age, it is held that a conveyance by a feme covert under such age is void.[99]

Conveyances by both spouses jointly. Where an adult husband joins his infant wife in a conveyance of her realty, it is generally held that the conveyance passes the husband's interest or estate;[1] but it has also been held that, where the conveyance of a married woman is disaffirmed by reason of her infancy, it is avoided as to the husband who joined her in making it.[2]

Ordinarily a conveyance by an infant husband, jointly with a wife of full age, is voidable at his election,[3] and, if the wife's disabilities of coverture have been removed, is binding on her.[4] However, where the statute requires the husband to join in the conveyance of the wife, it has been held that, if the husband is an infant at the time thereof, his disaffirmance after attaining majority has the effect of avoiding the deed,[5] and she is not bound

85. Mich.—Shreeves v. Caldwell, 97 N.W. 764, 135 Mich. 323, 106 Am.S.R. 396.
31 C.J. p 1029 note 96.

86. Mo.—Singer Mfg. Co. v. Lamb, 81 Mo. 221.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 97.

87. Ind.—Blair v. Whitaker, 69 N.E. 182, 31 Ind.App. 664.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 98.

Conveyance of portion of interest
Conveyance by escrow agreement of portion of interest in realty after removal of grantor's disabilities of minority was held disaffirmance of prior deed to entire interest made during infancy and binding on grantor.—Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 126 Tex. 480, affirming Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617.

88. Tex.—Searcy v. Hunter, 17 S.W. 372, 81 Tex. 644, 26 Am.S.R. 837.

89. Ark.—Beauchamp v. Bertig, 119 S.W. 75, 90 Ark. 351, 23 L.R.A.,N.S., 659.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 13.

90. N.H.—Roberts v. Wiggin, 1 N.H. 73, 8 Am.D. 38.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 14.

91. Ga.—Harris v. Cannon, 6 Ga. 382.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 15.

92. Mass.—Worcester v. Eaton, 13 Mass. 371, 7 Am.D. 155.
31 C.J. p 1030 note 16.

93. Fla.—Commercial Building Co. v. Parslow, 112 So. 378, 93 Fla. 143.
Minn.—Daley v. Minnesota Loan & Investment Co., 45 N.W. 1100, 43 Minn. 517.
Release of dower by infant wife see Dower § 65 a.

94. Ala.—Sims v. Gunter, 78 So. 62, 201 Ala. 286.
Mo.—Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S.W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.

95. Mo.—Holcomb v. Pressley, supra.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 36.

96. N.J.—Porch v. Fries, 18 N.J.Eq. 204.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 37.

97. Ky.—Hackney v. Smith, 273 S.W. 476, 209 Ky. 806.
Mo.—Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S.W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 38.

98. Ky.—Hackney v. Smith, 273 S.W. 476, 209 Ky. 806.
Mo.—Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S.W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.
31 C.J. p 1031 note 40.

99. Ill.—Harrer v. Wallner, 80 Ill. 197—Hoyt v. Swar, 53 Ill. 134.

1. Ky.—Sewell v. Sewell, 18 S.W. 162, 92 Ky. 500, 36 Am.S.R. 606.
31 C.J. p 1032 note 48.

2. Mo.—Craig v. Van Bebber, 18 S.W. 906, 100 Mo. 584, 18 Am.S.R. 569.
31 C.J. p 1032 note 49.

3. N.C.—Jackson v. Beard, 78 S.E. 6, 162 N.C. 105.
31 C.J. p 1032 note 43.

4. Pa.—Brunner v. Ringe, 57 Pa. Super. 237.

5. N.C.—Jackson v. Beard, 78 S.E. 6, 162 N.C. 105.

thereby.[6]

Ratification. Following the general rules as to ratification with respect to conveyances and mortgages by infants, considered supra subdivision a (2) of this section, if the deed, mortgage, etc., is considered absolutely void, it is incapable of ratification.[7] In some jurisdictions it has been held that the acknowledgment of a deed by an infant married woman is invalid and not binding on her unless ratified by her after she becomes of legal age.[8] Ratification may be effected by a deed executed after reaching majority or by other acts.[9] Where a deed or mortgage executed after attaining majority is relied on to effect the ratification of a prior instrument executed by a feme covert during her minority, in order that such subsequent instrument may have that effect it must have been executed in the manner required of instruments executed by married women.[10]

Time for avoidance. In accordance with the rule as to the infant's avoidance of transactions with respect to property generally, discussed supra § 44, the time to avoid the deed, mortgage, etc., executed by an infant feme covert is after her arrival at majority.[11] While she may avoid the transaction on arrival of age and before discoverture,[12] it is generally held that she is not, in the absence of statute, required to disaffirm or estopped by failure to do so until the disabilities of both infancy and coverture are removed.[13] However, in some jurisdictions it has been held that she may be barred from the right of disaffirming her conveyance made during infancy, although she remains under coverture if she does not act within a reasonable time;[14] but here coverture is a circumstance to be considered in determining, as a question of fact, whether or not the disaffirmance has been attempted within a reasonable time.[15] Under a statute by which married women may be barred by estoppels in pais, discussed in Husband and Wife § 216, the time for disaffirmance runs from majority notwithstanding coverture.[16] If she becomes discovert after reaching her majority, so that the period to disaffirm has begun to run, it continues to run, although she marries again.[17] Where an infant feme sole has conveyed her property, her marriage shortly after attaining majority does not extend the time for avoidance of the deed.[18]

The manner of avoiding a conveyance executed by an infant feme covert is similar to that of other infants except as it may be affected by the disability of coverture,[19] and may be by a subsequent deed after reaching majority,[20] or by other acts.[21]

Return of consideration upon avoidance. In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, an infant feme covert who has joined with her adult husband in a conveyance of her lands cannot disaffirm the same without restoring the consideration.[22]

c. Partition

Subject to statutory exception, a partition agreement is generally not binding on an infant and may be avoid-

6. Ky.—Phillips v. Hoskins, 108 S. W. 283, 128 Ky. 371, 33 Ky.L. 378.
7. Md.—Cronise v. Clark, 4 Md.Ch. 403.
Mich.—Chandler v. McKinney, 6 Mich. 217, 74 Am.D. 686.
8. Miss.—Cason v. Hubbard, 38 Miss. 35—Markham v. Merrett, 8 Miss. 437, 40 Am.D. 76.
9. Mo.—Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S. W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.
10. N.C.—Gaskins v. Allen, 49 S. E. 919, 137 N.C. 426.
Tenn.—Walton v. Gaines, 29 S.W. 458, 94 Tenn. 420.
11. Ind.—Scranton v. Stewart, 52 Ind. 68.
31 C.J. p 1032 note 56.
12. Ky.—Brown v. Elk Horn Coal Corporation, 8 S.W.2d 404, 225 Ky. 288.
31 C.J. p 1032 note 57.
13. W.Va.—Blake v. Hollandsworth, 76 S.E. 814, 71 W.Va. 387, 43 L.R. A.,N.S., 714.
31 C.J. p 1032 note 58.
14. Ky.—Brown v. Elk Horn Coal Corporation, 8 S.W.2d 404, 225 Ky. 288.
Mo.—Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S.W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.
Contra Linville v. Greer, 65 S.W. 579, 165 Mo. 380.
Tex.—Searcy v. Hunter, 17 S.W. 372, 81 Tex. 644, 26 Am.S.R. 837.

Wife held estopped

(1) Since, under statute to that effect, wife of grantor could have disaffirmed deed executed during minority and prosecuted action in her own name to set it aside and claim dower, failure to do so, although she lived in immediate vicinity of land and saw it changing hands and being permanently improved by innocent purchasers, estopped her to disavow deed many years later.—Hackney v. Smith, 273 S.W. 476, 209 Ky. 806—Moore v. Hudson, 240 S.W. 383, 194 Ky. 725.

(2) A woman married during minority could not thirty-nine years after reaching majority disaffirm a deed executed during minority by executing a deed of disaffirmance or suit, or otherwise, notwithstanding provisions that period of limitations of actions shall begin to run only after disability of coverture is removed, such statutes relating solely to actions, and not preventing disaffirmance otherwise than by action. —Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S.W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.

15. Tex.—Searcy v. Hunter, 17 S.W. 372, 81 Tex. 644, 26 Am.S.R. 837.
16. Ind.—Applegate v. Conner, 93 Ind. 185.
31 C.J. p 1032 note 62.
17. Mo.—Parrish v. Treadway, 183 S.W. 580, 267 Mo. 91.
18. Ill.—Keil v. Healey, 84 Ill. 104, 25 Am.R. 434.
19. Mo.—Norcum v. Sheahan, 21 Mo. 25, 64 Am.D. 214.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 65.
20. Mo.—Holcomb v. Pressley, 255 S.W. 1062, 301 Mo. 208.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 65 [a].
21. Bringing suit
One method of disaffirming a deed executed during minority is the bringing of a suit.—Holcomb v. Pressley, supra.
22. Ind.—Blair v. Whitaker, 69 N. E. 182, 31 Ind.App. 664.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 66.

ed by him except where there has been a ratification or an estoppel.

Some of the early commentators and decisions have stated that a voluntary partition in which an infant joins will be binding on him if it is fair and equal, on the theory that the infant may do voluntarily what he may be compelled by law to do.[23] However, it has more usually been held, in accordance with the general rule applying to infants' contracts, discussed infra § 71, that a partition deed is not binding on the infant,[24] and that a partition to which an infant was a party may be avoided where nothing has occurred which in equity works an estoppel, particularly where it is unfair to the infant,[25] and it has been held without discussion that a parol partition cannot be sustained where an infant joins in the partition.[26] In any event it has been held that an infant may be bound by the partition on the ground of estoppel or ratification.[27]

Under special statutory provisions. A valid partition of land wholly or partly owned by infants as cotenants may be effected under statutes authorizing and regulating such partitions.[28]

§ 52. —— Deeds of Trust

Subject to statutory exceptions, the rules governing the acquisition and alienation of property by infants generally apply to deeds of trust executed by infants.

In accordance with the rules governing the acquisition and alienation of property by infants generally discussed supra §§ 36–46, while in some jurisdictions a deed of trust executed by an infant is, by force of statute, void,[29] and such a deed may also be void when it was procured fraudulently,[30] ordinarily a deed of trust executed by an infant is merely voidable,[31] and not absolutely void.[32] So also, if the deed of trust is considered void, it is not subject to ratification;[33] but, if it is considered merely voidable, it is subject to ratification or avoidance,[34] and it is valid until avoided.[35]

A deed of trust by an infant is affirmed where, after his majority, he recognizes the fact that he holds the property in trust;[36] but it is not ratified by a subsequent written instrument executed simultaneously with a specific revocation of the earlier instrument.[37]

Under statute to that effect, a deed of trust executed by an infant is binding on him unless he files a duly executed disaffirmance in accordance with the statute and within a specified period after the disability of minority is removed; and the foreclosure of the trust deed and the transfer of title to the property to the grantee is of no effect where the trust deed is subsequently disaffirmed within the specified period.[38]

§ 53. —— Gifts

An infant cannot bind himself by a gift of his property.

23. Pa.—St. Bartholomew Church v. Wood, 80 Pa. 219.
47 C.J. p 269 note 60.
Judicial partition and actions therefor see the C.J.S. title Partition §§ 20–60, also 47 C.J. p 287 note 75–p 354 note 51.
Partition by act of parties generally see the C.J.S. title Partition §§ 2–19, also 47 C.J. p 267 note 6–p 287 note 74.

24. Ky.—Vanover v. Cline, 39 S.W. 2d 477, 239 Ky. 335.

25. Miss.—Thompson v. Strickland, 52 Miss. 574.
Dictum Cochran v. Cochran, 115 N.E. 142, 277 Ill. 244.

26. N.C.—Camp Mfg. v. Liverman, 31 S.E. 346, 123 N.C. 7.

27. Md.—Amey v. Cockey, 20 A. 1071, 73 Md. 297.
Tex.—Barrett v. Crump, Civ.App., 15 S.W.2d 672.
47 C.J. p 269 note 62, p 277 note 7 [c].
Acceptance of payment for interest
Defendant, by accepting payment for his interest in decedent's lands after majority, and with full knowledge, ratified previous partition sale. —Williams v. Williams, 146 S.E. 707, 196 N.C. 674.
Acquiescence for long period
In accepting a fair share under voluntary partition of estate, and acquiescing therein for forty years, plaintiffs were held to have ratified it, although minors not legally represented at partition.—De Rodriguez v. Hinnant, Tex.Com.App., 267 S.W. 471, affirming Hinnant v. Rodriguez, Civ.App., 255 S.W. 1500.
Partial ratification
A partition cannot be ratified in part and disaffirmed in part; and where the acts of the infants were regarded as constituting a ratification of the partition they could not attack the title derived by a particular person as a result of the partition.—Llenza v. Balseiro & Giorgetti, C.C.A.Puerto Rico, 285 F. 132.

28. La.—Richardson v. Richardson, 27 So. 890, 52 La.Ann. 1402.
47 C.J. p 269 note 68.

29. Cal.—Lee v. Hibernia Savings & Loan Soc., 171 P. 677, 177 Cal. 656.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 68 [a].

30. D.C.—Adriahs v. Dill, 37 App.D. C. 59.

31. Miss.—Parker v. Gillis, 66 So. 978, 108 Miss. 490.
Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S.W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.
Tenn.—Human v. Hartsell, 148 S.W. 2d 634, 24 Tenn.App. 678.
Tex.—Lawder v. Larkin, Civ.App., 94 S.W. 171.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 70.

32. Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S. W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.
Tenn.—Human v. Hartsell, 148 S.W. 2d 634, 24 Tenn.App. 678.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 71.

33. Cal.—Lee v. Hibernia Savings & Loan Soc., 171 P. 677, 177 Cal. 656.

34. N.Y.—Pedro v. Pedro, 127 N.Y.S. 997, 71 Misc. 296.
Wis.—In re Kane, 168 N.W. 402, 168 Wis. 1.

35. Or.—Eldriedge v. Hoefer, 93 P. 246, 52 Or. 241, modified on other grounds 94 P. 563, 52 Or. 241, petition denied 96 P. 1105, 52 Or. 241.

36. N.J.—Ownes v. Ownes, 23 N.J. Eq. 60.

37. N.Y.—Pedro v. Pedro, 127 N.Y.S. 997, 71 Misc. 296.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 77.

38. Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S. W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.

An infant cannot bind himself by a gift of his property,[39] even though accompanied by a manual delivery;[40] and a conveyance without consideration, by way of gift, has also been held void, as manifestly and necessarily prejudicial to the infant,[41] although there is authority for the view that it is merely voidable.[42] Such a gift may be revoked or avoided by the infant[43] or his personal representative,[44] even though it is not void.[45]

§ 54. —— Leases

Subject to statutory exceptions, rules governing the acquisition and alienation of property by infants generally apply to leases executed by infants.

In accordance with the rules governing the acquisition and alienation of property by infants generally, discussed supra §§ 36–46, a lease executed by an infant is, except in so far as the rule may be affected by statute,[46] voidable[47] and not void.[48]

The lease, however, may be affirmed or ratified by the infant on attaining majority,[49] as by accepting the rent;[50] but mere delay after reaching majority will not estop the lessor to avoid the lease where no one has been prejudiced thereby.[51] The lessee cannot set up the infant's disability to defeat the lease or to be relieved from its covenants.[52] While a void lease cannot be ratified by the signing of a similar lease after the infant has attained his majority,[53] such signing will create a new valid lease as of that time even though the new lease bore the same date and contained the same terms as the prior void lease, if its terms are sufficient.[54]

§ 55. —— Marriage Settlements and Antenuptial Contracts

While some authorities regard all antenuptial contracts made by a female infant as voidable, it has been more usually held that settlements as to personalty are binding, but that settlements as to realty are voidable on attaining majority.

Except in so far as the rule may be affected by statute, as discussed infra this section, the rule established by the weight of authority is that antenuptial settlements by an infant female are binding on her where they affect her personalty;[55] but that marriage settlements affecting realty, while not void,[56] are voidable at her election on attaining majority.[57] This distinction grew out of the old common-law principle that a wife's personalty belonged to her husband and therefore a settlement limiting personalty to herself or issue must necessarily inure to her benefit in that it removed from the husband's control property which he would in the absence of settlement have acquired by virtue of marriage,[58] such a settlement of personalty being regarded as virtually a relinquishment by the husband of his legal rights in the wife's property.[59] However, the reason for the distinction seems to have disappeared with the enactment of statutes placing both the personalty and the realty of the wife under her separate control;[60] and there is authority stating broadly that all antenuptial contracts made by a female infant are voidable at her election.[61]

39. Vt.—Person v. Chase, 37 Vt. 647, 88 Am.D. 630.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 79.
Gifts between parent and child see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 60, also 46 C.J. p 1319 note 31–p 1324 note 31.
An unexecuted gift by a minor cannot be enforced.—Harvey v. Carroll, 10 S.W. 334, 72 Tex. 63.

40. Vt.—Person v. Chase, 37 Vt. 647, 88 Am.D. 630.

41. Mich.—Gillmett v. Tourcott, 182 N.W. 128, 213 Mich. 617.
31 C.J. p 1027 note 24.

42. N.J.—Mott v. Iossa, 181 A. 689, 119 N.J.Eq. 185.

43. Iowa.—Oxley v. Tryon, 25 Iowa 95.
31 C.J. p 1033 notes 81, 88.

44. Vt.—Person v. Chase, 37 Vt. 647, 88 Am.D. 630.

45. Ala.—Slaughter v. Cunningham, 24 Ala. 260, 60 Am.D. 463.
La.—Johnson v. Alden, 15 La.Ann. 505.

46. Philippine.—Enriquez v. A. S. Watson & Co., Ltd., 22 Philippine 623.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 92 [a].

47. Ill.—Field v. Herrick, 101 Ill. 110, affirming 5 Ill.App. 54.
31 C.J. p 1033 notes 90, 92.

48. Ill.—Field v. Herrick, 101 Ill. 110.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 91.

49. Effect on subsequent purchaser Minor, having rental contract with tenant for one year on which rent has been paid, may ratify it on attaining majority so as to bind subsequent purchaser of land to permit tenant to retain possession and to retain crops for such term.—Harrison v. Elliott, 232 P. 23, 105 Okl. 163.

50. Mo.—Lacy v. Pixler, 25 S.W. 206, 120 Mo. 383.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 93.

51. U.S.—Rose v. Union Gas & Oil Co., C.C.A.Ky., 297 F. 16.

52. Ill.—Field v. Herrick, 101 Ill. 110, affirming 5 Ill.App. 54.

53. Tex.—Humble Oil & Refining Co. v. Clark, 87 S.W.2d 471, 126 Tex. 262, reversing Clark v. Humble Oil & Refining Co., Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 597.

54. Tex.—Humble Oil & Refining Co. v. Clark, supra.

55. N.Y.—Wetmore v. Kissam, 16 N.Y.Super. 321.
31 C.J. p 1033 note 96.
Marriage settlements generally see Husband and Wife §§ 75–118.

56. N.Y.—Wetmore v. Kissam, 16 N.Y.Super. 321.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 97.

57. Va.—Smith v. Smith, 57 S.E. 577, 107 Va. 112, 118, 12 L.R.A.,N.S., 1184.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 1.

58. Va.—Smith v. Smith, 57 S.E. 577, 107 Va. 112, 122 Am.S.R. 831, 12 L.R.A.,N.S., 1184, 12 Ann.Cas. 857.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 2.

59. N.C.—Satterfield v. Riddick, 43 N.C. 265.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 3.

60. Va.—Smith v. Smith, 57 S.E. 577, 107 Va. 112, 122 Am.S.R. 831, 12 L.R.A.,N.S., 1184, 12 Ann.Cas. 857.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 4.

61. Ark.—Shirey v. Shirey, 112 S.W. 369, 87 Ark. 175.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 5.

Disaffirmance may take place during coverture[62] but not after birth of issue whose rights will be prejudiced by disaffirmance.[63] Irrespective of the foregoing conflicts and distinctions, it is settled that an antenuptial contract voidable for infancy becomes binding on subsequent ratification,[64] although the burden of proving the ratification of the agreement by the wife after attaining her majority rests on the party claiming under the contract,[65] and that the validity of infants' antenuptial contracts cannot be contested by an adult party to the marriage[66] or by a trustee of the marriage settlement.[67]

Contracts made through guardian. Antenuptial contracts made through a guardian are subject to the same principles as those made without a guardian provided it appears that the infant was personally a party to the contract,[68] but antenuptial contracts made by a guardian without the infant being personally a party thereto are void.[69]

It has been held that an antenuptial contract signed by a male infant and settling his wife's property is not voidable at his election;[70] but there is also authority to the contrary.[71]

Statutory provisions. Under statute to that effect, marriage contracts and settlements of infants who are of lawful age to marry are binding on them as though they were adults.[72] A statute authorizing marriage settlements by an infant with respect to property of which the parties are seized at the time of the marriage has been held not to authorize a female minor to agree to transfer property acquired by her after marriage; nor would the probate court's decree empowering such contract render it binding on the infant wife.[73] Thus the wife could disaffirm such agreement within a reasonable time after reaching her majority.[74]

English decisions concerning marriage settlements under the Infants' Settlement Act are collected in 31 C.J. p 1034 note 16–p 1035 note 34.

§ 56. —— Sales of Personalty

The rules governing the acquisition and alienation of property by infants generally apply to sales of personalty. Except as the rule is changed by statute, the right of avoidance is superior to the rights of third persons.

In accordance with the rules governing the acquisition and alienation of property by infants generally, discussed supra §§ 36–46, a sale of personalty is voidable,[75] and not void;[76] and such a sale is sufficient to transmit title[77] provided a manual delivery of the property is made.[78]

While if a sale of chattels is void, no disaffirmance before suit is necessary,[79] if the sale of an infant's property is voidable no tort is committed by the purchaser by his retention of, or dealings with, the property until after avoidance;[80] but after avoidance the infant may treat the refusal to deliver back the property or the proceeds as a conversion by those who have kept it intentionally or so intermeddled with it as to interfere with the infant's dominion over it.[81]

62. Pa.—Whichcote v. Lyle, 28 Pa. 73.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 6.

63. N.Y.—Wetmore v. Kissam, 16 N.Y.Super. 321.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 7.

64. Md.—Levering v. Heighe, 2 Md. Ch. 81.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 10.

65. N.Y.—Beardsley v. Hotchkiss, 30 Hun 605, modified on other grounds 96 N.Y. 201.

66. N.Y.—Beardsley v. Hotchkiss, 96 N.Y. 201, modifying 30 Hun 605.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 12.

67. N.Y.—Jones v. Butler, 30 Barb. 641.

68. Pa.—Wilson v. McCullough, 19 Pa. 77.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 14.

69. N.Y.—Temple v. Hawley, 1 Sandf.Ch. 153.
Va.—Healy v. Rowan, 5 Gratt. 414, 46 Va. 414, 52 Am.D. 94.

70. S.C.—Kottman v. Peyton, 17 S.C.Eq. 46.
31 C.J. p 1034 note 8.

71. Tenn.—Lancaster v. Lancaster, 13 Lea 126.

72. Ga.—Sellers v. Sellers, 128 S.E. 659, 160 Ga. 516.

73. Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.

74. Disaffirmance on first occasion therefor

Where minor, in 1902, conveyed property to trustee under statute, pursuant to marriage contract, and agreed to transfer after-acquired property, and where first after-acquired property came to her in 1931 by gift from husband, disaffirmance, in 1931, of clause respecting after-acquired property was held timely.—Welch v. King, supra.

Ratification

(1) Minor wife's assent to trustee's accounts was not ratification of agreement to convey after-acquired property to trustee, accounts containing no items relating thereto.—Welch v. King, supra.

(2) Where eighteen-year old minor, pursuant to marriage contract, conveyed property to trustee under statute, consent to appointment of successor trustees was not ratification of agreement to convey after-acquired property to trustees.—Welch v. King, supra.

75. Ala.—Keller v. Ray Motor Co., 114 So. 422, 22 Ala.App. 252.
Miss.—Upshaw v. Gibson, 53 Miss. 341.
31 C.J. p 1035 note 36.

76. Ala.—Keller v. Ray Motor Co., 114 So. 422, 22 Ala.App. 252.
31 C.J. p 1035 note 37.

77. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, 55 So. 844, 61 Fla. 720, 36 L.R.A.,N.S., 33.

78. N.Y.—Fonda v. Van Horne, 15 Wend. 631, 30 Am.D. 77.

Good as against third persons

A sale accompanied by manual delivery is good as against third persons.—Packer v. Johnson, 10 S.C.L. 1.

79. N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App. Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116.

80. N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, supra.

81. N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, supra.

Ratification during minority

Brokers, selling stock of infant, indorsed in blank by her, are liable to her in conversion, her signature in blank being nothing more than a

An agreement to sell his partnership interest is not binding on an infant.[82]

Rights of third persons; innocent purchasers. The right to avoid the sale may be exercised notwithstanding the right of third persons has supervened.[83] However, under statute so providing, where the purchaser of goods from the infant has a voidable title, but his title had not been avoided at the time of the sale of the goods by him to a third person, such third person acquires good title to the goods, provided he buys them in good faith, for value, and without notice of the seller's defect of title;[84] and under a provision to that effect the infant's rescission of a transfer of a certificate of stock does not invalidate a transfer to a purchaser for value, in good faith, and without notice even though such transfer was made after the infant's rescission of the original sale.[85]

C. JURISDICTION OF COURTS OVER ESTATES OF INFANTS

§ 57. In General

Jurisdiction over the estates of infants is inherent in equity, but it may also be vested by constitutional or statutory provisions in particular courts. The institution of proceedings affecting an infant's property makes the infant a ward of the court, and it has very broad powers to protect his interests.

Courts of equity have general[86] and inherent[87] jurisdiction over the property of infants. The mere fact of infancy is sufficient to sustain the jurisdiction of the court, although no other ground of chancery jurisdiction exists,[88] but such jurisdiction can be exercised only when the court has acquired jurisdiction as to the particular infant and subject matter in accordance with the practice in courts of equity,[89] which ordinarily is by the commencement of some sort of recognized proceeding in the court.[90] Primary jurisdiction over the estates of infants may, under constitutional or statutory provisions, be vested in the probate, county, district, or other specified court,[91] and such courts, when they succeed to the jurisdiction of the court of chancery, exercise the power under the same rules as pertained to the court of chancery subject to whatever limitations have been imposed by statute.[92]

The institution of any proceeding affecting an infant's property in a court of equity or other court vested with peculiar jurisdiction over the estates of infants makes the infant a ward of the court,[93] and the court becomes in contemplation of voidable consent to a sale, contractual in its nature rather than tortious, the infant not being estopped in view of Pers.Prop.L. §§ 162, 163, and it is immaterial that once during minority she ratified the sale. —Casey v. Kastel, supra.

82. Ariz.—Johnson v. Wright, 179 P. 958, 20 Ariz. 255.

83. Miss.—Upshaw v. Gibson, 53 Miss. 341.

31 C.J. p 1035 note 41.

84. N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116.

85. N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, supra.

86. Ark.—Crenshaw v. Crenshaw, 160 S.W.2d 37, 203 Ark. 1086.
N.C.—Commercial Nat. Bank of Charlotte v. Alexander, 125 S.E. 385, 387, 188 N.C. 667, citing Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1035 note 44.

87. Fla.—Fisher v. Guidy, 142 So. 813, 106 Fla. 94.
Ga.—Chase v. Bartlett, 166 S.E. 832, 176 Ga. 40.
N.Y.—Petition of Travers, 32 N.Y.S. 2d 742, 177 Misc. 1044.
Tenn.—Gillespie v. Jackson, 281 S.W. 929, 153 Tenn. 150—Newburger v. Newburger, 10 Tenn.App. 555—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn.App. 68.

88. N.C.—Commercial Nat. Bank of Charlotte v. Alexander, 125 S.E. 385, 387, 188 N.C. 667, citing Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1035 note 45.

89. Ill.—Thomas v. Thomas, 95 N. E. 345, 250 Ill. 354, 35 L.R.A.,N. S., 1158, Ann.Cas.1912B 344.

31 C.J. p 1035 note 46.

90. Ill.—Thomas v. Thomas, supra.

91. Mo.—Campbell v. Campbell, 165 S.W.2d 851, 350 Mo. 169.
Okl.—In re Vaughn's Guardianship, 73 P.2d 411, 181 Okl. 274.
Tex.—Crowley v. Redmond, Civ.App., 41 S.W.2d 274, 123 Tex. 315, affirmed Redmond v. Crowley, 70 S. W.2d 1113, 123 Tex. 315.

31 C.J. p 1036 note 55, p 1035 note 44 [a].

In Tennessee, with respect to jurisdiction over minors and their estates, apart from Act of 1935, probate court of Shelby county exercises jurisdiction identical with that exercised by county courts of other counties of state and procedure in one is applicable to the other.—Monteverde v. Christie, 134 S.W.2d 905, 23 Tenn.App. 514.

Appellate jurisdiction of district court

The district court's appellate jurisdiction regarding business transactions appertaining to minors' estate is coextensive with county court's original jurisdiction.—Haggard v. McFarland, 155 S.W.2d 797, 137 Tex. 542, affirming, Civ.App., 133 S.W.2d 313.

92. N.Y.—Bernstein v. Bernstein, 176 N.Y.S. 820, 188 App.Div. 276.

93. Ala.—Higdon v. Higdon, 11 So. 2d 140, 243 Ala. 571—Bowen v. Hester, 186 So. 695, 237 Ala. 321—First Nat. Bank v. Robertson, 127 So. 221, 220 Ala. 654.
Ga.—Sangster v. Toledo Mfg. Co., 19 S.E.2d 723, 193 Ga. 685—Chase v. Bartlett, 166 S.E. 832, 176 Ga. 40.
Ill.—McReynolds v. Miller, 22 N.E. 2d 951, 372 Ill. 151—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278—Union Bank of Chicago v. Wormser, 256 Ill.App. 291.
Ky.—Skidmore v. Napier, 166 S.W. 2d 439, 292 Ky. 311—Davis' Committee v. Loney, 162 S.W.2d 189, 290 Ky. 644.
La.—Succession of Stabile, 165 So. 713, 184 La. 203.
N.Y.—In re Title Guarantee & Trust Co., 273 N.Y.S. 158, 242 App.Div. 80, motion denied 198 N.E. 371, 268 N.Y. 494, affirmed 2 N.E.2d 683, 271 N.Y. 537—In re Kessler's Estate, 276 N.Y.S. 773, 153 Misc. 753.

31 C.J. p 1035 note 48, p 1036 note 59.

law his guardian.[94] Some proceeding affecting the infant's rights or interests is necessary in order for such relation to exist.[95] It is the duty of the court to guard and protect the property interests of the infant[96] with great care[97] on its own motion,[98] and it must act whenever the necessity for action to protect the infant's estate becomes apparent.[99] An infant's claim to property which is under the control of the court is especially entitled to protection.[1]

After the jurisdiction of the court has attached, it has very broad[2] or plenary[3] powers over the estate of the infant. It may adjudicate the rights and equities of the infant in property,[4] and it may cause to be done whatever may be necessary to preserve the infant's estate,[5] but it cannot act in violation of constitutional or statutory limitations on its powers,[6] nor can it abrogate rights of other persons in order to bestow a benefit on the infant,[7] or permit the impounding of the infant's funds or the creation of a trust to deprive the infant of the right to absolute enjoyment of the funds at majority.[8] In all cases where an infant is a ward of chancery no act can be done affecting his person or his property unless under the express or implied direction of the court itself,[9] but the court may ratify or sanction acts affecting the infant's interests which it could originally have authorized.[10] Minors are not competent to waive the statutory requirements enacted for their benefit and protection with

Infant as ward of court generally see supra § 7.

94. Ala.—Strawn v. Caffee, 178 So. 430, 235 Ala. 218.
31 C.J. p 1036 note 49.

95. Ill.—Thomas v. Thomas, 95 N. E. 345, 250 Ill. 354, 35 L.R.A.,N.S., 1158, Ann.Cas.1912B 344.
31 C.J. p 1036 note 50.

96. Ala.—Strawn v. Caffee, 178 So. 430, 235 Ala. 218.
Ill.—McReynolds v. Miller, 22 N.E. 2d 951, 372 Ill. 151.
Tenn.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S. W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.
31 C.J. p 1036 note 60.

Exercise of protective powers at chambers

The protective powers of a judge of the superior court over the estates of minors may be exercised at chambers, where the minors and their property are otherwise within equitable jurisdiction of the court.—Mize v. Harber, 8 S.E.2d 1, 189 Ga. 737.

Duty of courts to protect interests of infant litigants see infra § 105.

97. Ala.—Scott v. Mussafer, 134 So. 857, 223 Ala. 153.
Ark.—Crenshaw v. Crenshaw, 160 S. W.2d 37, 203 Ark. 1086.
Ky.—Davis' Committee v. Loney, 162 S.W.2d 189, 290 Ky. 644.
N.Y.—In re Title Guarantee & Trust Co., 273 N.Y.S. 158, 242 App.Div. 80, motion denied 198 N.E. 371, 268 N.Y. 494, affirmed 2 N.E.2d 683, 271 N.Y. 537.

98. Neb.—Jones v. Hudson, 141 N. W. 141, 93 Neb. 561, 44 L.R.A.,N. S., 1182.
W.Va.—Buskirk v. Ragland, 65 S.E. 101, 65 W.Va. 749.

99. Ala.—Strawn v. Caffee, 178 So. 430, 235 Ala. 218.
31 C.J. p 1036 note 63.

1. Ill.—Gibbs v. Andrews, 132 N.E. 544, 299 Ill. 510.
31 C.J. p 1036 note 62.

2. Tenn.—Gillespie v. Jackson, 281 S.W. 929, 153 Tenn. 150.

3. Ala.—Higdon v. Higdon, 11 So.2d 140, 243 Ala. 571.
La.—Succession of Stabile, 165 So. 713, 184 La. 203
Miss.—Newsom v. Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, 185 So. 595, 184 Miss. 318.

4. Ky.—Whittaker v. Whittaker, 277 S.W. 1013, 211 Ky. 679.
Mich.—Metzner v. Newman, 194 N. W. 1008, 224 Mich. 324, 33 A.L.R. 98.

5. Ark.—Crenshaw v. Crenshaw, 160 S.W.2d 37, 203 Ark. 1086.
31 C.J. p 1036 note 64.

Change of property from realty to personalty

The courts having jurisdiction over estates of minors may authorize change of property from real to personal and vice versa for minor's benefit.
Ill.—Van Epps v. Arbuckle, 164 N.E. 1, 332 Ill. 551.
N.C.—Coxe v. Charles Stores Co., 1 S.E.2d 848, 215 N.C. 380, 121 A.L.R. 959.

Investments

The court may authorize the investment of a minor's funds.—In re Vaughn's Guardianship, 73 P.2d 411, 181 Okl. 274—31 C.J. p 1036 note 64 [c].

Divesting title in partitioning property

District court may divest minors of title to property and create a lien in their favor on all the property if necessary to make equitable partition.—Garza v. Kenedy, Tex.Civ.App., 291 S.W. 615, reversed on other grounds, Com.App., 299 S.W. 231, rehearing denied 5 S.W.2d xx.

Permitting change of beneficiary in insurance policy

Ark.—Crenshaw v. Crenshaw, 160 S. W.2d 37, 203 Ark. 1086.

6. Cal.—Walters v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 18 P.2d 343, 129 Cal.App. 19.
N.Y.—In re Kessler's Estate, 276 N. Y.S. 773, 153 Misc. 753—In re Vanderbilt's Estate, 223 N.Y.S. 314, 129 Misc. 605.
Pa.—In re Barley's Estate, 31 Pa. Dist. & Co. 404, 52 York Leg.Rec. 4.
31 C.J. p 1036 note 56.

Authority of ordinary to receive money for minor

Words "money due and owing," in a statute authorizing ordinary to receive moneys for minors, mean "money demand" and signify demand for fixed amount, and such a statute does not authorize the ordinary to act as guardian for minor for receiving money on unliquidated claim for damages arising in tort.—Georgia Power Co. v. Davis, 160 S.E. 690, 43 Ga.App. 791.

Appointment of receiver for female minor

A statute authorizing the equity court to appoint a receiver for a minor female's estate unless she has married with the consent of her parent or guardian permits the court to appoint a receiver where she is married with the consent only of her grandparent.—Moody v. Whittle, 111 S.W.2d 401, 271 Ky. 29.

7. N.Y.—Petition of Travers, 32 N. Y.S.2d 742, 177 Misc. 1044.

8. N.Y.—In re Vanderbilt's Estate, 223 N.Y.S. 314, 129 Misc. 605.

9. U.S.—In re Lindsley, Orph.Ct. D.C., 30 F.Cas.No.18,308, 2 Hayw. & H. 430.
31 C.J. p 1036 note 53.

Entering lien against property

Pa.—Clothier v. Kniffen, 31 Luz.Leg. Reg. 229.

10. Ala.—McWhorter v. Cox, 195 So. 435, 239 Ala. 441.
S.C.—Hammassapoulo v. Hammassapoulo, 131 S.E. 319, 134 S.C. 54.

Minor's ratification of disposition of property may be recognized.—Midland Savings & Loan Co. v. Carpenter, 279 P. 810, 137 Okl. 204.

respect to the manner in which the jurisdiction of the court may be exercised.[11]

Supervision of guardianship by the court is considered in Guardian and Ward § 4.

§ 58. Judicial Allowances for Support and Maintenance

The court may order an infant's property to be applied to the maintenance of the infant where he is without other means of support or education.

Where infants who have an interest in certain property are without other means of support or education, the court may order so much of such property as may be necessary for that purpose to be applied to their maintenance,[12] but it cannot do so if such an order would abrogate or modify the plain provisions of a binding contract.[13] While the allowance should ordinarily be made out of the income, if the income is insufficient, a reasonable allowance may be made out of the principal.[14] The allowance is subject to the future control of the court and may be altered with the varying circumstances of the estate.[15] The court may properly order reimbursement from the infant's estate to one who, after he has in good faith assumed custody of the infant, expended his own funds for legal services in proceedings involving custody of the infant,[16] for the assumption of personal liability for such expenses is an act within the scope of the duty of a custodian of a child to provide proper care for such child.[17]

Use of the estate of a ward for his support or education is considered in Guardian and Ward § 62.

D. SALES AND CONVEYANCES UNDER AUTHORITY OF LAW IN GENERAL

§ 59. In General

An infant's property cannot be disposed of without authority of law and where the power of disposition is conferred by statute it must be exercised in compliance with the statutory requirements.

No one can make any disposition of an infant's property without authority of law,[18] but an attack on the validity of the title of an infant is not a divestiture of title within this rule and it may be maintained without express statutory authority.[19] The legislature may condition or prohibit disposal of minors' lands,[20] and where the power of disposal is conferred by statute, the exercise of the power, to be valid, must be in compliance with the statutory requirements.[21] When so provided by statute title to an infant's lands can be divested only by a suit for the sale of the lands or by a partition suit.[22] Where no interest in the land has ever vested in the infant, statutes pertaining to the divestiture of an infant's title are inapplicable.[23] Under a statute which permits married minors to dispose of and make contracts relating to real estate acquired after marriage, an infant wife may effectively join in a mortgage covering property owned by her husband.[24]

Authority of a guardian to sell property of the ward is considered in Guardian and Ward § 82. Authority of a parent to dispose of property of a child is considered in the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 56, also 46 C.J. p 1315 note 90. Authority of a trustee to sell property of a beneficiary is discussed in the C.J.S. title Trusts §§ 286–292, also 65 C.J. p 730 note 16–p 752 note 88.

§ 60. Under Private or Special Acts

The exercise of a power of sale conferred by a private or special act must conform strictly to the statutory provisions.

The exercise of a power of sale conferred by a private or special act must conform strictly to the statutory provisions.[25] Ordinarily the power to sell

11. Miss.—Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gleason, 187 So. 229, 185 Miss. 243.
12. N.Y.—Petition of Travers, 32 N.Y.S.2d 742, 177 Misc. 1044.
31 C.J. p 1037 note 66.
13. N.Y.—Petition of Travers, supra.
14. Pa.—Keough's Estate, 16 Pa. Dist. 225.
15. S.C.—Chisolm v. Chisolm, 25 S.C.Eq. 266.
16. N.Y.—In re Boulware's Will, 258 N.Y.S. 522, 144 Misc. 235.
Compensation and allowances to guardian ad litem or next friend see infra § 112.
17. N.Y.—In re Boulware's Will, supra.
18. Ky.—Whittaker v. Whittaker, 277 S.W. 1013, 211 Ky. 679.
31 C.J. p 1037 note 70.
19. Ky.—Whittaker v. Whittaker, supra.
20. U.S.—Gordon v. Empire Gas & Fuel Co., C.C.A.Tex., 63 F.2d 487, certiorari denied Gordon v. Empire Fuel & Gas Co., 53 S.Ct. 696, 289 U.S. 751, 77 L.Ed. 1496.
21. Ky.—Thomas v. Thomas' Guardian, 51 S.W.2d 949, 244 Ky. 724—May v. Pratt, 35 S.W.2d 542, 237 Ky. 369—Flannery v. Chiles, 1 S.W.2d 1040, 222 Ky. 649—Whittaker v. Whittaker, 277 S.W. 1013, 211 Ky. 679.
Okl.—Rock Island Implement Co. v. Pearsey, 270 P. 846, 133 Okl. 1.
31 C.J. p 1037 note 72.
22. Va.—Ferebee v. Todd, 153 S.E. 705, 154 Va. 293.
23. Ky.—Oliver v. Belcher, 265 S.W. 942, 205 Ky. 417.
24. Okl.—Starr v. Vaughn, 241 P. 152, 113 Okl. 247.
25. U.S.—Garth v. Arnold, Mo., 115 F. 468, 53 C.C.A. 200, modifying, C.C., 106 F. 13.
31 C.J. p 1037 note 76.

terminates when the infant reaches his majority.[26] The validity of the title passed by the sale does not depend on the infant's assent, and he cannot disaffirm the sale on his coming of age.[27]

Validity of private or special statutes authorizing sale of infant's property is considered generally in the C.J.S. title Statutes § 173, also 59 C.J. p 742 note 97 [b], and 31 C.J. p 1037 note 75 [a], [b]. The validity of such statutes under the due process clause is considered in Constitutional Law § 647 b.

E. SALES AND CONVEYANCES UNDER ORDER OF COURT

§ 61. Sales of Realty

a. What property or interests may be sold
b. Who may secure order
c. Consent of infant or guardian and knowledge of application

a. What Property or Interests May Be Sold

Only the particular property interests or estates to which a sale is restricted by statute may be sold, but in the absence of statutory restrictions power to order a sale of an infant's real property is not dependent on the nature or the quality of the estate.

Where the statutes provide for a sale by the court of property of a particular character or of particular estates in land only, it must appear that the property or estate is of the character designated;[28] thus a statute authorizing the sale of a part of the infant's real estate does not empower the court to decree a sale of the whole estate.[29] In the absence of statutory restrictions, power to order a sale of an infant's real estate is not dependent on the nature and quality of the estate;[30] a sale may be ordered of an estate whether legal[31] or equitable,[32] in possession[33] or remainder,[34] vested[35] or contingent,[36] in common with others,[37] or separate,[38] or in whatever manner it may be held, whether by descent, devise, or by contract.[39] The contingent interest of an infant cannot be sold separately where the statute which authorizes the sale of remainders provides for the sale of the whole estate.[40]

Land, in which persons not in being will have an interest on the coming into being, may be sold free from such interest, provided the fund derived from the sale is preserved to the extent necessary to satisfy such interest.[41]

Property or interests of a ward which are subject to sale on an application by the guardian are considered in Guardian and Ward § 106.

Effect of restrictions in will or deed. In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, the real estate of an infant or an interest therein cannot be sold or conveyed in contravention of a will or deed under which the estate is created;[42] but such statutes have been held to have no application where there are adult tenants in common who have an immediate right to the possession of their shares.[43]

Encumbered property. Where the property is encumbered by a lien equal in amount to the value of the property, the court should not have the property conveyed in satisfaction of the debt but should require the mortgagee to foreclose the mortgage in the usual way.[44]

b. Who May Secure Order

A bill for the sale of the infant's land for his benefit should be filed by someone who has the infant's interests at heart, such as by his guardian or next friend.

A bill for the sale of land for the infant's benefit should be filed by someone who has the infant's interests at heart.[45] As a general rule, pro-

26. U.S.—Garth v. Arnold, supra.

27. N.J.—Snowhill v. Snowhill, 3 N.J.Eq. 20.

28. Ky.—Crutcher v. Rodman, 81 S.W. 252, 26 Ky.L. 294.
31 C.J. p 1039 note 23.

29. U.S.—In re Mount, C.C.D.C., 17 F.Cas.No.9,885a, 2 Hayw. & H. 44.

30. Ala.—McCreary v. Billing, 58 So. 311, 176 Ala. 314, Ann.Cas.1915A 561.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 26.

31. Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, 122 P. 879, 86 Kan. 933.

32. D.C.—Thaw v. Ritchie, 16 D.C. 200, affirmed 10 S.Ct. 137, 136 U.S. 519, 34 L.Ed. 531.
Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, 122 P. 879, 86 Kan. 933.

33. Ala.—McCreary v. Billing, 58 So. 311, 176 Ala. 314, Ann.Cas.1915A 561.
Va.—Faulkner v. Davis, 18 Gratt. 651, 60 Va. 651, 98 Am.D. 698.

34. Miss.—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429—Crawford v. Solomon, 95 So. 686, 131 Miss. 792.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 30.

35. Miss.—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 31.

36. Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, 122 P. 879, 86 Kan. 933.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 32.

37. Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, supra.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 33.

38. Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, supra.

39. Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, supra.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 37.

40. N.C.—Butler v. Winston, 27 S.E.2d 124, 223 N.C. 421.

41. Miss.—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 43.

42. Miss.—Crawford v. Solomon, 95 So. 686, 131 Miss. 792.
N.Y.—Bradley v. Bradley, 238 N.Y.S. 6, 228 App.Div. 629.
W.Va.—White v. Jackson, 114 S.E. 875, 92 W.Va. 593.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 40.

43. N.Y.—O'Donaghue v. Smith, 77 N.E. 621, 184 N.Y. 365.

44. Ky.—Clore v. Clore, 211 S.W. 208, 184 Ky. 83.

45. Tenn.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S.W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.

Bill by prospective purchaser
A bill for an infant's benefit to ceedings to secure an order for the sale or mortgage of an infant's land may and should be brought by the regular and statutory guardian duly appointed or recognized by the court and who has properly qualified, as stated in Guardian and Ward § 109. In some jurisdictions the application may or should be made by a next friend.[46] In accordance with the provisions of some statutes the infant need not join in the application,[47] or where a number of infants have interests in the property all need not join in the application if all are properly before the court.[48] The sale cannot be ordered on the application of a father as natural guardian merely of his children.[49]

Husband of infant wife. Although it has been held that the order for the sale cannot be obtained by the husband of the infant wife,[50] in some jurisdictions, by force of statute, a bill to sell the real estate of an infant wife may be filed by her husband.[51]

Adult coöwner. Under a statute permitting a sale for the purpose of distributing the proceeds among the joint owners where the estate cannot be conveniently and equitably divided in kind, the action may be brought on behalf of an infant coöwner as well as by his adult coöwners.[52]

c. Consent of Infant or Guardian and Knowledge of Application

In accordance with the provisions of some statutes the consent of the infant or of his guardian may be necessary to authorize the court to order a sale of the infant's realty, or it may be necessary that the parents or other near relatives of the infant shall have knowledge of the intention of a next friend to make the application.

In accordance with statutory provisions the consent of the infant or of his guardian may be necessary to authorize the court to order a sale of the infant's realty.[53] In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, it is required that, when the application for sale is made by a next friend, the parents or other near relatives of the infant shall have knowledge of the intention to make such application, and such knowledge should affirmatively be shown by the record.[54]

§ 62. —— Power of Court to Authorize Sale

Particular courts specified by statute have the power to authorize a sale of infant's realty, and in some jurisdictions courts of equity have inherent power so to do. Only a court of proper jurisdiction may authorize a sale, and the statutes conferring the power must be at least substantially followed.

Only a court of proper jurisdiction may authorize the disposition of an infant's realty.[55] In some jurisdictions it is held that courts of equity have no inherent power to order or to authorize sales or conveyances of infants' real estate[56] but in other jurisdictions courts of equity have been held to possess such power.[57] No court other than the courts of equity in those jurisdictions has inherent power to order or authorize the sale of an infant's land.[58] Some cases have made a distinction as to the power of the courts of equity with respect to the sale or conveyance of equitable and legal estates, and have held that while such courts have no power to sell or convey legal estates,[59] they may do so in cases of equitable estates;[60] but other cas-sell realty for maintenance and education should not be entertained when filed by a person desiring to purchase the infant's realty.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, supra.

46. Ala.—Higdon v. Higdon, 11 So. 2d 140, 243 Ala. 571.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 68.

47. N.Y.—Cole v. Gourlay, 79 N.Y. 527, affirming 9 Hun 493.
Infant as party see infra § 64 c.

48. Md.—Mumma v. Brinton, 26 A. 184, 77 Md. 197.

49. Neb.—Wells v. Steckleberg, 70 N.W. 242, 50 Neb. 670.
31 C.J. p 1042 note 70.

50. N.Y.—Matter of Lansing, 3 Paige 264.
Ohio.—Dengenhart v. Cracraft, 36 Ohio St. 549—Cracraft v. Roach, 5 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 467, 6 Am.L. Rec. 83.

51. Tenn.—McNish v. Bryan, 2 Tenn.Civ.A. 443.

52. Ky.—Moore v. Potter-Matlock Trust Co., 180 S.W. 739, 167 Ky. 201.

53. Ky.—Peyton v. Alcorn, 7 J.J. Marsh. 502.

54. Mich.—In re Flynn, 137 N.W. 113, 171 Mich. 136.
Service of notice of application for sale see infra § 64 d (2).

55. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658—May v. Pratt, 35 S.W.2d 542, 237 Ky. 369.
Or.—Kirk v. Mullen, 197 P. 300, 100 Or. 563.

56. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691—Greenway's Guardian ad Litem v. Greenway, 91 S.W.2d 553, 262 Ky. 813—Thomas v. Thomas' Guardian, 51 S.W.2d 949, 244 Ky. 724.
Va.—Newman v. Light, 148 S.E. 818, 152 Va. 760—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173.
31 C.J. p 1039 note 10.

57. Miss.—Neely v. Craig, 139 So. 835, 162 Miss. 712—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429.
N.C.—Shull v. Rigby, 144 S.E. 372, 196 N.C. 4.
S.C.—Cannon v. Cannon, 133 S.E. 556, 135 S.C. 183.
Tenn.—Gillespie v. Jackson, 281 S.W. 929, 153 Tenn. 150—Johnson v. Covington, 251 S.W. 893, 148 Tenn. 47—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn.App. 68.
31 C.J. p 1039 note 11.

58. Ky.—Eversole v. Roberts, 39 S.W.2d 986, 239 Ky. 532—Ware's Guardian v. Ware, 25 S.W.2d 50, 233 Ky. 109.
N.Y.—In re Title Guarantee & Trust Co., 273 N.Y.S. 158, 242 App.Div. 80, motion denied 198 N.E. 371, 268 N.Y. 494, affirmed 2 N.E.2d 683, 271 N.Y. 537.
31 C.J. p 1037 note 82.

59. N.M.—Bent v. Maxwell Land Grant & R. Co., 3 P. 721, 8 N.M. 158.

60. N.M.—Bent v. Miranda, 42 P. 91, 8 N.M. 78.
31 C.J. p 1039 note 16.

es have held that the inherent power of courts of equity extends to both legal and equitable estates of infants.[61] The fact that the legislature has provided other methods of sale of infants' lands does not interfere with, or deprive the chancery courts of, such inherent power;[62] and statutes conferring such power on other courts do not, in the absence of express provision to the contrary, deprive courts of equity of their inherent jurisdiction.[63] The inherent jurisdiction of equity should be exercised with caution.[64]

The legislature has the general power to authorize sales of the land of infants through the agency of a court or judicial tribunal,[65] and in accordance with statutory provisions primary jurisdiction to order or authorize a sale may be vested in the chancery, county, orphans', probate, or other specified court.[66] Whether the jurisdiction of the particular court is exclusive or concurrent depends on the language of the instrument granting the power. In some cases, it is exclusive;[67] in others, it is concurrent with that of other courts.[68]

Jurisdiction to order a sale by a guardian of a ward's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 105.

Construction of statutes generally. Ordinarily, statutes granting power to authorize the sale of infants' real estate are to be strictly construed,[69] and although it has also been asserted that such statutes are eminently remedial in their nature and should receive a liberal construction,[70] especially where the jurisdiction is conferred on chancery courts,[71] the doctrine of liberal construction has been interpreted as applicable only as to the subjects or property sought to be sold, and not as to the procedure by which the sale is effected.[72] Liberal construction should not be given to such an extent as to conflict with the legislative intent to safeguard the interests of infants.[73]

Conformity with statute generally. Where the court ordering the sale of an infant's property derives its power to make the order solely from statute, the provisions of the statute conferring jurisdiction must be strictly complied with or the sale will be void.[74] Thus the power to sell or mortgage does not authorize an exchange;[75] but where it is held that the court has, independently of statute, inherent jurisdiction, the sale is not necessarily invalid by reason of failure to comply with the statutory requirements on the subject.[76]

Situs of property as affecting power of court. Ordinarily, the sale is under the control of the court of the county where the real estate is situated.[77] A court which has acquired jurisdiction may order the sale of lands situated in another county in the state.[78] Jurisdiction to authorize sale by guardian as affected by situs of property or domicile of ward is considered in Guardian and Ward § 105.

§ 63. —— Purposes and Grounds

The power to sell may and should be exercised only when it is necessary or manifestly for the infant's benefit. A sale may generally be ordered to pay debts, to discharge encumbrances, or to procure funds for the 61. Ill.—Allman v. Taylor, 101 Ill. 185—Smith v. Sackett, 10 Ill. 534.

62. N.J.—Day v. Devitt, 81 A. 368, 79 N.J.Eq. 342.
Tenn.—Gillespie v. Jackson, 281 S. W. 929, 153 Tenn. 150—Johnson v. Covington, 251 S.W. 893, 148 Tenn. 47—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn.App. 68.

63. Tenn.—Morris v. Richardson, 11 Humphr. 389.

64. S.C.—Bulow v. Buckner, 9 S.C. Eq. 401.

65. N.Y.—Gedney v. Marlton Realty Co., 179 N.E. 766, 258 N.Y.S. 355, reversing 246 N.Y.S. 881, 231 App. Div. 812.
31 C.J. p 1037 note 83.

66. Ga.—Mize v. Harber, 8 S.E.2d 1, 189 Ga. 737.
31 C.J. p 1038 notes 85–89.

67. Or.—Kirk v. Mullen, 197 P. 300, 100 Or. 563.

68. Ark.—Shumard v. Phillips, 13 S. W. 510, 53 Ark. 37.

69. Fla.—Wilkins v. Deen Turpentine Co., 94 So. 508, 84 Fla. 457.
Va.—Sterling v. Trust Co. of Norfolk, 141 S.E. 856, 149 Va. 867.
31 C.J. p 1038 note 94.

70. Va.—Rhea v. Shields, 49 S.E. 70, 103 Va. 305—Faulkner v. Davis, 18 Gratt. 651, 59 Va. 651, 98 Am.D. 698.

71. Va.—Brenham v. Smith, 90 S.E. 657, 120 Va. 30.
W.Va.—French v. Pocahontas Coal & Coke Co., 104 S.E. 554, 87 W.Va. 226.

72. Va.—Coleman v. Virginia Stave & Heading Co., 70 S.E. 545, 112 Va. 61.

73. Va.—Brenham v. Smith, 90 S.E. 657, 120 Va. 30.

74. Fla.—Standard Oil Co. v. Mehrtens, 118 So. 216, 96 Fla. 455—Wilkins v. Deen Turpentine Co., 94 So. 508, 84 Fla. 457.
Ky.—Greenway's Guardian ad Litem v. Greenway, 91 S.W.2d 553, 262 Ky. 818—Thomas v. Thomas' Guardian, 51 S.W.2d 949, 244 Ky. 724—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658—Eversole v. Roberts, 39 S.W.2d 986, 239 Ky. 532—May v. Pratt, 35 S.W.2d 542, 237 Ky. 369—Ware's Guardian v. Ware, 25 S.W.2d 56, 233 Ky. 109.
N.Y.—In re Title Guarantee & Trust Co., 273 N.Y.S. 158, 242 App.Div. 80, motion denied 198 N.E. 371, 268 N.Y. 494, affirmed 2 N.E.2d 683, 271 N.Y. 537.
31 C.J. p 1038 note 1.

75. N.Y.—Moran v. James, 47 N.Y.S. 486, 21 App.Div. 183, affirming 45 N.Y.S. 537, 20 Misc. 235—Matter of Adderley, 100 N.Y.S. 421, 50 Misc. 189.

76. Tenn.—Carter v. Carter, 234 S. W. 764, 144 Tenn. 628.
31 C.J. p 1038 note 3.

77. Tenn.—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn.App. 68.
31 C.J. p 1039 note 20.

78. Okl.—Klaus v. Campbell-Ratcliff Land Co., 150 P. 676, 48 Okl. 648.
Tenn.—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn. App. 68.

maintenance or education of the infant, and it may also be ordered for the purpose of reinvestment.

The power to sell may be exercised, and should be exercised, only when it is necessary[79] or manifestly for the infant's benefit.[80] Where a sale or conveyance is sought under statutory authority, the court can order the same only for the purpose for which it is authorized by the statute.[81] It has been held that a court of chancery may sell the realty of an infant for the purpose of removing the proceeds to another state where the infant permanently resides.[82] In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, a sale may be ordered for the purpose of distributing the proceeds among the joint owners where the estate cannot, conveniently and equitably, be divided in kind,[83] and in such case it is not necessary to establish that it is to the interest of the infant that the land be sold.[84] When permitted by statute the court may authorize an infant husband,[85] or an infant wife,[86] to join the other spouse in a conveyance so as to release prospective rights of curtesy or dower.

The purposes for which a sale by a guardian of a ward's property may be ordered are considered in Guardian and Ward § 107.

Debts and liens. A sale may generally be ordered whenever necessary to pay the debts of the infant,[87] or to discharge encumbrances on the property.[88] Unproductive lands may be sold to raise amounts to discharge encumbrances on productive property.[89] In some jurisdictions land descended to infants is subject to be sold for the payment of the debts of the deceased ancestor,[90] provided the personal property of decedent is not sufficient for that purpose;[91] but, in accordance with specific provisions, the court can authorize such a sale only in an action brought against the infant by a representative, legatee, distributee, or creditor of the deceased person.[92] A sale cannot be authorized for the purpose of paying the debts of living parents although the infant has participated in the enjoyment of the benefits for which the debts were incurred, even though a statute authorizes a sale for the maintenance and education of the infant.[93] In the absence of statute no court has power to authorize the sale of an infant's estate in remainder to pay claims chargeable against the owner of an existing life estate.[94]

Reinvestment. A sale may be ordered for the purpose of reinvesting the proceeds more beneficially for the infant,[95] especially where the property is wholly unproductive,[96] liable to depreciate in value,[97] or exposed to waste or dilapidation.[98] In some jurisdictions it is held that a court of equity has no inherent power to decree a sale of an infant's real estate merely for reinvestment;[99] but in

79. S.C.—Cannon v. Cannon, 133 S.E. 556, 135 S.C. 183—Fairey v. Strange, 104 S.E. 325, 115 S.C. 10.
Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173.

Land not connected with public highway
Necessity for the sale of infant's land did not exist by reason of isolation, etc., where the situation could be remedied by establishment of a private road, a private way of necessity connecting the land with a public highway.—McConnell v. Deal, 246 S.W. 594, 296 Mo. 275.

Unproductiveness of land
Reasonable necessity for sale of lands devised to infant and her issue, with contingent remainder to others, may arise from its unproductiveness and infant's inexperience.—Kirkham v. First Nat. Bank, 147 S.E. 648, 149 S.C. 545.

80. S.C.—Cannon v. Cannon, 133 S.E. 556, 135 S.C. 183.
31 C.J. p 1040 note 46.

81. Ky.—Nunnelly v. Nunnelly, 191 S.W. 85, 173 Ky. 372.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 47.

82. Tenn.—Greenlaw v. Greenlaw, 16 Lea 435.

83. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 49.

84. Ky.—Scott v. Graves, 154 S.W. 1084, 153 Ky. 221.

85. Ky.—Jesse v. Kinser, 120 S.W. 2d 654, 274 Ky. 821.

86. Ky.—Ex parte Roush, 137 S.W. 2d 352, 281 Ky. 733.

87. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 52.

88. Ill.—Fienhold v. Babcock, 113 N.E. 962, 275 Ill. 282.
N.Y.—Hammer Realty Co. v. Moran, 132 N.Y.S. 412, 73 Misc. 135.

Redemption from tax sale
Minors with right of redemption from tax sale may have interests sold if necessary to raise funds for redemption.—Cuevas v. Cuevas, 110 So. 865, 145 Miss. 456.

89. Ill.—Allman v. Taylor, 101 Ill. 185.

90. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 55.

91. Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173.

Before administration of estate
A suit for the sale of infants' lands to pay the debts of the ancestor from which the property descended is premature where it is instituted before the administration of decedent's estate.—Gee v. McCormick, supra.

92. Ky.—Bowles v. Bowles' Adm'x, 277 S.W. 260, 211 Ky. 250.

Action by infant
A sale for this purpose is not authorized in an action brought by an infant.—Bowles v. Bowles' Adm'x, supra.

93. S.C.—Beckwith v. McAlister, 162 S.E. 623, 165 S.C. 1.

94. Ky.—Thomas v. Thomas' Guardian, 51 S.W.2d 949, 244 Ky. 724.

95. Ala.—Martin v. Barnett, 87 So. 324, 205 Ala. 220.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 56.

96. Ill.—Gorman v. Mullins, 50 N.E. 222, 172 Ill. 349.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 57.

97. Ill.—Gorman v. Mullins, 50 N.E. 222, 172 Ill. 349.

98. Wis.—Schafer v. Luke, 8 N.W. 857, 51 Wis. 669.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 59.

99. Mo.—Heady v. Crouse, 100 S.W. 1052, 203 Mo. 100, 120 Am.S.R. 643.

other jurisdictions, such power is recognized when its exercise would be to the benefit of the infant.[1] A court of equity may exercise such power under constitutional provisions which confer on it full jurisdiction of a minor's business,[2] but it may do so only in conformity with statutes prescribing the manner in which it may be done.[3]

Support, maintenance, and education. A very usual purpose for which a sale of an infant's land may be ordered is the maintenance and support or education of the infant.[4] Such sale should be ordered only when his personal estate is insufficient for this purpose,[5] and he is without other means of support or education.[6] It should not be ordered unless his parents are unable to maintain and educate him.[7]

§ 64. —— Proceedings to Obtain Order of Sale

a. In general
b. Nature of proceedings
c. Parties
d. Application
e. Pleadings subsequent to application
f. Family meeting
g. Hearing
h. Reference and appraisement of property
i. Order or decree

a. In General

As a general rule, in order for the court to have jurisdiction to order a sale of an infant's property, there must be at least a substantial compliance with the procedure provided by statute.

While mere formal defects or irregularities may not vitiate the proceedings,[8] as a general rule, in order to give the court jurisdiction there must be compliance with the procedure provided by statute.[9] In some cases it has been held that a strict compliance with the statutory requirements,[10] as well as with the rules of practice,[11] is necessary. At least there should be substantial compliance with the procedure provided.[12] It has been held that, in the absence of proof, there is no presumption of compliance with the statutory requirements.[13]

Proceedings to obtain an order of sale on the application of the guardian of the minor's property are considered in Guardian and Ward §§ 110–118.

b. Nature of Proceedings

As a general rule a proceeding to obtain an order to sell an infant's realty for the payment of debts is considered adversary to the infant and not in rem, and a proceeding in which a sale is sought by a guardian or next friend for the benefit of the infant is not considered to be adversary to the infant and is in the nature of a proceeding in rem.

As a general rule, unless otherwise provided by statute, a proceeding to obtain an order to sell an infant's real estate for the payment of debts is considered to be adversary to the infant,[14] and not in rem,[15] and a proceeding in which a sale is sought by a guardian or next friend for the benefit of the infant is not considered to be adversary to the infant,[16] and is in the nature of a proceeding in rem.[17] Thus, where the sale is sought for the in-

1. Ala.—McCreary v. Billing, 58 So. 311, 176 Ala. 314, Ann.Cas.1915A 561.
Tenn.—Holt v. Hamlin, 111 S.W. 241, 120 Tenn. 496.

2. Miss.—Neely v. Craig, 139 So. 835, 162 Miss. 712—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429—Crawford v. Solomon, 95 So. 686, 131 Miss. 792.

3. Miss.—Clark v. Foster, 70 So. 583, 110 Miss. 543.

4. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 63.

5. Ky.—Luscher v. Julian, 190 S.W. 692, 173 Ky. 150.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 64.

6. S.C.—Fairey v. Strange, 104 S.E. 325, 115 S.C. 10.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 65.

7. Ky.—Luscher v. Julian, 190 S.W. 692, 173 Ky. 150.
31 C.J. p 1041 note 66.

8. Ky.—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658.
31 C.J. p 1042 note 82.

9. Fla.—Standard Oil Co. v. Mehrtens, 118 So. 216, 96 Fla. 455—Wilkins v. Deen Turpentine Co., 94 So. 508, 84 Fla. 457.
Ky.—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658.
Miss.—Clark v. Foster, 70 So. 583, 110 Miss. 543.
Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173.
31 C.J. p 1042 note 83.

Commencement of proceedings before clerk

Where special proceeding for sale of infants' contingent interests in realty was commenced before the clerk instead of being brought at term by summons, proceeding was a nullity for want of jurisdiction and judgment therein was void.—Butler v. Winston, 27 S.E.2d 124, 223 N.C. 421.

10. N.Y.—Ellwood v. Northrup, 12 N.E. 590, 106 N.Y. 172.
31 C.J. p 1042 note 84.

11. N.Y.—Moscowitz v. Homberger, 43 N.Y.S. 1130, 19 Misc. 429.

12. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691—Skidmore v. Napier, 166 S.W.2d 439, 292 Ky. 311.
Okl.—Carlile v. National Oil & Development Co., 201 P. 377, 83 Okl. 217.
Va.—Newman v. Light, 148 S.E. 818, 152 Va. 760.

13. N.Y.—Ellwood v. Northrup, 12 N.E. 590, 106 N.Y. 172.

14. Wis.—Weld v. Johnson Mfg. Co., 54 N.W. 335, 998, 84 Wis. 537.
31 C.J. p 1042 notes 88, 92, p 1043 notes 96, 97.

15. Iowa.—Good v. Norley, 28 Iowa 188.

16. Ark.—Watts v. Hicks, 178 S.W. 924, 119 Ark. 621.
31 C.J. p 1042 notes 90, 93.

17. Neb.—Myers v. McGavock, 58 N.W. 522, 39 Neb. 843, 42 Am.S.R. 627.
31 C.J. p 1042 note 91, p 1043 note 94.

fant's education and maintenance, the proceeding is not considered adversary.[18]

c. Parties

(1) In general
(2) Guardian ad litem

(1) In General

All persons designated by statute as necessary to the proceedings must be made parties thereto. The infant is a necessary party if a statute expressly so provides, and he may also be necessary if the proceedings are considered adversary in nature.

The presence of necessary parties required by statute is jurisdictional and a decree rendered in their absence is void.[19] All parties in interest should be brought before the court.[20] Under statutes specifically so providing those persons who would be the heirs or distributees of the infant if he were dead should be made parties.[21] The court may allow any near relative of the infant to become a party to the action for the purpose of protecting the interest of the infant.[22] There is no authority for uniting in a suit to sell an infant's interest in land, persons who claim a legal title adverse to the infant's, and compelling them to litigate that claim and pronouncing on it in such suit.[23] A person claiming an interest in the property adverse to that of the infant has no right to intervene.[24]

Parties to proceedings to obtain an order of sale on the application of the guardian of the minor's property are considered in Guardian and Ward § 111.

Infant as party. The infant is a necessary party to the proceedings if a statute expressly so provides,[25] or he may be a necessary party if the proceedings as instituted are considered adversary in nature;[26] otherwise the infant is not a necessary party.[27] Where a statute requires the infant to be made a party defendant in proceedings to sell the infant's estate for debts of his ancestor, the fact that he is a party plaintiff is not sufficient;[28] but the statute does not apply where the suit is brought primarily to divide the land, and the application of some of the proceeds of the property to pay the ancestor's debts is merely an incident to the proceedings.[29]

(2) Guardian ad Litem

Generally, where the proceedings are adversary in nature and the interests of the infant are unprotected or not adequately represented, the court should appoint a guardian ad litem to represent his interests, but, where the proceedings are not adversary or the interests of the infant are adequately represented, no appointment of a guardian ad litem is necessary.

Generally, under statutes or rules of practice, where the proceedings are adversary in nature and the interests of the infant are unprotected or not adequately represented, the court should appoint a guardian ad litem to represent his interests,[30] but, where the proceedings are not adversary or the interests of the infant are adequately represented, no appointment of a guardian ad litem is necessary.[31]

18. Ill.—Spring v. Kane, 86 Ill. 580.
Neb.—Myers v. McGavock, 58 N.W. 522, 39 Neb. 843, 42 Am.S.R. 627.

19. Va.—Newman v. Light, 148 S.E. 818, 152 Va. 760—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173—Park v. Stephenson, 104 S.E. 39, 127 Va. 431.

20. Ky.—Stovall v. Oates, 154 S.W. 914, 153 Ky. 81.

Persons interested in proceeds under will

Where the application of some of the proceeds of the sale is provided for by will, the persons interested in the proceeds under the will should be made parties to the proceedings.—Shull v. Rigby, 144 S.E. 372, 196 N.C. 4.

21. Va.—Newman v. Light, 148 S.E. 818, 152 Va. 760—Parker v. Stephenson, 104 S.E. 39, 127 Va. 431.

Mother as necessary party

In proceedings for sale of land descending to infants from father, for payment of his debts, mother would not be heir of infants and a necessary party where deceased had brother living, and a statute of descent provides that real estate descends to kindred of that parent from whom it was derived.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173.

Commonwealth as necessary party in absence of heirs

Under such a statute, the commonwealth, made distributee of a person's personal estate in the absence of heirs by statute, and to which real estate would have escheated, was not a necessary party, although the infant had no heirs.—Farant Inv. Corporation v. Francis, 122 S.E. 141, 138 Va. 417.

22. Ark.—Watts v. Hicks, 178 S.W. 924, 119 Ark. 621.

23. N.Y.—Onderdonk v. Mott, 34 Barb. 106.

24. Puerto Rico.—Surinach v. Ninliat, 17 Puerto Rico 63.

25. Ky.—Wilson v. Stephens, 161 S.W.2d 604, 290 Ky. 390.
31 C.J. p 1043 note 6.

26. Kan.—Crapster v. Taylor, 87 P. 1138, 74 Kan. 771.
31 C.J. p 1043 note 6.

27. Ark.—Watts v. Hicks, 178 S.W. 924, 119 Ark. 621.

28. Ky.—Clark v. Satterfield's Adm'r, 26 S.W.2d 516, 233 Ky. 600—Hicks v. Winn, 248 S.W. 499, 198 Ky. 192.

29. Ky.—Clark v. Satterfield's Adm'r, 26 S.W.2d 516, 233 Ky. 600—Baxter Realty Co. v. Martin, 216 S.W. 110, 185 Ky. 697.

30. Fla.—Standard Oil Co. v. Mehrtens, 118 So. 216, 96 Fla. 455.
Ind.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 80 Ind. App. 282.
31 C.J. p 1043 note 9.

31. Ohio.—Judy v. Trollinger, 144 N.E. 44, 110 Ohio St. 576.
31 C.J. p 1043 note 10.

Representation by next friend

Sale of land on foreclosure of vendor's lien was held not invalid, because one of heirs of purchaser was a minor without a lawful guardian and no guardian ad litem was appointed to represent him, where only relief sought against such minor was a foreclosure of lien and he appeared in motion to set aside sale by his brother as next friend, who was a party to cross action for affirma-

While it has been held that, if a guardian ad litem is necessary, the failure to appoint him[32] or his void appointment[33] renders the judgment or decree ordering the sale invalid, it has also been held that the failure to appoint a guardian ad litem is not necessarily fatal to a sale if it appears to be beneficial to the infant,[34] and mere irregularities in the order or decree of appointment will not render the judgment or decree of sale void[35] where the sale has been consummated and it is beneficial to the infant.[36] Under express statutory provisions a guardian ad litem may be appointed before the infant is served with process if all the parties on whom process may be served are plaintiffs in the action,[37] but in all other cases no appointment of a guardian ad litem shall be made until after the infant is served with process.[38]

Representation of infants by guardian ad litem in litigation generally is considered infra §§ 107–113. Representation of infant in proceedings to sell decedent's realty is considered in Executors and Administrators § 561 b.

d. Application

(1) Necessity and sufficiency
(2) Notice of application

(1) Necessity and Sufficiency

(a) In general
(b) Showing reason and necessity for sale
(c) Description of property or interest to be sold
(d) Signature and verification

(a) In General

The petition must be presented to a court of competent jurisdiction, and it must aver every fact necessary to confer jurisdiction on the court as well as all matters which the statute requires to be set forth.

While it has been held that the court may depart from the rule requiring the application to be by petition, and allow an order on oral application,[39] the application to sell an infant's property ordinarily must be by petition,[40] in writing,[41] to a court of competent jurisdiction,[42] averring every fact necessary to confer jurisdiction on the court,[43] as well as all matters which the statute requires to be set forth.[44] A petition embracing substantially all that is required by the statute is sufficient.[45] The authority to sell real estate carries with it the implied power to determine the sufficiency of the pleadings presented to the court for that purpose.[46] The petition may, in the discretion of the court, be granted, although it does not in form comply with the requirements of the rules of the court.[47] No demurrer is needed on the part of the infant to protect him from defective allegations in the application.[48] The fact that the petition is for a private sale of the infant's share after the whole had been offered at public sale is no fraud on the court where the court has been informed of the facts before granting the petition.[49]

Necessity and sufficiency of an application by a guardian of a ward's property are considered in Guardian and Ward §§ 112, 115.

Exhibits. Sometimes the petition is required to be accompanied by certain exhibits or certificates;[50] but this requirement is usually regarded as merely tive relief, in suit to foreclose lien and there was no allegation that minor was not represented in such cross action by such brother, or some other proper party as next friend.—Austin v. First State Bank & Trust Co., Tex.Civ.App., 275 S.W. 156.

32. Md.—Roche v. Waters, 18 A. 866.

33. Ky.—Roy v. Allen, 118 S.W. 981.

34. Ky.—Ohio Oil Co. v. West, 145 S.W.2d 1035, 284 Ky. 796.
31 C.J. p 1042 note 12.

35. W.Va.—Chapman v. Branch, 78 S.E. 235, 72 W.Va. 54.
31 C.J. p 1043 note 13.

36. Ky.—Crume v. Sherman, 215 S.W. 196, 185 Ky. 376.

37. Ky.—First State Bank v. Thacker's Adm'x, 284 S.W. 1020, 215 Ky. 186.
Necessity and sufficiency of notice of application see infra subdivision d (2) of this section.

38. Ky.—First State Bank v. Thacker's Adm'x, supra—Cain v. Hall, 278 S.W. 152, 211 Ky. 817.

39. N.Y.—O'Reilly v. King, 25 N.Y. Super. 587, 28 How.Pr. 408.

40. Ala.—Holten v. Rogers, 67 So. 1004, 191 Ala. 48.
31 C.J. p 1042 note 17.

41. Neb.—Hubermann v. Evans, 65 N.W. 1045, 46 Neb. 784.
R.I.—Barry v. Clarke, 13 R.I. 65, distinguishing Robbins v. Tafft, 12 R.I. 67.

42. N.Y.—In re Bookhout, 21 Barb. 348.

43. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691.
31 C.J. p 1043 note 20.

44. Ky.—Fields v. Letcher State Bank, 54 S.W.2d 910, 246 Ky. 229—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658.
Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173.
31 C.J. p 1043 note 21.

45. Ky.—Noell v. Webster, 86 S.W. 2d 1013, 260 Ky. 823.
31 C.J. p 1043 note 22.

46. Neb.—Trumble v. Williams, 24 N.W. 716, 18 Neb. 144.
Collateral attack on ground of insufficiency of petition see infra § 66 n.

47. N.Y.—Cole v. Gourley, 79 N.Y. 527, affirming 9 Hun 493—O'Reilly v. King, 25 N.Y.Super. 587, 28 How. Pr. 408.

48. Va.—Parker v. Stephenson, 104 S.E. 39, 127 Va. 431—Coleman v. Virginia Stave & Heading Co., 70 S.E. 545, 112 Va. 61.

49. Pa.—Swartz v. Crum, 167 A. 414, 110 Pa.Super. 102.

50. Mass.—In re Williams, 3 Mass 397.
Mo.—Pattee v. Thomas, 58 Mo. 163—Overton v. Johnson, 17 Mo. 442
Filing of title papers
(1) In suit for sale of land in which infant has joint interest where directory, and not jurisdictional.[51]

Designation of parties in interest. It is usual to designate the parties in interest in some manner in the petition,[52] but an erroneous description or designation does not necessarily vitiate the proceeding.[53]

(b) Showing Reason and Necessity for Sale

As a general rule the petition must contain allegations of facts showing the reasons for which the sale is sought and the necessity or propriety of making it.

As a general rule it is required that the petition contain allegations of facts showing the reasons for which the sale is sought and the necessity or propriety of making it.[54] It is not necessary, however, that such facts should be specifically alleged, if it appears by reasonable inference from the facts stated in the petition that one or more of the contingencies authorizing the sale exists.[55] A general averment in regard to the necessity of the sale may be sufficient to give the court jurisdiction,[56] although it is better practice to set forth fully all the facts and circumstances rendering the sale necessary.[57]

Condition of estate. The petition is usually required to set forth the condition of the estate in such a manner as to enable the court to judge of the propriety or necessity of the sale.[58] It should state the real[59] and personal[60] property of the infant, his income, and the debts against his estate.[61] The insufficiency of the personal property ordinarily must be alleged,[62] especially where the sale is for the payment of his debts;[63] but, if the sale is asked on the ground of expediency, for better investment of the proceeds, the petition need only state the condition of the estate to be sold, and the omission of the petition to describe and show the condition of the ward's personal estate will not affect the question of jurisdiction.[64] A petition for a sale of property to pay debts of the ancestor must, in accordance with statutory provisions, set forth the value of the property and the amount of the debts, and facts sufficient to show that the personalty is insufficient for the payment of all debts.[65]

Stating several grounds. The fact that two distinctly different grounds of sale are joined in the same bill or petition will not affect the validity of the sale,[66] although the practice is irregular.[67]

(c) Description of Property or Interest to Be Sold

The petition should contain a correct description of the property or interest to be sold. Any description which provides the means of identifying the property is sufficient as against a collateral attack.

The petition should contain a correct description of the property or interest to be sold.[68] Some cases hold that the description is essential and that an order on a petition with the description omitted and the sale thereunder is void,[69] while other cases hold that a mistake in the description will not affect the jurisdiction of the court or the validity of the purchaser's title.[70] Any description will be sufficient when collaterally attacked when it provides the means of identifying the property.[71] The proceedings will not be invalidated by reason of an erroneous description of the property, when the remainder of the description, after rejecting that which is erroneous, is sufficiently certain to enable property cannot be divided without materially impairing its value, it is not necessary to file title papers.—Greenway's Guardian ad Litem v. Greenway, 91 S.W.2d 553, 262 Ky. 818.

(2) Where the petition sets up the source of title, it is not necessary that the title papers should be filed.—Smith v. Leavill, 29 S.W. 319, 16 Ky.L. 609.

51. Mo.—Pattee v. Thomas, 58 Mo. 163—Overton v. Johnson, 17 Mo. 442.

52. Ala.—McQueen v. Grigsby, 44 So. 961, 152 Ala. 656.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 29.

53. Mo.—Exendine v. Morris, 8 Mo. App. 383.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 30.

54. Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S. E. 541, 142 Va. 173.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 32.

55. U.S.—Sprigg v. Stump, C.C.Or., 8 F. 207, 7 Sawy. 280.
Cal.—Fitch v. Miller, 20 Cal. 352.
Miss.—Hanks v. Neal, 44 Miss. 212.

56. Iowa.—Bunce v. Bunce, 13 N.W. 705, 59 Iowa 533.

57. Mich.—In re Dorr, Walk. 145.

58. Cal.—Smith v. Biscailuz, 21 P. 15, 83 Cal. 344, reheard 23 P. 314, 83 Cal. 344.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 36.

59. Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S. E. 541, 142 Va. 173.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 37.

60. Va.—Gee v. McCormick, supra.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 38.

61. N.Y.—Title Guarantee & Trust Co. v. Rudershausen, 164 N.Y.S. 15.

62. Ky.—Luscher v. Julian, 190 S.W. 692, 173 Ky. 150.

63. Tenn.—Kindell v. Titus, 9 Heisk. 727.

64. Cal.—Smith v. Biscailuz, 21 P. 15, 83 Cal. 344, reheard 23 P. 314, 83 Cal. 344.

65. Ky.—Jones v. Keen, 160 S.W.2d 164, 289 Ky. 779—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658.

66. Or.—Walker v. Goldsmith, 12 P. 537, 14 Or. 125.
Tenn.—Kindell v. Titus, 9 Heisk. 727.

67. Pa.—Graham's Estate, 14 Wkly. N.C. 31.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 46.

68. Neb.—Hubermann v. Evans, 65 N.W. 1045, 46 Neb. 784.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 48.

69. Neb.—Hubermann v. Evans, supra.

70. Cal.—Scarf v. Aldrich, 32 P. 324, 97 Cal. 360, 33 Am.S.R. 190.
31 C.J. p 1045 note 50.

71. Neb.—Hubermann v. Evans, 65 N.W. 1045, 46 Neb. 784.
Wash.T.—Brazee v. Schofield, 3 P. 265, 2 Wash.T. 209, affirmed 8 S.Ct. 604, 124 U.S. 495, 31 L.Ed. 484.

the land to be located.[72] Where the contrary does not appear, it may be presumed that the estate described in the petition includes all that the infant owns.[73]

Value of property. An allegation as to the assessed value has been held to comply sufficiently with a statutory requirement that the petition state the value of the property to be sold.[74]

(d) Signature and Verification

In the absence of a statutory requirement, the signature of the applicant or verification of the petition is not essential to the validity of the sale. When required, the verification should comply with the statute, but the want of a verification is not usually regarded as a jurisdictional defect.

While, unless required by statute, it is not essential to the validity of the sale that a petition be signed by applicant,[75] it is usual and proper that he do so.[76]

Verification. Unless required by statute it is not necessary that the petition should be verified.[77] The verification, when necessary, should be in accordance with the statutory requirements[78] and in the form prescribed by the rules of court.[79] While the want of a verification when required may constitute error,[80] it is not usually regarded as a jurisdictional defect, and the sale will be sustained on a collateral attack.[81]

(2) Notice of Application

(a) Necessity

(b) Requisites and sufficiency

(a) Necessity

Notice of the application must be given to the persons designated by statute.

When required by statute notice of the application must be given actually or constructively to the infant himself, or some one interested in his welfare,[82] and the courts cannot rightfully dispense with the requirement of such notice.[83] Such want of notice is not excused or cured by the appointment of a guardian ad litem and defense made by him,[84] or consent to the proceedings given by him.[85] Whether or not a want of such notice renders the proceeding void usually depends on the view taken as to the nature of the proceeding. If the proceeding is considered adversary to the infant, it is generally held that a sale made without giving the notice required by statute is absolutely void.[86] Thus in a proceeding to sell the real estate of an infant to pay the debt of his ancestor, which proceeding is regarded as adversary, notice is a jurisdictional requirement.[87] If the proceeding is not regarded as adversary, it is held that the jurisdiction to make the order does not depend on the giving of notice, but that it is only necessary that the court should have jurisdiction of the subject matter;[88] and at most, in such case, the proceeding is merely voidable but not void.[89] Under statutes providing that in order to authorize the sale the infant be summoned in the manner provided by the service of process, it has been held that failure to do so is a jurisdictional defect.[90] It has been held that, in the absence of statute requiring the service of proc-

72. Neb.—Hubermann v. Evans, 65 N.W. 1045, 46 Neb. 784.

73. Ohio.—Mauarr v. Parrish, 26 Ohio St. 636.
Va.—Parker v. Stephenson, 104 S.E. 39, 127 Va. 431.

74. N.Y.—In re Wilbert, 244 N.Y.S. 216, 230 App.Div. 764, rearguing 239 N.Y.S. 223, 228 App.Div. 703.
However, it has also been held in an earlier case that the petition should allege the real market value of the property in question and that an allegation as to the assessed value is not sufficient.—Title Guarantee & Trust Co. v. Rudershausen, 164 N.Y.S. 15.

75. Mich.—Ellsworth v. Hall, 12 N. W. 512, 48 Mich. 407—Stewart v. Bailey, 28 Mich. 251.

76. Wis.—Mohr v. Porter, 8 N.W. 364, 51 Wis. 487.
31 C.J. p 1045 note 59.

77. Miss.—Hanks v. Neal, 44 Miss. 212.

78. Va.—Lancaster v. Barton, 24 S. E. 251, 92 Va. 615.
31 C.J. p 1045 note 63.

79. N.Y.—Matter of Lansing, 3 Paige 265.

80. Mo.—Castleman v. Relfe, 50 Mo. 583.

81. Iowa.—Hamiel v. Donnelly, 39 N.W. 210, 75 Iowa 93.
31 C.J. p 1045 note 66.

82. Fla.—Standard Oil Co. v. Mehrtens, 118 So. 216, 96 Fla. 455.
Ky.—First State Bank v. Thacker's Adm'x, 284 S.W. 1020, 215 Ky. 186.
N.C.—Welch v. Welch, 140 S.E. 436, 194 N.C. 633.

83. W.Va.—French v. Pocahontas Coal & Coke Co., 104 S.E. 554, 87 W.Va. 226.

84. Ky.—Walker v. Perkins, 76 S.W. 2d 251, 256 Ky. 442—First State Bank v. Thacker's Adm'x, 284 S.W. 1020, 215 Ky. 186.
W.Va.—French v. Pocahontas Coal & Coke Co., 104 S.E. 554, 87 W.Va. 226.

85. N.Y.—Donovan v. Flynn, 220 N. Y.S. 44, 219 App.Div. 471.

86. Fla.—Standard Oil Co. v. Mehrtens, 118 So. 216, 96 Fla. 455.
31 C.J. p 1045 note 72.

87. Ky.—Hicks v. Winn, 248 S.W. 499, 198 Ky. 192.
31 C.J. p 1045 note 74.
Necessity for notice of counterclaim.
A statute providing that no summons is required on a set-off or counterclaim against plaintiff does not apply where, contrary to the statute, infants were joined as plaintiffs in an action to sell their interests in their ancestors' lands for the payment of debts, and where defendants filed a counterclaim.—Hicks v. Winn, supra.

88. Cal.—Scarf v. Aldrich, 32 P. 324, 97 Cal. 360, 33 Am.S.R. 190.
31 C.J. p 1045 note 76.

89. N.C.—Welch v. Welch, 140 S.E. 436, 194 N.C. 633.
W.Va.—French v. Pocahontas Coal & Coke Co., 104 S.E. 554, 87 W.Va. 226.

90. Ky.—First State Bank v. Thacker's Adm'x, 284 S.W. 1020, 215 Ky.

ess on the infant, the validity of the proceedings is not affected by the failure to serve him with process when the infant was in court and a guardian ad litem was appointed who duly answered for him.[91]

Notice of application by a guardian is considered in Guardian and Ward § 113.

Notice to next of kin and others. In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, it is required that the next of kin of the infant or other persons legally or beneficially interested shall be summoned or otherwise notified of the application to sell the infant's land.[92] Compliance with such requirement is a condition precedent to the exercise by the court of jurisdiction to order a sale, and consequently to the validity of the sale.[93]

(b) Requisites and Sufficiency

The notice should give the necessary information and comply with statutory requirements.

The notice should give the necessary information and comply with statutory requirements,[94] but mere defects or irregularities in the notice itself or in the service thereof does not render the proceeding void.[95] It is not necessary to state the names of the heirs or other interested parties in the notice.[96]

Description of property. Even though it may be unnecessary for the notice to describe the land desired to be sold, it is the better practice to do so;[97] and if the notice assumes to describe the land it must be substantially correct;[98] thus while, where the notice does not contain an entire misdescription of the land intended to be sold, the petition will be good for so much of the land as is properly described,[99] where the notice contains an entire misdescription, the sale will be void.[1]

Time designated for hearing application. The notice should state the time when the petition will be presented to the court and a hearing had.[2] Where the notice gives the wrong time, or no time, for the hearing of the petition, it is equivalent to no notice, and a sale under it is void.[3]

Manner of giving notice. The manner of giving notice must comply with statutory provisions.[4] In accordance with such provisions the notice may be permitted or required to be by personal service[5] or by publication,[6] or by either[7] or both[8] personal service or publication.

Time of giving notice. Where notice of the application is required, it must be given the required length of time before the hearing.[9] The mere fact that the notice is dated before the date of filing the application in court will not render the sale void.[10]

e. Pleadings Subsequent to Application

An answer must be filed by the infant or his guardian in accordance with statutory requirements.

An answer must be filed by the infant or his guardian in accordance with statutory requirements, and a failure of a guardian ad litem to file an answer in his own proper person for infants over fourteen, as required by statute, is a defect in the proceedings.[11] However, failure of minor remaindermen to file personal answers in accordance with statutory provisions does not require the court to declare the decree void after a long period of time has elapsed where the remaindermen were represented by a guardian ad litem and the decree has been beneficial to the minors.[12] A joint answer filed by the infant and his guardian ad litem is a 186—Hicks v. Winn, 248 S.W. 499, 198 Ky. 192.

31 C.J. p 1046 note 78.

91. D.C.—Cuyler v. Cuyler, 16 D. C. 568.

92. Okl.—Rock Island Implement Co. v. Pearsey, 270 P. 846, 133 Okl. 1.
31 C.J. p 1046 note 81.

93. Okl.—Rock Island Implement Co. v. Pearsey, supra.
31 C.J. p 1046 note 82.

94. Fla.—McIntyre v. Parker, 82 So. 253, 77 Fla. 690.
Iowa.—Lyon v. Vanatta, 35 Iowa 521.

95. Ind.—Tucker v. Sellers, 30 N.E. 531, 130 Ind. 514.
31 C.J. p 1046 note 84.

96. Ill.—Hobson v. Ewan, 62 Ill. 146.

97. Iowa.—Lyon v. Vanatta, 35 Iowa 521.

98. Iowa.—Lyon v. Vanatta, supra—Frazier v. Steenrod, 7 Iowa 339, 71 Am.D. 447.

99. Iowa.—Frazier v. Steenrod, supra.

1. Iowa.—Lyon v. Vanatta, 35 Iowa 521.

2. Cal.—Scarf v. Aldrich, 32 P. 324, 97 Cal. 360, 33 Am.S.R. 190.
31 C.J. p 1046 note 91.

3. Iowa.—Lyon v. Vanatta, 35 Iowa 521.

4. Okl.—Rock Island Implement Co. v. Pearsey, 270 P. 846, 133 Okl. 1.

5. Iowa.—Hamiel v. Donnelly, 39 N.W. 210, 75 Iowa 93.
31 C.J. p 1046 note 96.

Infant over fourteen years of age
In action for sale of indivisible property jointly owned by adults and infants, summons was properly served, in accordance with statutory provisions, on infant instead of on some one for him, where infant was over fourteen years of age at time of institution of action.—Ohio Oil Co. v. West, 145 S.W.2d 1035, 284 Ky. 796.

6. Fla.—Standard Oil Co. v. Mehrtens, 118 So. 216, 96 Fla. 455.
31 C.J. p 1046 note 97.

7. Ill.—Hobson v. Ewan, 62 Ill. 146.
Ind.—Doe v. Bowen, 8 Ind. 197, 65 Am.D. 758.

8. Okl.—Rock Island Implement Co. v. Pearsey, 270 P. 846, 133 Okl. 1.

9. Okl.—Rock Island Implement Co. v. Pearsey, 270 P. 846, 133 Okl. 1.
31 C.J. p 1047 note 99.

10. Kan.—Bradford v. Larkin, 45 P. 69, 57 Kan. 90.

11. Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173.

12. Tenn.—Johnson v. Covington, 251 S.W. 893, 148 Tenn. 47.

sufficient compliance with a statute requiring an infant over the age of fourteen years to answer the bill.[13]

f. Family Meeting

In Louisiana a family meeting must declare that the sale is necessary or of evident advantage to the infant before the court may order a sale for the infant's benefit.

In Louisiana a family meeting must be had to declare that the sale is necessary or of evident advantage to the infant before the court may order a sale of the infant's land for his benefit.[14] It has been held that an administrator may, for the purpose of paying debts, sell the property of a succession in which minors are interested without the advice of a family meeting.[15] A decree homologating the proceedings of a family meeting is conclusive[16] and will protect a purchaser in good faith,[17] but if the proceedings have not been in conformity with statutory regulations, and the purchaser does not take in good faith, the sale may be set aside in a subsequent suit by the infant.[18]

The family meeting as necessary in a sale of a minor's property by a tutor is considered in Guardian and Ward § 116.

g. Hearing

The court should require affirmative proof of the essential allegations of the petition notwithstanding admissions by the guardian ad litem. The facts proved must be sufficient to establish the necessity and propriety of the sale.

The court should require affirmative proof of the essential allegations of the petition in order that it may determine whether the facts requisite to the granting of the petition exist,[19] notwithstanding the infant's guardian ad litem admits allegations of the bill regarding the property,[20] and it should hear evidence of the value of the property.[21] The facts proved must be sufficient to establish the necessity and propriety of the sale,[22] such as that it will be for the benefit of the infant,[23] or that it is necessary for the payment of debts.[24] However, the indivisibility of land necessary to authorize a sale for distribution of land in which infants have an interest need not be proved where the facts pleaded make it reasonably clear that the element of essential indivisibility to authorize such a sale exists.[25] Under some statutes the court may proceed in a summary manner to inquire into the merits of the application.[26]

The hearing on an application for a sale by the guardian of the infant's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 117.

Discretion. The granting of the application is a matter within the discretion of the court,[27] although such discretion is not absolute but will be controlled when improperly exercised.[28]

Validity of title. The court is without jurisdiction to determine whether the title in the property is good, doubtful, or bad,[29] except in so far as it affects the adequacy of the price offered by a purchaser.[30]

Liens. A sale should not be authorized until all liens against the land for taxes or otherwise are ascertained and determined so that a fair sale may be had and a clear title secured to the purchaser.[31]

13. Tenn.—State ex rel. Tobin v. Independent Life Ins. of America, 100 S.W.2d 228, 171 Tenn. 13.

14. La.—Delouche v. Rosenthal, 78 So. 970, 143 La. 581.
31 C.J. p 1047 note 3.

15. La.—Woniger v. Falletta, 8 La. A., Orleans, 280.

16. La.—Becnal v. Louisiana Cypress Lumber Co., 64 So. 380, 134 La. 467.

17. La.—Dauterive v. Shaw, 17 So. 345, 47 La.Ann. 882.

18. La.—Fradella v. Pumilia, 147 So. 496, 177 La. 47.

19. Ky.—Wagner v. Peoples Building & Loan Ass'n, 167 S.W.2d 825, 292 Ky. 691—Jones v. Keen, 160 S.W.2d 164, 289 Ky. 779—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658.

20. Tenn.—McClure v. Keeling, 43 S.W.2d 383, 163 Tenn. 251.

21. Mo.—McConnell v. Deal, 246 S.W. 594, 296 Mo. 275.

Evidence held to show adequacy of price offered
S.C.—Stafford v. Stafford, 20 S.E.2d 217, 200 S.C. 1.

22. Ky.—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658.
Miss.—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429.
31 C.J. p 1047 note 9.

Evidence held sufficient
S.C.—Stafford v. Stafford, 20 S.E.2d 217, 200 S.C. 1.
31 C.J. p 1047 note 8 [a].

Evidence held insufficient
Ala.—Gassenheimer v. Gassenheimer, 18 So. 520, 108 Ala. 651.
31 C.J. p 1047 note 8 [b].

23. Miss.—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429.
31 C.J. p 1047 note 10.

24. Ky.—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658—Luscher v. Julian, 190 S.W. 692, 173 Ky. 150.

25. Ky.—Cini v. Ball, 156 S.W.2d 486, 288 Ky. 471—Ohio Oil Co. v. West, 145 S.W.2d 1035, 284 Ky. 796.

26. Wis.—Schafer v. Luke, 8 N.W. 857, 51 Wis. 669.
31 C.J. p 1047 note 11.

27. Iowa.—Dickinson v. Hughes, 37 Iowa 160.
N.Y.—Matter of McIlvaine, 15 Abb. Pr. 91.

28. Iowa.—Dickinson v. Hughes, 37 Iowa 160.

29. Pa.—In re Burke's Estate, 15 Pa.Co. 9.

Construction of will
There is no prerequisite in the statute requiring that the will under which infants hold land shall be construed before a sale is ordered. —Lancaster v. Barton, 24 S.E. 251, 92 Va. 615.

30. Pa.—In re Burke's Estate, 15 Pa. Co. 9.

31. W.Va.—White v. Straus, 35 S.E. 843, 47 W.Va. 794.

Suggestions by infant. When an infant has arrived at an age of discretion, he may suggest to the court facts and views of policy in regard to his estate which, if worthy of consideration, should be given great weight.[32]

At chambers. The power of a judge to conduct a hearing and grant an order of sale at chambers must be found in the statutes on the subject.[33] In the absence of statutory authority the order cannot be made at chambers,[34] but under some statutes it may be made at chambers under given circumstances.[35]

The power of judges at chambers generally is considered in the C.J.S. title Judges § 48, also 33 C.J. p 964 note 64–p 969 note 14.

h. Reference and Appraisement of Property

When so required by statute the court must appoint a referee, a master, or commissioners, to ascertain the necessity and propriety of the sale, and it has been held that the report is essential to the jurisdiction of the court. By force of statute in some jurisdictions the infant's property must be appraised before it is sold.

When so required by statute, the court must appoint a referee, a master, or commissioners, to ascertain the necessity and propriety of the sale, and whether the interest of the infant requires it,[36] and it has been held that the report required by the statute is essential to the jurisdiction of the court.[37] Even though this procedure is not required by statute, the appointment of a commissioner to make inquiries concerning matters material to the validity of the sale has been recommended.[38] The referee master or commissioners, appointed in accordance with the statute, must act on evidence judicially presented and not act merely perfunctorily,[39] and the testimony on which the opinion of the master or commissioner as to the necessity and expediency of the sale is founded should be reported to the court so that it may form an opinion as to such necessity for itself.[40] The report must comply with the statutory requirements[41] and the rules of court.[42] A discrepancy between the description of the land to be sold in the referee's report and in the petition for the sale is a valid objection to the title.[43]

In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, the infant's property must be appraised before it can be sold,[44] and a sale without an appraisement has been held to be void,[45] but there is also authority that the sufficiency of the appraisement cannot be collaterally questioned.[46] In some jurisdictions the property cannot be sold for less than the amount of the appraisement[47] except where it is sold to pay the debts of the ancestor.[48] In other jurisdictions it cannot be sold for less than a certain proportion of the appraised value, and a sale in contravention of such requirement has been held to be absolutely void.[49] On the other hand, however, it has been held that the sale cannot be collaterally attacked because the property sold for less than the appraised value;[50] at most such sale is merely voidable at the option of the infant.[51]

32. Okl.—In re Hickory, 182 P. 233, 75 Okl. 79.

33. Ga.—Mize v. Harber, 8 S.E.2d 1, 189 Ga. 737.

34. Ga.—Sparks v. Ridley, 103 S.E. 425, 150 Ga. 210.
31 C.J. p 1039 notes 6, 8.

35. Ga.—Mize v. Harber, 8 S.E.2d 1, 189 Ga. 737.
31 C.J. p 1039 notes 7, 8.

36. N.C.—Harrison v. Bradley, 40 N.C. 136.
31 C.J. p 1047 note 18–p 1048 note 20.

37. N.Y.—Hegeman v. Stearns Realty Co., 102 N.Y.S. 1025, 1117 App. Div. 754, affirmed 85 N.E. 1111, 192 N.Y. 557.
31 C.J. p 1048 note 21.

38. Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S. E. 541, 142 Va. 178.

Proper subjects for inquiry by commissioner

Suit for sale of infant's lands should be referred to master commissioner for inquiries as to real and personal estate of infant; where situated, its fee-simple and annual value, and liens, if any, against it; whether infants' interest would be promoted by selling or encumbering real estate or any part of it; what amount should be borrowed, and how proceeds should be distributed or invested if encumbered or sold; whether rights of any persons would be violated by such encumbrance, sale, and investment; who would be heirs at law of infant if he were dead, and whether all such persons were properly before court in cause. —Gee v. McCormick, supra.

39. N.J.—In re Heaton, 21 N.J.Eq. 221.
N.Y.—Matter of O'Brien, 155 N.Y.S. 552, 169 App.Div. 519.

40. S.C.—Bulow v. Buckner, 9 S.C. Eq. 401.
31 C.J. p 1048 note 26.

41. Ky.—Campbell v. Clay, 6 Bush 498.
31 C.J. p 1048 note 24.

42. N.Y.—Title Guarantee & Trust Co. v. Rudershausen, 164 N.Y.S. 15.
31 C.J. p 1048 note 25.

43. N.Y.—Title Guarantee & Trust Co. v. Rudershausen, supra.

44. Ind.—Meikel v. Borders, 29 N.E. 29, 129 Ind. 529.
31 C.J. p 1048, note 28.

45. Mo.—Strouse v. Drennan, 41 Mo. 289.

46. Cal.—Smith v. Biscailuz, 21 P. 15, 83 Cal. 344, 359, reheard 23 P. 314, 83 Cal. 344.
31 C.J. p 1048 note 30.

47. La.—Fraser v. Zylicz, 29 La.Ann. 534.

48. La.—Fraser v. Zylicz, supra—Towles v. Weeks, 7 La. 312—Woniger v. Falletta, 8 La.A., Orleans, 280.

49. Mo.—Carder v. Culbertson, 13 S. W. 88, 100 Mo. 269, 18 Am.S.R. 548.

50. Ind.—Meikel v. Borders, 29 N.E. 29, 129 Ind. 529.
31 C.J. p 1048 note 35.

51. La.—Richard v. Deuel, 11 Rob. 508.

Reference and appraisal of property on an application for sale by the guardian are considered in Guardian and Ward § 120.

i. Order or Decree

An order or decree of the court is necessary to authorize a sale of an infant's property, and it must comply with statutory requirements. The order or decree conclusively adjudicates everything necessarily considered and determined, and, if the court has jurisdiction, it is not subject to collateral attack. Before the passing of title it may be modified or set aside on proper notice and for good reason.

An order or decree of the court to that effect is necessary to authorize a sale of an infant's property.[52] The order or decree must comply with the statutory requirements,[53] and, in accordance therewith, it may be necessary for the order to show the existence of facts authorizing the sale,[54] to direct the manner of sale,[55] and to specify the time and place of sale.[56] Where the sale is to be a public one, the order should direct proper notice to be given.[57] The order or decree need not contain a statement of any facts not required by statute.[58] In decreeing a sale the court of equity may make such provisions as will protect the interest of the infant,[59] or, if necessary, the interests of persons not yet born who have contingent or vested interests.[60]

The order or decree on an application by the guardian of the infant's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 118.

Description of property. The order should contain a sufficient description of the land intended to be sold,[61] but any description by which the premises may be identified will be sufficient.[62] An order authorizing a sale of as much of the land as may be necessary to accomplish the desired purpose has been held void for uncertainty.[63]

Joint order. The fact that an order is joint for the sale of the property of several minors does not render the sale void.[64]

Operation and effect. The decree directing sale of the property conclusively adjudicates everything necessarily considered and determined in reaching the conclusion,[65] but it does not determine matters not involved in the proceedings.[66] The order may be collaterally attacked for want of jurisdiction,[67] but, if the court has jurisdiction, the order is conclusive until reversed or set aside,[68] and not subject to collateral attack.[69] Minors are concluded by the decree to the same extent as adults.[70]

Where nothing to the contrary appears in the record, it will be presumed that the order was made on a sufficient showing and was for the infant's benefit.[71] Where the record is lost, the court will in-

52. Ky.—Bill v. Burgess, 22 S.W. 84, 51 Ky.L. 41.
31 C.J. p 1048 note 38.

License to guardian as validating parent's contract
A license of the probate court authorizing the guardian to sell real estate of his infant ward did not validate and make irrevocable a previous contract for the sale of such lands, made by the infant's parent as agent for such infant, in the absence of express terms in the license to that effect, even if the court had power to ratify the voidable contract.—Freeman v. Fishman, 139 N.E. 846, 245 Mass. 222.

53. N.C.—Leary v. Fletcher, 23 N.C. 259.

54. N.C.—Spruill v. Davenport, 48 N.C. 42.
31 C.J. p 1049 note 41.

55. Ill.—Reid v. Morton, 6 N.E. 414, 119 Ill. 118.
31 C.J. p 1049 note 43.

56. Ill.—Benefield v. Albert, 24 N.E. 634, 132 Ill. 665.
31 C.J. p 1049 note 45.

57. Mich.—Schlee v. Darrow, 32 N.W. 717, 65 Mich. 362.

58. Pa.—Morrison v. Nellis, 7 A. 768, 115 Pa. 41.

59. S.C.—Kirkham v. First Nat. Bank, 147 S.E. 648, 149 S.C. 545.

Requiring deposit in trust
Where grantor, after conveying life estate to wife with remainder to children, requested reconveyance, in which wife concurred, court of equity on decreeing sale will require grantor to deposit in trust a sum equal to value of such property for benefit of children.—Cannon v. Cannon, 133 S.E. 556, 135 S.C. 183.

60. S.C.—Kirkham v. First Nat. Bank, 147 S.E. 648, 149 S.C. 545.

61. Neb.—Huberman v. Evans, 65 N.W. 1045, 46 Neb. 784.
31 C.J. p 1049 note 47.

62. N.C.—Williams v. Harrington, 33 N.C. 616, 53 Am.D. 421.

63. N.C.—Brock v. King, 48 N.C. 45.
31 C.J. p 1049 note 48.

64. Ind.—Doe v. Wise, 5 Blackf. 402.

65. Pa.—Swartz v. Crum, 167 A. 414, 110 Pa.Super. 102.

Implied finding as to compliance with statute
Where the bill in proceedings for the sale of an infant's land alleged that the infant had no kin or relations, and the court confirmed the report of commissioner, stating that all necessary parties were before the court, and that the infant had no relations whatever, and there was nothing on the face of the proceedings to negative the fact that the infant had no kin the court impliedly found compliance with the statute requiring the infant's "heirs or distributees if he were dead" to be made defendants, and such finding cannot be assailed collaterally.—Farant Inv. Corporation v. Francis, 122 S.E. 141, 138 Va. 417.

66. Terms of will
A proceeding to sell an infant's realty in which no reference is made to a will prohibiting a division of the property before the infant attains majority does not determine that the property may be sold under the terms of the will.—Bradley v. Bradley, 238 N.Y.S. 6, 228 App.Div. 629.

67. N.Y.—Losey v. Stanley, 42 N.E. 8, 147 N.Y. 560, reversing 31 N.Y.S. 950, 83 Hun 420.

68. Tenn.—Livingston v. Noe, 1 Lea 55.
Va.—Rhea v. Shields, 49 S.E. 70, 103 Va. 305.

69. Ala.—Holton v. Rogers, 67 So. 1004, 191 Ala. 48.
Ky.—Cini v. Ball, 156 S.W.2d 486, 288 Ky. 471.

70. Tenn.—Johnson v. Covington, 251 S.W. 893, 148 Tenn. 47.

71. Ark.—Redmond v. Anderson, 13 Ark. 449.

dulge a presumption that the judgment is regular and valid.[72]

Modification or vacation. At any time prior to the passing of title to a purchaser the order of sale may, on proper notice and for sufficient reason, be modified, vacated, or set aside.[73] In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, the order may be vacated or set aside after the term at which it has been rendered.[74] A proceeding by the infant after attaining majority to set aside the judgment must be timely instituted,[75] and a claim may be barred where the infant, after attaining majority, accepts the proceeds of the sale with knowledge of the facts.[76] In setting aside a portion of the decree the court may grant other relief to which the petitioner is entitled.[77]

Review. If the right to appeal exists, it cannot be exercised by one not a party to the proceedings.[78] The reviewing court will protect the infant's interests.[79]

§ 65. —— Bond

By force of statute in some jurisdictions the person conducting the sale is required to file a bond for the faithful discharge of his trust and the accounting for, and paying over of, all moneys received by him in the proceedings.

In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, the person conducting the sale is required to file a bond for the faithful discharge of his trust and the accounting for, and paying over of, all moneys received by him in the proceedings.[80] Sometimes the bond is not required to be given where the infant's interest is amply secured without it, as where the proceeds of sale are to be paid into, and invested or controlled by, the court,[81] or where the sale is not for cash and the purchase price remains a lien on the land,[82] or where the sale is ordered to pay a debt created in the purchase of the land,[83] or where the sale is ordered in a partition action,[84] or where the interest sold is an undivided interest worth less than one hundred dollars.[85] Where a bond is required by the statute, there is a conflict of authority as to the effect of the noncompliance with the requirement. In some jurisdictions it is held that a failure to require or give a bond renders the whole proceeding void.[86] In other jurisdictions, however, it has been held that a sale which is otherwise regularly made is not rendered void by a failure to give the required bond,[87] and the proceedings are simply erroneous or irregular.[88]

Special bonds for sales by guardians are considered in Guardian and Ward § 121.

Breach of bond. The bond is breached by failure to comply with any of its conditions, as by omission or neglect to account for the purchase money, or by failing to invest the same according to the terms of the sale and the order of the court affirming it.[89] The liability on the bond cannot be avoided on the ground of mere irregularities in the sale; and the surety is estopped from denying the validity of the appointment of the principal in order to avoid its liability.[90]

Statement that decree entered on consent

The mere statement in a decree, directing the sale of the interest in certain land adjudicated to an infant in the action, that it was entered on "consent," does not show that it was based on "consent" alone, the presumption being that the chancellor, in directing the sale, exercised the discretion vested in him.—Bent v. Miranda, 42 P. 91, 8 N.M. 78.

72. Ky.—Skidmore v. Napier, 166 S.W.2d 439, 292 Ky. 311.

73. Pa.—In re Carter, 99 A. 58, 254 Pa. 518.

Vacating or setting aside sale generally see infra § 66.

74. Ky.—Clifton v. Pfirman, 110 S.W. 406, 33 Ky.L. 529.

Infants represented by guardian ad litem

Under a statute giving a court power after the expiration of the term to vacate or modify a judgment for erroneous proceedings against a person under disability if the condition of such defendant does not appear in the record nor the error in the proceedings, a confirmation of a sale of property for the payment of decedent's debts rendered at a prior term cannot be set aside at the suit of infant heirs where it appeared in the proceedings for sale that they were infants, and each had had appointed for him a guardian ad litem who filed an answer.—Browder v. Nourse, 251 S.W. 825, 199 Ky. 531.

75. Ky.—Cini v. Ball, 156 S.W.2d 486, 288 Ky. 471.

76. N.C.—Watson v. Watson, 167 S.E. 389, 204 N.C. 5.

77. Tenn.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S.W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.

78. Puerto Rico.—Surinach v. Ninlliat, 17 Puerto Rico 63.

79. W.Va.—Jackson v. Jackson, 109 S.E. 724, 89 W.Va. 571.

80. Ky.—Nunnelly v. Nunnelly, 191 S.W. 85, 173 Ky. 372.
31 C.J. p 1049 note 62.

81. Ky.—Craig v. Wilcox, 22 S.W. 76, 94 Ky. 484, 14 Ky.L. 908—Power v. Power, 15 S.W. 523, 12 Ky.L. 793.

82. Ky.—Powell v. Baer, 136 S.W. 629, 143 Ky. 282.
31 C.J. p 1049 note 65.

83. Ky.—Moore v. Carr, 269 S.W. 302, 207 Ky. 388.

84. Ky.—Greenway's Guardian ad Litem v. Greenway, 91 S.W.2d 553, 262 Ky. 818—Bethel College v. Gladdish, 263 S.W. 659, 204 Ky. 10.

85. Ky.—Farris v. Rogers, 7 S.W. 543—Barnett v. Bull, 81 Ky. 127.

86. Me.—Tracey v. Roberts, 34 A. 68, 88 Me. 310, 51 Am.S.R. 394.
31 C.J. p 1049 note 68.

87. Colo.—Orman v. Bowles, 33 P. 109, 18 Colo. 463.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 69.

88. Wis.—Weld v. Johnson Mfg. Co., 54 N.W. 335, 84 Wis. 537, reheard 54 N.W. 998, 84 Wis. 537.

89. N.Y.—Hunt v. Hunt, 65 Barb. 577.

90. U.S.—U. S. v. Morse, App.D.C., 31 S.Ct. 37, 218 U.S. 493, 54 L.Ed. 1123, 21 Ann.Cas. 782.

§ 66. —— Sale

a. In general
b. Notice
c. Time and place
d. Public or private
e. Terms and conditions
f. By whom conducted
g. Who may purchase
h. Report of sale
i. Confirmation of sale
j. Approval of sale not previously ordered
k. Deed to purchaser
l. Ratification and curing defects
m. Vacating or setting aside sale
n. Validity and effect of sale, and collateral attack
o. Rights and liabilities of purchaser
p. Disposition and application of proceeds

a. In General

The sale must comply with the statutory requirements and the order of the court.

When a sale in a certain way is authorized by the court, it can be made only in that way;[91] and statutory requirements as to the manner of making the sale must be complied with.[92] The sale cannot exceed the interest or estate authorized by the order of court.[93]

Sales by the guardian of the ward's property are considered in Guardian and Ward §§ 122–138.

b. Notice

Notice of sale must be given in compliance with statutory requirements.

Generally, if the sale is a private one, notice thereof is not required.[94] Where the sale is to be a public one, due notice of the time and place of sale must be given, in compliance with the statute.[95] Although it has been held that a sale without giving the required notice is void,[96] there is also authority that a failure to give due notice when required is merely an error which does not render the sale void, but only irregular,[97] and the title of a bona fide purchaser will be protected.[98]

Sufficiency of notice. The notice should designate the time and place of sale,[99] state the terms and conditions of the sale,[1] and describe the property to be sold with sufficient certainty to enable it to be identified.[2]

Time for giving notice. The giving of a notice of sale for a shorter length of time than is required by statute is an error, but it does not affect the validity of the sale when collaterally attacked.[3] The giving of longer notice than is required does not render the sale invalid.[4]

Manner of giving notice. The ordinary and sufficient manner of giving notice of the sale is by advertisement in a newspaper,[5] or by posting notice in conspicuous places.[6]

Proof of notice. Proof that notice was given may be, and usually is, made by affidavit that the notice was posted[7] or published,[8] but this mode of proof is not exclusive of any other.[9] Mere clerical errors in the affidavit do not affect the validity of the sale.[10]

c. Time and Place

The sale must be made at the time and place prescribed by statute and fixed by decree in the notice of sale. The court has power to extend the time of sale for good cause.

The sale should be made at the time prescribed by law and fixed by decree in the notice of sale, or it will be irregular[11] and should be set aside,[12] but

91. Mich.—In re Axtell, 54 N.W. 889, 95 Mich. 244.
92. Ky.—Conrad v. Conrad, 153 S.W. 740, 152 Ky. 422.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 78.
93. S.C.—Berry v. Marion County Lumber Co., 93 S.E. 328, 108 S.C. 108, Ann.Cas.1918E 877.
94. Ind.—Eliason v. Bronnenberg, 46 N.E. 582, 147 Ind. 248.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 79.
95. Minn.—Richardson v. Farwell, 51 N.W. 915, 49 Minn. 210.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 80.
96. Me.—Tracy v. Roberts, 34 A. 68, 88 Me. 310, 51 Am.S.R. 394.
97. Ind.—Eliason v. Bronnenberg, 46 N.E. 582, 147 Ind. 248.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 82.
98. Miss.—Hanks v. Neal, 44 Miss. 212.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 83.
99. Mich.—Houlihan v. Fogarty, 127 N.W. 793, 162 Mich. 492.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 84.
1. Minn.—Richardson v. Farwell, 51 N.W. 915, 49 Minn. 210.
2. Colo.—Orman v. Bowles, 33 P. 109, 18 Colo. 463.
3. Ala.—Doe v. Jackson, 51 Ala. 514.
Wash.—Brazee v. Schofield, 3 P. 265, 2 Wash.T. 209, affirmed 8 S.Ct. 604, 124 U.S. 495, 31 L.Ed. 484.
4. Miss.—Morton v. Carroll, 9 So. 896, 68 Miss. 699.
5. Ky.—Finney v. Finney, 138 S.W. 257, 144 Ky. 114.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 90.
6. Mich.—Schaale v. Wasey, 138 N.W. 317, 70 Mich. 414.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 91.
7. Or.—Walker v. Goldsmith, 12 P. 537, 14 Or. 125.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 92.
8. Ill.—Reid v. Morton, 6 N.E. 414, 119 Ill. 118.
31 C.J. p 1050 note 93.
9. Mich.—Persinger v. Jubb, 17 N.W. 851, 52 Mich. 304.
10. Or.—Walker v. Goldsmith, 12 P. 537, 14 Or. 125.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 95.
11. Tex.—Butler v. Stephens, 14 S.W. 202, 77 Tex. 599.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 97.
12. Tex.—Butler v. Stephens, supra —Brown v. Christie, 27 Tex. 73, 84 Am.D. 607.

the sale is not absolutely void in the sense that its confirmation may not validate it,[13] for if the sale is confirmed, although improperly, it cannot be collaterally attacked.[14] The court has power to extend the time of sale for good cause;[15] the sale may be adjourned to a later date than the one fixed in the notice of sale,[16] and when the sale is confirmed, it cannot be questioned collaterally for an error in the adjournment.[17] Where the order of sale does not require the master to consult with the guardian ad litem as to the time of the sale, his failure to do so cannot be regarded even as an irregularity.[18]

Time and place of sale by a guardian of the ward's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 124.

Place of sale. The sale should be made at the place fixed by law and the order of court and notice of sale.[19] In some jurisdictions it has been held that the sale of a minor's property must be at the place where the family meeting has determined, and this may be outside of the parish where the land lies.[20]

d. Public or Private

Ordinarily the sale should be by public outcry but in some jurisdictions the court has power to authorize a private sale.

Ordinarily the sale should be by public outcry,[21] and where the statute requires a public sale, either in all cases or under the particular circumstances of the case, the court has no authority to order or to authorize a private one;[22] and a private sale, although ordered and approved by the court, is void.[23] If the statute is merely directory, a court of equity may, in the exercise of its discretion, authorize a private sale.[24] In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, the court making the order has, under certain circumstances, power to authorize a private sale,[25] and in such case it is in the discretion of the court whether the sale shall be public or private.[26] An order for a private sale does not authorize a public sale.[27]

Public or private sales by a guardian are considered in Guardian and Ward § 125.

e. Terms and Conditions

The sale must be made on the term and conditions prescribed by statute or by the order of the court.

The sale must be made on such terms and conditions as are prescribed by statute or by the order of the court.[28] It is for the court to determine whether the sale was in compliance with its order.[29] The court may provide for payment for the land in part in other commodities or other land, but the power should be exercised with great caution.[30] It is held that in the absence of statute the court has no authority for making a sale of an infant's real estate as a part of, or in conjunction with, other land in which the infant has no interest.[31]

The terms and conditions of a sale by a guardian of the ward's property are considered in Guardian and Ward § 126.

f. By Whom Conducted

The sale should be conducted by one who has authority, under the order of the court, to make the sale.

The sale should be conducted by one who has authority, under the order of the court, to make the sale.[32] The general guardian of the infant, if he has one, is the proper person to be appointed to sell, unless some sufficient reason is shown for substituting another for that purpose,[33] and when nec-

13. Tex.—Butler v. Stephens, 14 S. W. 202, 77 Tex. 599.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 99.

14. Tex.—Butler v. Stephens, 14 S. W. 202, 77 Tex. 599.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 1.

15. Tex.—Butler v. Stephens, supra.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 2.

16. U.S.—Richards v. Holmes, D.C., 18 How. 143, 15 L.Ed. 304.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 3.

17. U.S.—Gager v. Henry, C.C.Or., 9 F.Cas.No.5,172, 5 Sawy. 237.

18. S.C.—Bulow v. Witte, 3 S.C. 308.

19. Tex.—Brown v. Christie, 27 Tex. 73, 84 Am.D. 607.
Va.—Talley v. Starke, 6 Gratt. 339, 47 Va. 339.

20. La.—In re Pierce's Case, 9 Mart. 461.

21. La.—Fradella v. Pumilia, 147 So. 496, 177 La. 47.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 13.

22. La.—Fradella v. Pumilia, supra.
31 C.J. p 1051 notes 14, 15.

23. U.S.—Longpré v. Diaz, Puerto Rico, 35 S.Ct. 731, 237 U.S. 512, 59 L.Ed. 1080.

24. N.C.—Rowland v. Thompson, 73 N.C. 504.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 10.

25. Ala.—Higdon v. Higdon, 11 So. 2d 140, 243 Ala. 571.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 11.
Sale to effect partition
Under a statute in Louisiana the property of a minor may be sold at a private sale to effect a partition. —Fradella v. Pumilia, 147 So. 496, 177 La. 47—31 C.J. p 1051 note 11 [a].

26. N.C.—Barcello v. Hapgood, 24 S.E. 124, 118 N.C. 712.

27. N.C.—In re Dickerson, 15 S.E. 1025, 111 N.C. 108.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 18.

28. Ky.—Clark v. Stanhope, 59 S. W. 856, 109 Ky. 521.
31 C.J. p 1051 notes 20–22.

29. Ill.—Fitzgibbon v. Lake, 29 Ill. 165, 81 Am.D. 302.
Collateral attack on ground of noncompliance with order see infra subdivision n of this section.

30. Miss.—Neely v. Craig, 139 So. 835, 162 Miss. 712.

31. Ky.—Conrad v. Conrad, 153 S.W. 740, 152 Ky. 422.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 23.

32. Mich.—Hunt v. Stevens, 140 N. W. 992, 174 Mich. 501.

33. N.Y.—Matter of Lansing, 3 Paige 265—Matter of Wilson, 2 Paige 412.

essary a commissioner or a special guardian may be appointed to make the sale.[34]

The sale of his ward's property by a guardian is considered in Guardian and Ward § 127.

g. Who May Purchase

Ordinarily a person standing in a fiduciary relation to the infant cannot purchase the property for himself.

A person standing in a fiduciary relation to the infant ordinarily cannot purchase the property for himself.[35] A sale by special guardian appointed by the court to his wife in ordinarily improper, but the court has power in its discretion to permit and approve such a sale.[36]

Purchases by a guardian ad litem or next friend are considered infra § 111 f, and a purchase by the general guardian in Guardian and Ward § 128 b.

h. Report of Sale

A report or return of the sale to the court is not necessary to the validity of the sale unless it is required by statute.

When required by statute a report or return of the sale must be made to the court which granted the order,[37] but in the absence of statute, it is not necessary to the validity of the sale that a report or return thereof be made to the court.[38] The report should correctly set out all the proceedings under the order of sale.[39]

The report or return of sale by a guardian of the ward's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 130.

i. Confirmation of Sale

(1) In general
(2) Granting or refusing confirmation and ordering resale
(3) Operation and effect of confirmation

(1) In General

As a general rule the sale must be confirmed by the court.

As a general rule, in order that the sale may be of such validity that on the execution of a deed the title may pass to the purchaser, it is essential that the sale first be confirmed by the court,[40] and until such confirmation not even an equitable title passes.[41]

At the hearing to confirm or approve the report any objections thereto may properly be raised by exception.[42] The purchaser may except to the confirmation of the commissioner's report of sale and may appeal from the judgment on such exceptions.[43] He cannot object to the confirmation because he thinks he offered too much for the property.[44]

Confirmation of a guardian's sale of the ward's property is considered in Guardian and Ward §§ 131–133.

(2) Granting or Refusing Confirmation and Ordering Resale

The matter of confirming or refusing to confirm the sale is largely within the reasonable discretion of the court, in consideration of all the circumstances.

The matter of confirming or refusing to confirm the sale is largely within the discretion of the court, in consideration of all the surrounding circumstances, but the court's discretion is not arbitrary but subject to review.[45] In determining whether to confirm or refuse to confirm the sale the court will always consider the justice of the action;[46] and in accordance therewith it may refuse to confirm it,[47] or may confirm it, although the sale was not made in strict compliance with the statute.[48] When a sale of land of adults in given circumstances would be confirmed, a sale of infant's lands in like circumstances ordinarily should be confirmed.[49] The court may refuse to confirm a sale and order a resale where it appears that the sale is unfair and will work an injustice to the infant,[50] as where the sale has not been made for a fair price.[51] Mere inadequacy of price is not sufficient ground for re-

34. Ind.—McKeever v. Ball, 71 Ind. 398.
31 C.J. p 1052 note 29.

35. Miss.—Memphis Stone & Gravel Co. v. Archer, 82 So. 315, 120 Miss. 453.
31 C.J. p 1052 note 32.

36. N.Y.—Strauss v. Bendheim, 56 N.E. 1007, 162 N.Y. 469, reversing 60 N.Y.S. 398, 44 App.Div. 82.

37. Ark.—Greer v. Anderson, 35 S. W. 215, 62 Ark. 213.

38. Ohio.—Stall v. Macalester, 9 Ohio 19.

39. Ill.—Mulford v. Beveridge, 78 Ill. 455.

40. Ky.—Finney v. Finney, 138 S. W. 257, 144 Ky. 114.
31 C.J. p 1052 note 42.

41. Ill.—Young v. Dowling, 15 Ill. 481.
Mo.—Bone v. Tyrrell, 20 S.W. 796, 113 Mo. 175.

42. Ky.—Palmer v. Husbands, 119 S.W. 762, 134 Ky. 152.
31 C.J. p 1052 note 44.

43. Ky.—Allen v. Graves, 3 Bush 491.

44. Ky.—Smizer v. Inskeep, 12 Ky. Op. 668.

45. Ill.—Stivers v. Stivers, 86 N.E. 209, 236 Ill. 160.

46. Ga.—Powell v. Heyman, 85 S.E. 891, 143 Ga. 728.

47. Md.—Bolgiano v. Cooke, 19 Md. 375.

48. Ky.—Kinslow v. Grove, 32 S.W. 933, 98 Ky. 266, 17 Ky.L. 845.

49. N.J.—In re Shreve, 103 A. 683, 87 N.J.Eq. 710.

50. S.C.—McIver v. Thompson, 108 S.E. 411, 117 S.C. 175.
31 C.J. p 1052 note 55.

51. Ill.—Johnson v. Buck, 77 N.E. 163, 220 Ill. 226.
Ky.—Prentiss v. Sanders, 6 Ky.Op. 296.

fusing to confirm the sale,[52] unless it clearly appears that the property will bring a larger price on a resale.[53] Mere increase in value since the making of the order of sale is not sufficient per se to refuse an order of confirmation.[54] It is no objection to confirmation that the petition for confirmation is filed by the purchaser.[55]

Vacating or setting the sale aside generally is considered infra subdivision m of this section.

(3) Operation and Effect of Confirmation

The confirmation perfects the title of the purchaser and ordinarily cures defects and irregularities in the proceeding, but it does not render operative a sale that is void.

The confirmation perfects the title of the purchaser;[56] and the purchaser cannot thereafter, and after the expiration of the term at which such confirmation was made, resist the payment of the purchase money on the ground of irregularity in the sale or the proceedings under which it was had.[57]

Curing defects. While the confirmation ordinarily cures all defects and irregularities in the proceeding,[58] it does not cure and render operative a sale that is void.[59]

j. Approval of Sale Not Previously Ordered

In the absence of statutory prohibition, a court may sanction or approve a sale made by the parties without a previous application to the court if there has been a substantial compliance with the statute authorizing the sale.

In the absence of statutory prohibition, a court which on application could have ordered a sale of the infant's land may sanction or approve a sale made by the parties without a previous application to the court.[60] In order to warrant confirmation of a sale not previously ordered by the court, there must be a substantial compliance with the statute authorizing the sale,[61] and it has been held that a court of equity cannot confirm a private sale of an infant's real estate made by an unauthorized person without an order of court.[62] The court, of course, is not bound to accept or approve the terms of a proposed sale.[63] Where the court has not acquired jurisdiction on other grounds the petition for confirmation of a private sale must specifically allege the jurisdictional grounds essential to a confirmation of the sale.[64] Decedent's creditors are not proper parties to a suit to confirm a contract for the sale of an infant's inherited lands where the sale was not carried out under the statute pertaining to a sale of land for the payment of decedent's debts.[65]

k. Deed to Purchaser

The execution and delivery of a deed by the person duly authorized is usually necessary in order that the legal title will pass.

Although an equitable title may become vested in the purchaser without a deed being executed,[66] in order that the legal title will pass the execution and delivery of a deed by the person duly authorized is usually necessary.[67] The deed should be properly executed in conformity with the order of the court,[68] and if it is not so executed the purchaser is not bound to accept it.[69] A deed based on a void order or decree of sale by the court is likewise void.[70]

The deed operates as an estoppel to the same extent and in the same manner that a proper deed of an adult conveying his title would bar him from asserting it against his grantee.[71]

Deeds to the purchaser after a sale of a ward's property are discussed in Guardian and Ward § 134.

l. Ratification and Curing Defects

Nonjurisdictional defects or irregularities may be cured by curative statutes or by the ratification of the sale by the court or by the infant.

A defective sale in point of procedure only may

52. Ill.—Stivers v. Stivers, 86 N.E. 209, 236 Ill. 160.
Ky.—Castleman v. Buckner, 202 S. W. 681, 180 Ky. 350.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 65.

53. Ill.—Stivers v. Stivers, 86 N.E. 209, 236 Ill. 160.

54. N.J.—In re Shreve, 103 A. 683, 87 N.J.Eq. 710.

55. Md.—Dorsey v. Gilbert, 11 Gill & J. 87.
N.Y.—Battell v. Torrey, 65 N.Y. 294.

56. Ky.—Cromwell v. Mason, 2 Bush 439—Thornton v. McGrath, 1 Duv. 349.

57. Ky.—Todd v. Dowd, 1 Metc. 281.

58. Or.—Kirk v. Mullen, 197 P. 300, 100 Or. 563.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 65.

59. Or.—Kirk v. Mullen, supra.

60. Ala.—Higdon v. Higdon, 11 So.2d 140, 243 Ala. 571.
S.C.—Hammassapoulo v. Hammassapoulo, 131 S.E. 319, 134 S.C. 54.

61. Ky.—Flannery v. Chiles, 1 S.W. 2d 1040, 222 Ky. 649.
Va.—Clark v. George, 170 S.E. 713, 161 Va. 104.

62. Ky.—Kinslow v. Grove, 32 S.W. 933, 98 Ky. 266, 17 Ky.L. 845.

63. Va.—Ferebee v. Todd, 153 S.E. 705, 154 Va. 293.

64. Md.—Tucker v. Hudson, 148 A. 116, 158 Md. 13.

65. Va.—Clark v. George, 170 S.E. 713, 161 Va. 104.

66. Ark.—Alexander v. Hardin, 16 S. W. 264, 54 Ark. 480.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 68.

67. Ky.—Finney v. Finney, 138 S. W. 257, 144 Ky. 114.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 70.

68. N.Y.—Hyatt v. Seeley, 11 N.Y. 53.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 71.

69. N.Y.—Hyatt v. Seeley, supra.

70. Fla.—Standard Oil Co. v. Mehrtens, 118 So. 216, 96 Fla. 455.
Ky.—Hall v. Tackett, 68 S.W.2d 42, 252 Ky. 718.

71. S.C.—Bulow v. Witte, 3 S.C. 398.

be ratified by the court,[72] and mere irregularities may be cured by supplementary proceedings.[73] The infant may on coming of age either expressly or impliedly ratify the sale.[74] Ordinarily the conduct by the late infant evidencing acquiescence in the sale may operate as a ratification thereof or estop him from denying its validity,[75] as where on coming of age, with full knowledge of the facts, he executes a deed to the purchaser.[76] After ratification of the sale the infant may insist on a specific performance by the purchaser.[77] Where the sale is void for want of jurisdiction, the late infant cannot be estopped by his conduct from denying the validity of the sale.[78] A court of chancery will not undertake to validate a void sale of infants' property because beneficial to them.[79]

Ratification of a sale of a ward's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 135.

Curative statutes. The rule that a statute curing irregularities at a prior judicial sale is not invalid as impairing vested rights, as stated in Constitutional Law § 232, is applicable to statutes curing defects in proceedings for the sale of an infant's real estate.[80] Such statutes do not validate unauthorized or void sales.[81]

m. Vacating or Setting Aside Sale

The sale may be vacated or set aside where there have been errors of a substantial character, or fraud, in the proceedings for the sale or in the sale itself. A sale which is beneficial to the infant will not be set aside for mere irregularities.

The sale may be vacated or set aside where there have been errors of a substantial character, or fraud, in the proceedings for the sale or in the sale itself,[82] and a statute providing that the title of the purchaser will not be disturbed after a certain period of time will not be applied where the decree for the sale of the land is void.[83] Under statutes so providing the infant has the right to show good cause to set the sale aside within a specified period of time after he has attained majority unless he has previously attacked the sale,[84] and he has this right, even though it is not actually reserved in the decree.[85] Where a judgment decreeing a sale of infant's lands is vacated, the sale should also be vacated.[86] The sale may be set aside for misdescription of the premises sold in the proceedings,[87] for nonpayment of the purchase money,[88] or for fraud.[89] Where the sale is beneficial to the infant, it will not be set aside for mere irregularities,[90] or on the election of the purchaser without complaint on the part of the infant,[91] and, if it has not been disadvantageous to the infant, it will not be set aside for mere irregularities after the property has passed to bona fide purchasers.[92] The failure to appoint a guardian ad litem for an infant in a proceeding to sell land for the payment of his ancestor's debt is not ground for setting aside the sale, the remedy being by appeal.[93] A failure of the commissioner appointed to sell to give the bond required by law is not necessarily a ground for setting aside the sale.[94]

Vacating the sale of a ward's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 137.

Mere inadequacy of price is not sufficient ground for setting aside the sale,[95] but, where the price is grossly inadequate, so as to prejudice the infant's interest, the sale may be set aside on that ground;[96] and, where the proceedings are irregular or fraud is charged, the inadequacy of the price may become

72. W.Va.—French v. Pocahontas Coal & Coke Co., 104 S.E. 554, 87 W.Va. 226.

73. Ky.—Smizer v. Inskeep, 12 Ky. Op. 668.

74. Ky.—Schlickman v. Dusing, 203 S.W. 295, 180 Ky. 506.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 78.

75. N.C.—Watson v. Watson, 167 S.E. 389, 204 N.C. 5.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 79.

76. Ark.—Green v. Holzer, 177 S. W. 903, 118 Ark. 533.

77. Ky.—Nelson v. Lee, 10 B.Mon. 495.

78. Mich.—In re Flynn, 137 N.W. 113, 171 Mich. 136.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 81.

79. Tenn.—Andrews v. Andrews, 7 Heisk. 234.

80. Ky.—Thornton v. McGrath, 1 Duv. 349—Pratt v. Cox, 5 Ky.Op. 410.

81. Fla.—McIntyre v. Parker, 82 So. 253, 77 Fla. 690.
31 C.J. p 1053 note 88.

82. La.—Fradella v. Pumilia, 147 So. 496, 177 La. 47.
Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173.
Incompetent purchaser
Where the land was sold to the wife of the guardian, in contravention of the statute, the sale may be set aside.—Hampton v. Hampton, 29 S.W. 423, 9 Tex.Civ.App. 497.

83. Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S. E. 541, 142 Va. 173.

84. Miss.—Dendy v. Commercial Bank & Trust Co., 108 So. 274, 143 Miss. 56.

85. Miss.—Dendy v. Commercial Bank & Trust Co., supra.

86. Ky.—Clifton v. Phrman, 110 S. W. 406, 33 Ky.L. 529.

87. Iowa.—Deford v. Mercer, 24 Iowa 118, 92 Am.D. 460.

88. La.—Jones v. Crocker, 1 La.Ann. 440.

89. Ill.—Devine v. Harkness, 7 N.E. 52, 117 Ill. 145.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 94.

90. Tenn.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S.W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 95.

91. Tenn.—Curd v. Bonner, 4 Coldw. 632.

92. Tenn.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S.W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.

93. Ky.—Davidson v. Marcum, 89 S. W. 708, 28 Ky.L. 562.

94. Va.—Dixon v. McCue, 31 Gratt. 373, 62 Va. 373.

95. Ky.—Castleman v. Buckner, 202 S.W. 681, 180 Ky. 350.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 1.

96. Ky.—Richey v. Harlan, 186 S. W. 149, 170 Ky. 461—Steele v. Wood, 137 S.W. 1061, 144 Ky. 254.

a controlling consideration.[97] If the price paid at the time of sale was a fair one, the fact that the land has subsequently increased in value gives the infant no equity to have it set aside.[98]

Procedure. The sale may be set aside by bill in equity[99] or civil action for that purpose,[1] and is not limited to an appeal in the cause or to a formal reopening thereof.[2] The right to avoid the sale and recover the property sold may be barred by limitation.[3]

n. Validity and Effect of Sale, and Collateral Attack

The sale is void if substantial departure from the procedure prescribed by statute has deprived the court of jurisdiction to order the sale. Unsubstantial irregularities in the proceedings or in the order of sale do not render the sale void or vulnerable to collateral attack.

The sale is void if substantial departure from the procedure prescribed by statute has deprived the court of jurisdiction to order the sale.[4] Unsubstantial irregularities in the proceedings do not render the sale void;[5] nor is the sale void for mere irregularities or defects in regard to the order of sale;[6] nor is it rendered void by the reversal of the order of sale for error.[7] The fact that the purchase price was paid in a currency not in existence when the order of sale was made does not render the sale void if such currency was the only circulating medium prevailing in the country at the time of sale.[8]

Infants properly represented are bound by the sale,[9] with the qualifications that after coming of age an infant may impeach the sale for error apparent on the face of the decree, or, it seems, for fraud,[10] or may move to set aside the sale for good cause within a certain period of time after attaining majority under statutes expressly granting the right, as stated supra subdivision m of this section.

Collateral attack. If the court had jurisdiction, the sale cannot be collaterally impeached for errors or irregularities[11] or for fraud.[12] Thus, as a general rule the validity of the sale cannot be attacked in a collateral proceeding on the ground that the petition for the order was insufficient,[13] and, after the sale is confirmed, it cannot be collaterally attacked on the ground that it was not made in compliance with the order of the court.[14] The sale may be collaterally attacked on jurisdictional grounds.[15]

Collateral attack on sale of a ward's property is discussed in Guardian and Ward § 138.

o. Rights and Liabilities of Purchaser

The rules governing the title, rights, and liabilities of purchasers at judicial sales generally apply to sales of an infant's real estate under order of court. Where the court has jurisdiction the purchaser acquires a good title to the estate sold even though the proceedings have been irregular in some respects. There is no warranty of title and the doctrine of caveat emptor applies to the purchaser.

The rules governing the title, rights, and liabilities of purchasers at judicial sales, discussed in the C.J.S. title Judicial Sales §§ 38–49, also 35 C.J. p 71 note 11–p 93 note 70, generally apply to sales of infants' real estate under orders of court.[16] In order for the purchaser to acquire title he must comply with the terms and conditions of the sale.[17] Where the court has jurisdiction, the purchaser ac-

97. Ill.—Dickerman v. Burgess, 20 Ill. 266.

98. N.C.—Latta v. Vickers, 82 N.C. 501.

99. W.Va.—French v. Pocahontas Coal & Coke Co., 104 S.E. 554, 87 W.Va. 226.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 6.

1. Tex.—Weems v. Masterson, 15 S.W. 590, 80 Tex. 45.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 7.
Petition held sufficient
Ky.—Ford v. May, 164 S.W. 88, 157 Ky. 830.

2. W.Va.—French v. Pocahontas Coal & Coke Co., 104 S.E. 554, 87 W.Va. 226.

3. Ky.—Schlickman v. Dusing, 203 S.W. 295, 180 Ky. 506.
Tenn.—State ex rel. Tobin v. Independent Life Ins. of America, 100 S.W.2d 228, 171 Tenn. 13.

4. Ky.—Soper v. Foster, 51 S.W.2d 927, 244 Ky. 658.

5. Mo.—Thompson v. McClernon, 127 S.W. 384, 142 Mo.App. 429.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 13.

6. Ind.—Taylor v. Parker, Smith 225.
Mo.—Evans v. Morris, 136 S.W. 408, 234 Mo. 177.

7. Ind.—Taylor v. Parker, Smith 225.
Md.—Newbold v. Schlens, 9 A. 849, 66 Md. 585.

8. S.C.—Bulow v. Witte, 3 S.C. 308.
Payment in confederate money
S.C.—Bulow v. Witte, supra.

9. La.—Rauschkolb v. Di Matteo, 181 So. 555, 190 La. 7—Clark v. Norred, 4 La.App. 394.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 16.

10. Tenn.—Rogers v. Clark, 5 Sneed 665.

11. Ala.—Birmingham Coal & Iron Co. v. Doe, 62 So. 26, 181 Ala. 621.
Tenn.—Covington v. Bullefin, 1 Tenn. App. 603.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 19.

12. Tex.—Bouldin v. Miller, 28 S.W. 940, 87 Tex. 359, affirming, Civ. App., 26 S.W. 133.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 20.

13. Va.—Farant Inv. Corporation v. Francis, 122 S.E. 141, 138 Va. 417.
31 C.J. p 1044 note 24.

14. Ill.—Mulford v. Beveridge, 78 Ill. 455.
31 C.J. p 1051 note 25.

15. Pa.—Kreimendahl v. Neuhauser, 13 Pa.Super. 606.

16. N.Y.—In re Marino, 213 N.Y.S. 680, 215 App.Div. 841.
Va.—Chapman v. Branch, 78 S.E. 235, 72 W.Va. 54.

17. Tex.—Judson v. Sierra, 22 Tex. 365.
31 C.J. p 1054 note 25.

quires a good title[18] to the entire estate sold,[19] even though the proceedings may have been irregular in some respects,[20] for which irregularities the judgment might have been reversed,[21] for if jurisdiction was properly acquired, the purchaser is not bound to look beyond the decree.[22] However, he is required to see to the regularity of the proceedings on which the jurisdiction of the court is founded.[23] Where the sale is by special guardian, the purchaser is presumed to have knowledge of the proceedings.[24] If the purchaser has notice of facts sufficient to put a prudent man on inquiry, he is chargeable with knowledge of any defects or irregularities that might have been discovered by diligent inquiry, and cannot be regarded as a bona fide purchaser,[25] and it has been held that the purchaser must establish by affirmative evidence that every requirement of the statute necessary to confer jurisdiction on the court to order the sale has been complied with.[26] The purchaser cannot refuse to consummate the purchase on account of mere irregularities which are not jurisdictional.[27] In such case he may be required to complete the purchase,[28] as by specific performance, and by virtue of the decree of specific performance any doubt respecting the marketability of the title will be removed;[29] but it has also been held that, where the purchaser objects that the proceedings were irregular, he cannot be compelled to pay the purchase price until the proceedings have been so far perfected as to secure him a good title.[30] A purchaser is not bound to accept the title which is void for lack of jurisdiction,[31] and in such case the payment of the purchase money will not be compelled.[32] Where the statute confers on the infant the right, for a specified period of time after he attains majority, to have the sale set aside for good cause, the purchaser cannot obtain absolute title until expiration of that time.[33] One who agrees to purchase the land under an unauthorized contract cannot be required to accept a deed to the property after the sale on those terms has been authorized by the court in a proceeding to which the alleged purchaser was not a party.[34]

The duties of the purchaser regarding the disposition and application of the proceeds are considered infra subdivision p of this section. The rights and liabilities of the purchaser of a ward's property are considered in Guardian and Ward § 139.

Warranty of title. There is no warranty of the title of the lands of an infant sold under an order or decree of the court;[35] the sale is only of such estate as the infant has in the lands,[36] and the doctrine of caveat emptor applies to the purchaser.[37] The person conducting the sale has no authority to bind the infant by warranty of title.[38] If, before confirmation, the purchaser discovers that the title is defective, he may be relieved from the necessity

18. Ill.—Moore v. Sievers, 168 N.E. 259, 336 Ill. 316.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 27.

Valid sale subsequent to unauthorized sale
Where widow unauthorizedly sold children's property, valid probate sale gave purchaser good title.—Toll v. McKenzie, 299 P. 14, 88 Colo. 582.

19. N.Y.—Hunt v. Hunt, 65 Barb. 577, reversed on other grounds 58 N.Y. 666—Davidson v. De Freest, 3 Sandf.Ch. 456.

Absence of representative of unborn remaindermen
Where the court seeks to protect the interests of remaindermen yet unborn, the purchaser may take a fee simple title although no representative of such remaindermen is in court.—Kirkham v. First Nat. Bank, 147 S.E. 648, 149 S.C. 545.

20. N.C.—Rowls v. Henries, 90 S.E. 140, 172 N.C. 216.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 29.

21. Ill.—Moore v. Sievers, 168 N.E. 259, 336 Ill. 316—Allman v. Taylor, 101 Ill. 185.
N.C.—Welch v. Welch, 140 S.E. 436, 194 N.C. 633.

22. Ill.—Moore v. Sievers, 168 N.E. 259, 336 Ill. 316.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 31.

23. Va.—Gee v. McCormick, 128 S.E. 541, 142 Va. 173—Coleman v. Virginia Stave & Heading Co., 70 S.E. 545, 112 Va. 61.

24. Mich.—In re Flynn, 137 N.W. 113, 171 Mich. 136—In re Axtell, 54 N.W. 889, 95 Mich. 244.

25. S.C.—McIver v. Thompson, 108 S.E. 411, 117 S.C. 175.

Solicitor in proceedings as bona fide purchaser
Where an administratrix' son, who was administratrix' solicitor in proceedings under which a minor's interest in decedent's land was sold to administratrix, purchased land from administratrix, son was not a "bona fide purchaser without notice" as respects minor's right to attack decree in administratrix' suit to sell realty.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S.W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.

26. N.Y.—Ellwood v. Northrup, 12 N.E. 590, 106 N.Y. 172.

27. Ky.—Clay v. Rice, 189 S.W. 11, 172 Ky. 164.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 38.

28. Mich.—In re Axtell, 54 N.W. 889, 95 Mich. 244.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 39.

29. Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, 122 P. 879, 86 Kan. 933.

30. Ky.—Cornwall v. Cornwall, 6 Bush. 369.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 44.

31. Ky.—Bayne v. Stratton, 115 S.W. 728, 131 Ky. 494—Parker v. Hawkins, 4 Ky.Op. 90.

32. Ky.—Todd v. Dowd, 1 Metc. 281.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 43.

33. Miss.—Dendy v. Commercial Bank & Trust Co., 108 So. 274, 143 Miss. 56.

34. Va.—Tulin v. Johnston, 147 S.E. 206, 152 Va. 587.

35. Ky.—Beale v. Stroud, 231 S.W. 522, 191 Ky. 755.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 45.

36. Ark.—Black v. Walton, 32 Ark. 321.
Ky.—Beale v. Stroud, 231 S.W. 522, 191 Ky. 755.

37. Ky.—Beale v. Stroud, supra.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 37.

38. Ark.—Black v. Walton, 32 Ark. 321.
Ky.—Beale v. Stroud, 231 S.W. 522, 191 Ky. 755.

of consummating the purchase;[39] but, after the confirmation of the sale he will not be relieved from complying with his bid on the ground of the title being defective, unless he can show that he has relied on an authorized representation which has caused him or induced him to make the purchase,[40] or unless the proceedings have been conducted wholly on the theory that the infant possessed an absolute fee title.[41]

Statutes protecting title of purchaser. A statute which provides that the title of any purchaser of lands of an infant, at a sale by an executor, administrator, or guardian, who has held possession for a number of years, cannot be questioned on the ground of any irregularity in the proceedings, if it appears that the proceeds of the sale have been applied bona fide to the object and purpose for which it was made, has been held not to be applicable in cases where some unauthorized person assumes to obtain an order from the court to sell the real estate of a minor over whose person or estate such person has neither control nor management, or in cases where the real estate of the minor is sold under a misapprehension of the fact of ownership by the administrator of the estate of another.[42]

Mistake in quantity. If there is a deficiency in quantity, the purchaser may recover back a proportionate part of the purchase price,[43] or may be entitled to an abatement in the purchase price.[44]

On restoration of property to infant. On recovery of the land the infant is entitled to recover from the purchaser the rents and profits which accrued during the latter's occupation.[45] The purchaser is entitled to have the purchase money returned,[46] to a refund of taxes paid, and to an allowance for permanent improvements to the extent that they have enhanced the value of the land; and it has been held that no allowance can be made for improvements beyond the value of the rents and profits on the premises.[47]

Security for purchase money. A lien for the purchase price exists in favor of the infant, independent of any statutory provision and even against subsequent purchasers with notice.[48] Where the statute only requires personal security for the purchase money, no lien on the land can be enforced therefor.[49] It has been held to be the duty of a court of equity, on decreeing the sale, to retain the title as security for the purchase money, no matter what other security may have been taken for the payment thereof.[50]

p. Disposition and Application of Proceeds

The proceeds are properly paid into court rather than to the guardian ad litem. The court may direct the disposition of the proceeds or their reinvestment in such manner as it may deem most advantageous to the infant. The purchaser is not, as a rule, under any duty to see to the application of the proceeds.

The proceeds are properly paid into court[51] rather than to the guardian ad litem,[52] and should be secured to the benefit of the infant.[53] Payment to a trustee rather than to the court, as required by statute, will not divest the infant of his interest in the property.[54] The court will conserve[55] and sedulously guard[56] the funds arising from a sale ordered or authorized by it, and it should see that the reinvestment of the proceeds is satisfactory,[57] that the interests of all parties are preserved in the reinvestment,[58] and that all estates existing in the 39. Ky.—Beale v. Stroud, supra. Md.—Bolgiano v. Cooke, 19 Md. 375.

40. Ky.—Beale v. Stroud, 231 S.W. 522, 191 Ky. 755.
31 C.J. p 1055 note 50.

41. N.Y.—In re Marino, 213 N.Y.S. 680, 215 App.Div. 841.

Return of down payment
Under such circumstances the court may order a return of the down payment.—In re Marino, supra.

42. Fla.—Moralis v. Matheson, 79 So. 202, 75 Fla. 589.

43. Va.—McComb v. Gilkeson, 66 S.E. 77, 110 Va. 406, 135 Am.S.R. 944.

44. Iowa.—Stonebrook v. Wisner, 158 N.W. 351, 171 Iowa 109, L.R.A. 1915E 834, Ann.Cas.1917E 252.

45. Tex.—Wichita Land & Cattle Co. v. Ward, 21 S.W 128, 1 Tex.Civ. App. 307.
31 C.J. p 1056 note 58.

46. La.—Bowen v. Marston, 64 So. 118, 134 La. 298.
31 C.J. p 1056 note 59.

47. Tenn.—Starkey v. Hammer, 1 Baxt. 438.

48. Tenn.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S.W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.

49. Miss.—Tate v. Bush, 62 Miss. 145.

50. N.C.—Walke v. Moody, 65 N.C. 599.

51. N.Y.—Carpenter v. Schermerhorn, 2 Barb.Ch. 314.
31 C.J. p 1056 note 68.

52. N.Y.—Carpenter v. Schermerhorn, supra.
31 C.J. p 1056 note 69.

53. Mass.—In re Dagget, 3 Pick. 280.

54. Ky.—Bullock v. Gudgell, 77 S. W. 1126, 25 Ky.L. 1413.

55. Ala.—Higdon v. Higdon, 11 So. 2d 140, 243 Ala. 571.

56. Tenn.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S.W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.

57. Miss.—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429.

58. Miss.—Kelly v. Neville, supra.

Property sold to third person after unrecorded sale to infants
Where land owned by a married woman and her children as heirs of her body was sold and the proceeds ordered reinvested in land owned by the husband, but the husband's deed to the wife and children was destroyed without being recorded, and the land was subsequently sold by the husband to defendant, who made a partial payment, which the wife spent, the children were entitled to have the amount still due reinvested in other real property to be held by them and their mother as was the original property, but with the mother's interest reduced by the amount received by her from defendant.—

original property are protected.[59] The court may direct the disposition of the proceeds,[60] or their investment for the benefit of the infant in such manner as the court may deem best and most advantageous;[61] or it may ratify a settlement by the minors of their interests in the proceeds, and it should do so when it is to the minors' best interests.[62] The failure of the court to make such order as the statute requires as to the proceeds will not vitiate the sale.[63] Where the land has been sold free of encumbrances, the proceeds may be applied so far as necessary to the payment of such encumbrances.[64] A special guardian appointed to sell is bound to account to the infant for the purchase money, less his lawful disbursements.[65] A commissioner appointed to sell lands of minors for the purpose of reinvesting the proceeds cannot transfer notes taken for the purchase money.[66] Where the court appoints a receiver to take care of the proceeds of the sale, it should prescribe the receiver's duties and fix his compensation.[67] The receiver should keep an accurate record of the estate,[68] and he should not expend the corpus except under direction of court.[69]

Disposition of proceeds of a sale of a ward's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 140.

As affecting purchaser. The purchaser is not, as a rule, under any duty to see to the application of the proceeds of sale,[70] but he may be responsible where the sale has not been confirmed or the conditions on which the sale was decreed complied with.[71] Under statutes dispensing with the necessity of a bond, but requiring the money to be paid into court, it has been held that the purchaser is bound to see that the proceeds of the sale are paid into court, notwithstanding the order of the court made other provisions.[72]

§ 67. —— Costs

The costs of the proceedings and of the sale itself are ordinarily allowed out of the proceeds of the sale.

The costs of the proceedings to obtain the order of sale and of the sale are ordinarily allowed out of the proceeds of the sale.[73] In determining the costs to be allowed the court will safeguard the interests of the infant.[74] In some jurisdictions in the absence of statute the amount to be fixed for costs may be limited by the general rules of practice.[75] Where several infants are included in the same application for the order of sale and several parcels of land are sold at different times, an extra allowance, in addition to the limit provided by the rules of practice, may be allowed;[76] but the mere fact that there are several infants interested in the application does not warrant the court in making an allowance beyond the limit prescribed, although the infant's interests in the aggregate are greater than the sum on which the limitation of the rules of practice is based.[77] Under some statutes a special guardian should be allowed the necessary premium which he has to pay on his bond.[78]

Carrier v. Kavanaugh, 247 S.W. 1107, 198 Ky. 25.

59. Miss.—Kelly v. Neville, 101 So. 565, 136 Miss. 429.

60. Tenn.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, 135 S.W.2d 941, 175 Tenn. 496.
31 C.J. p 1056 note 71.

Disposition of proceeds in proceedings to set sale aside
Although the court may refuse to set aside the sale in proceedings for that purpose, it may correct a partly erroneous decree relating to the disposition of the proceeds of the sale.—Reynolds v. Chumbley, supra.
Allowance of costs from proceeds see infra § 67.

61. Ky.—Carrier v. Kavanaugh, 247 S.W. 1107, 198 Ky. 25.
S.C.—Stafford v. Stafford, 20 S.E.2d 217, 200 S.C. 1.
31 C.J. p 1056 note 72.

62. Ala.—McWhorter v. Cox, 195 So. 435, 239 Ala. 441.

63. Ky.—Robinson v. Redman, 2 Duv. 82.
N.Y.—Cochran v. Van Surley, 20 Wend. 365, 32 Am.D. 570.

64. N.J.—Cool v. Higgins, 25 N.J. Eq. 117.

65. N.Y.—Hunt v. Hunt, 65 Barb. 577, reversed on other grounds 58 N.Y. 666.

66. Tenn.—Carnes v. Polk, 4 Coldw. 87.

67. Va.—Royall v. Peters, 21 S.E. 2d 782, 180 Va. 178.

68. Va.—Royall v. Peters, supra.

Status of advancements by receiver
A receiver of securities and currency realized from sales of realty belonging to infants, under decrees requiring investment at a designated interest rate, was charged with full knowledge of the status of his accounts, and hence, where he advanced funds from the principal to cover interest due but not collected, the advances were required to be considered as personal advances in anticipation of future interest collections and the principal and its earning power remained unchanged.—Royall v. Peters, supra.

69. Va.—Royall v. Peters, supra.

70. Ky.—Cini v. Ball, 156 S.W.2d 486, 288 Ky. 471.
31 C.J. p 1056 note 76.

71. Pa.—Kreimendahl v. Neuhauser, 13 Pa.Super. 606.

72. Ky.—Bullock v. Gudgell, 77 S.W. 1126, 25 Ky.L. 1413.

73. Md.—Senseney v. Repp, 50 A. 416, 94 Md. 77.
31 C.J. p 1056 note 87.

Award to attorney from proceeds
Where realty of infant remaindermen was sold on suit of life tenant for thirteen thousand five hundred dollars, attorney representing guardian ad litem for the infant remaindermen was awarded one hundred dollars for his services out of proceeds of sale.—Stafford v. Stafford, 20 S.E.2d 217, 200 S.C. 1.

74. N.Y.—Matter of Molinari, 144 N.Y.S. 217, 82 Misc. 663.

75. N.Y.—Matter of Molinari, supra —In re Morrell, 4 Paige 44.

76. N.Y.—In re Morrell, supra.

77. N.Y.—Matter v. Molinari, 144 N.Y.S. 217, 82 Misc. 663.

78. N.Y.—Matter of Molinari, supra.

§ 68. Mortgages

a. In general
b. Proceedings
c. Foreclosure

a. In General

Generally, authority to mortgage an infant's realty must be conferred by statute either expressly or by implication, and the authority may be exercised only in the cases and in the manner provided for by statute.

The inherent jurisdiction of a court of equity to order a sale of an infant's realty does not permit it to order an encumbrance of the infant's property, in the absence of a trust and the existence of an active trustee or guardian charged with the duty of administering the property and raising the encumbrance without sacrifice to the infant's estate.[79] Generally, authority to mortgage must be conferred by statute either expressly or by necessary implication from other powers actually conferred.[80] If a mortgage is regarded as a conditional sale, then a power to sell may authorize the execution of a mortgage;[81] but, if a mortgage is not regarded as a conditional sale, it is held that a power to sell and dispose does not authorize the execution of a mortgage.[82] Under a statute authorizing the court to permit an infant wife to join her husband in a deed conveying the husband's property, the court may permit the infant wife to join her husband in a mortgage of the property if the interests of the wife are not prejudiced thereby.[83] The power of the court must be exercised only in the cases and only in the manner provided for by the statute.[84]

Mortgage of ward's property is considered in Guardian and Ward § 141.

Purposes. A mortgage of an infant's property has been permitted to provide for his support and maintenance,[85] to raise funds for the purpose of cultivating the property,[86] or to discharge encumbrances on the property.[87] A mortgage for other than one of the purposes authorized by statute is void, and subject to collateral attack.[88] It has been held that the court should not permit an infant's estate to be mortgaged for the purpose of paying debts of his father.[89] Where by statute the wife may join her husband in a mortgage of her husband's property if it is not prejudicial to her interests, she may join in a mortgage to secure funds to retire a lien indebtedness, and also to secure funds to make advantageous improvements on the property.[90]

b. Proceedings

The procedure provided by statute must be substantially complied with in order to render the mortgage valid. The court may direct the disposition of the proceeds and its order in regard thereto must be complied with.

The procedure provided by statute must be substantially complied with in order to render the mortgage valid,[91] even though the jurisdiction to mortgage the estate is regarded as inherent in the court.[92] Thus there must be a petition to the proper court,[93] describing the land,[94] and notice of the application to the infant or his guardian.[95] So there must be an order of court authorizing the mortgage,[96] a special bond filed and approved,[97] and the mortgage must be reported to, and confirmed by, the court.[98]

The referee's report in mortgage proceedings for the payment of certain specified debts should specify the objects to which the avails are to be applied, and not merely refer to the evidence for a statement of these objects.[99]

Execution. A statute requiring that the conveyance shall be executed under the direction of the

79. Ala.—Midgley v. Ralls, 176 So. 799, 234 Ala. 685.

80. Or.—Trutch v. Bunnell, 4 P. 588, 11 Or. 58, 50 Am.R. 456.

Orphans' court has jurisdiction.—Chase v. Brown, 22 Pa.Co. 598.

81. D.C.—Middleton v. Parks, 3 App. D.C. 149.

82. Or.—Trutch v. Bunnell, 4 P. 588, 11 Or. 58, 50 Am.R. 456, overruling Trutch v. Bunnell, 5 Or. 504.
Wash.—Wilson v. Hubbard, 82 P. 154, 39 Wash. 671.

83. Ky.—Ex parte Roush, 137 S.W. 2d 352, 281 Ky. 733.

84. N.Y.—Warren v. Union Bank, 51 N.E. 1036, 157 N.Y. 259, 68 Am.S.R. 777, 43 L.R.A. 256, reversing 51 N.Y.S. 27, 28 App.Div. 7--Barker v. Barker, 158 N.Y.S. 413, 172 App. Div. 244.

85. Pa.—Chase v. Brown, 22 Pa.Co. 598.

86. La.—Leisey v. Tanner, 28 La. Ann. 299.

87. Wis.—Lueft v. Lueft, 109 N.W. 652, 129 Wis. 534, 7 L.R.A.,N.S., 263, 9 Ann.Cas. 639.

88. N.Y.—Warren v. Union Bank, 51 N.E. 1036, 157 N.Y. 259, 68 Am. S.R. 777, 43 L.R.A. 256, reversing 51 N.Y.S. 27, 28 App.Div. 7.

89. S.C.—Davis v. Strauss, 174 S.E. 908, 173 S.C. 99.

90. Ky.—Ex parte Roush, 137 S.W. 2d 352, 281 Ky. 733.

91. Va.—Parker v. Stephenson, 104 S.E. 39, 127 Va. 431.
31 C.J. p 1057 note 12.

92. Va.—Parker v. Stephenson, supra.

93. Iowa.—McMannis v. Rice, 48 Iowa 361.
31 C.J. p 1057 note 15.

94. Pa.—West v. Cochran, 104 Pa. 482.

95. Ga.—Couthbert Bank v. Martin, 107 S.E. 848, 151 Ga. 664.

96. U.S.—U. S. Mortgage Co. v. Sperry, Ill., 11 S.Ct. 321, 138 U.S. 313, 34 L.Ed. 969.
31 C.J. p 1057 note 18.

97. Kan.—Higgins v. Reed, 29 P. 389, 48 Kan. 272.
Pa.—Leedom v. Lombaert, 80 Pa. 381.

98. Iowa.—Dohms v. Mann, 39 N.W. 823, 76 Iowa 723.
31 C.J. p 1057 note 20.

99. N.Y.—In re Lampman, 22 Hun 239.

court applies to a mortgage as well as to an absolute deed.[1]

Disposition of proceeds. The court may direct the disposition of the proceeds,[2] and its order in regard thereto must be complied with.[3]

c. Foreclosure

The proceeding to foreclose a mortgage of an infant's real estate executed under order of court is adversary in character. If the court has jurisdiction, a judgment of foreclosure, although it may be erroneous, is not void and subject to collateral attack.

The proceeding to foreclose a mortgage of an infant's real estate executed under order of court is adversary in character. If the court has jurisdiction over the person of the infant in such matter, a judgment of foreclosure, although it may be erroneous, is not void and subject to collateral attack, but the remedy, if any, is by application for a modification or vacation of the judgment, within the time prescribed by statute. The omission of the guardian ad litem to direct the court's attention to the fact that the execution of the mortgage was without the approval of the court or without the giving of a bond does not affect the title of a purchaser at the foreclosure sale in the absence of bad faith.[4] Under statutes expressly so providing no guardian ad litem need be appointed for an infant who is a married woman.[5]

§ 69. Leases

A court having jurisdiction of an infant's estate may authorize a lease of the infant's land even for a term exceeding the infant's minority. The proceedings must be in conformity with the governing statutes or rules of court.

A court having jurisdiction of an infant's estate may authorize a lease of the infant's land,[6] and approve such lease for a period of time extending beyond the minority of the minor.[7] In jurisdictions wherein chancery courts have inherent power to sell or convey the real property of infants, as discussed supra § 62, such courts have inherent power to authorize a lease of such property when the best interests of the infant are subserved thereby,[8] even for a term exceeding the infant's minority.[9] A decree of a court sanctioning a lease is conclusive until it is reversed or set aside if the court has jurisdiction. A bona fide purchaser for value of the leasehold interest will be protected.[10] An infant whose interest in real estate has been leased by authority of the court, with an option to the lessee to purchase, cannot, after reaching majority, maintain a suit in equity for the cancellation of the option closed in the lease on the ground that the court had no power to authorize it, while retaining the benefits of the other provisions, for which such option was part consideration.[11] A lease of an infant's real estate, made by the infant's father who is not the guardian of such minor, which is not approved by the court having jurisdiction of the estate, is void.[12]

Validity of leases by the infant is considered supra § 54. Lease of ward's estate by the guardian is considered in Guardian and Ward § 142.

The proceedings must be in conformity with the governing statutes or rules of court.[13] A special bond[14] and the approval of the lease by the court[15] are usually required. The lease should be in writing.[16] Mere irregularities in the proceedings, where not prejudicial to the infant, will not vitiate the lease.[17]

§ 70. Sales of Personalty

A court of equity has power in a proper case to authorize a sale of an infant's personalty, and by force of statute in many jurisdictions the personalty may be sold under orders of court whenever the sale would be beneficial to the infant.

A court of equity has power in a proper case to authorize a sale of an infant's personalty.[18] By

1. N.Y.—Battell v. Torrey, 65 N.Y. 294.
2. Wis.—Lueft v. Lueft, 109 N.W. 652, 129 Wis. 534, 7 L.R.A.,N.S., 263, 9 Ann.Cas. 639.
3. N.Y.—In re Lampman, 22 Hun 239.
31 C.J. p 1057 note 24.
4. Iowa.—Ringstad v. Hanson, 130 N.W. 145, 150 Iowa 324.
5. Ky.—Schlenker v. Clark, 11 S.W. 2d 725, 226 Ky. 665.
6. Okl.—Charley v. Britton-Johnson Oil Co., 263 P. 1096, 129 Okl. 153—Scott v. Gypsy Oil Co., 239 P. 887, 112 Okl. 13.
7. Okl.—Scott v. Gypsy Oil Co., supra.
8. Ala.—McCreary v. Billing, 58 So. 311, 176 Ala. 314, Ann.Cas.1915A 561.
Tenn.—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn. App. 68.
31 C.J. p 1058 note 35.
9. Tenn.—Ricardi v. Gaboury, 89 S. W. 98, 115 Tenn. 484.
10. Tenn.—Anderson v. Ammonett, 9 Lea 1.
11. U.S.—Goin v. Cincinnati Realty Co., Ohio, 200 F. 252, 118 C.C.A. 438.
12. Okl.—Jones v. Goldsberry, 247 P. 60, 118 Okl. 219—Baken v. Fox, 157 P. 340, 57 Okl. 544.
13. Okl.—Charley v. Britton-Johnson Oil Co., 263 P. 1096, 129 Okl. 153.
14. Ill.—Wan v. People, 57 Ill. 202.
15. Ill.—Field v. Herrick, 101 Ill. 110.
Okl.—Baken v. Fox, 157 P. 340, 57 Okl. 544.
16. Tenn.—Sawyers v. Zachery, 1 Head 21.
17. Ga.—Palmer Brick Co. v. Woodward, 69 S.E. 827, 135 Ga. 450.
18. Ga.—Strain v. Wright, 7 Ga. 568.
31 C.J. p 1058 note 51.

force of statute in many jurisdictions the personal property of an infant may be sold under orders of court whenever circumstances make it beneficial to him that it should be sold.[19] In proceedings authorized by statute the court has jurisdiction to determine whether a transaction transferring securities owned by infants was such as to divest their ownership.[20]

Confirmation of sale. Where authority to sell is derived from an order of the court, ordinarily it is necessary that the sale be confirmed.[21]

V. CONTRACTS

A. IN GENERAL

§ 71. Capacity to Contract and Validity of Contracts in General

The general rule, which is subject to some qualifications, is that an infant cannot bind himself absolutely by a contract, and that an infant's contracts are voidable, and not void.

A state legislature may regulate the contracts of infants and declare under what conditions they may contract;[22] so the question of the age at which one otherwise qualified shall have the right to make lawful contracts and be entitled to their benefits and bound by their obligations is within its control,[23] and it has power to fix any age at which an infant may enter into a contract of a particular character.[24] It may also abrogate or remove the disability of infants to contract.[25]

While the privilege of infancy will not enable an infant to escape liability on his contractual obligations in all cases and under all circumstances,[26] the general rule, with qualifications appearing in this section and succeeding sections, and particularly with the frequently mentioned exception of contracts for necessaries, as discussed infra § 78, is that an infant has not the capacity to bind himself absolutely by a contract, or that an infant is not bound by his contract,[27] since, with such exceptions, any contract made by him during his infancy may be avoided or disaffirmed by him,[28] both at

19. Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, 122 P. 879, 86 Kan. 933.
31 C.J. p 1058 note 52.

20. N.Y.—Application of Goodchild, 290 N.Y.S. 683, 160 Misc. 738.

21. Tex.—Harrison v. Ilgner, 11 S. W. 1054, 74 Tex. 86.

22. Wis.—Peterson v. Weimar, 194 N.W. 346, 181 Wis. 231.

Infant has no vested right to be free from legislative limitation of right to contract, or from limitation by amendment of an original statute limiting such right, provided new limitation is not unreasonable and other rights have not intervened by exercise of right to contract under former legislation.—Coleman v. Coleman, 200 N.E. 197, 51 Ohio App. 221.

23. Ill.—People v. Kowalski, 138 N. E. 634, 307 Ill. 378.

24. Va.—Humphries v. Boxley Bros. Co., 135 S.E. 890, 146 Va. 91, 49 A.L.R. 1427.

25. Mich.—Thomas v. Morton Salt Co., 235 N.W. 846, 253 Mich. 613, certiorari denied 52 S.Ct. 8, 284 U.S. 619, 76 L.Ed. 528, affirmed on rehearing and supplemented 242 N.W. 235, 258 Mich. 231—Naudzius v. Lahr, 234 N.W. 581, 253 Mich. 316.
N.Y.—Application of Presler, 13 N.Y. S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.
Removal of disabilities of infancy generally see supra §§ 28–30.

26. N.J.—Sawicki v. Siahor, 167 A. 691, 11 N.J.Misc. 604.

27. U.S.—Minersville School Dist. v. Gobitis, C.C.A.Pa., 108 F.2d 683—Ex parte Chan Hai, D.C.Wash., 11 F.2d 667, affirmed, C.C.A., Chan Hai v. Weedin, 15 F.2d 296.
Ala.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Ward & Son Auto Co., 109 So. 574, 215 Ala. 34, reversing 109 So. 576, 21 Ala.App. 515.
Alaska.—The Emporium v. Boyle, 7 Alaska 80.
Ariz.—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A. L.R. 1363.
Ill.—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E.2d 297, 319 Ill.App. 265—Hunter v. Egolf Motor Co., 268 Ill.App. 1.
Me.—Shaw v. Philbrick, 151 A. 423, 129 Me. 259, 74 A.L.R. 290.
Miss.—Greene v. Greene, 110 So. 218, 145 Miss. 87, 49 A.L.R. 565.
Mo.—Spears v. De Clue, App., 133 S.W.2d 1044, record quashed on other grounds State ex rel. Spears v. Hughes, 142 S.W.2d 3, 346 Mo. 421—Swoboda v. Nowak, 255 S.W. 1079, 213 Mo.App. 452.
N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 153 Misc. 673—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App. Div. 1016.
Pa.—Bradley v. Cool, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 404.
R.I.—Jacobs v. United Electric Rys. Co., 125 A. 286, 46 R.I. 230.
31 C.J. p 1058 note 57.
Infancy as defense to action for breach of marriage promise see Breach of Marriage Promise § 2 a.
Torts connected with contracts see infra § 89.

"The universal law . . . is that a minor cannot be held liable on his personal contracts."—Bonner v. Moran, 126 F.2d 121, 122, 75 U.S.App.D. C. 156, 139 A.L.R. 1366.

The provision of the compensation act that minors should have same power of contracting for their services as adult employees does not operate generally to enable minors to enter into enforceable contracts.—Eckhardt v. Judevine, 288 N.W. 756, 233 Wis. 168.

Contract in course of committing offense
An infant is not civilly liable on a contract entered into by him in the course of committing the offense of obtaining property by false pretenses, or a kindred offense.—Vinson v. State, 52 S.E. 79, 124 Ga. 19—25 C.J. p 617 note 28.

In Louisiana, under Civil Code Articles §§ 1782, 1785, minors are incapacitated to contract except in the cases provided for.—Gott v. Scott, App., 199 So. 460—Stakes v. Jones, App., 125 So. 197.

28. Ala.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Ward & Son Auto Co., 109 So. 574, 215 Ala. 31, reversing 109 So. 576, 21 Ala.App. 515.
Ark.—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S.W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.
Cal.—Field v. Hughes, 20 P.2d 990, 131 Cal.App. 144.

law and in equity,[28] and whether the contract is executory[30] or executed;[31] and such is the rule regardless of whether or not he has arrived at an age of discretion,[32] whether the transaction is fair or unfair,[33] or reasonable or unreasonable,[34] whether or not the other party is aware of the infant's disabilities,[35] and even though hardship or injury may result to others than the infant.[36] However, as appears infra § 76, an infant is liable on contracts which the law requires him to make or which it makes for him.

The rules above stated do not mean that infants are absolutely incapable of contracting in the sense that all their contracts are absolutely void;[37] their contracts have been said to be valid until disaffirmed.[38] It has been laid down as a proper distinc-

Conn.—Wells v. Radville, 153 A. 154, 112 Conn. 459.
Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278—Berryman v. Highway Trailer Co., 30 N.E.2d 761, 307 Ill.App. 480—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill. App. 322.
Ky.—National Savings & Building Ass'n v. Hutchinson, 144 S.W.2d 1029, 284 Ky. 408—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W.2d 716, 253 Ky. 378—Marceliac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383—Young v. McDaniel, 255 S.W. 854, 201 Ky. 65.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743.
N.Y.—Schroeder v. Hitt, 260 N.Y.S. 2, 236 App.Div. 466, affirmed 186 N. E. 786, 261 N.Y. 671—H. L. Braham & Co. v. Zittel, 250 N.Y.S. 44, 232 App.Div. 406—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S.2d 988, 165 Misc. 853—Goldfinger v. Doherty, 276 N.Y.S. 289, 153 Misc. 826, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 778, 244 App.Div. 779—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 153 Misc. 673—Egnaczyk v. Rowland, 267 N.Y.S. 14, 148 Misc. 889.
Ohio.—Hoffman v. Edson Co., 173 N. E. 807, 37 Ohio App. 262.
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.
R.I.—Tillinghast v. Holbrook, 7 R.I. 230.
Tenn.—Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Ausbrooks, 257 S.W. 858, 148 Tenn. 615, 33 A.L.R. 330—Tennessee Brokerage Co. v. Larkin, 1 Tenn.App. 276.
Tex.—Uhlmann Grain Co. of Texas v. Wilson, Civ.App., 68 S.W.2d 281, error dismissed.
Wis.—Peterson v. Weimar, 194 N.W. 346, 181 Wis. 231.
31 C.J. p 1058 note 57.

"Unqualified right to disaffirm"
Wis.—Olson v. Veum, 222 N.W. 233, 234, 197 Wis. 342, citing Corpus Juris.

"Absolute and paramount right"
Colo.—Mosko v. Forsythe, 76 P.2d 1106, 1108, 102 Colo. 115.

Discretion of infant
"The right exists for the protection of the infant against his own improvidence and may be exercised entirely in his discretion."
Ill.—Hunter v. Egolf Motor Co., 268 Ill.App. 1, 6.
N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 262, 185 N. C. 109.

Reason for rule
"Infants may avoid their contracts because it is the policy of the law to protect them against their own mistakes."—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A. 2d 450, 452, 152 Pa.Super. 133—Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Ordonoff, 186 A. 391, 393, 122 Pa.Super. 485.

"The endeavor of the courts has been to prevent designing adults from overreaching infants by taking advantage of their lack of experience and judgment and inducing them to enter into contracts clearly to their disadvantage."—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 867, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A.L.R. 1363.
Effect of false representations as to age or right to disaffirm see supra § 27.

29. Conn.—Watson v. Ruderman, 66 A. 515, 79 Conn. 687.
31 C.J. p 1059 note 60.

30. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313.
Ga.—Holland v. Peerless Furniture Co., 3 S.E.2d 138, 60 Ga.App. 149.
Ill.—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322—Lewellyn v. Hawkins, 253 Ill.App. 368.
N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J. Misc. 455.
31 C.J. p 1059 note 58.

31. Ga.—Holland v. Peerless Furniture Co., 3 S.E.2d 138, 60 Ga.App. 149.
Ill.—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322.
N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J. Misc. 455.
N.Y.—Horowitz v. Manufacturers' Trust Co., 268 N.Y.S. 729, 239 App. Div. 693—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224.
31 C.J. p 1059 note 59.
"There is, in law, no distinction between executed and executory contracts so far as the right of disaffirmance is concerned."—Collins v. Peters Real Estate Improvement Corporation, 252 Ill.App. 348, 350.

32. Ala.—Ex parte McFerren, 63 So. 159, 184 Ala. 223, 47 L.R.A.,N.S., 543, Ann.Cas.1915B 672.
31 C.J. p 1059 note 62.
"In law there is no 'twilight zone' between an infant ten years of age and an infant on the verge of maturity."—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 428, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.

33. Conn.—Creer v. Active Automobile Exch., 121 A. 888, 99 Conn. 266.
Utah.—Blake v. Harding, 180 P. 172, 54 Utah 158.

34. Utah.—Blake v. Harding, 180 P. 172, 54 Utah 158.

35. Ark.—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S.W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.
Pa.—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 44 Lack. Jur. 145.
Effect of false representation as to age see supra § 27.

36. Ill.—Hunter v. Egolf Motor Co., 268 Ill.App. 1.
N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133—Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Ordonoff, 186 A. 391, 122 Pa.Super. 485.

37. Mo.—Windisch v. Farrow, App., 159 S.W.2d 392—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S. W.2d 923, 231 Mo.App. 1178.
N.Y.—Goldfinger v. Doherty, 276 N. Y.S. 289, 153 Misc. 826, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 778, 244 App.Div. 779.
In North Dakota, "a minor over 18 years of age may enter into any contract, subject only to his power of disaffirmance (section 4339, C.L. 1913)."—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 915, 56 N.D. 60.

38. N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—Rahman v. Bethel, 258 N.Y.S. 286, 236 App.Div. 182.
Wis.—Roeder v. Simonson, 192 N.W. 477, 180 Wis. 155.
"A minor is . . . capable of making contracts. They are voidable, but, until avoided by disaffirmance, they are contracts nevertheless."—Paulson v. McMillan, 111 P. 2d 983, 985, 8 Wash.2d 295.
In Iowa
(1) Under the Iowa statute, the contract of a minor is valid unless disaffirmed.—In re Willmott's Estate, 230 N.W. 330, 211 Iowa 34, 71 A.L.R. 1018—Stout v. Ruschke, 202 N.W. 88, 199 Iowa 402.

tion, under what has been said to be the old common-law rule,[39] that, where an infant's contract is to his benefit, it is good and binding on him,[40] or, except where it is for necessaries,[41] voidable, at his election when he comes of age;[42] when it is to his prejudice, or not to his benefit, it is void[43] ab initio,[44] or he is not bound;[45] and, when it is of an uncertain nature as to benefit or prejudice, it is voidable only at the election of the infant.[46] However, it has been said that, under the modern rule, this classification is abandoned in favor of permitting the infant, when he has become of age, to determine what contracts are, and what are not, to his interest and liking.[47] The general rule, ignoring the distinction above made, is that, with certain exceptions,[48] as in the case of contracts for necessaries, as discussed infra § 78, contracts authorized by law,[49] and those entered into in the performance of a legal duty,[50] and in some special cases of actual and active fraud,[51] the contracts of an infant, whether executed[52] or executory,[53] are voidable,[54] and such contracts of an infant are void-

(2) "Under the statute (section 10493, Code 1927; section 3189, Code 1897) a minor is bound, not only by contracts for necessaries, but also by his other contracts, unless he disaffirms."—First Nat. Bank v. Torkelson, 228 N.W. 655, 657, 209 Iowa 659.

39. Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.

"At common law the contracts of infants were divided into three classes—void, voidable, and valid."—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 427, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.

40. Conn.—Wells v. Radville, 153 A. 154, 112 Conn. 459.
Mass.—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.
Mo.—Pinnell v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., 263 S.W. 182, 41 A.L.R. 1092, certiorari denied 45 S.Ct. 123, 266 U.S. 623, 69 L.Ed. 473.
Nev.—Schmidt v. Horton, 290 P. 1023, 52 Nev. 479, denying rehearing 287 P. 274, 52 Nev. 302.
N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 937, 153 Misc. 673, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1060 note 73.

41. D.C.—Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Schiavone, 71 F.2d 980, 63 App.D.C. 257, 94 A.L.R. 962.
Contracts for necessaries generally see infra § 78.

42. Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.

43. Del.—King v. Cordrey, supra.
D.C.—Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Schiavone, 71 F.2d 980, 63 App.D.C. 257, 94 A.L.R. 962.
N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 937, 153 Misc. 673, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Vacuum Oil Co. v. Pitarra, 32 Lua.Leg.Reg. 224.
31 C.J. p 1060 note 74.

44. U.S.—Crown Cork & Seal Co. v. Fankhanel, D.C.Md., 49 F.Supp. 611.

45. Neb.—Brownell v. Adams, 236 N.W. 750, 121 Neb. 304.

46. U.S.—Crown Cork & Seal Co. v. Fankhanel, D.C.Md., 49 F.Supp. 611.
N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 937, 153 Misc. 673, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1060 note 75.

47. Tenn.—Human v. Hartsell, 148 S.W.2d 634, 636, 24 Tenn.App. 678.

Effect of rule

"The adoption of this rule does not lead to any intrenchment of the infant's rights but gives him the option of invoking contracts found to be advantageous but which, if held void, could not be enforced against the other party to the contract. Thus the minor can secure the advantage of contracts advantageous to himself and be relieved of the effect of an injudicious contract."—Human v. Hartsell, supra.

Moral obligation

"He is thus permitted to assume the burden of a contract, clearly disadvantageous to him, if he deems himself under a moral obligation to do so."—Human v. Hartsell, supra.

48. Mass.—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.
Mich.—Brown v. Wood, 291 N.W. 255, 293 Mich. 148, 127 A.L.R. 1436.

"Except as to a very limited class of contracts considered binding."—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 850, 124 Fla. 494.

49. Ohio.—Mestezko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575.

In California, "the contract of a minor, except for necessaries furnished to him or his family, or for an obligation incurred by direct authority of statute, may be disaffirmed by him. Section 35, Civ.Code."—Field v. Hughes, 20 P.2d 990, 991, 131 Cal.App. 144.

50. Ohio.—Mestezko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575.

51. Miss.—Mellott v. Love, 119 So. 913, 152 Miss. 860, 64 A.L.R. 968.
Fraud as not preventing disaffirmance see infra § 75.

52. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.

53. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, supra.
N.Y.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E. 726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437, affirming 264 N.Y.S. 806, 238 App. Div. 349—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 153 Misc. 673.

54. Ala.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Ward & Son Auto Co., 109 So. 574, 215 Ala. 31, reversing 109 So. 576, 21 Ala.App. 515—Keller v. Ray Motor Co., 114 So. 422, 22 Ala.App. 252.
Conn.—Shutter v. Fudge, 143 A. 896, 108 Conn. 528.
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.
Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278—Mourant v. Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, 41 N.E.2d 1007, 314 Ill.App. 567—Hunter v. Egolf Motor Co., 268 Ill.App. 1—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322.
Ky.—J. I. Case Threshing Mach. Co. v. Dulworth, 287 S.W. 994, 216 Ky. 637.
Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.
Mich.—Brown v. Wood, 291 N.W. 255, 293 Mich. 148, 127 A.L.R. 1436.
Miss.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227—Mellott v. Love, 119 So. 913, 152 Miss. 860, 64 A.L.R. 968.
Mo.—Windisch v. Farrow, App., 159 S.W.2d 392—Anderson v. Middle States Utilities Co., 98 S.W.2d 163, 231 Mo.App. 129—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 231 Mo.App. 1178—Gerkey v. Hampe, App., 274 S.W. 510.
Neb.—First Nat. Bank v. Guenther, 252 N.W. 395, 125 Neb. 807.
N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—De Vito v. City of Mechanicville, 297 N.Y.S. 935, 251 App.Div. 514—Rahman v. Bethel, 258 N.Y.S. 286, 236 App.Div. 182—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—Farin v. Sercarz, 39 N.Y.S.2d 482, 179 Misc. 490—Vichnes v. Transcontinental & Western Air, 18 N.Y.S.2d 603, 173 Misc. 631—Goldfinger v. Doherty, 276 N.Y.S. 289, 153 Misc. 826, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 778, 244 App.Div. 779—Farable at his election or option[55] after attaining his | majority,[56] and not void,[57] in the absence of a stat-num v. O'Neil, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 141 Misc. 555.

N.C.—Coker v. Virginia-Carolina Joint Stock Land Bank, 178 S.E. 863, 208 N.C. 41.
N.D.—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 56 N.D. 60.
Ohio.—Mestezko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575—State ex rel. Squire v. Schulman, App., 47 N.E.2d 913—Eagle Dairy Co. v. Dylag, 168 N.E. 754, 33 Ohio App. 113.
R.I.—Jacobs v. United Electric Rys. Co., 125 A. 286, 46 R.I. 230.
S.C.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964—Hammassapoulo v. Hammassapoulo, 131 S.E. 319, 134 S.C. 54.
Tenn.—Tuck v. Payne, 17 S.W.2d 8, 159 Tenn. 192, citing Corpus Juris—Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Ausbrooks, 257 S.W. 858, 148 Tenn. 615, 33 A.L.R. 330—Human v. Hartsell, 148 S.W.2d 634, 24 Tenn. App. 678—Sims v. Bank of Commerce & Trust Co., 14 Tenn.App. 672.
Tex.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, 26 S.W.2d 168, 119 Tex. 228, rehearing denied 27 S.W. 2d 157, 119 Tex. 228—Chauncey v. Gambill, Civ.App., 126 S.W.2d 775, error dismissed, judgment correct—Neill v. Pure Oil Co., Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 402, error refused—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ.App., 2 S.W.2d 873.
Va.—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.
Wash.—Paulson v. McMillan, 111 P. 2d 983, 8 Wash.2d 295.
W.Va.—Andrews v. Floyd, 170 S.E. 897, 114 W.Va. 96.
Wis.—Roeder v. Simonson, 192 N.W. 477, 180 Wis. 155.
31 C.J. p 1060 note 76.

"Universally established doctrine"
N.Y.—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, 864, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.

"Almost as a universal rule"
R.I.—Tillinghast v. Holbrook, 7 R.I. 230, 243.

"Voidable or de facto, that is to say, subject to the possibility of disaffirmance."—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 850, 124 Fla. 494.

In Georgia

(1) "A contract made by a minor is not void, but is voidable only."—Benjamin v. Pardue, 162 S.E. 291, 44 Ga.App. 587.

(2) "The contracts of infants are not void but voidable . . . Code §§ 20-202, 20-201."—Holland v. Peerless Furniture Co., 3 S.E.2d 138, 139, 60 Ga.App. 149.

(3) "The contracts of an infant, except for necessaries, are ordinarily not enforceable."—Gibson v. Kyle, 167 S.E. 547, 548, 46 Ga.App. 295.

(4) Under Code §§ 20-201, 20-202, 20-203, the contract of an infant, which is not connected with the practice by him of any trade or profession by permission of his parent or guardian or by permission of law, or which is not for necessaries furnished him where the parent or guardian fails or refuses to furnish them, is voidable, and may, at the option of the infant, be disaffirmed."—Tharpe v. Cudahy Packing Co., 4 S.E.2d 49, 50, 60 Ga.App. 449.

(5) "While the contract of an infant is declared by the Code [Civ. Code 1910, § 4233; Code 1933, § 20-201], to be 'void except for necessaries,' it is the well-settled rule that such a contract is not void but voidable, at the election of the infant, when arriving at full age."—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S.E. 711, 712, 54 Ga.App. 290—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S. E. 793, 794, 33 Ga.App. 784.

(6) "The contracts of an infant under 21 years of age are void, except for necessaries . . . Civil Code 1910, § 4233."—Holbrook v. Montgomery, 141 S.E. 408, 409, 165 Ga. 514.

(7) Earlier decisions see 31 C.J. p 1061 note 78 [b].

Contract to marry see Breach of Marriage Promise § 2 b.
Who may avoid see infra § 75.

55. Ala.—Keller v. Ray Motor Co., 114 So. 422, 22 Ala.App. 252.
Ga.—Holland v. Peerless Furniture Co., 3 S.E.2d 138, 60 Ga.App. 149—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S.E. 711, 54 Ga.App. 290—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S.E. 793, 33 Ga.App. 784—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203.
Ill.—Hunter v. Egolf Motor Co., 268 Ill.App. 1.
Miss.—Mellott v. Love, 119 So. 913, 152 Miss. 860, 64 A.L.R. 968.
Neb.—First Nat. Bank v. Guenther, 252 N.W. 395, 125 Neb. 807.
N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—De Vito v. City of Mechanicville, 297 N.Y.S. 935, 251 App.Div. 514—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—Farin v. Sercarz, 39 N.Y.S.2d 482, 179 Misc. 490—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
N.C.—Coker v. Virginia-Carolina Joint Stock Land Bank, 178 S.E. 863, 208 N.C. 41.
Ohio.—Mestezko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575.
S.C.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.
Tenn.—Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Ausbrooks, 257 S.W. 858, 148 Tenn. 615, 33 A.L.R. 330.
Tex.—Chauncey v. Gambill, Civ.App., 126 S.W.2d 775, error dismissed, judgment correct.
Va.—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.
W.Va.—Andrews v. Floyd, 170 S.E. 897, 114 W.Va. 96.

56. Ga.—Holland v. Peerless Furniture Co., 3 S.E.2d 138, 60 Ga.App. 149—Clemons v. Olshine, 187 S.E. 711, 54 Ga.App. 290—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S.E. 793, 33 Ga.App. 784—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203.
Neb.—First Nat. Bank v. Guenther, 252 N.W. 395, 125 Neb. 807.
W.Va.—Andrews v. Floyd, 170 S.E. 897, 114 W.Va. 96.

57. Ala.—Keller v. Ray Motor Co., 114 So. 422, 22 Ala.App. 252.
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.
Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Ga.—Holland v. Peerless Furniture Co., 3 S.E.2d 138, 60 Ga.App. 149—Benjamin v. Pardue, 162 S.E. 291, 44 Ga.App. 587.
Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
Miss.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227.
N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—De Vito v. City of Mechanicville, 297 N.Y.S. 935, 251 App.Div. 514—Rahman v. Bethel, 258 N.Y.S. 286, 236 App.Div. 182—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—Vichnes v. Transcontinental & Western Air, 18 N.Y.S.2d 603, 173 Misc. 631—Goldfinger v. Doherty, 276 N.Y.S. 289, 153 Misc. 826, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 778, 244 App.Div. 779.
N.D.—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 56 N.D. 60.
Ohio.—State ex rel. Squire v. Schulman, App., 47 N.E.2d 913.
R.I.—Jacobs v. United Electric Rys. Co., 125 A. 286, 46 R.I. 230.
Tenn.—Human v. Hartsell, 148 S.W. 2d 634, 24 Tenn.App. 678.
Tex.—Chauncey v. Gambill, Civ.App., 126 S.W.2d 775, error dismissed, judgment correct—Neill v. Pure Oil Co., Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 402, error refused—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ.App., 2 S.W.2d 873.
W.Va.—Andrews v. Floyd, 170 S.E. 897, 114 W.Va. 96.
Wis.—Roeder v. Simonson, 192 N.W. 477, 180 Wis. 155.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 77.

Unexecuted contracts
N.Y.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E.

ute providing otherwise.[58] In this connection it has been said that one deals with an infant at his peril,[59] particularly when doing so with knowledge of his incapacity.[60]

The incapacity of an infant to bind himself by contract is not removed by the mere fact that he has no parent or guardian, or by the fact that he is employed and receiving his wages from the employment.[61] The approval by a parent of his infant child's contract does not validate it.[62] The effect of emancipation on an infant's right to contract is considered supra §§ 28–30.

The fact that a contract of an infant is evidenced by a sealed instrument does not take it out of the operation of the general rules applicable to the contracts of infants.[63]

The fraud of a minor in procuring a contract may vitiate it,[64] but will not give it validity.[65]

Burden of proof as to validity. One dealing with an infant has been held to have the burden of proving that the contract was a fair, reasonable, and provident one, not tainted with fraud, undue influence, or overreaching on his part.[66]

Liability of infant for interest. There is no general rule exempting infants from the payment of interest on amounts due by them.[67]

§ 72. Ratification and Avoidance

Questions as to election between the ratification and avoidance of contracts and as to the sufficiency and effect of a ratification or of an avoidance are considered in detail infra §§ 73–75. Ratification and avoidance of transactions affecting the acquisition and alienation of property are considered supra §§ 39–46.

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

§ 73. —— Election between Ratification and Avoidance and Necessity Therefor

An executory contract has been held to bind an infant only if he performs some act of affirmance or ratification, while an executed one is binding until disaffirmed, without ratification. An infant cannot partially ratify and partially avoid his contract.

Whether, when an infant arrives at full age, it is necessary that he should perform any act to avoid or affirm a contract made under age, in order to render it nugatory or binding, is a question on which, it has been said, there are contradictory authorities.[68]

Distinction between executed and executory contract. A distinction has been made in this regard between a contract that is executory and one that is executed.[69] While an executory contract, as considered supra § 71, is voidable at the election of the infant, it is presumed to be invalid until ratified,[70] and the burden of overcoming this presumption is on him who seeks to enforce its terms;[71] but an executed contract, while voidable, considered supra § 71, is presumed to be valid, and the burden is on him who seeks to avoid it to establish his right so to do.[72] If the contract is considered executory, there must be some act of affirmance or ratification in order to make it binding on the infant,[73] and it may be avoided notwithstanding there has been no disaffirmance.[74] If the contract has been executed, no ratification is necessary in order to be bound thereby;[75] it is binding until disaffirmed;[76] and if

726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437, affirming 264 N.Y.S. 806, 238 App. Div. 349—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 153 Misc. 673.

Mere act of rescission cannot make the contract void ab initio.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N. Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747.

58. Cal.—Hakes Inv. Co. v. Lyons, 137 P. 911, 166 Cal. 557.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 78.

59. Cal.—Pollock v. Industrial Accident Commission, 54 P.2d 695, 5 Cal.2d 205.
Va.—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.

60. N.Y.—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.

61. Ga.—Wickham v. Torley, 71 S. E. 881, 136 Ga. 594, 36 L.R.A.,N.S., 57.

62. Vt.—Bombardier v. Goodrich, 110 A. 11, 94 Vt. 208.

63. Ala.—West v. Penny, 16 Ala. 186.

64. Ala.—Ex parte Pritchett, 65 So. 521, 187 Ala. 384.
31 C.J. p 1060 note 70.

65. N.Y.—Studwell v. Shapter, 54 N.Y. 249.

66. Minn.—Gislason v. Henry L. Doherty & Co., 260 N.W. 883, 194 Minn. 476—Johnson v. Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., 57 N.W. 934, 56 Minn. 365, 45 Am.S.R. 473, 26 L.R.A. 187, reheard 59 N.W. 992, 56 Minn. 365, 45 Am.S.R. 473, 26 L.R.A. 187.

67. Vt.—Bradley v. Pratt, 23 Vt. 378, overruling Holden v. Pike, 14 Vt. 405, 39 Am.D. 228.

68. Vt.—Farr v. Sumner, 12 Vt. 28, 36 Am.D. 327.

69. Pa.—Shannon v. Sterling Coal Co., 25 Pa.Dist. 672.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 82.

70. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313, 316, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Shannon v. Sterling Coal Co., 25 Pa.Dist. 672.

71. Pa.—Shannon v. Sterling Coal Co., supra.

72. Pa.—Shannon v. Sterling Coal Co., supra.

73. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 89.

74. Tex.—Fletcher v. A. W. Koch Co., Civ.App., 189 S.W. 501.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 90.

75. Tex.—Clemmer v. Price, 125 S. W. 604, 59 Tex.Civ.App. 84.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 91.

76. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 92.

it is desired to avoid it, there must be some act of disaffirmance.[77]

Partial ratification or avoidance. Although it has been said that the ratification may be partial,[78] the general rule is that a contract must be wholly ratified or wholly avoided; the infant cannot split up an entire contract and ratify so much thereof as he considers to his advantage and avoid the balance, or hold the other party to what he contracted, while the infant escapes his own obligation.[79]

§ 74. —— Ratification of Contracts

a. In general
b. Time for ratification
c. Who may ratify
d. Requisites to valid ratification
e. What constitutes ratification
f. Effect of ratification

a. In General

An infant's voidable contract may be made binding by ratification, but a void contract is not subject to ratification. Ordinarily a ratification may be absolute or conditional.

A contract which is considered void is not subject to ratification,[80] although it has been held that an infant, after attaining majority, may adopt a void contract not inherently against public policy, by conduct clearly showing an intention to do so, and thereby create a new contract in terms the same as the void one.[81] A contract which is considered merely voidable is capable of being made binding by ratification.[82] An infant may also, after coming of age, ratify or affirm a contract or settlement made for his benefit[83] and, as discussed infra § 104, may sue on it, or enforce it, as though he had originally been a party to it; and he may affirm a contract irregularly made on his behalf,[84] or one made without his express authority.[85]

Conditional ratification. While it has been held that a conditional agreement to create a liability on account of a contract made during infancy is not a ratification of the original contract, although if the condition is performed it may become a new contract and as such binding,[86] ordinarily a ratification may be absolute or conditional;[87] and if it is the latter the terms of the condition must be shown to have happened or been complied with before an action can be sustained.[88]

An engagement to pay when able is a conditional promise, and the promisee, to avail himself of it, must prove the ability of the promisor.[89] It is not, however, necessary to show an ability to pay without inconvenience, but evidence that there is property from which the debt might be paid or an income from some source which would enable the party to pay would be sufficient.[90]

b. Time for Ratification

Ratification of his contract by an infant, to be effective, must take place after he arrives at majority.

77. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, supra.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 93.

78. N.H.—Edgerly v. Shaw, 25 N.H. 514, 57 Am.D. 349.

79. Ky.—J. I. Case Threshing Mach. Co. v. Dulworth, 287 S.W. 994, 216 Ky. 637.
N.Y.—Anthony v. Syracuse University, 231 N.Y.S. 435, 224 App.Div. 487, reversing 223 N.Y.S. 796, 130 Misc. 249—Farin v. Sercarz, 39 N.Y.S.2d 482, 179 Misc. 490.
Pa.—Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Ordonoff, 186 A. 391, 122 Pa. Super. 485.
S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 180 S.E. 462, 464, 176 S.C. 476, citing Corpus Juris.
Wis.—Roeder v. Simonson, 192 N.W. 477, 180 Wis. 155.
31 C.J. p 1061 note 96.

80. Okl.—Carlile v. National Oil & Development Co., 201 P. 377, 83 Okl. 217.
31 C.J. p 1062 note 99.
"The incapacity to contract bars ratification of it."—Ex parte Chan Hai, D.C.Wash., 11 F.2d 667, 668, affirmed, C.C.A., Chan Hei v. Weedin, 15 F.2d 296.

81. Okl.—Cosden Oil & Gas Co. v. Hendrickson, 221 P. 86, 96 Okl. 206.
"Adopt" and "avoid" distinguished
"Though sometimes used synonymously, from a strictly lexical standpoint, the word 'adopt' should be used to apply to void transactions, while the word 'ratify' should be limited to the final approval of a voidable transaction by one who theretofore had the optional right to relieve himself from its obligations."—Cosden Oil & Gas Co. v. Hendrickson, supra.

82. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313.
Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Mo.—Anderson v. Middle States Utilities Co., 98 S.W.2d 163, 231 Mo. App. 129.
Neb.—Brownell v. Adams, 236 N.W. 750, 121 Neb. 304.
N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J. Misc. 455.
31 C.J. p 1062 note 2.
Effect of ratification see infra subdivision f of this section.
Contract as void or voidable see supra § 71.

83. Minn.—Jentzen v. Pruter, 180 N.W. 1004, 148 Minn. 8.
Ohio.—Simpson v. Industrial Commission of Ohio, 173 N.E. 211, 36 Ohio App. 316.
Okl.—Shipman v. Conrad, 223 P. 183, 97 Okl. 216—Cosden Oil & Gas Co. v. Hendrickson, 221 P. 86, 96 Okl. 206.
31 C.J. p 1062 note 3.

84. S.C.—Bailey v. Boyce, 26 S.C.Eq. 187.

85. Mo.—Anderson v. Middle States Utilities Co., 98 S.W.2d 163, 231 Mo.App. 129.

86. Mich.—Minock v. Shortridge, 21 Mich. 304.

87. N.J.—Peacock v. Binder, 31 A. 215, 57 N.J.Law 374.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 39.

88. Mass.—Procter v. Sears, 4 Allen 95.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 40.

89. Colo.—Kendrick v. Neisz, 30 P. 245, 17 Colo. 506.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 42.

90. Mass.—Thompson v. Lay, 4 Pick. 48, 16 Am.D. 325.

The time for the ratification or affirmance of the contract or undertaking of an infant is after his arrival at majority;[91] prior to that time the rule that precludes his binding himself by his contracts also precludes him from binding himself by any subsequent ratification thereof.[92] A ratification during infancy stands on no better footing than the original contract itself, or any other contract of an infant.[93]

It has been held that as the executory contract of an infant gives no cause of action against him until it is ratified, as discussed supra § 73, a new promise or ratification made after the commencement of an action against him will not support that action;[94] but there is also authority to the contrary.[95]

c. Who May Ratify

The ratification of a contract is a right personal to the infant.

The ratification of a contract is a right personal to the infant.[96] Hence the ratification can be only by the infant himself,[97] his agent,[98] or, as is discussed in Executors and Administrators § 189, his personal representative.

d. Requisites to Valid Ratification

Acts or statements, to show ratification, must be voluntary; no new consideration is necessary, and, unless a statute requires a writing, ratification may be oral. Authorities differ as to whether the infant's knowledge that he was not bound, or could disaffirm, is essential to valid ratification.

The acts, declarations, or promises relied on to show ratification must have been voluntary, and not made under duress,[99] and not be the result of circumvention.[1] No new consideration is necessary for the late infant's ratification of his contract made during infancy,[2] even though the consideration received by the infant has been consumed or destroyed by him during infancy.[3]

Writing. Under some statutes the ratification of an infant's contract must be in writing;[4] but an infant, after attaining full age, may be estopped by his conduct to claim the benefit of such a statute.[5] In the absence of such a statutory requirement the ratification may be oral.[6] It has been held that a statute requiring the ratification to be in writing is not applicable where one seeks to recover back the consideration paid by him on a contract made while he was an infant, and ratification is set up as a defense to the action.[7]

Knowledge of nonliability. As the late infant is presumed to know his legal rights,[8] in some jurisdictions it has been held that it is not necessary to a ratification of his contract made during infancy that the act or promise relied on should have been done or made with actual knowledge that he was not bound, or had the right to disaffirm,[9] if the

91. Ala.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Ward & Son Auto Co., 109 So. 574, 215 Ala. 31, reversing 109 So. 576, 21 Ala.App. 515.
Ky.—J. I. Case Threshing Mach. Co. v. Dulworth, 287 S.W. 994, 216 Ky. 637.
Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
Mich.—Milligan v. S. W. Strauss & Co., 256 N.W. 449, 450, 268 Mich. 317, citing Corpus Juris.
N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J. Misc. 455.
N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y. S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—9302 Broadwalk Corporation v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124.
W.Va.—Andrews v. Floyd, 170 S.E. 897, 114 W.Va. 96.
31 C.J. p 1062 note 7.

92. Iowa.—Roeper v. Danese, 221 N. W. 506, 206 Iowa 964.
Mich.—Milligan v. S. W. Strauss & Co., 256 N.W. 449, 450, 268 Mich. 317, citing Corpus Juris.
N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J. Misc. 455.
31 C.J. p 1062 note 8.

93. Mich.—Milligan v. S. W. Strauss & Co., 256 N.W. 449, 450, 268 Mich. 317, citing Corpus Juris.
N.H.—Stack v. Cavanaugh, 30 A. 350, 67 N.H. 149.
"If . . . [the infant] 'affirms' during minority, he may yet disaffirm when he comes of age."—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 55, 108 Pa. Super. 290.
The fact that the infant has been emancipated does not affect the rule.—Milburn v. Wemple, 101 So. 132, 156 La. 759.

94. N.H.—Merriam v. Wilkins, 6 N. H. 432, 25 Am.D. 472.
31 C.J. p 1062 note 11.

95. Ky.—Best v. Givens, 3 B.Mon. 72.
Mo.—Snyder v. Gericke, 74 S.W. 377, 101 Mo.App. 647.

96. N.J.—Hermenau v. Zazzarino, 155 A. 459, 108 N.J.Eq. 451.
31 C.J. p 1062 note 15.

97. Ala.—Shropshire v. Burns, 46 Ala. 108.
N.J.—Hermenau v. Zazzarino, 155 A. 459, 108 N.J.Eq. 451.

98. Mich.—Carrel v. Potter, 23 Mich. 377.

99. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Me.—Sawyer Boot & Shoe Co. v. Braveman, 136 A. 290, 126 Me. 70.
31 C.J. p 1062 note 23, p 1063 note 24.

1. Me.—Sawyer Boot & Shoe Co. v. Braveman, supra.

2. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 25.

3. Ga.—Bell v. Swainsboro Fertilizer Co., 76 S.E. 756, 12 Ga.App. 81.

4. S.C.—Jones v. Godwin, 198 S.E. 36, 187 S.C. 510—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 27.

5. S.C.—Jones v. Godwin, 198 S.E. 36, 187 S.C. 510—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72.

6. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 28.

7. Me.—Whitman v. Allen, 121 A. 160, 123 Me. 1, 36 A.L.R. 776—Hilton v. Shepherd, 42 A. 387, 92 Me. 160.

8. Conn.—Bestor v. Hickey, 41 A. 555, 71 Conn. 181.
Vt.—Hatch v. Hatch, 13 A. 791, 60 Vt. 160.

9. Pa.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 307 Pa. 365, distinguishing Hinely v. Margaritz, 3 Pa. 428 and Curtin v. Patton, 11 Serg. & R., Pa., 305.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 31.

ratification is untainted with fraud or undue influence;[10] but a number of authorities declare it essential to the validity of the ratification that the late infant at the time of such ratification knew that the transaction was not binding on him.[11] Some of the cases, while admitting that the late infant is presumed to know his legal rights, limit the existence of such presumption to situations in which there is an absence of evidence to the contrary,[12] and consider such presumption rebuttable,[13] and hold that, while in order to ratify an infant's contract the late infant must have known that he was not bound thereby, it is presumed that he did know.[14]

e. What Constitutes Ratification

(1) In general
(2) Acquiescence or failure to disaffirm
(3) Retention or disposal of consideration; retention of benefits

(1) In General

An infant's ratification of his contract may be either express or implied, as long as his intention to be bound by the contract is clearly manifested. In the absence of statute, an executory contract is not ratified by a mere acknowledgment of the obligation or, ordinarily, by a part payment. The burden of proving a ratification rests on the person claiming under an infant's contract; and whether there has been a ratification ordinarily is a question of fact, or of mixed law and fact.

It has been said that acts of lesser solemnity or formality suffice for confirmation of an infant's contract than for its avoidance.[15] An infant's ratification of his contract may be either express[16] or implied, as by acts or conduct.[17] It must be by some act or declaration recognizing the legal existence and binding efficacy of the contract,[18] and inconsistent with any intention not to be bound;[19] and it has been said that ratification will be inferred from any action on the part of the infant manifesting his intention to regard the contract as binding.[20] The act, promise, or declaration relied on must have been done or made deliberately and understandingly,[21] and there must have been a clear intention to ratify,[22] unless the act relied on is of such a nature that it would be a fraud on the other party if the contract were not affirmed;[23] but no particular form of language is necessary to show a ratification.[24] The acts and conduct relied on for confirmation must often be determined from the facts and circumstances of each particular case.[25]

Reason for rule

"To require that one must have knowledge of a right to disaffirm in order to make an effective ratification of a voidable contract made in infancy would be inconsistent with the well-established rule that failure to disaffirm such contract within a reasonable time after coming of age terminates the privilege of disaffirmance."—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 312, 307 Pa. 365.

10. Ill.—Rubin v. Strandberg, 122 N.E. 808, 288 Ill. 64, 5 A.L.R. 133—Coe v. Moon, 102 N.E. 1074, 260 Ill. 76.

11. La.—International Accountants' Society v. Santana, 7 La.App. 594, affirmed 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276.
N.Y.—Farnum v. O'Neill, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 905, 141 Misc. 555, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 33.
"In order to ratify a contract made during infancy, the act relied upon as a ratification must be performed with full knowledge of its consequences and with an express intent of ratifying what is known to be voidable. Where the same lack of knowledge exists at the time of the alleged ratification as existed at the time of the execution of the original contract or deed, the ratification is part of the original transaction and the ratification is ineffectual."—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 422, 343 Ill. 278.

12. N.Y.—Taft v. Sergeant, 18 Barb. 320—Healy v. Kellogg, 145 N.Y.S. 943.

13. N.Y.—Healy v. Kellogg, supra.

14. Ind.—Ogborn v. Hoffman, 52 Ind. 439.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 36.

15. U.S.—New Departure Mfg. Co. v. Rockwell-Drake Corporation, C.C.A.Conn., 287 F. 328, modifying, D.C., 270 F. 219.

16. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
S.C.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.
Tenn.—Sims v. Bank of Commerce & Trust Co., 14 Tenn.App. 672.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 46.

17. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
S.C.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.
Tenn.—Sims v. Bank of Commerce & Trust Co., 14 Tenn.App. 672.
31 C.J. p 1063 note 47.

18. Conn.—Benham v. Bishop, 9 Conn. 330, 23 Am.D. 358.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 48.

19. Ill.—Coe v. Moon, 102 N.E. 1074, 260 Ill. 76.
W.Va.—Hobbs v. Hinton Foundry, Machine & Plumbing Co., 82 S.E. 267, 74 W.Va. 443, Ann.Cas.1917D 410.

20. Pa.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 307 Pa. 365—Cundiff v. Ertl, 47 Dauph.Co. 440.
Infant's demand in the alternative for damages, if consideration delivered under former contract could not be restored to him, did not constitute ratification of voidable contract.—Schoenung v. Gallet, 238 N.W. 852, 206 Wis. 52, 78 A.L.R. 387.

21. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
N.Y.—Farnum v. O'Neill, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 141 Misc. 555.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 50.
Knowledge of nonliability see supra subdivision d of this section.

22. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278.
La.—International Accountants Soc. v. Santana, 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276, affirming 7 La.App. 594.
N.Y.—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 689, 251 App.Div. 722, affirming 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751—Farnum v. O'Neill, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 141 Misc. 555.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 51.

23. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
S.C.—Rainsford v. Rainsford, 17 S.C.Eq. 385.

24. Colo.—Kendrick v. Neisz, 30 P. 245, 17 Colo. 506.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 53.

25. W.Va.—Hobbs v. Hinton Foun-

An executory contract requires a greater degree of confirmatory conduct than one executed,[26] positive and explicit ratification being required.[27] It has been held that in order to constitute a ratification of an infant's executory contract for the payment of money there must be a direct promise,[28] which is obviously a sufficient ratification,[29] or such a direct confirmation as expressly ratifies the contract,[30] although not in the language of a formal promise;[31] but in this connection the acts of the late infant in favor of the contract may constitute as full a ratification as an express and unequivocal promise;[32] and where the declarations or acts of the individual, after coming of age, fairly and justly led to the inference that he intended to and did recognize and adopt as binding an agreement executory on his part made during infancy, and intended to pay the debt then incurred, this is sufficient to constitute ratification.[33] Contracts simply for the payment of money or the performance of any personal duty have been distinguished from those which are connected with land or grow out of an interest therein, and an affirmation of the latter class may be implied.[34]

In the absence of statute providing otherwise,[35] a mere acknowledgment or admission of the debt, contract, or obligation is not sufficient,[36] even though accompanied by a declaration of an intention or desire to pay, where such declaration does not amount to a positive promise;[37] nor is the payment of interest sufficient.[38] Also, in the absence of statute providing otherwise,[39] even the payment of a part of the debt alone has been held not to constitute a ratification of the promise to pay the whole,[40] where there has been no intent to ratify;[41] part payment constitutes some evidence of an intention to ratify the contract,[42] but it is not conclusive.[43] However, a voluntary part payment with the full knowledge that the contract is not binding may constitute ratification.[44] A promise to pay the debt in part, or in any way other than that stipulated in the contract, does not amount to a ratification; and this is also true as to any kind of negotiation to renew or extend the old contract.[45]

Executed contract. In order to confirm an executed contract of an infant, all that appears to be necessary is to show some distinct acknowledgment or act indicating an intention to be bound by the contract; and if the infant continues, after coming of full age, to occupy a position which is explicable only on the supposition that he intends to stand by his contract, he will be considered to have ratified.[46] dry, Machine & Plumbing Co., 82 S.E. 267, 74 W.Va. 443, Ann.Cas. 1917D 410.

26. W.Va.—Hobbs v. Hinton Foundry, Machine & Plumbing Co., supra.

27. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 850, 124 Fla. 494.
"It must be a direct promise to pay or discharge the contract in question."—Lee v. Thompson, supra.

28. Miss.—Edmunds v. Mister, 58 Miss. 765.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 56.

29. Mich.—Watzel v. Beardslee, 286 N.W. 813, 289 Mich. 522.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 57.
Promise to pay a debt of his father for necessaries is not a ratification of any contract of an infant.—Baron v. Guidry, 134 So. 410, 17 La.App. 32.

30. Vt.—Hatch v. Hatch, 13 A. 791, 60 Vt. 160.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 58.

31. Mo.—Baker v. Kennett, 54 Mo. 82.
31 C.J. p 1064 notes 58, 59.

32. N.C.—Long v. Miller, 93 N.C. 227.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 60.

33. Mass.—Tobey v. Wood, 123 Mass. 88, 25 Am.R. 27.
31 C.J. p 1064 note 61.

34. Mass.—Barnaby v. Barnaby, 1 Pick. 221.

35. In Missouri under the statute an acknowledgment of a debt made in writing constitutes a ratification.—Koerner v. Wilkinson, 70 S.W. 509, 96 Mo.App. 510.

36. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
La.—International Accountants Soc. v. Santana, 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276, affirming 7 La. App. 594.
31 C.J. p 1065 note 64.

37. N.C.—Bresee v. Stanly, 25 S.E. 870, 119 N.C. 278.
31 C.J. p 1065 note 65.

38. Colo.—Kendrick v. Neisz, 30 P. 245, 17 Colo. 506.
Mass.—Whitney v. Dutch, 14 Mass. 457, 7 Am.D. 229.

39. In Missouri
(1) Under the statute a partial payment after majority constitutes a ratification of a contract made during infancy.—Koerner v. Wilkinson, 70 S.W. 509, 96 Mo.App. 510.
(2) However, where the maker of a note after attaining his majority directed his debtor to pay the amount of the debt to the holder of the note, believing that the holder had agreed to look to the debtor for payment, such direction and a subsequent payment by the debtor did not amount to a ratification by the maker within the statute.—Snyder v. Gericke, 74 S.W. 377, 101 Mo.App. 647.

40. La.—International Accountants Society v. Santana, 7 La.App. 594, affirmed 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276.
31 C.J. p 1065 note 68.

41. La.—International Accountants Soc. v. Santana, 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276, affirming 7 La.App. 594.
N.Y.—Healy v. Kellogg, 145 N.Y.S. 943.

42. Mich.—Watzel v. Beardslee, 286 N.W. 813, 289 Mich. 522.
N.Y.—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 689, 251 App.Div. 722, affirming 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751—Healy v. Kellogg, 145 N.Y.S. 943.

43. N.Y.—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 689, 251 App.Div. 722, affirming 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751—Healy v. Kellogg, 145 N.Y.S. 943.

44. Tenn.—Johnson v. Steger, 7 Tenn.Civ.A. 317.

45. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.

46. Mich.—Durfee v. Abbott, 28 N.W. 521, 61 Mich. 471.
31 C.J. p 1065 note 73.

(2) Acquiescence or Failure to Disaffirm

According to most authorities, an infant's failure to disaffirm his contract within a reasonable time after reaching majority works a ratification thereof.

According to most authorities, and in some cases by force of statute,[47] the contract of an infant may become binding on him through his failure to disaffirm it within a reasonable time after reaching his majority, this being construed to work a ratification,[48] at least as to the executed provisions of the contract,[49] and at least where he received some benefit during infancy;[50] what is a reasonable time depends on the circumstances of the particular case,[51] and ordinarily is a question of fact.[52] On the other hand, there are cases denying that mere acquiescence and failure to disaffirm, or silence or inaction, will be construed as a ratification,[53] if short of the statutory period of limitations,[54] especially where the infant has not, since his majority, received any new consideration or retained any old consideration arising out of the original transaction.[55]

(3) Retention or Disposal of Consideration; Retention of Benefits

An infant's retention of the consideration or benefits of a contract, or his disposal of the consideration, after majority, may constitute a ratification.

Under statute, the retention or enjoyment by an infant, after attaining majority, of the consideration received by him under a contract made during his minority may constitute a ratification of the contract.[56] Apart from statute, ratification may be held to follow from retention for an unreasonable time;[57] and this principle has been applied in the case of executed contracts.[58] The infant's disposal of the consideration on attaining majority may have the same effect,[59] as may his retention of the benefits of the contract generally,[60] or his receipt of performance, in whole or in part, from the other party to the contract, after attaining his majority.[61] However, a contract by one who had no power to bind the infant's interest is not made good because he was benefited by it and accepted its fruits.[62]

f. Effect of Ratification

An infant's ratification of his contract makes it binding and enforceable; it ceases to be voidable.

The effect of an infant's ratification of his contract is to make it binding, and enforceable;[63] it 47. Kan.—McCullough v. Finley, 77 P. 696, 69 Kan. 705.

31 C.J. p 1065 note 76.

48. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Minn.—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N.W. 460, 194 Minn. 465.
N.Y.—Horowitz v. Manufacturers' Trust Co., 268 N.Y.S. 729, 239 App. Div. 693—Levenberg v. Ludington, 274 N.Y.S. 193, 152 Misc. 735.
Ohio.—Herschede Motor Car Co. v. Bangham, 26 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 232.
Pa.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 307 Pa. 365—Cundiff v. Ertl, 47 Dauph.Co. 440.
S.C.—Jones v. Godwin, 198 S.E. 36, 187 S.C. 510—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.
Tenn.—Sims v. Bank of Commerce & Trust Co., 14 Tenn.App. 672.
Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.
31 C.J. p 1065 note 75.
Time for avoidance see infra § 75 c.
"The protection which the law gives an infant is the right of rescission. His contracts which are not rescinded are construed like those of an adult, and, so long as he asserts contractual rights, he is bound by reciprocal obligations."—Bracy v. Miller, 278 S.W. 41, 43, 169 Ark. 1115, 43 A.L.R. 114.

49. N.Y.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App. Div. 266.

50. Neb.—Brownell v. Adams, 236 N.W. 750, 121 Neb. 304.

51. Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.
A delay for nearly a year after attaining majority before disaffirming contract for instruction in aviation was not a ratification of contract so as to preclude former minor from disaffirming contract, where contract was wholly executed and there was no evidence that earlier disaffirmance would have benefited defendant, and minor made no use of his education in aviation, which had been of no apparent benefit to him.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281.

52. Vt.—Spencer v. Lyman Falls Power Co., 196 A. 276, 109 Vt. 294.

53. N.J.—Majaika v. Jamison, 180 A. 402, 403, 115 N.J.Law 358, citing Corpus Juris—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A. 2d 523, 18 N.J.Misc. 455.
31 C.J. p 1065 note 77.
An infant is under no obligation to disaffirm
N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., supra.

54. N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115.

55. Mich.—Durfee v. Abbott, 28 N.W. 521, 61 Mich. 471.
N.H.—New Hampshire Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Noyes, 32 N.H. 345.

56. Ga.—Holbrook v. Montgomery, 141 S.E. 408, 165 Ga. 514—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S.E. 793, 33 Ga.App. 784—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203—Clyde v. Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co., 95 S.E. 734, 22 Ga.App. 192.
Transactions affecting property see supra § 40.

57. Philippine.—Lim v. Unchuan, 38 Philippine 552.

58. S.C.—Eubanks v. Peak, 18 S.C.L. 497.
31 C.J. p 1066 note 85.

59. Philippine.—Lim v. Unchuan, 38 Philippine 552.

60. Neb.—Brownell v. Adams, 236 N.W. 750, 121 Neb. 304.
Ohio.—Simpson v. Industrial Commission of Ohio, 173 N.E. 211, 36 Ohio App. 316.
Okl.—Shipman v. Conrad, 223 P. 183, 97 Okl. 216.

61. U.S.—Crown Cork & Seal Co. v. Fankhanel, D.C.Md., 49 F.Supp. 611.
Pa.—Cundiff v. Ertl, 47 Dauph.Co. 440.

62. Tex.—Stone v. Ellis, 7 S.W. 349, 69 Tex. 325.

63. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313.
Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.

ceases to be voidable,[64] and cannot be subsequently repudiated or disaffirmed.[65] Ordinarily the ratification makes the contract valid from its date or inception,[66] and an action need not be brought on the new promise;[67] but it has been held that when the contract is executory the ratification does not relate back so as to render the contract good ab initio.[68]

The ratification of one contract does not operate to ratify a separate contract with a different person, although both are connected with the same transaction.[69]

§ 75. —— Avoidance of Contracts

a. In general
b. Who may avoid
c. Time for avoidance
d. What constitutes avoidance
e. Restoration of consideration or status quo
f. Effect of avoidance

a. In General

An infant may disaffirm regardless of his motive or the other party's good faith; but the privilege of disaffirmance should not serve as an instrument of oppression, or for another's advantage. Disaffirmance is said to be governed by equitable principles; and an infant may be estopped after majority to deny the validity of his contract.

The right of avoidance, referred to supra § 71, may be exercised regardless of the motive in doing so,[70] and is not affected by the presence of good faith on the part of the other party to the transaction;[71] and the contract may be avoided as against an assignee thereof.[72] However, with respect to contracts infancy is said to act as a shield and not as a sword,[73] and the privilege of disaffirmance should serve as a shield and not as an instrument of oppression. Also, it has been said that, where the reason for the rule permitting avoidance fails, the rule itself is not applicable,[74] that the right to disaffirm will not be extended beyond the required limits, and that it is not given to be exercised for the advantage of others than the infant.[75]

An infant disaffirming his contract need not do so on the express ground of infancy; no reason need be given for the disaffirmance.[76]

Equitable principles. Whether the disaffirmance of an infant's contract is sought in equity or at law, it is to be governed by equitable principles.[77]

Fraud has been said not to be a bar to the exercise of an infant's right to disaffirm;[78] but, as considered supra § 71, other authority has referred to certain cases of fraud as exceptions to the rule that an infant's contracts are voidable.

Mo.—Anderson v. Middle States Utilities Co., 98 S.W.2d 163, 231 Mo. App. 129.
Neb.—Brownell v. Adams, 236 N.W. 750, 121 Neb. 304.
N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J. Misc. 455.
31 C.J. p 1066 note 1.
"The contract of an infant . . . if ratified, is as binding as if it had been made after he became 21 years of age."—J. I. Case Threshing Mach. Co. v. Dulworth, 287 S.W. 994, 996, 216 Ky. 637, citing Corpus Juris.

Repayment of costs of education
Where a minor son agreed to repay father for cost of education, ratification of promise on reaching majority made repayment an obligation on which father could invoke a legal remedy; and the legal effect of such ratification was not lessened by an agreement that part of debt to father was to be satisfied by defraying educational expenses of sister.—Watzel v. Beardslee, 286 N.W. 813, 289 Mich. 522.

64. N.Y.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224.
"Ratification does not create a right, but merely terminates the privilege which the law gives an infant of avoiding a contract entered into when under age."—Farnum v. O'Neill, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 904, 141 Misc. 555.

65. Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Neb.—First Nat. Bank v. Guenther, 252 N.W. 395, 125 Neb. 807.
S.C.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.
31 C.J. p 1066 note 2.

66. Ala.—West v. Penny, 16 Ala. 186.
Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.

67. Ala.—West v. Penny, 16 Ala. 186.

68. Miss.—Edmunds v. Mister, 58 Miss. 765.
N.Y.—Hodges v. Hunt, 22 Barb. 150.

69. Ala.—American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. v. Dykes, 18 So. 292, 111 Ala. 178, 56 Am.S.R. 38.

70. Ky.—Forsee v. Forsee, 137 S.W. 836, 144 Ky. 169.

71. Miss.—Lake v. Perry, 49 So. 569, 95 Miss. 550.

72. Cal.—Spencer v. Collins, 104 P. 320, 156 Cal. 298, 20 Ann.Cas. 49.

73. Mo.—Gerkey v. Hampe, App., 274 S.W. 510.
N.Y.—Pieri v. Nebbia, 34 N.Y.S.2d 317, 178 Misc. 388—9302 Boardwalk Corporation v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124—Egnczyk v. Rowland, 267 N.Y.S. 14, 148 Misc. 889.

74. Nev.—Schmidt v. Horton, 287 P. 274, 280, 52 Nev. 302, rehearing denied 290 P. 1023, 52 Nev. 479.

Advantageous contract with other infant
Where the other party to the contract "was at the time of his contract himself under the age of majority, and the contract entered into advantageous to all parties," the rule was held not applicable.—Schmidt v. Horton, supra.

75. Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.

76. N.Y.—Nathan v. Herman N. Karp, Inc., 212 N.Y.S. 459, 214 App. Div. 490.

77. Ohio.—Smith v. Newark Shoe Co., 182 N.E. 347, 42 Ohio App. 437.

78. N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
False representation as to age see supra § 27.

Fraud in procuring contract
"If an infant is sued on a contract his fraud in procuring the execution of the contract will not prevent his disaffirmance."—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, supra.

Estoppel. An infant, after attaining full age, may be estopped, by acquiescence, conduct, or failure to disaffirm within a reasonable time, from denying the validity of his contract.[79]

b. Who May Avoid

With some qualifications, the general rule is that an infant's right to avoid his contracts is a personal privilege of which no one can take advantage but the infant himself; the adult party to the contract cannot avoid it on the ground of the other party's infancy.

The general rule is that the right of an infant to avoid or disaffirm his contracts is a personal privilege[80] of which no one can take advantage but the infant himself,[81] if living and under no mental or physical disability,[82] or, in case of his death, his privies in blood or heirs[83] or, as considered in Executors and Administrators § 189, his personal representatives. However, the doctrine that disaffirmance is a personal privilege has been held not to apply to a contract of an infant which is disadvantageous to him,[84] in which case a guardian may disaffirm it;[85] and, more generally, a natural guardian or a guardian ad litem has been held empowered to disaffirm his child's or ward's contract when an attempt is made to enforce it during infancy.[86]

The contract is binding on the adult party thereto, unless avoided by the infant;[87] it cannot be avoided on the ground of the other party's infancy, by such person[88] or by any other person.[89]

c. Time for Avoidance

In most jurisdictions an infant may avoid his contracts, on the ground of infancy, during his minority, as well as after majority, and an infant failing to disaffirm within a reasonable time after reaching majority loses the right to do so; what is a reasonable time is ordinarily a question of fact.

79. U.S.—Walker v. Arkansas Nat. Bank, Mo., 256 F. 1, 167 C.C.A. 273.
S.C.—Jones v. Godwin, 198 S.E. 36, 187 S.C. 510—Beam v. McBrayer, 128 S.E. 34, 132 S.C. 72.
Tex.—Mitchell v. Higginbotham-Pearlstone Hardware Co., Civ.App., 38 S.W.2d 390.
Estoppel by acts during minority see supra §§ 26–27.
Time for avoidance see infra subdivision c of this section.

80. U.S.—New Departure Mfg. Co. v. Rockwell-Drake Corporation, C.C.A.Conn., 287 F. 328, modifying, D.C., 270 F. 219.
Ala.—Forbes v. Loftin, 50 Ala. 396.
Fla.—Persons v. Pflum, 135 So. 878, 102 Fla. 402.
Ga.—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S.E. 793, 33 Ga.App. 784—Hood v. Duren, 125 S.E. 787, 33 Ga.App. 203.
Iowa.—Kuehl v. Means, 218 N.W. 907, 206 Iowa 539, 58 A.L.R. 1359.
Ky.—Younce v. Duty, 265 S.W. 776, 205 Ky. 274.
Me.—Shaw v. Philbrick, 151 A. 423, 129 Me. 259, 74 A.L.R. 290.
N.Y.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S. 2d 988, 165 Misc. 853.
N.D.—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 915, 56 N.D. 60, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Cheney v. Cheney, Civ.App., 82 S.W.2d 1024, reversed on other grounds Cheney v. Coffey, 113 S. W.2d 162, 131 Tex. 212, rehearing denied 114 S.W.2d 533, 131 Tex. 212—Fort Worth & R. G. Ry. Co. v. Nabers, Civ.App., 288 S.W. 255.
31 C.J. p 1066 note 15.

81. Ala.—Forbes v. Loftin, 50 Ala. 396.
Cal.—Hastings v. Dollarhide, 24 Cal. 195.
Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
Miss.—Southern Automobile Co. v. Holifield, 111 So. 96, 145 Miss. 51.
Mo.—Pinnell v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., 263 S.W. 182, 41 A. L.R. 1092, certiorari denied 45 S.Ct. 123, 266 U.S. 623, 69 L.Ed. 473.
31 C.J. p 1067 note 16.

82. N.D.—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 56 N.D. 60.

83. Cal.—Hastings v. Dollarhide, 24 Cal. 195.
Miss.—Southern Automobile Co. v. Holifield, 111 So. 96, 145 Miss. 51.
Mo.—Pinnell v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., 263 S.W. 182, 41 A.L. R. 1092, certiorari denied 45 S.Ct. 123, 266 U.S. 623, 69 L.Ed. 473.
31 C.J. p 1067 note 17.

84. Ohio.—Champa v. New York Central Mut. Relief Ass'n, 15 N.E. 2d 172, 174, 57 Ohio App. 522.

85. Ohio.—Champa v. New York Central Mut. Relief Ass'n, supra.
Disaffirmance by guardian generally see Guardian and Ward § 101 b.

86. Ark.—Crockett Motor Co. v. Thompson, 6 S.W.2d 834, 177 Ark. 495.

87. Ky.—Horney v. Downs, 272 S.W. 728, 209 Ky. 255—Younce v. Duty, 265 S.W. 776, 205 Ky. 274.
N.Y.—De Vito v. City of Mechanicville, 297 N.Y.S. 935, 251 App.Div. 514—Goldfinger v. Doherty, 276 N. Y.S. 289, 153 Misc. 826, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 778, 244 App.Div. 779.
Tenn.—Western Union Telegraph Co. v. Ausbrooks, 257 S.W. 858, 148 Tenn. 615, 33 A.L.R. 330.
31 C.J. p 1067 note 19.
Whether plaintiff or defendant, the infant may disaffirm.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E. 726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437, affirming 264 N.Y.S. 806, 238 App.Div. 349.

88. Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
N.Y.—De Vito v. City of Mechanicville, 297 N.Y.S. 935, 251 App.Div. 514.
S.C.—Hammassapoulo v. Hammassapoulo, 131 S.E. 319, 134 S.C. 54.
Tex.—Cheney v. Cheney, Civ.App., 82 S.W.2d 1024, reversed on other grounds Cheney v. Coffey, 113 S. W 2d 162, 131 Tex. 212, rehearing denied 114 S.W.2d 533, 131 Tex. 212.
31 C.J. p 1067 notes 19–20.
"Infancy is a shield which the infant may employ, but which the adult with whom he deals may not call into play to rescue himself from the obligations of contract with the infant."—Horney v. Downs, 272 S.W. 728, 209 Ky. 255.
Enjoyment of consideration until majority
"If one who contracts with a minor remains in possession of and enjoys the consideration inducing the contract until the minor attains his majority, he cannot then be heard to say that he will not further perform because the minor could not have been required to perform during the period of his infancy."—Bracy v. Miller, 278 S.W. 41, 43, 169 Ark. 1115, 43 A.L.R. 114.

89. U.S.—New Departure Mfg. Co. v. Rockwell-Drake Corporation, C. C.A.Conn., 287 F. 328, modifying, D.C., 270 F. 219.
31 C.J. p 1067 note 21.
In action by infant for personal injury, in which she claimed special damages for medical attention, defendant can derive no benefit from the fact that the services were performed for an infant, since, in an action by the physician against the infant, infancy would be a personal defense, of which she might or might not avail herself, as she chose.—Forbes v. Loftin, 50 Ala. 396.

In some jurisdictions, it is held that an infant cannot disaffirm his voidable contract on the ground of his infancy while the infancy continues,[90] although he may disaffirm it on the ground of fraud.[91] In most jurisdictions, however, an infant has the right and power to avoid, on the ground of his infancy, his personal contracts during his minority,[92] as well as after he has attained full age;[93] and this rule has been held to apply generally to all contracts,[94] whether executory[95] or executed.[96]

At least one statute regulates the time within which an infant's contract may be disaffirmed.[97] In some jurisdictions, the contract may be repudiated, after the infant becomes of age, within the statute of limitations.[98] In other jurisdictions, it is held that the right to avoid the contract is not lost by mere inertness or silence continued for a period less than that prescribed by the statute of limitations, unless accompanied by affirmative acts manifesting an intent to assent to the contract.[99]

In most jurisdictions it is held that the contract must be disaffirmed within a reasonable time after the infant reaches his majority, or the right to do so will be lost,[1] and in some jurisdictions this is the 90. Mich.—Milligan v. S. W. Straus & Co., 256 N.W. 449, 450, 268 Mich. 317, quoting Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1067 note 22.

91. Mich.—Patterson v. Kasper, 148 N.W. 690, 182 Mich. 281, L.R.A. 1915A 1221—Stoll v. Hawks, 146 N.W. 229, 179 Mich. 571, 51 L.R.A., N.S., 28.

92. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313, 316, citing Corpus Juris.
Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 235 Ala. 275.
Ill.—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322.
Iowa.—Stout v. Ruschke, 202 N.W. 88, 199 Iowa 402.
Ky.—National Savings & Building Ass'n v. Hutchinson, 144 S.W.2d 1029, 284 Ky. 408—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W.2d 716, 253 Ky. 378—Marceiliac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383.
Miss.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227.
Mo.—Windisch v. Farrow, App., 159 S.W.2d 392—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 231 Mo.App. 1178.
N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J. Misc. 455.
N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—9302 Boardwalk Corporation v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124.
N.D.—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 56 N.D. 60.
Ohio.—Mestetzko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575—Hoffman v. Edson Co., 173 N.E. 307, 37 Ohio App. 262.
Pa.—Bradley v. Cool, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 404.
Tenn.—Tuck v. Payne, 17 S.W.2d 8, 159 Tenn. 192, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1067 note 24.

Abandonment

An infant cannot, after coming of age, have specific performance of a contract entered into by him during his minority and treated by him, during that period, as abandoned.—Magee v. Hutton, 5 Pa.Dist. & Co. 129.

93. Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill. App. 322.
Iowa.—Stout v. Ruschke, 202 N.W. 88, 199 Iowa 402.
Ky.—National Savings & Building Ass'n v. Hutchinson, 144 S.W.2d 1029, 284 Ky. 408—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W.2d 716, 253 Ky. 378—Marceiliac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383—Young v. McDaniel, 255 S.W. 854, 201 Ky. 65.
Miss.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227.
Mo.—Windisch v. Farrow, App., 159 S.W.2d 392—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 231 Mo.App. 1178.
N.Y.—In re Ziemba's Will, 1 N.Y.S.2d 988, 165 Misc. 853—9302 Boardwalk Corporation v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
Ohio.—Mestetzko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575—McKenzie v. Tellis, App., 47 N.E.2d 253—Hoffman v. Edson Co., 173 N.E. 307, 37 Ohio App. 262.
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 55, 108 Pa.Super. 290, citing Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Tuck v. Payne, 17 S.W.2d 8, 159 Tenn. 192, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Uhlmann Grain Co. of Texas v. Wilson, Civ.App., 68 S.W.2d 281, error dismissed.
W.Va.—Andrews v. Floyd, 170 S.E. 897, 114 W.Va. 96.
Wis.—Peterson v. Weimar, 194 N.W. 346, 181 Wis. 231.
31 C.J. p 1067 note 25.

94. Ala.—Ex parte McFerren, 63 So. 159, 184 Ala. 223, 47 L.R.A.,N.S., 543, Ann.Cas.1915B 672.

95. Ill.—Lewellyn v. Hawkins, 253 Ill.App. 368—Collins v. Peters Real Estate Improvement Corporation, 252 Ill.App. 348.
31 C.J. p 1068 note 27.

96. N.Y.—Sparandera v. Staten Island Garage, 193 N.Y.S. 392, 117 Misc. 780.
31 C.J. p 1068 note 28.

97. In North Dakota, under the statute, the contract of a minor cannot be disaffirmed after the expiration of one year from his majority.—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 56 N.D. 60—Luce v. Jestrab, 97 N.W. 848, 12 N.D. 548.

98. Ill.—Wright v. Buchanan, 123 N.E. 53, 287 Ill. 468—Mourant v. Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, 41 N.E.2d 1007, 314 Ill.App. 567.

99. Fla.—Putnal v. Walker, 55 So. 844, 61 Fla. 720, 36 L.R.A.,N.S., 33.

1. U.S.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Allen, C.C.A., 108 F.2d 961, certiorari denied Allen v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 60 S.Ct. 718, 309 U.S. 680, 84 L.Ed. 1023.
Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278—Mourant v. Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, 41 N.E.2d 1007, 314 Ill.App. 567.
Ky.—National Savings & Building Ass'n v. Hutchinson, 144 S.W.2d 1029, 284 Ky. 408—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W.2d 716, 253 Ky. 378—Marceiliac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383.
Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
Mo.—Windisch v. Farrow, App., 159 S.W.2d 392—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 231 Mo.App. 1178.
Neb.—First Nat. Bank v. Guenther, 252 N.W. 395, 125 Neb. 807.
N.Y.—Horowitz v. Manufacturers' Trust Co., 268 N.Y.S. 729, 239 App. Div. 693—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224.
Ohio.—Mestetzko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575—McKenzie v. Tellis, App., 47 N.E.2d 253—Hoffman v. Edson Co., 173 N.E. 307, 37 Ohio App. 262—Herschede Motor Car Co. v. Bangham, 26 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 232.

rule by force of statute.[2] What is a reasonable time is ordinarily a question of fact,[3] to be determined according to the circumstances of each case,[4] unless, it has been said, the matter is so clear one way or the other that the court can decide it as a matter of law.[5] A longer delay has been held permissible where the contract was wholly executed and an earlier disaffirmance would not have benefited the other party.[6] In determining the reasonableness of the period, the former infant's ignorance of his right to disaffirm has been declared immaterial;[7] but according to other authority, it is in all cases indicated by the courts that unless it is made to appear that the infant was fully advised of his rights after attaining his majority, the law deals leniently with him with respect to the time within which he may disaffirm.[8]

During trial. The court may, during the trial of an action by the other party to enforce the contract, allow the infant to rescind it, if it is reasonable for him so to do.[9]

d. What Constitutes Avoidance

An infant's contract may be avoided by any act, such as the pleading of infancy in an action based on the contract, showing unequivocally a renunciation thereof, or a disposition not to abide thereby.

An infant may avoid his act or contract by various means, according to the nature of the act and the circumstances of the case,[10] no particular form of disaffirmance,[11] or of words or acts,[12] being required by the decisions; but it may be laid down as

Pa.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 307 Pa. 365.
S.C.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.
Tex.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, 26 S.W.2d 168, 119 Tex. 228, rehearing denied 27 S.W. 2d 157, 119 Tex. 228—Mitchell v. Higginbotham-Pearlstone Hardware Co., Civ.App., 38 S.W.2d 390, citing Corpus Juris—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ.App., 2 S.W.2d 873—Miller v. McAden, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901.
31 C.J. p 1068 note 33.

"There is no definite rule as to how soon after an infant reaches majority he must exercise his privilege to disaffirm."—McKenzie v. Tellis, Ohio App., 47 N.E.2d 253, 255.

Executed contract
Minn.—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N.W. 460, 194 Minn. 465.
N.Y.—Levenberg v. Ludington, 274 N.Y.S. 193, 152 Misc. 735.
Estoppel to deny validity of contract see supra subdivision a of this section.
Failure to disaffirm as ratification see supra § 74 e.

2. Iowa.—In re Guardianship of Fisher, 284 N.W. 821, 226 Iowa 596—First Nat. Bank v. Torkelson, 228 N.W. 655, 209 Iowa 659—Stout v. Ruschke, 202 N.W. 88, 199 Iowa 402.
Kan.—Brown v. Staab, 176 P. 113, 103 Kan. 611.

3. U.S.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Allen, C.C.A., 108 F.2d 961. Certiorari denied Allen v. Commission of Internal Revenue, 60 S.Ct. 718, 309 U.S. 680, 84 L.Ed. 1023.
Minn.—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N.W. 460, 194 Minn. 465—Gislason v. Henry L. Doherty & Co., 260 N.W. 883, 194 Minn. 476.
Tex.—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ. App., 2 S.W.2d 873—Miller v. McAden, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901.
31 C.J. p 1068 note 36.

4. U.S.—Commissioner of Internal Revenue v. Allen, C.C.A., 108 F.2d 961, certiorari denied Allen v. Commission of Internal Revenue, 60 S. Ct. 718, 309 U.S. 680, 84 L.Ed. 1023.
Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
Minn.—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N.W. 460, 194 Minn. 465.
N.Y.—Horowitz v. Manufacturers' Trust Co., 268 N.Y.S. 729, 239 App. Div. 693.
Ohio.—McKenzie v. Tellis, App., 47 N.E.2d 253.
Tex.—Robinson v. Roquemore, Civ. App., 2 S.W.2d 873—Miller v. McAden, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901.
31 C.J. p 1068 note 35.

Particular factors
(1) "No hard and fast rule can be stated regarding the precise time within which a minor may disaffirm his contract. Much depends upon the intelligence of the minor, his means of knowledge, the nature of and his relation to the transaction, and the purpose to be attained thereby."—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 1019, 64 Utah 364.

(2) "The situation of the parties, their accessibility to and observation of the subject-matter of the contract, and the opportunity of the minor affected to determine whether the contract so made was beneficial to him."—Miller v. McAden, Tex.Civ. App., 253 S.W. 901, 903.

Periods held reasonable
(1) Three months.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.

(2) "Nearly a year."—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 468, 300 Mass. 281.

(3) Two years and seven months.—Montgomery v. Erie R. Co., C.C.A. N.J., 97 F.2d 289.

(4) Other periods see 31 C.J. p 1068 note 35 [a].

Periods held unreasonable
(1) "Within two days of seven months."—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N. W. 460, 461, 194 Minn. 465.

(2) "Three years lacking six weeks."—Levenberg v. Ludington, 274 N.Y.S. 193, 196, 152 Misc. 735.

(3) Other periods see 31 C.J. p 1068 note 35 [b].

5. Minn.—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N. W. 460, 194 Minn. 465.
"There is great diversity among the decisions respecting the time within which disaffirmance is permitted as a matter of law."—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 1019, 64 Utah 364.
Eighteen days is held reasonable as a matter of law, where it does not appear that the status of the parties changed during that time or that the other party to the contract has been prejudiced by the lapse of time. —Gannon v. Manning, 42 App.D.C. 206.

6. Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281.

7. Minn.—Kelly v. Furlong, 261 N. W. 460, 194 Minn. 465.

8. Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 64 Utah 364.

9. N.H.—Wooldridge v. Lavoie, 104 A. 346, 79 N.H. 21.

10. Okl.—Grissom v. Beidleman, 129 P. 853, 35 Okl. 343, 41 L.R.A.,N.S., 411, Ann.Cas.1914D 599.
31 C.J. p 1068 note 40.

11. N.Y.—Nathan v. Herman N. Karp, Inc., 212 N.Y.S. 459, 214 App.Div. 490.

12. Mass.—Tracey v. Brown, 163 N.E. 885, 265 Mass. 163.

a general rule that any act showing unequivocally a renunciation of, or a disposition not to abide or be bound by, the contract made during minority is sufficient to avoid it.[13] Bringing a suit inconsistent with the contract, or to assert rights contrary to those existing thereunder, is an election to rescind or disaffirm,[14] although the bringing of a suit is not essential to an avoidance.[15] So also a plea of infancy in an action based on the contract is an election to avoid.[16] The obtaining of leave to prosecute a suit commenced by a next friend, after majority is attained, is a repudiation of the contract.[17]

The notice of rescission should be given to the party with whom the infant contracted, and not to an assignee.[18]

Oral disaffirmance may be sufficient.[19]

e. Restoration of Consideration or Status Quo

The general rule is that, to give effect to an infant's disaffirmance of his contract, the other party need not be placed in statu quo, nor, except as otherwise provided by statute, is a restoration or tender of what the other party parted with, or its value, a condition precedent to avoidance. Nevertheless the infant usually is required, after disaffirming, to return the consideration, if he can, or the part remaining in his possession or control, although if he has disposed of or wasted the consideration, or a part thereof, during infancy, he cannot be required to make good to the other party.

While there is apparently authority to the contrary,[20] the general rule is that, in order to give effect to an infant's disaffirmance of his contract, it is not necessary that the other party be placed in statu quo.[21] Hence, except as may be provided otherwise by statute, a restoration or tender of what the adult party to the contract has parted with, or its value, generally is not regarded as a condition precedent to avoidance,[22] unless at the time of disaffirmance the infant has the fruits of the contract in his possession or within his control;[23] but there also is authority to the contrary.[24] Nevertheless,

13. Mass.—Tracey v. Brown, supra.
N.Y.—Nathan v. Herman N. Karp, Inc., 212 N.Y.S. 459, 214 App.Div. 490.
Pa.—Bradley v. Cool, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 404, 407, quoting Corpus Juris.
Vt.—McNaughton v. Granite City Auto Sales, 183 A. 340, 108 Vt. 130.
31 C.J. p 1068 note 41.

Change of beneficiary by minor insured held sufficient to revoke his oral assignment of life insurance policy.—Novosel v. Sun Life Assur. Co. of Canada, 57 P.2d 110, 111, 49 Wyo. 422, citing Corpus Juris.

14. Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 84 Cal.App. 526.
N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 574, 217 App.Div. 224, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.
31 C.J. p 1068 note 42.

Suit to recover infant's payment
N.Y.—Nathan v. Herman N. Karp, Inc., 212 N.Y.S. 459, 214 App.Div. 490.

15. Tenn.—White v. Flora, 2 Overt. 426.

16. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313.
Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.
N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 574, 217 App.Div. 224, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Bradley v. Cool, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 404, 407, quoting Corpus Juris.
Wis.—Olson v. Veum, 222 N.W. 233, 234, 197 Wis. 342, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1069 note 44.

17. D.C.—Carmody v. Patchell, 42 App.D.C. 426.

18. Cal.—Spencer v. Collins, 104 P. 320, 156 Cal. 298, 20 Ann.Cas. 49.
Mo.—Downing v. Stone, 47 Mo.App. 144.

19. Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 84 Cal.App. 526.

20. Conn.—Riley v. Mallory, 33 Conn. 201.

21. Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 235 Ala. 275.
D.C.—Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Schiavone, 71 F.2d 980, 63 App.D.C. 257, 94 A.L.R. 962.
Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mass.—Kelly v. Halox, 152 N.E. 236, 256 Mass. 5.
N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224.
N.C.—Faircloth v. Johnson, 127 S.E. 346, 189 N.C. 429.
Ohio.—Eagle Dairy Co. v. Dylag, 168 N.E. 754, 33 Ohio App. 113—Herschede Motor Car Co. v. Bangham, 26 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 232.
31 C.J. p 1069 note 51.

Well-considered case
Conn.—Shutter v. Fudge, 143 A. 896, 108 Conn. 528.

22. D.C.—Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Schiavone, 71 F.2d 980, 63 App.D.C. 257, 94 A.L.R. 962.
Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281, stating New York law.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743—Eagleburger v. Shelton, App., 272 S.W. 698.
N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 798, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S. 2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
N.C.—Faircloth v. Johnson, 127 S.E. 346, 189 N.C. 429.
31 C.J. p 1069 notes 51–52.

But it has been said that "no rule of law has ever permitted a minor to avoid a contract of which he has enjoyed the benefits."—Pieri v. Nebbia, 34 N.Y.S.2d 317, 319, 178 Misc. 388.

Reason for rule

"If the infant is, in every case, bound to return the consideration which he received, or its equivalent, in order to avoid or rescind his contract, the protection afforded to him, as such infant, is seriously impaired, and may often be destroyed, for it is precisely because he is supposed to be improvident, and likely to misuse and squander what he receives, that his contracts are made voidable."—Shutter v. Fudge, 143 A. 896, 108 Conn. 528.

Restoration as condition on granting relief to infant see infra subdivision f of this section.

Transactions affecting property see supra § 46.

23. Ga.—Holbrook v. Montgomery, 141 S.E. 408, 165 Ga. 514.
Tex.—Ulmer v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., Civ.App., 161 S.W.2d 862, error refused—Houston Land & Trust Co. v. Sheldon, Civ.App., 69 S.W.2d 796.

24. Ky.—Young v. Daniel, 255 S.W. 854, 201 Ky. 65.

"In cases where no fraud is present an infant must restore what he has received under the contract to the extent of the benefits actually derived by him in order to disaffirm it after reaching majority."—Kelly where he has exercised his right to repudiate the contract, the infant may be required to return the consideration, if he can, or such part thereof as still remains in his hands or under his control,[25] for the law will not allow him to repudiate his contract and at the same time retain its fruits or benefits as his own;[26] and it has been said that, as long as the infant retains and does not restore the consideration received by him, he may be treated as a trustee of the other party.[27]

Restoration in specie; lost or wasted consideration. While in some cases it has been asserted broadly that the infant on disaffirming his contract may be required to restore the consideration which he received or to allow or be liable for the benefit derived from whatever of the consideration cannot be restored in specie,[28] and in others that it is immaterial that the consideration has changed form since the making of the contract and is not on hand in specie,[29] ordinarily it is held that he may be required to return only such part of the consideration as remains in his hands in specie,[30] and that, where the infant had disposed of, lost, or wasted the consideration or a part thereof during his infancy, he cannot be required to make good to the other party the consideration, or such part,[31] but

v. Furlong, 261 N.W. 460, 461, 194 Minn. 465.

25. Conn.—Shutter v. Fudge, 143 A. 896, 897, 108 Conn. 528, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ga.—Holbrook v. Montgomery, 141 S.E. 408, 165 Ga. 514.
Ill.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Vaughan, 193 N.E. 483, 358 Ill. 541.
Kan.—Weeks v. Berschauer, 36 P.2d 81, 83, 140 Kan. 244, citing Corpus Juris.
Ky.—National Savings & Building Ass'n v. Hutchinson, 144 S.W.2d 1029, 284 Ky. 408—Hart v. Davidson, 120 S.W.2d 214, 274 Ky. 663—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W.2d 716, 253 Ky. 378—Marceiliac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383.
Miss.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743, 744, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Casey v. Kastel, 142 N.E. 671, 237 N.Y. 305, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, affirming Casey v. Kastel, 195 N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—Nathan v. Herman N. Karp, Inc., 212 N.Y.S. 459, 214 App.Div. 490—Egnaczyk v. Rowland, 267 N.Y.S. 14, 148 Misc. 889—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S. 2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
N.C.—Faircloth v. Johnson, 127 S.E. 346, 189 N.C. 429.
Ohio.—Simpson v. Industrial Commission of Ohio, 173 N.E. 211, 36 Ohio App. 316.
Okl.—Shipman v. Conrad, 223 P. 183, 97 Okl. 216.
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133—Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Ordonoff, 186 A. 391, 122 Pa.Super. 485—Schoenberger v. Baur Baking Co., 16 Pa. Dist. & Co. 373.
Tenn.—Tuck v. Payne, 17 S.W.2d 8, 159 Tenn. 192, citing Corpus Juris—Giddens v. D. S. Etheridge Co., Inc., 2 Tenn.App. 324.
Tex.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, 26 S.W.2d 168, 119 Tex. 228, rehearing denied 27 S. W.2d 157, 119 Tex. 228—State Bank v. Edwards, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 478.
Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 64 Utah 364.
31 C.J. p 1069 note 57.

26. Ga.—Holland v. Peerless Furniture Co., 3 S.E.2d 138, 60 Ga.App. 149.
N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—Pieri v. Nebbia, 34 N.Y.S.2d 317, 178 Misc. 388—9302 Boardwalk Corporation v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124.
Ohio.—Simpson v. Industrial Commission of Ohio, 173 N.E. 211, 36 Ohio App. 316.
Okl.—Shipman v. Conrad, 223 P. 183, 97 Okl. 216.
Tex.—First State Bank v. Edwards, Civ.App., 245 S.W. 478.
31 C.J. p 1070 note 58.
Retention of benefits as ratification see supra § 74.

27. Md.—Monumental Bldg. Assoc. No. 2 v. Herman, 33 Md. 128.

28. N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—Pieri v. Nebbia, 34 N.Y.S.2d 317, 178 Misc. 388.
31 C.J. p 1070 note 60.

29. Cal.—Whyte v. Rosencrantz, 56 P. 436, 123 Cal. 634, 69 Am.S.R. 90.
31 C.J. p 1070 note 61.

30. Ark.—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S.W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.
Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 1037, 173 Wash. 86, citing Corpus Juris.
W.Va.—Zink v. Gray, 142 S.E. 428, 430, 105 W.Va. 232, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1070 notes 62–63.

31. Conn.—Shutter v. Fudge, 143 A. 896, 108 Conn. 528.
Ill.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E. 2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.
Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281, stating New York law.
Miss.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743, 744, citing Corpus Juris—Eagleburger v. Shelton, App., 272 S.W. 698.
N.Y.—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y. S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y. S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
Pa.—Schoenberger v. Baur Baking Co., 16 Pa.Dist. & Co. 373.
Tenn.—Tuck v. Payne, 17 S.W.2d 8, 159 Tenn. 192.
Tex.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, 26 S.W.2d 168, 119 Tex. 228, rehearing denied 27 S. W.2d 157, 119 Tex. 228.
Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 64 Utah 364.
31 C.J. p 1070 note 63.

"Rule . . . followed by a great majority of the courts"
Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 1037, 173 Wash. 86, citing Corpus Juris.
"Either at law or in equity"
Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 763, 235 Ala. 275.

Reason for rule

"The reason . . . is that the welfare of the infant is, in such cases, the first consideration of the law, and its policy is to protect the infant against improvidence and folly, because his mind and judgment are immature. The improvidence which the law contemplates is not simply the making of an unwise contract, but very often is the use or abuse to which the property is put after it is purchased. To deny that this rule applies only when the consideration was wasted or disposed of during infancy, and not where it was wasted or disposed of after attaining majority.[32]

If the infant received no consideration or benefit under the contract, he cannot be made to account for any.[33]

Executory and executed contracts compared. Although some distinctions have been attempted to be made, in this respect, between executory and executed contracts,[34] the rule requiring restoration of consideration applies to both executed and executory contracts,[35] both at law and in equity.[36]

Under statute in some jurisdictions restoration of the consideration, or at least of that part thereof remaining within the infant's control, is made a condition precedent to the right to disaffirm,[37] the requirement being limited, under some statutes, to contracts entered into by infants who are over a certain age.[38] Under some statutes only a return of the identical money received by the infant, and not its equivalent, is required;[39] under others the consideration received by the infant, or its equivalent, is to be restored,[40] and it is not essential that there be an ability to restore the identical money received in order to sustain an action against the infant for money had and received.[41]

f. Effect of Avoidance

(1) In general
(2) Rights and remedies of infant
(3) Rights and remedies of adult party to contract
(4) Rights of other persons

(1) In General

The general rule is that an infant's disaffirmance of his contract nullifies it and renders it void ab initio; it cannot thereafter be resuscitated or ratified.

The general rule, which has been said to have its exceptions and limitations,[42] is that the disaffirmance of a contract made by an infant nullifies it and renders it void ab initio,[43] and that the rights of the parties are to be determined as though the contract had not been made,[44] the parties being restored to the status quo as far as possible.[45] Where an infant avoids his contract, it cannot thereafter be the privilege or right of disaffirmance, when that improvidence or folly has become apparent, would permit the accomplishment of the very thing against which the statute seeks to provide."—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 1037, 173 Wash. 86.

32. Miss.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227.
Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 1037, 173 Wash. 86, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1071 note 64.

33. N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747.
Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 64 Utah 364.
31 C.J. p 1071 note 66.

34. Minn.—Braucht v. Graves-May Co., 99 N.W. 417, 92 Minn. 116.
31 C.J. p 1071 note 67.

35. Conn.—Shutter v. Fudge, 143 A. 896, 897, 108 Conn. 528, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1071 note 68.

36. Tenn.—Lane v. Dayton Coal & Iron Co., 48 S.W. 1094, 101 Tenn. 581.

37. Iowa.—First Nat. Bank v. Torkelson, 228 N.W. 655, 209 Iowa 659.
Kan.—Weeks v. Berschauer, 36 P.2d 41, 42, 140 Kan. 244, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1071 note 71.

38. N.D.—In re Campbell's Guardianship, 215 N.W. 913, 56 N.D. 60.
31 C.J. p 1071 note 72.
In California
(1) Under Civ.Code § 35, except in certain instances contract of minor under eighteen may be disaffirmed without return of consideration.—Tracy v. Gaudin, 285 P. 720, 104 Cal. App. 158.
(2) Under that section a minor over eighteen may disaffirm on restoring the consideration or its equivalent.—Le Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal.App. 536.

39. Iowa.—Hawes v. Burlington, C. R. & N. R. Co., 20 N.W. 717, 64 Iowa 315.

40. In California, under Civ.Code, § 35, allowing a minor over eighteen to disaffirm his contract on restoring consideration or paying its equivalent, payment of the equivalent may be in cash, property, or benefits received, and equities running through entire transaction may be balanced by the court to determine whether consideration or its equivalent had been restored.—Le Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal.App. 536.

41. Cal.—Whyte v. Rosencrantz, 56 P. 436, 123 Cal. 634, 69 Am.S.R. 90.

42. Mo.—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 231 Mo.App. 1178.

43. Miss.—Mellott v. Love, 119 So. 913, 152 Miss. 860, 64 A.L.R. 968, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Windisch v. Farrow, App., 159 S.W.2d 392—Phillips v. Savings Trust Co. of St. Louis, 85 S.W.2d 923, 925, 231 Mo.App. 1178, citing Corpus Juris.
N.C.—Coker v. Virginia-Carolina Joint Stock Land Bank, 178 S.E. 863, 208 N.C. 41.
Okl.—Leonard v. Tulsa Building & Loan Ass'n, 88 P.2d 875, 184 Okl. 558.
Tex.—O'Brien v. Smith, Civ.App., 118 S.W.2d 474, 478, citing Corpus Juris—Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617, 620, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1072 note 76.
Contra Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747.

44. Miss.—Bell v. Smith, 124 So. 331, 155 Miss. 227—Mellott v. Love, 119 So. 913, 152 Miss. 860, 64 A.L.R. 968, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1072 note 76.
Release of sureties
Where an infant disaffirms his contract for the payment of money, his sureties on a note given therefor are released.—Patterson v. Cave, 61 Mo. 439.

45. Cal.—Freitas v. Cordeiro, 9 P.2d 882, 122 Cal.App. 319.
Tex.—Lockhart v. National Cash Register Co., Civ.App., 66 S.W.2d 796.
31 C.J. p 1069 note 56.

resuscitated or ratified.[46] After the contract has been disaffirmed, there can be no recovery for any services rendered by the other party thereunder who had notice of the disaffirmance.[47]

Disaffirmance, after reaching full age, of a contract made in infancy will discharge a trust lien given to secure payment of the consideration.[48]

(2) Rights and Remedies of Infant

An infant, on disaffirming his contract, is ordinarily entitled to recover what he parted with, or its value, pursuant thereto. While the authorities are not uniform, it appears that, where it is his duty, on disaffirmance, to return the consideration received by him, a return or tender is a condition precedent to relief sought by him, while such restoration or offer to restore is not a condition precedent to relief where he has no such duty, as where the consideration has been lost or wasted.

There has been said to be wide conflict in the authorities as to the rights of an infant in the disaffirmance of a contract.[49] With qualifications which will appear, the general rule is that, on the disaffirmance of a contract by an infant, he is, ordinarily, entitled to recover what he paid or parted with pursuant to such contract, or its value.[50] The infant may recover the consideration parted with, even though he has wasted or lost the consideration received by him,[51] or although it has depreciated, as through wear and tear,[52] or although it is of such a nature that it cannot be returned.[53] On the other hand, there is authority for the view that, where an infant has received the benefit and enjoyed the consideration of an executed or partly executed contract which was fair and reasonable, he cannot demand the return of that with which he parted.[54]

Nature of remedy. On disaffirmance of a contract and restoration of the consideration received by him, or a tender of such restoration, the infant may maintain replevin or trover, as the case may be, for the consideration parted with by him,[55] or a special action on the case for damages sustained by him,[56] or he may seek any equitable relief to which, in the circumstances, he may be entitled.[57] An infant's action for the recovery of payments made under a disaffirmed contract, although brought in law, has been said to be in its nature a substitute for a suit in equity, so that it is to be determined under equitable principles.[58]

46. Okl.—Grissom v. Beidleman, 129 P. 853, 35 Okl. 343, 41 L.R.A.,N.S., 411, Ann.Cas.1914D 599.
Pa.—Funk v. Wharen, 165 A. 513, 108 Pa.Super. 556.
31 C.J. p 1072 note 79.

47. Cal.—Spencer v. Collins, 104 P. 320, 156 Cal. 298, 20 Ann.Cas. 49.

48. N.C.—Faircloth v. Johnson, 127 S.E. 346, 189 N.C. 429.
W.Va.—Hobbs v. Hinton, Foundry, Machine & Plumbing Co., 82 S.E. 267, 74 W.Va. 443, Ann.Cas.1917D 410.

49. Ark.—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S.W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.

50. Ill.—Berryman v. Highway Trailer Co., 30 N.E.2d 761, 307 Ill. App. 480—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322.
Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.
Tex.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, 26 S.W.2d 168, 119 Tex. 228, rehearing denied 27 S.W. 2d 157, 119 Tex. 228.
Wis.—Peterson v. Weimar, 194 N.W. 346, 181 Wis. 231.
31 C.J. p 1072 notes 82, 83.

Reason for rule
"The right of the . . . infant to disaffirm and void his contract is an absolute and paramount right which carries with it the right to be placed in status quo relative thereto."—Mosko v. Forsythe, 76 P.2d 1106, 1108, 102 Colo. 115.

Advancement by another for infant's benefit
"Upon the rescission of a contract by a minor, upon becoming of age, he should recover only what he parted with, and not what another advanced or paid for his benefit."—McCarty-Green Motor Co. v. McCluncy, 121 So. 713, 714, 219 Ala. 211.

Tortious acquisition of property by infant held not to prevent recovery by him.—Ruehl v. Kardos, 198 N.Y.S. 412, 204 App.Div. 499.

Money paid under infant's direction
Money belonging to an infant and received from him by his brother under an agreement that the latter would use it for the support of their family, and so used by the brother before any revocation of the directions, cannot be recovered by the infant, on coming of age, from his brother.—Welch v. Welch, 103 Mass. 562.

In Louisiana, "the right to restitution is governed by the Civil Code, Arts 2221 et seq., under which losses resulting directly from the invalidity of the contract cannot be considered;" and, where minor entered contract and after majority sued for restitution of property, law governing minority when contract was made was held applicable.—Smith v. Hempen, 8 La.App. 120, 123.

51. Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281, stating New York law.
R.I.—McGucklan v. Carpenter, 110 A. 402, 43 R.I. 94, 16 A.L.R. 1473.
Tex.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, 26 S.W.2d 168, 119 Tex. 228, rehearing denied 27 S.W. 2d 157, 119 Tex. 228.

52. Tex.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, supra.

53. Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281, stating New York law.

Instruction
Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, supra.

54. N.Y.—Vichnes v. Transcontinental & Western Air, 18 N.Y.S.2d 603, 173 Misc. 631.
31 C.J. p 1073 note 91.

55. Me.—Towle v. Dresser, 73 Me. 252.
31 C.J. p 1072 note 88.

56. N.H.—Carr v. Clough, 26 N.H. 280, 59 Am.D. 345.

57. Ky.—Bryant v. Pottinger, 6 Bush. 473.
31 C.J. p 1072 note 90.

In California an action by a minor seeking to avoid his contract under Civ.Code § 35 is in equity.—Freitas v. Cordeiro, 9 P.2d 882, 122 Cal.App. 319—Le Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal.App. 536.

58. U.S.—Myers v. Hurley Motor Co., App.D.C., 47 S.Ct. 277, 273 U. S. 18, 71 L.Ed. 515, 50 A.L.R. 1181.

Conditions precedent to relief. The infant, on repudiation, has been required to make a demand before bringing action.[59]

Subject to such qualifications as have been or may be referred to with respect to the nature of the particular transaction, as discussed supra §§ 46–56 and infra §§ 76–86, the proper rule would seem to be that, where it is the duty of the infant, after disaffirming his contract, to return the consideration received by him, as considered supra subdivision e of this section, a return or tender of the consideration, or an accounting for benefits enjoyed, becomes a condition precedent to relief sought by him after his repudiation of the contract,[60] even though the relief is sought by him as defendant in an action or suit by the adult party,[61] and whether the proceeding is an action at law or a suit in equity.[62]

However, this condition precedent rule has not been applied, at least to its full extent, in some cases,[63] and it has been held that a minor disaffirming a contract need not put the other party in statu quo before beginning an action to recover what he parted with.[64] Thus restoration or offer to restore does not become a condition precedent where no duty is imposed on the infant to return the consideration after disaffirmance of the contract, as considered supra subdivision e of this section, as where the consideration has been lost, squandered, or wasted,[65] or where the infant has received no consideration or no benefit whatever from the contract.[66] Distinctions have been made between suits brought during infancy and suits brought after the infant has attained his majority, requiring restoration in the latter case, but not in the former;[67] between cases in which the infant was the "actor" in seeking relief, in which case restoration by him is required, and those in which he is sued and merely seeks, to interpose his plea of infancy, in which case it is not;[68] and between actions at law and suits in equity, requiring restoration where relief is sought in equity,[69] but not always where relief is sought at law;[70] and, indeed, it would seem that, where the infant seeks equity, he should be required to do equity.[71]

Even where return of or offer to return the consideration received by the infant is not a condition precedent to granting him relief, it has been held that, if the contract was free from any fraud, and fair and reasonable, except that what the infant paid was in excess of the value of what he received, he can recover only such excess,[72] and, generally, that the amount received by the infant will reduce his recovery pro tanto.[73]

If the contract was fraudulent or in bad faith, the infant is entitled to recover back all he has paid,

59. N.Y.—Nathan v. Herman N. Karp, 212 N.Y.S. 459, 214 App.Div. 490.

60. Ill.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Vaughn, 193 N.E. 483, 358 Ill. 541.
Kan.—Weeks v. Berschauer, 36 P.2d 81, 140 Kan. 244.
Me.—Utterson v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
N.Y.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266—Nathan v. Herman N. Karp, Inc., 212 N.Y.S. 459, 214 App.Div. 490—9302 Boardwalk Corporation v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124.
Tenn.—Tuck v. Payne, 17 S.W.2d 8, 159 Tenn. 192.
Tex.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, 26 S.W.2d 168, 119 Tex. 225, rehearing denied 27 S.W. 2d 157, 119 Tex. 228.
Wis.—Schoenung v. Gallet, 238 N.W. 852, 854, 206 Wis. 52, 78 A.L.R. 387, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1072 note 83, p 1073 notes 91, 94.
Recovery on disaffirmance of contract of purchase see supra § 47.

61. N.Y.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266.
31 C.J. p 1073 note 96.

62. Mich.—Prout v. Wiley, 28 Mich. 164.
31 C.J. p 1073 note 97.

63. Pa.—Yubas v. Witaskis, 95 Pa. Super. 296.
31 C.J. p 1073 note 2.

64. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mass.—Kelly v. Halox, 152 N.E. 236, 256 Mass. 5.

65. Ill.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E.2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.
Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281, stating New York law.
31 C.J. p 1073 note 99.

66. Minn.—Johnson v. Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., 57 N.W. 934, 56 Minn. 365, 45 Am.S.R. 473, 26 L.R.A. 187, reheard 59 N.W. 992, 56 Minn. 365, 45 Am.S.R. 473, 26 L.R.A. 187.
31 C.J. p 1073 note 1.

67. Mich.—Corey v. Burton, 32 Mich. 30.

68. Pa.—Yubas v. Witaskis, 95 Pa. Super. 296.
31 C.J. p 1073 notes 5, 6.

69. Ala.—Eureka Co. v. Edwards, 71 Ala. 248, 46 Am.R. 314—Manning v. Johnson, 26 Ala. 446, 62 Am.D. 732.

70. Ark.—St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern R. Co. v. Higgins, 44 Ark. 293.
31 C.J. p 1074 note 8.

71. U.S.—Myers v. Hurley Motor Co., App.D.C., 47 S.Ct. 277, 273 U. S. 18, 71 L.Ed. 515, 50 A.L.R. 1181.
N.Y.—Pieri v. Nebbia, 34 N.Y.S.2d 317, 178 Misc. 388—9302 Boardwalk Corporation v. Littman, 298 N.Y.S. 320, 164 Misc. 124.
31 C.J. p 1074 note 9.
False representation as to age
(1) Infant who induces execution of contract by falsely representing himself as adult must do equity on disaffirmance.—Smith v. Newark Shoe Co., 182 N.E. 347, 42 Ohio App. 437.
(2) False representation as to age generally see supra § 27.

72. N.H.—Heath v. Stevens, 48 N.H. 251.
31 C.J. p 1074 note 12.

73. Miss.—Thorn v. Holland, 40 So. 19, 87 Miss. 470.
Va.—Clinchfield Coal Corp. v. Couch, 104 S.E. 802, 127 Va. 634, 13 A.L.R. 398.
31 C.J. p 1074 note 13.

without returning the consideration received by him, except to the extent to which he still retains it, or a part, in specie.[74]

Time of tender; excusing tender. Where restoration of tender of the consideration is a condition precedent to relief, it has been held that it may be made on the trial as a condition of the judgment.[75] A tender sometimes may be excused,[76] as where it is known that it will be refused.[77] Refusal of tender will not deprive the infant of his right to recover.[78]

(3) Rights and Remedies of Adult Party to Contract

After an infant's disaffirmance of his contract, the adult party may recover what he parted with, if it is still in the infant's hands, but the infant is not liable for damages for failure to complete the contract.

Subject to such qualifications as have been or may be referred to with respect to the nature of the particular transaction, as discussed supra §§ 46–56 and infra §§ 76–86, after disaffirmance of his contract by an infant the adult party to the contract may recover what he has parted with, if the consideration is still in the hands of the infant.[79] The duty of an adult party as regards the return of the consideration received by him under a rescinded contract is treated in Contracts § 439.

After disaffirmance by an infant, the adult party to the contract may maintain replevin[80] or trover,[81] as the case may be, against the infant who has refused to restore the consideration received by him. If, however, the infant has parted with the possession of the consideration or property received by him, the adult may be remediless, provided no fraud has been practiced; if fraud has been practiced, a special action on the case may be sustained.[82] It has been held that whether the adult party possesses any remedy against an infant ward under a contract which the latter has disaffirmed must be determined by an ordinary action in a court of general jurisdiction.[83]

Ordinarily, on avoidance of the contract, the infant is not liable for damages for his failure to complete it.[84] The infant is not liable to an action of trespass for peaceably retaking into his possession the property parted with.[85]

(4) Rights of Other Persons

Anyone may take advantage of an infant's disaffirmance of his contract.

After an infant has disaffirmed his contract, anyone may take advantage of such disaffirmance.[86] A third person may take advantage of a plea of infancy made in the same action.[87]

The right to avoid a contract on the ground of infancy has been said not to be affected by the fact that the rights of third parties have supervened;[88] but it has also been held that, where an infant parts with property on a contract valid until disaffirmed, third parties becoming innocent purchasers for value are entitled to protection as such.[89]

74. Minn.—Gislason v. Henry L. Doherty & Co., 260 N.W. 883, 194 Minn. 476—Johnson v. Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., 57 N.W. 934, 56 Minn. 365, 45 Am.S.R. 473, 26 L.R.A. 187, reheard 59 N.W. 992, 56 Minn. 365, 45 Am.S.R. 473, 26 L.R.A. 187.

75. Neb.—Star v. Watkins, 111 N.W. 363, 78 Neb. 610.
Wis.—Jones v. Valentines' School of Telegraphy, 99 N.W. 1043, 122 Wis. 318.

76. Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 431, 84 Cal.App. 526, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1074 note 19.

77. Cal.—Pereira v. Toscano, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1074 note 20.

78. N.M.—Evants v. Taylor, 137 P. 583, 18 N.M. 371, 50 L.R.A.,N.S., 1113.

79. Pa.—General Casmir Pulaski Building & Loan Ass'n v. Provident Trust Co. of Philadelphia, 12 A.2d 336, 338 Pa. 198.
31 C.J. p 1074 note 23.

In Louisiana, "the Civil Code . . . provides for the protection of the minor's estate against obligations flowing or resulting from their actions, except in designated instances . . . and one asking to recoup his losses resulting from a contract with a minor, from the estate of the minor, must bring the obligation under one of the designated exceptions, or . . . show that his losses or funds or property received by the minor had enured to the benefit of his estate."—Smith v. Hempen, 8 La.App. 120, 123.

80. Mass.—Badger v. Phinney, 15 Mass. 359, 8 Am.D. 105.
31 C.J. p 1074 note 25.

81. N.H.—Carr v. Clough, 26 N.H. 280, 59 Am.D. 345—Fitts v. Hall, 9 N.H. 441.

82. N.H.—Carr v. Clough, 26 N.H. 280, 59 Am.D. 345.

83. N.Y.—In re Kamhi, 264 N.Y.S. 356, 147 Misc. 620.

84. U.S.—American Film Co. v. Reilly, C.C.A.Cal., 278 F. 147.
31 C.J. p 1075 note 32.

85. Conn.—Shipman v. Horton, 17 Conn. 481.
31 C.J. p 1075 note 33.

86. Ill.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E.2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.
Okl.—Grissom v. Beidleman, 129 P. 853, 35 Okl. 343, 41 L.R.A.,N.S., 411, Ann.Cas.1914D 599.
31 C.J. p 1075 note 34.

87. Tex.—Peck v. Cain, 63 S.W. 177, 27 Tex.Civ.App. 38.
31 C.J. p 1075 note 35.

88. Miss.—Mellott v. Love, 119 So. 913, 152 Miss. 860, 64 A.L.R. 968.

89. Iowa.—Kuehl v. Means, 218 N. W. 907, 911, 206 Iowa 539, 58 A. L.R. 1359.
"The right of a minor to pursue his property upon disaffirmance, into the hands of a third party, may not be predicated upon the mere fact of his minority. Such right of pursuit must be predicated, not only upon minority and disaffirmance, but upon some form of fraud chargeable to the third party. . . . If a minor seeks recourse beyond the party with whom he contracts, he must connect such third party in some manner by notice or otherwise with the contract which he disaffirms."—Kuehl v. Means, supra.

B. PARTICULAR TRANSACTIONS

§ 76. In General

a. Bonds and recognizances
b. Insurance
c. Releases
d. Suretyship
e. Obligations imposed or authorized by law
f. Contracts by person acting for infant
g. Miscellaneous transactions

a. Bonds and Recognizances

Except for particular types of bonds or recognizances, such as those given to secure his release from commitment or given by him in a bastardy proceeding, the bond or recognizance of an infant is ordinarily voidable by him.

In accordance with the general rule that an infant is not bound by his contracts, considered supra § 71, a bond or recognizance executed by an infant ordinarily is not binding on him,[90] although such an instrument is not entirely void,[91] but merely voidable,[92] and may become binding on him by his ratification thereof after attaining majority.[93] However, following the rule that an infant can bind himself for an obligation imposed on him by law, considered infra subdivision e of this section, it is held that an infant is liable on a bond executed in a bastardy proceeding against him requiring him to appear and defend or to indemnify the local authorities against the expense of maintaining his bastard child.[94] Also, a bond or recognizance executed by an infant to avoid imprisonment or to procure his release therefrom is by most authorities held binding on him,[95] either on the ground that it is a necessary[96] or because of statutes permitting him to enter into such an obligation,[97] although there is authority holding that an infant arrested on a capias ad respondendum for torts committed by him cannot execute a legal bond, but must either submit to imprisonment or, by the aid of a next friend, appear and execute a bond.[98]

b. Insurance

The general rule is that an insurance contract of an infant or his assignment of benefits thereunder is voidable by him, although subject to ratification after his majority; but in some jurisdictions an infant is by statute made competent to contract for insurance. There is some conflict of authority as to whether he may avoid his warranties or representations and at the same time recover on the policy, and as to whether, on disaffirming, he may recover the full amount of premiums paid by him without deduction for the cost of keeping the policy in force.

In the absence of statute otherwise providing, an infant's insurance contracts are not binding on him,[99] although such contracts are not void[1] but merely voidable, by the infant.[2] Such contracts are not for necessaries[3] under the rule that an infant's contracts for necessaries are binding on him, as discussed infra § 78. Insurer, however, is bound by contracts of insurance made with infants,[4] unless the contract is prohibited by statute.[5]

In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, an infant is deemed competent to contract for insurance on his life.[6] Under such a statute the agreement

90. S.D.—Smith v. Monserud, 235 N. W. 693, 58 S.D. 278.
Tenn.—National Union Fire Ins. Co. v. Winn, 3 Tenn.App. 60.
Vt.—Patchin v. Cromach, 13 Vt. 330.
Bond for necessaries see infra § 78 a.

91. N.Y.—Conroe v. Birdsall, 1 Johns.Cas. 127, 1 Am.D. 105.

Recognizance for costs
Vt.—Patchin v. Cromach, 13 Vt. 330.

92. U.S.—Sanger v. Hibbard, Ind.T., 104 F. 455, 43 C.C.A. 635.
31 C.J. p 1083 note 51, p 1081 note 2.

93. Ky.—Strong v. Duff, 15 S.W.2d 517, 228 Ky. 615, 70 A.L.R. 56.

Ratification by participating in litigation
A temporary injunction bond executed by an infant was effectively ratified by him where, after attaining majority, he gave his deposition in the case and actively participated in the litigation throughout its continuance,—Strong v. Duff, supra.

94. Mass.—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 97.

95. Kan.—Weatherwax v. State, 17 Kan. 427.
Mass.—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.
6 C.J. p 1010 note 1 [a].

96. Kan.—State v. Weatherwax, 12 Kan. 463.

97. Ky.—Starr v. Commonwealth, 7 Dana 243.
Mass.—McCall v. Parker, 13 Metc. 372, 46 Am.D. 735.
R.I.—Fagin v. Goggin, 12 R.I. 398.

98. Pa.—Vincent v. Warner, 16 Phila. 87.

99. Mass.—Simpson v. Prudential Ins. Co., 68 N.E. 673, 184 Mass. 348, 100 Am.S.R. 560, 63 L.R.A. 741.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 29.

1. Mich.—Wood v. Merchants Ins. Co. of Providence, 289 N.W. 259, 291 Mich. 573.
Mo.—Byrne v. Prudential Ins. Co. of America, 88 S.W.2d 344, reversing, App., 79 S.W.2d 789.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 32.

2. Mo.—Byrne v. Prudential Ins. Co. of America, supra.
Tex.—Carrizales v. W. O. W. Life Ins. Soc., 167 S.W.2d 509, 140 Tex. 259, affirming W. O. W. Life Ins. Soc. v. Carrizales, Civ.App., 159 S. W.2d 536.
Wyo.—Novosel v. Sun Life Assur. Co. of Canada, 55 P.2d 302, 306, 49 Wyo. 422, citing Corpus Juris, and rehearing denied 57 P.2d 110, 49 Wyo. 422.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 33—26 C.J. p 41 note 55.

3. D.C.—Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Schiavone, 71 F.2d 980, 63 App.D.C. 257, 94 A.L.R. 962.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 30.

4. Mich.—Monaghan v. Agricultural Fire Ins. Co., 18 N.W. 797, 53 Mich. 238.

5. Mo.—Byrne v. Prudential Ins. Co. of America, 88 S.W.2d 344, reversing, App., 79 S.W.2d 789.

6. N.J.—Prahm v. Prudential Ins. Co., 116 A. 798, 97 N.J.Law 206.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 34.

of an infant insured to pay a premium, or to repay a person who advanced a premium, has been held valid.[7] A loan made by insurer to an insured infant is also valid and binding under such a statute.[8]

Warranties and representations. There is authority holding that an infant is not bound by his warranties in an application for life insurance,[9] that insurer cannot defend an action on the policy by proving their falsity,[10] and that the beneficiary is not estopped by such warranties in the absence of fraudulent conduct on his part.[11] This view has, however, been criticized and expressly disapproved,[12] and the better rule asserted to be that the beneficiary cannot disaffirm the warranty and still enforce the policy.[13] Particularly in a jurisdiction wherein by force of statute an infant may contract for insurance on his life, a false and fraudulent representation made by the insured infant in the application on which the policy is based constitutes a defense to an action on the policy.[14]

Ratification or failure to disaffirm. An infant may, after attaining majority, ratify a policy of insurance obtained by him during minority,[15] and such ratification occurs where the infant keeps the policy of insurance in his possession after coming of age and in a situation favorable to his estate to claim the benefits thereof in case of his death,[16] or where, after attaining majority, he submits details of his claim to insurer and brings an action to recover benefits under the policy.[17] The rule that an infant cannot split an entire contract, ratifying as much thereof as he considers to his advantage and avoiding the remainder, as discussed supra § 73, is applicable to insurance contracts.[18] Thus the infant, on ratifying, becomes subject to the provisions in the policy respecting the time of giving notice and proof of disability,[19] and, as shown supra note 13, he cannot, at least according to some authorities, avoid his warranties and at the same time enforce the beneficial provisions of the policy. After ratification the insurance contract becomes valid ab initio,[20] and the infant will be liable on a note given to pay the premium on the policy.[21] An infant may by his acts after majority lose any right to avoid his agent's cancellation, during the infant's minority, of a policy insuring the infant.[22]

7. N.Y.—Equitable Trust Co. v. Moss, 134 N.Y.S. 533, 149 App.Div. 615.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 35.

The Michigan statute permitting infants over a certain age to contract for life insurance expressly provides that its provisions "shall not have the effect of making a promissory note or other evidence of indebtedness given by such minor in payment of premium or premiums on such contracts for insurance valid, either in the hands of the original owner or subsequent purchaser thereof."—Wilson v. Prudential Ins. Co. of America, 267 N.W. 824, 276 Mich. 232.

Transaction held not contract for insurance
A written contract under which an infant borrowed money from an insurance broker for a premium on a life insurance policy, the amount borrowed plus a certain fee to be repaid to the broker out of a fund to be accumulated by the infant or, if the fund should be insufficient, then directly by the infant, is not a contract for insurance within the statute, against which a defense of infancy is unavailable, particularly in the absence of proof that the particular insurance was necessary for the infant and how much the broker was actually out of pocket.—United Thrift Plan v. Goldstein, 234 N.Y.S. 592, 134 Misc. 91.

8. Mich.—Wilson v. Prudential Ins. Co. of America, 267 N.W. 824, 276 Mich. 232.

Extended insurance affected by loan
The amount of the loan must be considered in computing the period of extended insurance in effect after failure to pay a premium.—Wilson v. Prudential Ins. Co. of America, supra.

9. R.I.—Keenan v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. of Boston, Mass., 146 A. 401, 50 R.I. 158—O'Rourke v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 50 A. 834, 23 R.I. 457, 91 Am.S.R. 643, 57 L.R.A. 496.

10. R.I.—Keenan v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. of Boston, Mass., 146 A. 401, 50 R.I. 158—O'Rourke v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 50 A. 834, 23 R.I. 457, 91 Am. S.R. 643, 57 L.R.A. 496.

11. R.I.—Keenan v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. of Boston, Mass., 146 A. 401, 50 R.I. 158.

12. Kan.—Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Burbaker, 96 P. 62, 78 Kan. 146, 130 Am.S.R. 356, 18 L.R.A.,N.S., 362, 16 Ann.Cas. 267.
Tex.—Carrizales v. W. O. W. Life Ins. Soc., Com.App., 167 S.W.2d 509, 140 Tex. 259, affirming W. O. W. Life Ins. Soc. v. Carrizales, Civ. App., 159 S.W.2d 536.

13. Tex.—Carrizales v. W. O. W. Life Ins. Soc., 167 S.W.2d 509, 510, 140 Tex. 259, citing Corpus Juris, and affirming W. O. W. Life Ins. Soc. v. Carrizales, Civ.App., 159 S.W.2d 536.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 47.

Affirmative avoidance by insurer
Minority of insured does not preclude insurer from affirmatively avoiding a life insurance policy because of a fraudulent misrepresentation in the application as to the health of insured.—Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Ordonoff, 186 A. 391, 122 Pa.Super. 485.

14. N.J.—Prahm v. Prudential Ins. Co., 116 A. 798, 97 N.J.Law 206.

15. Ind.—Campbell v. Lindsay, 133 N.E. 751, 77 Ind.App. 413.
S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 180 S.E. 462, 176 S.C. 476.

16. Ind.—Campbell v. Lindsay, 133 N.E. 751, 77 Ind.App. 413.

17. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 180 S.E. 462, 176 S.C. 476.

18. Pa.—Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Ordonoff, 186 A. 391, 393, 122 Pa.Super. 485, citing Corpus Juris.
S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 180 S.E. 462, 176 S.C. 476.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 46.

19. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra.

20. S.C.—Dickert v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra.

21. Ind.—Campbell v. Lindsay, 133 N.E. 751, 77 Ind.App. 413.

22. Mass.—Chamberlain v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corporation, 194 N.E. 310, 289 Mass. 412.

Failure to act within reasonable time
Where an infant borrowed money and appointed the lender his agent with power to take out an automobile liability policy and to cancel it on the infant's failure to make pay-

An infant beneficiary of a policy on the life of an adult may, on attaining majority, elect to affirm or reject it,[23] but he may not affirm as to some of its terms and reject the remainder,[24] and by instituting suit after attaining majority he affirms the contract in all its provisions and with its burdens,[25] and hence assumes the burden of strict compliance with provisions relating to the time within which suit must be brought under the terms of the policy.[26]

Extent of recovery. Where the infant elects to rescind a contract of life insurance it has been held, in some jurisdictions, that he has a right to recover the whole amount of premiums paid by him thereon,[27] and that the insurance company is not entitled to retain out of the premiums the cost to it of keeping the policy in force.[28] However, there is also authority holding that, if the transaction is bona fide, he cannot recover the premiums which he has paid in, as far as such premiums cover the annual risk assumed by the company under its policy.[29] An infant who surrenders a life insurance policy is in any event entitled to recover its cash surrender value.[30]

Assignment of policy or benefits. An assignment of a policy of insurance by an infant is not binding on the infant and may be repudiated by him,[31] unless some equitable circumstances appear which should impress a trust on the contract, such as payment of premiums by the assignee to preserve his security for money advanced on the strength of the assignment. Voluntary payment of premiums by a parent do not create such an equitable interest in favor of the parent as to preclude his minor child, insured, from repudiating an alleged assignment of the policy to the parent.[32] A statute which allows infants to contract in certain respects as to insurance policies issued on their own lives has no application to contracts of an infant assigning the benefits of an insurance policy on the life of an adult in which the infant is named as beneficiary.[33] A change of beneficiary by an infant insured may be sufficient to revoke his oral assignment of the policy alleged to have been made to the original beneficiary, and it is not essential to the validity of such revocation that the infant have a guardian, give due notice to the opposite party, and have the revocation duly adjudged in court.[34]

c. Releases

A release by an infant is, with some exceptions, voidable by him and is disaffirmed by his commencement of an action on the released claim. Disaffirmance of the release is ordinarily required to be made within a reasonable time after his majority, and is subject to the usual rules respecting the necessity of restitution.

Ordinarily a release by an infant is not binding on him,[35] and, according to the decisions on the ments on the loan, and where the infant made two payments on the loan after attaining majority but failed to make further payments, whereupon the lender canceled the policy, and where the infant, for more than a year after attaining majority, although notified of the proposed cancellation of the policy, took no steps to disaffirm either the contract, or the appointment of the agent, or the agent's cancellation of the policy, it was held that he did not exercise his privilege of disaffirmance within a reasonable time after he became of age and that the agent's cancellation of the policy was therefore effective.—Chamberlain v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corporation, supra.

23. U.S.—Reiter v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., D.C.N.J., 33 F.Supp. 159.

24. U.S.—Reiter v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra.

25. U.S.—Reiter v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra.

26. U.S.—Reiter v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., supra.

27. D.C.—Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Schiavone, 71 F.2d 980, 63 App.D.C. 257, 94 A.L.R. 962.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 36.

28. D.C.—Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York v. Schiavone, supra.

Mass.—Simpson v. Prudential Ins. Co., 68 N.E. 673, 184 Mass. 348, 100 Am.S.R. 560, 63 L.R.A. 741.

29. Minn.—Johnson v. Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., 57 N.W. 934, 56 Minn. 365, reheard 59 N.W. 992, 56 Minn. 365, 45 Am.S.R. 473, 26 L.R.A. 187.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 38.

30. Minn.—Johnson v. Northwestern Mut. Life Ins. Co., supra.

31. S.C.—Hack v. Metz, 176 S.E. 314, 173 S.C. 413, 95 A.L.R. 196.
Wyo.—Novosel v. Sun Life Assur. Co. of Canada, 55 P.2d 302, 306, 49 Wyo. 422, citing Corpus Juris, and rehearing denied 57 P.2d 110, 49 Wyo. 422.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 42.

32. Wyo.—Novosel v. Sun Life Assur. Co. of Canada, 55 P.2d 302, 49 Wyo. 422, rehearing denied 57 P.2d 110, 49 Wyo. 422.

33. Ohio.—Champa v. New York Central Mut. Relief Ass'n, 15 N.E.2d 172, 57 Ohio App. 522.

34. Wyo.—Novosel v. Sun Life Assur. Co. of Canada, 57 P.2d 110, 49 Wyo. 422, denying rehearing 55 P.2d 302, 49 Wyo. 422.

35. Ark.—St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co. v. Higgins, 44 Ark. 293.
Me.—Harding v. Skolfield, 134 A. 567, 125 Me. 438.
Minn.—Gendreau v. North American Life & Casualty Co., 197 N.W. 257, 158 Minn. 259.
N.Y.—Application of Presler, 13 N.Y.S.2d 49, 171 Misc. 559.
Pa.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 61.
Compromises and settlements see infra § 80.

Emancipation does not prevent an infant from asserting the right to disaffirm his release.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E.2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.

Acknowledgment of satisfaction for assault

A statute providing that a person who is committed to jail for an assault or who is under recognizance to answer therefor may be discharged if the person injured acknowledges his receipt of satisfaction for the injury, and further providing that a civil action for such assault shall thereafter be barred, does not bar an infant from disaffirming a release given by him for an assault where it does not appear that the person released had been committed to jail or was under recognizance for his appearance before a higher court.—Dardzinski v. Angelus, 8 N.E.2d 816, 297 Mass. 288.

question, although it is not entirely void,[36] but merely voidable,[37] and subject to ratification by him after coming of age;[38] but it has been held that a release by an infant is void when it is injurious to him.[39] On the other hand, stipulations of release in a transaction otherwise beneficial to the infant have been upheld;[40] and, under statutes enlarging the power of infants to enter into particular kinds of contracts, such as contracts for insurance benefits, infants have been held empowered to execute binding releases of claims under such contracts.[41]

Bringing suit on the released claim is a disaffirmance of the release.[42] On disaffirmance the release becomes null and void,[43] and cannot be interposed or insisted on in bar of his rights.[44]

Time to disaffirm. An infant may disaffirm his release at any time during his minority,[45] but is not obliged to do so and may disaffirm after he attains majority,[46] provided the disaffirmance takes place within a reasonable time after the infant becomes of age.[47] Under some statutes an infant has a specified period after attaining majority within which to disaffirm a release.[48]

Restitution. In application of the rules governing the necessity of returning the consideration received, as discussed supra § 75, it has been held that, if the consideration is still in the hands of the late infant, it should be returned;[49] but, if it is spent or otherwise wasted, it need not be returned,[50] and that the burden is on the other party to the agreement to show that the consideration has not been expended if he insists on return of the consideration.[51] If the consideration for the release has been paid to the infant's parents, the infant is under no obligation to return the consideration in order to disaffirm the release.[52] If he has received consideration for the release of a claim for damages for personal injury, in assessing the damages credit must be given to the extent that he has been benefited by the consideration,[53] but such credit will

36. Mo.—Horine v. Horine, 11 Mo. 649.

37. Pa.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 307 Pa. 365.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 61.

38. Pa.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., supra.

Ratification held shown
An infant ratified a release for personal injuries sustained in an automobile accident where, after reaching majority, she collected installments due under the agreement of release and for a long time attempted to collect other installments.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., supra.

39. Tenn.—Langford v. Frey, 8 Humphr. 443.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 63.

40. Mo.—Pinnell v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., 263 S.W. 182, 41 A.L.R. 1092, certiorari denied 45 S.Ct. 123, 266 U.S. 623, 69 L.Ed. 473.

Free railway pass
Stipulations of release in a free railway pass given to an infant and used by him while searching for employment have been held binding on him as being within the rule upholding the validity of contracts of an infant which are beneficial to him.—Pinnell v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., supra.

41. N.Y.—Sneze v. National Acc. Soc., 231 N.Y.S. 589, 133 Misc. 406.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 61 [a].
Insurance contracts of infants see supra subdivision b of this section.

42. Ark.—St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co. v. Higgins, 44 Ark. 293.
Ill.—Born v. Chicago City R. Co., 159 Ill.App. 585.
Pa.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.

43. Ill.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E.2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.
Pa.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.

44. Ala.—Wilson v. Judge Pike County Ct., 18 Ala. 757.
Ariz.—Arizona Eastern R. Co. v. Carillo, 149 P. 313, 17 Ariz. 115.

Action for false imprisonment
A release obtained from an infant is no defense to an action by him for false imprisonment.—Therriault v. Breton, 95 A. 699, 114 Me. 137—25 C.J. p 527 note 18.

Claim for injuries and expenses
Waiver of liability executed by infant at the time of using a bobsled run maintained by state conservation department, which was subsequently disaffirmed by infant, was no bar to infant's claim against state for injuries sustained when sled tipped over, or to her father's claim for medical expenses and increased cost of infant's maintenance.—Cunningham v. State, 32 N.Y.S.2d 275, modified on other grounds 34 N.Y.S.2d 903, 264 App.Div. 811.

Recovery individually or for use of another
Where an infant who suffered personal injuries and property damage in an accident received money from insurer of the person alleged to have caused the accident and gave a release of all liability, and where the infant also received money from his own insurance company and subrogated such company to his property damage claim, the infant, on disaffirming the release, was not barred from recovering either individually or for the use of his insurance company.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E.2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.

45. Mass.—Dardzinski v. Angelus, 8 N.E.2d 816, 297 Mass. 288.
Time for avoidance of contracts generally see supra § 75.

46. Pa.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.

47. Pa.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 307 Pa. 365.

Three months after attaining majority may be a reasonable time within which to disaffirm.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.

Thirteen months have been held not a reasonable time, under circumstances, within which infant after reaching majority could disaffirm contract, made during infancy, releasing autoist who injured her from liability.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 307 Pa. 365.

48. Ill.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E.2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.

49. W.Va.—Britton v. South Penn Oil Co., 81 S.E. 525, 73 W.Va. 792.

50. Ill.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E.2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.
W.Va.—Britton v. South Penn Oil Co., 81 S.E. 525, 73 W.Va. 792.

51. W.Va.—Britton v. South Penn Oil Co., supra.

52. Ariz.—Arizona Eastern R. Co. v. Carillo, 149 P. 313, 17 Ariz. 115.

53. Va.—Clinchfield Coal Corp. v. Couch, 104 S.E. 802, 127 Va. 634, 13 A.L.R. 398.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 71.

not be given where the consideration was not paid to the infant.[54]

d. Suretyship

An infant's contract of suretyship is not binding on him unless he ratifies it after coming of age, and he does not become bound by mere inaction after attaining majority.

An infant's contract of suretyship is not binding on him,[55] unless he ratifies and confirms it after attaining his majority.[56] While there is early authority asserting that such a contract is void as a contract against the infant's interest,[57] it is generally considered that the contract is voidable only.[58] It has been held that affirmative action of the minor within a reasonable time after reaching majority is not required as a condition precedent to his right to avoid liability on a simple contract of suretyship,[59] and that the infant, although having attained majority, may wait until liability on the contract is sought to be enforced against him and then interpose his plea of infancy.[60]

e. Obligations Imposed or Authorized by Law

An infant's contract for the performance of obligations which are imposed on him by law, or which he is authorized by law to incur, is binding on him.

An infant may bind himself by contract for the performance of obligations which are imposed on him by law,[61] or which he is authorized by law to incur.[62] As otherwise expressed, he is liable on contracts which the law requires him to make or which it makes for him.[63] Thus an infant may obligate himself on certain bonds or recognizances for legal obligations, as discussed supra subdivision a of this section, or, in some jurisdictions, on insurance contracts, as discussed supra subdivision b of this section, and an infant father of a bastard child may bind himself by contract with the mother for its support, as considered in Bastards § 19a.

It has been held that the law will not allow an infant the privilege of avoiding his contract with an adult where the contract on the part of the adult was legally compulsory.[64]

f. Contracts by Person Acting for Infant

A contract imposing obligations on an infant made by one not authorized by law to act for him is voidable by the infant, even though he originally consented to the contract; but a contract in effect made by an adult, although intended for the ultimate benefit of an infant, is not subject to repudiation at the infant's election.

An infant is not bound by a contract made for him or in his name by another person purporting to act for him,[65] even if such person acts by his consent,[66] unless such person is in some manner authorized by law to act for him.[67] Such a contract is not void but voidable at the election of the infant,[68] and the other party to the contract cannot avoid his obligations thereunder on the ground that he had contracted with an infant.[69] An infant may disaffirm a contract entered into by an agent on his behalf without questioning the authority of the agent, in the same manner as though he had made the contract directly, and, where he does so, the transaction is not rendered void ab initio so that

54. Ky.—Interstate Coal Co. v. Love, 155 S.W. 746, 153 Ky. 323.

55. S.D.—Smith v. Monserud, 235 N.W. 693, 58 S.D. 278.
31 C.J. p 1090 note 19.

Reason for rule
"The general ground for the imposition of liability when it exists is that some benefit has been received by the minor. Where the minor contracts as a surety there is clearly no direct benefit to him."—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 659, 251 Mass. 383.

56. Mass.—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, supra.
S.C.—State v. Satterwhite, 20 S.C. 536.

57. Ala.—West v. Penny, 16 Ala. 186.
Conn.—Maples v. Wightman, 4 Conn. 376, 10 Am.D. 149.

Corpus Juris cited to show scarcity of authority on proposition.—Walker v. Stokes Bros. & Co., Tex. Civ.App., 262 S.W. 158, 159.

58. Mass.—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.
Tenn.—Human v. Hartsell, 148 S.W. 2d 634, 636, 24 Tenn.App. 678, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Walker v. Stokes Bros. & Co., Civ.App., 262 S.W. 158, 160.
31 C.J. p 1090 note 20.

59. Tex.—Walker v. Stokes Bros. & Co., supra.

Reason for rule
"The holder of such obligation could not possibly suffer any detriment or inconvenience by the minor's inaction, and it could serve no useful purpose to require affirmative action on the minor's part."—Walker v. Stokes Bros. & Co., supra.

60. Tex.—Walker v. Stokes Bros. & Co., supra.

61. Ohio.—Mestetzko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575.
31 C.J. p 1081 notes 94, 95.

62. Ohio.—Mestetzko v. Elf Motor Co., supra.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 98.

63. Mass.—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.

64. Ky.—Watson v. Cross, 2 Duv. 147, 148.

Entertainment at inn
An infant cannot avoid liability for entertainment furnished him at an inn where the innkeeper was compelled, as a legal duty, to receive the infant as a guest.—Watson v. Cross, supra.

65. Mich.—O'Brien v. Loeb, 201 N. W. 488, 229 Mich. 405.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 5.

66. Miss.—Gambrel v. Harper, 74 So. 623, 113 Miss. 715.
Appointment of agent or attorney see supra § 23.

67. Mich.—O'Brien v. Loeb, 201 N. W. 488, 229 Mich. 405.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 7.

68. N.Y.—Goldfinger v. Doherty, 276 N.Y.S. 289, 153 Misc. 826, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 778, 244 App.Div. 779.
Tex.—Sims v. University Interscholastic League, Civ.App., 111 S.W.2d 814, vacated on other grounds University Interscholastic League v. Sims, 131 S.W.2d 94, 133 Tex. 605.

69. Tex.—Sims v. University Interscholastic League, supra.

the agent is deemed to have acted without any authority.[70]

A contract in fact and in legal effect made by an adult, although sought to be made on behalf, or for the ultimate benefit, of an infant, confers no rights on the infant, and cannot be repudiated by him so as to permit his recovery of amounts paid thereunder.[71]

g. Miscellaneous Transactions

The general rule that an infant's contracts are not binding on him has been applied to a great variety of transactions, including agreements relating to arbitration, hiring, dealings in securities, joint adventures, repairs, and joint obligations of an adult and an infant; but the rule is inapplicable to contracts entered into by him as agent or trustee for a competent person.

The liability incurred by an infant in transactions other than those considered supra this section, and infra §§ 77-86, has frequently been adjudicated, and transactions of an infant held to be voidable but not void include a voluntary trust agreement executed by an infant,[72] and a contract by which an infant charters a vessel.[73] The statement of an account by an infant is not binding on him,[74] unless it is ratified by him after he becomes of age.[75]

Arbitration. In accordance with the general rule that an infant is not bound on his contracts, as discussed supra § 71, an infant cannot ordinarily make a binding submission of a dispute to arbitration;[76] and, while it has been held that such a submission and an award thereon is not void but merely voidable,[77] and subject to ratification[78] or avoidance,[79] it has also been held that an award under such a submission is not binding on either party,[80] even though the award is in favor of the infant,[81] and the submission was under an order of court.[82] An infant who has entered into a contract of which a provision for arbitrating grievances arising thereunder is an inseparable part cannot affirm some of the provisions of the contract and at the same time reject the provision for arbitration.[83]

Contracts of hiring. An infant may repudiate a contract whereby he engages the services of another,[84] and he may disaffirm an executory contract of this nature during minority.[85] The right of an infant to disaffirm a contract whereby he employs an attorney is not dependent on his return of the precise consideration received;[86] but, under statutes making the return of the consideration or its equivalent a condition precedent to the right of an infant to disaffirm his contract, it is necessary, but sufficient, for an infant who disaffirms a contract with his attorney to pay the reasonable value of the attorney's services.[87]

Dealings in securities. A transaction in which an infant delivers cash or securities for investment or stock trading is voidable only and not void.[88] An

70. N.Y.—Goldfinger v. Doherty, 276 N.Y.S. 289, 153 Misc. 826, affirmed 280 N.Y.S. 778, 244 App.Div. 779.
Liability to third persons of agent acting for incompetent principal see Agency §§ 213, 215 d.

71. Mich.—Armitage v. Widoe, 36 Mich. 124.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 8.

72. Tenn.—Sims v. Bank of Commerce & Trust Co., 14 Tenn.App. 672.
Ratification held shown
An infant ratified a voluntary trust agreement where, after attaining majority, he received and receipted for income, and also assigned some of the income.—Sims v. Bank of Commerce & Trust Co., 14 Tenn.App. 672.

73. U.S.—Sheafe v. Kimball, D.C.N.Y., 21 F.Cas.No.12,729a.
Mass.—Thompson v. Hamilton, 12 Pick. 425, 23 Am.D. 619.

74. Ark.—Dunavant v. Fields, 60 S.W. 420, 68 Ark. 534.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 24.

75. Ark.—Dunavant v. Fields, supra.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 28.

76. N.C.—Millsaps v. Estes, 46 S.E. 988, 134 N.C. 486, petition dismissed 50 S.E. 227, 137 N.C. 535, 107 Am.S.R. 496, 70 L.R.A. 170.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 4.
Submission to arbitration by:
Guardian see Guardian and Ward § 72.
Guardian ad litem or next friend see infra § 111.

77. N.C.—Millsaps v. Estes, 50 S.E. 227, 137 N.C. 535, 107 Am.S.R. 496, 70 L.R.A. 170, dismissing petition 46 S.E. 988, 134 N.C. 486.
Tex.—Chambers v. Ker, 24 S.W. 1118, 6 Tex.Civ.App. 373.

78. N.Y.—Jones v. Phœnix Bank, 8 N.Y. 228.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 6.

79. N.C.—Millsaps v. Estes, 50 S.E. 227, 137 N.C. 535, 107 Am.S.R. 496, 70 L.R.A. 170, dismissing petition 46 S.E. 988, 134 N.C. 486.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 7.

80. Mass.—Baker v. Lovett, 6 Mass. 78, 4 Am.D. 88.
Va.—Britton v. Williams, 6 Munf. 455, 20 Va. 455.

81. Va.—Britton v. Williams, supra.

82. Va.—Britton v. Williams, supra.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 10.

83. N.Y.—Farin v. Sercarz, 39 N.Y.S. 2d 482, 179 Misc. 490.

84. N.Y.—Lee v. Silver, 28 N.Y.S. 2d 333, 262 App.Div. 149, modifying 27 N.Y.S.2d 236, 176 Misc. 307, and affirmed 38 N.E.2d 233, 287 N.Y. 575—People, on Complaint of Meyers, v. Zimmerman, 6 N.Y.S. 2d 90.
Contracts for infant's services see infra § 85.

85. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313.

86. Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 232 P. 531, 72 Mont. 166.
Attorney's services as necessaries see infra § 78 b (4).
Reason for rule
It is manifestly impossible for the infant to restore the services themselves, the time and effort expended by the attorney, or the skill exercised by him in a particular matter. —Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., supra.

87. Cal.—Spencer v. Collins, 104 P. 320, 156 Cal. 298, 20 Ann.Cas. 49.

88. N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—Casey v. Kastel, 237 N.Y. 305, 142 N.E. 671, 31 A.L.R. 995, modifying Casey v. U. S. Steel Corporation, 200 N.Y.S. 790, 206 App.Div. 793, which affirmed Casey v. Kastel, 195

infant may recover money deposited by him with a broker as margin, and subsequently lost, in a stock transaction,[89] particularly where such a transaction is regarded as gambling,[90] and in a case of marginal trading where nothing has been received, nothing need be restored,[91] but it has been held that in an action for recovery of such money the broker may set up as a defense that he was induced to accept and disburse the money by the fraudulent representation of the infant as to his age.[92]

Joint adventures. An infant cannot ordinarily enter into a binding contract or agreement of joint adventure.[93] However, on the general principle that infancy is to be used as a shield and not for purposes of oppression, the plea of infancy has been held unavailable as a ground for an infant's avoidance of his obligations under a joint adventure undertaken with other infants and successfully carried out.[94]

Repairs to infant's property. An infant is not liable for repairs made to his property on orders of a third person without his knowledge, and he is entitled to recover such property without paying for such repairs.[95] On the other hand it has been held, under the doctrine that infancy is to be used as a shield and not as a sword, that an infant who orders repairs on his property cannot refuse to pay therefor and at the same time demand that the repairer turn the property over to him.[96]

Infant acting as agent or trustee. Since an infant may act as agent or trustee, as discussed supra § 21, the general rule that an infant's contracts are voidable and may be disaffirmed by him, as considered supra §§ 71, 75, has no application where the infant contracts in such capacity.[97]

Contracts jointly with adults. Where an infant and an adult enter into a joint contract or assume a joint liability, it is generally considered that, although the infant may avoid the transaction,[98] the adult is bound.[99] However, it has been held that a contract for the sale of land owned jointly by an infant and another, being illegal as to the infant, is bad altogether, as the parts cannot be separated,[1] and that, therefore, damages cannot be recovered of either party for a breach of the contract.[2] Where an infant engaged in business is liable on contracts arising therefrom, as discussed infra § 81, an infant so engaged who, to the extent that he has received the benefits of the transaction, pays an obligation incurred by him jointly with another cannot be held liable for the benefits conferred on the adult.[3] It has been intimated that, where there has been confirmation by the infant after attaining majority whereby his liability has become fixed as a joint contractor, a release of the infant would release both.[4]

Agreement to marry. The capacity of an infant to enter into a contract to marry is treated in Breach of Marriage Promise § 2 b.

§ 77. Bailments

A contract of bailment does not bind an infant.

An infant cannot be held liable for breach of his contract of bailment.[5]

§ 78. Contracts for Necessaries

a. In general

N.Y.S. 848, 119 Misc. 116—Fishman v. All American Sportwear Co., 4 N.Y.S.2d 48, 167 Misc. 861.

89. N.Y.—Mordecai v. Pearl, 18 N.Y.S. 543, 63 Hun 553, affirmed 32 N.E. 1014, 136 N.Y. 625.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 24.
Subscription to corporate stock see infra § 86.

90. Pa.—Ruchizky v. De Haven, 97 Pa. 202, reversing 7 Wkly N.C. 311.
Infant's gambling contracts generally see infra § 83.
Purchase on margin as gambling see Gaming § 11.

91. N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—Mordecai v. Pearl, 18 N.Y.S. 543, 63 Hun 553, affirmed 32 N.E. 1014, 136 N.Y. 625.

92. N.Y.—Falk v. MacMasters, 188 N.Y.S. 795, 197 App.Div. 357.

93. La.—Gott v. Scott, App., 199 So. 460.
Partnership agreements see infra § 82.

94. Nev.—Schmidt v. Horton, 287 P. 274, 52 Nev. 302, rehearing denied 290 P. 1023, 52 Nev. 479.

Mining claim

Where three minors made a joint adventure agreement relating to locating mining claims, two of them, after locating claims, were held not entitled to avoid, on the ground of their infancy, obligations to the third who performed labor and furnished equipment.—Schmidt v. Horton, supra.

95. Tenn.—McDonald v. Cady, 9 Tenn.App. 354.

96. N.Y.—Egnaczyk v. Rowland, 267 N.Y.S. 14, 148 Misc. 889.

97. Iowa.—Des Moines Ins. Co. v. McIntire, 68 N.W. 565, 99 Iowa 50.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 14.

98. Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 15.

99. Pa.—Wharen v. Funk, supra.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 16.

1. Ky.—Clark v. Stanhope, 59 S.W. 856, 109 Ky. 521.

2. Ky.—Clark v. Stanhope, supra.

3. Ga.—James v. Sasser, 60 S.E. 329, 3 Ga.App. 568.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 18.

4. Ind.—Kirby v. Cannon, 9 Ind. 371.

5. Tex.—Miller v. Peck, Civ.App., 258 S.W. 887.

Transaction held not bailment

Where one infant, who had been intrusted by owner with the possession of an automobile, delivered the automobile to another infant, the other infant was not a bailee of the owner, in view of incapacity of infants to enter into contractual relations.—Miller v. Peck, supra.

b. What are necessaries
c. Loans and encumbrances for necessaries

a. In General

An infant is liable for the reasonable value of necessaries supplied to him or his family, unless his parent or guardian has already made provision for the articles furnished. He is liable only for necessaries already furnished, and may disaffirm an executory agreement to purchase necessaries in the future.

The general rule is well settled that an infant can bind himself, and is liable, for necessaries furnished him[6] or his family;[7] the law implies an obligation on his part to pay for such necessaries out of his own property,[8] the ability to incur such liability being deemed a benefit rather than a disadvantage to him.[9] However, to render the infant liable, the necessaries must have been furnished to him on his own credit and not on the credit of others;[10] and the law implies no promise on the infant's part to pay for necessaries furnished where he was a member of the family of the person furnishing the necessaries.[11] Where, pursuant to statute, an infant ward on his marriage becomes intrusted with the management of his estate, his power to contract for necessaries extends to such contracts as are necessary to secure the preservation and beneficial enjoyment of the estate.[12]

Infant having parent or guardian, or already supplied with necessaries. Since, as a rule, the parent is liable for the support of his child, discussed in the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 15, also 46 C.J. p 1256 note 87-p 1258 note 5, and the guardian for the support of his ward, discussed in Guardian and Ward § 61, an infant who has a parent or guardian, or one who stands in loco parentis, who provides him, or is able and willing to provide him, with everything that appears to be necessary and proper, cannot bind himself and is not liable to a stranger even for necessaries,[13] although

6. U.S.—Ex parte Chan Hai, D.C. Wash., 11 F.2d 667, affirmed, C.C.A., Chan Hai v. Weedin, 15 F.2d 296.
Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 191, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182, citing Corpus Juris—Commercial Credit Co. v. Ward & Son Auto Co., 109 So. 574, 215 Ala. 31, reversing 109 So. 576, 21 Ala.App. 515.
Alaska.—The Emporium v. Boyle, 7 Alaska 80.
Ariz.—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A.L.R. 1363.
Ark.—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S.W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.
Conn.—Wells v. Radville, 153 A. 154, 112 Conn. 459.
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 305, 6 W.W.Harr. 418, citing Corpus Juris.
Fla.—Lee v. Thompson, 168 So. 848, 124 Fla. 494.
Ill.—Hunter v. Egolf Motor Co., 268 Ill.App. 1.
Iowa.—First Nat. Bank v. Torkelson, 228 N.W. 655, 209 Iowa 659.
Ky.—Sumner v. Hall, 116 S.W.2d 309, 273 Ky. 138.
Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mass.—J. G. Pierce Co. v. Wallace, 146 N.E. 658, 251 Mass. 383.
Miss.—Mellott v. Love, 119 So. 913, 152 Miss. 860, 64 A.L.R. 968—Greene v. Greene, 110 So. 218, 145 Miss. 87, 49 A.L.R. 565.
Mo.—Fenn v. Hart Dairy Co., 83 S.W.2d 120, 231 Mo.App. 1005.
Neb.—First Nat. Bank v. Guenther, 252 N.W. 395, 125 Neb. 807.
N.Y.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E. 726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437, affirming 264 N.Y.S. 806, 238 App. Div. 349—H. L. Braham & Co. v. Zittel, 250 N.Y.S. 44, 232 App.Div. 406—Wyatt v. Lortscher, 216 N.Y.S. 571, 217 App.Div. 224—Farin v. Sercarz, 39 N.Y.S.2d 482, 179 Misc. 490—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 153 Misc. 673.
N.C.—Cole v. Wagner, 150 S.E. 339, 192 N.C. 692.
Ohio.—Mestezko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575—Hoffman v. Edson Co., 173 N.E. 307, 37 Ohio App. 262.
Pa.—Bradley v. Cool, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 404—Provident Trust Co. v. Hofstetter, 28 Del.Co. 58—Osipovitch v. Golnick, 44 Lack.Jur. 145.
R.I.—Jacobs v. United Electric Rys. Co., 125 A. 286, 46 R.I. 230.
Tenn.—Foster v. Adcock, 30 S.W.2d 239, 161 Tenn. 217, 70 A.L.R. 569—Bentley v. Haiman's Ready-to-Wear, 1 Tenn.App. 280.
Wash.—McAllister v. Saginaw Timber Co., 18 P.2d 41, 43, 171 Wash. 448, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1075 note 41.

If the infant has paid for necessaries supplied he cannot recover the amount paid.—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S.W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.

7. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 191, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182, citing Corpus Juris.
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 305, 6 W.W.Harr. 418, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1075 note 42.

8. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 191, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1075 note 38, p 1076 note 65.

9. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, supra, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1075 note 38.

10. Mo.—Mackey v. Shreckengaust, App., 27 S.W.2d 752, 753, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 51.

11. Ind.—Wright v. McLarinan, 92 Ind. 103.
Parent's duty to maintain child having independent means see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 15, also 46 C.J. p 1261 note 54-p 1262 note 61.

12. Miss.—Chapman v. Hughes, 61 Miss. 339.

13. Mass.—L. P. Hollander Co. v. Porter, 166 N.E. 724, 267 Mass. 378.
Mich.—Westrate v. Schipper, 279 N.W. 870, 284 Mich. 383.
Pa.—In re Springer's Estate, 3 Fay. L.J. 234.
Tenn.—Foster v. Adcock, 30 S.W.2d 239, 161 Tenn. 217, 70 A.L.R. 569.
Tex.—Bowman v. Bowman, Civ.App., 96 S.W.2d 667, 669, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 79.
Liability of parent to third persons for necessaries see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 16, also 46 C.J. p 1262 note 65-p 1263 note 77.

Parent's recognition of liability

(1) Liability cannot be fastened on the infant based on the alleged financial inability of the parent to pay for necessaries where the parent has recognized an obligation arising from a bill for necessaries, has paid a large part of the bill, and the case is not one of indifferent failure or refusal on the part of the parent to provide necessaries.—Foster v. Adthe mere fact that an infant has a father, mother, or guardian does not prevent his being bound to pay for what was actually necessary for him when furnished, if neither his parents nor guardian did anything toward his care or support.[14] Indeed, if the infant is already supplied with articles of the same or a similar character as those furnished to him, he cannot be held liable on the theory of necessaries although the articles are such as would be necessary if the infant had not been supplied with them,[15] no matter by whom or how he has been supplied,[16] and regardless of whether or not the person supplying the articles knew of the existing supply.[17] Thus it is incumbent on a tradesman before he trusts an infant for what may appear to be necessaries to inquire whether he is already provided, as otherwise he trusts the infant at his peril.[18]

An infant who has an allowance from the court, his guardian, or any other source, of a sum sufficient to supply himself with necessaries suitable to his fortune and condition is not liable for alleged necessaries supplied in an amount in excess of the allowance.[19]

Necessaries to be furnished in the future. To render an infant liable for necessaries they must have been actually furnished;[20] hence he cannot make a binding executory agreement to purchase necessaries or to pay for necessaries to be supplied him,[21] and he may disaffirm such contract or agreement before it has been performed[22] and recover the unearned portion of the money paid in advance.[23]

Amount of recovery; express contracts. The liability of an infant for necessaries is limited to the reasonable value thereof,[24] and is not fixed by what the infant may have promised to pay.[25]

According to some authorities, an infant who has made an express contract for necessaries can-cock, 30 S.W.2d 239, 161 Tenn. 217, 70 A.L.R. 569.

(2) A statute declaring valid a contract or quasi contract by a minor when the minor has no tutor, or when his tutor neglects to provide him with necessaries for his support or education, has no application where the father has not refused to supply the minor with necessaries and has recognized his individual liability for the particular necessaries by giving his note for the amount due.—Baron v. Guidry, 134 So. 410, 17 La.App. 32.

Statutes prohibiting infants from disaffirming contracts for necessaries when not living under the care of a parent or guardian do not prevent a minor living under the care of a parent or guardian from making a voidable contract for necessaries.—Aubel v. Sosso, 236 P. 319, 72 Cal. App. 57.

14. N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 938, 153 Misc. 673, citing Corpus Juris.
N.C.—Cole v. Wagner, 150 S.E. 339, 340, 192 N.C. 692, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 81.

Consent of guardian
It has been held that an infant is bound for necessaries purchased by him with the consent of his guardian, express or implied.—Watson v. Hensel, 7 Watts, Pa., 344—Rundel v. Keeler, 7 Watts, Pa., 237.

Statutory restriction against contract of ward
A statute, providing that no contract of any nature whatever, made by a person under guardianship, after the appointment and during the continuance of the guardianship, shall be valid in law, has been held not to preclude a recovery for the reasonable value of necessaries furnished an infant ward under an implied contract.—McConnell v. McConnell, 74 A. 875, 75 N.H. 385.

Recovery of damages for injury
(1) An infant who collected a judgment for injuries has been held liable for the reasonable value of medical services rendered in connection with such injuries although the infant's father, with whom the infant lived, had obtained a recovery for his own expenses, including hospital and medical expenses, there being no showing that the father was solvent.—Bitting v. Goss, 166 S.E. 302, 203 N.C. 424.

(2) On the other hand, it has been held that, although the father did not pay for medical services rendered an injured minor, payment for such services cannot be had out of a verdict awarded minor as damages for pain and loss of earning power, or out of any settlement made on his account in lieu of verdict, but claimants must look to the father.—In re Mikasinovich, 168 A. 506, 110 Pa.Super. 252.

(3) This has been held particularly true where, in a settlement of a claim for personal injuries to a minor, a separate award for medical expenses was made to the minor's parent.—In re Sperling's Estate, 22 Pa.Dist. & Co. 679.

15. Mass.—Trainer v. Trumbull, 6 N.E. 761, 141 Mass. 527.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 72.

16. Ga.—Nicholson v. Wilborn, 13 Ga. 467.

17. Mass.—Trainer v. Trumbull, 6 N.E. 761, 141 Mass. 527.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 74.

18. N.Y.—Ryan v. Boltz, 48 N.Y. Super. 152.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 69, p 1077 note 71.

19. Ill.—McKanna v. Merry, 61 Ill. 177.
S.C.—Rivers v. Gregg, 26 S.C.Eq. 274.

Debt exceeding income
An infant under guardianship has no power to incur a debt exceeding his income even for necessaries.—Hussey v. Roundtree, 44 N.C. 110—State v. Cook, 34 N.C. 67.

20. Ga.—Mauldin v. Southern Shorthand & Business Univ., 60 S.E. 358, 3 Ga.App. 800.
Wis.—Jones v. Valentines' School of Telegraphy, 99 N.W. 1043, 122 Wis. 318.

21. Conn.—Gregory v. Lee, 30 A. 53, 64 Conn. 407, 25 L.R.A. 618.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 47.

22. Tex.—Peacock Military College v. Hughes, Civ.App., 225 S.W. 221.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 48.

23. Iowa.—Wallin v. Highland Park Co., 102 N.W. 839, 127 Iowa 131, 4 Ann.Cas. 421.

24. Ky.—Sumner v. Hall, 116 S.W. 2d 309, 273 Ky. 138.
Mich.—In re Dzwonkiewicz's Estate, 203 N.W. 671, 231 Mich. 165.
Mo.—O'Donniley v. Kinley, 286 S.W. 140, 220 Mo.App. 284.
R.I.—Quinley v. Desautels, 120 A. 65, 45 R.I. 106.
31 C.J. p 1076 notes 63, 65.

25. Mo.—O'Donniley v. Kinley, 286 S.W. 140, 220 Mo.App. 284.
R.I.—Quinley v. Desautels, 120 A. 65, 45 R.I. 106.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 63.

not be held liable on the express contract but only on an implied contract to pay;[26] and accordingly it has been held that he is not liable on his acceptance of a bill of exchange[27] or on his note[28] or account stated[29] for necessaries. According to other authorities the infant may be held on his express contract for necessaries,[30] at least if the form of the contract is such that the consideration may be inquired into,[31] although, if the amount agreed to be paid is unreasonable, he can reduce the recovery to a just compensation for the necessaries which he has received,[32] and accordingly it has been held that a bond[33] or note[34] given for necessaries is enforceable to the extent that the amount thereof does not exceed the fair value of the necessaries. Following either line of authority, therefore, the practical result is in harmony with the general doctrine that the infant cannot be held liable for more than the reasonable value of the necessaries.

b. What Are Necessaries

(1) In general
(2) Things answering bodily needs
(3) Education
(4) Services of attorney
(5) Miscellaneous

(1) In General

The term "necessaries," while flexible and not limited to any specific group of articles, usually applies to things supplying the infant's actual personal needs, either of his body or mind, excluding, for example, articles to be used merely for business or ornamental purposes; and whether certain articles are necessaries for a particular infant depends on his situation in life and all the surrounding facts and circumstances.

As stated in Corpus Juris, which has been cited and quoted with approval, the term "necessaries," as used in the law relating to the liability of infants therefor, is a relative term,[35] somewhat flexible,[36] except when applied to such things as are obviously requisite for the maintenance of existence;[37] and whether or not particular things are necessaries depends on the social position and situation in life of the infant,[38] as well as on his own fortune[39] and that of his parents.[40] Thus there is no positive or fixed rule by means of which it may be determined what are or what are not necessaries,[41] for what may be considered a necessary for one infant may not be such for another infant whose state is different as to rank, social position, fortune, health, or other circumstances,[42] the question being one to be determined from the particular facts and circumstances of each case.[43] While the term "nec-

26. Wash.—Plummer v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 167 P. 73, 98 Wash. 67, 7 A.L.R. 104.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 53.

27. Ind.—Henderson v. Fox, 5 Ind. 489.

28. Ind.—Ayers v. Burns, 87 Ind. 245, 44 Am.R. 759.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 56.
Infancy as defense to action on negotiable instrument see Bills and Notes § 506 c.

29. N.J.—Fenton v. White, 4 N.J. Law 100.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 57.

30. Tex.—Askey v. Williams, 11 S. W. 1101, 74 Tex. 294, 5 L.R.A. 176.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 58.

31. Ark.—Guthrie v. Morris, 22 Ark. 411.
Mass.—Earle v. Reed, 10 Metc. 387—Stone v. Dennison, 13 Pick. 1, 23 Am.D. 654.

32. Tex.—Askey v. Williams, 11 S. W. 1101, 74 Tex. 294, 5 L.R.A. 176.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 67.

33. Ark.—Cooper v. State, 37 Ark. 421—Guthrie v. Morris, 22 Ark. 411.

34. S.C.—Norwood Nat. Bank v. Allston, 149 S.E. 593, 152 S.C. 199, 65 A.L.R. 1334.
31 C.J. p 1076 note 61.

35. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743, 745, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115—Macfadden v. Macfadden, 17 N.Y.S.2d 118, 119, 173 Misc. 85, quoting Corpus Juris.
Wis.—Schoenung v. Gallet, 238 N.W. 852, 853, 206 Wis 52, 78 A.L.R. 387, quoting Corpus Juris.
Insurance as necessaries see supra § 76 b.
Presumptions and burden of proof as to what are necessaries see infra § 117.
Questions of law and fact as to what are necessaries see infra § 119.

36. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182.
Mass.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N. E. 477, 271 Mass. 302.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743, 745, citing Corpus Juris—Rhodes v. Frazier, App., 204 S.W. 547.

37. N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 87.

38. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182.
Mass.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N. E. 477, 271 Mass. 302.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743, 745, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Macfadden v. Macfadden, 17 N. Y.S.2d 118, 119, 173 Misc. 85, quoting Corpus Juris—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 938, 153 Misc. 673, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 88.

39. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182.
N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115—Macfadden v. Macfadden, 17 N.Y.S.2d 118, 119, 173 Misc. 85, quoting Corpus Juris.

40. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182.
N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115—Macfadden v. Macfadden, 17 N.Y.S.2d 118, 119, 173 Misc. 85, quoting Corpus Juris.

41. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182.
N.Y.—H. L. Braham & Co. v. Zittel, 250 N.Y.S. 44, 232 App.Div. 406.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 99.

42. N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 938, 153 Misc. 673, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 1.

43. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182.
N.Y.—H. L. Braham & Co. v. Zittel, 250 N.Y.S. 44, 232 App.Div. 406—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 938, 153 Misc. 673, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 1.

essaries" is not confined to merely such things as are required for a bare subsistence,[44] nevertheless the need of the infant for the articles furnished must be actual,[45] not for mere ornament or pleasure,[46] and the articles must supply the infant's personal needs, either of his body or of his mind.[47] The articles must be useful and suitable,[48] although they are not necessaries merely because useful or beneficial.[49]

Articles used for business. Articles furnished to an infant to enable him to carry on his business or occupation successfully do not come within the description of the term "necessaries,"[50] even though the infant depends on the income from his business for his sole support.[51] The sale of a liquor saloon to a minor is not necessary or beneficial to him, so as to preclude him from disaffirming the contract, where he is disqualified from obtaining the license required for engaging in the business.[52]

(2) Things Answering Bodily Needs

Things answering the infant's bodily needs and necessary for his maintenance and comfort, such as food, clothing, lodging, and medicines, are necessaries for an infant not already supplied therewith, the precise extent of such articles for which he may obligate himself depending on his situation at the time.

The most usual things which are considered necessaries are those answering the bodily needs of the infant,[53] without which the individual cannot reasonably exist,[54] and which are necessary for his support, use, maintenance, and comfort,[55] such as food[56] and clothing.[57] The extent to which such things are in fact necessary is a relative fact to be governed by the fortune and circumstances of the infant, and his state and condition in life.[58]

Lodging is a necessary for the payment of which an infant may be bound,[59] and it has been held that the infant may render himself liable on the purchase

44. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 98.

45. Ill.—McKanna v. Merry, 61 Ill. 177.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 91.

Articles usually had by children in like condition
The articles furnished must be necessary for the particular infant supplied, and it is not sufficient that they were such as children in like condition in life are usually supplied with.—Rapoport v. Hussey, Mo.App., 267 S.W. 68.

46. Ill.—McKanna v. Merry, 61 Ill. 177.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 92.

47. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743, 745, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 938, 153 Misc. 673, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 95.
Education see infra subdivision b (3) of this section.
Things answering bodily needs see infra subdivision b (2) of this section.

Benefit to infant's father
Fertilizers sold for the benefit of the infant's father are not necessaries for the infant.—Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation v. Chandler, 167 S.E. 663, 168 S.C. 425.

48. N.C.—Turner v. Gaither, 83 N.C. 357, 35 Am.R. 574.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 93.

49. Me.—Nielson v. International Text Book Co., 75 A. 330, 106 Me. 104, 20 Ann.Cas. 591.
Mo.—Rhodes v. Frazier, App., 204 S.W. 547.

50. Me.—Sawyer Boot & Shoe Co. v. Braveman, 136 A. 290, 126 Me. 70—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743, 745, citing Corpus Juris—O'Donniley v. Kinley, 286 S.W. 140, 220 Mo.App. 284.
Wis.—Wallace v. Newdale Furniture Co., 205 N.W. 819, 188 Wis. 205.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 2.

Corpus Juris cited in expressing doubt that fertilizers for an infant engaged in agriculture are necessaries.—Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation v. Chandler, 167 S.E. 663, 665, 168 S.C. 425.

51. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743—O'Donniley v. Kinley, 286 S.W. 140, 220 Mo.App. 284.

52. R.I.—Chabot v. Paulhus, 79 A. 1103, 32 R.I. 471.

53. Mich.—In re Dzwonkiewicz's Estate, 203 N.W. 671, 231 Mich. 165, quoting Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—McDonald v. Cady, 9 Tenn. App. 354, 358, quoting Corpus Juris—Bentley v. Haiman's Ready-to-Wear, 1 Tenn.App. 280.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 44.

54. Mich.—In re Dzwonkiewicz's Estate, 203 N.W. 671, 231 Mich. 165, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 45.

55. Neb.—Cobbey v. Buchanan, 67 N.W. 176, 48 Neb. 391.
31 C.J. p 1079 notes 46, 48.

56. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mo.—O'Donniley v. Kinley, 286 S.W. 140, 220 Mo.App. 284.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 49.

57. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mo.—O'Donniley v. Kinley, 286 S.W. 140, 220 Mo.App. 284.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 51.

Certainty of contract
A contract whereby infant bought dress and wore it nine months was not of such uncertain nature as to benefit or prejudice that she would have the right to avoid it.—Bentley v. Haiman's Ready-to-Wear, 1 Tenn. App. 280.

Guardian's willingness to supply necessities
(1) If guardian is willing to supply minor ward with necessities, ward is not liable for articles of clothing, furnished on ward's order without guardian's approval.—L. P. Hollander Co. v. Porter, 166 N.E. 724, 267 Mass. 378.

(2) Liability generally of infant already supplied see supra subdivision a of this section.

58. Tenn.—Giddens v. D. S. Etheridge Co., Inc., 2 Tenn.App. 324.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 47.

59. Ala.—Ragan v. Williams, 127 So. 190, 220 Ala. 590, 68 A.L.R. 1182.
Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
N.J.—West v. Prest, 119 A. 169, 98 N.J.Law 209.
Tex.—Johnson v. Newberry, Com. App., 267 S.W. 476, reversing Newberry v. Johnson, Civ.App., 248 S. W. 456.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 50.

of a home bought for this purpose,[60] unless he resides with his parent or otherwise has suitable living accommodations at the time of the purchase.[61] Where the parent has the ability and is willing to support his minor child, board, lodging, etc., furnished to such infant by another without the parent's consent are not necessaries for which the infant is liable.[62]

Medicines and medical attendance furnished to an infant when his health or physical condition require them ordinarily constitute necessaries for which he may render himself liable.[63] This liability attaches although the infant lives with his parent, where it appears that the parent is unable to, or at least does not, provide for the infant;[64] but an infant is not liable for medical services rendered to him where he has a parent, or other person charged with the duty of maintaining him, who is not shown to be unwilling or unable to pay therefor,[65] or who has in fact incurred or recognized his liability therefor and paid part of the bill.[66]

(3) Education

Education suitable to the infant's station in life is a necessary for which he may render himself liable on his parent's failure to supply it. As to the extent of the education, it is held that a common school education is a necessary while a college or professional education ordinarily, although not invariably, is not.

Included among things generally considered to be necessaries is a proper education or course of instruction,[67] suitable to the infant's station in life,[68] although what is a proper education for a particular infant depends on circumstances.[69] A common school education is necessary in this country, since it is essential to the transaction of business and the adequate discharge of civil and political duties,[70] while a college,[71] classical,[72] or professional[73] education has been held not to be a necessary for particular infants under the facts, although it has been recognized that circumstances may exist where such higher education might properly be found a necessary as a matter of fact.[74] The fact that a college course would not be extravagant or unreasonable for an infant, considering his parents' means 60. Tex.—Johnson v. Newberry, supra.

Circumstances warranting purchase

Purchase of a home will be enforced as a contract for a necessary where it appears that the best interests of the infant will be subserved by his owning a habitation rather than renting one, that the kind purchased is suitable to his station in life, and that the price agreed is no more than its reasonable value. —Johnson v. Newberry, supra.

61. Mich.—Lawrence v. Baxter, 267 N.W. 742, 275 Mich. 587.
N.Y.—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S. 2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.

62. N.C.—Cole v. Wagner, 150 S.E. 339, 340, 192 N.C. 692, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1077 note 80.

63. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mich.—In re Dzwonkiewicz's Estate, 203 N.W. 671, 231 Mich. 165, quoting Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Foster v. Adcock, 30 S.W.2d 239, 161 Tenn. 217, 70 A.L.R. 569.
Wash.—McAllister v. Saginaw Timber Co., 18 P.2d 41, 43, 171 Wash. 448, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 52.

"Doubtless in some circumstances medical services furnished to a minor upon his own credit may be a necessary, the furnishing of which to him implies an obligation on his part to pay therefor what such services are reasonably worth."—Wiley v. Fuller, 39 N.E.2d 418, 421, 310 Mass. 597.

Hospital bill

N.C.—Cole v. Wagner, 150 S.E. 339, 192 N.C. 692.

Surgical operation

Mich.—Bishop v. Shurly, 211 N.W. 75, 237 Mich. 76.

Minor's modification of contract made by parent

A contract for a necessary surgical operation on a nineteen-year-old minor made by his mother on his behalf can be changed or modified by him at any time thereafter as he sees fit.—Bishop v. Shurly, supra.

64. N.C.—Cole v. Wagner, 150 S.E. 339, 192 N.C. 692.

65. Mich.—Westrate v. Schipper, 279 N.W. 870, 284 Mich. 383.
N.Y.—Potter v. Thomas, 164 N.Y.S. 923.
Tenn.—Foster v. Adcock, 30 S.W.2d 239, 161 Tenn. 217, 70 A.L.R. 569.
Liability generally of infant already supplied see supra subdivision a of this section.

Statute held inapplicable

Recovery for medical services rendered to an infant who was unconscious at the time cannot be had under a statute making an infant liable on an agreement for necessaries sold and delivered to him, since there cannot be an agreement with a person admittedly unconscious.—Westrate v. Schipper, 279 N.W. 870, 284 Mich. 383.

66. Cal.—McManus v. Arnold Taxi Corporation, 255 P. 755, 82 Cal.App. 215.
Tenn.—Foster v. Adcock, 30 S.W.2d 239, 161 Tenn. 217, 70 A.L.R. 569.

67. Ill.—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322, 324, citing Corpus Juris.
Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D. Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115.
Tenn.—McDonald v. Cady, 9 Tenn. App. 354.

68. N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 55.

69. Ill.—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322, 324, citing Corpus Juris.
Mass.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N.E. 477, 271 Mass. 302.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 54.

70. N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 56.

71. Mass.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N.E. 477, 271 Mass. 302.
Vt.—Middlebury College v. Chandler, 16 Vt. 683, 42 Am.D. 537.

72. Va.—Gayle v. Hayes, 79 Va. 542.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 57.

73. N.C.—Turner v. Gaither, 83 N.C. 357, 35 Am.R. 574.
31 C.J. p 1079 note 58.

74. Mass.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N.E. 477, 271 Mass. 302.
N.Y.—International Text Book Co. v. Connelly, 99 N.E. 722, 206 N.Y. 188, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 1115.

and manner of living and his own prospects in life, does not render such education a necessary.[75] A college education, even if needed by a minor, is not a necessary for which he is liable if he has a parent or guardian able and willing to supply it.[76] A course of instruction in aviation[77] and a course of electrical instruction[78] have been held not necessaries under the particular facts.

(4) Services of Attorney

Attorneys' services are necessaries if they were in fact required under the particular circumstances, and usually they are considered necessaries if rendered in a proceeding, civil or criminal, involving the infant personally. Liability of the infant, as in other cases, is limited to the reasonable value of the services.

Whether or not attorney's services are to be considered necessaries depends on whether or not there is a necessity therefor under the particular circumstances.[79] If such necessity exists, the infant is bound,[80] and usually the services of an attorney rendered in a proceeding personal to an infant,[81] whether to enforce or protect the civil or property rights of the infant,[82] or to defend him in a criminal action or prosecution,[83] are considered necessaries for which the infant will be bound under an express or implied promise to pay. On the other hand, if the circumstances are such that there is no necessity for the services, there can be no recovery,[84] and hence in some cases attorney's services in relation to the estate of infants have been held not necessaries.[85] The mere fact that the services of an attorney are beneficial to the infant is not sufficient to classify them as necessaries.[86] Where the legal services are rendered in behalf of the legal guardian, they are not considered necessaries and no recovery can be had therefor against the infant.[87] Following the general rule respecting the amount of recovery against an infant for necessaries supplied to him, considered supra subdivision a of this section, the liability of an infant for attorney's services is limited to a reasonable compensation for the services rendered.[88]

(5) Miscellaneous

In accordance with the rules determining what are necessaries, a great variety of miscellaneous articles or services have been held to be or not to be necessaries for particular infants under the circumstances.

An automobile or other vehicle is not ordinarily regarded as a necessary for an infant.[89] Particularly it is held, in accordance with the general rule that articles used by an infant for business purposes do not constitute necessaries for which he can be held liable, as considered supra subdivision b (1) of this section, that a motor vehicle used by an infant for such purposes is not a necessary.[90] A mo-

75. Mass.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N.E. 477, 271 Mass. 302.

76. Mass.—Moskow v. Marshall, supra.
Necessaries furnished to infants already supplied see supra subdivision a of this section.

77. Mass.—Adamowski v. Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, 15 N.E.2d 467, 300 Mass. 281.

78. Ill.—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322.

79. Ky.—Vanover v. Cline, 39 S.W. 2d 477, 479, 239 Ky. 335, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Fenn v. Hart Dairy Co., 83 S. W.2d 120, 124, 231 Mo.App. 1005, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 62.
Contract for attorney's services generally see supra § 76 g.
Compensation of attorney in action by or against infant see infra § 114.

80. Mo.—Fenn v. Hart Dairy Co., supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—McDonald v. Cady, 9 Tenn. App. 354.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 63.

81. Cal.—Leonard v. Alexander, 122 P.2d 984, 986, 50 Cal.App.2d 385, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 300 Ill.App. 582.
Tex.—El Paso & S. W. Co. v. Hudspeth, Wallace & Harper, Civ.App., 255 S.W. 772.
6 C.J. p 748 note 11.

82. Mo.—Fenn v. Hart Dairy Co., 83 S.W.2d 120, 124, 231 Mo.App. 1005, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 64.

83. Mo.—Fenn v. Hart Dairy Co., supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 65.

84. Miss.—Epperson v. Nugent, 57 Miss. 45, 34 Am.R. 434.
Mo.—Fenn v. Hart Dairy Co., 83 S. W.2d 120, 124, 231 Mo.App. 1005, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 66.

85. Okl.—Watts v. Houston, 165 P. 128, 65 Okl. 151.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 68, p 1079 note 61 [a].

86. Mo.—Fenn v. Hart Dairy Co., 83 S.W.2d 120, 231 Mo.App. 1005.

87. Neb.—Englebert v. Troxell, 58 N.W. 852, 40 Neb. 195, 42 Am.S.R. 665, 26 L.R.A. 177.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 67.

88. Iowa.—Hickman v. McDonald, 145 N.W. 322, 164 Iowa 50.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 70.

89. Ariz.—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A.L.R. 1363.
Ark.—Crockett Motor Co. v. Thompson, 6 S.W.2d 834, 177 Ark. 495—Commercial Credit Co. v. Blanks Motor Co., 294 S.W. 999, 174 Ark. 274—Arkansas Reo Motor Car Co. v. Goodlett, 258 S.W. 975, 163 Ark. 35.
Iowa.—Perry Auto Co. v. Mainland, 294 N.W. 281, 229 Iowa 187.
N.Y.—H. L. Braham & Co. v. Zittel, 250 N.Y.S. 44, 232 App.Div. 406.
Tenn.—McDonald v. Cady, 9 Tenn. App. 354.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 40.
Bicycle
Mass.—Pyne v. Wood, 14 N.E. 775, 145 Mass. 558.
N.Y.—Rice v. Butler, 49 N.Y.S. 494, 25 App.Div. 388, reversed on other grounds 55 N.E. 275, 160 N.Y. 578, 73 Am.S.R. 703, 47 L.R.A. 303.
Buggy
Ga.—Howard v. Simpkins, 70 Ga. 322.
Tex.—Heffington v. Jackson, 96 S.W. 108, 43 Tex.Civ.App. 560.
Truck bought for another
A minor cannot be held liable for the price of a truck on the theory that it was a necessity for him, where it appears that the truck was not bought for himself or for his individual use, but rather for his brother.—Maddox v. Hamp Williams Hardware Co., 26 S.W.2d 85, 181 Ark. 403.

90. Me.—Utterstrom v. Myron D.

tor vehicle does not become a necessary merely because the infant can conveniently use it for transportation to and from work, especially if it appears that his place of employment is not too far removed from his home or that there are other means of transportation available.[91]

Horse. Ordinarily a horse is not a necessary for which the infant can be held liable.[92] Nevertheless, it has been recognized that circumstances may exist where a horse would be a necessary.[93]

Maintenance or improvement of realty; taxes. Labor and material expended in erecting a building on the land of an infant,[94] or in repairing[95] or improving[96] an infant's realty, have been held not necessaries for which he was bound by contract to pay, even though, in the case of repairs, they were required to prevent immediate and serious injury to a building.[97] A contract for the employment of a janitor, for a building owned by an infant, is not a contract for necessaries.[98] On the other hand, the payment of taxes on the property of an infant constituting his homestead has been held to be a necessary.[99]

A bridal or wedding outfit has been held to constitute a necessary.[1] However, furniture purchased by an infant in contemplation of marriage does not constitute a necessary, at least as of the time of the sale, where his engagement is broken off and the marriage never takes place.[2]

Other articles or services in addition to those already mentioned have been held to constitute necessaries.[3] On the other hand the following have been held to be not necessaries: Chronometers;[4] cologne;[5] cravats;[6] fiddle and fiddle strings;[7] kid gloves;[8] liquor;[9] pistols and powder;[10] saddles, harness, and the like;[11] and other particular articles.[12]

c. Loans and Encumbrances for Necessaries

A loan is not a necessary unless given for the express purpose of paying for necessaries; but if given for such purpose it does not cease to be a necessary because diverted from that purpose. Some authorities hold an infant's encumbrance of his property for necessaries valid, while others hold such encumbrance voidable.

It is a general rule that a loan of money is not a necessary,[13] although the infant afterward purchases necessaries with it;[14] but in some cases relief has been allowed in equity.[15] It has been held that money furnished to an infant for the express purpose of purchasing necessaries may be recovered as for necessaries furnished;[16] and if the money is furnished for such purpose it is not in every instance incumbent on the obligee to see that the money is actually spent by the infant for that purpose and no other,[17] the extent of precaution to be

Kidder, Inc., 124 A. 725, 124 Me. 10.
Mo.—Freiburghaus v. Herman Body Co., App., 102 S.W.2d 743.

Vehicle advantageous but unnecessary

An automobile is not a necessary where, although it appears that it would be advantageous to the minor and that he would not have been promoted in his work without it, it does not appear that the automobile is necessary for him to earn a livelihood.—Barger v. M. & J. Finance Corporation, 18 S.E.2d 826, 221 N.C. 64.

91. Iowa.—Perry Auto Co. v. Mainland, 294 N.W. 281, 229 Iowa 187.
Tenn.—Giddens v. D. S. Etheridge Co., Inc., 2 Tenn.App. 324.
Wis.—Schoenung v. Gallet, 238 N.W. 852, 206 Wis. 52, 78 A.L.R. 357.

92. Mo.—O'Donnilley v. Kinley, 286 S.W. 140, 220 Mo.App. 284.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 34.

93. Vt.—Thrall v. Wright, 38 Vt. 494.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 16.

94. N.Y.—Allen v. Lardner, 29 N.Y.S. 213, 78 Hun 603.

95. Wis.—Covault v. Nevitt, 146 N.W. 1115, 157 Wis. 113, 51 L.R.A., N.S., 1092, Ann.Cas.1916A 959.
31 C.J. p 1078 notes 6, 9.

96. Ky.—Wornack v. Loar, 11 S.W. 438, 11 Ky.L. 6.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 7.

97. R.I.—Phillips v. Lloyd, 25 A. 909, 18 R.I. 99.

98. Wis.—Covault v. Nevitt, 146 N.W. 1115, 157 Wis. 113, 51 L.R.A.,N.S., 1092, Ann.Cas.1916A 959.

99. Mo.—Horstmeyer v. Connors, 56 Mo.App. 115.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 11.

1. Ky.—Sams v. Stockton, 14 B.Mon. 232.
N.C.—Jordan v. Coffield, 70 N.C. 110.

2. N.Y.—Wilkinson v. Fleishman, 263 N.Y.S. 18, 238 App.Div. 858.

3. Mourning apparel
Ky.—De Moss v. Giltner, 5 Ky.L. 691.

Telegram

A contract between an infant and a telegraph company for the transmission of a message by the infant to his parents requesting money, the infant being practically destitute and without work, would be a contract for necessaries.—Western Union Tel. Co. v. Greer, 89 S.W. 327, 115 Tenn. 368, 1 L.R.A.,N.S., 525.

4. Ill.—McKanna v. Merry, 61 Ill. 177.
31 C.J. p 1078 note 25.

5. Ark.—Lefils v. Sugg, 15 Ark. 137.

6. Ark.—Lefils v. Sugg, supra.

7. S.C.—Glover v. Ott, 12 S.C.L. 572.

8. Ark.—Lefils v. Sugg, 15 Ark. 137.

9. Ill.—McKanna v. Merry, 61 Ill. 177.
S.C.—Glover v. Ott, 12 S.C.L. 572.

10. Ill.—McKanna v. Merry, 61 Ill. 177.
S.C.—Glover v. Ott, 12 S.C.L. 572.

11. Ill.—McKanna v. Merry, 61 Ill. 177.
Ky.—Beeler v. Young, 1 Bibb 519.
S.C.—Glover v. Ott, 12 S.C.L. 572.

12. Walking canes
Ark.—Lefils v. Sugg, 15 Ark. 137.

13. Me.—Kilgore v. Rich, 22 A. 176, 83 Me. 305, 23 Am.S.R. 780, 12 L.R.A. 859.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 72.
Loans and advances generally see infra § 84.

14. Me.—Kilgore v. Rich, supra.

15. Ind.—Price v. Sanders, 60 Ind. 310.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 74.

16. S.C.—Norwood Nat. Bank v. Allston, 149 S.E. 593, 152 S.C. 199, 65 A.L.R. 1334.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 75.
Note for necessaries see supra subdivision a of this section.

17. S.C.—Norwood Nat. Bank v. Allston, supra.

exercised by the obligee depending on whether the infant has reached an age when discretion is presumed.[18]

An infant is liable to a person who at his request pays a bill already contracted by the infant for necessaries, or advances him the money with which to pay it.[19] Such liability is subject to the condition that the debt so paid must in fact have been for a necessary,[20] and is not measured by the actual amount paid, but is limited, irrespective of the contract price, to such sum as would be a reasonable compensation for the necessaries furnished.[21]

Encumbrance for necessaries. It is held by some authorities that an infant may bind and encumber his estate for the value of necessaries furnished to him.[22] By others, however, it is held that a mortgage, although it was executed to secure payment for necessaries, is voidable.[23] An infant's mortgage cannot be upheld as being for necessaries furnished to him if the articles supplied did not in fact constitute necessaries.[24]

§ 79. Bills, Notes, and Checks

a. In general
b. Indorsements
c. Time, mode, and effect of disaffirmance

a. In General

An infant is not bound on a bill, note, or check given by him, at least if not given in a transaction, such as for necessaries, in which he can bind himself generally. However, such an instrument is not, according to the weight of authority, void, but is voidable only, at his election, and is subject to ratification by him.

As a general rule the bill, promissory note, or check of an infant is not binding on him,[25] at least if not given for necessaries,[26] and this rule applies whether or not the instrument is negotiable,[27] and even as against a holder in due course.[28] It is stated in some cases that such an instrument is void,[29] but the great weight of authority holds that such an instrument is voidable,[30] and that such an in-

18. S.C.—Norwood Nat. Bank v. Allston, supra.

Twenty-year-old minor receiving money for necessaries could not avoid liability on the ground that he spent money for other purposes. —Norwood Nat. Bank v. Allston, supra.

19. N.Y.—In re Boulware's Will, 258 N.Y.S. 522, 144 Misc. 235.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 76.

20. Or.—Burton v. Anthony, 79 P. 185, 46 Or. 47, 114 Am.S.R. 847, 68 L.R.A. 826.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 78.

21. Me.—Kilgore v. Rich, 22 A. 176, 83 Me. 305, 23 Am.S.R. 780, 12 L.R.A. 859.
Mass.—Swift v. Bennett, 10 Cush. 436.
Amount of recovery generally see supra subdivision a of this section.

22. Ark.—Walker v. Goodlett, 144 S.W. 189, 102 Ark. 383—Cooper v. State, 37 Ark. 421.

23. Tex.—Askey v. Williams, 11 S.W. 1101, 74 Tex. 294, 5 L.R.A. 176.

24. S.C.—Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation v. Chandler, 167 S.E. 663, 168 S.C. 425.

25. Ark.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Blanks Motor Co., 294 S.W. 999, 174 Ark. 274.
Mo.—Swoboda v. Nowak, 255 S.W. 1079, 1082, 213 Mo.App. 452, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Burgunder v. Jackson, 1 Lack. Leg.N. 386.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 32.
Deposits in bank see supra § 34.
Note for insurance premium see supra § 76 b.

Result advantageous to infant
An unemancipated minor is not bound on a note entered into as part of a contract which does not result advantageously to him.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Pool, 2 La.App. 525.

Check given under joint contract of infant and another
Where an infant bought property, signing a contract which his father also signed, and gave a check in part payment, the fact that the bank account was overdrawn and that the father deposited enough to cover the overdraft did not prevent the infant from rescinding the purchase and recovering the amount of the check, as against the contention that the deposit by the father resulted in legal effect in payment by the father to the seller of the father's own debt.—Rhyne v. Miller, 97 So. 758, 133 Miss. 463.

Statutory permission for infants' bank transactions
The statute providing that an infant may deposit and withdraw funds as though he were an adult and that as between the infant and the bank the infant should be subject to all obligations, equities, and defenses to which an adult would be subject in similar transactions has no application where an infant sues to recover payment by check of an extraneous obligation sought to be avoided on ground of infancy.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J.Misc. 455.

26. Ala.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Ward & Son Auto Co., 109 So. 574, 215 Ala. 84, reversing 109 So. 576, 21 Ala.App. 515.
D.C.—Interstate Bankers Corporation v. Larsen, Mun.App., 32 A.2d 103.
Ind.—McKee v. Harwood Automotive Co., 183 N.E. 646, 204 Ind. 233.
Miss.—Williams v. Pool, 110 So. 224, 144 Miss. 459.
N.J.—Majaika v. Jamison, 180 A. 402, 115 N.J.Law 358.
N.Y.—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S. 2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
S.C.—Norwood Nat. Bank v. Allston, 149 S.E. 593, 152 S.C. 199, 65 A.L.R. 1334.
Notes given for necessaries see supra § 78.

27. Ill.—Wright v. Buchanan, 123 N.E. 53, 287 Ill. 468.

28. Ky.—Universal Credit Co. v. Hibbard, 117 S.W.2d 583, 273 Ky. 597.
Infancy as defense to action on negotiable instrument see Bills and Notes § 506 c.

29. Ark.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Blanks Motor Co., 294 S.W. 999, 174 Ark. 274.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 32.

30. Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278—Mourant v. Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, 41 N.E.2d 1007, 314 Ill.App. 567.
Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S.W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.
Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.
N.J.—Majaika v. Jamison, 180 A. 402, 115 N.J.Law 358.
Ohio.—McKenzie v. Tellis, App., 47 N.E.2d 253.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 33.

"Valid" until repudiated
A note of an infant, until repudi-

strument is not void.[31] The instrument is voidable at the election of the infant,[32] the right to avoid being a privilege personal to the infant or his legal representative,[33] and such instrument may be validated ab initio by ratification after the infant attains majority.[34]

Recitals in a note given by an infant as to the consideration or property for which the note was given are not binding on him.[35]

The joint note of an infant and an adult is binding on the adult[36] but not on the infant.[37] However, where an infant disaffirms his purchase of property, and returns the property, the sureties on a note given by him for the purchase money have been held no longer liable, on the ground that the seller cannot have the property and at the same time recover the purchase money from the sureties.[38]

Note in settlement of tort. Although it has been held that a note of an infant given on a settlement of damages arising from his torts is voidable,[39] it has also been held that, as an infant ordinarily is liable for his torts, as discussed infra § 87, he is liable on his note given in settlement of a tort to the same extent as he would have been liable on the original cause of action, as long as the consideration of the note is open to inquiry.[40]

b. Indorsements

An infant's indorsement of a note, although voidable by him or his representative, passes title as between the indorsee and the maker enabling the indorsee to sue on the note.

While an infant can disaffirm his indorsement of a note,[41] such indorsement is voidable only by himself or his representatives;[42] the indorsement passes the title as between the indorsee and the maker, entitling the former to sue the latter on the note,[43] the infancy of the payee, for example, being no defense to the maker.[44]

c. Time, Mode, and Effect of Disaffirmance

In the absence of statute providing otherwise, an infant may disaffirm his note during minority or within a reasonable time after majority, and the disaffirmance need not be in any particular form. On disaffirmance an infant's note or indorsement becomes annulled ab initio as to him.

Time. An infant may avoid his promissory note during infancy;[45] and he may[46] and must[47] dis-ated by him, is "valid."—Commercial Credit Co. v. Ward & Son Auto Co., 109 So. 576, 21 Ala.App. 515, reversed on other grounds 109 So. 574, 215 Ala. 34.

31. Ala.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Ward & Son Auto Co., supra.
Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S.W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.
Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.
Ohio.—McKenzie v. Tellis, App., 47 N.E.2d 253.

32. Ky.—Universal Credit Co. v. Hibbard, 117 S.W.2d 583, 273 Ky. 597.
31 C.J. p 1082 note 33.

33. Ind.—Garner v. Cook, 30 Ind. 331.
31 C.J. p 1083 note 39.

34. Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.
N.J.—Majaika v. Jamison, 180 A. 402, 115 N.J.Law 358.
31 C.J. p 1083 note 46.
Ratification of contracts generally see supra § 74.

Silence as ratification
The mere fact that the infant remained silent and failed to disaffirm his note after reaching majority has been held not to constitute a ratification of the note so as to render him liable thereon.—Majaika v. Jamison, supra.

Payments after majority
Payment of three small installments on a note after majority was held not to constitute ratification, there being no intent to ratify or any benefit obtained by the maker in consequence of the payments.—International Accountants' Society v. Santana, 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276, affirming 7 La.App. 594.

Infant's acts during minority will not constitute ratification of infant's obligation on a note made for the benefit of another and application of a bank deposit in payment thereof.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J.Misc. 455.

35. Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 64 Utah 364.

36. Ky.—Gray v. Grimm, 163 S.W. 762, 157 Ky. 603.
Pa.—Walters v. Markey, 13 Lanc.Bar 131.
Contracts jointly with adult see supra § 76 g.

37. Or.—Baer v. Ballingall, 61 P. 852, 37 Or. 416.
31 C.J. p 1083 note 44.

38. Mo.—Baker v. Kennett, 54 Mo. 82.

39. Me.—Shaw v. Coffin, 58 Me. 254, 4 Am.R. 290.

40. Mo.—Swoboda v. Nowak, 255 S.W. 1079, 1082, 213 Mo.App. 452, citing Corpus Juris.
Vt.—Ray v. Tubbs, 50 Vt. 688, 28 Am.R. 519.

41. Va.—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.
31 C.J. p 1083 note 40 [b].

Rule unaffected by negotiable instruments law
The infant's right to disaffirm his indorsement is not affected by the provision of the negotiable instruments law under which the indorsement or assignment of a note by an infant passes title and enables the indorsee to recover against the maker; the provision merely makes the incapacity of the minor unavailing to prior parties.
Tenn.—Murray v. Thompson, 188 S.W. 578, 136 Tenn. 118, L.R.A.1917B 1172.
Va.—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.

42. Me.—Hardy v. Waters, 38 Me. 450.
Tenn.—Murray v. Thompson, 188 S.W. 578, 136 Tenn. 118, L.R.A.1917B 1172.

43. Va.—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.
31 C.J. p 1083 note 42.

44. Ind.—Garner v. Cook, 30 Ind. 331.

45. Mass.—Hoyt v. Wilkinson, 10 Pick. 31.

46. Ill.—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278.

47. Ill.—Mourant v. Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, 41 N.E.2d 1007, 314 Ill.App. 567.
Tex.—Kinnebrew v. McAfee, Civ.App., 272 S.W. 242.

affirm within a reasonable time after attaining majority. Where the time within which the infant must repudiate or disaffirm is prescribed by statute, the repudiation or disaffirmance may[48] and must[49] take place within the time so prescribed.

Mode. Disaffirmance of an infant's note need not be in any particular form.[50] An answer, in an action on the note, filed by the infant's attorney as guardian ad litem disaffirming the note on the ground of infancy has been held a sufficient disaffirmance.[51] It has been said to be the general rule that mere silence is not taken as indicative either for or against the infant on the question of disaffirmance.[52]

Effect. When the note of an infant is disaffirmed the instrument as to him becomes rescinded and annulled ab initio.[53] On disaffirming a note given by him for property purchased, the infant can, subject to the rules respecting the return of any property or consideration received by him, discussed supra § 46, recover the amount already paid thereon as well as avoid liability for the balance.[54]

On disaffirming his indorsement of a note the infant may cause title to the note to revest in him and may compel redelivery of the note to him.[55]

§ 80. Compromises and Settlements

A compromise or settlement by an infant or a person not authorized to act for him is voidable by the infant, although subject to ratification by him after majority. He need not as a condition precedent to disaffirmance restore the consideration, unless he is able to do so or still has the consideration when he reaches majority; but amounts which he has received will be credited against any ultimate recovery by him.

A compromise or settlement of a claim in favor of or against an infant entered into by the infant[56] or a person not authorized to act for him[57] is not binding on the infant, although such a settlement is not entirely void,[58] but is voidable only.[59] Such an agreement can be ratified by the infant after coming of age,[60] and must be disaffirmed by him within

Delay held reasonable

Disaffirmance within four months after reaching majority, and again within six months after majority, has been held made within a reasonable time.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 64 Utah 364.

Delay held unreasonable

Where the maker of a note, for ten years after attaining majority, remained mute as to disaffirmance of a note executed by him when he was nineteen years old, he was held not entitled to disaffirm; and the question whether plaintiff had knowledge of the maker's infancy at the time the note was executed was held immaterial.—McKenzie v. Tellis, Ohio App., 47 N.E.2d 253.

48. Two years after majority

Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S.W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.

49. Two years after majority

Ill.—Mourant v. Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, 41 N.E.2d 1007, 314 Ill.App. 567.

50. Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 64 Utah 364.

51. Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, supra.

52. Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, supra.

53. Mo.—Hamlin v. Hawkins, 61 S.W.2d 348, 332 Mo. 1098.

Release of surety

Where infant never received stock for which he subscribed and gave notes, on his disaffirmance of contract there remained no consideration for notes and both infant and surety on notes were released.—Lagerquist v. Bankers' Bond & Mortgage Guaranty Co., 205 N.W. 977, 201 Iowa 430, 43 A.L.R. 585.

54. Ky.—Universal Credit Co. v. Hibbard, 117 S.W.2d 583, 273 Ky. 597.

Tex.—McKnight Chevrolet Co. v. Strahan, Civ.App., 11 S.W.2d 259.

Utah.—Merchants' Credit Bureau v. Kaoru Akiyama, 230 P. 1017, 64 Utah 364.

Sufficient tender

In action against infant on note given for price of phonograph, in which infant filed cross action for amount paid thereon, infant by statement in plea that he "repudiates said transaction, and tenders back said phonograph," and by statement in open court under oath that "the phonograph is at my room," and that plaintiff "can get it when he wants it," made a sufficient tender, if such tender is necessary, although there was no showing that tender was continuing or that phonograph was produced in court, or was ready to be so produced.—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S.E. 793, 33 Ga.App. 784.

55. Va.—Strother v. Lynchburg Trust & Savings Bank, 156 S.E. 426, 155 Va. 826, 73 A.L.R. 166.

56. Ky.—Newport News & M. V. Co. v. Glenn, 11 Ky.L. 579.

Minn.—Gendreau v. North American Life & Casualty Co., 197 N.W. 257, 158 Minn. 259.

Mo.—Ebert v. A. J. Kasper Co., 71 S.W.2d 859, 228 Mo.App. 589.

N.J.—Reggiori v. Forbes, 26 A.2d 145, 128 N.J.Law 391.

31 C.J. p 1083 note 59.

Releases see supra § 76 c.

Incapacity of parties as:

Affecting accord and satisfaction see Accord and Satisfaction § 11.

Ground for setting aside compromise see Compromise and Settlement § 32.

Showing as to liability and reasonableness of amount

An infant cannot be held liable on an agreement to pay damages resulting from his alleged tort where there is nothing to show that he was liable for the injuries caused or that the amount agreed to be paid was reasonable.—Quinley v. Desautels, 120 A. 65, 45 R.I. 106.

57. Ariz.—Pacheco v. Delgardo, 52 P.2d 479, 46 Ariz. 401, 103 A.L.R. 494.

Me.—Harding v. Skolfield, 134 A. 567, 125 Me. 438.

31 C.J. p 1084 note 62.

Compromise or settlement by:

General guardian see Guardian and Ward § 70.

Guardian ad litem or next friend see infra § 111.

58. S.C.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.

31 C.J. p 1084 note 61.

Validity as to others than infant

The validity of a settlement agreement cannot be attacked on the ground of infancy of some of the parties where such parties themselves do not complain.—Smith v. Williams, supra.

59. Ga.—Tharpe v. Cudahy Packing Co., 4 S.E.2d 49, 60 Ga.App. 449.

31 C.J. p 1083 note 60.

Family agreement settling estate, entered into by infant, is voidable only.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S.E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.

60. Pa.—Campbell v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 161 A. 310, 307 Pa. 365.

a reasonable time after attaining majority.[61] The institution or maintenance by the infant of a suit against the other party to a contract of settlement, to recover damages sustained by the infant, amounts to a disaffirmance of the contract by the infant.[62] If the agreement is based on a consideration of all parties thereto jointly, on its avoidance by the infant the adult parties to the agreement are released therefrom.[63]

Restoration of amount received or paid. On disaffirming a compromise or settlement the infant need not return or tender the amount paid on the compromise,[64] unless he is able to make restitution,[65] although the amount received will be credited against any ultimate recovery by the infant and thus reduce his claim pro tanto;[66] but such return or tender has been held necessary where the entire sum was paid to him, or remained in his hands, after he attained majority.[67] Where the consideration has been paid not to the infant, but to a third person, the infant is under no obligation to make a tender in order to disaffirm.[68]

An infant who repudiates a settlement under which he has agreed to pay certain sums in installments may by his conduct be estopped to recover installments which he has already paid under the settlement.[69]

§ 81. Engaging in Business

At common law the fact that an infant engages in business does not avoid application of the rule that his contracts are voidable; but by statute in some jurisdictions an infant is, with certain qualifications, liable on contracts connected with a business in which he is engaged.

At common law, and in the absence of statute providing otherwise, the fact that an infant undertakes to trade or engages in business for himself does not of itself cure the incapacity to contract resulting from his infancy, and his trading contracts may be avoided by him,[70] although such contracts, like other contracts, are not void[71] but merely voidable.[72]

By force of statute in some jurisdictions an infant who engages in business may render himself liable on contract, the scope of his liability varying according to the terms of the different statutes.[73] Under some statutes an infant cannot disaffirm a contract where, from his having engaged in business as an adult, the other party had good reasons to believe the infant capable of contracting.[74] Under other statutes an infant who, by permission of his parent or guardian, or by permission of the law, practices a profession or trade or engages in business as an adult is bound by all contracts connected with the occupation in which he is engaged,[75] although liability of the infant is limited to contracts connected with the profession, trade, or business in which he is engaged.[76]

To be engaged in business within the meaning of these statutes the infant must have a regular em-

61. S.C.—Smith v. Williams, 139 S. E. 625, 141 S.C. 265, 54 A.L.R. 964.

62. Ga.—Tharpe v. Cudahy Packing Co., 4 S.E.2d 49, 60 Ga.App. 449.

63. Pa.—Patchell's Estate, 23 Pa. Dist. 1104.

64. Ga.—Tharpe v. Cudahy Packing Co., 4 S.E.2d 49, 60 Ga.App. 449.
S.C.—Simpson v. Doggett, 156 S.E. 771, 159 S.C. 294.
Va.—Clinchfield Coal Corp. v. Couch, 104 S.E. 802, 127 Va. 634, 13 A.L.R. 398.
Return of consideration generally see supra § 75.

65. Ga.—Tharpe v. Cudahy Packing Co., 4 S.E.2d 49, 60 Ga.App. 449.
Tenn.—Lane v. Dayton Coal, etc., Co., 48 S.W. 1094, 101 Tenn. 581.

66. Ky.—Newport News & M. V. Co. v. Glenn, 11 Ky.L. 579.
Va.—Clinchfield Coal Corp. v. Couch, 104 S.E. 802, 127 Va. 634, 13 A.L.R. 398.
31 C.J. p 1084 note 68 [a].

67. N.Y.—Lefler v. Oelrichs, 160 N. Y.S. 119, 173 App.Div. 759.
Tenn.—Glover v. Louisville & N. R. Co., 40 S.W.2d 1031, 163 Tenn. 85.

68. Tenn.—Turney v. Mobile & O. R. Co., 156 S.W. 1085, 127 Tenn. 673.

69. N.J.—Reggiori v. Forbes, 26 A. 2d 145, 128 N.J.Law 391.

Estoppel held shown

Where a nineteen-year-old infant was sued for damages caused in an automobile accident, entered into a settlement agreement requiring him to pay certain sums, complied with the agreement until majority thereby leading the other party to believe that a valid agreement had been made and thus procuring a suspension of action for over two years until the case could no longer be restored to the calendar, he was held estopped to recover the sums which he had paid under the agreement.—Reggiori v. Forbes, supra.

70. U.S.—Ex parte Chan Hai, D.C. Wash., 11 F.2d 667, affirmed, C.C.A., Chan Hai v. Weedin, 15 F.2d 296.
Wis.—Wallace v. Newdale Furniture Co., 205 N.W. 819, 820, 188 Wis. 205, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1084 notes 71, 73.
Infant employee's agreement not to engage in competing business see infra § 85.

71. N.Y.—Stern v. Meikleham, 10 N. Y.S. 216, 56 Hun 475.

72. N.C.—Skinner v. Maxwell, 66 N. C. 45.
31 C.J. p 1084 note 76.

73. Ga.—Southern Cotton Oil Co. v. Dukes, 49 S.E. 788, 121 Ga. 787.
Iowa.—Friar v. Rae-Chandler Co., 185 N.W. 32, 192 Iowa 427.
Kan.—McClure Motor Co. v. Irwin, 21 P.2d 403, 137 Kan. 528, modified on other grounds 23 P.2d 470, 138 Kan. 35.
Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 173 Wash. 86.
31 C.J. p 1084 note 77.

74. Iowa.—Kuehl v. Means, 218 N. W. 907, 206 Iowa 539, 58 A.L.R. 1359.
Kan.—McClure Motor Co. v. Irwin, 21 P.2d 403, 137 Kan. 528, modified on other grounds 23 P.2d 470, 138 Kan. 35.
Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 173 Wash. 86.

75. Ga.—Southern Cotton Oil Co. v. Dukes, 49 S.E. 788, 121 Ga. 787—Gibson v. Kyle, 167 S.E. 547, 46 Ga.App. 295.
31 C.J. p 1084 note 77.

76. Ga.—Pearson v. White, 78 S.E. 864, 13 Ga.App. 117—James v. Sasser, 60 S.E. 329, 3 Ga.App. 568.

ployment or occupation in which he is engaged as a means of livelihood or profit,[77] and a single transaction by an infant does not constitute him as one engaged in a business.[78] The infant must be carrying on a business of his own and not be engaged in business as a mere employee,[79] and under some statutes, in order to render the infant liable, he must have procured a license to engage in the business.[80]

Where the statute requires that the person contracting with the infant must have good reason to believe the infant capable of contracting, the fact that an infant has engaged in business as an adult does not, of itself, necessarily make his contracts binding and not subject to disaffirmance,[81] and such a statute will not prevent disaffirmance as against a person contracting with the infant who knew that the infant was not of age at the time the contract was made.[82] Where, under the statute, permission of the parent is required, such permission is not established by the mere fact that the infant works and collects the proceeds of his labor,[83] although knowledge of the parent that the infant was receiving the proceeds of his own labor may authorize an inference that permission had been granted the infant to engage in the occupation and receive for his own use the proceeds of his labor.[84]

§ 82. —— Partnership

An infant's agreement of partnership is voidable at his election, but may become binding by his ratification thereof after majority. By disaffirming he may avoid personal liability for partnership debts, although such debts can still be satisfied out of the infant's interest in the partnership assets. There is some conflict of authority as to whether an infant seeking a return of money paid into the partnership must show that he was induced to become a partner by fraud.

An infant may become a partner with an adult or competent person,[85] but as in the case of infants' contracts generally, considered supra § 71, the partnership agreement is voidable at the election of the infant,[86] although it is not entirely void,[87] and is binding on the adult partner.[88] A partnership agreement made during infancy may become binding on the infant by his ratification thereof after attaining majority; and such ratification may be implied from his conduct.[89] During the time he remains a partner, and before disaffirmance by him of the partnership agreement, the infant has the rights and powers of a partner equally with his adult copartner,[90] and his acts bind the firm.[91]

It is generally held that the infant may avoid personal or individual liability for partnership debts or contracts,[92] unless he has duly ratified the transaction,[93] although unless and until he elects to set up his personal plea of infancy he is responsible for all partnership engagements,[94] and if he ratifies the

77. Iowa.—Beickler v. Guenther, 96 N.W. 895, 121 Iowa 419.

78. Ga.—White v. Sikes, 59 S.E. 228, 129 Ga. 508, 121 Am.S.R. 228.

79. Iowa.—Beickler v. Guenther, 96 N.W. 895, 121 Iowa 419.
31 C.J. p 1084 note 79.

80. Md.—Crew Levick Co. v. Hull, 93 A. 208, 125 Md. 6.

81. Iowa.—Beller v. Marchant, 30 Iowa 350.
Kan.—McClure Motor Co. v. Irwin, 21 P.2d 403, 137 Kan. 528, modified on other grounds 23 P.2d 470, 138 Kan. 35.

82. Kan.—McClure Motor Co. v. Irwin, supra.
Wash.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P.2d 1036, 173 Wash. 86.
31 C.J. p 1084 note 77 [a].

83. Ga.—Southern Cotton Oil Co. v. Dukes, 49 S.E. 788, 121 Ga. 787.

84. Ga.—Southern Cotton Oil Co. v. Dukes, supra.

85. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313, 316, citing Corpus Juris—Ex parte Chan Hai, D.C.Wash., 11 F.2d 667, affirmed, C.C.A., Chan Hai v. Weedin, 15 F.2d 296.
31 C.J. p 1084 note 86.

86. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313, 316, citing Corpus Juris—Ex parte Chan Hai, D.C.Wash., 11 F.2d 667, affirmed, C.C.A., Chan Hai v. Weedin, 15 F.2d 296.
Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.
Pa.—Bradley v. Cool, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 404.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 88.
Infant's agreement to sell his partnership interest see supra § 56.

87. Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 89.

Valid until disaffirmed

A partnership agreement with an infant is valid until disaffirmed by the infant, and prior to such disaffirmance the partnership is a legal entity capable of entering into a contract.—Kuehl v. Means, 218 N.W. 907, 206 Iowa 539, 58 A.L.R. 1359.

88. Md.—Latrobe v. Dietrich, 78 A. 983, 114 Md. 8.
N.Y.—Avery v. Fisher, 28 Hun 508.

89. S.C.—Miller v. Sims, 20 S.C.L. 479.

90. Md.—Latrobe v. Dietrich, 78 A. 983, 114 Md. 8—Bush v. Linthicum., 59 Md. 344.

91. N.Y.—Avery v. Fisher, 28 Hun 508.

92. Iowa.—Kuehl v. Means, 218 N. W. 907, 206 Iowa 539, 58 A.L.R. 1359.
Mass.—Godfrey v. Mutual Finance Corp., 136 N.E. 178, 242 Mass. 197—Pelletier v. Couture, 19 N.E. 400, 148 Mass. 269, 1 L.R.A. 863.
Wis.—Olson v. Veum, 222 N.W. 233, 197 Wis. 342.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 3.
"As a general rule he may, before he becomes of age, or within a reasonable time thereafter, avoid liability for partnership debts by disaffirming past transactions."—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 214, 48 Nev. 319.

Disaffirmance of partnership unnecessary

He may, as far as concerns his personal liability, disaffirm a contract made by his firm without disaffirming the contract of partnership. —Mehlhop v. Rae, 57 N.W. 650, 90 Iowa 30.

93. Md.—Crew Levick Co. v. Hull, 93 A. 208, 125 Md. 6.
Mass.—Whitney v. Dutch, 14 Mass. 457, 7 Am.D. 229.

94. N.Y.—Continental Nat. Bank v. Strauss, 32 N.E. 1066, 137 N.Y. 148.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 6.

partnership agreement after coming of age he subjects himself to all the liabilities of the firm incurred during his minority and while he was a member of the firm.[95] The interest of an infant partner in the partnership assets is liable for firm debts,[96] notwithstanding his disaffirmance of the contract of partnership on attaining majority.[97] Infancy of a partner does not permit the partnership to repudiate agreements made between it and a third person, or transactions of the competent partners with respect to firm property;[98] the fact that one of the partners is an infant does not release his adult copartner or copartners from liability.[99]

Recovery of consideration. It has been held, that where an infant has paid money in consideration of being admitted as a partner in a business and he has become a partner and remained so for a certain time, he cannot recover back the money thus paid[1] unless he was induced to enter into the partnership by fraudulent representations;[2] but it has also been held that an infant who purchases a partnership interest in a losing business and who receives no benefits therefrom can, on reaching his majority, rescind the contract and recover the purchase price, regardless of whether or not he has been induced to enter into the contract by fraudulent representations.[3] In any event, when the infant rescinds, all he has received from the firm must be deducted from what he has put in and only the balance can be recovered by him.[4]

The infant cannot recover money which he has caused to be deposited in the bank account of the partnership and which has been paid out on partnership transactions, where neither the bank nor the payee knew of any infirmity in the transaction or that a minor had any interest in the firm;[5] nor can he recover on an implied assumpsit from his adult partner for services performed for the partnership under the partnership agreement.[6]

Assignment for benefit of creditors. Since the partnership relation does not of itself impliedly confer on a partner authority to make an assignment for benefit of creditors on behalf of the firm, as discussed in the C.J.S. title Partnership § 166, also 47 C.J. p 881 note 96–p 883 note 31, it has been held that an infant is not bound by an assignment of the partnership assets executed by his copartner without his consent and over his protest.[7] However, the infant can ratify the assignment on coming of age,[8] and on so doing he cannot thereafter maintain an action of trespass against the assignee for the alleged unlawful taking of the assets.[9]

Dissolution of partnership. The court may decree the dissolution of a partnership and wind up its affairs through the medium of a receiver, notwithstanding one of the partners is an infant;[10] and on a dissolution, whether by the court or by consent, the partnership debts must first be paid out of the partnership assets,[11] and, if what remains is insufficient to repay in full the contributions of all the partners to the capital, the loss must fall on all the partners pro rata, and the infant cannot throw on his copartners the obligation of making up the deficiency to him.[12]

§ 83. Gambling Contracts

An infant may repudiate a gambling contract, and may recover money in the possession of a stakeholder by virtue of a bet made by the infant.

An infant has been held entitled to recover money lost by him under a gambling contract.[13] Where an infant has made a bet he may repudiate his action and withdraw the money from the stakeholder with whom it was deposited;[14] but he cannot, after the result of the bet is known, and the stake-

95. S.C.—Salinas v. Bennett, 11 S. E. 968, 33 S.C. 285.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 9.

96. Me.—Conary v. Sawyer, 43 A. 27, 92 Me. 463, 69 Am.S.R. 525.
Mass.—Godfrey v. Mutual Finance Corp., 136 N.E. 178, 242 Mass. 197 —Pelletier v. Couture, 19 N.E. 400, 148 Mass. 269, 1 L.R.A. 863.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 1.

97. Mo.—Hill v. Bell, 19 S.W. 959, 111 Mo. 35.

98. Ala.—Johnson-Brown Co. v. Dominey Produce Co., 102 So. 606, 212 Ala. 377.
Iowa.—Kuehl v. Means, 218 N.W. 907, 206 Iowa 539, 58 A.L.R. 1359.
31 C.J. p 1086 notes 20, 22.

99. Md.—Latrobe v. Dietrich, 78 A. 983, 114 Md. 8.

1. Md.—Adams v. Beall, 8 A. 664, 67 Md. 53, 1 Am.S.R. 379.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 96.

2. Md.—Adams v. Beall, supra.

3. Mich.—Thomas v. Banks, 195 N. W. 94, 224 Mich. 488.

4. Ohio.—Lyghtel v. Collins, 11 Oh. Dec., Reprint, 161, 25 Cinc.L.Bul. 125.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 88 [a].

5. Iowa.—Kuehl v. Means, 218 N.W. 907, 206 Iowa 539, 58 A.L.R. 1359.

6. Mass.—Page v. Morse, 128 Mass. 99.
31 C.J. p 1085 note 98.

7. Miss.—Foot v. Goldman, 10 So. 62, 68 Miss. 529.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 16 [a].

8. N.Y.—Yates v. Lyon, 61 N.Y. 344.

9. Mass.—Furlong v. Bartlett, 21 Pick. 401.

10. Md.—Bush v. Linthicum, 59 Md. 344.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 17.

11. Mass.—Pelletier v. Couture, 19 N.E. 400, 148 Mass. 269, 1 L.R.A. 863.
31 C.J. p 1086 note 18.

12. Mass.—Moley v. Brine, 120 Mass. 324.

13. Pa.—Ruchizky v. De Haven, 97 Pa. 202, reversing 7 Wkly.N.C. 311.
Right to recover money in gambling transactions generally see Gaming §§ 35–41.

14. Ill.—McLean v. Wilson, 36 Ill. App. 657.

holder has paid over the money to the winner on his instructions, recover the amount from the stakeholder.[15]

§ 84. Loans and Advances

Loans or advances made to or by an infant may be avoided by him, subject to the usual rules respecting the necessity of making restitution.

In accord with the general rule that an infant is not bound by his contracts, as discussed supra § 71, an infant ordinarily is not liable on his undertaking to repay money lent to him,[16] although his promise to repay money borrowed is voidable only,[17] and may be ratified.[18] In repudiating a claim against him for money lent, the infant is subject to the usual rules, discussed supra § 75, as to the necessity of making or offering restitution.[19]

A loan made by an infant is voidable at the option of the infant, either during minority or within a reasonable time after attaining majority.[20] Where an infant has lent his money under a usurious agreement he may avoid the contract and with it the consequences of the usury, and recover the money lent under a count for money had and received.[21]

§ 85. Services

It is generally held that an infant's contract for the performance of services by him is voidable at his election, but may be ratified by him. On disaffirmance he can recover the reasonable value of services rendered regardless of the amount stipulated in the contract, although any sums already paid him must be credited against his ultimate recovery. There is some conflict as to the binding effect of a stipulation restricting his right to compete in business with his employer at a future time.

In accord with the general rule that an infant is not bound by his contracts, discussed supra § 71, it is generally held that an infant's contract for the performance of labor or personal services is not binding on him,[22] but is voidable at his election,[23] although it is not entirely void,[24] and cannot be avoided by the other party.[25] However, following the doctrine announced by some authorities that an infant's contracts which are beneficial to him are binding on him, discussed supra § 71, there are some cases holding an infant's contract of employment binding on him as beneficial;[26] and it has also been held that an infant is bound by his executed contract for services if it was reasonable under all the circumstances, or not so unreasonable as to be evidence of fraud or undue advantage.[27] An infant cannot affirm the terms of a contract of em-

15. Ill.—McLean v. Wilson, supra.
Recovery from stakeholder generally see Gaming § 39.

16. N.Y.—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
31 C.J. p 1087 notes 53, 58.
Loans and advances for necessaries see supra § 78 c.
Loans under insurance policies see supra § 76 b.

17. Mass.—Kennedy v. Doyle, 92 Mass. 161.
31 C.J. p 1087 notes 53, 55.
Assignment of wages
One who lends money to an infant, and takes an assignment of wages therefor, has no right of action against the infant to recover the amount lent where it does not appear that the infant has disaffirmed his contract on account of infancy or that the assignee has been prevented through fraud from collecting the wages assigned.—Tennessee Brokerage Co. v. Larkin, 1 Tenn.App. 276.

18. W.Va.—Carrigan v. Davis, 100 S.E. 91, 84 W.Va. 473.
31 C.J. p 1087 note 55.

19. Tex.—Keys v. Tarrant County Building & Loan Ass'n, Civ.App., 286 S.W. 593.
Proceeds in infant's possession
Where the infant, on attaining majority, disaffirms a loan made to him, his offer to return all the proceeds of the funds in his possession at the time of disaffirmance is sufficient, none of the original funds being in his possession at the time.—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.

20. Mo.—Stinson v. Bank of Queen City, App., 101 S.W.2d 537.
Time deposit
A time deposit made by an infant with a bank is not a "deposit" in the usual sense, but constitutes a loan of money to the bank and is governed by the rule set forth in the text.—Stinson v. Bank of Queen City, supra.

21. N.Y.—Millard v. Hewlett, 19 Wend. 301.

22. Pa.—Williams v. Rheas, Inc., 99 Pa.Super. 438.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 75.

23. U.S.—Crown Cork & Seal Co. v. Fankhanel, D.C.Md., 49 F.Supp. 611.
Ala.—Cleveland v. Towle, 106 So. 58, 59, 21 Ala.App. 161, citing Corpus Juris, and certiorari granted Ex parte Towle, 106 So. 60, 213 Ala. 129.
N.Y.—Farnum v. O'Neill, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 141 Misc. 555.
Tex.—Chauncey v. Gambill, Civ.App., 126 S.W.2d 775, error dismissed, judgment correct.
Va.—Humphries v. Boxley Bros. Co., 135 S.E. 890, 146 Va. 91, 49 A.L.R. 1427.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 75.

24. Tex.—Chauncey v. Gambill, Civ. App., 126 S.W.2d 775, error dismissed, judgment correct.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 76.
Contract to assign inventions
Even in a jurisdiction in which the contract of an infant which is not beneficial to him is not merely voidable but void ab initio, a contract of employment under which the infant agrees to assign to his employer all inventions made by him is not necessarily to his prejudice so as to be absolutely void and incapable of being ratified by him.—Crown Cork & Seal Co. v. Fankhanel, D.C. Md., 49 F.Supp. 611.

25. Ala.—Cleveland v. Towle, 106 So. 58, 59, 21 Ala.App. 161, citing Corpus Juris, and certiorari granted Ex parte Towle, 106 So. 60, 213 Ala. 129.
Tex.—Chauncey v. Gambill, Civ.App., 126 S.W.2d 775, error dismissed, judgment correct.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 77.

26. Ark.—Robinson v. Van Vleet, 121 S.W. 288, 91 Ark. 262.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 79.

27. Mich.—Spicer v. Earl, 1 N.W. 923, 41 Mich. 191, 32 Am.R. 152.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 90.

ployment as far as the terms are beneficial to him and at the same time repudiate provisions which he deems detrimental.[28]

It is sometimes broadly asserted, following the view that the contract can be avoided only by the infant and not by the other party, that the infant can recover for services rendered by him under his contract of employment;[29] but other authorities hold, more particularly, that, while such recovery may be had in the case of an emancipated minor,[30] an infant who has not been emancipated is without contractual capacity with respect to his services during infancy and cannot recover therefor.[31]

Basis and extent of recovery. Where the infant has the right to disaffirm a contract of employment, and elects so to do, he is entitled to recover for services rendered on a quantum meruit;[32] but he cannot, after disaffirming the contract, maintain an action on the contract for the wages called for thereby.[33] The amount of recovery is the reasonable value of the services rendered,[34] regardless of the contract terms,[35] taking into consideration all the circumstances;[36] and if the services were worthless the infant cannot recover.[37] If an infant has received a portion of his wages prior to his election to avoid the contract, the amount paid him should be deducted from the sum due him,[38] and an infant who has been paid the full amount of the claim sued on cannot recover payment again.[39] An infant who obtains employment by misrepresenting his age, and who makes a deposit with his employer to cover contingent losses arising during his employment, has been held not entitled, after losses have occurred in excess of the deposit, to recover the sum deposited.[40]

Although it has been held that the value of articles, not constituting necessaries, received by the infant will not be deducted,[41] where the consideration for an infant's contract to serve is the agreement of the employer to furnish him with necessaries during the term of service, and the agreement is faithfully performed by the employer, the value of the necessaries furnished him may be pleaded as a set-off to the infant's claim for compensation.[42]

Whether the employer can claim as a set-off the damage caused by the avoidance or breach of the contract is a question on which there is a conflict of authorities, some authorities holding that no such deduction can be allowed,[43] and others holding that it can.[44]

Injunction against infant. Equity will not enforce an infant's contract for personal services by injunction compelling him not to render similar services to others.[45] It has been held that an injunction will lie to restrain an infant from violating an agreement not to compete in business with his employer for a certain length of time after leaving his employ,[46] but there is also authority holding that such injunction will not lie,[47] at least where

28. N.D.—Yancey v. Boyce, 148 N.W. 539, 28 N.D. 187, Ann.Cas.1916E 258.
N.Y.—Farin v. Sercarz, 39 N.Y.S.2d 482, 179 Misc. 490.

29. N.Y.—Farin v. Sercarz, supra.
Pa.—Cohen v. A. F. Bornot Bros. Co., 80 Pa.Super. 251.
Va.—Humphries v. Boxley Bros. Co., 135 S.E. 890, 146 Va. 91, 49 A.L.R. 1427.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 78.

30. Ala.—Waugh v. Emerson, 79 Ala. 295.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 78 [b].

31. Mich.—Stanaback v. McFadden, 196 N.W. 526, 225 Mich. 452.
Or.—Potter v. Davidson, 20 P.2d 409, 143 Or. 101, rehearing denied 21 P.2d 785, 143 Or. 101.
Emancipation see supra §§ 28–30.
Rights of parent with respect to contracts for child's services see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 31, also 46 C.J. p 1284 notes 18–31.
Mechanic's lien
Unemancipated infant cannot impress mechanic's lien for services rendered by him.—Potter v. Davidson, supra.

32. Va.—Humphries v. Boxley Bros. Co., 135 S.E. 890, 146 Va. 91, 49 A.L.R. 1427.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 84.

33. N.D.—Yancey v. Boyce, 148 N.W. 539, 28 N.D. 187, Ann.Cas.1916E 258.

34. Me.—Vehue v. Pinkham, 60 Me. 142.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 85.

35. U.S.—Belyea v. Cook, D.C.Cal., 162 F. 180.
Receipt of agreed wages
The infant may recover the value of his services notwithstanding he has received the full wages agreed on, if such wages were not as much as the services were worth.—Dube v. Beaudry, 23 N.E. 222, 150 Mass. 448, 15 Am.S.R. 228, 6 L.R.A. 146—31 C.J. p 1088 note 89.

36. Ind.—Garner v. Board, 27 Ind. 323.
Me.—Vehue v. Pinkham, 60 Me. 142.

37. Vt.—Thomas v. Dike, 11 Vt. 273, 34 Am.D. 690.

38. N.H.—Hagerty v. Nashua Lock Co., 62 N.H. 576.
Vt.—Holden v. Pike, 14 Vt. 405, 39 Am.D. 228.

39. Ind.—Hobbs v. Godlove, 17 Ind. 359.

40. Ohio.—Smith v. Newark Shoe Co., 182 N.E. 347, 42 Ohio App. 437.

41. Mass.—Morse v. Ely, 28 N.E. 577, 154 Mass. 458, 26 Am.S.R. 263.

42. Mich.—Spicer v. Earl, 1 N.W. 923, 41 Mich. 191, 32 Am.R. 152.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 94.

43. Vt.—Meeker v. Hurd, 31 Vt. 639.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 95.

44. U.S.—The Hotspur, D.C.Or., 12 F.Cas.No.6,720, 3 Sawy. 194.
Mo.—Lowe v. Sinklear, 27 Mo. 308.

45. Ky.—Cain v. Garner, 185 S.W. 122, 169 Ky. 633, L.R.A.1916E 682, Ann.Cas.1918B 824.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 80.

46. N.Y.—Mutual Milk & Cream Co. v. Prigge, 98 N.Y.S. 458, 112 App. Div. 652.
31 C.J. p 1088 note 81.

47. In Pennsylvania
(1) It has been held that injunction will not lie against the infant.—J. E. Harshbarger Dairy v. Hoover, 13 Pa.Dist. & Co. 701.
(2) However, there is also authority to the contrary.—Harbison v. Mawhinney, 8 Pa.Dist. 697.

the infant had been previously engaged in the same business and acquired no new knowledge or customers from the complaining employer.[48]

Ratification. As in the case of other voidable contracts made by him, discussed supra § 74, an infant may ratify his voidable contract of employment.[49] If the infant continues under the contract of service after he becomes of age, it is evidence of his affirmance of the contract,[50] and the contract may become ratified thereby.[51]

§ 86. Subscription to Corporate Stock

The general rule that an infant is not bound by his contracts applies to an infant's contract to subscribe to the stock of a corporation.

In accord with the general rule that an infant is not bound by his contracts, discussed supra § 71, an infant may avoid his contract of subscription to the stock of a corporation,[52] and on his offer to return the stock which he has received on the contract he is entitled to the purchase money paid,[53] without any allowance for the depreciation in the capital of the corporation.[54]

VI. TORTS

§ 87. Liability of Infant in General

In general an infant is liable for a tort committed by him.

It is well settled by the authorities on the question that an infant is civilly liable for his torts[55]

48. Ohio.—Eagle Dairy Co. v. Dylag, 168 N.E. 754, 33 Ohio App. 113.

49. Mich.—Spicer v. Earl, 1 N.W. 923, 41 Mich. 191, 32 Am.R. 152.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 98.

50. Mich.—Spicer v. Earl, supra.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 99.

51. D.C.—Baltimore & O. R. Co. v. Duke, 38 App.D.C. 164, Ann.Cas. 1913E 832.

Ratification held shown

U.S.—Crown Cork & Seal Co. v. Fankhanel, D.C.Md., 49 F.Supp. 611.

Tex.—Chauncey v. Gambill, Civ.App., 126 S.W.2d 775, error dismissed, judgment correct.

52. N.C.—In re Goldsboro Savings & Trust Co., 165 S.E. 705, 203 N.C. 238.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 13.
Infant as original subscriber or incorporator see Corporations § 35 c.
Liability of infant stockholder:
For corporate debts generally see Corporations § 642.
On:
Bank stock generally see Banks and Banking § 74 d (4).
Stock of national bank see Banks and Banking § 593.

Building and loan associations

(1) On reaching majority an infant can recover from an insolvent building and loan association all moneys theretofore paid by him into the association, free from all claims for premiums, fines, and losses.—Prudential Building & Loan Ass'n v. Shaw, 26 S.W.2d 168, 119 Tex. 228, rehearing denied 27 S.W.2d 157, 119 Tex. 228.

(2) A statute permitting minors to become shareholders and investors in building and loan associations does not authorize an executory contract by a minor, imposing on him a personal indebtedness to be paid in installments over an extended period of time, for a stock subscription in such an association or for membership fees in connection with such a stock subscription.—Southern Building & Loan Ass'n v. Davis, 135 So. 164, 223 Ala. 222.

53. Ill.—Wuller v. Chuse Grocery Co., 89 N.E. 796, 241 Ill. 398, 132 Am.S.R. 216, 28 L.R.A.,N.S., 128, 16 Ann.Cas. 522.
31 C.J. p 1089 note 14.

54. Mass.—Godfrey v. Mutual Finance Corp., 136 N.E. 178, 242 Mass. 197.

55. U.S.—Thompson v. Bell, C.C.A. Mich., 129 F.2d 211, stating rule in Indiana.

Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 230 Ala. 275—Hooper Motor Co. v. Harris, 146 So. 618, 226 Ala. 278.

Iowa.—Lind v. Eddy, 6 N.W.2d 427, 232 Iowa 1328, 146 A.L.R. 695—Beardsley v. Clark, 294 N.W. 887, 229 Iowa 601—Daggy v. Miller, 162 N.W. 254, 180 Iowa 1146.

Mass.—Dow v. Lipsitz, 185 N.E. 921, 283 Mass. 132.

Mich.—Brown v. Wood, 291 N.W. 255, 293 Mich. 148, 127 A.L.R. 1436.

Mo.—Gerkey v. Hampe, App., 274 S.W. 510—McKerall v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., App., 257 S.W. 166—Swoboda v. Nowak, 255 S.W. 1079, 1082, 213 Mo.App. 452, citing Corpus Juris.

Neb.—Ahlstedt v. Smith, 264 N.W. 889, 130 Neb. 372.

N.H.—Smith v. Bailey, 23 A.2d 363, 91 N.H. 507.

N.J.—Steelman v. Gilbert, 186 A. 47, 48, 14 N.J.Misc. 490, citing Corpus Juris.

N.Y.—Rozell v. Rozell, 22 N.E.2d 254, 281 N.Y. 106, 123 A.L.R. 1015, affirming 8 N.Y.S.2d 901, 256 App. Div. 61—Taksen v. Kramer, 283 N.Y.S. 609, 239 App.Div. 756.

N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.

Ohio.—Wery v Seff, 25 N.E.2d 692, 694, 136 Ohio St. 307, citing Corpus Juris—Termuhlen v. Campbell, 48 N.E.2d 891, 895, 71 Ohio App. 285, citing Corpus Juris.

Tenn.—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn. App. 319.

Tex.—Miller v. Peck, Civ.App., 258 S.W. 887.

Wis.—Wisconsin Loan & Finance Corporation v. Goodnough, 228 N.W. 484, 201 Wis. 101, 67 A.L.R. 1259.
31 C.J. p 1090 note 26.

In Louisiana

(1) The liability of a minor for tort is dependent on statute.—Gott v. Scott, App., 199 So. 460.

(2) Liability for a minor's torts exists under Civ.Code arts 1784, 1874, 2227.

U.S.—Nehrbass v. Home Indemnity Co., D.C.La., 37 F.Supp. 123.

La.—Seither v. Poter, App., 194 So. 467—Kern v. Knight, 127 So. 133, 13 La.App. 194—Lutcher & Moore Cypress Co. v. Schexnaydre, 122 So. 911, 11 La.App. 72.

(3) Such articles of the Civil Code are the only articles of the Code or statutes which create liability of a minor for his or her torts.—Gott v. Scott, supra.

Otherwise stated

Minor of sufficient age to be criminally responsible is liable for torts.—Kibler v. Kibler, 24 S.W.2d 867, 180 Ark. 1152.

Personal torts of infant

In general an infant may be held liable for his personal torts.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E.2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N.E.2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582—31 C.J. p 1090 note 26.

Conversion

Vt.—Vermont Acceptance Corporation v. Wiltshire, 153 A. 199, 103 Vt. 219, 73 A.L.R. 792.
31 C.J. p 1090 note 26 [e].

unconnected or disconnected with his contract,[56] unless in the commission of the tort there is required to exist some element which the infant is not presumed to possess.[57] The infant is liable regardless of whether he acted at the command of another,[58] except in a case of actual duress.[59] Therefore, usually liability is not affected by the fact that the tort was committed under the express orders or by the authority of the infant's parent or guardian.[60] An infant is not liable in an action sounding in tort, however, where the action is merely a method of attempting to enforce a claim for which he is not liable.[61]

In view of the limitations on the authority of an infant to create the relationship of principal and agent, considered supra § 23, it is generally held that an infant cannot be made liable for the torts of one impliedly acting for him.[62] Some cases, however, have expressed the view that an infant may be liable for the tort of his agent committed in the performance of a duty involved in the agency.[63] An infant may be liable for a joint tort committed by himself and another if the basis of the alleged liability is not a breach of contract.[64] An infant's liability in tort may extend to torts which he procures another to commit,[65] or to torts committed in the presence of the infant by one who

Wrongful detention of property

Ala.—Hooper Motor Co. v. Harris, 146 So. 618, 226 Ala. 278.

Right of action for tort see infra § 104.

56. N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.

Wis.—Wisconsin Loan & Finance Corporation v. Goodnough, 228 N.W. 484, 201 Wis. 101, 67 A.L.R. 1259.

31 C.J. p 1090 note 26, p 1092 note 46.

Personal torts of infant

Infant is responsible for personal torts directly committed by him and unconnected with contract.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313.

Tort connected with contract see infra § 89.

57. Ky.—Stephens v. Stephens, 189 S.W. 1143, 172 Ky. 780.

Otherwise stated

An infant is not liable for a tort which involves an element necessarily wanting in the case of infancy.—Swoboda v. Nowak, 255 S.W. 1079, 213 Mo.App. 452.

Malicious or intentional tort see infra § 88.

58. Wis.—Wisconsin Loan & Finance Corporation v. Goodnough, 228 N.W. 484, 201 Wis. 101, 67 A.L.R. 1259.

31 C.J. p 1090 note 29.

59. Wis.—Wisconsin Loan & Finance Corporation v. Goodnough, supra.

60. Me.—Kilpatrick v. Hall, 67 Me. 543.

31 C.J. p 1090 note 29.

61. Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 230 Ala. 275.

Tort connected with contract see infra § 89.

62. U.S.—Thompson v. Bell, C.C.A. Mich., 129 F.2d 211, stating rule in Indiana.

Mo.—Hodge v. Feiner, 90 S.W.2d 90, 92, 338 Mo. 268, 103 A.L.R. 483, citing Corpus Juris, and affirming, App., 78 S.W.2d 478—Haynie v. Jones, 127 S.W.2d 105, 107, 233 Mo.App. 948, citing Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1091 note 31.

In Louisiana

(1) A minor is liable in damages only for his or her personal offenses or quasi offenses, as imposed by Rev. Civ.Code arts 1785, 1874, 2227.—Gott v. Scott, App., 199 So. 460.

(2) Since there is no specific provision of the law of Louisiana which authorizes a minor to bind him or herself for the torts of another either by express agreement or by silent acquiescence, a person cannot be the agent or servant of a minor so as to render the minor liable for the torts of such person.—Gott v. Scott, supra.

Other statements

(1) An infant cannot be held liable for the tort of another under the doctrine of respondeat superior. Ill.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E.2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N.E.2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E.2d 297, 319 Ill.App. 265.

Mo.—Hodge v. Feiner, 90 S.W.2d 90, 338 Mo. 268, 103 A.L.R. 483, affirming, App., 78 S.W.2d 478.

31 C.J. p 1091 note 31.

(2) An infant cannot be held liable for the tortious acts of one to whom the infant has attempted to delegate authority to act as his agent.—Wilson v. Moudy, 123 S.W.2d 828, 22 Tenn.App. 356—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn.App. 319, 337, citing Corpus Juris.

(3) An infant is not liable for his alleged servant's torts in the course of employment.—Hodge v. Feiner, App., 78 S.W.2d 478, affirmed 90 S.W.2d 90, 338 Mo. 268, 103 A.L.R. 483—31 C.J. p 1091 note 31.

(4) An infant is not liable for tort committed by his agent or employee.—Fernandez v. Lewis, Tex.Civ. App., 92 S.W.2d 305, error dismissed.

(5) It seems that to render an infant liable the "tortious acts must be committed by the infant himself, or under his immediate view, or by his direction or authority."—Haynie v. Jones, 127 S.W.2d 105, 111, 233 Mo. App. 948.

63. N.J.—Scott v. Schisler, 153 A. 395, 107 N.J.Law 397.

In Virginia

(1) In a case in which the law of Virginia was applicable, the federal district court took the broad view that, where an infant does, through his agent, something which he is entirely capable of legally doing, he may be held liable for the torts of the agent within the scope of his authority.—Carroll v. Harrison, D.C. Va., 49 F.Supp. 283, affirmed, C.C.A., Harrison v. Carroll, 139 F.2d 427.

(2) The circuit court of appeals, in affirming the judgment of the district court in the foregoing case, based the liability of the infant on the ground that, under the circumstances, his act was the commencement of the wrong which caused the injury, notwithstanding he was not present when the injury occurred.—Harrison v. Carroll, C.C.A.Va., 139 F.2d 427, affirming, D.C., Carroll v. Harrison, 49 F.Supp. 283.

Tort committed in presence of infant

It has been held that an infant may be liable for a tort committed in his presence by his agent in the performance of a duty involved in the agency, on the theory that the appointment of an agent by an infant is not void but is merely voidable.—Scott v. Schisler, 153 A. 395, 107 N.J.Law 397.

64. Mo.—Haynie v. Jones, 127 S.W. 2d 105, 233 Mo.App. 948.

Joint tort in general see the C.J.S. title Torts §§ 34–39, also 62 C.J. p 1130 note 42–p 1136 note 96.

Torts connected with contract see infra § 89.

65. Mass.—Sikes v. Johnson, 16 Mass. 389.

Assault and battery

Mass.—Sikes v. Johnson, supra.

acts pursuant to direction and control by the infant,[66] or who, according to some cases, is subject to such direction and control.[67] The liability of an infant for the negligence of another, including liability for negligence of another in operating an automobile, is considered infra § 91.

An infant cannot be made a trespasser by relation through the ratification of a wrongful act which another has assumed to perform in behalf of, but without the consent of, the infant.[68]

§ 88. Malicious or Intentional Injuries

Want of the existence of the essential element of intention or malice may exempt an infant from liability for torts of a certain character, but an infant who has reached an age at which intention or malice may be imputed to him may be liable.

An infant may be exempt from liability for his torts when in the commission of the tort there is required to exist some element of intention or malice which the infant does not possess;[69] but if the infant has arrived at such age that malice and intent may be fairly imputed to him, he may be liable for such tort,[70] as, for instance, libel[71] or slander.[72]

§ 89. Torts Connected with Contracts

An infant is not liable in an action sounding in tort if the effect of holding him liable would actually constitute the enforcement of liability on contract, but he may be liable for a distinct and willful or positive wrong which is independent of the contract.

The general liability of infants for their torts, considered supra § 87, does not take from them their immunity from liability on their contracts;[73] each rests on a policy of the law, and, when these two policies come into conflict, they cancel each other to the extent that they deal with the same subject matter.[74] If this cancellation is complete, so that all that is claimed as the foundation of the infant's tort is covered by the breach of his contract, nothing remains on which to found an action of tort independently of the contract.[75] Hence, it is generally held that an infant is not liable for tortious consequences of his breaches of contract;[76] that he cannot be held liable in tort where the effect of imposing such liability would be the enforcement of his liability on his contract;[77] and that, even though the action may be in form as for a tort, yet if the subject of it is based on contract, the suit will be attended with all the incidents of an action ex contractu.[78] However, it is generally held that the mere fact that the cause of action indirectly grows out of, or is connected with, a contract will not in every case shield the infant from liability; if the tort is independent of, or subsequent to, the contract, and not a mere breach of it, but is a distinct and willful, or positive wrong in itself, then,

66. Mo.—Haynie v. Jones, 127 S.W. 2d 105, 233 Mo.App. 948.
N.Y.—Taksen v. Kramer, 263 N.Y.S. 609, 239 App.Div. 756.

67. Ala.—Woodson v. Hare, 13 So.2d 172, 244 Ala. 301.
Tenn.—Wilson v. Moudy, 123 S.W.2d 828, 22 Tenn.App. 356—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn.App. 319.

68. Mass.—Burnham v. Seaverns, 101 Mass. 360, 100 Am.D. 123.
Mo.—Haynie v. Jones, 127 S.W.2d 105, 233 Mo.App. 948.

69. Ky.—Stephens v. Stephens, 189 S.W. 1143, 172 Ky. 780.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 33.

70. Ky.—Drane v. Pawley, 8 Ky.L. 530.
Mo.—Fears v. Riley, 49 S.W. 836, 148 Mo. 49.

71. Mo.—Fears v. Riley, supra.

72. Ky.—Drane v. Pawley, 8 Ky.L. 530.
Mo.—Swoboda v. Nowak, 255 S.W. 1079, 213 Mo.App. 452.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 36.
Infant of nineteen years
Mo.—Swoboda v. Nowak, supra.

73. N.J.—Brunhoelzl v. Brandes, 100 A. 163, 90 N.J.Law 31.
Pa.—Frank Spangler Co. v. Haupt, 53 Pa.Super. 545.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 41.
Assumpsit for money tortiously taken see infra § 104.
Capacity of infant to contract and validity and effect of his contracts generally see supra § 71 et seq.
Particular torts connected with contract:
Fraud see infra § 90.
Misrepresentation as to age see infra § 90.
Negligence see infra § 91.

74. N.J.—Brunhoelzl v. Brandes, 100 A. 163, 90 N.J.Law 31.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 41.

75. N.J.—Brunhoelzl v. Brandes, supra.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 42.

76. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313, 316, citing Corpus Juris.
Mich.—Brown v. Wood, 291 N.W. 255, 257, 293 Mich. 148, 127 A.L.R. 1436, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Dodson v. Roberts, Civ.App., 4 S.W.2d 155.
Utah.—Wilcox v. Wunderlich, 272 P. 207, 223, 73 Utah 1, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 43.

Distinct and substantive wrong
To make a minor liable for a tort connected with a contract, the tort must be a distinct and substantive wrong in itself, without reference to the contract.—Summit Auto Co. v. Jenkins, 153 N.E. 153, 20 Ohio App. 229.

77. Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 230 Ala. 275.
Ill.—Hunter v. Egolf Motor Co., 268 Ill.App. 1.
Mich.—Brown v. Wood, 291 N.W. 255, 257, 293 Mich. 148, 127 A.L.R. 1436, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E. 726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
Pa.—Yubas v. Witaskis, 95 Pa.Super. 296.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 44, p 1092 note 45.

78. Me.—Caswell v. Parker, 51 A. 238, 96 Me. 39.
Mass.—Brooks v. Sawyer, 76 N.E. 953, 191 Mass. 151, 114 Am.S.R. 594.
31 C.J. p 1092 note 45.

notwithstanding the contract, the infant may be liable.[79]

Breach of warranty. As a rule an infant is not liable in tort for a breach of warranty,[80] but the contrary has been held.[81]

Bailment. In accordance with rules hereinbefore stated, an infant is not liable in an action in tort with regard to property bailed to him where the action is based on a breach of duty expressly or impliedly imposed by the contract of bailment.[82] Thus, the mere neglect to perform the duty on the part of the bailee to use ordinary or reasonable care and diligence to protect the property from injury does not render the infant bailee liable to an action in tort;[83] but an infant may be liable in tort with regard to property bailed to him where such action is not based on a breach of the contract of bailment but is independent thereof.[84]

§ 90. Fraud and False Representations

a. General considerations
b. Misrepresentation as to age

a. General Considerations

An infant may be liable in tort for his fraud.

An infant may be liable in tort for his fraud[85] or his false representations,[86] unconnected with his contract.[87] Thus property obtained by an infant by fraud may be recovered from him in a proper ex delicto action for that purpose;[88] but an infant is not liable in tort for his fraud directly and inseparably connected with his contract.[89] According to some cases, in determining whether an infant may be held liable for, or whether relief against him may be granted because of, his fraud where a contract is involved, the test is whether or not liability may be imposed or relief granted without directly or indirectly enforcing the promise of the infant.[90]

79. Mass.—Dow v. Lipsitz, 185 N.E. 921, 283 Mass. 132.
31 C.J. p 1092 note 46.

Tortious use or disposition of property after avoidance of contract
Infant is liable for tortious use or disposition of personalty after avoiding purchase or sale thereof and before its surrender.—Collins v. Norfleet-Baggs, 150 S.E. 177, 197 N.C. 659.

80. N.Y.—Collins v. Gifford, 96 N.E. 721, 203 N.Y. 465, 38 L.R.A.,N.S., 202, Ann.Cas.1913A 969, reversing 118 N.Y.S. 1100, 134 App.Div. 988.
31 C.J. p 1092 note 47.

81. S.C.—Vance v. Word, 10 S.C.L. 197, 9 Am.D. 683.

82. Ga.—Jones v. Milner, 185 S.E. 586, 587, 53 Ga.App. 304, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1092 note 51.

83. Ga.—Jones v. Milner, supra, citing Corpus Juris.
N.H.—Eaton v. Hill, 50 N.H. 235, 9 Am.R. 189.
31 C.J. p 1092 note 53.
Care and use of subject matter of bailment in general see Bailments §§ 26–29.

84. Neb.—Churchill v. White, 78 N.W. 369, 58 Neb. 22, 76 Am.S.R. 64.
N.H.—Eaton v. Hill, 50 N.H. 235, 9 Am.R. 189.
R.I.—Freeman v. Boland, 14 R.I. 39, 51 Am.R. 340.
31 C.J. p 1092 note 54.

Conversion
An infant is liable for conversion where he departs from the purpose of the bailment and makes an unauthorized use of the property.—Vermont Acceptance Corporation v. Wiltshire, 153 A. 199, 103 Vt. 219, 73 A.L.R. 792—31 C.J. p 1092 note 54 [a].

85. N.Y.—Chasser v. Hutton, 248 N.Y.S. 136, 139 Misc. 623.
Tenn.—Wood v. Imperial Motor Co., 5 Tenn.App. 246.
31 C.J. p 1092 note 55.

Fraud not excused by infancy
Infancy does not excuse parties guilty of fraudulent transactions.—Johanson v. Lunda, 195 N.W. 917, 157 Minn. 260.

86. N.Y.—Chasser v. Hunt, 248 N.Y.S. 136, 139 Misc. 623—Gaunt v. Taylor, 15 N.Y.S. 589.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 56.

Obtaining property by false representation
(1) Minor is liable to one whose property he has obtained by false representation.—Boshaw v. J. J. Newberry, 243 N.W. 46, 259 Mich. 333.

(2) An action will lie against an infant who has obtained property on the faith of a fraudulent representation, for loss actually sustained by one dealing with him in good faith and exercising reasonable diligence, providing recovery can be had without giving effect to a contract of the infant.—Butler Bros. v. Snyder, 142 N.E. 398, 81 Ind.App. 44.

(3) The rule has been applied where the action against an infant was based on his fraud in representing that a certain forged guaranty was genuine, thereby inducing plaintiff to furnish defendant certain merchandise under a void contract of sale.—Butler Bros. v. Snyder, supra.

87. N.Y.—Shenkein v. Fuhrman, 141 N.Y.S. 909, 80 Misc. 179.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 57.
Torts connected with contracts generally see supra § 89.

88. Ala.—Ex parte Pritchett, 65 So. 521, 187 Ala. 384, denying certiorari Pritchett v. Fife, 62 So. 1001, 8 Ala.App. 462.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 58.

89. Mass.—Brooks v. Sawyer, 76 N.E. 953, 191 Mass. 151, 114 Am.S.R. 594.
N.Y.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E. 726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437—Collins v. Gifford, 96 N.E. 721, 203 N.Y. 465, 38 L.R.A.,N.S., 202, Ann.Cas.1913A 969—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App.Div. 1016.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 59.

90. Ind.—Rice v. Boyer, 9 N.E. 420, 108 Ind. 472, 58 Am.R. 53.
Mich.—Patterson v. Kasper, 148 N.W. 690, 182 Mich. 281, L.R.A.1915A 1221.

Suit to rescind contract
In a suit in equity against infant to rescind contract for purchase of a business and to recover sums paid under the contract on the ground that the contract was obtained by the fraud of the infant, the test as to whether the matter was one arising "ex contractu" so as to authorize defense of infancy or a matter "ex delicto" in which defense of infancy would be of no avail, was whether relief could be granted without directly or indirectly enforcing the promise of the infant; and it was held that the suit was one ex delicto and not ex contractu so that infancy could not be pleaded to avoid liability.—Beardsley v. Clark, 294 N.W. 887, 229 Iowa 601.

In order to impose the liability for fraud, all the elements of fraud must coexist.[91]

b. Misrepresentation as to Age

The liability of an infant in tort for his misrepresentation as to his age, which induces the making of a contract, has been denied on the ground that such misrepresentation is a part of the contract, but liability in tort has been asserted by some authorities on the ground that the misrepresentation is not a part of, and does not grow out of, the contract, or that the enforcement of liability does not constitute a method of enforcing liability on the contract.

There appears to be a conflict of authority as to the question whether an action will lie against an infant for falsely representing himself to be of full age.[92] However, such conflict is not due to any divergency from the rule, considered supra § 89, that an infant is not liable for his torts connected with, or growing out of, his contracts, although he may be liable if the tort is independent of, or subsequent to, the contract, and not a mere breach of it, but a distinct, willful, and positive wrong in itself. The conflict lies rather in the application of the rule. Some authorities consider that a false representation as to age inducing a contract is a part of the contract and accordingly hold that it cannot be the basis of an action in tort.[93] Other authorities hold that such misrepresentation may be the basis of such an action, on the theory that such misrepresentation is not a part of, and does not grow out of, the contract,[94] or that the enforcement of liability for such misrepresentation as a tort does not constitute an indirect method of enforcing liability on the contract.[95] In order to hold the infant liable, however, the fraud must be actual and not constructive.[96] It has been held that his mere silence when making a contract as to his age does not constitute a fraud which can be made the basis of an action of deceit.[97]

§ 91. Negligence

An infant may be liable for injuries caused by his negligence.

An infant may be guilty of actionable negli-

91. N.Y.—Collins v. Gifford, 96 N.E. 721, 208 N.Y. 465, 38 L.R.A.,N.S., 202, Ann.Cas.1913A 969.
Elements of fraud see Fraud §§ 3–45.

92. Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 763, 230 Ala. 275, citing Corpus Juris.
Ind.—Rice v. Boyer, 9 N.E. 420, 108 Ind. 472, 58 Am.R. 53.
N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
Ohio.—Mestetzko v. Elf Motor Co., 165 N.E. 93, 119 Ohio St. 575.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 62.
Effect of false representations as to age on right to disaffirm acts or transactions see supra § 27.

93. Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 230 Ala. 275.
Mass.—Slayton v. Barry, 56 N.E. 574, 175 Mass. 513, 78 Am.S.R. 510, 49 L.R.A. 560.
N.C.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.
Ohio.—Summit Auto Co. v. Jenkins, 153 N.E. 153, 20 Ohio App. 229.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 64.

In New York

(1) The court of appeals, in a comparatively recent case in which it was held that an infant could disaffirm a contract, notwithstanding his misrepresentation as to his age, stated that an infant cannot be sued for damages in tort by reason of any false representation made in inducing or procuring the contract.—Sternlieb v. Normandie Nat. Securities Corporation, 188 N.E. 726, 263 N.Y. 245, 90 A.L.R. 1437.

(2) An infant is not liable in tort for any misrepresentations concerning age implied from the fact that he purchased merchandise.—Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Co. v. Bernstein, 254 N.Y.S. 588, 142 Misc. 501.

(3) In some earlier cases the right to recover in an action in tort for a misrepresentation as to age was recognized.—Eckstein v. Frank, 1 Daly 334.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 65.

In Pennsylvania

(1) The view apparently has been taken that an action of deceit will not lie against an infant based on his false representation as to his age which induced the sale of goods to him.—Frank Spangler Co. v. Haupt, 53 Pa.Super. 545.

(2) But the right of the seller to disaffirm a sale induced by such misrepresentation and other fraudulent misrepresentations and to maintain replevin to recover the property from a person to whom the infant has transferred it has been upheld.—Neff v. Landis, 1 A. 177, 110 Pa. 204.

Infant is not liable for deceit in misrepresenting his age as an inducement to the sale of personal property to him, even though he has disaffirmed the contract.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 230 Ala. 275.

Pleading showing attempt to enforce contract

Where the original complaint against an infant alleged the execution of a note and mortgage by the infant, his default in payment, the seizure and sale of the mortgaged property, and sought to recover the balance due on the note after such sale, an amended complaint, alleging deceit by the infant in misrepresenting his age, which claimed the exact amount of the indebtedness as damages caused by the fraud, shows a manifest purpose to collect the unpaid balance due on the note by transforming an action on contract into an action in tort, which is not permitted.—Greensboro Morris Plan Co. v. Palmer, 116 S.E. 261, 185 N.C. 109.

94. N.H.—Fitts v. Hall, 9 N.H. 441.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 65.

In Illinois, in a case in which it was pointed out that actually the infant did not make any false statement, it was stated that if an infant should falsely state that he is of age, for the purpose of inducing another to purchase, and take a deed of, the infant's lands, the infant would be liable in damages which might result to the purchaser from the deceit.—Davidson v. Young, 38 Ill. 145.

95. Ind.—Rice v. Boyer, 9 N.E. 420, 108 Ind. 472, 58 Am.R. 53.
Tenn.—Wood v. Imperial Motor Co., 5 Tenn.App. 246.
Wis.—Wisconsin Loan & Finance Corporation v. Goodnough, 228 N.W. 484, 201 Wis. 101, 67 A.L.R. 1259.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 65.

96. Wis.—Wisconsin Loan & Finance Corporation v. Goodnough, supra.

97. Wis.—Wisconsin Loan & Finance Corporation v. Goodnough, supra.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 66.

gence.[98] While it has been held that there are no presumptions as to the capability of infants with respect to the commission of negligence, or as to their liability in that regard,[99] according to some cases an infant of tender years is not chargeable with negligence.[1] The infancy of a person charged with negligence as affecting the degree of care required of him is discussed in the C.J.S. title Negligence § 11, also 31 C.J. p 1094 note 70, 45 C.J. p 699 note 69 et seq.

In accordance with the general rule as to torts, stated supra § 87, generally an infant is not liable for the negligence of another impliedly acting for him,[2] or, as sometimes stated, the infant is not liable for such negligence under the doctrine of respondeat superior.[3] It has been held that an infant is not liable for the negligence of another under the doctrine of imputed negligence, because of want of privity between the infant and such other which is an essential element of imputed negligence,[4] but it has also been held that, under certain circumstances, an infant may be liable under such doctrine.[5] Some cases have announced the broad rule that an infant may be liable for the negligence of his agent, on the theory that the appointment of an agent by an infant is not void but is merely voidable.[6]

In accordance with the general rules, considered supra § 89, an infant is not liable where the negligence consists in the mere breach of a contract,[7] but the rule is otherwise as to the gross negligence of an infant which constitutes a distinct and positive wrong of itself, wholly independent of a contract.[8]

Operation of motor vehicle. The general rule that an infant may be guilty of actionable negligence applies to the negligence of an infant in operating a motor vehicle.[9] An infant cannot avoid

98. U.S.—Carroll v. Harrison, D.C. Va., 49 F.Supp. 283, affirmed, C.C.A., Harrison v. Carroll, 139 F.2d 427, applying law of Virginia.
Ark.—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W.2d 310, 312, 180 Ark. 41, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Rozell v. Rozell, 22 N.E.2d 254, 281 N.Y. 106, 123 A.L.R. 1015, affirming 8 N.Y.S. 901, 256 App.Div. 61—Williams v. Hayes, 38 N.E. 449, 143 N.Y. 442, 26 L.R.A. 153, 42 Am.St.R. 743—Steinberg v. Cauchois, 293 N.Y.S. 147, 249 App.Div. 518.
31 C.J. p 1093 note 69.
In Louisiana it has been stated that liability of an infant for quasi offenses, under Rev.Civ.Code §§ 1785, 1874, 2227, must be founded on negligence, since there must be negligence before there can be any quasi offense. —Gott v. Scott, App., 199 So. 460.
Contributory negligence of infants see the C.J.S. title Negligence §§ 144–149, also 45 C.J. p 998 note 85–p 1011 note 18.

99. Ky.—Stephens v. Stephens, 189 S.W. 1143, 172 Ky. 780.
Capacity of person charged as element of actionable negligence see the C.J.S. title Negligence § 2, also 45 C.J. p 637 notes 2, 3.
Presumptions as to capacity of infants with respect to commission of crimes see infra § 96.

1. Neb.—Siedlik v. Schneider, 241 N.W. 535, 122 Neb. 763.
W.Va.—Washington v. Baltimore & O. R. Co., 17 W.Va. 190.

2. U.S.—Thompson v. Bell, C.C.A. Mich., 129 F.2d 211, stating rule in Indiana.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 31.
Persons liable for negligence generally see the C.J.S. title Negligence §§ 90–102, also 45 C.J. p 878 note 22–p 897 note 23.

3. Ill.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E.2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N.E. 2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E. 297, 319 Ill.App. 265.
Wis.—Covault v. Nevitt, 146 N.W. 1115, 157 Wis. 113, 51 L.R.A.,N.S., 1092, Ann.Cas.1916A 959.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 31.

4. Ill.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E.2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N.E. 2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582.
Discussion of rule
In order to impute the negligence of one person to another, they must stand in a relation of privity, and there is no imputable negligence except in cases in which such a privity as master and servant or principal and agent exists, which relationship, with himself as master or principal, cannot be established by an infant. —Palmer v. Miller, supra.

5. Ala.—Woodson v. Hare, 13 So.2d 172, 244 Ala. 301.

6. N.J.—Scott v. Schisler, 153 A. 395, 107 N.J.Law 397.
Pa.—Feaglas v. Sullivan, 32 Pa.Dist. & Co. 47.

7. U.S.—Potter v. Florida Motor Lines, D.C.Fla., 57 F.2d 313, 316, citing Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Lowery v. Cate, 64 S.W. 1068, 108 Tenn. 54, 91 Am.S.R. 744, 57 L.R.A. 673.
31 C.J. p 1094 note 74.

8. Mass.—Dow v. Lipsitz, 185 N.E. 921, 283 Mass. 132.

9. Ark.—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W. 2d 310, 180 Ark. 41.
Cal.—House v. Fry, 157 P. 500, 30 Cal.App. 157.
Iowa.—Daggy v. Miller, 162 N.W. 854, 180 Iowa 1146.
Mass.—Dow v. Lipsitz, 185 N.E. 921, 283 Mass. 132.
N.H.—Smith v. Bailey, 23 A.2d 363, 91 N.H. 507.
N.Y.—Rozell v. Rozell, 22 N.E.2d 254, 281 N.Y. 106, 123 A.L.R. 1015, affirming 8 N.Y.S.2d 901, 256 App. Div. 61.
Ohio.—Wery v. Seff, 25 N.E.2d 692, 136 Ohio St. 307.
Utah.—Wilcox v. Wunderlich, 272 P. 207, 73 Utah 1.
In Louisiana, under Civ.Code arts. 1785, 1874, 2227, a minor may be liable for his negligence in operating an automobile.—Seither v. Poter, App., 194 So. 467—Kern v. Knight, 127 So. 133, 13 La.App. 194.
Age of infant
(1) An infant nineteen years of age, which is three years beyond the age at which he may be licensed, under the laws of the state, to operate an automobile, is not incompetent, as a matter of law, to exercise average care in driving.—Smith v. Bailey, 23 A.2d 363, 91 N.H. 507.
(2) An infant under sixteen years of age, who was driving a motorcycle in violation of statute and who failed to exercise ordinary care with respect to speed, lookout, management, and control, was liable for injuries to a gratuitous guest.—Hopkins v. Droppers, 210 N.W. 684, 191 Wis. 334, 49 A.L.R. 1519.
Injury to automobile
An infant who takes control of a car without reason to believe that he has a contractual right so to do may be liable in tort for an injury to the car resulting from his negligent driving.—Miller v. Peck, Tex. Civ.App., 258 S.W. 887.

liability for his negligence merely because the injured person was an occupant of the automobile pursuant to an alleged contract with the infant, where such contract has no relation to, or connection with, the infant's negligence,[10] but an infant is not liable to the injured person where, notwithstanding the action sounds in tort, such action is merely an indirect method of enforcing liability on a contract.[11] The infant bailee of an automobile who is obligated to exercise only reasonable care in driving is not liable for injury thereto where he is guilty merely of want of reasonable care.[12]

Generally an infant is not liable for the negligence of another in operating an automobile, solely under the doctrine of respondeat superior,[13] and this rule applies even though the infant is in possession and control, and is an occupant, of the automobile when the tort of the driver is committed.[14] It has been held that an infant who is in possession of an automobile and who permits another to drive is not liable for the negligence of such other, notwithstanding the infant is an occupant of the automobile when the tort is committed,[15] or, at least, that the infant is not liable in

10. Mass.—Dow v. Lipsitz, 185 N.E. 921, 283 Mass. 132.

Action sounding in tort

The rule stated in the text was applied where the action was based on the infant's gross negligence and was not brought to recover for breach of contract but was brought to recover for the distinct and positive wrong of the infant, wholly independent of any contract.—Dow v. Lipsitz, supra.

11. Mich.—Brown v. Wood, 291 N. W. 255, 293 Mich. 148, 127 A.L.R. 1436.

Particular contract

(1) A minor who transported other minors to and from school pursuant to a contract to pay such minor for such transportation was not liable in a tort action for injuries sustained by them in an accident caused by his negligence, since the tort was inseparably connected with the contract.—Brown v. Wood, supra.

(2) The view apparently was taken that the minor operator would not be liable in such case even though the relationship might be regarded as one of joint enterprise, since the relationship of joint enterprise is based on contract, either express or implied.—Brown v. Wood, supra.

(3) The facts that the injured minors neither paid nor tendered payment for their transportation on the day of the accident and that the guardian of the minor defendant disaffirmed, at the trial, any contract of carrying for hire did not alter the determination that the minor defendant was not liable; if the injured minors were gratuitous passengers, there was no liability, in view of statutory regulation, because there was neither claim nor proof of gross negligence or of wanton or willful misconduct.—Brown v. Wood, supra.

12. N.J.—Brunhoelzl v. Brandes, 100 A. 163, 90 N.J.Law 31.
31 C.J. p 1091 note 42 [a].

Reason for rule

To hold the infant liable for the tort where the injury to the car was caused by his poor judgment or lack of caution and not by recklessness, wantonness, or gross negligence would enforce, in effect, his liability on a contract of bailment and deny his immunity from liability on contract.—Brunhoelzl v. Brandes, supra.

Gratuitous bailee

Infant bailee of borrowed automobile was not liable for damages to automobile caused by reckless driving at speed exceeding forty-five miles per hour, in absence of showing that he departed from object of bailment or that he intentionally caused damage.—Jones v. Milner, 185 S.E. 586, 53 Ga.App. 304.

Care and use of subject matter of bailment and negligence of bailee in general see Bailments §§ 26–29.

13. Ill.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E. 2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N. E.2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E.2d 297, 319 Ill.App. 265.

Mo.—Hodge v. Feiner, 90 S.W.2d 90, 338 Mo. 268, 103 A.L.R. 483, affirming, App., 78 S.W.2d 478.

In Louisiana, since there is no specific provision of the law of Louisiana which authorizes a minor to bind himself or herself for the torts of another either by express agreement or by silent acquiescence, a person cannot be the agent or servant of the minor owner of an automobile, so as to render the minor liable for the negligence of such person in driving the automobile.—Gott v. Scott, App., 199 So. 460.

Tort not committed in presence of infant

Where the infant, who had the privilege of using an automobile owned by his father and who had permitted another to drive the car, was not present when a collision which resulted from the negligent driving of such other occurred, and where, in order to hold the infant liable, it was necessary to show that the driver was the agent of the infant and was engaged on an errand in the infant's behalf, it was held that the infant could not be held liable under the doctrine of respondeat superior.—Hodge v. Feiner, 90 S.W.2d 90, 338 Mo. 268, 103 A.L.R. 483, affirming, App., 78 S.W.2d 478.

14. Ill.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E. 2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N.E.2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582.

15. Tex.—Fernandez v. Lewis, Civ. App., 92 S.W.2d 305, error dismissed.

In Louisiana, in view of the provisions of Civ.Code arts. 1785, 1874, 2227, imposing liability on a minor with respect to his offenses or quasi offenses, which provisions constitute the basis of the liability of a minor for torts, the minor owner of an automobile, who occupied the back seat and did not exercise control over the operation of the automobile by a driver to whom the infant had given permission to drive, was not liable for the negligence of the driver, even though the infant had the right to control the operation of the automobile; the driver was not the agent or servant of the infant owner so as to render the infant liable for the negligence of the driver.—Gott v. Scott, App., 199 So. 460.

Reason for rule

An infant is not liable for a tort committed by his agent or employee. —Fernandez v. Lewis, Tex.Civ.App., 92 S.W.2d 305, error dismissed.

Coöwners

Where it was assumed that one of two infant coöwners of an automobile was an occupant of the automobile when an injury was caused by the negligent driving of the other owner, it was stated that there could be no liability based on any agency, or contractual relation between such coöwners, "for the reason that infants are not liable directly or indirectly on their contracts, and liability on this score necessarily involves the recognition of a contract." —Wilcox v. Wunderlich, 272 P. 207, 73 Utah 1.

such case on the theory that the negligence of the driver is imputable to the infant.[16] In some jurisdictions, however, the infant may be liable if he is present and has the authority to control and direct the driver.[17] An infant may be liable where he is present and is exercising his authority to control the operation of the automobile by the driver.[18] According to some cases, an infant who has control of an automobile may be liable for an injury immediately caused by the negligence of another whom the infant has permitted to drive, notwithstanding the infant is not present when the injury occurs.[19] A statutory provision that, in all cases where damage is done by any car by reason of the negligence of the driver who is driving with the consent of the owner, the owner shall be liable for such damage applies to an infant owner so as to render him liable in a case otherwise within the statute.[20]

§ 92. Damages

In general an infant tort-feasor is liable for compensatory damages, but not for punitive damages unless his age and intelligence are such as to render him criminally responsible for the tort.

In general an infant is liable for compensatory damages resulting from his tort,[21] but he is not liable for punitive damages if he is not criminally

16. Ill.—Palmer v. Miller, 43 N.E.2d 973, 380 Ill. 256, reversing 35 N.E.2d 104, 310 Ill.App. 582.

17. Pa.—Feaglas v. Sullivan, 32 Pa.Dist. & Co. 47.
Tenn.—Wilson v. Moudy, 123 S.W.2d 828, 22 Tenn.App. 356—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn.App. 319.

Imputable negligence

(1) In some jurisdictions the doctrine of imputable negligence applies to a minor who is present and has charge of the automobile, with the right and authority to direct the driver in the manner of operation.—Woodson v. Hare, 13 So.2d 172, 244 Ala. 301.

(2) The rule was applied where the owner of the automobile permitted the infant to use it and the tort was committed when the infant was an occupant of the automobile which was being driven by one to whom the infant had given permission to drive.—Woodson v. Hare, supra.

(3) In discussing the rule it has been stated that the person whom the infant has designated as driver is the alter ego of the infant, that is, an agent in law, and that there is an agency out of which liability can be imposed on the infant.—Woodson v. Hare, supra.

Agency

(1) It has been held that an infant who had control of an automobile and who was present when the tort was committed was liable for the negligence of another who was driving at the request, or with the permission, of the infant, on the theory that the driver was the infant's agent for whose negligence the infant was liable.
N.J.—Scott v. Schisler, 153 A. 395, 107 N.J.Law 397.
Pa.—Feaglas v. Sullivan, 32 Pa.Dist. & Co. 47.

(2) This conclusion was reached on the theory that the appointment of an agent by an infant is not void but is merely voidable, and that, as long as the infant sees fit to continue the existence of the agency, he is answerable for the negligence of his representative in the performance of a duty which the agency carries with it.—Scott v. Schisler, supra.

18. Mo.—Haynie v. Jones, 127 S.W.2d 105, 233 Mo.App. 948.
Tenn.—Thrasher v. Bratton, 6 Tenn.Civ.App. 454.

Acts under, and pursuant to, infant's direction and control

If the alleged tortious act was committed by the driver in the presence of the infant while the driver was operating the automobile under, and pursuant to, the infant's authority, direction, and control, the driver would be regarded as the alter ego of the infant so as to render the latter liable.—Taksen v. Kramer, 263 N.Y.S. 609, 239 App.Div. 756.

Joint enterprise

In a case in which a minor either borrowed an automobile or took it without the consent of the owner, and at first actually assisted in driving and continued to direct the movements of the car throughout the drive, the rule was announced that a minor who occupies an automobile and engages in the prosecution of a joint enterprise with another who drives may be liable for the negligence of the driver.—Ahlstedt v. Smith, 264 N.W. 889, 130 Neb. 372.

19. In Virginia

(1) In a case in which the law of Virginia was applicable, the federal district court took the broad view that, where an infant, in possession and control of an automobile, had left the car and had permitted another to drive it, the infant was liable for an injury caused by the negligence of the driver, on the theory that the infant and the driver were engaged in a joint enterprise and that the driver was the agent of the infant and was using the automobile for a purpose for which the infant was legally authorized to use it.—Carroll v. Harrison, D.C.Va., 49 F.Supp. 283, affirmed, C.C.A., Harrison v. Carroll, 139 F.2d 427.

(2) In affirming the judgment of the district court and in holding the infant liable, the circuit court of appeals based its holding on the ground that the infant was guilty of negligence in permitting the driver to take the car and drive it, in view of the fact that he permitted the driver to take the car with knowledge that the latter was intoxicated and unfit to drive, a ground on which the district court had also based liability.—Harrison v. Carroll, C.C.A.Va., 139 F.2d 427, affirming, D.C., Carroll v. Harrison, 49 F.Supp. 283.

20. Iowa.—Lind v. Eddy, 6 N.W.2d 427, 232 Iowa 1328, 146 A.L.R. 695.

Nature of liability and disaffirmance of limited agency

(1) The statutory liability, under Code 1939 § 5037.09, is analogous to the liability of a principal for the negligent acts of his agent, and the statute does not create a full and complete agency between the owner and user of the car permitting an infant owner to disaffirm the agency on reaching maturity so as to avoid liability.—Lind v. Eddy, supra.

(2) Under the statute, an infant owner of a truck was liable for an injury caused by negligent driving of one whom he had employed to drive it, and the infant could not disaffirm the limited agency so as to avoid liability.—Lind v. Eddy, supra.

21. Wis.—Briese v. Maechtle, 130 N.W. 893, 146 Wis. 89, 35 L.R.A.,N.S., 574, Ann.Cas.1912C 176.
31 C.J. p 1094 note 75.

Deceit

Infant misrepresenting age, not being liable on note, but being liable for deceit, was not liable for attorney's fees or for interest above legal rate.—Wisconsin Loan & Finance Corporation v. Goodnough, 228 N.W. 484, 201 Wis. 101, 67 A.L.R. 1259.
Compensatory damages, generally see Damages §§ 17–100.

responsible for the tort involved.[22] An infant may be liable for punitive damages, however, if he is of sufficient age and intelligence to be criminally responsible.[23]

VII. CRIMES AND COMMITMENT OF JUVENILE DELINQUENTS AND DEPENDENTS

§ 93. In General

While an infant criminal is at common law treated as an adult, such treatment is at variance with the modern spirit of penology.

As considered infra § 94, at common law and apart from contrary statute, an infant who violates the criminal law is generally treated as an adult. However, it is said to be contrary to the spirit of modern penology to impose on juvenile offenders, whose need is reclamation and reform rather than punishment, the penalties intended for adults,[24] and as a result of a growing sentiment in that direction, in many jurisdictions, special laws have been enacted for the juvenile offender, whereby an infant who has violated the criminal law is treated merely as a delinquent, and not as a criminal. Such statutes are discussed infra §§ 97–102. The law with respect to infants treated as criminals is considered infra §§ 94–96.

§ 94. Juvenile Offender Treated as Criminal

Except for contrary statute, and subject to any presumption of incapacity, an infant may be prosecuted for crime under the criminal law just as any adult.

Although it has been said that the law throws every reasonable protection about an infant accused of crime, and tends to resolve every doubt in his favor,[25] except as otherwise provided by statute,[26] and except for, or apart from, any presumption of incapacity to commit crime, as considered infra § 96, an infant who has developed sufficient intelligence and moral perception to distinguish between right and wrong, and to comprehend the legal consequence of his acts, is, as in the case of an adult, subject to the criminal law, and may be prosecuted and convicted thereunder.[27] Thus, under a statute

22. Ark.—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W. 2d 310, 180 Ark. 41.

Extreme youth and want of discretion

It seems that extreme youth and consequent want of discretion may be sufficient to prevent an award of punitive damages.—Huchting v. Engel, 17 Wis. 230, 84 Am.D. 741.

Exemplary or punitive damages generally see Damages §§ 117–127.

23. Ark.—Kibler v. Kibler, 24 S.W. 2d 867, 180 Ark. 1152—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W.2d 310, 180 Ark. 41.

24. U.S.—U. S. v. A Juvenile Offender, 3 Mill.Rev. 380.

Ohio.—Durst v. Griffith, 182 N.E. 519, 520, 43 Ohio App. 44, quoting Corpus Juris.

25. Ky.—Elmore v. Commonwealth, 138 S.W.2d 956, 282 Ky. 443.

26. Child below age of capacity

In view of statute declaring child under the age of ten years doli incapax, statute making it a misdemeanor to climb on railroad car without permission has no application to child under ten years of age. —Maskaliunas v. Chicago & W. I. R. Co., 149 N.E. 23, 318 Ill. 142.

Children below specified age

(1) Under some statutes, only minors over a specified age may be tried in the criminal courts for their crimes.

Ky.—Cloyd v. Commonwealth, 278 S. W. 595, 212 Ky. 178.

La.—State ex rel. Clayton v. Jones, 188 So. 737, 192 La. 671—State v. Bennett, 159 So. 385, 181 La. 269 —State v. Walker, 152 So. 215, 178 La. 635—State v. West, 139 So. 304, 173 La. 974—State v. Grayson, 127 So. 382, 170 La. 111—State v. Dabon, 111 So. 461, 162 La. 1075—State v. Duckett, 107 So. 696, 160 La. 920.

Mo.—State v. Carolla, 292 S.W. 721, 316 Mo. 213.

(2) Determining age of accused see infra § 98.

Preliminary investigation

(1) As discussed infra § 98, under some statutes a preliminary investigation is made to determine whether an infant accused of crime should be proceeded against as a delinquent or prosecuted for crime, such an investigation being essential in some jurisdictions, before the criminal court may take jurisdiction.—Ex parte Walker, 235 P. 266, 30 Okl.Cr. 149.

(2) Such a preliminary determination is not necessary under some statutes with respect to offenses excepted from operation of the Juvenile Court Act.—Howland v. State, 268 S.W. 115, 151 Tenn. 47.

Pendency of juvenile proceeding

Refusal to abate prosecution on the ground that accused was under seventeen years of age when alleged offense occurred, and that complaint charging him as juvenile delinquent was pending, was held not error, where accused was more than seventeen years old when indictment was returned and it did not appear why juvenile case had not been disposed of.—Smith v. State, 269 S.W. 793, 99 Tex.Cr. 402.

Infant criminal treated as mere delinquent see infra §§ 97–102.

Invalidity of Juvenile Court Act does not affect validity of trial of infant in criminal courts.—State v. Peterson, 190 N.W. 845, 153 Minn. 310.

27. Ala.—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.

Fla.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 143 Fla. 204.

Ind.—McCutcheon v. State, 155 N.E. 544, 199 Ind. 247.

Iowa.—State v. Reed, 218 N.W. 609, 207 Iowa 557.

La.—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 193 La. 104.

Me.—State v. Rand, 169 A. 898, 132 Me. 246.

Mo.—State v. Adams, 289 S.W. 948, 316 Mo. 157—State ex rel. Menth v. Porterfield, 264 S.W. 386—State ex rel. Corella v. Pence, 262 S.W. 360, 303 Mo. 598.

N.C.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.

N.D.—State v. Overby, 209 N.W. 552, 54 N.D. 295.

Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

Wash.—State v. Melvin, 258 P. 859, 144 Wash. 687.

31 C.J. p 1094 note 84—25 C.J. p 617 note 27.

Grand jury may indict a minor who commits a felony.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

Abandonment of wife

(1) An infant husband may be prosecuted for abandonment or non-denouncing an act as a crime, without exception in favor of infants, they are to be regarded as included, if of sufficient maturity to be capable of committing a crime.[28]

Effect of civil disability. The disability of an infant to enter into a binding contract or conveyance, considered supra §§ 30, 71, may prevent criminal liability from attaching to him for any act which would otherwise be a crime.[29] On the other hand, notwithstanding the contract of a minor is voidable, as considered supra § 71, it may, nevertheless, be a means by which he perpetrates a criminal offense for which he may be criminally responsible.[30] For example, an infant may be liable under a statute punishing the procuring of money or other articles of value on a contract to perform services with intent to defraud a hirer,[31] or the obtaining of money or property under false pretenses,[32] or swindling.[33]

Effect of compulsion. An infant otherwise liable for a crime cannot escape liability by showing that he acted under the command of his parent;[34] and where the act is done under the direction of a parent it must appear that the child is of such immature years or mind as to be entirely under the domination, direction, and control of the parent in order that the crime may be that of the parent and not of the child.[35] So where a child between the ages of seven and fourteen commits a criminal act in obedience to the direction of its parent, it is necessary to establish as a distinct fact the capacity of the child to commit the crime.[36]

The construction of a statute, which excepts from the class of persons capable of committing crimes those who commit the act under fear of danger to their lives, is not affected, as to the question whether the fear must be of imminent danger or may be of remote danger, by the fact that the person claiming to have acted under compulsion is an infant.[37]

Reduction of grade of offense. By statute an offense which would be a felony if committed by an adult is sometimes made a misdemeanor merely, when committed by an infant.[38]

§ 95. —— Capacity and Responsibility

To be responsible under the law an infant must be capable of criminal intent, and must be found to have such intent if it is an essential element of the offense charged.

support of his wife.—Land v. State, 71 So. 279, 71 Fla. 270, L.R.A.1916E 760—31 C.J. p 1095 note 9.

(2) This is so although the marriage is a voidable one.—State v. McPherson, 130 P. 481, 72 Wash. 371, 375, Ann.Cas.1914D 587.

(3) For a consideration of the offense of abandonment or nonsupport see Husband and Wife §§ 630–652.

Aggravated or grave offenses

Tex.—Todd v. State, 267 S.W. 726, 99 Tex.Cr. 1.

Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

31 C.J. p 1094 note 84 [b].

Murder

La.—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 193 La. 104.

N.Y.—People v. Roper, 181 N.E. 88, 259 N.Y. 170, motion denied 182 N. E. 213, 259 N.Y. 635.

Pa.—Commonwealth v. Cavalier, 131 A. 229, 284 Pa. 311.

Attempt, or assault with intent, to rape, by infant see the C.J.S. title Rape § 22, also 52 C.J. p 1027 notes 99–7.

Determining whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent see infra § 98.

Offenses by infants which may be prosecuted in the Criminal Courts because excepted from the operation of juvenile delinquency statutes see infra § 98.

Rape, responsibility of infant for, see the C.J.S. title Rape § 6, also 52 C.J. p 1009 note 14–p 1010 note 30.

Seduction by infant see the C.J.S. title Seduction § 31 also 57 C.J. p 47 notes 61–65.

28. N.Y.—People v. Kendall, 25 Wend. 399, 37 Am.D. 240.

Presumptions as to capacity to commit crime see infra § 96.

"Man" as male minor

Under statutes designed to prevent illicit intercourse between the sexes, the word "man" is construed ordinarily to include male minors.—State v. Seiler, 82 N.W. 167, 106 Wis. 346—31 C.J. p 1094 note 89.

Violation of Alien Land Act

Seventeen-year-old girl, eligible to own agricultural lands, who by accepting conveyance of agricultural lands and in executing mortgages and notes had knowingly participated in conspiracy to violate Alien Land Act, prohibiting aliens ineligible to citizenship from owning or exercising incidents of ownership with respect to agricultural lands, was held responsible for her conduct, notwithstanding her youth, and subject to statute making it criminal offense to conspire to violate provisions of Alien Land Act.—Babu v. Petersen, 48 P.2d 689, 4 Cal.2d 276.

29. Fraudulent disposition of mortgaged property

N.C.—State v. Howard, 88 N.C. 650.

Tex.—Jones v. State, 20 S.W. 578, 31 Tex.Cr. 252.

30. Ga.—Anthony v. State, 55 S.E. 479, 126 Ga. 632.

31 C.J. p 1095 note 95.

31. Ga.—Anthony v. State, 55 S.E. 479, 126 Ga. 632—Vinson v. State, 52 S.E. 79, 124 Ga. 19.

32. Ky.—Commonwealth v. Ferguson, 121 S.W. 967, 135 Ky. 32, 24 L. R.A.,N.S., 1101, 21 Ann.Cas. 434.

N.Y.—People v. Kendall, 25 Wend. 399, 37 Am.D. 240.

31 C.J. p 1095 note 97.

33. Tex.—Neal v. State, Cr., 101 S. W. 212.

34. Cal.—People v. Richmond, 29 Cal. 414.

S.C.—State v. Thrailkill, 53 S.E. 482, 73 S.C. 314, 318.

31 C.J. p 1095 note 2.

Liability of person exercising duress as principal see Criminal Law § 84 b.

35. Fla.—Kelley v. State, 83 So. 909, 79 Fla. 182.

31 C.J. p 1095 note 3.

36. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Mead, 10 Allen 398.

Presumption of capacity see infra § 96.

37. Cal.—People v. Martin, 108 P. 1034, 13 Cal.App. 96.

38. N.Y.—People v. Kaminsky, 102 N.E. 515, 208 N.Y. 389, affirming 122 N.Y.S. 687, 137 App.Div. 941.

Apart from presumptions of capacity or incapacity of infants to commit crime, as considered infra § 96, in order that an infant may be responsible for crime, he must be capable of entertaining a criminal intent,[39] or, as it is sometimes otherwise stated, he must understand the nature or illegality of his acts.[40] Hence, the test of responsibility rests rather in his discretion and power to discriminate right from wrong,[41] and to comprehend the consequence of his acts,[42] than on the mere question of age.[43] A sense of moral guilt alone, in the absence of knowledge of legal responsibility, is not sufficient.[44] However, it is not necessary to show actual knowledge of the unlawfulness of the act if sufficient legal capacity to commit crime is otherwise established.[45]

Felonious intent as an essential element of the crime charged must be found present to justify conviction of a minor.[46] However, where intent is not an ingredient of the statutory crime charged, the age and mentality of the infant is not taken into consideration.[47]

§ 96. —— Prosecution and Punishment

a. In general
b. Appearance and representation by counsel; guardian
c. Plea
d. Evidence
e. Trial
f. Review
g. Punishment

a. In General

Except as statute may otherwise provide or require, and subject to the duty of the court to safeguard the interests of minors appearing before it, the procedure in criminal cases in which infants are defendants is the same as in the case of adult defendants.

The procedure in criminal cases where infants are defendants is, in the absence of statute providing otherwise,[48] the same as in the cases of adult defendants.[49] This is true of cases wherein the juvenile court orders a delinquent child to be prosecuted for the crime.[50]

Jurisdiction. The court before which a minor

39. Miss.—Beason v. State, 50 So. 488, 96 Miss. 105.

Incapacity to form intent

Child too young to form an intent to steal cannot be guilty of larceny. —Allen v. State, Tex.Cr., 37 S.W. 757.

Preliminary determination of capacity of infant to commit crime see infra § 98.

Criminal capacity generally see Criminal Law § 55.

40. Tex.—Real v. State, 103 S.W.2d 741, 132 Tex.Cr. 178.
31 C.J. p 1095 note 14 [a].

41. Ariz.—Hernandez v. State, 32 P. 2d 18, 43 Ariz. 424.
31 C.J. p 1095 note 13.

Age as factor in determination

In murder prosecution against seventeen-year-old boy, instruction that age of accused was to be considered for purpose of determining whether he had at time of alleged crime sufficient mental capacity to entertain criminal intent, and to distinguish between right and wrong, was held proper.—Hernandez v. State, supra.

Knowledge of wrongfulness of act must be found.—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45—Ex parte Pyzer, 232 P. 962, 29 Okl.Cr. 156—Ex parte Parnell, 200 P. 456, 19 Okl.Cr. 273.

42. Miss.—Beason v. State, 50 So. 488, 96 Miss. 105.

43. Fla.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 143 Fla. 204.
31 C.J. p 1095 note 15.

44. N.C.—State v. Yeargan, 23 S.E. 153, 117 N.C. 706, 36 L.R.A. 196.
31 C.J. p 1095 note 16.

45. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Mead, 10 Allen 398.

46. Murder

(1) Under 1932 law, proof that child under age of sixteen years participated in robbery in first degree cannot establish child's guilt of felony necessary to show felonious intent in murder prosecution.—People v. Roper, 181 N.E. 88, 259 N.Y. 170, motion denied 182 N.E. 213, 259 N.Y. 635.

(2) In prosecution of fifteen-year-old child for murder, wherein guilt of robbery was relied on to establish felonious intent, but court did not charge on degrees of robbery, accused's conviction of murder in first degree rested on no finding of felonious intent.—People v. Roper, supra.

47. Minn.—State v. Peterson, 190 N. W. 345, 153 Minn. 310.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 18.

48. Arrest

Where justice of the peace, at the time he issued warrant for arrest of infant, knew that rape had been committed and that confession of the infant and other circumstances pointed to infant as the criminal agent, the use of process of arrest was "imperative" within statute providing that no warrant of arrest shall be issued for a child between ages of twelve and eighteen years except when use of such process is imperative.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

Procedure when treated as delinquent see infra § 99.

49. Mo.—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233.
Okl.—Fields v. State, Cr., 138 P.2d 124—Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41.
Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 21.

Determination of whether infant should be proceeded against as criminal or delinquent see infra § 98.

As common-law rule

Me.—Richardson v. Dunn, 146 A. 904, 905, 128 Me. 316, citing Corpus Juris.

Courts should exercise care in use of printed forms furnished by institutions.—People ex rel. Boger v. Coon, 245 N.Y.S. 141, 230 App.Div. 370.

Indictment and information

Indictment charging arson committed by child under fifteen years, constituting aggravated offense, was held to give superior court jurisdiction without allegation that offense was aggravated.—State v. Rand, 169 A. 898, 132 Me. 246.

50. Minn.—State v. Peterson, 190 N. W. 345, 153 Minn. 310.
Mo.—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233.

Grand jury action

Under some statutes when felony charge against minor is transferred may or must be tried for a crime depends largely on the governing statutes, although the court before which an adult would be tried for the same offense generally has jurisdiction of a prosecution against a minor for a crime,[51] and not the juvenile court.[52] Under some statutes, however, the juvenile court may have jurisdiction of such a prosecution,[53] while under others, the juvenile courts and crimfrom juvenile court to court of common pleas, grand jury is empowered to return any indictment proper under facts submitted to it, notwithstanding general jurisdiction of delinquent minors conferred on juvenile court.—State v. Klingenberger, 149 N.E. 395, 113 Ohio St. 418.

51. Fla.—Ex parte Kitts, 147 So. 573, 109 Fla. 202.
Ga.—Thomas v. State, 163 S.E. 734, 174 Ga. 654.
Ill.—People v. Fitzgerald, 152 N.E. 542, 322 Ill. 54.
Iowa.—State v. Reed, 218 N.W. 609, 207 Iowa 557.
Ky.—Hall v. Commonwealth, 21 S.W. 2d 799, 231 Ky. 473.
Mo.—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233—State v. Adams, 289 S.W. 948, 316 Mo. 157—State ex rel. Menth v. Porterfield, 264 S.W. 386.
Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.
Or.—Ex parte Loundagin, 278 P. 950, 129 Or. 652.
Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S. Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.
Jurisdiction of delinquency proceedings see infra § 99.

Determination of jurisdictional facts

(1) In prosecution of juvenile, circuit court has jurisdiction to determine any fact necessary to confer jurisdiction on such court.—Angel v. Commonwealth, 21 S.W.2d 150, 231 Ky. 132.

(2) Jurisdiction to determine whether juvenile should be prosecuted as criminal or proceeded against as a delinquent see infra § 98.

Exclusiveness of jurisdiction

Under some statutes the criminal court is the only court to try an infant under a specified age for a felony, even though the infant could be tried in the juvenile court for delinquency, where the juvenile court act does not expressly limit the jurisdiction of the criminal court.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

Infant above specified age

(1) Criminal court has exclusive jurisdiction.—State v. Gregori, 2 S. W.2d 747, 318 Mo. 998.

(2) Statute, providing that when juvenile court obtains jurisdiction over delinquent child it shall continue until he becomes twenty-one, was construed to mean that such retention of jurisdiction is for purposes of proceeding in which jurisdiction was obtained, and not to exclude jurisdiction of criminal courts to proceed against youth, after he attains age of eighteen, for crimes committed between that time and age of twenty-one.—State ex rel. Corella v. Pence, 262 S.W. 360, 303 Mo. 598.

(3) Where judgment of juvenile court assuming jurisdiction of delinquent minor had by its own terms been fully satisfied and court's jurisdiction in that regard been exhausted, minor, being at time a charge of rape was preferred against him more than eighteen years of age, was subject to circuit court's ordinary criminal jurisdiction.—State ex rel. Menth v. Porterfield, Mo., 264 S. W. 386.

Infant formerly declared delinquent

The text rule applies although the infant had been declared to be a juvenile delinquent in a proceeding in the juvenile court in connection with another matter.—People ex rel. Malec v. Lewis, 199 N.E. 276, 362 Ill. 229—People v. Lattimore, 199 N.E. 275, 362 Ill. 206.

Murder

Criminal court has jurisdiction to try murder charge against infant.
Mo.—State v. Adams, 289 S.W. 948, 316 Mo. 157.
N.J.—State v. Goldberg, 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272, affirmed 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J.Law 501—Ex parte Mei, 192 A. 80, 122 N.J.Eq. 125, 110 A.L.R. 1080, affirming 186 A. 577, 121 N.J.Eq. 123, supplemented 186 A. 721, 121 N.J.Eq. 125—Ex parte Daniecki, 177 A. 91, 117 N.J. Eq. 527, affirmed 183 A. 298, 119 N.J.Eq. 359.

Police court

District of Columbia police court was held to have jurisdiction to commit minor under seventeen years to jail to await action of grand jury on charge of housebreaking, the jurisdiction of the juvenile court in such a case not being exclusive.—Peak v. Reed, 24 F.2d 619, 58 App.D.C. 44.

52. Cal.—In re Hulbert, 11 P.2d 50, 123 Cal.App. 362.
Fla.—Ex parte Kitts, 147 So. 573, 109 Fla. 202.
Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

Infant over specified age

Mo.—State v. Damico, 4 S.W.2d 424, 319 Mo. 440—State v. Gregori, 2 S.W.2d 747, 318 Mo. 998.

Particular offenses

(1) Juvenile court was held not to have jurisdiction of murder prosecution against an infant.—Ex parte Mei, 186 A. 577, 121 N.J.Eq. 123, supplemented 186 A. 721, 121 N.J. Eq. 125, affirmed 192 A. 80, 122 N. J.Eq. 125, 110 A.L.R. 1080—Ex parte Daniecki, 177 A. 91, 117 N.J.Eq. 527, affirmed 183 A. 298, 119 N.J.Eq. 359.

(2) Juvenile court was held without jurisdiction of fifteen-year-old boy charged with capital offense.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.

(3) In Virginia the juvenile and domestic relations court is given no power to acquit or convict an infant over twelve years of age charged with an aggravated felonious offense and, in such case, such court acts only as a court of investigation, and, if the evidence for the commonwealth presents a prima facie case, the juvenile and domestic relations court should hold the infant for action by the grand jury, but, if the offense is not well founded, it should dismiss the case.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U. S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

Juvenile court as committing magistrate

(1) Under the statutes involved the juvenile court was held without jurisdiction to pronounce infant, charged with commission of felony, a delinquent, but sits only as committing magistrate.—Appeal of McKendrick, 282 P. 784, 75 Utah 34.

(2) Statute providing that, if a juvenile offender is charged with a felony, the "juvenile court shall act as a committing magistrate was held not to give the juvenile court exclusive jurisdiction in preliminary hearings accorded juveniles charged with felonies.—State v. Tweed, 224 P. 443, 63 Utah 176.

53. Infant below specified age

Under the governing statute, the juvenile court was held to have exclusive jurisdiction in cases wherein persons under seventeen are charged with crime.—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090.

Violation of ordinance

The Allegheny County court has no jurisdiction to try a minor on an appeal for the alleged violation of a borough ordinance. All criminal or quasi-criminal proceedings against him must be in juvenile inal courts have coördinate jurisdiction over minors below a specified age with respect to a prosecution for crime, the juvenile court having exclusive jurisdiction of such minors in other matters.[54]

Safeguards. Infants being considered wards of the court,[55] it is the duty of the court to protect the substantial rights of infants in criminal,[56] as well as in civil, cases, as considered infra § 105, and such rights cannot be waived by any attorney or guardian ad litem,[57] it even having been held that a minor under the age of seventeen years, charged with a felony, in the absence of parent, guardian, or counsel, is incapable of waiving the safeguards provided by law in a criminal prosecution, unless it appears beyond all doubt that the minor fully understands the effects and result growing out of such waiver.[58] However, it has been held that a minor is not precluded from waiving his right to be brought before a criminal court when arrested for crime,[59] and that an infant presumed to have capacity to commit crime, may waive his right to counsel, plead guilty, and waive the time within which judgment must be pronounced.[60]

Pendency of proceedings in juvenile court. Under some statutes requiring a criminal court, before whom an infant has been brought, first to submit the case to the juvenile court to pass on the question of whether the infant should be proceeded against as a delinquent or prosecuted as a criminal, as discussed infra § 98, the proceedings had in the criminal court before submission of such question to the juvenile court stand suspended, and if the infant be returned to the criminal court for prosecution, may be continued from the point at which they were so suspended.[61]

b. Appearance and Representation by Counsel; Guardian

An infant prosecuted for crime may appear and defend in person or by counsel. The authorities are not in accord as to whether a guardian ad litem must be appointed to represent the infant.

If the infant prosecuted for crime is above the age when criminal responsibility attaches, he may appear and defend in person or by attorney,[62] an infant, like any other person, being entitled to be represented by counsel,[63] unless he waives such right.[64]

In some jurisdictions, it has been held that, while the trial court may have incidental power to appoint a guardian ad litem for a minor charged with court.—Commonwealth v. Smith, 90 Pittsb.Leg.J., Pa., 18.

54. Colo.—People v. Morley, 234 P. 178, 77 Colo. 25.

Courts having jurisdiction of delinquency proceedings see infra § 99.

55. Colo.—Reppin v. People, 34 P.2d 71, 95 Colo. 192.

Court as guardian

It is sometimes appropriate for court to exercise duty in nature of a guardian for minor accused of crime.—Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41.

56. Ill.—People v. Wunsch, 198 Ill. App. 437.

Ky.—McClure v. Commonwealth, 81 Ky. 448, 5 Ky.L. 468.

Minor without counsel or guardian

(1) A court in dealing with minors charged with felony, who appear without counsel, parent, or friend, should carefully guard their constitutional and statutory rights in all matters of procedure.—Ridge v. State, 220 P. 965, 25 Okl.Cr. 396.

(2) Thus preliminary trial of capital offense by infant under fourteen should be conducted with deliberation giving accused the benefit of every substantial rule of procedure in his favor.—Ridge v. State, supra.

57. Colo.—Reppin v. People, 34 P.2d 71, 95 Colo. 192.

58. Okl.—Fields v. State, Cr., 138 P. 2d 124—Ridge v. State, 220 P. 965, 25 Okl.Cr. 396.

Waiver induced by counsel

Where a child under fourteen years of age was induced by counsel appointed by court to waive preliminary hearing and right to a jury trial and time for pronouncement of sentence provided by statute, and was adjudicated a delinquent child by the juvenile court, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to be electrocuted, all in one day, he was entitled to a new trial on the ground that he had not received the benefit of statutory rules of procedure, which he did not realize the importance of, and therefore could not waive.—Ridge v. State, supra.

59. Mass.—Shea v. Sullivan, 158 N. E. 771, 261 Mass. 255.

60. Okl.—Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41.

61. Sentence on original plea of guilty

Accused pleading guilty before disclosing that he was less than eighteen years old and consequent transfer of case to juvenile court, was properly sentenced on such plea, on retransfer of case to criminal court. —People v. Tossey, 259 P. 488, 85 Cal.App. 435.

62. Ga.—Summerour v. Fortson, 164 S.E. 809, 813, 174 Ga. 862, citing Corpus Juris.

Me.—Richardson v. Dunn, 146 A. 904, 905, 128 Me. 316, citing Corpus Juris.

Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

31 C.J. p 1096 note 26.

Appearance in civil actions see infra § 114.

63. Kan.—State v. Oberst, 273 P. 490, 127 Kan. 412.

If desired by infant

Mich.—People v. Crandell, 258 N.W. 224, 270 Mich. 124.

Constitutional guaranty

Under constitutional provision that "every person charged with an offense . . . shall have the . . . benefit of counsel," the right of infant criminally responsible to defend in person or by attorney cannot be interfered with by court's appointment of a guardian ad litem.—Summerour v. Fortson, 164 S.E. 809, 174 Ga. 862.

Permitting plea of guilty by infant not represented by counsel was held improper.—State v. Oberst, 273 P. 490, 127 Kan. 412.

64. Right to counsel may be waived by eighteen-year-old accused.—Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41.

crime,[65] the appointment of a guardian is not necessary,[66] and, in some cases, is not even proper.[67] In other jurisdictions, however, it is held that a guardian should be appointed to assist the infant defendant in his defense.[68]

Notice to parent or guardian. Unless expressly required by statute, a notice before trial to the parents or guardian of an infant being prosecuted in the criminal courts is unnecessary.[69] Under some statutes, however, notice of the charge against an unmarried minor must be given to the parents or guardian of such minor before the trial.[70] The notice required under such a statute has been held not to be jurisdictional,[71] although failure to give the required notice may constitute a material error justifying reversal of the judgment.[72]

c. Plea

An infant charged with crime must plead to the charge, and generally may enter a plea of guilty.

As an incident to the right to defend in person, discussed infra subdivision b of this section, the infant must plead,[73] and consequently may plead guilty,[74] although the court should exercise cau-

65. Ga.—Summerour v. Fortson, 164 S.E. 809, 174 Ga. 862.

66. Ga.—Summerour v. Fortson, 164 S.E. 809, 174 Ga. 862.
Ill.—People v. Crooks, 157 N.E. 218, 326 Ill. 266.
Me.—Richardson v. Dunn, 146 A. 904, 905, 128 Me. 316, citing Corpus Juris.
Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 27.

Appointment of attorney sufficient
Where attorney is appointed to represent criminally responsible minor, minor cannot complain of failure to appoint guardian ad litem.
Ga.—Summerour v. Fortson, 164 S.E. 809, 174 Ga. 862.
Ill.—People v. Crooks, 157 N.E. 218, 326 Ill. 266.

General statute inapplicable
Statute dealing with appointment of guardian ad litem for infant interested in "any litigation" was held not to apply to a criminal prosecution of an infant.—Summerour v. Fortson, 164 S.E. 809, 174 Ga. 862.

Statute as to determining delinquency has no relation to criminal prosecutions.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.
Representation in civil actions see infra § 107.

67. N.Y.—In re Rousos, 119 N.Y.S. 34.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 28.

68. Conn.—State v. James, 37 Conn. 355—Fahay v. State, 25 Conn. 205.

Effect of failure to appoint
(1) The failure to appoint a guardian is error, rendering the judgment liable to be set aside on a writ of error.—State v. James, 37 Conn. 355—Fahay v. State, 25 Conn. 205.

(2) It does not render the proceedings void however.—State v. James, supra.

(3) It affords no ground for dismissing the complaint and setting accused at liberty.—Fahay v. State, supra.

69. Me.—Richardson v. Dunn, 146 A. 904, 128 Me. 316.
Mich.—People v. Crandell, 258 N.W. 224, 270 Mich. 124.
Notice of delinquency proceedings see infra § 99.

70. Fla.—State ex rel. Hamilton v. Chapman, 169 So. 658, 125 Fla. 235.

Purpose of statute
Statute as to notice is designed to insure notice to parent or guardian or other relative or friend of a minor unmarried defendant before trial for offense, but does not require or authorize person so notified to take part in trial or be present.—Pitts v. State, 102 So. 554, 88 Fla. 438.

Actual notice
(1) Formal notice is not jurisdictional, if actual notice is had.—James v. State, 111 So. 277, 92 Fla. 999—Pitts v. State, 102 So. 554, 88 Fla. 438.

(2) Actual notice takes the place of formal notice.—Milligan v. State, 147 So. 260, 109 Fla. 219.

Substantial compliance with the statute may be sufficient.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 143 Fla. 204.

Married minor
In the case of a married minor, in which the question of his mental capacity was not involved, it was unnecessary to serve notice as to the charge against his parents or guardian.—Dicks v. State, 93 So. 137, 83 Fla. 717.

Effect of divorce or annulment
Statute requiring notice to parent before trial of unmarried minor was held inapplicable where minor had been married, although marriage was dissolved by annulment or divorce.—Milligan v. State, 147 So. 260, 109 Fla. 219.

Insufficient notice
A "notice before trial" contemplates an opportunity for the infant to see and confer with his parents or guardian before entering a plea; hence notice to defendant's parents, who were brought to court on day of original plea and were present when boy was immediately rearraigned, again pleaded guilty, and was sentenced, was held not sufficient.—State ex rel. Hamilton v. Chapman, 169 So. 658, 125 Fla. 235.

Minor detained in jail or police station
Under statute creating probation officer and requiring notice of time and place of trial to parents in case minor is detained in jail or police station, failure to notify parents of trial of minor was held not to have deprived criminal court of its jurisdiction, or to make the commitment of the minor convicted of larceny unlawful, where the record did not disclose when the arrest was made, or the conditions under which the minor was brought before the court.—Richardson v. Dunn, 146 A. 904, 128 Me. 316.

Where an infant of subnormal mentality is convicted without notice to parent or guardian and justice requires a new trial, the conviction will be reversed.—Whitten v. State, 89 So. 421, 82 Fla. 181.

71. Fla.—James v. State, 111 So. 277, 92 Fla. 999—Blocker v. State, 105 So. 316, 90 Fla. 136.

72. Fla.—Blocker v. State, supra.

73. D.C.—Ledrick v. U. S., 42 App. D.C. 381.
N.Y.—People v. Wandell, 21 Hun 515.

Doli incapax
In a prosecution for a felony or misdemeanor, plea of doli incapax is the only defense which may be made by a minor with respect to his years; such plea cannot be made by an adult.—State ex rel. Menth v. Porterfield, Mo., 264 S.W. 386.
Failure to file plea in abatement to jurisdiction of criminal court as waiver of exemption from criminal prosecution see infra § 98.

74. Ga.—Taylor v. Means, 77 S.E. 373, 139 Ga. 578.

tion in accepting such a plea.[75] However, the court should reject a plea of guilty by an infant charged with a crime of which a felonious intent is an essential element where it appears that the infant had no such intent.[76]

If a minor is wrongfully prosecuted in a criminal court for an offense within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, as discussed infra § 97, the lack of jurisdiction in the criminal court may be attacked by a plea in abatement.[77]

d. Evidence

(1) Presumptions and burden of proof
(2) Admissibility
(3) Weight and sufficiency

(1) Presumptions and Burden of Proof

(a) In general
(b) As to capacity or incapacity

(a) In General

An infant charged with crime is entitled to the same presumption of innocence as an adult. He must, however, prove himself to be within the years of incapacity if he seeks to escape responsibility on the ground of his age.

An infant charged with crime is entitled to the general presumption of innocence[78] which exists in favor of an adult so charged, as discussed in Criminal Law § 581.

An accused who seeks to shield himself from responsibility for crime on the ground of infancy must show that he is within the years under which the law either conclusively or prima facie presumes him to be incapable of committing a crime.[79] The burden of proof as to age is also on the infant in those jurisdictions where, in order to escape the death penalty, he must show that he has not passed the age limit.[80]

(b) As to Capacity or Incapacity

At common law and under statute various presumptions exist with respect to the capacity or incapacity of infants of varying ages to commit crime.

At common law, the time of infancy is usually regarded as divided into three distinct periods as to which distinct presumptions of capacity or incapacity prevail.[81] Thus, an infant under the age of seven is conclusively presumed to have no capacity to commit a crime.[82] Between the ages of seven and fourteen there is a presumption in favor of his incapacity,[83] but such presumption is merely prima facie and rebuttable,[84] and varies in strength with

Mich.—People v. Crandell, 258 N.W. 224, 270 Mich. 124.
Ohio.—State v. Klingenberger, 149 N. E. 395, 396, 113 Ohio St. 418, citing Corpus Juris.
Okl.—Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41.

Court may accept plea
N.D.—State v. Overby, 209 N.W. 552, 54 N.D. 295.

Change of plea
In a prosecution before a New York city magistrate for being a wayward minor, where accused is young, inexperienced, and without counsel, and complaint is defective, she should be permitted to change a plea of guilty.—People v. Rosenkrantz, 205 N.Y.S. 861, 123 Misc. 335.
Plea of guilty as waiver of right to be treated as juvenile see infra § 98.

75. Advice of counsel
Where infant of more than eighteen pleaded guilty of murder on advice of counsel some three weeks after appointment of counsel and after the court had fully explained to infant consequences of such plea, court did not err in accepting plea of guilty.—Reppin v. People, 34 P.2d 71, 95 Colo. 192.

76. U.S.—U. S. v. Trinder, D.C. Mont., 1 F.Supp. 659.

77. Tenn.—Howland v. State, 268 S. W. 115, 151 Tenn. 47.

78. Tex.—Ragsdale v. State, 134 S. W. 234, 61 Tex.Cr. 145.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 41.

79. Ga.—Broadnax v. State, 25 S.E. 844, 100 Ga. 62.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 39.

Presumption
Where the burden is on accused to prove that he is under age, a presumption exists that he is over age in the absence of any evidence to the contrary.—People v. Ellis, 274 P. 353, 206 Cal. 353.

80. Ind.—Colip v. State, 55 N.E. 739, 153 Ind. 584, 74 Am.S.R. 322.
Tex.—Ake v. State, 6 Tex.App. 398, 32 Am.R. 586.

Under statute
Cal.—People v. Ellis, 274 P. 353, 206 Cal. 353—People v. Perry, 234 P. 890, 195 Cal. 623.

81. Ala.—Hampton v. State, 55 So. 1018, 1 Ala.App. 156, 157.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 43.

82. Ala.—Jackson v. State, 193 So. 417, 239 Ala. 38.
Fla.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 463, 143 Fla. 204, citing Corpus Juris.
Miss.—Triplett v. State, 152 So. 881, 169 Miss. 306—Holmes v. State, 98 So. 104, 133 Miss. 610.
N.Y.—People v. Fields, 20 N.Y.S.2d 702, 174 Misc. 309.
N.C.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 44.

83. Ala.—Berry v. State, 95 So. 453, 209 Ala. 120.
Ariz.—Hernandez v. State, 32 P.2d 18, 43 Ariz. 424.
Fla.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 143 Fla. 204.
Ky.—Watson v. Commonwealth, 57 S. W.2d 39, 247 Ky. 336.
Miss.—Triplett v. State, 152 So. 881, 169 Miss. 306—Holmes v. State, 98 So. 104, 133 Miss. 610.
Mo.—State v. Jackson, 142 S.W.2d 45, 346 Mo. 474.
N.C.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.
31 C.J. p 1097 note 46.

Guilty knowledge of wrong
Boys between seven and fourteen years of age should be acquitted, unless evidence showed they had guilty knowledge that they were doing wrong when they pulled boy, unable to swim, into river where he drowned.—Watson v. Commonwealth, 57 S.W.2d 39, 247 Ky. 336.
Mental age of adult as factor see Criminal Law § 55.

84. Ala.—Berry v. State, 95 So. 453, 209 Ala. 120.
Ky.—Watson v. Commonwealth, 57 S. W.2d 39, 247 Ky. 336.
Miss.—Holmes v. State, 98 So. 104, 133 Miss. 610.
N.C.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.
31 C.J. p 1097 note 47.

the age of the infant, decreasing in strength as the infant increases in years.[85] On the other hand, after fourteen years of age, he is presumed to be capable of committing crime and of being responsible therefor in the same manner as in the case of an adult,[86] although the presumption is subject to proof as to the real fact.[87]

These common-law rules are followed in the various states,[88] modified in many, however, by statutes which generally have tended to increase the limit of the age within which the presumptions of incapacity exist.[89]

A presumption of malice which would be indulged as against an adult will not be indulged against an infant who is prima facie without capacity to commit an offense.[90]

Burden of proof. When the presumption of capacity or incapacity is rebuttable, the burden of proof is on the person asserting the contrary to the fact presumed.[91] Thus, where a prima facie presumption of incapacity exists, the burden of proving capacity is on the prosecution.[92] Where, however, the presumption that the infant is capable of committing crime exists, the burden of proving mental incapacity is on the infant defendant.[93]

(2) Admissibility

Apart from contrary statute, general rules govern the admissibility of the evidence in prosecutions of infants.

Except as statute may provide otherwise,[94] the Rule unchanged under Juvenile Court Law

The common-law rule that a child between the ages of seven and fourteen years is prima facie presumably incapable of committing a crime has not been modified by the Juvenile Court Law, fixing age for juvenile delinquents at sixteen years for males, and, where a cause is retransferred from the juvenile court to the circuit court thereunder, defendant is tried under the rules which govern others charged with offenses. —Berry v. State, 95 So. 453, 209 Ala. 120.

85. Fla.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 463, 143 Fla. 204, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1097 note 48.

86. Ariz.—Hernandez v. State, 32 P. 2d 18, 43 Ariz. 424.
Ind.—McCutcheon v. State, 155 N.E. 544, 549, 199 Ind. 247, citing Corpus Juris.
Miss.—Triplett v. State, 152 So. 881, 169 Miss. 306.
N.C.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Cavalier, 131 A. 229, 284 Pa. 311.
31 C.J. p 1097 note 49.
"When a person reaches fourteen years of age, any presumption of incapacity to commit crime ceases, and he is practically an 'adult' in eyes of the criminal law."—Cooley v. State, 169 S.W.2d 848, 849, 179 Tenn. 651, certiorari denied Colley v. State of Tennessee, 64 S.Ct. 71.

87. Ky.—Stephens v. Stephens, 189 S.W. 1143, 172 Ky. 780.
Vt.—State v. Learnard, 41 Vt. 585.
31 C.J. p 1097 note 50.

88. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Cavalier, 131 A. 229, 284 Pa. 311.
As to capacity to commit rape see the C.J.S. title Rape § 46, also 52 C.J. p 1054 notes 86–89.

89. Conclusive presumption of incapacity
(1) Under seven years.—People v. Roper, 181 N.E. 88, 259 N.Y. 170, motion denied 182 N.E. 218, 259 N. Y. 635.
(2) Below nine years.—Smith v. State, 164 S.W. 838, 73 Tex.Cr. 273—31 C.J. p 1097 note 51 [a].
(3) Below ten years.
Ga.—Clemmons v. State, 16 S.E.2d 883, 66 Ga.App. 16, followed in Jowers v. State, 16 S.E.2d 886, 66 Ga.App. 20.
Ill.—Maskaliunas v. Chicago & W. I. R. Co., 149 N.E. 23, 318 Ill. 142. 31 C.J. p 1097 note 51 [b].
(4) Below twelve years.—Harrison v. State, 78 S.W. 763, 72 Ark. 117—Dove v. State, 37 Ark. 261.
(5) Under sixteen years.—State v. Goldberg, 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272, affirmed 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J. Law 501—Ex parte Mei, 192 A. 80, 122 N.J.Eq. 125, 110 A.L.R. 1080, affirming 186 A. 577, 121 N.J.Eq. 123, supplemented 186 A. 721, 121 N.J.Eq. 125.

Prima facie presumption of incapacity
(1) Seven to sixteen years.—People v. Fields, 20 N.Y.S.2d 702, 174 Misc. 309—31 C.J. p 1097 note 52 [a].
(2) Seven to twelve years.—State v. Kluseman, 55 N.W. 741, 53 Minn. 541.
(3) Nine to thirteen years.—Scott v. State, 158 S.W. 814, 71 Tex.Cr. 41—31 C.J. p 1097 note 52 [c].
(4) Ten to fourteen years.—Clemmons v. State, 16 S.E.2d 883, 66 Ga. App. 16, followed in Jowers v. State, 16 S.E.2d 886, 66 Ga.App. 20—31 C. J. p 1097 note 52 [d].
(5) Twelve to fourteen years.—Dove v. State, 37 Ark. 261.

In Oklahoma
Children over seven and under sixteen years of age are presumed incapable of committing crime, except on affirmative showing in juvenile proceeding that child knew and comprehended wrongfulness of his acts. —Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41—Ridge v. State, 229 P. 649, 28 Okl.Cr. 150.

In the Philippines a person over nine years of age and under fifteen is exempt from criminal liability unless in committing the crime he acted with discernment.—U. S. v. Maralit, 36 Philippine 155.

Presumption of capacity
(1) Over twelve years.—State v. Olson, 194 N.W. 942, 156 Minn. 181.
(2) Over sixteen years.
Ind.—McCutcheon v. State, 155 N.E. 544, 199 Ind. 247.
Okl.—Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41.

90. W.Va.—State v. Vineyard, 93 S. E. 1034, 81 W.Va. 98.
31 C.J. p 1096 note 42.

91. Tex.—Howard v. State, 298 S. W. 587, 107 Tex.Cr. 585.
31 C.J. p 1098 note 56.
Burden of proof as to nonage see supra subdivision d (1) (a) of this section.
As to capacity to commit rape see the C.J.S. title Rape § 46, also 52 C.J. p 1054 notes 90–92.

92. Okl.—Ex parte Hightower, 165 P. 624, 13 Okl.Cr. 472.
31 C.J. p 1098 note 58.

In Texas, where the age of the accused person is shown to be under thirteen years, the state must show that he had discretion to understand the nature and illegality of the act constituting the offense.—Howard v. State, 298 S.W. 587, 107 Tex.Cr. 585.

93. Okl.—Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41.
31 C.J. p 1098 note 60.

94. Prior juvenile proceedings
Where accused was permitted to introduce evidence of his life history but omitted therefrom his com-general rules governing the admissibility of evidence in criminal prosecutions ordinarily determine whether or not evidence offered in prosecutions against infants is admissible.[95]

All testimony as to an infant's mentality, whether of his acts or words, is competent if given by those who know him,[96] including the opinion of non-expert[97] or expert[98] witnesses.

Inspection. When no proof of defendant's age is produced, the court and jury may determine it by inspection,[99] but the court cannot, by inspection and observation of defendant who is of an age at which he is presumed to be incapable of crime, determine his capacity.[1]

(3) Weight and Sufficiency

General rules govern the weight and sufficiency of the evidence in prosecutions of infants for crime.

Questions as to the weight and sufficiency of evidence in criminal prosecutions of infants are determined in accordance with the rules applicable in criminal prosecutions in general.[2] Where the burden of proof to show capacity rests with the prosecution, as discussed supra subdivision d (1) (b) of this section, a conviction cannot be had or sustained unless it is affirmatively made to appear that defendant was at the time of the act of sufficient maturity of mind to understand and appreciate what he did,[3] and, if felonious intent is an element of the crime charged, that the infant had such intent,[4] the presumption of an infant's incapacity being removable only by evidence of the strongest and clearest character.[5]

It has been said that in order to convict the jury must be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt of defendant's capacity,[6] and it would seem that proof of an infant's capacity beyond a reasonable doubt is sufficient.[7]

Direct and positive evidence as to an infant's capacity is not required;[8] it may be shown by circumstantial evidence.[9]

The fact that accused is under the age at which the death penalty may be imposed must be estabmitment to boys' industrial school, he "waived" the protection of statute making inadmissible the disposition of a child or any evidence given against him, and was subject to cross-examination with reference to the disposition of any charge preferred against him as a juvenile.—State v. Marinski, 41 N.E.2d 387, 139 Ohio St. 559.

95. Age as evidence

(1) The only ground on which accused's age in murder prosecution may be admitted is to determine whether he could distinguish between right and wrong, and intend to do wrongful act with which he was charged.—Hernandez v. State, 32 P.2d 18, 43 Ariz. 424.

(2) However, the fact that evidence of age might aid in showing capacity of infant to commit the crime is all that is needed to authorize the jury to consider age in choosing punishment.—Hernandez v. State, supra.

Declarations of accused

In prosecution for aiding and abetting an assault with an offensive weapon with intent to rob, testimony of witnesses that defendant had stated that he was seventeen years of age was held admissible as substantive evidence and for purpose of contradiction on question whether defendant was over sixteen years of age at time of commission of crime so as to confer jurisdiction on circuit court.—Tomlinson v. Commonwealth, 87 S.W.2d 376, 261 Ky. 186.

Confessions by children see Criminal Law § 329.

96. Ala.—Neville v. State, 41 So. 1011, 148 Ala. 681.
31 C.J. p 1098 note 63.

97. Ala.—Martin v. State, 8 So. 858, 90 Ala. 602, 24 Am.S.R. 844.
Tex.—Carr v. State, 7 S.W. 328, 24 Tex.App. 562, 5 Am.S.R. 905.
Opinion of lay witness as to capacity generally see Criminal Law § 467 a.

98. La.—State v. Nickleson, 14 So. 134, 45 La.Ann. 1172.
Opinion of expert witness as to capacity generally see Criminal Law § 467 b.

99. N.Y.—People v. Kaminsky, 102 N.E. 515, 208 N.Y. 389, affirming 122 N.Y.S. 687, 137 App.Div. 941.
N.C.—State v. Arnold, 35 N.C. 184.
However, it has been held that the jury cannot make up their verdict from their own observation of accused while he was on the witness stand.—People v. Kielczewski, 109 N.E. 981, 269 Ill. 293.

1. N.Y.—People v. Domenico, 92 N.Y.S. 390, 45 Misc. 309.

Evidence held sufficient

2. Tex.—Flores v. State, 231 S.W. 786, 89 Tex.Cr. 506.

Evidence held insufficient

Ark.—Kear v. State, 104 S.W. 1097, 84 Ark. 146.
Weight and sufficiency of evidence as to age in proceedings to determine whether infant should be prosecuted for crime or as delinquent see infra § 98.

3. Ark.—Garner v. State, 132 S.W. 1010, 97 Ark. 63, Ann.Cas.1912C 1059.
31 C.J. p 1098 note 71.

4. Murder

(1) Child of fifteen may be guilty of crime of murder in first degree, but his guilt cannot be established without proof of felonious intent.—People v. Roper, 181 N.E. 88, 259 N.Y. 170, motion denied 182 N.E. 213, 259 N.Y. 635.

(2) Unless fifteen-year-old boy participated in robbery with felonious intent, he was not guilty of felony necessary to establish felonious intent in murder prosecution.—People v. Roper, supra.

(3) Participation of child under sixteen in robbery, or at least in robbery in second or third degrees, would not establish guilt of independent felony necessary to establish felonious intent in murder prosecution.—People v. Roper, supra.

5. Ark.—Garner v. State, 132 S.W. 1010, 97 Ark. 63, Ann.Cas.1912C 1059.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 72.

6. Ala.—Martin v. State, 8 So. 858, 90 Ala. 602, 24 Am.S.R. 844.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 73.

7. Tex.—Ragsdale v. State, 134 S.W. 234, 61 Tex.Cr. 145.

8. Tex.—Carr v. State, 7 S.W. 328, 24 Tex.App. 562, 5 Am.S.R. 905.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 75.

9. Tex.—Ragsdale v. State, 134 S.W. 234, 61 Tex.Cr. 145.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 76.

fished by a preponderance of the evidence,[10] where the burden of proving such fact is on accused, as discussed supra subdivision d (1) (a) of this section.

e. Trial

(1) In general
(2) Instructions
(3) Verdict and findings
(4) Judgment and sentence

(1) In General

General rules ordinarily govern the trial of a criminal cause in which an infant is the accused.

Apart from contrary or modifying statutes, the general rules governing the trial of criminal causes apply in prosecutions of infants for crime.[11] As an incident to the right to defend in person, discussed supra subdivision b of this section, the infant has a right to elect the mode of trial.[12] Some statutes providing for special proceedings against juvenile delinquents, as discussed infra §§ 97–102, have been construed as not depriving a child charged with a criminal offense in a court of ordinary criminal jurisdiction, of his constitutional right to a jury trial of such charge.[13]

Questions for jury. The general rules governing the province of the court and jury apply to these prosecutions.[14] Thus, in the absence of a conclusive presumption as to accused's capacity, the question ordinarily is one of fact for the jury.[15]

Under some statutes the jury is required to fix the term of imprisonment.[16]

Confinement pending trial. Unless otherwise provided by statute, an infant who is being proceeded against under the criminal law is subject to be confined the same as an adult while awaiting the trial, and statutes prohibiting the incarceration of a delinquent child while awaiting disposition of his case in the juvenile court, in jails in which adult persons are confined, do not apply to juvenile offenders awaiting trial under the criminal law.[17]

(2) Instructions

Appropriate instructions covering the law governing the case should be given the jury in a prosecution of an infant for crime. Matters such as capacity or incapacity must be covered by instructions where presented by the evidence.

Under the rules applicable to criminal prosecutions generally, the court should give proper instructions to the jury on the law governing the case in a prosecution of an infant for crime.[18]

It is the duty of the court to charge as to any presumption of incapacity which there is evidence to support,[19] and to give a correct charge on what

10. Cal.—People v. Ellis, 274 P. 353, 206 Cal. 353.
More reasonable doubt insufficient. —People v. Ellis, 274 P. 353, 206 Cal. 353.
Evidence insufficient
Cal.—People v. Ellis, supra—People v. Perry, 234 P. 890, 195 Cal. 623.

11. In what court triable
It was held that in the absence of statute relating to powers of juvenile court to declare a delinquent child a ward of the state, etc., a child charged with the commission of a felony would be triable in the circuit court of the county in which the offense was committed.—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.

12. N.Y.—People v. Wandell, 21 Hun 515.

13. Fla.—Ex parte Kitts, 147 So. 573, 109 Fla. 202.

14. Age of accused
In prosecution for aiding and abetting an assault, with an offensive weapon with intent to rob, whether defendant was over sixteen years of age at time crime was committed so as to confer jurisdiction upon circuit court was held for the jury under the evidence.—Tomlinson v. Commonwealth, 87 S.W.2d 876, 261 Ky. 186.

15. Ala.—Reynolds v. State, 45 So. 894, 154 Ala. 14.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 84.

16. Tenn.—Martin v. State, 172 S.W. 311, 130 Tenn. 508.

17. Tex.—Ex parte Thomas, 118 S. W. 1053, 56 Tex.Cr. 66.

18. Tex.—Hand v. State, 227 S.W. 194, 88 Tex.Cr. 422.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 87.
Aggravated assault
A minor not being guilty of aggravated assault, unless there be ground of aggravation other than the mere fact that he took hold of a female, and it being impossible to say, as matter of law, that in detaining her by grasping her arm and putting his arm about her he did not do so for an innocent purpose, or that such act constituted "indecent familiarity," there should be given the substance of a requested charge that, unless the jury believe beyond a reasonable doubt that he did as he did through lust or with intent to fondle her person, or intended more than to detain her for some innocent purpose, they could not convict of aggravated assault.—Davis v. State, 257 S.W. 254, 96 Tex.Cr. 235.
Duress
A mere disparity of age between accused, seventeen years old, and an accomplice, twenty-six years old, in the absence of any showing of duress which under statute would relieve accused from liability is insufficient to necessitate an instruction on the theory that accused may have been under the influence of his accomplice.—Robertson v. State, 245 S.W. 443, 93 Tex.Cr. 39.
Instructions held correct or sufficient
Ariz.—Hernandez v. State, 32 P.2d 18, 43 Ariz. 424.
Cal.—People v. Ellis, 274 P. 353, 206 Cal. 353.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 87 [a].
Instructions properly refused or erroneous
Ill.—Angelo v. People, 96 Ill. 209, 36 Am.R. 132.
Minn.—State v. Peterson, 190 N.W. 345, 153 Minn. 310.

19. Ky.—Owsley v. Commonwealth, 101 S.W. 366, 125 Ky. 384, 31 Ky. L. 5.
S.C.—State v. Nelson, 70 S.E. 445, 88 S.C. 125.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 89.
Evidence held insufficient
(1) To warrant instruction that child fourteen years of age is prima facie incapable of committing crime. —Triplett v. State, 152 So. 881, 169 Miss. 306.
(2) Where accused testified that constituted capacity,[20] but the instructions should not assume a controverted fact as to capacity.[21] Some cases have held that the jury should be required to find that the infant had the necessary capacity to commit a crime or was of an age at which capacity is presumed.[22]

A failure to charge as to an included lesser offense not called for by the facts is not, for the mere reason that accused is a minor, error.[23] Where only a charge of murder in the first or second degree is within the jurisdiction of the criminal court, a lower degree of homicide being juvenile delinquency for the juvenile court to try, the criminal court trying a charge of murder need not charge on the lower degrees of homicide.[24] Where, however, a statute requires the court in a prosecution for homicide to give in the charge the law of the lesser grades of homicide, such as voluntary and involuntary manslaughter, the court on a trial of an indictment for murder is not relieved from the necessity of giving such charge by the fact that the lesser included offenses are within the exclusive jurisdiction of another court under a juvenile offender's act.[25]

(3) Verdict and Findings

Statutory requirements as to the verdict and findings in a prosecution of an infant for crime must be complied with. A specific finding of guilt is unnecessary where the infant properly enters a plea of guilty.

Under some statutes the jury are required to find, as nearly as may be, the age of accused, if they find the further fact that he is a minor between certain specified ages.[26] Other statutes require the jury to find specially the age of a youthful offender, and to specify the place of confinement;[27] but a finding of age under such a statute may be dispensed with where, from the term of punishment imposed, accused must be imprisoned in the penitentiary and not in the reformatory.[28]

Unless the statute providing for the commitment of an infant under a specified age to the board of welfare or state industrial school so requires,[29] written findings of fact showing accused to be within the statute are unnecessary.[30]

The facts that the criminal court took jurisdiction of the case and sentenced accused have been held equivalent to a finding that he was over the age which would have required the juvenile court to take jurisdiction.[31]

Where an infant accused of crime properly enters a plea of guilty, a specific finding of his guilt is not necessary to sustain a commitment.[32]

(4) Judgment and Sentence

Apart from modifying or contrary statutes, general

he did not know whether he was fourteen or fifteen, instruction taking into consideration age and probable lack of accountability of accused was not required, since an infant over fourteen is presumed to have capacity to commit crime.—Hall v. Commonwealth, 21 S.W.2d 799, 231 Ky. 473.

20. Tex.—Pryon v. State, 138 S.W. 705, 62 Tex.Cr. 639.
W.Va.—State v. Vineyard, 93 S.E. 1034, 81 W.Va. 98.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 90.
Instructions on mental capacity generally see Criminal Law § 1200.

21. Ala.—Neville v. State, 41 So. 1011, 148 Ala. 681.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 88.

22. Miss.—Bass v. State, 163 So. 838, 174 Miss. 55.

23. Tex.—Hand v. State, 227 S.W. 194, 88 Tex.Cr. 422.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 91.

24. N.Y.—People v. Murch, 189 N.E. 220, 263 N.Y. 285, affirming 266 N.Y.S. 907, 240 App.Div. 786.

Substantial rights of infant not affected

Construction of statute so as not to require court, in murder prosecution against child under sixteen years of age, to charge on lesser degrees of homicide after charging on murder in first and second degree, was held not to deprive such child of substantial rights.—People v. Murch, supra.

Preferred practice

Where child under sixteen years of age may be convicted only of murder in first or second degree, jury should be instructed as to what acts by adult would constitute manslaughter, what acts of child would not be crime but would constitute juvenile delinquency, and that child nevertheless could be proceeded against as juvenile delinquent, and consequences of such proceedings.—People v. Murch, supra.

25. Tenn.—Templeton v. State, 240 S.W. 789, 146 Tenn. 272.

Verdicts returnable by jury

Where accused in murder prosecution is a juvenile, the trial judge should instruct jury as to verdict they may render in same manner he is required under law to instruct jury where accused in murder prosecution is an adult, namely, that jury may return verdict of guilty, guilty without capital punishment, guilty of manslaughter, or not guilty.—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 193 La. 104.

26. Ill.—People v. Kielczewski, 109 N.E. 981, 269 Ill. 293.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 96.

27. Tex.—Simmons v. State, 97 S.W. 1052, 50 Tex.Cr. 527.

28. Tex.—Perry v. State, 133 S.W. 685, 61 Tex.Cr. 2.
31 C.J. p 1099 note 99.

29. Finding as to age

An order pursuant to Acts 1922 c 105, and Code 1919 § 1908, sentencing and committing defendants to the state board of public welfare after pleas of guilty to a misdemeanor charge containing the recital "each of said defendants being eighteen years of age," was held void for lack of a finding of fact that defendants were under the age of eighteen years and properly disregarded as being null and void after refusal of board of public welfare to take custody of defendants because they were over eighteen years of age, and upon their application for permission to withdraw such pleas and to enter pleas of not guilty.—Dillehay v. Jones, 122 S.E. 343, 138 Va. 838.

30. Neb.—Leiby v. State, 113 N.W. 125, 79 Neb. 485.

31. Ky.—Cloyd v. Commonwealth, 278 S.W. 595, 212 Ky. 178.

32. Neb.—Leiby v. State, 113 N.W. 125, 79 Neb. 485.

rules govern the judgment and sentence in a prosecution of an infant for crime. The statutes must, of course, be complied with.

Apart from any modifying or contrary statutory provisions, general rules govern the judgment and sentence in the prosecution of an infant for crime.[33] Thus it has been held that an infant convicted of a misdemeanor is not entitled at common law to be asked whether he has any cause to show why judgment should not be pronounced against him.[34] So, as is generally the rule, the judgment and sentence must follow the verdict.[35]

Under some statutes, after a plea of guilty by, or the conviction of, a juvenile under a specified age, the trial court does not impose sentence on accused, but remands him to the juvenile court for appropriate proceedings against him as a juvenile delinquent.[36] Under others a discretion is conferred on the trial court to sentence the infant as a criminal or to remand him to the juvenile court for disposition.[37]

A recital in the sentence that accused is fourteen years of age is a sufficient showing that he is under sixteen, authorizing him to be sentenced to the reformatory as a person less than sixteen years of age.[38]

A sentence to the state reform school is not invalid for the reason that notice of the pendency of the case was not given to the mayor of the city or one of the selectmen of the town as required by statute before sentence.[39]

Under a statute requiring accused to be sentenced to the reformatory, a sentence is not invalidated by the fact that it directs that accused be confined in the county jail until released to the proper authorities of the reformatory.[40]

Statement of term. Where the law fixes the time when accused shall be released, the court should not fix a definite and determinate sentence, and it is sufficient if the warrant of commitment contains a statement of his residence and age.[41]

Suspension of sentence and probation. Under some statutes the court has a discretionary power to suspend sentence and place on probation any minor found guilty of a misdemeanor, or even a felony, within the terms of the statute.[42]

Error in sentence. During the term, the court may correct its error in sentencing accused to the wrong institution.[43] So, where a minor accused of crime is erroneously sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary instead of in a reformatory, leave may be granted by the court on disposition of proceedings in error to the prosecuting attorney to apply for a proper judgment on the verdict and resentence by the trial court,[44] but in a case where accused is at the time of the disposition of the appeal too old for resentence to the reformatory this course cannot be pursued.[45]

33. Time for pronouncing sentence
It has been held that an eighteen-year-old accused may waive the statutory time in which judgment must be pronounced.—Ex parte Barton, 239 P. 944, 32 Okl.Cr. 41.

A motion in arrest of judgment lies after verdict in the case of an infant charged with an offense falling within the exclusive jurisdiction of the juvenile court.—Howland v. State, 268 S.W. 115, 151 Tenn. 47.

Judgment under statutes relating to juvenile delinquents see infra § 99.

34. N.Y.—People v. Kaminsky, 102 N.E. 515, 208 N.Y. 389, affirming 122 N.Y.S. 687, 137 App.Div. 941.

Asking whether prisoner has anything to say generally see Criminal Law § 1576.

35. Tex.—Zimmer v. State, 141 S.W. 781, 64 Tex.Cr. 114.

Conformity of judgment with verdict generally see Criminal Law § 1579.

36. Fla.—Powell v. Stone, 169 So. 411, 124 Fla. 789—State ex rel. Stiegel v. Chapman, 161 So. 424, 119 Fla. 347—State ex rel. Johnson v. Quigg, 90 So. 695, 83 Fla. 1.

Reference by juvenile court
Where a juvenile court referred the case of a sixteen-year-old infant to the criminal court for trial of a charge of rape, the latter court was held not to have jurisdiction to sentence such child, but was required to remand him to the juvenile court for disposition.—State v. Dubray, 250 P. 316, 121 Kan. 886.

Commitment in delinquency proceedings see infra § 102.

Judgment in juvenile delinquency proceedings see infra § 99.

37. Iowa.—State v. Reed, 218 N.W. 609, 207 Iowa 557.

38. Ga.—Jackson v. Baxter, 88 S.E. 819, 145 Ga. 223.

39. Mass.—Fanning v. Commonwealth, 120 Mass. 388.

40. Ga.—Jackson v. Baxter, 88 S.E. 819, 145 Ga. 223.

41. Neb.—Leiby v. State, 113 N.W. 125, 79 Neb. 485.

42. Okl.—Wallace v. State, 14 P.2d 956, 54 Okl.Cr. 90.

Sentence after violation of parole
Wis.—Ex parte Knox, 192 N.W. 395, 180 Wis. 622.

Disposition of child in delinquency proceedings see infra § 100.

Suspension of sentence in criminal prosecutions generally see Criminal Law §§ 1571–1572.

43. From school for boys to reformatory
Where the trial court sentenced a boy over sixteen years of age to the St. Charles school for boys, and thereafter during the same term the sentence was set aside and he was committed to the state reformatory, it was held in view of the fact that the age of accused was fully understood by all the parties at the time he pleaded guilty of burglary, and that he was not misled by the corrected order, there was no error, because the circuit court retains jurisdiction over a judgment during the term in which it was rendered, and may for proper cause vacate the judgment during the term, and in a criminal case may, while such order remains unexecuted, commit an accused to a proper institution designated by law.—People v. Jones, 139 N.E. 122, 308 Ill. 125.

44. Ill.—People v. Rardin, 99 N.E. 59, 255 Ill. 9, Ann.Cas.1913D 282.

45. Ill.—People v. Smith, 97 N.E. 649, 253 Ill. 283.

Where a prisoner has been sentenced and committed to a reformatory as under a given age, the court sentencing him cannot give a new sentence on a ground of mistake in age.[46]

f. Review

Apart from modifying or contrary statutes, the review of the case in the prosecution of an infant for crime is governed by general rules.

Except as special statute or rule may provide otherwise, general rules govern review in a criminal prosecution of an infant.[47]

By statute in some jurisdictions judgments and commitments of juvenile offenders by police courts and justices of the peace are subject to review by either the circuit judge or the probate judge of the county,[48] and, if not so approved, will be invalid.[49] Provision is also sometimes made by statute for the modification of a sentence on appeal.[50]

On appeal it will be presumed that the court ascertained that accused was of sound mind and of the requisite age before making an order committing him to an industrial school.[51]

As is the rule generally, nonprejudicial error is not ground for reversal of a judgment of conviction of an infant.[52] On the other hand, prejudicial errors committed in the course of a prosecution against an infant will justify a reversal.[53]

Prejudicial error in the admission of evidence has been held ground for reversal even though no objection was made to the evidence.[54] Similarly, failure of the court to give a necessary instruction has been held ground for reversal, although no request for such instruction was made.[55]

Mere severity of the sentence in view of the age of accused has been held not to be a ground for reversal, the question being one for the board of pardons.[56]

g. Punishment

Apart from contrary statute, an infant convicted of crime may be punished as an adult. Under various statutes existing in many jurisdictions the infancy of the accused is a factor in determining the punishment to be imposed, the place of confinement, and the period of detention.

Except as statutes otherwise provide or require,[57]

46. Mich.—In re Mason, 8 Mich. 70.

47. Late filing of papers

Court could consider bill of exceptions and statement of facts even though not filed within statutory period, where failure was not due to accused's or counsel's fault or laches, especially where accused was minor defended by appointed attorney.—Green v. State, 51 S.W.2d 391, 121 Tex.Cr. 349.

Review of delinquency proceedings see infra § 99.

48. Mich.—In re O'Leary, 25 Mich. 144.

31 C.J. p 1100 note 16.

49. Mich.—In re Amidon, 40 Mich. 628.

50. N.Y.—People v. Loomis, 121 N. Y.S. 91, 65 Misc. 156, 24 N.Y.Cr. 140.

31 C.J. p 1100 note 15.

51. Neb.—Leiby v. State, 113 N.W. 125, 79 Neb. 485.

52. Minn.—State v. Peterson, 190 N.W. 345, 153 Minn. 310.

Absence of finding of age

Verdict failing to find age of accused was held no ground for reversing judgment and penitentiary sentence, where, by agreement of record, her age appeared such as would subject her to penitentiary sentence.—People v. Collins, 163 N. E. 694, 332 Ill. 222.

Error of fact

Failure of trial judge, in murder prosecution against child under sixteen years of age, to charge on degrees of homicide lesser than murder in first and second degree, if error, was held error of fact, and not of law, in absence of request to charge.—People v. Murch, 189 N.E. 220, 263 N.Y. 285, affirming 266 N.Y. S. 907, 240 App.Div. 786.

Irregularities in printed form of certificate of conviction of one confined to state training school held harmless.—People ex rel. Boger v. Coon, 245 N.Y.S. 141, 230 App.Div. 370.

53. Absence of counsel

(1) Permitting seventeen-year-old boy without counsel to plead guilty of murder, first degree, and sentencing him to life imprisonment, held material error.—State v. Oberst, 273 P. 490, 127 Kan. 412.

(2) Refusal to set aside judgment and sentences of seventeen-year-old boy to life imprisonment for murder, on motion of counsel belatedly employed was held material error.—State v. Oberst, supra.

54. Colo.—Reppin v. People, 34 P. 2d 71, 95 Colo. 192.

55. Colo.—Reppin v. People, supra.

56. Fla.—Hamilton v. State, 182 So. 854, 133 Fla. 481.

57. Fla.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 143 Fla. 204.

Minn.—State v. Olson, 194 N.W. 942, 156 Minn. 181.

31 C.J. p 1100 note 20.

Statutory provisions determine punishment to be imposed on infants convicted of crime.—Chism v. State, 179 N.E. 718, 203 Ind. 241.

County jail

Under some statutes infants of less than a specified age may, in the discretion of the court, be committed to the county jail rather than the penitentiary.—Kidd v. State, 102 So. 68, 137 Miss. 419—31 C.J. p 1100 note 20 [a].

Discretion of court

(1) Under some statutes the punishment of an infant between twelve and eighteen years for an aggravated offense is left to the discretion of the jury or court trying the case without a jury, the quantum of the punishment being required to be within the limits fixed by statute for the particular crime.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U. S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

(2) Under some statutes whether minors should be given lighter sentence under statute respecting them, or should be sentenced under general statute prescribing punishment for robbery is within discretion of trial court.—Chism v. State, 179 N.E. 718, 203 Ind. 241.

(3) Fact that accused convicted of burglary was only twenty years old, had no police record, and that value of articles taken was only thirty-seven dollars was held not to justify determination that trial court in imposing penitentiary sentence rather than fine and jail sentence so abused its discretion as to require modifica-

an infant convicted of crime is punishable in the same manner as an adult,[58] even to the extent of capital punishment,[59] and in cases in which the infant has not timely taken the necessary steps to bring himself within the provisions of a juvenile court law punishment may be imposed under the general law.[60]

However, under the statutes, provision is ordinarily made for the sentence of infant offenders who have not attained specified ages to such institutions as state reformatories or industrial schools,[61] tion of sentence.—State v. Cooley, 264 N.W. 714, 220 Iowa 1384.

Death penalty

(1) Statutory provisions may exempt from liability to punishment by death.

Mass.—In re Kenney, 108 Mass. 492.

Tex.—Gibson v. State, 110 S.W. 41, 53 Tex.Cr. 349—Ingram v. State, 14 S.W. 457, 29 Tex.App. 33—Ake v. State, 6 Tex.App. 398, 32 Am. R. 586.

(2) Under some statutes, to warrant the death penalty for a juvenile offender convicted of murder, the offense must be reprehensible in a superlative degree, coupled with the fact that the perpetrator was a person having an ordinary comprehension of the enormity of the offense and its consequences.—Ridge v. State, 229 P. 649, 28 Okl.Cr. 150.

(3) Under some statutes the death penalty should not be imposed against a boy under fourteen years of age on conviction of murder, unless it appears clearly that such boy is a person with a sense of responsibility, intelligence, and understanding equal to that of an ordinary person of the age of sixteen years. —Ridge v. State, supra.

Compliance with statute essential

Where under the applicable statutes an infant of seventeen years and six months convicted of a misdemeanor must be sentenced to either the workhouse or jail, a sentence to training school is void.—Lynch v. State ex rel. Killebrew, 166 S.W.2d 397, 179 Tenn. 339.

Repeal of statute

Sentence to county jail under repealed statute was held improper.—People ex rel. Courtney v. David, 4 N.E.2d 376, 364 Ill. 259.

58. Cal.—In re Tom, 121 P. 294, 17 Cal.App. 678.

31 C.J. p 1100 note 21.

Power of state

Under its general power as parens patriæ, the state has the right within reasonable limits to deprive children of their liberty.—Garner v. Wood, 4 S.E.2d 137, 188 Ga. 463.

Sentence to penitentiary

Sixteen-year-old boy who was found guilty of larceny was held not entitled to be sentenced under statute providing for confinement of persons under eighteen years old in county jail instead of penitentiary for certain crimes, since such statute was repealed by subsequent statute covering complete subject of punishment for those guilty of felony except in case of death penalty. —People ex rel. Courtney v. David, 4 N.E.2d 376, 364 Ill. 259.

Statutes construed

Minn.—State v. Olson, 194 N.W. 942, 156 Minn. 181.

Age as affecting punishment generally see Criminal Law § 1939.

Custody and restraint of delinquent children see infra § 100.

Mitigation of punishment by reason of age generally see Criminal Law § 1983 b (1).

Prevention of crime generally see Criminal Law §§ 2008–2010.

59. Fla.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 143 Fla. 204.

Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

31 C.J. p 1100 note 22.

Discretion of court

(1) Where fifteen-year-old negro boy who had a prior criminal record was convicted of rape, and the evidence disclosed that the crime was heinous and aggravated, the action of the trial judge, who saw the prosecuting witness and the negro boy at the time they gave their testimony, in imposing the death penalty was not abuse of discretion.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, supra.

(2) Under the statutes it was held that, after first-degree murder convictions of boys under sixteen years old when they committed crime, without recommendation to mercy, the trial court was not bound to commit them as delinquents and had no power to sentence or commit them to reform school for boys, but had power to sentence them to electrocution. —Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 143 Fla. 204.

60. Cal.—In re Tom, 121 P. 294, 17 Cal.App. 678.

Tex.—Slade v. State, 212 S.W. 661, 85 Tex.Cr. 358.

Discretion of court

Denying motion to sentence accused convicted of perjury, as juvenile made after pronouncement of judgment, was held not abuse of discretion, where accused was arraigned in October and sentenced following December.—People v. Keylon, 10 P.2d 86, 122 Cal.App. 408.

61. Ark.—Freeman v. State, 249 S. W. 582, 158 Ark. 262, rehearing overruled 250 S.W. 522, 158 Ark. 262.

31 C.J. p 1100 note 25.

Infant as ward of state

Under some statutes a minor tried in court of common pleas becomes state ward, and subject to reformatory discipline.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

Statutory exception

(1) The statute providing that male persons between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one years, who are convicted of felonies, shall be sentenced to the reformatory instead of to the penitentiary, was controlling as an exception of such persons from the operation, as to place of imprisonment, of the robbery statute, providing for imprisonment in the penitentiary.—State v. Catalfo, 17 N.E.2d 289, 59 Ohio App. 95.

(2) The repeal and reënactment of the robbery statute without any change except for an increase in the term of imprisonment did not affect the exception, as to place of imprisonment, created by enactment of statute providing that male persons between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one years who are convicted of felony shall be sentenced to the reformatory instead of to the penitentiary.—State v. Catalfo, supra.

Discretion of court

(1) Under some statutes it has been held that trial court has discretion to sentence person under seventeen to penitentiary instead of house of reform.—Asher v. Commonwealth, 299 S.W. 568, 221 Ky. 700—31 C.J. p 1101 note 35 [b].

(2) Crawford & M.Dig. § 804, providing that all convicts and other persons hereinafter sentenced to the penitentiary under the age of eighteen years shall be committed to a reform school, provided such persons convicted of felonies may be sent to the penitentiary if, in the judgment of the trial court, such course may be expedient, invests the trial court with discretionary power to impose either sentence on minors so convicted.—Freeman v. State, 249 S.W. 582, 158 Ark. 262, rehearing overruled 250 S.W. 522, 158 Ark. 262.

(3) This statute has been held to give the trial court no jurisdiction to modify its judgment after the term has expired.—Freeman v. State, supra.

(4) Sentence to penitentiary on houses of refuge,[62] or industrial farms,[63] and the validity of such statutes has been sustained.[64] Some statutes requiring imprisonment to be in such institutions are applicable to all crimes,[65] while others except certain particular crimes.[66]

The statutes further may provide that children shall not be confined in such a manner as to come in contact with adult convicts.[67]

Where infants under a specified age must be tried in a juvenile court as delinquents as discussed infra §§ 97–102, a regular criminal court trying an infant of approximately such age must ascertain the true age of the infant before imposing sentence on him.[68]

Where proper place of punishment not provided. Where the statute requires the minor to be sentenced to imprisonment in a state reformatory, the fact that there is no such institution in the state will not justify his sentence to the penitentiary.[69] On the other hand, although a statute provides that any child sentenced to confinement in any institution to which adult convicts are sentenced shall not be confined in the same building with such convicts or permitted in any yard where adult convicts may be present, nevertheless, where, under the statute, a child is subject to sentence to the penitentiary, the fact that no provisions for his proper custody in such institution has been made will not prevent the trial court from pronouncing judgment.[70]

Transfer to penitentiary. Where the term of his punishment extends beyond the time when the minor attains majority, he is under some statutes to be transferred from the reformatory to the penitentiary.[71]

Period of detention. While, in the absence of statute providing otherwise, the period of confinement of an infant convicted of a crime is the same as in the cases of adults,[72] in some jurisdictions the statutes provide the period for his confinement and for his discharge. Under some of such statutes the court has no discretion to confine him for a period less than that provided by the statute or to discharge him before such period has been completed.[73]

Under some statutes the power to parole or discharge is vested in the authorities of the institution wherein he has been confined.[74]

Under some statutes on conviction of a juvenile offender he may be committed to a reformatory for a period of any time not exceeding his minority, and under such statute the court may commit him for such period without limiting his sentence to the time of confinement fixed by the jury, although such commitment will not deprive him of the right to a jury's finding that accused committed assault with intent to ravish and was about eighteen years of age was held proper as within discretion of judge.—People v. Dravilles, 152 N.E. 212, 321 Ill. 390.

(5) The statute authorizing sentence of persons under sixteen to reformatory did not require sentencing fifteen-year-old boy convicted of rape to reformatory rather than imposing death sentence, in absence of finding that reformatory sentence was best for him and the community or request for such finding.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.

(6) In Florida, boy fifteen years old who pleaded guilty to armed robbery could within court's discretion be committed to state penitentiary or industrial school for boys.—State ex rel. Hamilton v. Chapman, 169 So. 658, 125 Fla. 235.

Discretion of jury

A minor sixteen years of age or less, guilty of sodomy, may in the discretion of the jury be sentenced to the reformatory instead of to the penitentiary.—Brown v. State, 99 S.W. 1001, 50 Tex.Cr. 626.

Statutes inapplicable

Fla.—Clay v. State, 196 So. 462, 143 Fla. 204.

Imprisonment in reformatories generally see Criminal Law § 2000 a.

62. Ind.—State v. Smith, 59 Ind. 179.
Puerto Rico.—U. S. v. Garcia, 8 Puerto Rico Fed. 563.
31 C.J. p 1101 note 26.

Discretion

It is discretionary with the court whether a minor under sixteen years of age shall be confined in the workhouse or house of refuge.—Ex parte Walker, 8 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 480, 8 Cinc.L.Bul. 198.

63. Ga.—Taylor v. Means, 77 S.E. 373, 139 Ga. 578.

64. Ill.—People v. Illinois State Reformatory, 36 N.E. 76, 148 Ill. 413, 23 L.R.A. 139.
31 C.J. p 1101 note 28.
As deprivation of:
Due process of law see Constitutional Law § 597.
Equal protection of law see Constitutional Law § 565.

65. Ill.—People v. Rardin, 99 N.E. 59, 255 Ill. 9, Ann.Cas.1913D 282—People v. Smith, 97 N.E. 649, 253 Ill. 283.

66. Murder or manslaughter
Neb.—Roberts v. State, 118 N.W. 574, 82 Neb. 651.

Rape
Ill.—People v. Marx, 125 N.E. 719, 291 Ill. 40.

67. Wash.—State v. Pierce County Super. Ct., 179 P. 79, 105 Wash. 684—State v. McPherson, 130 P. 481, 72 Wash. 371, Ann.Cas.1914D 587.
31 C.J. p 1101 note 31.

68. Ala.—Hart v. State, 113 So. 471, 22 Ala.App. 135.

69. La.—State v. Praeter, 51 So. 647, 125 La. 573.

70. Wash.—State v. Pierce County Super. Ct., 179 P. 79, 105 Wash. 684.

71. Ky.—Black v. Commonwealth, 156 S.W. 1043, 154 Ky. 144.
31 C.J. p 1101 note 34.

72. Cal.—In re Tom, 121 P. 294, 17 Cal.App. 678.
31 C.J. p 1101 note 35.

Excessive sentence

Penalty of two years' imprisonment was held excessive by one year in case of seventeen year old boy convicted of assault with dangerous weapon under sharply conflicting evidence.—Felder v. State, 287 P. 792, 47 Okl.Cr. 214.

73. Ga.—Taylor v. Means, 77 S.E. 373, 139 Ga. 578.
31 C.J. p 1101 note 36.

74. Ga.—Taylor v. Means, supra.

parole as in the case of an adult.[75]

An infant cannot be retained in custody for a term longer than that specified in the commitment without further proceedings.[76]

§ 97. Commitment of Juvenile Delinquents and Dependents

Statutes for the protection, correction, and disciplining of delinquent, dependent, or neglected children have generally been upheld. They are not criminal or penal, and their design is not punishment, but reformation and protection; and they are to be liberally construed in favor of the child's good and welfare.

A number of statutes having for their purpose the protecting, correcting, and disciplining of delinquent, dependent, neglected, or vagrant children have been upheld as within the powers of the legislatures or as constitutional;[77] but some have been held unconstitutional.[78] Such legislation may be characterized as progressive and humanitarian,[79] paternal and benevolent,[80] and not criminal or penal.[81] Such legislation has been construed by the

75. Ky.—Waters v. Commonwealth, 188 S.W. 490, 171 Ky. 457.

76. Mo.—In re Lorkowski, 68 S.W. 610, 94 Mo.App. 623.
31 C.J. p 1101 note 43.

77. Cal.—Ex parte Daedler, 228 P. 467, 194 Cal. 320.
Idaho.—In re Allmon, 294 P. 528, 50 Idaho 223.
Minn.—State ex rel. White v. Patterson, 249 N.W. 187, 188 Minn. 492—State ex rel. White v. Patterson, 247 N.W. 573, 249 N.W. 187, 188 Minn. 492.
Miss.—Bryant v. Brown, 118 So. 184, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1325.
Mo.—State v. Campbell, 32 S.W.2d 69, 325 Mo. 561—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
N.J.—State v. Goldberg, 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J.Law 501, affirming 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272.
N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.
N.Y.—In re Vasko, 263 N.Y.S. 552, 238 App.Div. 128.
Or.—Ex parte Packer, 298 P. 234, 136 Or. 159—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.
Vt.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224.
31 C.J. p 1101 note 46.

"The universal holding is that such statutes are constitutional."—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N.W. 205, 207, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075.

State as parens patriæ

The commitment is based on the power of the state to act as parens patriæ where the parent or natural guardian is unable or unwilling or is an improper person to serve.
Ark.—Ex parte King, 217 S.W. 465, 141 Ark. 213.
Cal.—Ex parte Ah Peen, 51 Cal. 280.
Mo.—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 32 Pa. Super. 335.
35 C.J. p 195 note 28.

Constitutional limitation on legislation

"The Legislature can only enact such laws relative to the care, protection, guardianship, and disposition of delinquent, neglected, and dependent minors as is conferred upon it by section 18 of article 6 of the Constitution."—In re Petersen, 269 N.Y.S. 646, 648, 149 Misc. 869.

Particular grounds of objection not sustained

Indefinite character of portion of act having to do with arrest of the juvenile on failure to appear; designation of the juvenile as a juvenile delinquent before hearing and determination of his status; failure to prescribe a method for conduct of hearing and to require that a record be made of the evidence; indefinite character of that part of act having to do with order to be issued for arrest of parents or juvenile upon failure to appear.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.

Creation of juvenile courts see supra § 6.

Delinquent and homeless children as subject to restraint see Constitutional Law § 597.

78. Idaho.—In re Allmon, 294 P. 528, 50 Idaho 223.
Mo.—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233—State v. Gregori, 2 S.W.2d 747, 318 Mo. 998.

79. D.C.—Rule v. Geddes, 23 App.D.C. 31.
Ill.—In re Brown, 117 Ill.App. 332.
Mo.—State v. Tincher, 166 S.W. 1028, 258 Mo. 1, Ann.Cas.1915D 696.
"Juvenile legislation is a response to the modern spirit of social justice."—State v. Johnson, 194 N.W. 202, 196 Iowa 300.

80. Minn.—State ex rel. Johnson v. Wiecking, 274 N.W. 585, 200 Minn. 490.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
R.I.—Givardi v. Juvenile Court of Sixth Judicial Dist., 142 A. 542, 49 R.I. 336.
31 C.J. p 1102 note 49.

81. Ark.—Underwood v. Farrell, 299 S.W. 5, 175 Ark. 217—Ex parte King, 217 S.W. 465, 141 Ark. 213.
Cal.—Ex parte Daedler, 228 P. 467, 194 Cal. 320.
Conn.—Cinque v. Boyd, 121 A. 678, 99 Conn. 70.
D.C.—Richardson v. Browning, 18 F. 2d 1008, 57 App.D.C. 186.
Idaho.—Ex parte Small, 116 P. 118, 19 Idaho 1.
Iowa.—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N. W. 205, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075.
Mo.—State v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
Neb.—Scott v. Flowers, 84 N.W. 81, 60 Neb. 675.
N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.
N.Y.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464—Zambrotto v. Jannette, 290 N.Y.S. 338, 160 Misc. 558—People v. Sullivan, 200 N.Y.S. 214, 120 Misc. 618.
Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.
Okl.—Ex parte Parnell, 200 P. 456, 19 Okl.Cr. 273.
Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 32 Pa. Super. 335.
R.I.—Givardi v. Juvenile Court of Sixth Judicial Dist., 142 A. 542, 49 R.I. 336.
Vt.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224.
31 C.J. p 1102 note 50.

"The fundamental philosophy of juvenile court laws is that a delinquent child should be considered and treated not as a criminal but as a person requiring care, education and protection. . . . The primary function of juvenile courts, properly considered, is not conviction or punishment for crime, but crime prevention and delinquency rehabilitation."—Thomas v. U. S., 121 F.2d 905, 908, 74 App.D.C. 167.

"No child is to be deemed a criminal by reason of any adjudication courts as remedial;[82] its design is not punishment,[83] but reformation[84] correction,[85] protection,[86] or probation;[87] nor is the restraint imprisonment.[88] The legislation is designed for the child's good and welfare[89] and, according to the decisions on of delinquency."—Akers v. State, Ind. App., 51 N.E.2d 91, 94.

Constitutional guaranties

(1) The constitutional guaranties respecting an accused in a criminal case do not apply in a delinquency case.

Cal.—Ex parte Daedler, 228 P. 467, 194 Cal. 320.

Conn.—Cinque v. Boyd, 121 A. 678, 99 Conn. 70.

Ind.—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E.2d 91.

Iowa.—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N. W. 205, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075.

Mo.—Ex parte Naccarat, 41 S.W.2d 176, 328 Mo. 722, 76 A.L.R. 654—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.

Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

Pa.—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 82 Pa. Super. 335.

(2) Commitment to industrial schools and reformatories as involving right to trial by jury see the C. J.S. title Juries § 80, also 35 C.J. p 195 note 24.

A wayward minor, under the New York statute providing for the commitment of such minor, is not a criminal.—People ex rel. Peltz v. Brewster, 248 N.Y.S. 599, 232 App. Div. 1, reversing 247 N.Y.S. 672, 139 Misc. 161, and affirmed People ex rel. Peltz v. Warden of Second Dist. Prison of City of New York, 177 N. E. 139, 256 N.Y. 599—People ex rel. Deordio v. Palmer, 244 N.Y.S. 727, 230 App.Div. 397.

Procedure as not criminal see infra § 99.

82. Tex.—Phillips v. State, Cr., 20 S.W.2d 790—Stewart v. State, 8 S. W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.

Wash.—State v. King County Super. Ct., 180 P. 875, 106 Wash. 619.

83. Ala.—Harris v. State, 129 So. 795, 24 Ala.App. 59.

Ark.—Underwood v. Farrell, 299 S.W. 5, 175 Ark. 217—Ex parte King, 217 S.W. 465, 141 Ark. 213.

Cal.—Ex parte Ah Peen, 51 Cal. 280.

D.C.—Thomas v. U. S., 121 F.2d 905, 74 App.D.C. 167—Richardson v. Browning, 18 F.2d 1008, 57 App.D. C. 186—Rule v. Geddes, 23 App.D. C. 31.

Iowa.—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N.W. 205, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075—State v. Johnson, 194 N.W. 202, 196 Iowa 300.

La.—State v. Malone, 100 So. 788, 156 La. 617.

Minn.—State ex rel. Johnson v. Wiking, 274 N.W. 585, 200 Minn. 490.

Mo.—Ex parte Naccarat, 41 S.W.2d 176, 328 Mo. 722, 76 A.L.R. 654—Ex parte Bass, 40 S.W.2d 457, 328 Mo. 195—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.

Neb.—Scott v. Flowers, 84 N.W. 81, 60 Neb. 675.

N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.

N.J.—State v. Goldberg, 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J.Law 501, affirming 11 A. 2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272.

N.Y.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464—Zambrotto v. Jannette, 290 N.Y.S. 338, 160 Misc. 558—People v. Sullivan, 200 N.Y.S. 214, 120 Misc. 618.

Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

Okl.—Killian v. Burnham, 130 P.2d 538, 191 Okl. 248.

Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.

Pa.—In re Trignani, 24 A.2d 743, 148 Pa.Super. 142—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 82 Pa.Super. 335.

Tex.—Phillips v. State, Cr., 20 S.W. 2d 790.

Wash.—State ex rel. Pulakis v. Superior Court of Washington, King County, 128 P.2d 649, 14 Wash.2d 507.

31 C.J. p 1102 note 52—35 C.J. p 195 note 27.

But it has been said that "one who is in fact a juvenile, who is found guilty of any penal law, may be punished by confinement as a delinquent child."—Morgan v. State, 25 S.W.2d 842, 843, 114 Tex.Cr. 434.

"It does not seek to punish the child or its parents for misdeeds or shortcomings."—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 140, 113 Vt. 224.

84. Ala.—Harris v. State, 129 So. 795, 24 Ala.App. 59.

Ark.—Underwood v. Farrell, 299 S. W. 5, 175 Ark. 217—Ex parte King, 217 S.W. 465, 141 Ark. 213.

Cal.—Ex parte Daedler, 228 P. 467, 194 Cal. 320—Ex parte Ah Peen, 51 Cal. 280.

D.C.—Rule v. Geddes, 23 App.D.C. 31.

Idaho.—Ex parte Small, 116 P. 118, 19 Idaho 1.

Iowa.—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N. W. 205, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075.

La.—State v. Malone, 100 So. 788, 156 La. 617—In re Parker, 43 So. 54, 118 La. 471.

Mo.—State v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37—Ex parte Naccarat, 41 S.W.2d 176, 328 Mo. 722, 76 A.L.R. 654—Ex parte Bass, 40 S.W.2d 457, 328 Mo. 195—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090—State ex rel. Menth v. Porterfield, 264 S.W. 386—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.

Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.

Neb.—Scott v. Flowers, 84 N.W. 81, 60 Neb. 675.

N.J.—State v. Goldberg, 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J.Law 501, affirming 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272.

Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

Okl.—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10.

Pa.—In re Trignani, 24 A.2d 743, 148 Pa.Super. 142—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 82 Pa.Super. 335.

Tex.—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145—Hogue v. State, 220 S.W. 96, 87 Tex.Cr. 170.

35 C.J. p 195 note 27.

85. La.—State v. Kelly, 126 So. 49, 169 La. 753—In re Parker, 43 So. 54, 118 La. 471.

Mo.—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090.

Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

Okl.—Killian v. Burnham, 130 P.2d 538, 191 Okl. 248.

86. Ark.—Ex parte King, 217 S.W. 465, 141 Ark. 213.

Cal.—People v. Calkins, 119 P.2d 142, 48 Cal.App.2d 33.

Ill.—In re Brown, 117 Ill.App. 332.

Iowa.—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N.W. 205, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075.

Mo.—State v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37.

Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.

N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.

N.Y.—Zambrotto v. Jannette, 290 N. Y.S. 338, 160 Misc. 558.

Okl.—Killian v. Burnham, 130 P.2d 538, 191 Okl. 248—Ex parte Parnell, 200 P. 456, 19 Okl.Cr. 273.

Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.

Tex.—Hogue v. State, 220 S.W. 96, 87 Tex.Cr. 170.

Vt.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224—In re Hook, 115 A. 730, 95 Vt. 497, 19 A.L.R. 610.

87. Iowa.—State v. Johnson, 194 N. W. 202, 196 Iowa 300.

88. Ark.—Underwood v. Farrell, 299 S.W. 5, 175 Ark. 217—Ex parte King, 217 S.W. 465, 141 Ark. 213.

31 C.J. p 1102 note 53.

89. D.C.—Richardson v. Browning, 18 F.2d 1008, 57 App.D.C. 186.

Iowa.—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N.

the question, for the welfare of the public.[90] It must be so construed as to further the end sought by the legislature,[91] and should be liberally construed and applied to that end and in favor of the

W. 365, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075.
Minn.—State ex rel. Johnson v. Wiecking, 274 N.W. 585, 200 Minn. 490.
N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.
N.Y.—People v. Sullivan, 200 N.Y.S. 214, 120 Misc. 618.
Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.
Tex.—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.
Vt.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224.
31 C.J. p 1102 note 54.

Particular purposes

(1) "To help children who need the court's protection."—Ex parte Day, 65 P.2d 1049, 1054, 189 Wash. 368.

(2) "To prevent minors from growing up to lead an idle, dissolute, or immoral life."—State v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 245 P. 409, 411, 139 Wash. 1, 45 A.L.R. 1530.

(3) "To place the child under guardianship of proper authorities for proper care and discipline until he has reformed or arrives at the age of majority."—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 903, 22 Ohio App. 357.

(4) "To protect children against association with adult criminals . . . and to make more effective the techniques and efforts and treatment to rehabilitate such children."—In re X, Y and Z, 43 N.Y.S.2d 361, 363.

(5) "To restrain the criminal tendencies of the juvenile offender in their inception to the end that a fair opportunity might be afforded for the development of the elements of good citizenship."—Phillips v. State, Tex.Cr., 20 S.W.2d 790, 791.

(6) "To safeguard and reform children that may have erred and have been declared delinquent and to provide for children that may be declared neglected."—State v. Trimble, Mo., 63 S.W.2d 37, 38, citing Corpus Juris.

(7) "To prevent a trial and thus save children, under the age of sixteen years, from the ordeal of a trial if the child's own good and the best interests of the commonwealth justify it."—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 82 Pa.Super. 335, 338.

(8) "To protect and reform erring ones who have not reached an age of discretion and mature judgment; but, while this is the primary object of the act, the statute performs a secondary and wholesome purpose, in that it protects youthful society from the pernicious influence of the wayward ones."—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 975, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.

(9) "To protect both society and minor children, which form such a large part of it, from the effect of delinquency on the part of the child and neglect on the part of parents and custodians—not any more as to parents than as to others having the care and custody of children."—Ward v. Howard, 7 S.E.2d 625, 627, 217 N.C. 201.

(10) "To humanely deal with minors of the ages specified in the act, who have violated some ordinance of a city or town, or who have committed an offense against the laws of the state, or who from various specified causes are tending towards an immoral, vicious, or criminal life. The aim of the act is to treat such minors, not as criminals, but as wards of the state."—Givardi v. Juvenile Court of Sixth Judicial Dist., 142 A. 542, 49 R.I. 336.

(11) "The main purpose of the Juvenile Court law is to prevent the delinquency of children. . . . It is the purpose of the statute to safeguard children from those influences which would tend to cause them to become delinquent."—People v. Calkins, 119 P.2d 142, 144, 48 Cal.App. 2d 33.

(12) The "aim [of such statutes] is amnesty and oblivion for the transgressions of youthful offenders."—Thomas v. U. S., 121 F.2d 905, 908, 74 App.D.C. 167.

(13) Other statements of purpose.
Ark.—Ex parte King, 217 S.W. 465, 141 Ark. 213.
N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.
N.J.—State v. Goldberg, 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J.Law 501, affirming 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272.
N.Y.—Zambrotto v. Jannette, 290 N.Y.S. 338, 160 Misc. 558.
N.D.—State v. Overby, 209 N.W. 552, 54 N.D. 295.
Pa.—In re Trignani, 24 A.2d 743, 148 Pa.Super. 142.
Vt.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224.
Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.
Wash.—State ex rel. Pulakis v. Superior Court of Washington, King County, 128 P.2d 649, 14 Wash.2d 507.
31 C.J. p 1102 note 50 [a].

"In the case of a 'dependent child,' the purpose of juvenile court statutes is to place the child in an approved family to become a member of that family where such child may receive as nearly as possible the care it should have been given by its natural parents."—In re Hudson, 126 P. 2d 765, 777, 13 Wash.2d 673.

Hiding errors from public

(1) "The policy of the juvenile law is to hide youthful errors from the full gaze of the public and bury them in the graveyard of the forgotten past."—State v. Guerrero, 120 P.2d 798, 802, 58 Ariz. 421.

(2) The purpose of statute providing that the disposition of any child under the juvenile act or any evidence given in such case shall not be evidence against the child for any purpose is to protect the child when it becomes a ward of the state and to hide youthful errors from the gaze of the public.—People v. Smallwood, 10 N.W.2d 303, 306 Mich. 49.

"The court's adjudication looks alone to the welfare of the child."—State v. Wickliff, Mo.App., 114 S.W. 2d 158, 160.

Rights of parents

Such a statute has been said to be designed to protect the "natural right" of parents to the custody of their children, subject to judicial control only when the safety or interests of the child demand it.—Oversmith v. Lake, 295 N.W. 339, 295 Mich. 627.

Care of arrested child by juvenile officer

"Section 11416, which required the officer making the arrest to give into the care of a juvenile officer all children arrested under 18 years of age, is to prevent children of tender years from being thrown in jail with hardened criminals."—State v. Overby, 209 N.W. 552, 555, 54 N.D. 295.

90. Minn.—State ex rel. Johnson v. Wieking, 274 N.W. 585, 200 Minn. 490.

91. Ala.—Harris v. State, 129 So. 795, 24 Ala.App. 59.
Cal.—Los Angeles County v. Superior Court in and for Alameda County, 18 P.2d 112, 128 Cal.App. 522.
Iowa.—State v. Johnson, 194 N.W. 202, 196 Iowa 300.
Okl.—Killian v. Burnham, 130 P.2d 538, 191 Okl. 248.

Avoidance of public trial and prosecution

The statute relating to juvenile delinquents should be construed, so far as the law and the constitution will permit, so as not to compel a public trial and a prosecution by district attorney of a delinquent of tender years.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.

child's good and welfare;[92] but in so far as it purports to restrain the liberty of the child it should be strictly construed.[93] The courts must follow the positive and unambiguous provisions of the delinquency statutes.[94]

Repeal; amendment. Particular statutes of this character have been held repealed[95] or held not repealed[96] by others.

An amendment extending the juvenile court age has been held not to change the law relating to the detention or commitment of children under the former age.[97]

§ 98. —— Children Who May Be Committed

a. In general
b. Juvenile offenders as delinquents

a. In General

In order to justify commitment, the child must fall within the classification established by law, including that of age. Under most authorities, the delinquency statutes apply to married infants.

In order to justify commitment, the child must fall within the classification established by law.[98]

Abandoned children. Under governing statutes, the intent to abandon has been held essential to declare a child free of his parents' custody and control,[99] and in particular circumstances children have been held not to be "abandoned and neglected."[1]

Children growing up in crime. The term "growing up in crime," as used with respect to the commitment of children, has been said to refer not only to a minor who is a criminal, or who has been or is committing a crime, but also to a status, that is, a tendency in the direction of crime, and to include a youth who is incorrigible.[2]

Children incapable of self-support. The term "any infant unable to support itself" includes a feeble-minded child who is prevented by such in-

92. Cal.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 654, 69 Cal.App. 447, citing Corpus Juris.
Iowa.—State v. Johnson, 194 N.W. 202, 196 Iowa 300.
La.—State v. Duckett, 107 So. 696, 160 La. 920.
Mo.—State v. Robertson, App., 13 S.W.2d 566.
N.D.—State v. Overby, 209 N.W. 552, 54 N.D. 295.
Okl.—Ex parte Parnell, 200 P. 456, 19 Okl.Cr. 273.
Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.
Tex.—Phillips v. State, Cr., 20 S.W.2d 790—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.
Vt.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224.
Wash.—Ex parte Day, 65 P.2d 1049, 189 Wash. 368.
31 C.J. p 1102 note 55.

"The courts . . . have universally held that . . . [these statutes] are entitled to a liberal construction."—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 808, 809, 65 Okl.Cr. 10.

Statutory requirement
Okl.—Killian v. Burnham, 130 P.2d 538, 191 Okl. 248.

93. Tex.—Phillips v. State, Cr., 20 S.W.2d 790.
Wash.—In re Lundy, 143 P. 885, 82 Wash. 148, Ann.Cas.1916E 1007.

94. Ala.—Powell v. State, 141 So. 201, 224 Ala. 540, certiorari granted Powell v. State of Alabama, 52 S.Ct. 648, 286 U.S. 540, 76 L.Ed. 1278, reversed on other grounds Powell v. State of Alabama, 53 S.Ct. 55, 287 U.S. 45, 77 L.Ed. 158, 84 A.L.R. 527.

Statute held permissive
Comp.St.Suppl.1924 § 5913 (d), providing for commitment of delinquent negro boys to training school, is permissive and not compulsory.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.

95. Statutes held repealed
(1) Statute relating to punishment of delinquent children under sixteen years of age held to repeal prior statute relating to punishment to be imposed upon persons under eighteen years of age convicted of crimes punishable by less than life sentence, except as to children between sixteen and eighteen years of age.—State ex rel. Hamilton v. Chapman, 169 So. 658, 125 Fla. 235.

(2) Acts 1910 c 289 is impliedly repealed by Acts 1914 c 350.—Ex parte Mallory, 94 S.E. 782, 122 Va. 298.

96. Statutes held not repealed
(1) A provision of criminal code punishing failure to provide for minors was not repealed by provision in juvenile court code that the juvenile court or court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, should have jurisdiction and exercise the powers and jurisdiction conferred in the juvenile court code.—In re Cooper, 15 N.E.2d 634, 134 Ohio St. 40, affirming 16 N.E.2d 954, 58 Ohio App. 519.

(2) Statute relating to jurisdiction of probate court over delinquent children does not by implication repeal statute recognizing criminal accountability of children over fourteen years of age.—People v. Ross, 209 N.W. 663, 235 Mich. 433.

(3) Statute requiring commitments of boys under seventeen by juvenile court held not impliedly repealed.—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090.

(4) Other statutes.—Flannery v. State, 117 S.W.2d 1111, 135 Tex.Cr. 235.

97. Pa.—In re Trignani, 24 A.2d 743, 148 Pa.Super. 142.

98. Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143, and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.
31 C.J. p 1102 note 58.

99. Cal.—Moch v. Los Angeles County Super. Ct., 179 P. 440, 39 Cal. App. 471.

Presumption
Failure to provide for child for one year is only presumptive evidence of abandonment.—Moch v. Los Angeles County Super. Ct., supra.

Abandonment by both parents; communication
To warrant order adjudging minor free from parents' custody and control, both parents must join in acts of abandonment, or parent not joining must have consented to other's acts; child receiving communication from either parent during year, abandoned by one parent only, or supported by mother, is not abandoned.—Ex parte Edwards, 284 P. 916, 208 Cal. 725.

1. Mich.—In re Adams, 183 N.W. 241, 214 Mich. 199—Graham v. Gardner, 137 N.W. 823, 171 Mich. 540.

2. Neb.—Scott v. Flowers, 84 N.W. 81, 60 Neb. 675.

firmity from being taught a vocation which would provide support.[3]

Delinquent children. "Delinquency," as the term is used in this connection, was unknown to the common law.[4] The term "delinquent child" is variously defined, in the statutes of the several states, as meaning, in general, any child under a stated age who violates any law, or who is incorrigible or immoral, or who is growing up in idleness or crime;[5] delinquency has been said to involve an intent to do wrong.[6]

The terms of the law defining a delinquent child have been required to be strictly construed, to justify commitment as such;[7] and a child may not be committed as a delinquent for an act not coming within such statute.[8] Various particular acts have been held[9] or held not[10] to constitute delinquency.

The question as to what constitutes delinquency in connection with the crime of contributing to the delinquency of a child is considered supra § 13.

Dependent children. "Dependent child" has been said to be the term applied to normal children who must be supported by others than their natural guardians;[11] a dependent child is a child who is dependent on another, or on the public, for support.[12] A minor is not dependent merely because the child

3. Pa.—In re Pennsylvania S. P. C. C., 22 Pa.Dist. 347.

4. Or.—State v. Dunn, 99 P. 278, 53 Or. 304, rehearing denied 100 P. 258, 53 Or. 304.

5. Ala.—Bell v. State, 101 So. 68, 20 Ala.App. 101.
Hawaii.—In re Begas, 29 Hawaii 830.
La.—State v. Dabon, 111 So. 461, 162 La. 1075—State v. Ebarbo, 78 So. 973, 143 La. 591.
Mo.—State v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37.
N.Y.—In re Jones, 24 N.Y.S.2d 10, 175 Misc. 451.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 82 Pa. Super. 335—U. S. v. Allegheny County Juvenile Ct., 25 Pa.Dist. 780.
Tenn.—Howland v. State, 268 S.W. 115, 151 Tenn. 47.
Tex.—Rose v. State, 129 S.W.2d 639, 137 Tex.Cr. 316—Simpson v. State, 220 S.W. 777, 87 Tex.Cr. 277—Hogue v. State, 220 S.W. 96, 87 Tex.Cr. 170—Tippins v. State, 217 S.W. 380, 86 Tex.Cr. 205.
18 C.J. p 475 note 84.

"The violation of a criminal statute by a person under 17 years of age is still a crime, if such person has the capacity at common law to commit crime; the Juvenile Court Act merely makes such violation also an act of delinquency, a jurisdictional ground for the administration, in a proper case, of its corrective and reformatory measures."—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 1065, 321 Mo. 1090.

"A neglected and dependent child is not necessarily a delinquent child, though frequently he becomes one if neglect continues; and, indeed, he may be at one and the same time, both. But the legislature has seen fit to enact distinct legislation controlling the problems presented by each class of cases, and we are not prepared to say it may not do so, that the classification it seeks to make and the distinction it draws . . . is not reasonable."—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 513, 47 N. M. 140.

6. N.Y.—In re Jones, 24 N.Y.S.2d 10, 15, 175 Misc. 451.

Surrounding circumstances
"An intent can be shown by the surrounding circumstances, but these circumstances must obviate the inference that the act was committed in good faith."—In re Jones, supra.

7. Tex.—Ex parte Douglas, 5 S.W. 2d 153, 109 Tex.Cr. 463.

Necessity of want of parental care
Under some statutes it is required, for commitment, not only that the child be delinquent, but also that the parent or legal guardian has failed to provide the proper parental care.
Mont.—In re Satterthwaite, 160 P. 346, 52 Mont. 550.
Utah.—Mill v. Brown, 88 P. 609, 31 Utah 473, 120 Am.S.R. 935.

8. Tex.—Ex parte Douglas, 5 S.W. 2d 153, 109 Tex.Cr. 463.

Repeated or habitual actions
(1) Minor's desertion of home on single occasion without good cause did not justify commitment as a child who "repeatedly" deserts his home.—People v. Pikunas, 182 N.E. 675, 260 N.Y. 72, 85 A.L.R. 1097, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 1071, 236 App. Div. 737.

(2) Single or occasional acts do not authorize child's conviction as delinquent for habitually wandering about streets at night on no business.—Moore v. State, 14 S.W.2d 1041, 111 Tex.Cr. 461—Meggs v. State, 276 S.W. 262, 101 Tex.Cr. 415.

(3) Minors' taking of one automobile held not "incorrigibility" or "growing up in idleness or crime" authorizing declaration of delinquency.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.

9. Failure to attend school
Wis.—State v. Freudenberg, 163 N. W. 184, 166 Wis. 35.

"Habitual truancy" which amounts to delinquency is a refusal to attend school in defiance of parental authority.—In re Alley, 182 N.W. 360, 174 Wis. 85.

Singing in café
A girl under the age prescribed by the statute, singing in a café where intoxicants are sold, is a delinquent child.—In re Lundy, 143 P. 885, 82 Wash. 148, Ann.Cas.1916E 1007.

10. Refusal to salute flag
N.Y.—In re Reed, 28 N.Y.S.2d 92, 262 App.Div. 814, certiorari denied 30 N.Y.S.2d 702, 262 App.Div. 986—In re Jones, 24 N.Y.S.2d 10, 175 Misc. 451.

Exclusion from public school for refusal to salute flag.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.

"The accidental discharge of a gun cannot be said to be an act of delinquency."—State v. Butcher, 279 P. 497, 498, 74 Utah 275.

Being on streets or auto riding at night
Girl under eighteen does not become delinquent by being on streets, or going auto riding, at night, unless on no business or legitimate mission.—Moore v. State, 14 S.W.2d 1041, 111 Tex.Cr. 461.

11. N.Y.—In re Souers, 238 N.Y.S. 738, 135 Misc. 521.
Support and maintenance generally see supra § 9.

12. Mo.—In re Campbell, 19 S.W.2d 752, 323 Mo. 757.

Nature of home or advantages provided
The dependent child statute was not intended to take a child from a parent who enforces proper discipline and gives child the proper moral training and furnishes sufficient food, clothing, and shelter for child, merely because parent is financially unable to provide home with modern appliances found in ordinary city home, or because some one in better financial circumstances can give child greater advantages.—In re Schein, 69 P.2d 293, 156 Or. 661.

Children held dependent
(1) A child who has been a ward of divorced parents;[13] and a child of separated parents is not a dependent child so long as he is maintained by a parent.[14] The mere fact that a parent has been convicted of violating the prohibitory law of the state does not justify the state in taking from him custody and control of his children, as being dependent and neglected.[15]

In determining whether a child should be given into the custody of the state as dependent, the court is not concerned with the relative qualifications of his father and mother to have his custody.[16]

The definitions of "dependent child" and "delinquent child" have been said to be different;[17] a dependent child is not a criminal, while a delinquent child may be one who commits crime.[18]

The question as to what constitutes dependency in connection with the crime of contributing to the dependency of a child is considered supra § 13.

Incorrigible children. The term "incorrigible," as applied to children, has been held to mean deliberately unmanageable,[19] or unmanageable by parents or guardians;[20] it does not imply absolute impossibility of correction or reform, but implies that a child is incapable of being corrected or reformed in his present situation and under the control to which he is subject.[21]

A single act of disobedience is not sufficient basis for a charge of incorrigibility.[22] Thus incorrigibility and delinquency have been said to be two different offenses,[23] in that the former has in it elements of continuous disobedience of parental commands, viciousness, and general bad conduct, while the latter may be a single offense, the violation of any law.[24]

Neglected children. It has been said that a statute providing as to who are neglected children should be liberally construed to aid the purpose of its enactment.[25] Whether a child is a neglected child within such a statute is a question of fact,[26] of the juvenile court and is receiving county aid.—Dumes v. Deckard, 17 N.E.2d 481, 105 Ind.App. 674.

(2) Children cared for by friends who had taken charge of them during divorced mother's illness at her request.—Ex parte Day, 65 P.2d 1049, 189 Wash. 368.

(3) Other children.—Stanley v. State, 179 N.W. 1019, 105 Neb. 260.

Children held not dependent

(1) Nine-year-old child whose father is temporarily disabled from supporting her, and who is suitably maintained by step-mother.—State v. Juvenile Court of Ramsey County, 204 N.W. 21, 163 Minn. 312.

(2) Where parents of twelve-year-old child were divorced, father had custody of child and arranged and paid for her to live in a private home and attend public school, and child attended Sunday School and church with her father and people with whom she lived, child was not a "dependent child" within statute, so as to justify depriving father of her custody.—Reynolds v. Rayborn, Tex. Civ.App., 116 S.W.2d 836.

(3) Other children.

Colo.—In re People in Interest of McChesney, 83 P.2d 772, 103 Colo. 115.

Ind.—Orr v. State, 123 N.E. 470, 70 Ind.App. 242.

12. Ohio.—Sonnenberg v. State, 178 N.E. 855, 40 Ohio App. 475.

14. N.Y.—Berman v. Berman, 8 N.Y.S.2d 499, 169 Misc. 921.

15. Colo.—Ziemer v. Wheeler, 1 P.2d 579, 89 Colo. 242.

16. Colo.—In re People in Interest of McChesney, 83 P.2d 772, 103 Colo. 115.

17. Wash.—State v. Pierce County Super. Ct., 179 P. 79, 105 Wash. 684, 686.

18. Wash.—State v. Pierce County Super. Ct., supra.

19. Vt.—In re Hook, 115 A. 730, 95 Vt. 497.

20. Colo.—People v. Pursall, 201 P. 881, 70 Colo. 399.

La.—In re Parker, 43 So. 54, 118 La. 471, 472.

Pa.—U. S. v. Allegheny County Juvenile Ct., 25 Pa.Dist. 780.

21. Miss.—Mahaffey v. Mahaffey, 170 So. 289, 176 Miss. 733.

Tex.—Hogue v. State, 220 S.W. 96, 87 Tex.Cr. 170.

Vt.—In re Hook, 115 A. 730, 95 Vt. 497.

22. Vt.—In re Hook, supra.

23. Pa.—In re Shelton, 11 Pa.Dist. 155.

24. Pa.—In re Shelton, supra.

25. Mo.—State v. Robertson, App., 13 S.W.2d 566.

26. N.Y.—In re Richards, 2 N.Y.S.2d 608, 166 Misc. 359, affirmed 7 N.Y.S.2d 722, 255 App.Div. 922.

Children held neglected

(1) Children made public charges through refusal of their father to comply with regulation of welfare officer requiring father's surrender of automobile license plates as condition to obtaining public work.—In re Kinney, 272 N.Y.S. 520, 151 Misc. 769.

(2) A father who struck child with belt in correcting her for lying was "unnecessarily assaultive," and the child was a "neglected" child.—In re Carl, 22 N.Y.S.2d 782, 785, 174 Misc. 985.

(3) Other children.

Neb.—Stanley v. State, 179 N.W. 1019, 105 Neb. 260.

N.Y.—In re Schwartz, 35 N.Y.S.2d 930.

Children held not neglected

(1) Children ten, twelve, and fifteen years of age, who were suspended from public school for refusal to salute the flag of account of good-faith conscientious objections based upon teachings of religious sect, and who because of parents' poverty were not provided with satisfactory private schooling.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.

(2) An eight-year-old girl was not a "neglected child," because of the fact that her mother did not send her to school, where refusal was not prompted by any spirit of defiance or willfulness, but rather from a conviction that it would not be safe or conducive to child's health, in view of conditions under which child would be obliged to travel to attend school, and where mother taught child at home as well as she could. —In re Richards, 2 N.Y.S.2d 608, 166 Misc. 359, affirmed 7 N.Y.S.2d 722, 255 App.Div. 922.

(3) A ten-year-old girl placed in an orphans' asylum by its mother under agreement to pay its board, and given to childless parents, from whom the mother made repeated attempts to retake it, culminating in court actions by both parties, is not a "neglected or delinquent child."—Scott v. Brown, 254 S.W. 1074, 160 Ark. 489.

(4) That father restricted child's activities to conform to his beliefs in religious cult, and limited bedrid-and each case must be determined on its own facts.[27] Neglect, in this sense, is not limited to mere failure to provide for the child's physical needs,[28] but extends to a denial to a child of affection, guidance, and consideration, amounting to a rejection of the child by the parent or the person in custodial care;[29] willful conduct[30] or intent to commit a crime[31] need not be proved. A mere showing that some one other than the present custodian has a paramount right to the child's custody is not a showing of "neglect," in the statutory sense.[32]

The terms "neglected child" and "delinquent child" have been said to have distinct and separate meanings; a child may be of good character and yet, through no fault of its own, be declared a neglected child.[33]

Classification as to age. It is within the power of the legislature to classify persons by their age for the purpose of dealing with them as dependent or delinquent persons,[34] and when such power is exercised the infant must fall within the age prescribed by statute in order to be subject to its provisions.[35]

Married infants. The authorities are not in full accord on the question whether the statutes providing for the commitment of delinquent juveniles apply to married infants who otherwise fall within the classification provided;[36] but it has been said that the cases seem to be few in which it has been asserted that the statute does not apply to married female infants,[37] and the weight of authority is that married infants are within the operation of the statute,[38] and that, where the juvenile court has obtained jurisdiction of an infant for delinquency proceedings, the infant's subsequent marriage does not deprive the court of jurisdiction, suspend the operation of the statute, or render her commitment invalid,[39] although appropriate steps may be taken den wife's attention in caring for child did not make child "neglected." —In re Sisson, 274 N.Y.S. 857, 152 Misc. 806.

(5) Other children.

La.—State v. McMillan, 185 So. 269, 191 La. 317.

Pa.—Commonwealth v. Bickel, 78 Pa. Super. 348.

27. N.Y.—In re Carl, 22 N.Y.S.2d 782, 174 Misc. 985.

28. N.Y.—In re Carl, supra.

29. N.Y.—In re Carl, supra.

30. N.Y.—In re Carl, supra.

31. N.Y.—In re Carl, supra.

32. N.Y.—Caposella v. Leonardo, 7 N.Y.S.2d 606, 255 App.Div. 863, reargument denied In re Caposella, 8 N.Y.S.2d 509, 255 App.Div. 987.

33. N.Y.—State v. Trimble, 63 S.W. 2d 37.

34. Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
31 C.J. p 1103 note 65.

35. Ala.—Williamson v. State, 4 So. 2d 734, 242 Ala. 42.
31 C.J. p 1103 note 66.

36. D.C.—Richardson v. Browning, 18 F.2d 1008, 57 App.D.C. 186.
Tex.—Phillips v. State, Cr., 20 S.W. 2d 790, 791, citing Corpus Juris.
Vt.—In re Hook, 115 A. 730, 95 Vt. 497.
Emancipation by marriage see supra § 29.

37. Tex.—Phillips v. State, Cr., 20 S. W.2d 790, 791, citing Corpus Juris.

Injunction against marriage

An injunction issued by a juvenile court forbidding the marriage of a female infant who was under bail in delinquency proceedings before that court was held of no force, on the ground that, at the time the injunction was issued, no adjudication of delinquency had been made, and the girl was not within the control of the court.—State v. Hennepin County Dist. Court, 136 N.W. 746, 118 Minn. 170.

38. D.C.—Richardson v. Browning, 18 F.2d 1008, 57 App.D.C. 186.
Hawaii.—In re Begas, 29 Hawaii 830.
Mich.—Ex parte Drye, 229 N.W. 623, 625, 250 Mich. 210, citing Corpus Juris.
Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
N.Y.—In re Palumbo, 14 N.Y.S.2d 329, 172 Misc. 55.
Ohio.—State v. Wilcox, 26 Ohio N.P., N.S., 343.
Okl.—Killian v. Burnham, 130 P.2d 538, 191 Okl. 248—Ex parte Rothrock, 199 P. 581, 19 Okl.Cr. 234.
Or.—Ex parte Packer, 298 P. 234, 136 Or. 159.
Contra State v. Gates, 193 P. 197, 98 Or. 110—State v. Eisen, 99 P. 282, 100 P. 257, 53 Or. 297.
31 C.J. p 1103 note 69.

Reason for rule

"Marriage does not remove the parties thereto from the operation of the general laws of the state enacted in the interest of public welfare. To achieve . . . [the] purpose [of the delinquency statute] it is essential for the protection and welfare of both the child and the public that marriage should not exclude the child from the benevolent operation of the law."—State ex rel. Johnson v. Wiecking, 274 N.W. 585, 200 Minn. 490.

"Juvenile delinquent person"

In a statute providing that any child under eighteen years of age found in the situation therein described "shall be deemed a delinquent child or a juvenile delinquent person," the use of the two phrases in the disjunctive, the latter being broader than the former, "reveals the legislative intention to include, rather than exclude, married minors." —State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 974, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.

Effect of statute as to rights of married female

Married females under the age of eighteen years are not withdrawn from the operation of a statute providing that "the term 'delinquent child' shall include . . . any girl under eighteen years of age" by another statute providing that "every female under the age of twenty-one years who shall marry . . . shall, from and after the time of such marriage, be deemed to be of full age and shall have all the rights and privileges to which she would have been entitled had she been at the time of her marriage of full age." —Phillips v. State, Tex.Cr., 20 S.W. 2d 790, 791.

39. Mich.—Ex parte Drye, 229 N.W. 623, 250 Mich. 210.
Or.—Ex parte Packer, 298 P. 234, 136 Or. 159.
31 C.J. p 1103 note 69.

for her release.[40] Where the marriage was annulled prior to the court's obtaining jurisdiction the statute has been held to apply.[41]

b. Juvenile Offenders as Delinquents

(1) In general

(2) Determining whether to proceed against infant as criminal or delinquent

(1) In General

Statutes providing that certain acts committed by certain infants, which in the case of adults would be crimes, shall constitute juvenile delinquency only preclude the prosecution under criminal laws or before ordinary criminal tribunals of infants falling within the statutory classification. However, under some authorities, although not others, an infant may waive the right to be treated as a delinquent instead of as a criminal.

While in the absence of express provision to that effect statutes providing for the commitment of delinquent infants and including as delinquent those who violate the criminal law do not except such infants from prosecution under the criminal law,[42] the progressive and humanitarian tendency of modern legislation toward infants, as considered supra § 97, is best evidenced by the statutory enactments providing that certain acts committed by certain infants, which in cases of adults would be crimes, shall be considered as constituting juvenile delinquency only.[43] These statutes preclude the prosecution under the criminal law or before ordinary criminal tribunals of infant defendants who fall within the statutory classification.[44] The validity of such legislation has been repeatedly upheld,[45] except as it has conflicted with constitutional limitations.[46] Statutes enacting it should be construed liberally in favor of the welfare of the infant.[47] To justify a proceeding against an infant as a delinquent and not a criminal, he must fall within the classification established by statute;[48] the crime charged[49] and, as appears infra subdivision b (2)

40. Utah.—Stoker v. Gowans, 147 P. 911, 45 Utah 556, Ann.Cas.1916E 1025.

41. Wash.—In re Lundy, 143 P. 885, 82 Wash. 148, Ann.Cas.1916E 1007.

42. Ga.—Thomas v. State, 163 S.E. 734, 174 Ga. 654—Mills v. State, 192 S.E. 730, 56 Ga.App. 390—Johnson v. State, 159 S.E. 295, 43 Ga.App. 474.
Iowa.—State v. Reed, 218 N.W. 609, 207 Iowa 557.
31 C.J. p 1103 note 75.
Contra People v. Butts, 14 N.Y.S.2d 881, stating Georgia law.

In Ohio "the Juvenile Court Act does not in any way change the common-law rule which has always governed in Ohio as to the capacity of a minor to commit a crime. . . . The fact that under the Juvenile Court Act the commission of a felony by a minor constitutes him a delinquent and authorizes such court to take charge of him, as such delinquent, does not relieve him of the consequences of his crime or abridge the right of the grand jury to indict him for such crime, or the right of the common pleas court to try him for such act, unless the juvenile court acquires jurisdiction of him for such delinquency before the common pleas court acquires jurisdiction of him for such crime."—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 903, 22 Ohio App. 357.

43. U.S.—Ex parte Januszewski, C.C.Ohio, 196 F. 123.
31 C.J. p 1103 note 77.

44. Conn.—State v. Ebert, 162 A. 769, 115 Conn. 589.
Kan.—Ex parte Swehla, 220 P. 299, 114 Kan. 712.
La.—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 193 La. 104—State v. West, 139 So. 804, 173 La. 974—State v. Kelly, 126 So. 49, 169 La. 753—State v. Dabon, 111 So. 461, 162 La. 1075.
Mo.—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.
N.Y.—People v. Murch, 189 N.E. 220, 263 N.Y. 285, affirming 266 N.Y.S. 907, 240 App.Div. 786—People v. Glowacki, 22 N.Y.S.2d 22, 174 Misc. 415—In re X, Y and Z, 43 N.Y.S.2d 361.
Tex.—Brown v. State, 268 S.W. 460, 99 Tex.Cr. 70.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 78.

Entire proceeding illegal

A criminal proceeding, begun by complaint and warrant against one then under sixteen years old in district court, which bound him over under bail to await grand jury's action, was illegal from start until its conclusion, including finding of indictment and accused's arraignment and sentence thereon after he reached such age, as only juvenile court had jurisdiction over him.—Ex parte Albiniano, 6 A.2d 554, 62 R.I. 429, 123 A.L.R. 441.

In New Jersey

(1) The statute providing that person under age of sixteen is deemed incapable of committing a crime is intended to go only as far as correlative features of the statute defining juvenile delinquency as commission by child under sixteen years of age of any act which when committed by person of age of sixteen years or over, would constitute a felony.—State v. Goldberg, 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272, affirmed 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J.Law 501—Ex parte Mei, 192 A. 80, 122 N.J.Eq. 125, 110 A.L.R. 1080, affirming 186 A. 577, 121 N.J. Eq. 123, supplemented 186 A. 721, 121 N.J.Eq. 125.

(2) Under juvenile court act, person under sixteen years of age could be found guilty of delinquency in that he had committed act which would constitute murder if committed by adult, only on finding that he has combined all factors of crime including criminal intent, and is saved from prosecution only by his age.—Ex parte Mei, supra.

45. Conn.—State v. Elbert, 162 A. 769, 115 Conn. 589.
N.Y.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 79.

46. Mo.—State v. Tincher, 166 S.W. 1028, 258 Mo. 1, Ann.Cas.1915D 696.

47. Okl.—In re Powell, 120 P. 1022, 6 Okl.Cr. 495.
Wash.—McClain v. Chelan County Super. Ct., 191 P. 852, 112 Wash. 260.

48. N.C.—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 213 N.C. 299.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 82.

49. Fla.—State ex rel. Interlandi v. Petteway, 155 So. 319, 114 Fla. 850.
Me.—State v. Rand, 169 A. 898, 132 Me. 246.
Mass.—Commonwealth v. Dies, 143 N.E. 506, 248 Mass. 482.
Mich.—People v. Crandell, 258 N.W. 224, 270 Mich. 124.
N.J.—State v. Goldberg, 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J.Law 501, affirming 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272.

(b) of this section, his age must include him within the benefits of the statute.

Waiver of right to be treated as juvenile delinquent. In some jurisdictions it has been held that a juvenile offender falling within the statutory classification entitling him to be treated as a delinquent and not as a criminal cannot waive such right.[50] In other jurisdictions it has been held that the right of an infant to be exempt from criminal prosecution and to be prosecuted merely as a delinquent may be waived by the infant,[51] and such right is considered waived by failure to plead his juvenility[52] and plead-

Tex.—Morgan v. State, 25 S.W.2d 842, 114 Tex.Cr. 434.
Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S. Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 83.

Capital felony

"The juvenile courts created by the Legislature are without jurisdiction to try boys 15 years of age charged with a capital felony. State v. Burnett, 102 S.E. 711, 179 N.C. 735. The jurisdiction of such offenses was not taken from the superior court by the passage of the juvenile court act, C.S. § 5039 et seq."—State v. Smith, 195 S.E. 819, 821, 213 N.C. 299.

Murder; manslaughter

(1) Murder not included within statute.
La.—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 193 La. 104—State v. West, 139 So. 304, 173 La. 974.
N.J.—Ex parte Mei, 186 A. 577, 121 N.J.Eq. 123, supplemented 186 A. 721, 121 N.J.Eq. 125, affirmed 192 A. 80, 122 N.J.Eq. 125, 110 A.L.R. 1080.
Tenn.—Howland v. State, 268 S.W. 115, 151 Tenn. 47—Templeton v. State, 240 S.W. 789, 146 Tenn. 272.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 83 [a].

(2) Delinquency grounded in murder constitutes "crime" and charge thereof constitutes criminal "accusation" within constitutional provisions relating to criminal procedure. —Ex parte Mei, 192 A. 80, 122 N.J.Eq. 125, 110 A.L.R. 1080, affirming 186 A. 577, 121 N.J.Eq. 123, supplemented 186 A. 721, 121 N.J.Eq. 125.

(3) Where the juvenile court's jurisdiction over delinquent children under a stated age is not made to extend to capital crimes, the prosecuting counsel's statement in a prosecution of a child under that age for murder, that he would not ask for a capital verdict does not divest the district court of jurisdiction.—State v. Dabon, 111 So. 461, 162 La. 1075.

(4) As manslaughter is not a capital offense, whenever the charge is against a person under seventeen years of age, the offense falls within the exclusive original jurisdiction of the juvenile court, in which it is charged and tried, not as a crime, but as a mere delinquency.—State v. West, 139 So. 304, 173 La. 974—State v. Dabon, supra.

(5) "When a juvenile is indicted for murder, only the jury can decide whether a felonious homicide was committed and if so whether the homicide was murder or manslaughter. But when the jury decides that the crime was not murder but manslaughter, the verdict does not mean that the juvenile should be dealt with and punished as a felon, but it means that the juvenile should be dealt with in the juvenile court as a delinquent child in the manner provided by special laws."—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 350, 193 La. 104.

(6) Where indictment charges one with murder without alleging his age, evidence is admissible to show that he is under seventeen to establish want of jurisdiction of district court of included offense of manslaughter; and if from evidence jury finds accused under seventeen and not guilty of murder, verdict should be "not guilty," but as to included offense of manslaughter merely that accused is "under seventeen."—State v. West, supra.

Bastardy

Statute providing that minors under eighteen, when arrested, shall be taken before juvenile judge, applies only to arrests in criminal cases and therefore does not apply in bastardy proceedings.—Durst v. Griffith, 182 N.E. 519, 43 Ohio App. 44.

Crime included in crime charged

In prosecution in district court, juvenile cannot be convicted of crime over which court has no jurisdiction to try juvenile and for which he must be dealt with as a delinquent child, in the juvenile court, although such crime is essentially included in crime charged in indictment.—State v. Neal, 125 So. 442, 169 La. 441.

In New York

(1) A child is not deemed to be guilty of a crime except where the punishment for an offense committed by a child would, if committed by an adult, be life imprisonment or the extreme penalty.—In re Cotton, 30 N.Y.S.2d 421.

(2) Under statute providing that acts of child in all cases other than acts constituting felony punishable by death or life imprisonment shall be treated as if done without evil mind which characterizes felonious intent, only crimes which child under sixteen years of age is capable of committing are treason, murder in first degree, and murder in second degree.—People v. Murch, 189 N.E. 220, 263 N.Y. 235, affirming 266 N.Y.S. 907, 240 App.Div. 786—People v. Fields, 20 N.Y.S.2d 702, 174 Misc. 809.

(3) Kidnapping, in some circumstances, is to be added to crimes listed in preceding statement.—People v. Fields, 20 N.Y.S.2d 702, 174 Misc. 809.

(4) The children's division of the domestic relations court of the City of New York has exclusive original jurisdiction of a child under the age of sixteen who is charged with having committed an unlawful act, or omitted to do that which the law requires in all instances except where the act or omission if committed by an adult is punishable by life imprisonment, or death, and the court has the power to inquire as to the degree of the crime committed by a child as by determining whether children under sixteen who allegedly stabbed a boy to death were guilty of murder in the first degree or murder in the second degree; but regardless of its determination of the question, indictment of children by grand jury of murder in the first or second degree would supersede action by the court.—In re X, Y, and Z, 43 N.Y.S.2d 361.

50. R.I.—Ex parte Albiniano, 6 A.2d 554, 62 R.I. 429, 123 A.L.R. 441.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 85.

Failure to raise age question

A minor did not waive right to attack validity of indictments on ground that he was under statutory age at times of offenses charged by permitting himself to be arraigned thereon before superior court and voluntarily pleading thereto without then raising any question regarding his age.—Ex parte Albiniano, supra.

51. Tex.—Valdez v. State, 265 S.W. 161, 98 Tex.Cr. 166.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 86.

52. Ohio.—State v. Klingenberger, 149 N.E. 395, 113 Ohio St. 418.
Tex.—Fifer v. State, 234 S.W. 409, 90 Tex.Cr. 282.

Written "motion" to transfer prosecution to juvenile court on statutory ground that accused was not sixteen years of age operated as plea to jurisdiction of court.—Keenum v. State, 146 So. 622, 25 Ala.App. 359.

ing guilty to the offense.[53] The right of a minor under the specified age not to be prosecuted for crime until the matter has first been submitted to the juvenile court relates to jurisdiction of the person and not of the subject matter, and may therefore be waived;[54] and where, under the statute, it is not mandatory that an accused under the statutory age and charged with crime shall be tried by the juvenile court unless his age is suggested or appears to the judge, the privilege is waived by failure to call the minor's age to the court's attention.[55]

(2) Determining whether to Proceed against Infant as Criminal or Delinquent

(a) In general

(b) Age

(a) In General

Ordinarily, a preliminary inquiry is made by the juvenile court to determine whether the infant shall be proceeded against as a criminal or as a delinquent; if it decides the former, it must transfer the case to the court having jurisdiction. Conversely, a criminal court in which proceedings are instituted may be required, on ascertaining that the delinquency statutes apply, to transfer the case to the court having jurisdiction of delinquency proceedings, or may be given discretion as to making such transfer.

Ordinarily there is had a preliminary investigation or hearing with a view of determining whether the infant shall be proceeded against as a criminal or as a delinquent,[56] as by determining whether or not he committed the act charged, and, if so, whether he knew the wrongfulness thereof in a criminal sense.[57] In determining such preliminary questions the court having authority in the premises ordinarily exercises its discretion or judgment.[58] The manner or method of determining the question is mostly regulated by statute,[59] and compliance with

53. Tex.—Fifer v. State, 234 S.W. 409, 90 Tex.Cr. 282.

54. Cal.—Ex parte Tassey, 253 P. 948, 950, 81 Cal.App. 287.

55. Cal.—People v. Luzovich, 16 P. 2d 144, 127 Cal.App. 465—Ex parte Bastiani, 253 P. 951, 81 Cal.App. 294.

56. Ala.—Lane v. State, 101 So. 521, 20 Ala.App. 192, certiorari denied Ex parte Lane, 101 So. 522, 211 Ala. 615—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.
Ind.—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E.2d 91.
N.Y.—In re X, Y and Z, 43 N.Y.S.2d 361.
Okl.—Marks v. State, 102 P.2d 955, 69 Okl.Cr. 330—Wilson v. State, 82 P. 2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45.
Pa.—In re Trignani, 28 A.2d 702, 150 Pa.Super. 491.
Tex.—Valdez v. State, 265 S.W. 161, 98 Tex.Cr. 166.

Provision for petition as directory

Under provisions of the welfare and institutions code, the provision that the probation officer shall file a petition asking that a minor against whom a criminal cause is pending be declared a ward of the juvenile court is "directory" and not "mandatory," where the juvenile court considers only whether the minor is a fit subject for consideration under the juvenile court law, and does not retain the case in the juvenile court but remands it for proceedings under the general law.—People v. Renteria, Cal.App., 141 P.2d 37, 40.

57. Okl.—Ex parte Brown, 278 P. 671, 48 Okl.Cr. 339—Ex parte Alton, 262 P. 215, 38 Okl.Cr. 383—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45—Ex parte Brown, 233 P. 1098, 29 Okl.Cr. 369—Ex parte Pyzer, 232 P. 962, 29 Okl.Cr. 156.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 88.

58. Ala.—Lane v. State, 101 So. 521, 20 Ala.App. 192, certiorari denied Ex parte Lane, 101 So. 522, 211 Ala. 615.
Cal.—People v. Renteria, App., 141 P. 2d 37.
Ky.—Wooton v. Commonwealth, 75 S.W.2d 556, 255 Ky. 810—White v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 548, 242 Ky. 736—Hayes v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W. 160, 210 Ky. 449.
Mo.—Bonzo v. Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., 125 S.W.2d 75, 344 Mo. 127.
Okl.—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45.
Or.—Ex parte Loundagin, 278 P. 950, 129 Or. 652.
Pa.—In re Trignani, 28 A.2d 702, 150 Pa.Super. 491.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 89.

Investigation

"The practicability of . . . an investigation [of the home and environment of the child] is and must necessarily be left to the court in the exercise of its sound discretion."—Akers v. State, Ind.App., 51 N.E. 2d 91, 95.

Suspension of criminal proceedings against child under eighteen is discretionary with judge.—Burrows v. State, 297 P. 1029, 38 Ariz. 99.

"Incorrigible" delinquent

A juvenile delinquent who by his conduct has placed himself within the statutory definition of "incorrigibles" if so adjudged must be proceeded against criminally, and a juvenile court would under the statute have jurisdiction only to sit as a committing magistrate.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.

59. Act held constitutional

A statute providing that if the juvenile court, after investigation made, concludes that a juvenile offender is past reformation, it may put him or her to trial in a court which would have original jurisdiction but for the juvenile law, is not invalid as violating the constitution.—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.

Time for raising or determining question

(1) The question of juvenility of accused, entitling him to trial as a delinquent child, is to be presented to and passed on by judge, on proper sworn statement, before plea to the indictment, and ordinarily cannot be raised for the first time on motion for new trial.—Valdez v. State, 265 S.W. 161, 98 Tex.Cr. 166.

(2) Accused could not raise the question of juvenility, entitling him to trial as a delinquent child, for the first time when the court pronounced sentence on him.—Rice v. State, 127 S.W.2d 889, 137 Tex.Cr. 21.

(3) Where issue of accused's age was not suggested until after filing of information, filed after accused reached eighteen, juvenile code did not apply.—Burrows v. State, 297 P. 1029, 38 Ariz. 99.

(4) Determination as to whether minor should be dealt with under juvenile law or proceeded against under general criminal law need not necessarily be made at close of trial.—State ex rel. MacNish v. Landwehr, 60 S.W.2d 4, 332 Mo. 622.

such statutory provisions is necessary.[60]

Jurisdiction. In most of the states the jurisdiction to determine this preliminary question resides exclusively in the juvenile court,[61] in which case no other court has jurisdiction to initiate, try, or review on appeal a proceeding against an infant offender unless proceedings have been first had in the court exercising juvenile jurisdiction.[62] It has been held that a juvenile offender is incapable, by waiver or consent, of transferring this jurisdiction from the juvenile court to the criminal court.[63]

Operation and effect of determination. When the authority is vested in the juvenile court, and it determines that the infant should be proceeded against in accordance with the criminal law, its jurisdiction ceases,[64] and it must transfer the case to the court

Record of investigation

"It is not contemplated nor is it compatible with the purposes of the Juvenile Act that . . . [an] investigation [of the home and environment of the child] be made a matter of record."—Akers v. State, Ind.App., 51 N.E.2d 91, 95.

Notice to parent or guardian required

Ky.—Compton v. Commonwealth, 240 S.W. 36, 194 Ky. 429.

Contra Singleton v. State, 282 S.W. 804, 104 Tex.Cr. 9.

Certified copy of complaint

The requirement of Juvenile Ct.L. § 6, that, the committing magistrate, in certifying the cause to the juvenile court after finding defendant to be under eighteen, shall attach to the certificate a certified copy of the original deposition or complaint filed before him, is merely directory, and failure to comply with it is not jurisdictional.—People v. Wolff, 190 P. 22, 182 Cal. 728.

60. Fla.—Ex parte Kitts, 147 So. 573, 109 Fla. 202.

Ky.—Waters v. Commonwealth, 188 S.W. 490, 171 Ky. 457.

Okl.—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10.

61. Ala.—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.

Mich.—People v. Ross, 209 N.W. 663, 235 Mich. 433.

Okl.—Marks v. State, 102 P.2d 955, 69 Okl.Cr. 330—Wilson v. State, 82 P. 2d 308, 315, 65 Okl.Cr. 10, quoting Corpus Juris—Ex parte Alton, 262 P. 215, 38 Okl.Cr. 383—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45.

Pa.—In re Trignani, 28 A.2d 702, 150 Pa.Super. 491.

31 C.J. p 1104 note 92.

In Illinois

(1) Under constitution placing jurisdiction of criminal cases in criminal court of Cook County, such court had jurisdiction of prosecution of child who had previously been declared delinquent by juvenile court, without procuring consent of or giving notice to juvenile court, notwithstanding statute giving juvenile court discretionary right to permit delinquent child to be proceeded against in accordance with criminal laws.—People ex rel. Malec v. Lewis, 199 N.E. 276, 362 Ill. 229—People v. Lattimore, 199 N.E. 275, 362 Ill. 206.

(2) Criminal court held to have jurisdiction over sixteen-year-old boy accused of rape who had not been declared delinquent by juvenile court.—People v. Fitzgerald, 152 N.E. 542, 322 Ill. 54.

Appeal under Kentucky statute

Statute authorizing appeals to circuit court from county court juvenile session's orders and judgments restraining infants of liberty or punishing them deprives county court of exclusive jurisdiction over delinquent children, but does not affect its exclusive original jurisdiction over or supervisory control of them; statute contemplates that question of infant's delinquency, adjudged by such session, be tried de novo in circuit court and that judgment appealed from be considered affirmed and enforced by county judge if circuit court again finds child delinquent.—Wooton v. Commonwealth, 75 S.W.2d 556, 255 Ky. 810.

62. Cal.—Ex parte Tassey, 253 P. 948, 81 Cal.App. 287.

Ky.—Mauk v. Commonwealth, 104 S. W.2d 955, 268 Ky. 237—Crawford v. Commonwealth, 95 S.W.2d 12, 264 Ky. 498—Commonwealth v. McIntosh, 78 S.W.2d 320, 257 Ky. 465—Wooton v. Commonwealth, 75 S. W.2d 556, 255 Ky. 810—Watson v. Commonwealth, 57 S.W.2d 39, 247 Ky. 336—Grise v. Commonwealth, 53 S.W.2d 362, 245 Ky. 220—Carsons v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 997, 243 Ky. 1—White v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 548, 242 Ky. 736—Ashley v. Commonwealth, 33 S. W.2d 614, 236 Ky. 543—Tipton v. Commonwealth, 298 S.W. 990, 221 Ky. 363—Goodfriend v. Commonwealth, 288 S.W. 330, 216 Ky. 573—Harman v. Commonwealth, 263 S. W. 733, 204 Ky. 186—Clark v. Commonwealth, 256 S.W. 398, 201 Ky. 261.

Okl.—Ex parte Dickerson, 94 P.2d 951, 67 Okl.Cr. 439—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 315, 65 Okl.Cr. 10, quoting Corpus Juris—Ex parte Brown, 278 P. 671, 43 Okl.Cr. 339—Ex parte Alton, 262 P. 215, 38 Okl.Cr. 383—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45. 31 C.J. p 1105 note 93.

"A justice of the peace has no jurisdiction to hold a preliminary hearing."—Ex parte Dickerson, 94 P.2d 951, 952, 67 Okl.Cr. 439—Ex parte Parnell, 200 P. 456, 19 Okl.Cr. 273.

Waiver of jurisdiction by probate court over child held valid, although child had not then been charged under criminal procedure with a felony. —People v. Ross, 209 N.W. 663, 235 Mich. 433.

In Missouri

(1) A circuit court may determine that defendant, under age of seventeen years, is not proper subject to be dealt with under juvenile law.—State v. Naylor, 40 S.W.2d 1079, 328 Mo. 335—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233.

(2) "When a delinquent child is brought before a juvenile court charged with the violation of a criminal statute, the judge of that court must determine in the first instance whether such child shall be proceeded against as a delinquent, or prosecuted under the criminal law. . . . When a child who has passed his seventeenth birthday is brought before a court of general criminal jurisdiction, charged with having committed a criminal offense while under 17 years of age, that court may determine whether he should be dealt with as a delinquent, or prosecuted under the general law. . . . But a court of general criminal jurisdiction is wholly without jurisdiction in cases in which a child under 17 years of age is charged with the violation of criminal law; without jurisdiction to even determine which course should be pursued with respect to the child. . . . The decision of the court first having occasion to pass on the question must . . . be deemed final."—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 1066, 321 Mo. 1090, criticized in State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233.

63. Okl.—Ex parte Pyzer, 232 P. 962, 29 Okl.Cr. 156.

31 C.J. p 1104 note 92 [a].

64. Mo.—Ex parte Bass, 40 S.W.2d 457, 328 Mo. 195.

having jurisdiction,[65] certifying to such court its finding,[66] such as a finding that the child is capable

Order of commitment void

"Under ordinary circumstances an order holding a delinquent to bail for the grand jury or certifying the case to the district attorney, ends the jurisdiction of the juvenile court and nullifies an order of commitment to a correctional institution."—In re Trignani, 28 A.2d 702, 703, 150 Pa. Super. 491.

"Punishment"

Statute providing that nothing therein shall prevent juvenile court from inflicting punishment means "punishment" inflicted on delinquent minor, and "it has nothing to do with whether the child shall be tried as a delinquent or under the criminal law."—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 127, 326 Mo. 1233, not following State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090.

65. Cal.—People v. Renteria, App., 141 P.2d 37.
Mo.—Bonzo v. Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., 125 S.W.2d 75, 344 Mo. 127—Ex parte Bass, 40 S.W.2d 457, 328 Mo. 195.
N.Y.—In re X, Y, and Z, 43 N.Y.S. 2d 361.
Okl.—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45—Ex parte Brown, 233 P. 1098, 29 Okl.Cr. 369.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 89 [a], p 1105 note 94.

Refusal to hear case as transfer

Under a statute authorizing a juvenile court to transfer to the criminal court the cause of an infant charged with a felony, refusal by the juvenile court to hear a felony case transferred to it is equivalent to transfer of the cause to the criminal court.—State v. Hoffman, 155 N. E. 499, 23 Ohio App. 348.

Incorrigibility

(1) "The law recognizes . . . that a minor may have such a record of delinquency and his derelictions be of such character that to make him a ward of the juvenile court would not aid him or serve the purpose of the juvenile court law, and probably would defeat such purpose insofar as the protection of other words of the court is concerned."—People v. Renteria, Cal. App., 141 P.2d 37, 41.

(2) Under the Alabama statute, if juvenile court becomes convinced that delinquent cannot be made to lead correct life and cannot be properly disciplined, it may retransfer cause to circuit court to be tried as other criminal cases.—Powell v. State, 141 So. 201, 224 Ala. 540, certiorari granted Powell v. State of Alabama, 52 S.Ct. 643, 286 U.S. 540, 76 L.Ed. 1278, reversed on other grounds Powell v. State of Alabama, 53 S.Ct. 55, 287 U.S. 45, 77 L.Ed. 158, 84 A.L.R. 527.

(3) "It was as competent for the Legislature to confer jurisdiction on the juvenile court to determine whether the child was past reformation, as it was to confer on that court jurisdiction to determine the age of the child and the fact of its delinquency."—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 935, 936, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.

(4) Such statute is not affected by the rule that a statute creating an offense must define the offense with reasonable certainty, since it is not an offense for a child to be incorrigible and no punishment is prescribed for incorrigibility; the investigation by a juvenile court, under the statute, of the question whether a child can be reformed means an impartial judicial survey of all the conditions affecting and influencing the juvenile offender, and does not necessarily contemplate an actual trial in open court, or any affidavit, complaint, or indictment by a grand jury; the language of the statute is used in its ordinary sense, and, when it is shown that, by reason of physical and mental deficiency or environment or other cause, in all probability the child will not be a reasonably useful citizen but an enemy to society, it may be said that he "cannot be made to lead a correct life."—Macon v. Holloway, supra.

(5) Order of retransfer held proper.—Berry v. State, 95 So. 458, 209 Ala. 120.

(6) Under the Tennessee statute, "a finding [of the juvenile court that children were incorrigible] justified the juvenile court in turning them over to the criminal court and the latter court in assuming jurisdiction of the charges against them. . . . It was a matter within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court to determine whether the boys were incorrigible, and such a question could not again be litigated in the criminal court after the cause was transferred to the latter tribunal. . . . The only method of obtaining a review of the finding of the juvenile court that plaintiffs in error were incorrigible was by a petition for certiorari to the circuit court. . . . Such a judgment of the juvenile court is not subject to collateral attack in a habeas corpus proceeding, injunction suit, criminal prosecution, or otherwise."—Wiggins v. State, 289 S.W. 498, 499, 154 Tenn. 83.

In Kentucky

(1) In prosecution in circuit court of a juvenile charged with felony, it must appear not only that juvenile court had made order transferring prosecution to circuit court, but also that all necessary steps to give juvenile court jurisdiction to render such an order were followed.—Edwards v. Commonwealth, 94 S.W.2d 25, 264 Ky. 4.

(2) "If the facts disclose the offender to be a juvenile, the burden is on the commonwealth to show a proper transfer from the juvenile court in order to give the circuit court jurisdiction of a criminal prosecution."—Goodfriend v. Commonwealth, 288 S.W. 330, 331, 216 Ky. 573.

(3) Immaterial or highly technical irregularities in proceedings with respect to transfer will not be regarded as invalidating them; thus, where juvenile court had actually made order transferring prosecution to circuit court, failure to furnish that court or its prosecuting officer with copy of order prior to return of indictment was not fatal to circuit court's jurisdiction.—Baughman v. Commonwealth, 267 S.W. 231, 206 Ky. 441.

(4) Clerical error in recital of accused's age in juvenile court's judgment held not to affect its jurisdiction to declare him a delinquent and transfer case.—Tipton v. Commonwealth, 298 S.W. 990, 221 Ky. 363.

(5) Proceedings for transfer to circuit court held proper.—Turner v. Commonwealth, 104 S.W.2d 1087, 268 Ky. 314—Crawford v. Commonwealth, 95 S.W.2d 12, 264 Ky. 498—Hall v. Commonwealth, 21 S.W.2d 799, 231 Ky. 473—Angel v. Commonwealth, 21 S.W.2d 150, 231 Ky. 132—Asher v. Commonwealth, 299 S.W. 568, 221 Ky. 700—Tipton v. Commonwealth, 298 S.W. 990, 221 Ky. 363—Meade v. Commonwealth, 282 S.W. 781, 214 Ky. 88—Hayes v. Commonwealth, 276 S. W. 160, 210 Ky. 449—Baughman v. Commonwealth, 267 S.W. 231, 206 Ky. 441.

(6) Juvenile court order holding juvenile offender in custody, referring case to grand jury, and recommending that he be proceeded against under criminal laws, cannot be attacked collaterally.—Hayes v. Commonwealth, supra.

(7) Juvenile court may make order of transfer, on proper notice to the parties, after reversal of conviction in circuit court for lack of jurisdiction.—Harman v. Commonwealth, 268 S.W. 733, 204 Ky. 186.

66. Okl.—Marks v. State, 102 P.2d 955, 69 Okl.Cr. 330—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 of committing the crime charged[67] or knew the wrongfulness of the acts complained of,[68] or that there is probable cause to believe him guilty,[69] or that he is incorrigible;[70] but under at least one statute special findings are not necessary.[71] If the juvenile court finds that the infant should be treated as a delinquent and not as a criminal, it proceeds to final disposition of the case as in other cases of juvenile dependents, delinquents, and vagrants, as discussed infra §§ 99–102.

A criminal court in which proceedings are instituted may be required, on ascertaining that the delinquency statutes apply, as by reason of the age of accused, to transfer the case to the court having jurisdiction of delinquency proceedings,[72] or it may be given discretion as to making such transfer;[73] and a juvenile may be required by statute to petition the court to conduct the case as one of delinquency and not under the general criminal law, or to transfer it to the juvenile court, if he desires such procedure.[74]

(b) Age

Whether an offender is under or over the statutory age below which he is to be treated as a delinquent, and not as a criminal, is determined, in some jurisdictions, by his age at the time of the commission of the offense, and not at the time of the indictment or trial; in other jurisdictions a contrary rule is followed. Whether the accused is within the prescribed age is a jurisdictional question for the court; to justify criminal, instead of delinquency, proceedings, an affirmative showing, or clear and convincing evidence, of the requisite age has been required, but the accused has been held to have the burden of proof with respect to his age.

In order to justify a proceeding against an offender as a delinquent only, and not as a criminal, he must fall within the classification as to age prescribed by statute.[75] Whether an offender is to be regarded as under or over the statutory age below which he is exempt from criminal prosecution and must be proceeded against as a delinquent is determined, in some jurisdictions, by his age at the time

Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45—Ex parte Brown, 233 P. 1098, 29 Okl.Cr. 369.
Pa.—In re Trignani, 28 A.2d 702, 150 Pa.Super. 491.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 95.

67. Okl.—Marks v. State, 102 P.2d 955, 69 Okl.Cr. 330—Ex parte Dickerson, 94 P.2d 951, 67 Okl.Cr. 439—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10.

68. Okl.—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45—Ex parte Brown, 233 P. 1098, 29 Okl.Cr. 369.

69. Okl.—Marks v. State, 102 P.2d 955, 69 Okl.Cr. 330—Ex parte Dickerson, 94 P.2d 951, 67 Okl.Cr. 439—Wilson v. State, 82 P.2d 308, 65 Okl.Cr. 10—Ex parte Raymer, 258 P. 1063, 38 Okl.Cr. 31—Ex parte Bonitz, 234 P. 780, 30 Okl.Cr. 45—Ex parte Brown, 233 P. 1098, 29 Okl.Cr. 369.

70. Order held informal but not void
Tenn.—Wiggins v. State, 289 S.W. 498, 154 Tenn. 83.

71. Cal.—In re Wolff, 192 P. 33, 183 Cal. 602.

72. Ala.—Powell v. State, 141 So. 201, 224 Ala. 540, certiorari granted Powell v. State of Alabama, 52 S. Ct. 648, 286 U.S. 540, 76 L.Ed. 1278, reversed on other grounds Powell v. State of Alabama, 53 S.Ct. 55, 287 U.S. 45, 77 L.Ed. 158, 84 A.L.R. 527—Keenum v. State, 146 So. 623, 25 Ala.App. 359—Hart v. State, 113 So. 471, 22 Ala.App. 135.
Cal.—Ex parte Tassey, 253 P. 948, 81 Cal.App. 287.
Fla.—Ex parte Kitts, 147 So. 573, 109 Fla. 202.
Mo.—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090.
N.J.—State v. Goldberg, 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J.Law 501, affirming 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272.
N.D.—State v. Overby, 209 N.W. 552, 54 N.D. 295.
Ohio.—State v. Hoffman, 155 N.E. 499, 23 Ohio App. 348.
31 C.J. p 1104 note 90 [a].

Transfer held irregular for want of jurisdiction in juvenile court.—State v. Gregori, 2 S.W.2d 747, 318 Mo. 998.

Conviction of lesser offense
Jurisdiction of criminal court, on indictment of minor under sixteen for murder, being exclusive, held not lost on conviction of homicide of lesser degree, since judgment must be on verdict of jury, and, jeopardy having once attached, jurisdiction may not be relinquished and cause committed to juvenile court on the ground that the offense of which he was convicted was not within the criminal court's jurisdiction.—Howland v. State, 268 S.W. 115, 151 Tenn. 47.

73. Ala.—Clark v. State, 195 So. 260, 239 Ala. 380, certiorari denied Clark v. State of Alabama, 61 S. Ct. 70, 311 U.S. 688, 85 L.Ed. 445—Whitfield v. State, 182 So. 42, 236 Ala. 312.
Pa.—In re Trignani, 28 A.2d 702, 150 Pa.Super. 491.

Discretion subject to review only for abuse
Miss.—Parker v. State, 18 So.2d 620.

Discretion held not abused
Miss.—Parker v. State, supra.

74. Mo.—State v. Flores, 55 S.W.2d 953, 332 Mo. 74—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233.

75. Ala.—Whitfield v. State, 182 So. 42, 236 Ala. 312.
Ky.—Carsons v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 997, 243 Ky. 1.
La.—State v. Lanassa, 51 So. 688, 125 La. 687.
N.J.—Ex parte Williams, 177 A. 85, 117 N.J.Eq. 517.
Tex.—Smith v. State, 266 S.W. 153, 98 Tex.Cr. 409.

Commitment showing that child was over statutory age when the proceeding started shows lack of jurisdiction of the juvenile court.—Ex parte Williams, 177 A. 85, 117 N.J.Eq. 517.

Age between birthdays
Under a statute governing the jurisdiction of delinquent or dependent children, and providing that it shall apply "only to male children seventeen years of age or under," a contention that a male child is to be treated as only seventeen years of age until he arrives at his eighteenth birthday cannot be sustained.—Wilson v. Commonwealth, 271 S.W. 1055, 208 Ky. 707—Thompson v. Commonwealth, 255 S.W. 852, 201 Ky. 19.

Revival of suspended sentence
Where a child was adjudged a delinquent child under the statutory age, and committed to the reform school, but the order of commitment was suspended, the juvenile court cannot subsequently, when the child is over the statutory age, revive the sentence and commit him, since after that age he is not a ward of the state and not subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court.—Ex parte Blackey, 208 N.W. 238, 53 N.D. 852.

of the commission of the offense, and not at the time of indictment or trial;[76] in other jurisdictions the question is determined not by his age at the time of the commission of the offense, but at the time of trial or of the institution of proceedings against him.[77] Further, jurisdiction has been held to be determined by the age of the offender at the time of the charge, and not by the age at the time the trial is completed or judgment entered.[78]

The question whether accused is or is not within the age prescribed is a jurisdictional one,[79] which the court may,[80] and, according to some authorities, should, or must,[81] pass on instead of submitting it to the jury, and in the determination of which the court exercises a large discretion,[82] although such discretion cannot be exercised arbitrarily.[83] On

76. Ky.—White v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 548, 242 Ky. 736—Goodfriend v. Commonwealth, 288 S.W. 330, 216 Ky. 573—Harman v. Commonwealth, 263 S.W. 733, 204 Ky. 186—Mattingly v. Commonwealth, 188 S.W. 370, 171 Ky. 222.

La.—State ex rel. Clayton v. Jones, 188 So. 737, 192 La. 671—State v. Connally, 182 So. 318, 190 La. 175—State v. Walker, 152 So. 315, 178 La. 635—State v. Grayson, 127 So. 382, 170 La. 111.

Mo.—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 84 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233.

Reason for rule

"Relator, having violated a law of this state when under 17 years of age, thereby became a delinquent child and subject to commitment by the juvenile court until his majority or complete reformation. The accidental arrival of the seventeenth anniversary of his birthday before his trial no more operated to deprive that court of jurisdiction over him than it operated to magnify his offense and subject him to the jurisdiction of the district court. . . . Reformation is to be under the eye of the juvenile court."—State v. Malone, 100 So. 788, 789, 156 La. 617, overruling State v. Ebarbo, 78 So. 973, 143 La. 591.

77. Ala.—Kennum v. State, 146 So. 623, 25 Ala.App. 359—Broughton v. State, 120 So. 307, 23 Ala.App. 43—Davis v. State, 111 So. 645, 21 Ala.App. 649—Lane v. State, 101 So. 521, 20 Ala.App. 192, certiorari denied Ex parte Lane, 101 So. 522, 211 Ala. 615.

Ariz.—Burrows v. State, 297 P. 1029, 38 Ariz. 99.

Ohio.—Scopillitti v. State, 180 N.E. 740, 41 Ohio App. 221.

Tex.—Hardie v. State, 144 S.W.2d 571, 140 Tex.Cr. 368—Walker v. State, 45 S.W.2d 987, 119 Tex.Cr. 330.

Wash.—State v. Melvin, 258 P. 859, 144 Wash. 687.

31 C.J. p 1105 note 1.

But without reference to age at the time of trial accused's plea that at time alleged offense was committed he was under the statutory age was held complete answer to indictment.—Bell v. State, 101 So. 68, 20 Ala. App. 101.

Reason for rule

"The underlying intent in statutes of this type is adjudged to be the desire to prevent children under a certain age from being considered as criminals, and from being so dealt with that they become associated with those experienced in the ways of crime. Hence, the time at which proceedings against such children are instituted becomes decisive and the child's age at that time is held to be controlling on the question of whether or not the child comes within the provisions of the statute."—Ex parte Albiniano, 6 A.2d 554, 557, 62 R.I. 429, 123 A.L.R. 441.

Prosecution's refusal to rush into trial, in order that accused might be proceeded against as a juvenile, held not unfair.—Hardie v. State, 144 S.W.2d 571, 140 Tex.Cr. 368.

Retrial after conviction

By reason of the rule stated in the text, alleged delinquent child who becomes seventeen years of age after conviction cannot, in case of reversal, be retried as delinquent child.—Stallings v. State, 87 S.W.2d 255, 129 Tex.Cr. 300.

"Charged with a felony"

A statute providing that, where a child over the age of fifteen is "charged with a felony," judge of probate may waive jurisdiction, contemplates age at time of charge in a court of criminal jurisdiction, and not age at time of committing felony, "charged with a felony" meaning "an accusation of crime in a proceeding in a court having cognizance of criminal prosecutions."—People v. Ross, 209 N.W. 663, 666, 235 Mich. 433.

78. Ind.—Miller v. Superintendent of Indiana Boys' School, 198 N.E. 66, 209 Ind. 115.

79. Ky.—Carsons v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 997, 243 Ky. 1.

La.—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 193 La. 104—State v. Grayson, 127 So. 382, 170 La. 111.

31 C.J. p 1105 note 2.

80. Ky.—Carsons v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 997, 243 Ky. 1.

Tex.—Brown v. State, 268 S.W. 460, 99 Tex.Cr. 70.

31 C.J. p 1105 note 3.

81. Ky.—Carsons v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 997, 243 Ky. 1—Ashley v. Commonwealth, 33 S.W.2d 614, 236 Ky. 543.

La.—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 193 La. 104—State v. Grayson, 127 So. 382, 170 La. 111.

N.Y.—People v. Jones, 38 N.Y.S.2d 207.

Review; reducing testimony to writing

(1) The court's adjudication as to juvenility is reviewable.

Ky.—Ashley v. Commonwealth, 33 S.W.2d 614, 236 Ky. 543.

La.—State v. Bedford, 190 So. 347, 193 La. 104—State v. Grayson, 127 So. 382, 383, 170 La. 111.

(2) "The trial judge as requested should have permitted testimony to be heard and reduced to writing on defendant's written objection against being tried in the district court . . . in order that the appellate court might be placed in possession of all the facts."—State v. Grayson, supra.

(3) Finding on conflicting evidence that infant was not under age of eighteen at time of crime is conclusive on appeal.—State v. Carolla, 292 S.W. 721, 316 Mo. 213.

Suggestion as to age; appearance

"It became the duty of the trial court, upon suggestion that the defendant . . . was under sixteen years of age, or if his personal appearance suggested a doubt as to his age, to ascertain his age."—Powell v. State, 141 So. 201, 212, 224 Ala. 540, certiorari granted Powell v. State of Alabama, 52 S.Ct. 648, 286 U.S. 540, 76 L.Ed. 1278, reversed on other grounds Powell v. State of Alabama, 53 S.Ct. 55, 287 U.S. 45, 77 L.Ed. 158, 84 A.L.R. 527.

82. Cal.—People v. Alexander, 216 P. 968, 62 Cal.App. 306.

31 C.J. p 1105 note 4.

Failure to notify father of accused of proceeding to ascertain age held not error.—Singleton v. State, 282 S.W. 804, 104 Tex.Cr. 9.

83. Tex.—McRuffin v. State, 240 S.W. 309, 91 Tex.Cr. 569.

Discretion held not abused

(1) Continuance, on state's motion, of hearing on affidavit stating that accused was a juvenile and requesting that he be proceeded against as a juvenile delinquent, held not erroneous or arbitrary.—Smith v. State, 266 S.W. 153, 98 Tex.Cr. 409.

(2) Other holdings.

Cal.—People v. Alexander, 216 P. 968, 62 Cal.App. 306.

the other hand, it has been held that, on a plea in abatement in a criminal trial in the criminal court, alleging accused to be under the age exempting him from criminal prosecution, an issue of fact is raised, on which accused is entitled to have a jury trial.[84]

To justify criminal, instead of delinquency, proceedings, it must appear affirmatively that the person charged is of the age fixed by statute for criminal prosecution;[85] clear and convincing evidence,[86] or ascertainment with certainty,[87] has been required, and a serious and substantial doubt arising from the evidence on the question of age should be resolved in favor of the child.[88] On the other hand, on the ground that the presumption is in favor of the court's jurisdiction,[89] and that the court will not assume that a person indicted is under the statutory age,[90] it has been held that, when that issue is raised, accused has the burden of proof with respect to his age.[91]

The child's appearance, while it should be given due consideration in determining his age,[92] should not be permitted to outweigh or overcome positive testimony, facts, and circumstances tending to show him to be under the given age;[93] and his statements or admissions as to his age, although admissible on that issue,[94] are not controlling as against positive evidence.[95] In particular cases, evidence has variously been held to show that the offender was[96] or was not[97] a juvenile at the time of the commission of the offense, or was not such at the time of trial[98] or conviction.[99]

§ 99. —— Procedure Affecting Custody or Commitment

a. In general
b. Jurisdiction and venue
c. Parties
d. Application or accusation
e. Notice
f. Evidence
g. Trial or hearing
h. Findings
i. Judgment, order, or decree
j. Review
k. Costs

Tex.—Tucker v. State, 43 S.W.2d 103, 119 Tex.Cr. 490.

84. Kan.—State v. Dunn, 90 P. 231, 75 Kan. 799.

85. Ala.—Hart v. State, 113 So. 471, 22 Ala.App. 135.

86. La.—State v. Connally, 182 So. 318, 190 La. 175—State v. Duckett, 107 So. 696, 160 La. 920.

Unsatisfactory evidence for accused Where the only evidence offered by accused in a prosecution for murder to show that he was under the age of eighteen was uncertain and unsatisfactory, the trial court did not abuse its discretion by refusing to certify him to the juvenile court.—People v. Alexander, 216 P. 968, 62 Cal.App. 306.

87. Ala.—Hart v. State, 113 So. 471, 472, 22 Ala.App. 135.

Showing that child is "about sixteen" years of age is insufficient.—Hart v. State, supra.

88. La.—State ex rel. Clayton v. Jones, 188 So. 737, 192 La. 671—State v. Connally, 182 So. 318, 190 La. 175—State v. Duckett, 107 So. 696, 160 La. 920.

89. Ky.—Carsons v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 997, 243 Ky. 1—Eldridge v. Commonwealth, 17 S.W.2d 403, 229 Ky. 499—Goodfriend v. Commonwealth, 288 S.W. 330, 216 Ky. 573.

90. Ky.—Eldridge v. Commonwealth, 17 S.W.2d 403, 229 Ky. 499.

91. Ky.—Carsons v. Commonwealth, 47 S.W.2d 997, 243 Ky. 1—Eldridge v. Commonwealth, 17 S.W.2d 403, 229 Ky. 499.
Tex.—Tucker v. State, 43 S.W.2d 103, 119 Tex.Cr. 490—Flores v. State, 231 S.W. 786, 89 Tex.Cr. 506.

On motion for new trial, burden of showing transgression of right of accused to be tried as juvenile is on him.—Walker v. State, 45 S.W.2d 987, 119 Tex.Cr. 330.

Statute as to child's appearance Under a statutory provision that "when . . . said child is alleged to be under any given age and shall appear to the court to be under that age, such child shall be presumed under that age, unless the contrary be proved," it was held that "where it is alleged that the child is under 17 and appears so to be to the presiding judge, then the presumption is in favor of the age alleged and it is incumbent on the state to rebut that presumption; but, where the allegation as to under age is made, but the judge, from the appearance of the child, is of the opinion that the child is over the age of 17, then it devolves upon the party claiming to be under the given age to prove it."—State v. Duckett, 107 So. 696, 697, 160 La. 920.

92. La.—State v. Connally, 182 So. 318, 190 La. 175—State v. Duckett, 107 So. 696, 160 La. 920.

93. Ky.—Cody v. Commonwealth, 276 S.W. 970, 210 Ky. 849.
La.—State v. Connally, 182 So. 318, 190 La. 175—State v. Duckett, 107 So. 696, 160 La. 920.

94. La.—State v. Walker, 152 So. 315, 178 La. 635.

95. La.—State ex rel. Clayton v. Jones, 188 So. 737, 192 La. 671—State v. Connally, 182 So. 318, 190 La. 175—State v. Walker, 152 So. 315, 178 La. 635.
But it was held that refusal of accused's request to hear evidence on his affidavit claiming him to be a juvenile under seventeen years of age was not erroneous where accused admitted that he was seventeen years old.—Smith v. State, 266 S.W. 153, 98 Tex.Cr. 409.

96. La.—State ex rel. Clayton v. Jones, 188 So. 737, 192 La. 671—State v. Connally, 182 So. 318, 190 La. 175—State v. Bennett, 159 So. 385, 181 La. 269—State v. Walker, 152 So. 315, 178 La. 635—State v. Duckett, 107 So. 696, 160 La. 920.

Prima facie case held made out.—Ashley v. Commonwealth, 33 S.W.2d 614, 236 Ky. 543—Goodfriend v. Commonwealth, 288 S.W. 330, 216 Ky. 573.

97. Mich.—People v. Carter, 209 N. W. 112, 235 Mich. 412.

98. Mo.—State ex rel. Corella v. Pence, 262 S.W. 360, 303 Mo. 598.
Tex.—Singleton v. State, 282 S.W. 304, 104 Tex.Cr. 9.

Prior order of juvenile court reciting that accused was an infant of a stated age and finding him delinquent held not conclusive as to his age.—State ex rel. Corella v. Pence, 262 S.W. 360, 303 Mo. 598.

99. N.Y.—People v. Jones, 33 N.Y.S. 2d 207.

a. In General

The procedure affecting custody or commitment of delinquent or dependent children is purely statutory, and in the absence of statutes so providing it is not considered criminal, but usually is regarded as a special proceeding of a civil nature. At least substantial compliance with the terms of the statute is essential to the validity of the proceedings.

The procedure affecting custody or commitment of delinquent or dependent children is purely statutory,[1] and it is not considered criminal[2] or even quasi-criminal,[3] or a proceeding according to the course of the common law[4] or to the rules of chancery.[5] According to some authorities the proceeding is a civil action,[6] but there is also authority to the contrary.[7] It is held to be a special proceeding[8] of a civil nature,[9] with certain incidents common to both criminal and civil actions.[10] The proceeding is not transformed into a prosecution for crime by the mere adoption of practice in criminal cases as far as applicable;[11] and the constitutional guaranties respecting defendants in criminal cases do not apply.[12] However, in some cases it has been

1. Colo.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.
Ill.—People v. McDonald, 225 Ill. App. 447.
Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143, and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.
Nev.—Ex parte Guisti, 269 P. 600, 51 Nev. 105.
Ohio.—Cowin v. Cowin, App., 43 N.E.2d 360.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 7.

2. Ala.—Hymes v. State, 95 So. 383, 209 Ala. 91—Prince v. State, 98 So. 320, 19 Ala.App. 495.
Cal.—People v. Sanchez, 132 P.2d 310, 21 Cal.2d 466, prior opinion, App., 126 P.2d 137—In re People, on Behalf of Jones, 112 P.2d 892, 44 Cal.App.2d 670—Ex parte Jones, 93 P.2d 185, 34 Cal.App.2d 77—Ex parte Leach, 279 P. 157, 99 Cal.App. 645—Ex parte Edwards, 278 P. 910, 99 Cal.App. 541—Ex parte Black, 271 P. 860, 94 Cal.App. 402—People v. De Fehr, 254 P. 588, 81 Cal.App. 562.
Colo.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.
Conn.—Cinque v. Boyd, 121 A. 678, 99 Conn. 70.
D.C.—Thomas v. U. S., 121 F.2d 905, 74 App.D.C. 169.
Ga.—Garner v. Wood, 4 S.E.2d 137, 188 Ga. 463.
Ind.—Board of Children's Guardian v. Gioscio, 4 N.E.2d 199, 210 Ind. 581—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E.2d 91.
Mass.—Sylvester v. Commonwealth, 148 N.E. 449, 253 Mass. 244.
Miss.—Bryant v. Brown, 118 So. 134, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1325.
Mo.—State ex rel. Shartel v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37, 39, 333 Mo. 888, citing Corpus Juris—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.
Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143, and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.
Nev.—Ex parte Guisti, 269 P. 600, 51 Nev. 105.
N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.
N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.
N.Y.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464—People v. Pikunas, 182 N.E. 675, 260 N.Y. 72, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 1071, 236 App.Div. 737.
Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.
Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Lash, 30 A.2d 609, 151 Pa.Super. 601.
Wis.—Lueptow v. Schraeder, 277 N.W. 124, 226 Wis. 437.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 8—35 C.J. p 195 note 26.

Entitling and docketing

(1) A proceeding in the matter of children charged with delinquency should not be entitled "State against" such children, naming them, as in the case of a criminal prosecution.
N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.
N.Y.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Mountain, 82 Pa.Super. 523—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 82 Pa.Super. 335.

(2) Preferably the caption should be, "In re John Doe, an alleged delinquent child."—Commonwealth v. Carnes, supra.

3. Nev.—Ex parte Guisti, 269 P. 600, 51 Nev. 105.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 9.

4. Nev.—Ex parte Guisti, 269 P. 600, 51 Nev. 105.
Ohio.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.
Wis.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 541, 225 Wis. 562.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 10.

5. Ill.—People v. Piccolo, 114 N.E. 145, 275 Ill. 453.
6. Ind.—Board of Children's Guardians v. Gioscio, 4 N.E.2d 199, 210 Ind. 581.
Miss.—Bryant v. Brown, 118 So. 134, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1325.
7. Ala.—Hymes v. State, 95 So. 383, 209 Ala. 91.
Wis.—Lueptow v. Schraeder, 277 N.W. 124, 226 Wis. 437.
8. Cal.—In re Peterson, 133 P.2d 831, 56 Cal.App.2d 791.
Colo.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.
Ohio.—In re Anteau, 36 N.E.2d 47, 67 Ohio App. 117.
Wis.—Lueptow v. Schraeder, 277 N.W. 124, 226 Wis. 437—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 541, 225 Wis. 562.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 12.

Dependency proceeding held one to appoint guardian

Tex.—Ex parte Grimes, Civ.App., 216 S.W. 251, reversed on other grounds Whittenberg v. Craven, Com.App., 258 S.W. 152.

In New Mexico

(1) Proceeding in juvenile court against alleged juvenile delinquent is a special statutory proceeding.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140—State v. Florez, 8 P.2d 786, 36 N.M. 80.

(2) But a statutory proceeding relative to the care, custody, and control of dependent and neglected children is not a special proceeding but a civil action.—Blanchard v. State, 224 P. 1047, 29 N.M. 584.

9. Cal.—Ex parte Edwards, 278 P. 910, 99 Cal.App. 541.
Colo.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.
Ga.—Garner v. Wood, 4 S.E.2d 137, 188 Ga. 463.
Okl.—In re Morrison, 54 P.2d 198, 176 Okl. 55.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 13.

10. Wis.—Lueptow v. Schraeder, 277 N.W. 124, 226 Wis. 437.
11. Mo.—State ex rel. Shartel v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37, 333 Mo. 888—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.
12. Mo.—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, supra.

held that the proceeding is quasi-criminal in character[13] and acts as between the state and the parents or as between the state and the child.[14] Furthermore, in some jurisdictions, by force of statute, procedure for commitment of juvenile delinquents, where the delinquency arose out of the violation of the criminal law of the state, is regarded as a misdemeanor case;[15] then it is considered criminal in its nature,[16] not civil,[17] and it follows the usual course of criminal procedure.[18] Statutes which include or provide within their scope for commitment for strictly criminal offenses without requiring the constitutional procedure in prosecutions for public offenses generally have been declared unconstitutional.[19]

Compliance with statute. The procedure provided by statute should be followed,[20] and at least substantial compliance with the terms of the statute is essential to the validity of the proceedings.[21] Although the proceedings are in a measure informal[22] and summary,[23] and, if the order is authorized, mere irregularities will not invalidate it,[24] yet the proper

N.Y.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464.

13. Ala.—Hymes v. State, 95 So. 383, 209 Ala. 91.
La.—State ex rel. Graham v. Graham, 137 So. 855, 178 La. 469—In re Owen, 127 So. 619, 170 La. 255—State ex rel. Herbert v. Renaud, 103 So. 101, 157 La. 776—Brana v. Brana, 71 So. 519, 139 La. 305.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 9.

14. La.—Brana v. Brana, 71 So. 519, 139 La. 305.

15. Mo.—Ex parte Parsons, App., 232 S.W. 740.
Tex.—Simpson v. State, 220 S.W. 777, 87 Tex.Cr. 277.

16. Tex.—Hostetter v. State, 36 S.W. 2d 165, 117 Tex.Cr. 102.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 15.

17. Tex.—Miller v. State, 200 S.W. 389, 82 Tex.Cr. 495—Ex parte McDowell, 172 S.W. 213, 76 Tex.Cr. 1.

18. Tex.—Hostetter v. State, 36 S.W.2d 165, 117 Tex.Cr. 102—Ex parte Cain, 217 S.W. 386, 86 Tex. Cr. 509.

19. Mo.—State v. Tincher, 166 S.W. 1028, 258 Mo. 1, Ann.Cas.1915D 696.

20. Ill.—People v. McDonald, 225 Ill. App. 447.
N.Y.—People v. Fitzgerald, 155 N.E. 584, 244 N.Y. 307.
31 C.J. p 1105 note 19.

Applicability of general law

A proceeding in Mobile County juvenile court for commitment of minor to state training school for girls as incorrigible is controlled by law establishing such court, but provisions of general law relating to delinquent children must be considered in connection with special provisions for such court and given effect when not inconsistent therewith. The theory of statute concerning transfer of cause, in which child over sixteen and under eighteen years of age is charged with crime, from criminal court to juvenile court, is that charge shall be heard and proceeded with in juvenile court, and statute does not contemplate that original charge be abandoned on such transfer and that trial in juvenile court proceed on entirely different theory, such as that of child's incorrigibility, not charged in criminal court.—Williamson v. State, 4 So.2d 734, 242 Ala. 42.

Investigation by, or approval of, probation officer

(1) The statute providing that, prior to filing of petition to have a child declared an abandoned child and free from parental custody and control, county probation officer shall make such investigation as is deemed necessary, and that no petition shall be filed without approval of probation officer except by order of juvenile court, is not mandatory and does not require probation officer to make an investigation in every case before petition is filed.—In re Peterson, 133 P.2d 831, 56 Cal.App.2d 791.

(2) So objection that no investigation was made by probation officer before filing of petition asking that minor be adjudged ward of the juvenile court was without merit, since provision of juvenile court law requiring such investigation is applicable only when petition is filed by other than probation officer; and the fact that probation officer made no report of investigation was insufficient to deprive juvenile court of jurisdiction of proceeding, since statutory requirement relates specifically to duties of probate officer.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487.

(3) It has been held, however, that petition that minor be made ward of juvenile court, filed without approval of probation officer or order of juvenile court, did not confer jurisdiction on juvenile court.—In re People on Behalf of Bullock, 34 P.2d 769, 139 Cal.App. 664.

Proceeding under criminal statute improper

In proceeding by parents under penal statute, wherein each filed a criminal affidavit, purpose of which was basis of prosecution against each parent for neglecting child, juvenile court had no jurisdiction to find that child was a neglected child and make it a ward, since proceeding under criminal statute could not usurp provisions of civil statute whereby neglected or dependent child may be made a ward.—Board of Children's Guardians v. Gioscio, 4 N.E.2d 199, 210 Ind. 581.

Consent of mother

Where expressly required by statute in proceedings to commit an illegitimate child as a dependent to the care of the state board of control, the consent of the mother is essential, in the absence of a showing that the commitment is needful in order to prevent serious detriment to the child.—State v. Juvenile Court of Ramsey County, 179 N.W. 1006, 147 Minn. 222.

21. Tenn.—Shelby County Juvenile Ct. v. State, 201 S.W. 771, 139 Tenn. 549, Ann.Cas.1918D 752.
31 C.J. p 1106 note 20.

Statute liberally construed

The law respecting juvenile delinquents must be liberally construed concerning all matters of procedure.—Williamson v. State, 4 So.2d 734, 242 Ala. 42.

22. Mo.—State v. Campbell, 32 S.W. 2d 69, 325 Mo. 561—Ex parte Label, App., 156 S.W.2d 37.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Reisner v. New York Nursery & Child's Hospital, 180 N.Y.S. 372, 190 App.Div. 562, affirmed 129 N.E. 341, 230 N.Y. 119.

Strict rules of criminal procedure are inapplicable to proceedings for commitment of delinquent child to state disciplinary institution.—People v. Pikunas, 182 N.E. 675, 260 N.Y. 72, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 1071, 236 App.Div. 737.

23. Mo.—In re Von Talge, App., 67 S.W.2d 999.

24. N.C.—Ex parte Watson, 72 S.E. 1049, 157 N.C. 340.
Okl.—Killian v. Burnham, 130 P.2d 538, 191 Okl. 248.
Tex.—Ex parte Johnson, 99 S.W.2d 598, 131 Tex.Cr. 438.

Technicalities of procedure will be elements of a judicial proceeding should be present,[25] and rules protecting substantial rights cannot be disregarded.[26] A short delay in bringing a juvenile delinquency proceeding after the offense was committed is not unreasonable.[27] The courts may prescribe such rules of procedure not inconsistent with the statutes as may be deemed reasonable and proper.[28]

Lapse of proceeding. A proceeding for commitment on the ground of the immorality of the parent lapses with his death.[29]

Appointment of attorney. The court may appoint an attorney to represent the infant, but it is not obliged to do so.[30]

b. Jurisdiction and Venue

The jurisdiction of particular courts and matters relating to venue depend on, and are controlled by, statute.

Within its constitutional limitations, the legislature may confer on particular courts the jurisdiction of the proceeding.[31] The proceeding being purely statutory, the jurisdiction of particular courts depends on, and is limited by, the constitutional and statutory provisions.[32] Ordinarily it is conferred on juvenile courts,[33] or in courts of like nature, as, for instance, children's courts,[34] circuit courts,[35] disregarded in summary proceeding to declare minor ward of juvenile court.—In re Hill, 247 P. 591, 78 Cal.App. 23.

Irregular investigation

Fact that probation officer made investigation with regard to delinquent juvenile before formal appointment did not render proceeding so irregular as to deprive juvenile court of jurisdiction, the proceeding being a substantial compliance with the statute.—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N.W. 205, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075.

25. Tex.—Ex parte Brooks, 211 S.W. 592, 85 Tex.Cr. 252.
31 C.J. p 1106 note 23.
Hearing see infra subdivision g of this section.
Notice see infra subdivision e of this section.
Order or decree see infra subdivision i of this section.

26. Cal.—In re Hill, 247 P. 591, 78 Cal.App.2d 23.

27. Delay of about a month and a half
Cal.—In re Pierce, 16 P.2d 765, 127 Cal.App. 773.

28. Ala.—Powell v. State, 141 So. 201, 224 Ala. 540, certiorari granted Powell v. State of Alabama, 52 S. Ct. 648, 286 U.S. 540, 76 L.Ed. 1278, reversed on other grounds Powell v. State of Alabama, 53 S.Ct. 55, 287 U.S. 45, 77 L.Ed. 158, 84 A.L.R. 527.

29. La.—State v. Norris, 81 So. 385, 144 La. 895.

30. Ga.—Rooks v. Tindall, 76 S.E. 378, 138 Ga. 863.

31. N.Y.—People ex rel. Chapman v. Hinkley, 199 N.Y.S. 101.
N.C.—State v. Ferguson, 132 S.E. 664, 191 N.C. 668.
31 C.J. p 1106 note 32.
Constitutional and legislative power with respect to the creation, organization, abolition, reorganization, consolidation, and transfer of jurisdiction of courts see Courts §§ 121-125.

32. N.M.—In re Santillanes, 138 P. 2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.
N.Y.—In re Cole, 208 N.Y.S. 753, 212 App.Div. 427—Berman v. Berman, 8 N.Y.S.2d 499, 169 Misc. 921—Abeles v. Abeles, 299 N.Y.S. 206, 164 Misc. 418—In re Petersen, 269 N.Y.S. 646, 149 Misc. 869—People ex rel. Our Lady of Victory Infant Home v. Venniro, 212 N.Y.S. 741, 126 Misc. 135.
Pa.—In re Trignani, 24 A.2d 743, 148 Pa.Super. 142—In re Eaton, 37 Pa. Dist. & Co. 191.
R.I.—Ex parte Albiniano, 6 A.2d 554, 62 R.I. 429, 123 A.L.R. 441.

Repeal of statute

The statute providing that all commitments of boys under seventeen should be made by juvenile court was held repealed by statutes giving circuit court jurisdiction to proceed against delinquent minor under general law.—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233.

Jurisdiction from standpoint of child

(1) A provision of Juvenile Court Code providing that juvenile court should have exclusive original jurisdiction concerning any child who was delinquent, neglected, dependent, or crippled meant exclusive original jurisdiction concerning any child from the standpoint of the child.—In re Cooper, 15 N.E.2d 634, 134 Ohio St. 40, affirming 16 N.E.2d 954, 58 Ohio App. 519.

(2) The Code vests jurisdiction in the juvenile court, not over the crime but over the infant.—In re Evans, 35 N.E.2d 887, 67 Ohio App. 66.

Age of infant

(1) Whether under statute relating to care and custody of delinquent children, state may constitutionally continue reformatory methods after the minor attains majority, does not affect the jurisdiction of the juvenile court.—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.

(2) Juvenile court acquiring custody of child under eighteen, through arrest for delinquency, retains jurisdiction of child until child attains age of twenty-one, although court failed to adjudicate complaint before child's eighteenth birthday.—State ex rel. Heth v. Moloney, 186 N.E. 362, 126 Ohio St. 526.

33. Cal.—People v. Sanchez, 132 P.2d 810, 21 Cal.2d 466, prior opinion, App., 126 P.2d 137—In re Hulbert, 11 P.2d 50, 123 Cal.App. 362.
Colo.—People v. Juvenile Court of City and County of Denver, 226 P. 866, 75 Colo. 463.
Conn.—State v. Elbert, 162 A. 769, 115 Conn. 589.
Del.—Thompson v. Thompson, 145 A. 9, 4 W.W.Harr. 156.
D.C.—Richardson v. Browning, 18 F. 2d 1008, 57 App.D.C. 186.
Kan.—State v. O'Keith, 15 P.2d 443, 136 Kan. 283.
Mo.—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090.
N.C.—State v. Ferguson, 132 S.E. 664, 191 N.C. 668.
Ohio.—In re Cooper, 15 N.E.2d 634, 134 Ohio St. 40, affirming 16 N.E.2d 954, 58 Ohio App. 519—State ex rel. Heth v. Moloney, 186 N.E. 362, 126 Ohio St. 526.
Tenn.—State ex rel. Purdy v. Patton, 140 S.W.2d 1087, 176 Tenn. 296.
Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.
31 C.J. p 1106 note 35.
Juvenile courts generally see supra § 6.

34. N.Y.—People v. Murch, 189 N.E. 220, 263 N.Y. 285, affirming 266 N. Y.S. 907, 240 App.Div. 786—In re Cotton, 30 N.Y.S.2d 421.

35. Mo.—State ex rel. MacNish v. Landwehr, 60 S.W.2d 4, 332 Mo. 622—State ex rel. Wells v. Walker, 34 S.W.2d 124, 326 Mo. 1233—State v. Woerner, App., 294 S.W. 423.
S.D.—State v. Isenhuth, 148 N.W. 9, 34 S.D. 218.

county courts,[36] courts of quarter sessions,[37] district courts,[38] domestic relations courts,[39] police courts,[40] probate courts,[41] and superior courts;[42] but it must be exercised by a court having authority so to do.[43] The jurisdiction is usually held to be exclusive,[44] and the court cannot be deprived thereof by proceedings in another court in a divorce case.[45] So where a court having jurisdiction of proceedings affecting the custody of a child,[46] such as a divorce court,[47] has awarded the child to one parent, there is nothing to prevent the juvenile court from finding that the child is being neglected, and therefore should be taken away from the parent. On the other hand the juvenile court will not adjust parental disputes concerning the care and education of a minor, such matters being for a court of equity where the parents are actual parties.[48]

A trial for delinquency based on the ground that the infant had violated the criminal law is not a criminal trial within the meaning of constitutional and statutory provisions conferring on particular courts exclusive jurisdiction over the trial of criminal cases, and hence the juvenile court is not ousted of jurisdiction on the premises.[49] The jurisdiction of the court to fix the status of the child as a ward of the state is not altered by the fact that the child's parents cannot readily be found where the statutes provide that in such case the warrant may be issued either against the parent, or guardian, or person having custody of the child or against the child himself.[50] Infant children produced in court by lawful process become subject to the jurisdiction of the court,[51] notwithstanding their release to their mother on her recognizance to produce them

36. Ky.—Tipton v. Commonwealth, 298 S.W. 990, 221 Ky. 363.
31 C.J. p 1106 notes 37, 45 [b].

37. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Pennsylvania S. P. C. C., 18 Pa.Dist. 19.

38. Iowa.—De Kay v. Oliver, 143 N. W. 508, 161 Iowa 550.
Tex.—Cheney v. Cheney, Civ.App., 82 S.W.2d 1024, reversed on other grounds Cheney v. Coffey, 113 S.W. 2d 162, 131 Tex. 212, rehearing denied 114 S.W.2d 533, 131 Tex. 212.

District court sitting as juvenile court

Under Louisiana constitution and statutes, the district court had jurisdiction only as a juvenile court, and not when sitting as an ordinary court, of charges of burglary and larceny against one under seventeen years of age, at least where it did not consider the question of juvenility and find him to be over that age. —State v. Louis, 94 So. 446, 152 La. 924.

39. N.Y.—In re Montana, 30 N.Y.S. 2d 199, 177 Misc. 171—In re Grenier, 1 N.Y.S.2d 235, 165 Misc. 784 —In re Jackson, 293 N.Y.S. 19, 161 Misc. 702.
Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.

40. Va.—Ex parte Smith, 98 S.E. 10, 124 Va. 791.

41. Minn.—State ex rel. White v. Patterson, 249 N.W. 187, 188 Minn. 492.
31 C.J. p 1106 note 41.

42. N.C.—State v. Newell, 90 S.E. 594, 172 N.C. 933.

43. N.C.—State v. Ferguson, 132 S. E. 664, 191 N.C. 668.
31 C.J. p 1106 note 43.

44. Colo.—People v. Juvenile Court of City and County of Denver, 226 P. 866, 75 Colo. 463.
Kan.—State v. O'Keith, 15 P.2d 443, 136 Kan. 283.
Ky.—Tipton v. Commonwealth, 298 S.W. 990, 221 Ky. 363.
La.—In re Owen, 127 So. 619, 170 La. 255—State ex rel. Herbert v. Renaud, 103 So. 101, 157 La. 776—Buffington v. Goldman, 94 So. 147, 152 La. 647—Brana v. Brana, 71 So. 519, 139 La. 305.
Mo.—State ex rel. Boyd v. Rutledge, 13 S.W.2d 1061, 321 Mo. 1090.
N.Y.—People v. Murch, 189 N.E. 220, 263 N.Y. 285, affirming 266 N.Y.S. 907, 240 App.Div. 786—In re X, Y and Z, 43 N.Y.S.2d 361.
N.C.—State v. Ferguson, 132 S.E. 664, 191 N.C. 668.
Ohio.—State ex rel. Heth v. Moloney, 186 N.E. 362, 126 Ohio St. 526.
Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.
Va.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.
31 C.J. p 1106 note 45.

Constitutionality

Except where, as in the case with murder, the very laying of accusation is an affront which should not be permitted without finding of charge by grand jury, the general scheme of vesting juvenile court with exclusive jurisdiction to try juvenile offenders is for and not against rights of child and increases rather than violates constitutional protection of individual against governmental abuses; and the Juvenile Court Act, constitutionally, deprives court of oyer and terminer of jurisdiction to try juvenile defendant for assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons.—State v. Goldberg, 11 A.2d 299, 124 N.J.Law 272, affirmed 17 A.2d 173, 125 N.J. Law 501.

On dismissal of indictment

Circuit court order, directing prosecuting attorneys to proceed in juvenile court against boy charged with murder, was held equivalent to dismissal of indictment giving juvenile court jurisdiction.—Tipton v. Commonwealth, 298 S.W. 990, 221 Ky. 363.

45. Colo.—People v. Juvenile Court of City and County of Denver, 226 P. 866, 75 Colo. 493.
Effect of dependency proceedings on jurisdiction of divorce court:
In awarding custody see Divorce § 303 a.
To modify decree awarding custody see Divorce § 317 a.

46. N.Y.—In re Grenier, 1 N.Y.S.2d 235, 165 Misc. 784.

47. La.—State ex rel. Graham v. Graham, 137 So. 855, 173 La. 469—Buffington v. Goldman, 94 So. 147, 152 La. 647.
31 C.J. p 1106 note 35 [a].

48. Cal.—In re People on Behalf of Bullock, 34 P.2d 769, 139 Cal.App. 664.

49. Ga.—Williams v. Davidson, 94 S. E. 564, 147 Ga. 491.

50. N.C.—In re Coston, 122 S.E. 183, 187 N.C. 509.

51. Va.—Brown v. Commonwealth, 132 S.E. 332, 144 Va. 676.

In Pennsylvania

(1) A child may be brought into juvenile court by petition, by commitment by magistrate without preliminary hearing, or by transfer from criminal court which is "mandatory" if the child is under sixteen. —In re Trignani, 28 A.2d 702, 150 Pa.Super. 491.

(2) Where the district attorney has certified that, in his opinion, the welfare of the child and the interests of the state do not require a prosecution on an indictment, under the criminal laws of the commonwealth, the juvenile court acquires later.[52] The court has jurisdiction to deal with a delinquent child who committed an offense within the state notwithstanding that the child was a fugitive from another state.[53] It is the duty of the court to determine, in the light of the facts established by the evidence, what order the child's own good and the best interests of the state may require,[54] but the state should not be substituted as a delinquent child's guardian unless society and the child's welfare are endangered.[55] In a proceeding seeking commitment of children to a public institution as neglected or dependent children, the court has no jurisdiction to order school authorities, who suspended them from public school on account of their refusal to salute the flag, to revoke the suspension, or to order the children, in spite of their conscientious scruples, to salute the flag so that they might again be accepted as students in the school.[56]

Where a statute gives the court jurisdiction for the protection, guardianship, and disposition of neglected or dependent minors, the court has no jurisdiction to determine who is entitled to the custody of an infant not shown to be neglected or dependent,[57] or to deprive a parent, who is a fit person, of the custody and control of the child, even temporarily, or to subject the child, over the parents' objection to a surgical operation imperiling the child's life, even though the court is convinced of the necessity of the operation, and notwithstanding the custody of the child would be returned to the parents if the child recovered from the effects of the operation.[58] The court has, however, jurisdiction to look into the facts regarding a neglected or dependent child,[59] and jurisdiction over all persons who contribute to such neglect, including the child's parents.[60] So on a finding of neglect, the child becomes the ward of the court,[61] and it is within the court's province to direct who shall have custody of the child;[62] and where parental neglect of the child is shown, the court should not hesitate to exercise its jurisdiction, even if it results in interference with the parents' natural guardianship of the child.[63]

Residence. Actual or legal residence ordinarily is not essential to obtain jurisdiction.[64] It is sufficient if the infant is present within the jurisdiction, although he may be a legal resident of another state,[65] or his parents may reside in another state.[66] Under some statutes, however, the court has no jurisdiction to adjudicate the dependency of a child who is in the state for a temporary purpose but whose domicile is in another state.[67] Where the court has obtained jurisdiction in a proceeding against a neglected child, however, removal of the child beyond the state cannot defeat the jurisdiction.[68] Under some statutes, the court of the county in which the child resides has jurisdiction of the proceedings.[69] The court of one county has no jurisdiction over children before it who are not residents of, and are not in, the county of the court's jurisdiction.[70] The child has been held to be a resident of the county of his father's residence for the jurisdiction for the purpose of subjecting the child to the state's guardianship and protection.—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 82 Pa.Super. 335.

52. Va.—Brown v. Commonwealth, 132 S.E. 332, 144 Va. 676.

53. N.Y.—In re Cotton, 30 N.Y.S.2d 421.

54. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 82 Pa.Super. 335.

55. Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.

56. N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.

57. La.—State v. McMillan, 185 So. 389, 191 La. 317.
N.Y.—Caposella v. Leonardo, 7 N.Y.S.2d 606, 255 App.Div. 863, reargument denied In re Caposella, 8 N.Y.S.2d 509, 255 App.Div. 987—In re Cole, 208 N.Y.S. 753, 212 App.Div. 427—Berman v. Berman, 8 N.Y.S.2d 499, 169 Misc. 921—Abeles v. Abeles, 289 N.Y.S. 206, 164 Misc. 418—In re Joffe, 33 N.Y.S.2d 481.
Wash.—In re Hudson, 126 P.2d 765, 13 Wash.2d 673.

58. Wash.—In re Hudson, supra.

59. La.—In re Owen, 127 So. 619, 170 La. 255.
N.Y.—In re Joffe, 33 N.Y.S.2d 481.
Wash.—Ex parte Day, 65 P.2d 1049, 189 Wash. 368.

60. La.—In re Owen, 127 So. 619, 170 La. 255.

61. N.Y.—In re Joffe, 33 N.Y.S.2d 481.

62. N.Y.—In re Schwartz, 35 N.Y.S.2d 930—In re Joffe, 33 N.Y.S.2d 481.
Disposition of child see infra § 100.

63. N.Y.—In re Cole, 208 N.Y.S. 753, 212 App.Div. 427.

64. U.S.—Henn v. Children's Agency, Cal., 204 F. 766, 123 C.C.A. 216.
Cal.—Ex parte Maginnis, 121 P. 723, 162 Cal. 200.

65. Cal.—Ex parte Maginnis, supra.

66. U.S.—Henn v. Children's Agency, Cal., 204 F. 766, 123 C.C.A. 216.

67. Minn.—State v. Juvenile Court of Ramsey County, 204 N.W. 21, 163 Minn. 312.

68. Mo.—State ex rel. Frank v. Porterfield, 285 S.W. 786, 221 Mo.App. 847.

69. Mich.—Ex parte Mould, 126 N.W. 1049, 162 Mich. 1.

Residence or legal settlement
Where custodians of minor child had their residence or legal settlement in county in which juvenile court assumed jurisdiction of child and made it a dependent child, fact that mother of the child might have had a different residence or legal settlement would not deprive juvenile court of the right to entertain jurisdiction. So under statute authorising filing a complaint to have child declared to be either a delinquent, neglected, crippled, or dependent child in juvenile court of county in which such child has a residence or legal settlement, a juvenile court can exercise jurisdiction over a child that has a residence within county even though its legal settlement is not in county.—In re Strininger, 11 Ohio Supp. 60.

70. Mo.—State ex rel. Emory v. Porterfield, 244 S.W. 956, 211 Mo.App. 499.

purpose of venue,[71] but under some statutes the venue of proceedings relating to neglected and dependent children is held to be in the county where the child is found rather than where the parents reside.[72]

Defect of venue may be waived by answer.[73]

Change of venue is not permitted under the statutes in some jurisdictions.[74]

c. Parties

Ordinarily the proceedings are instituted by the people, as party plaintiff, against the infant, but the parents or natural guardians of the child should be made parties. A guardian ad litem need not be appointed unless the statute requires it.

Ordinarily, the proceedings are against the infant,[75] and not merely against the infant's parent.[76] The state, through one of its probation officers, is the principal and moving actor;[77] and the people and not the person or persons filing the application are considered as parties complainant.[78]

Parents or natural guardians. Ordinarily the parents or natural guardians of the child should be made parties to proceedings of this character,[79] and under some statutes the persons named as such in the complaint or petition must be made defendants by name.[80] A judgment that a child was neglected and making it the ward of the court is not void, however, as to a person with whom the child was alleged in the information to live because such person was not a party to the action.[81]

Guardian ad litem. In the absence of statute requiring it, a guardian ad litem need not be appointed;[82] but under some statutes the court is required to appoint some suitable person to act in behalf of the child.[83]

d. Application or Accusation

While the procedure varies under different statutes with respect to whether the application or accusation is made by petition, complaint, information, or affidavit, generally no indictment is required, but the jurisdictional facts must be sufficiently averred.

The necessity, nature, and sufficiency of the accusation are regulated by statute. Ordinarily the application is made by a petition or complaint,[84] in writing,[85] stating or alleging sufficient facts to confer jurisdiction,[86] and such petition or

71. Colo.—Hudson v. Mattingley, 195 P. 113, 69 Colo. 528.

72. N.M.—Blanchard v. State, 238 P. 1004, 30 N.M. 459.
Okl.—Argabright v. Christison, 286 P. 847, 142 Okl. 248.

73. Colo.—Hudson v. Mattingley, 195 P. 113, 69 Colo. 528.

74. Ind.—Heber v. Drake, 118 N.E. 864, 68 Ind.App. 448.

75. U.S.—U. S. v. Behrendsohn, D.C. La., 197 F. 953.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 58.

76. U.S.—U. S. v. Behrendsohn, supra.
Mass.—Robinson v. Commonwealth, 136 N.E. 241, 242 Mass. 401.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 59.
Notice to parent see infra subdivision e of this section.

77. Fla.—In re Whetstone, 188 So. 576, 137 Fla. 712.

78. Ill.—People v. Piccolo, 114 N.E. 145, 275 Ill. 453.

79. Cal.—Ex parte Becknell, 51 P. 692, 119 Cal. 496.
Mont.—In re Satterthwaite, 160 P. 346, 52 Mont. 550.

Right to produce evidence and be represented

In proceeding to declare minor ward of juvenile court, parents are sufficiently "interested parties" to entitle them to be present, to produce evidence, and be represented by counsel.—In re Hill, 247 P. 591, 78 Cal.App. 22.

80. Mont.—In re Satterthwaite, 160 P. 346, 52 Mont. 550.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 62.

81. Mo.—State v. Wickliff, App., 114 S.W.2d 158.

82. Iowa.—King v. Sears, 158 N.W. 513, 177 Iowa 163.

83. Wash.—State v. King County Super.Ct., 180 P. 875, 106 Wash. 619.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 64.

84. Ark.—Kelley v. State, 88 S.W. 2d 65, 191 Ark. 848.
Colo.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.
Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 143, followed in state ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.
N.Y.—In re Grenier, 1 N.Y.S.2d 235, 165 Misc. 784.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 67.

In Kentucky filing of petition by reputable resident of county is prerequisite to county court's jurisdiction over delinquent or dependent child, unless child is charged with crime, in which case the statute providing for such filing is inapplicable.—Tipton v. Commonwealth, 298 S.W. 990, 221 Ky. 363.

85. Mont.—In re Satterthwaite, 160 P. 346, 52 Mont. 550.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 68.

86. Ind.—State ex rel. Jones v. Geckler, 16 N.E.2d 875, 214 Ind. 574.
Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.
Nev.—Ex parte Guisti, 269 P. 600, 51 Nev. 105.
N.J.—Ex parte Mei, 192 A. 80, 122 N.J.Eq. 125, 110 A.L.R. 1080, affirming 186 A. 577, 121 N.J.Eq. 123, supplemented 186 A. 721, 121 N.J.Eq. 125.
N.Y.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S. Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464—People v. Pikunas, 182 N.E. 675, 260 N.Y. 72, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 1071, 236 App.Div. 737—People v. Fitzgerald, 155 N.E. 584, 244 N.Y. 307.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 69.

Petitions or complaints held sufficient

Cal.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 69 Cal.App. 447.

Ind.—Bradburn v. Bradburn, 197 N. E. 905, 209 Ind. 61—Freestone v. State, 176 N.E. 877, 98 Ind.App. 523.

Mich.—Ex parte Drye, 229 N.W. 623, 250 Mich. 210.

N.Y.—People ex rel. Pogoda v. Superintendent of Wayside Home for Girls, 216 N.Y.S. 388, 217 App.Div.

complaint should be verified,[87] although the failure to verify the complaint may not entitle the child to a discharge.[88] Under some statutes it has been held that formal pleadings are not required in proceedings involving disposition of a neglected child.[89] Withholding the petition in juvenile delinquency proceedings from the files after judgment affecting the child's custody is unauthorized.[90]

Indictment, information, and affidavit. Under some statutes an indictment or written accusation signed by a prosecuting attorney or the prosecutor is not necessary.[91] On the other hand, in some jurisdictions, in cases where the ground for the commitment is delinquency or incorrigibility, the proceedings are begun by information or complaint,[92] but need not be by indictment.[93] The information should contain averments sufficiently describing the conduct claimed to render the child subject to the proceedings,[94] but need not conform to the essential requirements of an indictment or criminal information.[95] In some jurisdictions the proceedings are begun by affidavit[96] or information[97] which must set forth the jurisdictional facts,[98] and not by indictment.[99]

e. Notice

Ordinarily notice to persons interested in the pro-

763—People ex rel. Chapman v. Hinkley, 199 N.Y.S. 101.
Ohio.—In re Anteau, 36 N.E.2d 47, 67 Ohio App. 117.
Okl.—Killian v. Burnham, 130 P.2d 538, 191 Okl. 248—Argabright v. Christison, 286 P. 347, 142 Okl. 243.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 69 [c].

Petitions or complaints held insufficient

Cal.—Ex parte Edwards, 284 P. 916, 208 Cal. 725—In re People on Behalf of Bullock, 34 P.2d 769, 139 Cal.App. 664.
Mich.—Ex parte Drye, 229 N.W. 623, 250 Mich. 210.
Miss.—Yarborough v. Coulter, 138 So. 591, 162 Miss. 50.
N.Y.—People v. Slater, 29 N.Y.S.2d 164, 176 Misc. 641—In re Grenier, 1 N.Y.S.2d 235, 165 Misc. 784—People v. Rosenkrantz, 205 N.Y.S. 861, 123 Misc. 335.
Utah.—Cooke v. Cooke, 248 P. 83, 67 Utah 371.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 69 [d].

Sufficiency to authorize that child report

Petition, although insufficient to give jurisdiction to order minor committed as delinquent, since it merely charged minor with being delinquent, was held to authorize that child report as provided in the statute.—Ex parte Guisti, 269 P. 600, 51 Nev. 105.

Variance between allegation and proof

Difference between allegation of delinquency of minor because of violating traffic ordinances and evidence before police judge at hearing on violation was immaterial, any evidence tending to show violation being admissible to show delinquency.—State v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 245 P. 409, 139 Wash. 1, 45 A.L.R. 1530.

87. Tenn.—Shelby County Juvenile Ct. v. State, 201 S.W. 771, 139 Tenn. 549, Ann.Cas.1918D 752.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 70.

88. Kan.—In re Turner, 145 P. 871, 94 Kan. 115, Ann.Cas.1916E 1022.

89. Mo.—State v. Campbell, 32 S.W. 2d 69, 325 Mo. 561—In re Von Talge, App., 67 S.W.2d 999.

90. N.D.—State v. Schelin, 230 N.W. 9, 59 N.D. 386.

91. Ga.—Garner v. Wood, 4 S.E.2d 137, 188 Ga. 463—Wingate v. Gornto, 93 S.E. 206, 147 Ga. 192.
Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 143, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.

92. Tex.—Ex parte Boggs, Cr., 171 S.W.2d 879—Davis v. State, 21 S.W.2d 1068, 113 Tex.Cr. 429—Brown v. State, 268 S.W. 460, 99 Tex.Cr. 70.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 72.

Who may file

Under the Juvenile Court Act, an information may be filed by any reputable person having either knowledge or information of a child who appears to be neglected, and it is not necessary that the information be filed by one learned in the law as is necessary in criminal information.—Ex parte Label, Mo.App., 156 S.W.2d 37.

Information and sworn complaint or affidavit

(1) Prosecution of infant for delinquency on information alone, without sworn complaint or affidavit, was held null under statute.—Ex parte Tomlin, 298 S.W. 902, 107 Tex. Cr. 643.

(2) So where prosecution was on a complaint only, the absence of information was fatal to conviction of being a delinquent child.—Barron v. State, 152 S.W.2d 760, 142 Tex.Cr. 292.

93. Tex.—Brown v. State, 268 S.W. 460, 99 Tex.Cr. 70—Ex parte Bartee, 174 S.W. 1051, 76 Tex.Cr. 285.

94. Mo.—Ex parte See, 145 S.W. 419, 241 Mo. 292.
Tex.—Guerrero v. State, 220 S.W. 1095, 87 Tex.Cr. 269.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 74.

Information or complaint held sufficient

Mo.—Ex parte Label, App., 156 S.W. 2d 37—State v. Wickliff, App., 114 S.W.2d 158—State v. Robertson, App., 13 S.W.2d 566.
Tex.—Rose v. State, 129 S.W.2d 639, 137 Tex.Cr. 316—Davis v. State, 21 S.W.2d 1068, 113 Tex.Cr. 429—Phillips v. State, Cr., 20 S.W.2d 790—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145—Meggs v. State, 276 S.W. 262, 101 Tex.Cr. 415—Ex parte Chandler, 268 S.W. 749, 99 Tex.Cr. 255.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 74 [b].

Information or complaint held insufficient

Tex.—Barron v. State, 152 S.W.2d 760, 142 Tex.Cr. 292—Beadles v. State, 138 S.W.2d 809, 139 Tex.Cr. 1—Haywood v. State, 136 S.W.2d 866, 138 Tex.Cr. 413—Rose v. State, 129 S.W.2d 639, 137 Tex. Cr. 316—Moore v. State, 14 S.W.2d 1041, 111 Tex.Cr. 461—Ex parte Douglas, 5 S.W.2d 153, 109 Tex.Cr. 463—Meggs v. State, 276 S.W. 262, 101 Tex.Cr. 415.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 74 [c].

95. Iowa.—State v. Johnson, 194 N. W. 202, 196 Iowa 300.
Tex.—Rose v. State, 129 S.W.2d 639, 137 Tex.Cr. 316, disapproving Fleming v. State, 278 S.W. 846, 102 Tex.Cr. 530.

Held to charge delinquency, and not crime

Mo.—State ex rel. Matacia v. Buckner, 254 S.W. 179, 300 Mo. 359.

96. La.—State ex rel. Herbert v. Renaud, 103 So. 101, 157 La. 776.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 75.

97. La.—State ex rel. Herbert v. Renaud, supra.

98. La.—State ex rel. Herbert v. Renaud, supra.

Affidavit held sufficient

La.—In re Owen, 127 So. 619, 170 La. 255.

99. La.—State v. Breaux, 90 So. 413, 149 La. 1086.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 76.

ceedings is required, and under some statutes the notice is a jurisdictional fact, but under others the right to notice may be waived.

Ordinarily notice to persons interested in the proceedings[1] and specifically named in the statutes[2] is required; and generally the proceedings are required to be on notice to the child's parent or parents,[3] guardian,[4] custodian,[5] or near relative[6] or to some public officer or board.[7] Furthermore, service thereof must be timely.[8] Under some statutes, if the delinquency of the child is the only point in issue, it has been held that the person who has the right to control, and custody of, the child has no right to notice,[9] but, that if the court is to determine the right to the custody of the child, then the parent or guardian of the child is entitled to notice of the proceedings.[10] The court has no jurisdiction of delinquency proceedings where no process was issued for the minor or served on him and the minor was not present at the hearing;[11] but the jurisdiction of the court is not impaired by the manner in which accused is brought before it,[12] and, accordingly, the jurisdiction has been upheld where the minor was brought in by warrant[13] or summary

1. Colo.—Ziemer v. Wheeler, 1 P.2d 579, 89 Colo. 242.
31 C.J. p 1107 note 78.
Notice in custody proceedings generally see supra § 8.

Purpose of citation
Juvenile Delinquency Act contemplates that citation shall serve the purpose of summons in civil action or citation in special proceeding.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.

2. Ariz.—In re Mendevil, 193 P. 17, 21 Ariz. 586.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 79 [a].

3. Cal.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487.
Ill.—People v. McDonald, 225 Ill.App. 447.
Mich.—Oversmith v. Lake, 295 N.W. 339, 295 Mich. 627—In re Petrovich, 192 N.W. 657, 222 Mich. 79.
Tex.—Moore v. State, 14 S.W.2d 1041, 111 Tex.Cr. 461—Ex parte Tomlin, 298 S.W. 902, 107 Tex.Cr. 643—Ex parte Burkhart, 253 S.W. 259, 94 Tex.Cr. 583.
Utah.—In re State, in Interest of Bennett, 293 P. 963, 77 Utah 247.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 80.
Due process as requiring hearing before court on notice to parent before depriving parent of child's custody see Constitutional Law § 612.

Abandoned child
The mere fact that parent has neglected or abandoned child does not dispense with parent's right to actual or constructive notice of abandonment proceedings.—In re Hampton's Estate, 131 P.2d 565, 55 Cal. App.2d 543, prior opinion, App., 127 P.2d 38.

Notice of hearings before commissioner and judge
Both parents of child alleged to be delinquent are entitled to notice of hearing before juvenile commissioner, and also to notice of hearing before district judge on report and recommendations of such commissioner.—Ex parte Solberg, 203 N.W. 898, 52 N.D. 518.

Oral notice
The statute requiring that written notice be served on parent or guardian of allegedly delinquent child, and permitting officer who serves such notice to accept promise of parent or guardian to be responsible for presence of the child, is intended to relieve delinquent child from confinement with older persons charged with crime during pendency of prosecution and to require that parent or guardian have child present in court when case is called for trial, and, if that object is attained, the notice may be either in writing or oral. So, where parent with allegedly delinquent child appeared at trial, fact that notice was oral was harmless.—Saliz v. State, 152 S.W.2d 367, 142 Tex.Cr. 278.

Service by probation officer
In proceeding to place minor in custody of probation officer, where the latter testified that he had made service of citation by personally handing to the mother a copy of citation, juvenile court had jurisdiction, the probation officer not being a party to the proceeding so as to be disqualified from making such service.—In re Spiers, 89 P.2d 456, 32 Cal.App.2d 124.

Insertion of names on summons
Where summons, issued against widow and her two minor children, fully identified them as her children, and their address, insertion, by clerk of court, of names of children, on such summons, was held not to render summons defective.—Brown v. Commonwealth, 132 S.E. 332, 144 Va. 676.

Notice held sufficient
Ill.—In re Ferrier, 103 Ill. 367, 42 Am.R. 10.
Ind.—Bradburn v. Bradburn, 197 N. E. 905, 209 Ind. 61.
Ohio.—Ex parte Cunningham, 160 N. E. 733, 27 Ohio App. 306—In re Veselich, 154 N.E. 55, 22 Ohio App. 528.

Bastard child
The mother of a bastard child is entitled to notice.
N.Y.—Matter of Remske, 160 N.Y.S. 715, 95 Misc. 330.
Ohio.—Lewis v. Reed, 157 N.E. 897, 117 Ohio St. 152—In re McLean's Adoption, 29 N.E.2d 425, 65 Ohio App. 106.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 80 [c].

4. Tex.—Moore v. State, 14 S.W.2d 1041, 111 Tex.Cr. 461.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 81.

5. Mich.—In re Petrovich, 192 N.W. 657, 222 Mich. 79.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 82.

Physical possession not custody
Person having "custody" of child, as the word is used in statute relating to declaring child dependent, is one having custody by law or judicial act, and one having mere physical possession of child is not one having custody within statute.—Rarey v. Schmidt, 154 N.E. 914, 115 Ohio St. 518.

6. Ky.—Compton v. Commonwealth, 240 S.W. 36, 194 Ky. 429.

7. Ohio.—Girls' Industrial Home v. Steffen, 9 Ohio S. & C.P. 696, 7 Ohio N.P. 409.

8. Colo.—Ziemer v. Wheeler, 1 P.2d 579, 89 Colo. 242.

9. Ohio.—State ex rel. Heth v. Moloney, 186 N.E. 362, 126 Ohio St. 526.
Utah.—Jensen v. Hinckley, 185 P. 716, 55 Utah 306.

10. Ohio.—Lewis v. Reed, 157 N.E. 897, 117 Ohio St. 152—Rarey v. Schmidt, 154 N.E. 914, 115 Ohio St. 518.
Utah.—Jensen v. Hinckley, 185 P. 716, 55 Utah 306.

11. Miss.—Maddox v. Bush, 4 So.2d 302, 191 Miss. 748.

12. N.Y.—People v. Slater, 29 N.Y.S. 2d 164, 176 Misc. 641.

13. Mo.—Ex parte Schrier, 41 S.W. 2d 178, 328 Mo. 726—Ex parte Naccarat, 41 S.W.2d 176, 328 Mo. 722, 76 A.L.R. 654.
N.Y.—People v. Slater, 29 N.Y.S.2d 164, 176 Misc. 641.

arrest.[14]

Jurisdictional fact; waiver. Under some statutes, the notice is a jurisdictional fact,[15] and, where the statute requires a summons to be issued, setting up the substance of the charge and the time and place of hearing, the failure to issue the summons is a jurisdictional defect[16] which cannot be cured by appearance.[17] Under other statutes the right to notice may be waived[18] by conduct,[19] as, for instance, by appearance,[20] but no waiver by voluntary appearance should be recognized unless it is based on full knowledge and is clearly "voluntary" in the broadest sense of that term.[21] In the absence of statute requiring notice to persons other than the minor, it has been held that want of notice to persons interested is not a jurisdictional defect.[22] Where the proceedings are had before a court of general jurisdiction, it will be assumed, in support of the jurisdiction of the court, that notice was given to the proper parties.[23]

A provisional commitment pending final determination may be made without notice.[24]

f. Evidence

The evidence must show that the child sought to be committed is in such condition as to be within the purview of the statute.

The evidence must show that the child sought to be committed is in such a condition or such circumstances as to be within the purview of the statute,[25] and the burden is on the party instituting

14. N.Y.—People v. Harris, 230 N.Y.S. 767, 132 Misc. 741.

15. Ky.—Compton v. Commonwealth, 240 S.W. 36, 194 Ky. 429.
Mich.—Oversmith v. Lake, 295 N.W. 339, 295 Mich. 627—In re Petrovich, 192 N.W. 657, 222 Mich. 79.
Ohio.—Lewis v. Reed, 157 N.E. 897, 117 Ohio St. 152.

16. Ill.—People v. McDonald, 225 Ill.App. 447.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 88.

17. Mass.—Fitzgerald v. Commonwealth, 5 Allen 509.
Mich.—Karrib v. Bailey, 180 N.W. 386, 212 Mich. 502.

18. Ind.—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E.2d 91.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 90.

19. Ariz.—In re Mendevil, 193 P. 17, 21 Ariz. 586.
La.—State v. Neal, 125 So. 442, 169 La. 441.
Ohio.—Ex parte Province, 188 N.E. 550, 127 Ohio St. 333.
Okl.—Argabright v. Christison, 286 P. 347, 142 Okl. 243.
Tex.—Matthews v. Whittle, Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 601.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 91.

20. La.—State v. Neal, 125 So. 442, 169 La. 441.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 92.

21. Wash.—State v. Superior Court of Lewis County, 227 P. 849, 130 Wash. 464.

22. Ohio.—State ex rel. Heth v. Moloney, 186 N.E. 362, 126 Ohio St. 526.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 93.

23. Iowa.—In re East Minors, 122 N.W. 153, 143 Iowa 370.

24. N.Y.—People v. New York Nursery & Child's Hospital, 129 N.E. 341, 230 N.Y. 119.

25. Miss.—Holden v. Smith, 100 So. 27, 135 Miss. 322.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 96.

Evidence held sufficient

(1) To authorize an order taking minor from custody of parents.
Cal.—In re Eichelberger, 250 P. 201, 79 Cal.App. 525—In re De Vore, 221 P. 706, 64 Cal.App. 347.
Wash.—Sumner v. Superior Court for Clallam County, 140 P.2d 784.

(2) To establish that mentally defective child was a psychopathic personality and committed acts of delinquency while under the age of sixteen years.—In re Cotton, 30 N.Y.S.2d 421.

(3) To justify finding that custody should be taken from child's adoptive mother who was also her grandmother.—In re Williams' Welfare, 117 P.2d 202, 10 Wash.2d 542.

(4) To show that child was a dependent child.—In re Reed, 117 P.2d 503, 189 Okl. 389.

(5) To show that minor child was neglected.
N.Y.—In re Ford, 9 N.Y.S.2d 932, affirmed 24 N.Y.S.2d 871, 260 App. Div. 950.
Okl.—In re Reed, supra.
Va.—Rogers v. Commonwealth, 11 S.E.2d 584, 176 Va. 355.

(6) To show that child was dependent and neglected.—Stanley v. State, 179 N.W. 1019, 105 Neb. 260.

(7) To show that minors were incorrigible.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.

(8) To support finding that child was an abandoned child.—In re Peterson, 132 P.2d 831, 56 Cal.App.2d 791.

(9) To support finding that home in which child was living was unfit place for child.—In re Schultz, 277 P. 1049, 99 Cal.App. 134.

(10) To sustain judgment finding defendant to be a delinquent.
Ind.—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E.2d 91.
N.Y.—Hambel v. Levine, 275 N.Y.S. 702, 243 App.Div. 530—People v. Sullivan, 200 N.Y.S. 214, 120 Misc. 618.
Tex.—Noble v. State, 61 S.W.2d 494, 124 Tex.Cr. 162—Davis v. State, 21 S.W.2d 1068, 113 Tex.Cr. 429—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.
31 C.J. p 1108 note 96 [b].

Evidence held insufficient

(1) To establish that child was delinquent.
Colo.—Carmean v. People, 134 P.2d 1056, 110 Colo. 399.
Kan.—Hollis v. Brownell, 284 P. 388, 129 Kan. 818.
Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.
N.Y.—In re Madik, 251 N.Y.S. 765, 233 App.Div. 12—People ex rel. Deordio v. Palmer, 244 N.Y.S. 727, 230 App.Div. 397.
Tex.—Purvis v. State, 112 S.W.2d 186, 133 Tex.Cr. 441—Moore v. State, 14 S.W.2d 1041, 111 Tex.Cr. 461—Meggs v. State, 276 S.W. 262, 101 Tex.Cr. 415—31 C.J. p 1108 note 96 [c] (2).

(2) To justify taking of custody of minor from mother.—State ex rel. Everitt v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 33 P.2d 897, 178 Wash. 90.

(3) To show that child was dependent.
Ind.—Orr v. State, 123 N.E. 476, 70 Ind.App. 242.
Kan.—Hollis v. Brownell, 284 P. 388, 129 Kan. 818.
Or.—In re Schein, 69 P.2d 293, 156 Or. 661.

(4) To show that minor child was neglected.
Cal.—In re People on Behalf of Bullock, 34 P.2d 769, 139 Cal.App. 664.
Kan.—Hollis v. Brownell, 284 P. 388, 129 Kan. 818.

the proceedings to prove such fact[26] by competent evidence[27] which satisfies the court of the truth of the facts on which the commitment rests.[28] Under some statutes it has been held that a charge of delinquency can be established by a plea of guilty,[29] but, on the other hand, it has been held that such a plea by the minor is not binding on the parents and therefore does not warrant a commitment or a finding against them as to their ability to care for and control the child.[30]

An indorsement upon the petition by the probation officer approving the petition creates a presumption that he has made an investigation.[31]

g. Trial or Hearing

The parties are entitled to a hearing and trial in accordance with established rules of law.

In proceedings to commit a child for delinquency, the parties are entitled to a hearing and trial.[32] It is generally held that the parents, guardians, or

La.—State v. McMillan, 185 So. 269, 191 La. 317.
N.Y.—In re Fournier, 37 N.Y.S.2d 181—In re Joffe, 33 N.Y.S.2d 481.
N.D.—In re Kelber, 200 N.W. 786, 51 N.D. 698.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Bickel, 78 Pa. Super. 348.

(5) To show that child was dependent and neglected.—McGrath v. Vail, 37 P.2d 3, 140 Kan. 312.

(6) To show that child had been abandoned.—In re Edwards, 4 P.2d 560, 117 Cal.App. 667.

(7) To support finding that orphans were destitute and without means of support.—In re People, on Behalf of Jones, 112 P.2d 892, 44 Cal.App.2d 670.

(8) To establish other matters see 31 C.J. p 1108 note 96 [c] (3)-(5).

26. La.—State v. Tomasella, 7 So. 2d 615, 200 La. 60.

27. N.Y.—People ex rel. Peltz v. Brewster, 248 N.Y.S. 599, 232 App. Div. 1, reversing 247 N.Y.S. 672, 139 Misc. 161, and affirmed People ex rel. Peltz v. Warden of Second Dist. Prison of City of New York, 177 N.E. 139, 256 N.Y. 599—People ex rel. Deordio v. Palmer, 244 N.Y. S. 727, 230 App.Div. 397.
Tex.—Miller v. State, 200 S.W. 389, 82 Tex.Cr. 495.

Customary rules of evidence

In juvenile delinquency proceeding, customary rules of evidence shown by long experience as essential to getting at truth with reasonable certainty in civil trials must be adhered to.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464.

Evidence held admissible

(1) Evidence of commission of crime.
Miss.—Bryant v. Brown, 118 So. 184, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1325.
Tex.—Rose v. State, 129 S.W.2d 639, 137 Tex.Cr. 316.

(2) In prosecution of infant as delinquent for seduction, evidence of subsequent acts of intercourse.—State ex rel. Shartel v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37, 333 Mo. 888.

(3) Evidence regarding what physician said about use of finger by boy injured by defendant and evidence that neighbor told injured boy he had better have finger taken care of.—Campbell v. Siegler, 162 A. 154, 10 N.J.Misc. 987.

(4) Immoral conduct of father, although prior to the effective date of the statutes under which the proceeding was taken.—In re Hayes, 23 N.E.2d 956, 62 Ohio App. 289.

Evidence held inadmissible

Evidence of minor, charged with being delinquent because of violation of traffic laws, showing that other drivers were in habit of speeding at place where he was charged to have done so.—State v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 245 P. 409, 139 Wash. 1, 45 A.L.R. 1530.

28. N.Y.—People ex rel. Peltz v. Brewster, 248 N.Y.S. 599, 232 App. Div. 1, reversing 247 N.Y.S. 672, 139 Misc. 161, and affirmed People ex rel. Peltz v. Warden of Second Dist. Prison of City of New York, 177 N.E. 139, 256 N.Y. 599.

Degree of proof required

(1) Finding of fact must rest on preponderance of evidence adduced under rules of evidence applying in civil trials.
N.Y.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App. Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464.
Wash.—State v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 245 P. 409, 139 Wash. 1, 45 A.L.R. 1530.

(2) However, it has been held that child, to be adjudicated delinquent for committing arson, must be proved guilty beyond reasonable doubt and that suspicion pointing to child's guilt of crime is not such proof.—In re Madik, 251 N.Y.S. 765, 233 App. Div. 12.

(3) To warrant finding that the mother of an infant is guilty of neglect the testimony must be conclusive.—In re Joffe, 33 N.Y.S.2d 481.

29. Tex.—Saliz v. State, 152 S.W.2d 367, 142 Tex.Cr. 278.

In New York

(1) Adjudication that boy was delinquent child, resting solely on his own confession made without warning against self-incrimination was held proper under L.1930 c 393, § 45.—People v. Lewis, 183 N.E. 353, 260 N.Y. 171, 86 A.L.R. 1001, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 457, 235 App.Div. 559, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Lewis v. People of State of New York, 53 S.Ct. 786, 289 U.S. 709, 77 L.Ed. 1464.

(2) Under an earlier statute, which was subsequently repealed. proceedings not based on a criminal charge could be informal, but where the contrary was true the evidence was required to be competent, and it was held that a child's conviction of delinquency on uncorroborated testimony of accomplice and confession extorted by threats was unwarranted.—People v. Fitzgerald, 155 N.E. 584, 244 N.Y. 307.

(3) So a minor's plea of guilty of waywardness was held insufficient to support commitment, because not equivalent to statutory requirement of competent evidence on hearing.—People ex rel. Peltz v. Brewster, 248 N.Y.S. 599, 232 App.Div. 1, reversing 247 N.Y.S. 672, 139 Misc. 161, and affirmed People ex rel. Peltz v. Warden of Second Dist. Prison of City of New York, 177 N.E. 139, 256 N.Y. 599—People ex rel. Deordio v. Palmer, 244 N.Y.S. 727, 230 App.Div. 397.

30. Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.

31. Cal.—In re Peterson, 133 P.2d 831, 56 Cal.App.2d 791.

32. Ind.—State ex rel. Jones v Geckler, 16 N.E.2d 875, 214 Ind. 574.
Miss.—Bryant v. Brown, 118 So. 184, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1325—Holden v. Smith, 100 So. 27, 135 Miss. 322.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Peltz v. Brewster, 248 N.Y.S. 599, 232 App.Div. 1, reversing 247 N.Y.S. 672, 139 custodians of the child shall have an opportunity to be heard,[33] and that a parent cannot be deprived of the custody of his minor child without a hearing before a court of competent jurisdiction in which he has been served with process or entered an appearance.[34] The court must determine the questions before it in accordance with the established rules of law,[35] but such hearings need not be conducted with all the strict formality of a criminal proceeding[36] unless the statute so provides.[37] Nevertheless one charged with being a wayward minor is entitled to all the safeguards surrounding trials,[38] and is entitled to have all the testimony of the witnesses taken on the hearing.[39] Process of law is available to bring witnesses before the hearing, and a final order may not be based on details privately whispered to the judge in chambers.[40] On transfer under statute to the chancery court for trial, the case is tried according to the chancery procedure under the rules for the trial of civil cases.[41] In the investigation of a charge of dependency the court may require production of the child in court, designate who may be its guardian, and employ means to ascertain what, if any, probable relationships and contacts may be detrimental to the child's welfare, and, as incident to the conduct of the proceeding, may order an examination of the child by a physician to ascertain such facts.[42] In performing its functions of rehabilitating children brought before it, the court must consider not only the bare and apparent facts, but must go behind the facts and inquire concerning the causative factors productive of those facts.[43] Admission of evidence after both sides have closed is discretionary.[44]

In delinquency proceedings the court should not proceed with the hearing on the return day unless the parties signify their readiness for hearing, but should fix the time therefor;[45] but a case may be heard and disposed of before the time set in the capias on which the infant was arrested where she, with her mother and attorneys representing her, requested such disposal.[46] The failure to fix the time for hearing may be considered waived by appearing and failing to object.[47] A statute entitling a person in custody to be released when more than a certain number of days have elapsed without trial does not apply to proceedings against delinquent children.[48]

Where the court has jurisdiction of the parties and proceedings, denial of petitioner's request for permission to withdraw his petition that orphans be adjudged wards of the court as destitute persons is within the discretion of the court,[49] but where petitioner, who was guardian of the orphans, instituted the proceedings only to settle a controversy as to which of two counties should contribute to the support of the orphans and did not intend to put their custody in issue, and was willing to give up his right to aid rather than give up the custody, it is error to refuse to permit him to dismiss the proceedings.[50]

Misc. 161, and affirmed People ex rel Peltz v. Warden of Second Dist. Prison of City of New York, 177 N.E. 139, 256 N.Y. 599—People ex rel. Deordio v. Palmer, 244 N.Y.S. 727, 230 App.Div. 397.

Hearing before juvenile commissioner not sufficient.—State v. Schelin, 230 N.W. 9, 59 N.D. 386.

33. Cal.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487.
Miss.—Bryant v. Brown, 118 So. 184, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1325.
N.D.—Ex parte Solberg, 203 N.W. 898, 52 N.D. 518.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 98.

Right to cross-examine
Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.

Presence of mother held unnecessary
Ind.—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E. 2d 91.

34. Cal.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487.
Due process as requiring hearing before court on notice to parent before depriving parent of child's custody see Constitutional Law § 612.
Requirement of notice to parent generally see supra subdivision e of this section.
Rights of state and parents as to custody and control of child generally see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child §§ 10–11, also 46 C.J. p 1222–p 1235 note 67.

35. Wash.—Ex parte Day, 65 P.2d 1049, 189 Wash. 368.

36. Cal.—Ex parte Jones, 93 P.2d 185, 34 Cal.App.2d 77.

37. Ind.—State ex rel. Jones v. Geckler, 16 N.E.2d 875, 214 Ind. 574.

38. N.Y.—People v. Harris, 230 N.Y.S. 767, 132 Misc. 741.

Where delinquent child is charged with capital offense, the proceedings in the juvenile court should be conducted with deliberation giving the accused the benefit of every substantial rule of procedure in his favor.—Ridge v. State, 220 P. 965, 25 Okl.Cr. 396.

39. N.Y.—People v. Slater, 29 N.Y.S. 2d 164, 176 Misc. 641.
N.D.—State v. Schelin, 230 N.W. 9, 59 N.D. 386.

40. Cal.—In re Hill, 247 P. 591, 78 Cal.App. 23.

41. Miss.—Bryant v. Brown, 118 So. 184, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1325.

42. Or.—State ex rel. Cole v. Cole, 73 P.2d 384, 157 Or. 568.

43. N.Y.—In re Z Y X, 24 N.Y.S.2d 456.

44. Tex.—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.

45. Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.

46. Tex.—Ex parte Chandler, 268 S.W. 749, 99 Tex.Cr. 255.

47. Iowa.—King v. Sears, 158 N.W. 513, 177 Iowa 163.

48. Wash.—In re Chartrand, 182 P. 610, 107 Wash. 560.

49. Cal.—Ex parte Jones, 93 P.2d 185, 34 Cal.App.2d 77.

50. Cal.—In re People, on Behalf of Jones, 112 P.2d 892, 44 Cal.App.2d 670.

Trial by jury. Under some statutes the parties have a right to a jury trial if one is demanded,[51] and such statutes place a positive duty on the interested person to make a demand if a jury is desired;[52] under other statutes a jury trial is not required.[53] If the trial is by jury the parties should be allowed jury strikes and the jury should be sworn and charged as in civil cases instead of following the procedure applicable to criminal cases.[54] The court should fairly submit to the jury instructions embodying a correct statement of the law applicable to the issues and facts.[55] The guilt of accused is a matter within the province of the jury;[56] and in such case the jury's verdict is not considered as merely advisory; accused is entitled to the benefit of the jury's verdict, and the court cannot disregard a verdict of not guilty and commit defendant.[57]

Arraignment. If the proceedings are not considered criminal, arraignment of an infant defendant charged with delinquency is not necessary.[58]

The granting of separate trials for each infant, where the same circumstances would necessarily be brought in evidence as to each, rests in the discretion of the trial court;[59] but it is error to try a girl charged with being a wayward minor together with two women charged with prostitution even though the arrests grew out of the same transaction.[60]

Adjournment. The court has the right to adjourn the proceeding at its discretion.[61]

New trial. In a proper case, a new trial or hearing may be allowed,[62] but denial of a new trial for newly discovered evidence is proper where diligence is not shown.[63]

h. Findings

When required by statute, findings on the issues presented are essential to sustain a valid order of commitment.

Findings are not necessary in the absence of a provision in the statute under which the proceeding was had requiring findings.[64] Under some statutes, however, findings on the issues presented are required to be made by the court,[65] and the making

51. Colo.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.
35 C.J. p 195 note 29.
Right to trial by jury in juvenile delinquency proceedings generally see Juries, § 80, also 35 C.J. p 195 notes 23, 24.

52. Nev.—Ex parte Guisti, 269 P. 600, 51 Nev. 105.

53. Miss.—Bryant v. Brown, 118 So. 184, 151 Miss. 398, 60 A.L.R. 1325.

54. Ga.—Garner v. Wood, 4 S.E.2d 137, 188 Ga. 463.

55. Instructions held proper
(1) Instruction that, if guilty, the jury would assess punishment at confinement in the industrial school for an indeterminate period, not to extend beyond defendant's majority; also instruction on the elements of aggravated assault.—De La O v. State, 250 S.W. 182, 94 Tex.Cr. 204.
(2) Instruction as to speed law of state in proceeding to determine delinquency of minor, as bearing on question whether car was operated recklessly.—State v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 245 P. 409, 139 Wash. 1, 45 A.L.R. 1530.
Instruction held error
Instruction that recent possession of stolen property is a presumption of guilt.—Purvis v. State, 112 S.W.2d 186, 133 Tex.Cr. 441.
Failure to instruct on issue of suspended sentence under revision in force at time of trial, which omitted reference to suspended sentence, was not error.—Meggs v. State, 291 S.W. 545, 106 Tex.Cr. 136.

56. Wash.—State v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 245 P. 409, 139 Wash. 1, 45 A.L.R. 1530.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 3.

57. Mo.—Ex parte Parsons, App., 232 S.W. 740.

58. Cal.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 69 Cal.App. 447.
Neb.—Laurie v. State, 188 N.W. 110, 108 Neb. 239.
Nature of proceedings see supra subdivision a of this section.

59. Wis.—In re Johnson, 181 N.W. 741, 173 Wis. 571.

60. N.Y.—People v. Harris, 230 N.Y.S. 767, 132 Misc. 741.

61. Mich.—In re Broughton, 158 N.W. 884, 192 Mich. 418.
Refusal held not abuse of discretion
N.Y.—People v. Sullivan, 200 N.Y.S. 214, 120 Misc. 618.
Tex.—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.

62. Mo.—State v. Calhoun, 211 S.W. 109, 201 Mo.App. 374.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 10.
Grounds
Proceeding by which juvenile delinquent was convicted under original felony indictment instead of complaint and information, and sentenced to juvenile training school, might be taken advantage of on motion for new trial, although no objection was urged until then.—Brown v. State, 268 S.W. 460, 99 Tex.Cr. 70.
Matters considered on new trial
Statute authorising a rehearing by a juvenile court on the discovery of additional evidence raising a question as to the advisability of a commitment of a child to the Wisconsin industrial school for girls by any juvenile court confers power to rehear the original case on evidence not produced at the trial bearing on the propriety of the original commitment, but does not vest power in juvenile court to consider evidence bearing on the present advisability of discharging or paroling the child after a valid and proper commitment.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 537, 225 Wis. 553.

63. Mont.—State ex rel. Palagi v. Freeman, 262 P. 168, 81 Mont. 132, followed in State ex rel. Palagi v. Hutton, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 143 and State ex rel. Palagi v. Ireland, 262 P. 172, 81 Mont. 144.

64. Cal.—In re Peterson, 133 P.2d 831, 56 Cal.App.2d 791.

65. N.Y.—In re Cole, 208 N.Y.S. 753, 212 App.Div. 427.
N.D.—State v. Schelin, 230 N.W. 9, 59 N.D. 386—Ex parte Solberg, 203 N.W. 898, 52 N.D. 518.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 11.
Finding held warranted
Where children's delinquencies stem from neglect, a finding of delinquency must be predicated on the factors responsible, and hence when a child is delinquent because of neglect such a finding is warranted.—In re Z Y X, 24 N.Y.S.2d 456.
Findings held sufficient
Cal.—Ex parte Daedler, 228 P. 467, 194 Cal. 320.
Ind.—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E.2d 91—In re Fickle, 192 N.E. 104, 99 Ind.App. 476—Heber v. Drake, 118 N.E. 864, 68 Ind.App. 448.
Mo.—Label v. Sullivan, 165 S.W.2d of such finding has been held essential to sustain a valid order of commitment.[66] So-called findings of facts which are mere conclusions will not support a judgment committing a juvenile as delinquent.[67] A finding affecting a child may be modified when the best interests of the child and the needs of the community require such modification.[68]

i. Judgment, Order, or Decree

The proceedings require a judgment, order, or decree stating all jurisdictional facts and certain in meaning so as to be enforceable; and such judgment carries none of the implications of a judgment in a criminal court.

The proceedings in the juvenile court require a judgment, order, or decree,[69] which should state all the jurisdictional facts[70] and should show that the case is within the statute.[71] It should be intelligible and certain in meaning so as to be possible of enforcement.[72] Ordinarily it should show the nature of the offense or grounds for commitment,[73] the age of the child,[74] that a petition has been filed as required by statute,[75] that notice was given,[76] that a hearing was held,[77] the time or duration of the commitment,[78] and the place of confinement.[79] Mere irregularities, however, do not warrant a discharge of the child.[80] Where a child is proceeded against as a delinquent, the final judgment, if against the child, can be only a judgment declaring the child to be a delinquent even though the conduct charged consisted of violations of the criminal statutes, or conduct which renders the child incorrigible, vicious, or immoral.[81] A provision in a judgment declaring the child a public ward that the child should return to the home in which it had been living does not render the judgment erroneous.[82]

Nature. The judgment, order, or decree is not a judgment in a criminal action,[83] and none of the implications of a conviction in a criminal court should result therefrom.[84]

j. Review

(1) In general
(2) Persons entitled and parties
(3) Decisions reviewable
(4) Appellate jurisdiction
(5) Objections and exceptions
(6) Perfection of appeal
(7) Supersedeas
(8) Record
(9) Assignment of errors
(10) Proceedings on appeal
(11) Dismissal or withdrawal
(12) Scope and extent of review
(13) Determination and disposition of cause

639, 350 Mo. 286—Ex parte Label, App., 156 S.W.2d 37.

Petition and findings held not in variance

Cal.—In re Spiers, 89 P.2d 456, 32 Cal.App.2d 124.

66. Cal.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487—In re Pierce, 16 P.2d 765, 127 Cal.App. 773—In re Brodie, 166 P. 605, 33 Cal.App. 751.
Mo.—State ex rel. Dew v. Trimble, 269 S.W. 617, 306 Mo. 657—Ex parte Walbridge, 285 S.W. 167, 220 Mo.App. 29.
N.Y.—People v. Pikunas, 182 N.E. 675, 260 N.Y. 72, reversing 257 N.Y.S. 1071, 236 App.Div. 737.
Wash.—State ex rel. Helwig v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 29 P.2d 930, 176 Wash. 478.

67. Utah.—State v. Butcher, 279 P. 497, 74 Utah 275.

68. N.Y.—In re Z Y X, 24 N.Y.S.2d 456.

69. N.Y.—People v. Fitzgerald, 155 N.E. 584, 244 N.Y. 307.

70. Ark.—Kelley v. State, 88 S.W. 2d 65, 191 Ark. 848.
Or.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 13.

71. Tenn.—Shelby County Juvenile Ct. v. State, 201 S.W. 771, 139 Tenn. 549, Ann.Cas.1918D 752.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 14.

72. Cal.—In re Fowler, 141 P. 1053, 24 Cal.App. 529.

73. Mont.—In re Satterthwaite, 160 P. 346, 52 Mont. 550.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 16.

74. Tenn.—Shelby County Juvenile Ct. v. State, 201 S.W. 771, 139 Tenn. 549, Ann.Cas.1918D 752.

75. Ark.—Kelley v. State, 88 S.W.2d 65, 191 Ark. 848.

76. Cal.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 18.

77. Cal.—In re Fowler, 141 P. 1053, 24 Cal.App. 529—People v. New York Nursery & Child's Hospital, 180 N.Y.S. 372, 190 App.Div. 562, affirmed 129 N.E. 341, 230 N.Y. 119.

78. Tex.—Ex parte Douglas, 5 S.W. 2d 153, 109 Tex.Cr. 463.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 20.

Judgment held sufficient where it directed that delinquent be detained until she reached the age of twenty-one years, unless court made a different disposition of her.—Ex parte Chandler, 268 S.W. 749, 99 Tex.Cr. 255.

Judgment held erroneous in committing child for term of years not "less" than four, not "more" than four being proper.—Phillips v. State, Tex.Cr., 20 S.W.2d 790.

79. Tex.—Ex parte Roach, 221 S.W. 975, 87 Tex.Cr. 370.

80. Tex.—Ex parte Bartee, 174 S.W. 1051, 76 Tex.Cr. 285.

81. Mo.—State ex rel. Shartel v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37, 333 Mo. 888—State v. Johnson, App., 174 S.W. 2d 139.

Record held to show that defendant was delinquent child, in view of finding that defendant was under seventeen.—Morgan v. State, 25 S.W.2d 842, 114 Tex.Cr. 434.

82. Ind.—Bradburn v. Bradburn, 197 N.E. 905, 209 Ind. 61.

83. Cal.—People v. Sanchez, 132 P. 2d 810, 21 Cal.2d 466, prior opinion, App., 126 P.2d 137.
D.C.—Thomas v. U. S., 121 F.2d 905, 74 App.D.C. 167.
Mo.—State ex rel. Shartel v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37, 333 Mo. 888.
Or.—Ex parte Bowers, 158 P. 412, 78 Or. 390.
Wash.—State v. Webster, 211 P. 274, 122 Wash. 526.

84. D.C.—Thomas v. U. S., 121 F.2d 905, 74 App.D.C. 167.

(1) In General

Review of the proceedings in the juvenile court depends on constitutional and statutory provision and the practice of the particular jurisdictions, under which it is variously held that the review may, or may not, be by appeal, writ of error, or certiorari.

Since the right of appeal, as discussed in Appeal and Error § 1, is purely a matter of legislative discretion, in the absence of statute so providing there is no appeal from an order of commitment,[85] especially where the statute provides the remedy of writ of error for the purpose of review.[86] In some jurisdictions, by force of constitutional or statutory provisions, appeals are allowed[87] and it has been held that statutes authorizing appeals in civil cases include an appeal from a final judgment of dependency by the court.[88] Where the statute applicable to juvenile court proceedings provides for an appeal, the right of appeal is controlled by that statute rather than by the general statute applicable to appeals.[89] Under a statute giving a right of appeal from orders within the juvenile court's jurisdiction, an appeal will not lie where the sole question was as to whether, under the facts, the juvenile court had exceeded its jurisdiction.[90] The right of appeal of a child adjudged a delinquent is not defeated by the juvenile court's exercise of continuing jurisdiction over the child.[91] A constitutional provision for appeals from the juvenile court does not permit suspensive appeals where there is an express provision that appeals shall not suspend the juvenile court's judgment.[92] Where no right of appeal exists, a denial of bail pending appeal from an order of commitment is not error, since a right of appeal is a prerequisite to a right of bail pending appeal.[93]

Writ of error. Since, in the absence of statute giving it a broader application, a writ of error, as discussed in Appeal and Error § 14 a, lies only in proceedings which are according to the course of the common law, and since these proceedings, as discussed supra subdivision a of this section, are not according to the common law, but statutory, there is no right of review by writ of error in the absence of statute providing otherwise.[94] Where, however, the proceeding is regarded not as a special proceeding but as a civil action, it has been held reviewable on writ of error.[95]

Certiorari. Following the general rule discussed in Certiorari § 39, certiorari will not lie to review these proceedings where it is not shown why an appeal will not be adequate,[96] although it has been held available where there is no right of appeal.[97]

(2) Persons Entitled and Parties

Only a person who has been accorded the right by statute is entitled to appeal; and on appeal from a judgment awarding custody, the parties to whom the custody of the child was given should be joined as appellees.

The appeal may be brought by any person who has been accorded such right by the statute.[98] Under some statutes the parents are entitled to appeal from an order which found them incapable of controlling the child and adjudged the child delinquent,[99] but under a statute allowing an appeal to the child and providing that the right may be demanded on the part of the child by its guardian, parent, or previous custodian, a parent who does not demand the right on the part of the child has no right of appeal.[1] On appeal from a judgment awarding custody of a child, the parties to whom the custody of the child was given should be joined as appellees.[2]

85. Minn.—State v. Zenzen, 227 N.W. 356, 357, 178 Minn. 394, citing Corpus Juris.
R.I.—Givardi v. Juvenile Court of Sixth Judicial Dist., 142 A. 542, 49 R.I. 336.
Wash.—State v. Webster, 211 P. 274, 122 Wash. 526.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 25.

86. Ill.—People v. Piccolo, 114 N.E. 145, 275 Ill. 453.

87. Conn.—Cinque v. Boyd, 121 A. 678, 99 Conn. 70.
Mo.—State v. Woerner, App., 294 S.W. 423.
Okl.—In re Morrison, 54 P.2d 198, 176 Okl. 55.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 27.

88. Mo.—In re Campbell, 19 S.W.2d 752, 323 Mo. 757.
N.M.—Blanchard v. State, 224 P. 1047, 29 N.M. 584.

89. Wis.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 537, 225 Wis. 553.

90. Wis.—In re Willard, supra.

91. Mo.—Ex parte Naccarat, 41 S.W. 2d 176, 328 Mo. 722, 76 A.L.R. 654.

92. La.—State v. Clark, 173 So. 137, 186 La. 655.

93. Wash.—State v. Webster, 211 P. 274, 122 Wash. 526.

94. Mo.—State v. Woerner, App., 294 S.W. 423.
Wis.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 541, 225 Wis. 562—Ogden v. State, 156 N.W. 476, 162 Wis. 500.

95. N.M.—Blanchard v. State, 224 P. 1047, 29 N.M. 584.

96. La.—State v. Nicolosi, 55 So. 475, 128 La. 836.

97. Minn.—State v. Zenzen, 227 N.W. 356, 178 Minn. 394.
Wis.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 537, 225 Wis. 553.

Writ granted where mother was taken by school authorities, with her minor son, before judge of superior court, without service of notice of hearing in proceedings to commit son to state training school, as required by statute, and again by same authorities on next day, after filing of petition for formal hearing, without realizing that trial was to be had which might result in son's being taken from her custody.—State v. Superior Court of Lewis County, 227 P. 849, 130 Wash. 464.

98. Mo.—State v. Calhoun, 211 S.W. 109, 201 Mo.App. 374.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 27 [c].

99. Idaho.—In re Farnsworth, 266 P. 421, 46 Idaho 47.

1. Mo.—State v. Jahnke, 273 S.W. 155, 221 Mo.App. 366.

2. Ind.—Korth v. State, 193 N.E. 673, 100 Ind.App. 368.

(3) Decisions Reviewable

Generally only those orders or decisions which are of a final and determinative nature are appealable.

General rules of appeal and error and the provisions of the applicable statutes determine the decisions which are reviewable. Generally only those orders or decisions which are of a final and determinative nature are appealable.[3] Applying these rules, orders which have been held reviewable or appealable include a judgment ordering a child made a ward of the juvenile court and remanding it to a probation officer,[4] a judgment denying a petition for rehearing in dependency proceedings,[5] a judgment that a child was a dependent and awarding its custody to one parent,[6] and a judgment determining the status of the infant as a neglected child, ordering him made a ward of the court, and further providing for commitment to be made later.[7] Under a statute authorizing an appeal from a final order of commitment, an order finding that a child was neglected and dependent and committing the child to the custody of a named person subject to the further order of the court is a final appealable order, since the word "final" as used in the statute does not contemplate the last order of commitment that might or could be made, and the word "commitment" does not apply solely to the commitment of delinquent children but applies equally to the commitment of dependent and neglected children.[8]

(4) Appellate Jurisdiction

A proceeding to review a determination in a proceeding to commit a juvenile delinquent or dependent can be taken to, and heard and determined by, only a court possessing the requisite jurisdiction.

An appeal or other proceeding to review a determination in a proceeding to commit a juvenile delinquent or dependent can be taken to, and heard and determined by, only a court possessing the requisite appellate jurisdiction.[9] Under the judicial system of some states the appeal is taken to an intermediate appellate court,[10] such as the court of common pleas[11] or circuit court.[12] Under a statute authorizing appeals from the juvenile court to the circuit court, or, if the circuit judge is judge of the juvenile court, directly to the supreme court, the latter court will take judicial notice that in a particular county the circuit judge is not the juvenile judge as respects the right to appeal directly to the supreme court.[13]

(5) Objections and Exceptions

Where the trial on appeal is not de novo, questions not sufficiently raised and preserved in the trial court by proper objections and exceptions will not be reviewed.

Where the trial on appeal is not de novo, the court will usually not review or consider points or questions which have not been sufficiently raised and preserved in the trial court by proper objections and exceptions.[14]

(6) Perfection of Appeal

The appellate proceeding should be taken and perfected in the time and manner prescribed in the governing statute.

The appellate proceedings should be taken and perfected in the time[15] and manner[16] prescribed in the governing statute. The time for appeal begins to run from the rendition of the judgment, and not from the time the order book entry was signed by the judge.[17] Where one adjudged a delinquent fails to appeal within the statutory time, it will be assumed that he waived his right of appeal even though he has not been notified of such right.[18] Error of the juvenile court in disallowing an appeal from a final judgment determining the status of a neglected child does not nullify the judgment or oust the juvenile court of all jurisdiction of the case.[19]

(7) Supersedeas

An appeal acts as supersedeas only when it is allowed; and an appeal with supersedeas from a judgment finding possession of a child in another does not change the possession to appellant.

3. Kan.—State ex rel. Hedrick Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. of Hartford, Conn., 114 P.2d 812, 154 Kan. 79.
4. Mo.—In re Campbell, 19 S.W.2d 752, 323 Mo. 757.
5. Colo.—Jones v. Wheeler, 105 P.2d 848, 106 Colo. 378.
6. Ohio.—In re Anteau, 36 N.E.2d 47, 67 Ohio App. 117.
7. Mo.—In re Campbell, 19 S.W.2d 752, 323 Mo. 757.
8. Kan.—State ex rel. Hedrick Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. of Hartford, Conn., 114 P.2d 812, 154 Kan. 79.
9. Wis.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 541, 225 Wis. 562.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 27 [a].
10. Conn.—Cinque v. Boyd, 121 A. 678, 99 Conn. 70.
11. Conn.—Cinque v. Boyd, supra.
12. Wis.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 541, 225 Wis. 562.
13. Wis.—In re Willard, supra.
14. Va.—Brown v. Commonwealth, 132 S.E. 332, 144 Va. 676.
Wash.—In re Williams' Welfare, 117 P.2d 202, 10 Wash.2d 542.
15. Mass.—Sylvester v. Commonwealth, 148 N.E. 449, 253 Mass. 244.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 27 [b].
16. Mo.—State v. Jahnke, 273 S.W. 155, 221 Mo.App. 366.
17. Ind.—State ex rel. Bernard v. Geckler, 189 N.E. 842, 98 Ind.App. 436.
18. Mass.—Sylvester v. Commonwealth, 148 N.E. 449, 253 Mass. 244.
19. Mo.—In re Campbell, 19 S.W.2d 752, 323 Mo. 757.

An appeal from a final judgment of delinquency or dependency or final order of commitment acts as supersedeas only when the appeal is allowed.[20] An appeal with supersedeas from a judgment finding possession of a child in another does not change the possession to the appellant, the only result of the supersedeas being to leave the status and possession of the child where it was.[21]

(8) Record

The settlement of the record must comply with the applicable statutes, rules of court, or practice of the particular jurisdiction.

The settlement of the record must comply with the applicable statutes, rules of court, or practice of the particular jurisdiction to enable the appellate court to review the alleged errors complained of;[22] and under some statutes when the right to review on the facts is given, the evidence should be reduced to writing[23] or made a matter of record.[24]

(9) Assignment of Errors

When required by statute or rule of court, an assignment of errors or statement of the grounds or reasons for the appeal is necessary.

When required by statute or rule of court, appellant must make and file a proper and sufficient assignment of errors or statement of the grounds or reasons for the appeal,[25] and a statute dispensing with assignments of errors in criminal cases has been held inapplicable to proceedings to commit a juvenile delinquent.[26] Under some statutes the only assignment of error permitted is that the decision of the court is contrary to law,[27] and where this is the rule, an assignment that the juvenile court did not have jurisdiction of the person of appellant, that the court erred in overruling appellant's motion for new trial, and that the court did not have jurisdiction of the subject matter of the action, presents no question to the appellate court.[28]

(10) Proceedings on Appeal

Under statutes so providing, the proceedings in the appellate court take the form of a trial de novo, either with or without a jury, according to the rights of the parties.

Under statutes so providing, the proceedings in the appellate court take the form of a trial de novo,[29] either with or without a jury, according to the rights of the parties.[30] An infant adjudged a delinquent in juvenile court is not entitled to a jury trial on appeal to the county circuit court where the statute does not provide it, nor has the court authority to grant it.[31] Under some statutes the appellate court in a dependency case has no broader jurisdiction than the juvenile court, and must try the case de novo;[32] and in such case the appellate court is in effect constituted a juvenile court in cases within its jurisdiction on appeal, and has power to modify the order of the juvenile court from which the appeal is taken,[33] and, on their failure to comply with such modified order, can properly find that the parents of the dependent child were in contempt of court and that the condition of the performance bond required by the juvenile court was broken, and can declare a forfeiture.[34]

(11) Dismissal or Withdrawal

An appeal from a judgment awarding custody of a child or committing a delinquent child may be dismissed or withdrawn if ground therefor appears or if requested by appellant.

An appeal from a judgment awarding custody of a child will be dismissed where it was taken by a person unauthorized to appeal,[35] or where the state was named as sole appellee without joining as appellees the parties to whom custody of the child was given.[36] So an appeal in delinquency proceedings will be dismissed where the case became moot because the adjudged delinquent became of age prior to disposition of the case on appeal,[37] where the original charge against the minor has been withdrawn,[38] where an appeal bond or recognizance was

20. Mo.—In re Campbell, 19 S.W.2d 752, 323 Mo. 757.

21. Mo.—State ex rel. Washer v. Porterfield, App., 258 S.W. 722.

22. Cal.—In re Fowler, 141 P. 1053, 24 Cal.App. 529.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 27 [e].

Time for filing bill of exceptions
Under the controlling statute, it was held that the court could not extend time for filing bills of exception more than ninety days from notice of infant's appeal from conviction of delinquency.—Bradshaw v. State, 6 S.W.2d 230, 110 Tex.Cr. 216.

23. N.Y.—People v. Gyles, 46 N.E. 326, 152 N.Y. 136, reversing 42 N.Y.S. 749, 12 App.Div. 495.

Pa.—Commonwealth v. Mountain, 82 Pa.Super. 523.

24. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Mountain, supra.

25. Ala.—Hymes v. State, 95 So. 383, 209 Ala. 91.

26. Ala.—Hymes v. State, supra.

27. Ind.—In re State ex rel. Wynn, 48 N.E.2d 63, 113 Ind.App. 360.

28. Ind.—In re State ex rel. Wynn, supra.

29. Conn.—Cinque v. Boyd, 121 A. 678, 99 Conn. 70.

30. Conn.—Cinque v. Boyd, supra.

31. Ala.—Prince v. State, 98 So. 320, 19 Ala.App. 495.

32. Kan.—Hollis v. Brownell, 284 P. 388, 129 Kan. 818.

33. Kan.—State ex rel. Hedrick Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. of Hartford, Conn., 114 P.2d 812, 154 Kan. 79.

34. Kan.—State ex rel. Hedrick v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. of Hartford, Conn., supra.

35. Mo.—State v. Jahnke, 273 S.W. 155, 221 Mo.App. 366.

36. Ind.—Korth v. State, 193 N.E. 673, 100 Ind.App. 368.

37. Mo.—State v. Witt, 67 S.W.2d 817, 228 Mo.App. 432.

38. Ala.—Williamson v. State, 4 So. 2d 734, 242 Ala. 42.

not filed, as required by statute,[39] or where the dismissal is requested by appellant.[40] An appeal taken by the infant's parent in his behalf may be withdrawn by the infant without the consent of the parent.[41]

(12) Scope and Extent of Review

On review of proceedings for the commitment of a delinquent or dependent child, presumptions of regularity will be indulged, and the court will consider only such matters as are properly presented by the record. In the absence of abuse of discretion, discretionary orders will not be disturbed, nor will a judgment be disturbed on account of harmless or invited error. Questions of fact may be reviewed in a proper case if the procedure is authorized by statute.

In the absence of a showing to the contrary, it will be presumed that the actions of the lower court in a proceeding for the commitment of a delinquent or dependent child were legal and regular in all respects,[42] and that the court acted with the welfare of the child in mind.[43] At least where the proceedings are not in the form of a trial de novo, the appellate court will consider and review only such matters as are properly contained in, and presented by, the record,[44] and cannot consider errors presented in a bill of exceptions filed subsequent to the taking of the appeal[45] or to the time granted by the trial court.[46] The denial of a motion for continuance not brought forward by a bill of exception is not preserved by an order entered on the minutes reciting the presentment of the motion.[47] A judgment awarding the custody of a child will not be disturbed in the absence of a complete statement of facts.[48] In determining whether the court proceeded without jurisdiction the entire judgment roll must be looked to.[49] Orders discretionary with the juvenile court will not be disturbed in the absence of an abuse of discretion;[50] and the appellate court will not review or reverse on account of errors or matters which have been invited, induced, or consented to, by the party complaining,[51] or errors of a harmless or nonprejudicial nature.[52]

Under some statutes the appeal is allowed on questions of law only,[53] and not on questions of fact.[54] Under other statutes the appellate court is not bound by the juvenile court's findings on disputed evidence and may read the entire record to determine where the evidence preponderates.[55] As a general rule, however, the weight of the testimony[56] and the credibility of the witnesses[57] are matters for the trial court which will not be disturbed on review. Thus where the order is based on conflicting evidence,[58] or the jury's verdict is reasonably supported by evidence offered on the material issues,[59] it will not be disturbed. It has been held, however, that the judgment or order may be reversed in the absence of sufficient evidence to sustain it.[60] If the evidence is not reduced to writing or made a matter of record, the appellate court has nothing before it but consideration of the order of the court and cannot consider the action below on its merits;[61] but the failure to reduce the evidence to writing is no ground for reversal where the affidavit of appeal is insufficient to show that a review on the facts is desired.[62] On appeal it must be pre-

39. Tex.—Reyes v. State, Cr., 174 S.W.2d 323.

40. Tex.—Green v. State, Cr., 112 S.W.2d 451.

41. Mass.—Robinson v. Commonwealth, 136 N.E. 241, 242 Mass. 401.

42. Cal.—In re Pierce, 16 P.2d 765, 127 Cal.App. 773.
N.Y.—People v. Sullivan, 200 N.Y.S. 214, 120 Misc. 618.

Acquisition of jurisdiction
The appellate court is required to assume that the juvenile court made such inquiry as in its judgment was practicable and as a result thereof was satisfied that jurisdiction ought to be acquired.—Akers v. State, Ind.App., 51 N.E.2d 91.

43. Mo.—State v. Wickliff, App., 114 S.W.2d 158.

44. Tex.—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.
31 C.J. p 1109 note 27 [f].

45. Mo.—State v. Campbell, 32 S.W.2d 69, 325 Mo. 561.

46. Tex.—Bradshaw v. State, 6 S.W.2d 230, 110 Tex.Cr. 216.

47. Tex.—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.

48. Tex.—Whatley v. Nelson, Civ.App., 86 S.W.2d 517.

49. Mo.—Ex parte Schrier, 41 S.W.2d 178, 328 Mo. 726.

50. Ohio.—In re Anteau, 36 N.E.2d 47, 67 Ohio App. 117.

51. Wash.—In re Williams' Welfare, 117 P.2d 202, 10 Wash.2d 542.

52. Wash.—In re Williams' Welfare, supra.

Failure to give timely notice
A judgment finding that a child was a neglected child within statute was not reversible for failure to give twenty-four hour notice of hearing on information, where judgment showed that all parties of interest were in court and no objections were made to proceeding to hearing.—State v. Wickliff, Mo.App., 114 S.W.2d 158.

53. La.—State v. Dunn, 73 So. 240, 140 La. 385.

Tex.—Ex parte Brooks, 211 S.W. 592, 85 Tex.Cr. 252.

54. La.—State v. Dunn, 73 So. 240, 140 La. 385.

55. Cal.—In re De Vore, 221 P. 706, 64 Cal.App. 347.

56. Cal.—In re Stein, 260 P. 566, 86 Cal.App. 226.
Mo.—State v. Wickliff, App., 114 S.W.2d 158.

57. Cal.—In re Stein, 260 P. 566, 86 Cal.App. 226—In re Cannon, 150 P. 794, 27 Cal.App. 549.

58. Colo.—Hudson v. Mattingley, 195 P. 113, 69 Colo. 528.

59. Okl.—In re Reed, 117 P.2d 503, 189 Okl. 389.

60. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Carnes, 32 Pa.Super. 335.
Tex.—Miller v. State, 200 S.W. 389, 82 Tex.Cr. 495.

61. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Mountain, 32 Pa.Super. 523.

62. N.Y.—People v. Gyles, 46 N.E. 326, 152 N.Y. 136, reversing 42 N.Y.S. 749, 12 App.Div. 495.

sumed that the evidence justified the order where the evidence on which the lower court acted is not presented to the appellate court.[63] Where a finding is unsupported by evidence in the record, it cannot be contended on appeal that a stipulation that the court could examine the minor alone showed that the finding was supported by evidence outside the record, the judge having certified that the reporter's transcript contained all testimony taken.[64]

Under a statute providing that no judgment shall be reversed except as the finding of facts or evidence to sustain the same shall be found by the appellate court to be insufficient,[65] an assignment that the decision is contrary to law presents both the sufficiency of the facts found and the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain the finding,[66] but the court is not authorized to consider a question raised by assignment that the juvenile court erred in overruling defendant's motion to vacate a judgment finding him guilty of being a delinquent or to reverse a juvenile court judgment on the ground that defendant did not plead to the charge, that the trial court ignored legislative directions as to a preliminary investigation and notice of trial, that defendant was not properly advised of his constitutional rights to counsel or trial by jury where the undisputed facts were such that the service of counsel and trial by jury could not justifiably result in other than a finding of guilt, and that the purpose of the Juvenile Act was frustrated. So where the corrective remedy the juvenile court chose out of the several provided by the statute was within its exclusive province, its judgment in that regard is beyond the reach of the appellate court, and the fact that any one of several other judgments less drastic than the one pronounced would have been proper is no concern of the appellate court.[67]

In certiorari to review delinquency proceedings, the only questions reviewable are the alleged illegal acts or want of jurisdiction.[68]

(13) Determination and Disposition of Cause

As required by the circumstances of the case, the judgment or decree may be affirmed, reversed, or modified; but a determination that a child was neglected will not be made on the record where the lower court failed to make such finding.

A decree will be affirmed on appeal where no errors are assigned by appellant.[69] On affirming a judgment of commitment the appellate court may authorize the juvenile court to make further investigation and such final disposition of the case as in the judgment of the court will bring about the minor's reformation.[70] An order on appeal in proceedings sustaining the jurisdiction of the juvenile court determines only that under the facts the juvenile court had jurisdiction over the minor, and does not confer on the juvenile court any jurisdiction over the minor.[71]

If the record discloses substantial and prejudicial error in the lower court, the judgment should be reversed.[72] Thus it has been held ground for reversal that the court made an order of committal without evidence to support it,[73] or failed to grant a jury trial on proper demand therefor,[74] or failed to make findings of fact,[75] or erroneously tried the infant together with others over objection and exception of his attorney,[76] or rendered the decree without a note of testimony required by court rule.[77]

In a proper case the court may modify the judgment before it, for example, with respect to the place of confinement of a juvenile delinquent.[78]

Determination that the child was neglected will not be made on the record by the appellate court where the lower court failed to make such a finding.[79]

k. Costs

In the absence of statute the county is not liable for costs.

In the absence of statute the county is not liable for the costs of the proceedings.[80]

63. Cal.—In re Cannon, 150 P. 794, 27 Cal.App. 549.
Iowa.—In re East Minors, 122 N.W. 153, 143 Iowa 370.

64. Cal.—In re People on Behalf of Bullock, 34 P.2d 769, 139 Cal.App. 664.

65. Purpose of legislature in restricting the appellate court's powers to review juvenile court judgments was that in the event the evidence supports the ultimate fact of guilt and the judgment was such as the court had power to render, nothing else should matter.—Akers v. State, Ind.App., 51 N.E.2d 91.

66. Ind.—Heber v. Drake, 118 N.E. 864, 68 Ind.App. 448.

67. Ind.—Akers v. State, App., 51 N.E.2d 91.

68. Iowa.—Wissenberg v. Bradley, 229 N.W. 205, 209 Iowa 813, 67 A.L.R. 1075.

69. Ala.—Hymes v. State, 95 So. 383, 209 Ala. 91.

70. Neb.—Laurie v. State, 188 N.W. 110, 108 Neb. 239.

71. Cal.—Ex parte Edwards, 284 P. 916, 208 Cal. 725.

72. N.Y.—People v. Harris, 230 N.Y.S. 767, 132 Misc. 741.

73. Miss.—Holden v. Smith, 100 So. 27, 135 Miss. 322.

74. Colo.—Kahm v. People, 264 P. 718, 83 Colo. 300.

75. Cal.—In re Hill, 247 P. 591, 78 Cal.App. 23.

76. N.Y.—People v. Harris, 230 N.Y.S. 767, 132 Misc. 741.

77. Ala.—Martin v. State, 97 So. 57, 210 Ala. 44—Hymes v. State, 95 So. 383, 209 Ala. 91.

78. Tex.—Stewart v. State, 8 S.W.2d 140, 110 Tex.Cr. 145.

79. N.Y.—In re Cole, 208 N.Y.S. 753, 212 App.Div. 427.

80. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Watts, 21 Pa.Co. 556.
Wash.—Pierce County v. Magnuson, 127 P. 302, 70 Wash. 639, Ann.Cas. 1914B 889.

§ 109. —— Disposition of Child

a. In general
b. Period of detention
c. Place of confinement

a. In General

In the absence of a statute to the contrary, the court in disposing of an infant found to be delinquent or dependent may make such orders as it may deem best for the interest of the child.

Unless the matter is otherwise controlled by statute,[81] the disposition to be made of the child is, as a rule, largely within the discretion of the court[82] which may make such orders as it may deem best for the interest of the child.[83] If the evidence warrants such an order, the court may declare a ward free from the custody and control of his or her parents;[84] but ordinarily this should be done only on a clear showing that the family environment is defective and that the state can plainly better the child by a change of custody and control,[85] and only where there has been a strict compliance with statutory procedure.[86] The court may place the child on probation.[87] It may also allow

81. Cal.—In re Hulbert, 11 P.2d 50, 123 Cal.App. 362.
N.Y.—People v. Rosenkrantz, 205 N.Y.S. 861, 128 Misc. 335.

Child past reformation
Where a juvenile court finds that a delinquent child is past reformation, the law, and not the court, says what becomes of the delinquent.—Macon v. Holloway, 96 So. 933, 19 Ala.App. 234, certiorari denied Ex parte Macon, 96 So. 936, 209 Ala. 580.

State board of public welfare
Under some statutes the juvenile courts may only adjudge a child a delinquent, if such is the case, and commit him to the state board of public welfare, which is given power to make proper disposition of the child.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

82. Cal.—Ex parte McDermott, 246 P. 89, 77 Cal.App. 109.
Tex.—Reyes v. State, Cr., 174 S.W. 2d 323.
31 C.J. p 1110 note 42.

Discretion held not abused
Ala.—Ellis v. Jones, 93 So. 832, 208 Ala. 45.
La.—In re Caronna, 2 So.2d 1, 197 La. 494.
Tex.—Whatley v. Nelson, Civ.App., 86 S.W.2d 517.

Nature of commitment, and the place of commitment, within the statutory limitations, are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the juvenile court.—Huff v. O'Bryant, 121 F.2d 890, 74 App.D.C. 19.

To commit or prosecute
The juvenile court after assuming jurisdiction of delinquent child had authority to commit child who was almost eighteen years of age to state industrial school or to direct prosecution on charge of misdemeanor in quarter sessions, but could not do both.—In re Trignani, 28 A.2d 702, 150 Pa.Super. 491.

Traffic violations
Proper action in case of infant convicted of delinquency because of traffic violations was to deprive him of license to drive automobile for sufficient time for him to realize necessity of observing traffic ordinances.—State v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 245 P. 409, 139 Wash. 1, 45 A.L.R. 1530.

83. Cal.—Ex parte Edwards, 284 P. 916, 208 Cal. 725.
Iowa.—State v. Franks, 192 N.W. 815.
Mo.—In re Campbell, 19 S.W.2d 752, 323 Mo. 757.
Ohio.—In re Veselich, 154 N.E. 55, 22 Ohio App. 528.
Tex.—Whatley v. Nelson, Civ.App., 86 S.W.2d 517.
Vt.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224.
Wash.—In re Williams' Welfare, 117 P.2d 202, 10 Wash.2d 542.
31 C.J. p 1110 note 43.
"The welfare and best interest of the child must govern, guide, and control the court in determining the custody, care, control, supervision, etc., of the child."—Ellis v. Jones, 93 So. 832, 208 Ala. 45.

84. N.Y.—In re Joffe, 33 N.Y.S.2d 481.
Parents' general right to custody of child, see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 9, also 46 C.J. p 1223 note 69–p 1224 note 74.
State's rights as parens patriæ, see the C.J.S. title Parent and Child § 10, also 46 C.J. p 1222 note 59–p 1223 note 67.

Communication with adoptive parents
In proceeding under neglected and dependent children's act, order for temporary care and custody of children, restricting their communication with their parents by adoption is not abuse of discretion.—Blanchard v. State, 238 P. 1004, 30 N.M. 459.

Pending such order, the parents are entitled to the custody of the minor.—Ex parte Edwards, 284 P. 916, 208 Cal. 725.

Under its general power as parens patriæ, the state has the right within reasonable limits to deprive children of their liberty, and their parents of their custody.—Garner v. Wood, 4 S.E.2d 137, 188 Ga. 463.

85. N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.
N.Y.—In re Cole, 208 N.Y.S. 753, 212 App.Div. 427.
Wash.—State ex rel. Helwig v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 29 P.2d 930, 176 Wash. 478.

Opportunity to effect reformation
(1) Juvenile delinquent cannot be committed to state industrial school if parents are generally fit to have his custody, unless unable to control him, and where the parents were ignorant of child's wrongdoing, they should be given opportunity to effect reformation before being deprived of custody.—In re State, in Interest of Bennett, 293 P. 963, 77 Utah 247.

(2) Under statute stating that no dependent or delinquent child shall be taken from the custody of its parent or legal guardian without consent unless the court finds that the parent or guardian is incapable or has failed or neglected to provide for child properly, or unless child has been tried on probation in that custody and has failed to reform, or unless the court finds that welfare of child requires that his custody be taken from the parent or guardian, a finding that any one of those conditions exists is a sufficient basis for a change of custody.—In re Williams' Welfare, 117 P.2d 202, 10 Wash.2d 542.

(3) The provision of the law, as to failure to reform, has reference to acts committed or conduct persisted in by the child itself, and not to circumstances, conditions, and surroundings over which the child has no control or for the existence of which it has not been responsible. —In re Williams' Welfare, supra.

86. Cal.—Ex parte Edwards, 284 P. 916, 208 Cal. 725.

87. Mo.—State ex rel. Shartel v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37, 333 Mo. 888 —State v. Johnson, App., 174 S.W. 2d 139.
31 C.J. p 1110 note 44.

Imposition of terms
(1) In placing a juvenile on proba-

the child to remain at its home with its parents,[88] subject to visitation by a probate officer or other person designated by the court;[89] it may place the child in the custody of one of its parents,[90] or it may place the child in the care or custody of any other proper person,[91] in some suitable home.[92]

A child placed on probation,[93] or committed to the care of a private person,[94] is not considered as discharged by the court, but is still amenable to the law, and the probation may be terminated at any time by the court.[95] Also, under some statutes, the jurisdiction of a juvenile court over the infant continues until he reaches majority,[96] notwithstanding the expiration of the period during which he was committed to a home;[97] but such a statute does not mean that the jurisdiction of the court must continue until the infant reaches majority regardless of the circumstances of the particular case,[98] and under some statutes jurisdiction over a ward continues until he reaches majority or until the court is sat-tion, a court may impose such terms as will bring home to the minor a realization of the seriousness of his delinquency.—In re Trignani, 24 A.2d 743, 148 Pa.Super. 142.

(2) The terms imposed, however, must be wholly in the interest of the child, looking toward his reformation and not to make good the damages flowing from his illegal act.—In re Trignani, supra.

(3) Accordingly, where the infant violated terms imposed that he make restitution to the injured person, the court was without authority to commit him to the county prison.—In re Trignani, supra.

Last year of minority

Under some statutes a wayward minor may not be placed on probation during any part of the last year of his or her minority.—People v. Harris, 230 N.Y.S. 767, 132 Misc. 741.

In California

(1) Under Juvenile Ct.L. § 8, as amended by St.1933, p 2209, the court may make an order committing a ward on probation to the care of the probation officer.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487.

(2) It was formerly held that no authority was vested in either the juvenile court or the superior court to place a minor on probation.—In re Hulbert, 11 P.2d 50, 123 Cal.App. 362.

88. La.—State v. Ragan, 51 So. 89, 125 La. 121.
Mich.—In re Broughton, 158 N.W. 884, 192 Mich. 618.

89. Tex.—Ex parte McDowell, 172 S.W. 213, 76 Tex.Cr. 1.

90. Motion by father to modify previous judgment awarding custody of child to mother, although not expressly alleging that movant is fit person, was sufficient, where such fact appeared by reasonable intendment.—In re Von Talge, Mo.App., 67 S.W.2d 999.

Production of child

Under order directing that mother be given opportunity to visit with her son in presence of an officer of the court, it was the duty of the father having custody of the child to produce child in court when ordered to do so.—State ex rel. Cole v. Cole, 73 P.2d 384, 151 Or. 560.

91. Ala.—Ellis v. Jones, 93 So. 832, 208 Ala. 45.
La.—State v. Tomasella, 7 So.2d 615, 200 La. 60.
N.Y.—In re Joffe, 33 N.Y.S.2d 481.
Tex.—Ex parte McDowell, 172 S.W. 213, 76 Tex.Cr. 1.

Bond

Under a statute providing that the custody of a child found neglected and dependent may be committed to some suitable person subject to such conditions as may be imposed by the court, a bond required of a nonresident to whom the custody of such a child is awarded is not void, nor is the bond unsupported by a consideration.—State ex rel. Hedrick v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. of Hartford, Conn., 114 P.2d 812, 154 Kan. 79.

92. La.—State v. Ragan, 51 So. 89, 125 La. 121.
Tex.—Ex parte McDowell, 172 S.W. 213, 76 Tex.Cr. 1.

Determination of suitable home

Statute authorizing juvenile court to commit ward to home and care of some reputable person of good moral character or to the care of some association, society, or corporation engaged in business of caring for or obtaining homes for such persons does not authorize probation officer to determine fitness of home or place to which court may commit ward, since such question is for juvenile court after proper investigation.—In re Spiers, 59 P.2d 838, 15 Cal.App.2d 487.

Right of parent

Where, in a proper proceeding, children were taken from the custody of their parents because of neglect and ill treatment and placed with an institution which found homes for them, the parents after a lapse of several years could not, in an action in equity, compel such institution, in violation of its rules, to disclose the whereabouts of the children so located, in order that the parents might communicate with them.—Lieske v. Iowa Children's Home Soc., 194 N.W. 239, 196 Iowa 143.

93. Pa.—In re Juvenile Ct., 17 Pa. Dist. 207.

94. Subject to further orders

Commitment of juvenile delinquent to private person must be subject to court's further orders.—Harris v. State, 129 So. 795, 24 Ala.App. 59.

95. Pa.—In re Juvenile Ct., 17 Pa. Dist. 207.

96. Mo.—Ex parte Naccarat, 41 S.W.2d 176, 328 Mo. 722, 76 A.L.R. 654.

Compelling support

County court in proceeding under juvenile act retains jurisdiction of child and may compel its parents to support it.—State v. Campbell, 32 S.W.2d 69, 325 Mo. 561.

Statute construed

Rev.St.1919 § 2591, not changed in the amendment of 1923 p 153, providing that juvenile court's jurisdiction, over a person of a child for the purpose of the statute shall continue until its majority, merely confers power on courts of otherwise general jurisdiction to take neglected and delinquent children from their parents and commit them to care and custody of state for purpose of their reformation.—State ex rel. Menth v. Porterfield, Mo., 264 S.W. 386.

Unless sooner discharged

From the time when the juvenile court determines that a child comes within the classes specified in statute relating to delinquent children, such child becomes a "ward" of the court and so remains during the remainder of his minority unless sooner discharged.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224.

97. Mo.—State ex rel. Corella v. Pence, 262 S.W. 360, 303 Mo. 598.

98. Term limited

Where court in assuming jurisdiction of a delinquent minor limited term of its wardship to four years, his commitment being stayed during good behavior leaving his actual supervision to his father, court's action constituted a judgment, and its jurisdiction over delinquent minor ceased with expiration of time fixed by judgment.—State ex rel. Menth v. Porterfield, Mo., 264 S.W. 386.

isfied that further supervision is unnecessary or inadvisable.[99]

Religious education. In determining the religious education to be given children who have been found to be neglected, no interests are entitled to consideration except those of the parents and children.[1] Where the parents disagree as to the religious education to be given the wards, the court must consider whether there was an admission of the child to any church, whether there was an antenuptial agreement relating to religious education, whether the child's admission to a church was with the knowledge and consent of both parents, the extent to which the child has received any form of religious education, whether the child has reached years of discretion and, if so, what preference the child feels, and in which religious environment the particular child is most likely to develop fully and happily.[2] The welfare of the children outweighs the legal rights of either parent in this respect.[3]

Modification of order. While under some statutes the order placing a child in the custody of a person, society, or institution terminates the court's guardianship and jurisdiction, and thereafter exclusive jurisdiction on the premises is given to particular boards,[4] which the legislature has a power to do,[5] ordinarily the court may change or modify its order at any time;[6] and it may make a provisional commitment retaining the right to change or modify its judgment at any time during the provisional term.[7] In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, the jurisdiction of the court continues for all the purposes of the statute until the child has attained his majority.[8]

A modification or change of the order as to the custody of the ward involves purely a matter of discretion,[9] and, in the absence of a statute to the contrary,[10] no trial or hearing is involved.[11]

Suspension of order of commitment. The court may suspend the execution of its order of commitment during the good behavior of the delinquent child.[12] It has been held that a delinquent child, proceeded against for the first time, is entitled to the benefit of the Suspended Sentence Law.[13]

99. Cal.—People v. Sanchez, 132 P. 2d 810, 21 Cal.2d 466, prior opinion, App., 126 P.2d 137.

1. N.Y.—In re Vardinakis, 289 N.Y. S. 355, 160 Misc. 13.

2. Catholic and Mohammedan parents

Three young children of Catholic mother and Mohammedan father of whom two had been inducted into Mohammedan faith against wishes of mother and third had never been formally admitted to any church, and all of whom had been committed to care of court on petition of mother as neglected children would be placed in Protestant foster home under supervision of court with provision that there should be no religious instruction given them by foster parents and that oldest child who had indicated preference for mother and Catholic religion should be permitted to accompany mother to Catholic church and that father should be permitted to take two younger children to Mohammedan church.—In re Vardinakis, 289 N.Y.S. 355, 160 Misc. 13.

Positive choice of religion by an intelligent child of thirteen or fourteen must be seriously considered, but children who are but nine and five are too young to be seriously concerned with religious education.—In re Vardinakis, supra.

3. N.Y.—In re Vardinakis, supra.

4. Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.
Wash.—State v. Superior Court of King County, 210 P. 674, 122 Wash. 407.
Wis.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 537, 225 Wis. 553.
31 C.J. p 1110 notes 54, 55.

5. N.J.—Ex parte Newkosky, Sup., 116 A. 716, 94 N.J.Law 314.

6. Cal.—People v. Sanchez, 132 P.2d 810, 21 Cal.2d 466, prior opinion, App., 126 P.2d 137—In re Spiers, 89 P.2d 456, 32 Cal.App.2d 124—In re Stein, 260 P. 566, 86 Cal.App. 226—People v. De Fehr, 254 P. 588, 81 Cal.App. 562—Ex parte McDermott, 246 P. 89, 77 Cal.App. 109.
Fla.—In re Whetstone, 188 So. 576, 137 Fla. 712.
N.H.—State v. Lefebvre, 20 A.2d 185, 91 N.H. 382.
Or.—In re Baker, 54 P.2d 309, 152 Or. 574.
Vt.—In re Gomez, 32 A.2d 138, 113 Vt. 224.
31 C.J. p 1110 note 57.

Commitment to state school

Juvenile court finding minor delinquent and declaring her ward of state, but leaving her in custody of her parents until further order of court, had jurisdiction, on minor's further delinquency, to order minor's commitment to state training school.—Glass v. State, 163 So. 819, 26 Ala.App. 570.

7. Cal.—In re Johnson, 171 P. 1074, 36 Cal.App. 319.

8. Tenn.—Sams v. State, 180 S.W. 173, 133 Tenn. 188—State v. Griffin, 7 Tenn.Civ.A. 230.

9. Cal.—In re Spiers, 89 P.2d 456, 32 Cal.App.2d 124.

10. Retransfer of case

Juvenile court committing juvenile delinquent to care of private person cannot retransfer case to circuit court until juvenile court is convinced delinquent cannot be disciplined. The juvenile court could not retransfer case to circuit court on mere suggestion of circuit court that it would try case if delinquent should be recommitted, since after the juvenile court has assumed jurisdiction and made a disposition of the delinquent, its future orders regarding him must be based on facts arising after commitment.—Harris v. State, 129 So. 795, 24 Ala. App. 59.

11. Interview with attorney

No occasion or necessity exists, under such circumstances, for the advice of an attorney with relation thereto.—Ex parte McDermott, 246 P. 89, 77 Cal.App. 109.

Notice

Mother having received notice in original dependency proceeding, juvenile court acquired continuing jurisdiction and could enter judgment permanently committing infant to children's home without notice to mother.—Ex parte Cunningham, 160 N.E. 733, 27 Ohio App. 306.

12. Me.—O'Malia v. Wentworth, 65 Me. 129.
Suspension of execution of sentence generally see Criminal Law § 1618.

13. Tex.—Ex parte Gordon, 232 S. W. 520, 89 Tex.Cr. 125—Hogue v. State, 230 S.W. 94, 87 Tex.Cr. 176.

b. Period of Detention

The duration of the custody or commitment of an infant found delinquent or dependent ordinarily is within the discretion of the court.

The duration of the custody or commitment ordinarily is within the discretion of the court.[14] However, in some jurisdictions, where a child is entitled to a jury trial, in prosecutions for delinquency, the extent of the punishment is exclusively within the province of the jury, and the court is without authority to fix it.[15] The period of commitment or detention often is regulated by statute,[16] and, in such case, it must comply with that designated.[17] Ordinarily it lasts until the child has obtained his majority,[18] and this is so, even though the power of the court to commit was limited to children under certain age and the child in question has passed that age.[19] Under some statutes a female minor may be detained until she becomes twenty-one years of age, although she attained her majority at eighteen.[20]

Discharge from custody. Where there is evidence of reformation, no longer requiring the child to remain under commitment as a subject of the jurisdiction of the court, he may be discharged.[21] The application for such discharge may be by motion or petition.[22]

Under some statutes a juvenile committed to an institution for delinquent infants must seek release through the executive board of such institution, the courts having no jurisdiction in the matter.[23] Under such statutes the authorities of the institution wherein the child is committed may, on a showing sufficient to justify his discharge, discharge him; and it has been held that, where the authorities have acted in discharging the child, the court committing him has no further jurisdiction, although the order of commitment was provisional.[24] Under other statutes, however, the court, of its own motion, may discharge the infant without the recommendation of the board of the institution.[25]

Restoration of child to parents. An adjudication committing a child because of the neglect or failure of the parent to provide for it does not deprive the parent of his right to the custody of the child if he subsequently becomes competent and willing to care for it properly,[26] and in such case the court, in the exercise of its general equitable power, may restore the child to the custody of its parent,[27] even

14. D.C.—Huff v. O'Bryant, 121 F. 2d 890, 74 App.D.C. 19.
31 C.J. p 1111 note 60.

In Wisconsin the juvenile court does not have jurisdiction to fix the term of a commitment to the Wisconsin industrial school for girls.—In re Willard, 275 N.W. 537, 225 Wis. 553.

15. Tex.—Gebhardt v. State, 218 S. W. 1047, 87 Tex.Cr. 25.

16. Tex.—Ex parte Bartee, 174 S.W. 1051, 76 Tex.Cr. 285.
31 C.J. p 1111 note 65.

17. Tex.—Ex parte Brooks, 211 S.W. 592, 85 Tex.Cr. 252.
31 C.J. p 1111 note 66.

18. N.D.—State v. McClelland, 226 N.W. 540, 58 N.D. 365.
Tex.—Uwanich v. State, 101 S.W.2d 567, 131 Tex.Cr. 623.
31 C.J. p 1111 note 67.

Escape

Where the infant was sentenced to a correctional institution "until he reaches twenty-one years of age," although the time of expiration of such sentence might have been ascertained and stated, the sentence was not void, and an escape from the institution before he reached twenty-one years of age constituted a violation of the statute.—Aderhold v. Soileau, C.C.A.Ga., 67 F.2d 259.

Indefinite term

(1) Under some statutes, the juvenile court may commit an infant for an indefinite term, since, under the law, any commitment will terminate by operation of law when the infant reaches majority.—Ex parte Naccarat, 41 S.W.2d 176, 328 Mo. 722, 76 A.L.R. 654.

(2) Under a statute permitting courts to commit delinquents for "terms not exceeding the minority" of such infants, a sentence "until further order of the court" is unauthorized.—Robinson v. State, 287 P. 288, 34 N.M. 557.

Nineteen years

Where a statute frees any child placed under guardianship of the court on arriving at the age of nineteen years, the fact that the adjudication of the delinquency of a child committed her to guardianship until twenty-one years of age instead of until nineteen years of age does not release her, where she has not yet attained the age of nineteen at the time of her application for release.—State v. Patterson, 247 N.W. 573, 249 N.W. 187, 188 Minn. 492.

19. Pa.—Commonwealth v. Murray, 26 Pa.Dist. 489—In re Juvenile Ct., 18 Pa.Dist. 79.

20. Iowa.—McPherson v. Day, 144 N.W. 4, 162 Iowa 251.

Age controlling

Controlling element in juvenile law is age, not minority.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.

21. Pa.—In re Juvenile Ct., 18 Pa. Dist. 79.
Tex.—Ex parte McDowell, 172 S.W. 213, 76 Tex.Cr. 1.

22. Pa.—In re Juvenile Ct., 18 Pa. Dist. 79.

23. Mont.—State v. District Court of First Judicial Dist. in and for Lewis and Clark County, 250 P. 973, 77 Mont. 290, 49 A.L.R. 398.

24. Cal.—In re Johnson, 171 P. 1074, 36 Cal.App. 319.

25. La.—State ex rel. Carter v. Gill, 111 So. 666, 163 La. 172.

26. Colo.—Rose v. People, 139 P.2d 261.
31 C.J. p 1111 note 75.

Matter to be considered

Change of condition of mother of minors adjudged wards of juvenile court is matter for presentation to juvenile court.—In re Stein, 260 P. 566, 86 Cal.App. 226.

Petition properly denied

Father's petition seeking custody of delinquent child was properly denied, where no showing was made of change in child's condition since commitment.—In re Genua, 156 A. 558, 102 Pa.Super. 286.

27. N.Y.—In re Knowack, 53 N.E. 676, 158 N.Y. 482, 44 L.R.A. 699, affirming 52 N.Y.S. 1144, 29 App. Div. 627.
31 C.J. p 1111 note 76.

No retention of jurisdiction in order

The juvenile court committing de-though he had notice of, and appeared in, the proceeding for commitment,[28] and no appeal has been taken from the order of commitment and the time for appealing has expired,[29] and although the institution does not consent to the child's discharge.[30] In determining whether custody of the child should be returned to the parents, the physical and moral welfare of the child is the paramount question,[31] and restoration may be refused where it would not be to the child's benefit.[32] Even if the cause stated for the original commitment no longer exists and the parents are at the time competent and fit to have the care of the child, the court in its discretion may decide that the welfare of the child will not permit its removal from its present custody.[33] A denial of a request for a return of the child should not be based merely on a comparison of the home of the parents with the home of the persons given custody of the child.[34] In determining the child's interest in this respect, the court is not bound by the evidence introduced on the hearing of the application for the child's restoration, but may take judicial cognizance of any records that may be in the court touching on the matter.[35] The court may even go so far as to institute an independent investigation of its own into the habits and character, as well as the circumstances surrounding the lives, of the parents.[36]

A parent who defaults in proceedings to declare his child abandoned ceases to have any right to his custody and thereafter his legal rights with regard to the child are no greater than those of any person who might ask the court for leave to take control and custody of the child. There is no appeal from an order denying an application for the custody of an abandoned child by its mother after the custody had been given to another.[37]

c. Place of Confinement

The place of confinement of a delinquent or dependent child is primarily a matter of statutory regulation.

The place of commitment is a matter regulated by statute,[38] and in some jurisdictions the place of confinement of a delinquent child is for the determination of the jury.[39] Ordinarily, if the child's delinquency is such as to warrant confinement,[40] the child is confined to a public institution,[41] such as a pendent and neglected child to the custody of his sister had authority at any later date and on proper showing to set aside the order of commitment and to change the custody of the child even if it had not provided in its order that the child was committed to the custody of sister subject to further order of court. —State ex rel. Hedrick Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. of Hartford, Conn., 114 P.2d 812, 154 Kan. 79.

Power of state

Where, because of improper care, children are taken from parents and placed with an institution which found homes for them, the state still has the power as parens patriæ through the courts, if the welfare of the children so demands, to retake them and hand them back to their parents or place them elsewhere.—Lieske v. Iowa Children's Home Soc., 194 N.W. 239, 196 Iowa 143.

28. Mass.—In re Kelley, 25 N.E. 615, 152 Mass. 432.

29. S.D.—McFall v. Simmons, 81 N. W. 898, 12 S.D. 562.

30. Mass.—In re Kelley, 25 N.E. 615, 152 Mass. 432.
N.Y.—In re Knowack, 53 N.E. 676, 158 N.Y. 482, 44 L.R.A. 699, affirming 52 N.Y.S. 1144, 29 App.Div. 627.

31. La.—In re Caronna, 2 So.2d 1, 197 La. 494.
Mass.—Commonwealth v. Ball, 156 N. E. 21, 259 Mass. 148.

32. N.Y.—Ex parte Sarcona, 133 N. Y.S. 913.

33. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Ball, 156 N.E. 21, 259 Mass. 148.

34. Mass.—Commonwealth v. Ball, supra.

35. La.—In re Caronna, 2 So.2d 1, 197 La. 494.

36. La.—In re Caronna, supra.

37. Or.—Foster v. Myers, 117 P. 806, 59 Or. 549.

38. Nev.—McKinnon v. Washoe County Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 130 P. 465, 35 Nev. 494.
31 C.J. p 1111 note 84.
Place of imprisonment of criminals generally see Criminal Law § 2000.

Inmates of industrial school

(1) Statute under which inmates of boys' industrial school may be committed to state reformatory on conviction of any of the offenses therein named was not repealed by juvenile court act and is not in conflict with statute under which male offenders, generally, between certain ages may be sentenced to state reformatory.—Burris v. State Board of Administration, 134 P.2d 649, 156 Kan. 600.

(2) A boy fourteen years of age, who had been committed at age of twelve to boys' industrial school because of truancy, incorrigibility, and what would have been larceny had the boy been more than sixteen years old, and who had persistently displayed disregard of law, was properly committed to state reformatory. —Burris v. State Board of Administration, supra.

39. Tex.—Curry v. State, 296 S.W. 307, 107 Tex.Cr. 265.

40. Traffic violations

Sentencing infant convicted of delinquency on ground of traffic violations to state training school was too drastic, in absence of showing that parents were unfit.—State v. Superior Court in and for Pacific County, 245 P. 409, 139 Wash. 1, 45 A.L.R. 1530.

41. Tex.—Ex parte Hughes, 11 S.W. 2d 319, 111 Tex.Cr. 66.
31 C.J. p 1111 note 85.

Liability for maintenance

Under some statutes the juvenile court may commit children to the care of proper persons or institutions and make suitable orders for their support. Maintenance furnished to a child so committed, in case he has no parent, may be recovered from his estate, and this applies to expenditures made by the county for his maintenance.—In re Colucci's Estate, 83 Pa.Super. 224.

Location

The child may be committed to an institution not in the county where the proceedings originated, and by doing so the court does not lose its jurisdiction.—In re Chartrand, 173 P. 728, 103 Wash. 36.

Power of state

"The tendency of the decisions, and especially in more recent cases, reformatory,[42] or he may be surrendered to a society established to secure homes for destitute children;[43] but he should not be sentenced to a penitentiary.[44] Under some statutes, in order to commit a child to the state industrial school on a charge that the child is delinquent by reason of theft, and is immoral, a finding against the parents that they are incompetent is unnecessary.[45] The court may change the place of commitment whenever the circumstances require it.[46] Thus the court may, under some statutes, place a delinquent child in care of his family after having committed him to a reformatory or other institution.[47]

Pending proceedings. It has been held that, pending proceedings, a female delinquent may be detained in the common jail, and such commitment is not deemed a commitment to jail.[48]

§ 101. —— Conclusiveness and Effect of Adjudication

An order or decree that a child is dependent or delinquent fixes the status of the child and is final, if the court has jurisdiction in the premises, until set aside in some direct proceeding.

The order or decree of the court is one in personam and acts on the child alone.[49] Under some statutes, where an infant has been judicially declared to be a ward of the state, such adjudication fixes the status of the child until it becomes of age, unless such adjudication is modified or reversed by the court itself,[50] and the right of the parents to its custody and control, by virtue of their parenthood, is foreclosed and cut off.[51] The order of the court by which the infant is made a ward of the court has the effect of transferring the matter of the infant's guardianship from the parents to the court itself;[52] but, where the statute requires certain preliminary findings before a ward may be taken from the custody of his parents,[53] a mere adjudication that a minor is a ward of the court is insufficient to deprive the parents of the minor's custody.[54]

If the court has jurisdiction in the premises,[55]

is to hold that the right to parental control is a natural, but not an inalienable, right, and that the commonwealth, in all cases of delinquent and dependent children, may, under proper regulations, take the custody of a delinquent or dependent child from its parents and transfer its guardianship to state agencies, whenever, in the judgment of a competent tribunal, such action is for the common welfare of the child and the state."—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 654, 69 Cal.App. 447.

42. Ohio.—Leonard v. Licker, 23 Ohio Cir.Ct.,N.S., 442, 3 Ohio App. 377.

Commitments held illegal

(1) Under some statutes a child who has never been convicted of violation of a law involving moral turpitude, and who is shown by undisputed evidence to be obedient to constituted authority, cannot be committed to the industrial training school for delinquent and criminally inclined children.—Holden v. Smith, 100 So. 27, 135 Miss. 322.

(2) Commitment of "wayward minor" to state reformatory for women at Bedford was held to be illegal.—People ex rel. Tave v. Palmer, 228 N.Y.S. 286, 132 Misc. 119, affirmed 227 N.Y.S. 875, 223 App.Div. 777.

(3) Reviving suspended reform school sentence and committing delinquent over twenty years old to reform school is without jurisdiction and void.—Ex parte Blackey, 208 N. W. 238, 53 N.D. 852.

Not punishment

A commitment to the state reformatory is not a punishment for crime, the whole proceeding being correctional and not criminal.—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 22 Ohio App. 357.

43. La.—State v. Ragan, 51 So. 89, 125 La. 121.
S.D.—State v. Isenhuth, 148 N.W. 9, 34 S.D. 218.

44. La.—State v. Prater, 51 So. 647, 125 La. 573.
Mo.—State ex rel. Shartel v. Trimble, 63 S.W.2d 37, 333 Mo. 888—Ex parte Bass, 40 S.W.2d 457, 328 Mo. 195—State v. Johnson, App., 174 S.W.2d 139.

"The object of the law is to place the child under guardianship of public authorities for proper care and discipline until he has reformed or arrives at the age of majority, and he can in no event be placed in an institution used exclusively for the punishment of criminals."—Gerak v. State, 153 N.E. 902, 903, 22 Ohio App. 357.

45. Cal.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 69 Cal.App. 447.

46. Cal.—In re Spiers, 89 P.2d 456, 32 Cal.App.2d 124.
N.Y.—In re Montana, 30 N.Y.S.2d 199, 177 Misc. 171.
Tex.—Ex parte Lassiter, 18 S.W.2d 637, 113 Tex.Cr. 18.
Wash.—In re Chartrand, 173 P. 728, 103 Wash. 36.

Resentence to state prison held not to be an abuse of discretion.—People v. De Fehr, 254 P. 588, 81 Cal. App. 562.

47. Ky.—Sullivan v. State Bd. of Charities and Corrections, 236 S.W. 252, 193 Ky. 330.
N.Y.—In re Montana, 30 N.Y.S.2d 199, 177 Misc. 171.

48. Vt.—In re Edson, 82 A. 664, 85 Vt. 366.

49. Idaho.—In re Sharp, 96 P. 563, 15 Idaho 120, 18 L.R.A.,N.S., 886.

50. N.C.—In re Coston, 122 S.E. 183, 187 N.C. 509.

51. Iowa.—Stephens v. Treat, 209 N. W. 282, 202 Iowa 1077.

52. Cal.—Ex parte McDermott, 246 P. 89, 77 Cal.App. 109.

Probate officer

The effect of an order of commitment to a probate officer is to make such officer the guardian of the child.—Ex parte Grimes, Tex.Civ. App., 216 S.W. 251, reversed on other grounds Whittenberg v. Criven, Com. App., 258 S.W. 152.

53. Sufficiency of finding

Where the statute requires that the court shall find the parent or guardian incapable of providing, or to have failed or neglected to provide, proper maintenance, training, and education of the ward, a finding that the child has no parent or guardian actually exercising proper parental control over it and that such child is in need of such control is insufficient.—Ex parte Edwards, 284 P. 916, 208 Cal. 725.

54. Cal.—Ex parte Edwards, supra.

55. La.—State ex rel. Herbert v. Renaud, 103 So. 101, 157 La. 776.

If a parent is not a party to proceedings in juvenile court or if he has no notice when his child is proceeded against, such parent's right is not foreclosed to thereafter liti-

the judgment, order, or decree is final[56] as to all parties to the proceeding[57] on the same state of facts,[58] and is not subject to collateral attack,[59] and cannot be challenged except in a direct action brought for the purpose or in some appellate tribunal.[60] An order or decree made by a court of general jurisdiction will be presumed to be valid, and the burden is on him who attacks the order or decree to show that it was made without jurisdiction;[61] but if the proceedings are had in a court of limited or special jurisdiction the presumption applicable to judgments of courts of general jurisdiction does not apply,[62] and the record must disclose all jurisdictional facts.[63]

After dismissal of all pending proceedings for delinquency, such proceedings cannot be made the basis, in another and subsequent proceeding, for a commitment.[64] Although the statute provides that a discharge or dismissal shall bar further proceedings on the charge, a discharge under one petition does not require a discharge under a second petition charging different acts of moral delinquency.[65] gate such right.—In re Santillanes, 138 P.2d 503, 47 N.M. 140.

Estoppel

Testatrix' illegitimate daughter, who would not have right to inherit from testatrix if order and decree of Kansas probate court entered in 1901 relating to abandonment and adoption of such daughter were valid, was not "estopped" to make a collateral attack in will contest of the Kansas proceeding, where it appeared that daughter was non sui juris at time of her alleged adoption by reason of her minority and that she did not learn of alleged adoption until during second trial of the will contest.—In re Hampton's Estate, 131 P.2d 565, 55 Cal.App.2d 543, prior opinion, App., 127 P.2d 38.

Recitals not conclusive

In collateral attack on Kansas order placing child in custody of childrens' home as a neglected, abandoned, and dependent child, recitals in order that notice was issued to mother of child and that notice was returned by sheriff with report that sheriff was unable to find the mother within the county, were not conclusive that Kansas probate court had jurisdiction over child's mother and over custody of the child.—In re Hampton's Estate, supra.

56. Tex.—Cheney v. Cheney, Civ. App., 82 S.W.2d 1024, reversed on other grounds Cheney v. Coffey, 113 S.W.2d 162, 131 Tex. 212, rehearing denied 114 S.W.2d 533, 131 Tex. 212.
31 C.J. p 1112 note 97.

In Virginia, the judgment of juvenile and domestic relations court which dismisses case against infant over twelve years of age who is charged with an aggravated felonious offense is not conclusive, and the judgment of dismissal is not sufficient to bar action by the grand jury.—Mickens v. Commonwealth, 16 S.E.2d 641, 178 Va. 273, certiorari denied 62 S.Ct. 362, 314 U.S. 690, 86 L.Ed. 552, rehearing denied 62 S.Ct. 484, 314 U.S. 717, 86 L.Ed. 570.

57. Ariz.—In re Mendevil, 193 P. 17, 21 Ariz. 586.

58. Tenn.—Shelby County Juvenile Ct. v. State, 201 S.W. 771, 139 Tenn. 549, Ann.Cas.1918D 752—State v. West, 201 S.W. 743, 139 Tenn. 522, Ann.Cas.1918D 749.

Subsequent facts

Prior order concerning minor's custody was not res judicata in a subsequent juvenile court proceeding where order was supported by facts relative to conditions surrounding minor subsequent to prior order.—Ex parte Marmaduke, 299 P. 835, 114 Cal.App. 278.

Subsequent guardianship

A decree or order finding or not finding a child to be abandoned by his parents or legal custodian is not binding in a subsequent proceeding in guardianship.—In re Lew Choy Foon, 159 P. 440, 173 Cal. 159—In re Michels, 149 P. 587, 170 Cal. 339.

59. Cal.—Los Angeles County v. Superior Court in and for Alameda County, 18 P.2d 112, 128 Cal.App. 522.
31 C.J. p 1112 note 1.

Appeal from judgment of adoption was collateral attack on juvenile court's judgment declaring children to be dependent and neglected.—Jackson v. Roach, 3 S.W.2d 976, 176 Ark. 688.

Formal defects in the judgment or order do not render it subject to collateral attack.
Cal.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 69 Cal.App. 447.
Ind.—Bradburn v. Bradburn, 197 N. E. 905, 209 Ind. 61.

60. Cal.—People v. Sanchez, 132 P. 2d 810, 21 Cal.2d 466, prior opinion, App., 126 P.2d 137.
La.—Brana v. Brana, 71 So. 519, 139 La. 305.

Fraud

(1) The decree may be attacked on grounds of fraud, and such attack is a direct attack.
Colo.—Nielsen v. Nielsen, 141 P.2d 415.
Ohio.—Lewis v. Reed, 157 N.E. 897, 117 Ohio St. 152—In re McLean's Adoption, 29 N.E.2d 435, 65 Ohio App. 106.

(2) Petition to vacate decree, in dependency proceedings awarding child to paternal grandmother, which was obtained after mother of child had been lulled into sense of security, stated cause of action in fraud.—Nielsen v. Nielsen, supra.

In juvenile court

The orders and decrees of juvenile court in proceedings involving neglected and dependent children are, subject to right of review, valid under statute until modified or set aside by juvenile court.—State ex rel. Geckler v. Cox, 9 N.E.2d 93, 212 Ind. 440.

Remedies of parent

Parents injured by order of court of domestic relations committing child to industrial school as delinquent should appeal, and have case heard de novo in circuit court, under L. § 9804, as amended by L.1923 c 216, or apply to court of domestic relations for order setting aside or modifying order of commitment.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.

61. Iowa.—King v. Sears, 158 N.W. 513, 177 Iowa 163.
31 C.J. p 1112 note 5.

Affidavits held insufficient

Uncontradicted affidavits that court had placed children in third person's custody after mother left home, and that father was man of good character and had paid support money for children were insufficient to set aside orders adjudging children to be wards of court and committing them to custody of a society, where testimony in dependency proceeding was not before supreme court.—In re Baker, 54 P.2d 309, 152 Or. 574.

62. Wyo.—Kelsey v. Carroll, 138 P. 867, 22 Wyo. 85.
31 C.J. p 1112 note 6.

63. Miss.—Yarborough v. Coulter, 138 So. 591, 162 Miss. 50.

64. Wis.—State v. Zirbel, 177 N.W. 601, 171 Wis. 498.

65. Cal.—Ex parte Black, 271 P. 360, 94 Cal.App. 402.

§ 102. —— Commitment

The commitment of a delinquent or neglected child should express a judgment of the court.

The commitment should express a judgment of the court.[66] Although the contrary has also been held,[67] it must set out the jurisdictional facts,[68] and show that the case is within the statute.[69] The commitment should specify the period of detention.[70] Where the term of detention is fixed by law, it need not be specified in the commitment.[71] It has been held that even if an order of commitment may be subject to criticism, as fixing the period of detention for a designated time, the commitment will not be void, but will hold good, the period of detention being left open to be met by further contingencies.[72] In some jurisdictions the commitment has been held to have all the force and effect of a final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction;[73] but in other states it has been held otherwise.[74]

Surplusage contained in the commitment may be disregarded.[75] If the commitment is defective by reason of mere irregularities, a new one may be made,[76] except where the court is without jurisdiction in the premises.[77]

Time for commitment. The commitment of an infant ordinarily occurs after the entry of a proper judgment or order.[78] A mittimus, directing the commitment to a public institution "forthwith" has been construed to mean as soon as may be, so that the fact that the commitment is not made immediately by reason of a legal quarantine does not entitle the person committed to his discharge.[79]

VIII. ACTIONS

§ 103. In General

An infant generally may sue or be sued, and is subject to, and bound by, the same rules of procedure as an adult litigant.

The fact that a person is an infant does not in any way prevent his suing,[80] or his being sued,[81] either at law[82] or in equity.[83] An infant, however, cannot bring or defend a legal proceeding in per-

66. N.Y.—People ex rel. Reisner v. New York Nursery & Child's Hospital, 180 N.Y.S. 372, 190 App.Div. 562, affirmed 129 N.E. 341, 230 N.Y. 119.
31 C.J. p 1112 note 7.

67. Mo.—Ex parte Schrier, 41 S.W. 2d 178, 328 Mo. 726.

68. N.Y.—People v. Baker, 3 N.Y.S. 536.
Wyo.—Kelsey v. Carroll, 138 P. 867, 22 Wyo. 85.
31 C.J. p 1112 note 8.
Facts which should appear
Order committing a delinquent child to industrial school should show title of court and cause, filing of petition stating facts constituting delinquency, court's order directing service of process on child's legal custodian, service of notice, or waiver thereof, facts found at hearing constituting delinquency, and violation of specified law, or that child is incorrigible or otherwise delinquent within statute.—Hills v. Pierce, 231 P. 652, 113 Or. 386.

69. N.Y.—People v. New York S. P. C. C., 44 N.Y.S. 1098, 19 Misc. 561, 12 N.Y.Cr. 86.
Wyo.—Kelsey v. Carroll, 138 P. 867, 22 Wyo. 85.
Notice and presence at hearing
It is sometimes required that the commitment shall show that those to whom notice is required had such notice and were present at the examination, hearing, or trial.—People v. Carpenter, 55 N.Y.S. 521, 25 Misc. 341—31 C.J. p 1112 notes 10, 11.

70. Commitment held sufficient
N.Y.—People v. House of Good Shepherd, 115 N.Y.S. 887, 62 Misc. 24, 23 N.Y.Cr. 84.

71. N.Y.—People v. Degnen, 54 Barb. 105, 6 Abb.Pr.,N.S., 87.

72. La.—State v. Marmouget, 35 So. 529, 111 La. 225.

73. N.Y.—People v. Protestant Episcopal House of Mercy, 30 N.E. 853, 133 N.Y. 207, reversing 17 N.Y.S. 166.
31 C.J. p 1112 note 15 [a].

74. La.—State v. Marmouget, 35 So. 529, 111 La. 225.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. McKeagy, 1 Ashm. 248.

75. Nonexistent institution
A commitment of boys convicted of larceny to "State Training and Agricultural School for Colored Boys at Pikeville, Tennessee," by juvenile court was not void because there is no institution with such title, as there is but one state training and agricultural school for boys with departments at Nashville and Pikeville, so that words, "for Colored Boys at Pikeville," may be treated as surplusage.—State ex rel. Purdy v. Patton, 140 S.W.2d 1087, 176 Tenn. 296.

76. N.Y.—People ex rel. Reisner v. New York Nursery & Child's Hospital, 180 N.Y.S. 372, 190 App.Div. 562, affirmed 129 N.E. 341, 230 N.Y. 119—People v. Protestant Episcopal House of Mercy, 110 N.Y.S. 172, 57 Misc. 657.

77. N.Y.—People ex rel. Reisner v. New York Nursery & Child's Hospital, 180 N.Y.S. 372, 190 App.Div. 562, affirmed 129 N.E. 341, 230 N.Y. 119.

78. Mo.—In re Campbell, 19 S.W.2d 752, 323 Mo. 757.

79. Vt.—In re Edson, 82 A. 664, 85 Vt. 366.

80. Ill.—Walgreen Co. v. Industrial Commission, 153 N.E. 831, 323 Ill. 194, 48 A.L.R. 1199.
N.Y.—Torrey v. State, 23 N.Y.S.2d 370, 175 Misc. 259.
31 C.J. p 1113 note 22.
Infant married woman can sue or be sued when husband is joined as party.—Drinkard v. George, 36 S.W. 2d 56, 237 Ky. 560.
Action by or against general guardian or ward see Guardian and Ward §§ 168–172.

81. Tex.—Grogan v. Spaulding, Civ. App., 155 S.W. 1014.
31 C.J. p 1113 note 23.

82. Kan.—Fotopoulos v. Gas Service Co., 96 P.2d 666, 150 Kan. 738.
Md.—Roche v. Waters, 19 A. 535, 72 Md. 264, 7 L.R.A. 533.

83. Md.—Roche v. Waters, supra.
Suit in equity against infant improper
Pa.—Yubas v. Witaskis, 95 Pa.Super. 296.

son;[84] he must sue or be sued by next friend or guardian ad litem, as discussed infra §§ 107–114. Except as otherwise provided by statute or constitutional provision,[85] he may sue to enforce his rights,[86] or he may be sued, to enforce against him responsibilities recognized by law.[87] If properly represented by next friend or guardian ad litem, as discussed infra §§ 107–113, and has proper counsel, as discussed infra § 114, he is subject to, and bound by, the same rules of procedure as an adult litigant,[88] in the absence of fraud or conduct amounting to fraud on the part of the parties representing him.[89] If a late infant defendant neglects to assert his rights for himself he cannot, as a rule, complain of the acts of his guardian ad litem;[90] he cannot complain of any irregularity in the action or proceedings during minority which have not worked to his prejudice.[91]

§ 104. Rights of Action and Defenses

a. In general
b. On contracts
c. Respecting property rights
d. For torts

a. In General

An infant may maintain an original bill for relief, and may sue to recover a penalty; but ordinarily cannot bring an action dependent on an election between conflicting rights.

An infant may maintain an original bill for relief from a decree against him during his minority for fraud or error appearing on the face of the proceedings.[92] He also may bring suit to recover a penalty under a statute giving the right of action therefor to the aggrieved party;[93] but ordinarily he cannot bring an action dependent on an election between two conflicting rights,[94] except by direction of the court.[95]

Examine Pocket Parts for later cases.

b. On Contracts

An infant may sue on a contract made by him or for his benefit, or he may sue to disaffirm the contract; and under proper conditions he may be sued on such contract.

An infant may sue on a contract made by him or for his benefit,[96] unless his benefit or interest in the contract is indirect and merely incidental;[97] and such an action is subject to the defense of want of consideration.[98] He may sue to recover what is due him under a contract,[99] or damages for a

84. Ill.—Skaggs v. Industrial Commission, 21 N.E.2d 731, 371 Ill. 535.
N.Y.—Mortgage Commission of New York v. Great Neck Improvement Co., 295 N.Y.S. 107, 162 Misc. 416.
Statute providing that "party who is of full age" may prosecute or defend civil action in person unless he has been judicially declared to be incompetent is indicative of intent to exclude minors from those entitled to prosecute or defend civil action in person.—Mortgage Commission of New York v. Great Neck Improvement Co., supra.

85. Ill.—Waechter v. Industrial Commission, 11 N.E.2d 378, 367 Ill. 256—Walgreen Co. v. Industrial Commission, 153 N.E. 831, 323 Ill. 194, 48 A.L.R. 1199—Desiron v. Peloza, 32 N.E.2d 316, 308 Ill.App. 582.
Ind.—Norris v. Mingle, 29 N.E.2d 400, 217 Ind. 516.
Ky.—Chenault v. State Bank & Trust Co., 128 S.W.2d 715, 278 Ky. 453.

86. Ill.—Waechter v. Industrial Commission, 11 N.E.2d 378, 367 Ill. 256—Walgreen Co. v. Industrial Commission, 153 N.E. 831, 323 Ill. 194, 48 A.L.R. 1199—Desiron v. Peloza, 32 N.E.2d 316, 308 Ill.App. 582.
Ind.—Norris v. Mingle, 29 N.E.2d 400, 217 Ind. 516.
Md.—Roche v. Waters, 19 A. 535, 72 Md. 264, 7 L.R.A. 533.

87. Ind.—Colvert v. Colvert, 180 N. E. 192, 95 Ind.App. 325.
Md.—Roche v. Waters, 19 A. 535, 72 Md. 264, 7 L.R.A. 533.
31 C.J. p 1113 note 30.

88. Ind.—Colvert v. Colvert, 180 N. E. 192, 95 Ind.App. 325, quoting Corpus Juris.
Kan.—Fotopoulos v. Gas Service Co., 96 P.2d 666, 150 Kan. 738.
Ky.—Chenault v. State Bank & Trust Co., 128 S.W.2d 715, 278 Ky. 453.
31 C.J. p 1113 note 29.
A mortgagee enforcing mortgage against infant heirs of mortgagor must proceed in the manner prescribed by the code, where mortgagor is owner of complete title to land covered by mortgage.—Ohio Oil Co. v. West, 145 S.W.2d 1035, 284 Ky. 796.

89. Kan.—Fotopoulos v. Gas Service Co., 96 P.2d 666, 150 Kan. 738.

90. Ky.—Mitchell v. Berry, 1 Metc. 602.

91. D.C.—Prall v. Imlay, 270 F. 688, 50 App.D.C. 252.

92. Ill.—Moore v. Sievers, 168 N.E. 259, 336 Ill. 316.

93. N.Y.—Fox v. Interurban St. R. Co., 86 N.Y.S. 64, 42 Misc. 538.

94. N.Y.—Chipman v. Montgomery, 63 N.Y. 221.
Capacity to exercise right or power of election see supra § 25.

95. N.Y.—Chipman v. Montgomery, supra.

96. U.S.—McVeigh v. McGurren, C.C.A.Ill., 117 F.2d 672, certiorari denied McGurren v. McVeigh, 61 S. Ct. 960, 313 U.S. 573, 85 L.Ed. 1531.
Minn.—Jentzen v. Pruter, 180 N.W. 1004, 148 Minn. 8.
N.Y.—Slocum v. Hooker, 13 Barb. 536, reversing 12 Barb. 563, 6 How.Pr. 167.
Ratification see supra § 74.

97. U.S.—Percival v. Luce, C.C.A. Nev., 114 F.2d 774.

98. Ky.—Younce v. Duty, 265 S.W. 776, 205 Ky. 274.
Note given for stock
Infant cannot recover on a note given for corporate stock until he delivers or tenders stock.—Younce v. Duty, supra.

99. Ark.—Harris v. Columbia County Bank, 298 S.W. 872, 175 Ark. 143.
Me.—Shaw v. Philbrick, 151 A. 423, 129 Me. 259, 74 A.L.R. 290.
Va.—Humphries v. Boxley Bros. Co., 135 S.E. 890, 146 Va. 91, 49 A.L.R. 1427.
31 C.J. p 1113 note 34.
Recovery of deposit in bank
Under a statute authorizing a bank to pay a minor's deposit to him, and making the receipt or check of the minor valid, a minor may recover a deposit which the bank has refused to return, because the money had breach,[1] or he may sue to disaffirm a contract.[2]

Under the rule that the infancy of a person does not prevent him from being sued, as stated supra § 103, an infant may be sued on a contract which he cannot disaffirm, as discussed supra §§ 76, 78 as well as on a contract which he can disaffirm but has not disaffirmed, as discussed supra §§ 75–86, or which he has ratified, as discussed supra § 74; but in a proper case he can avoid liability under the contract by interposing his infancy as a defense.[3] It has been held that he may be held liable in assumpsit for money tortiously taken by him.[4]

c. Respecting Property Rights

In the absence of statute to the contrary, an infant may sue to maintain his property rights, as by an action for partition; or he may be sued for the enforcement of property rights against him.

An infant may institute and maintain such actions as may be necessary and appropriate to maintain his property rights.[5] In a proper case an infant owner of realty may bring a writ of entry[6] or trespass,[7] or he may maintain an action for use and occupation[8] or for damages for injury to his land[9] or to his interest in land,[10] or he may bring ejectment for the recovery of his land,[11] and it is not necessary for him to go into equity to disaffirm his voidable conveyance.[12] An infant may contest a will.[13] The remedy of an infant, who has been induced by fraud to sell his land, on the disaffirmance of the transaction, but not seeking to set aside the sale, is at law for damages[14] and not in equity.[15]

Against infant. In the absence of statutory provision to the contrary,[16] property rights may be enforced in actions or suits against infants as defendants,[17] when such rights exist.[18] Ejectment been withdrawn by another on a forged check, and the minor had executed an agreement to release the bank from responsibility in regard to the money.—Harris v. Columbia County Bank, 298 S.W. 872, 175 Ark. 143.

No right of action for services paid for Iowa.—Murphy v. Johnson, 45 Iowa 57.

1. Ala.—Cleveland v. Towle, 106 So. 58, 21 Ala.App. 161, certiorari granted Ex parte Towle, 106 So. 60, 213 Ala. 129.
Va.—Humphries v. Boxley Bros. Co., 135 S.E. 890, 146 Va. 91, 49 A.L.R. 1427.
31 C.J. p 1113 note 35.

Measure of damages

N.Y.—Joseph v. Schatzkin, 181 N.E. 464, 259 N.Y. 241, reversing 253 N.Y.S. 985, 234 App.Div. 747—Fishman v. All American Sportwear Co., 4 N.Y.S.2d 48, 167 Misc. 861.

2. Ark.—Bailey v. Runyan, 27 S.W. 2d 1020, 181 Ark. 755.
Ga.—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S.E. 793, 33 Ga.App. 784.

At law or in equity

Ark.—Bailey v. Runyan, 27 S.W.2d 1020, 181 Ark. 755.
Avoidance of contract generally see supra § 75.
Rights and remedies on disaffirmance see supra § 75.

3. N.Y.—Munger v. Hees, 28 Barb. 75.
Pa.—Yubas v. Witaskis, 95 Pa.Super. 296.
Pleading infancy as a defense see infra § 116.

4. Me.—Shaw v. Coffin, 58 Me. 254, 4 Am.R. 290.
Vt.—Elwell v. Martin, 32 Vt. 217.
Liability for tort connected with contracts see supra § 89.

5. Kan.—Guy v. Hansow, 122 P. 879, 86 Kan. 933.
31 C.J. p 1113 note 44.

6. Mass.—Jennings v. Collins, 99 Mass. 29, 96 Am.D. 687.

7. N.Y.—Muller v. Manhattan R. Co., 108 N.Y.S. 852, 124 App.Div. 295, affirmed 88 N.E. 1126, 195 N.Y. 539.
31 C.J. p 1114 note 47.

8. N.Y.—Porter v. Bleiler, 17 Barb. 149.

9. N.Y.—Muller v. Manhattan R. Co., 108 N.Y.S. 852, 124 App.Div. 295, affirmed 88 N.E. 1126, 195 N.Y. 539.
W.Va.—McDodrill v. Pardee & Curtin Lumber Co., 21 S.E. 878, 40 W. Va. 564.

10. N.J.—Jackson v. Todd, 25 N.J. Law 121, reversed on other grounds 26 N.J.Law 525.

Waste

An infant owner of his reversionary interest in lands may have an action for injury of a permanent character amounting to waste.—Jackson v. Todd, supra.

11. Miss.—Conn v. Boutwell, 58 So. 105, 101 Miss. 353.
N.Y.—Weidersum v. Naumann, 10 Abb.N.Cas. 149, 62 How.Pr. 369.

12. Miss.—Conn v. Boutwell, 58 So. 105, 101 Miss. 353.

13. Ind.—Campbell v. Fichter, 81 N. E. 661, 168 Ind. 645, 11 Ann.Cas. 1089.
Who may contest will generally see the C.J.S. title Wills § 329, also 68 C.J. p 928 note 29–p 933 note 11.

14. Or.—Marshall v. Gustin, 170 P. 312, 89 Or. 53, opinion adhered to 173 P. 461, 89 Or. 53.

15. Or.—Marshall v. Gustin, supra.

16. Okl.—Pfister v. Johnson, 49 P. 2d 174, 173 Okl. 541, 102 A.L.R. 31.
31 C.J. p 1114 note 58.

17. Okl.—Pfister v. Johnson, supra.
31 C.J. p 1114 note 59.

Foreclosure of mortgage

Under statute providing that when an infant is seized of any estate in trust, whether by mortgage or otherwise, for another person who may be entitled in law to have conveyance of such estate, court may "decree" that infant shall convey such estate in such manner as it may direct, where trustee under a deed of trust is an infant and a foreclosure of the deed of trust is sought, mortgagee's exclusive remedy is an action in the nature of an equitable proceeding to foreclose a mortgage since no other remedy is given by statute.—Riddick v. Davis, 16 S.E.2d 662, 220 N.C. 120.

18. Tex.—Brady v. Brady, 139 S.W. 867, 61 Tex.Civ.App. 288.
31 C.J. p 1114 note 60.

Quieting title

(1) An action to quiet title will not lie against an infant for the purpose of indirectly defeating his right to appeal, especially where its effect is merely to subject the same parties to repeated litigation over the same subject matter.—Sawyer v. Ware, 128 P. 273, 36 Okl. 139.

(2) Nor will such an action lie where only purpose thereof is to defeat minor's right to show cause against final order rendered against him in proceeding to authorize administrator's sale of land.—Pfister v. Johnson, 49 P.2d 174, 173 Okl. 541, 102 A.L.R. 31.
31 C.J. p 1114 note 60 [a].

Failure to till land, or loss of opportunity to lease

Recovery for failure properly to may lie against an infant.[19] Where an action is brought to recover property sold to an infant, and infancy and partial payments are pleaded, the right to recover the property and the right of the infant to be repaid what he claims he has paid on the purchase price may both be tried in the same action.[20]

Partition. Except to the extent that the right is prohibited or limited by statute,[21] an infant, when properly represented by some one who may adequately enforce or protect his rights, as discussed infra §§ 107–113, generally is entitled to sue for, and obtain, partition under the same circumstances as an adult.[22] The rule, however, is subject to the important limitation that the courts will decree partition in proceedings instituted by infants for partition only where it would be for their best interests to do so,[23] especially where there is a positive statutory declaration to that effect;[24] and this limitation is not affected by a statute providing that, when land is held by several persons jointly, "whether any or all of the claimants are minors or of full age, any one of the persons interested therein may compel a partition."[25]

d. For Torts

An infant may sue or be sued for tort. In case of injury through another's negligence or tort, damages may be awarded to him for pain and suffering, permanent injuries, and the impairment of his earning power after attaining majority, but, ordinarily, not for the impairment of his earning capacity during infancy, for loss of time or services, for expenses in curing his injuries, or for prenatal injuries.

An infant may maintain an action against a wrongdoer for tort.[26] He may maintain trover,[27] slander,[28] or libel,[29] or sue for damages for personal injuries received through the negligence or other tort of another.[30]

Damages. An infant injured through another's tort or negligence is entitled to reasonable compensation for his injuries,[31] and may recover for his mental or physical pain and sufferings,[32] his permanent injuries,[33] and for the impairment of his pow-till and sow the land or for the loss of an opportunity to lease it cannot be had by seller from minors rescinding purchase of land.—Le Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal.App. 536.

19. Me.—Marshall v. Wing, 50 Me. 62.
N.Y.—McCoon v. Smith, 3 Hill 147, 38 Am.D. 623.
W.Va.—Stewart v. Parr, 82 S.E. 259, 74 W.Va. 327.

20. Neb.—Curtice Co. v. Kent, 131 N.W. 944, 89 Neb. 496, 52 L.R.A., N.S., 723.
31 C.J. p 1114 note 62.

21. In New York
(1) Under Code Civ.Proc. § 1534, now Civ.Pract.Act § 1015, an infant can bring an action for partition only on the written authority of the surrogate.—Thompson v. Hart, 69 N.Y.S. 223, 58 App.Div. 439, affirmed 61 N.E. 1135, 169 N.Y. 571—47 C.J. p 347 note 5.

(2) The surrogate's consent may be supplied after the commencement of the action.—Pearsall v. Rosebrook, 85 N.Y.S. 526, 42 Misc. 10.

(3) Under earlier statutes an infant could not maintain a partition suit either separately or jointly with adult cotenants.—Postley v. Kain, 4 Sandf.Ch. 542—47 C.J. p 347 note 4.

22. Ala.—Dickinson v. Jordan, 98 So. 886, 210 Ala. 602.
47 C.J. p 347 note 7.

Sale for partition
Ky.—Murdock v. Loeser, 87 S.W. 808, 27 Ky.L. 1057.

23. Ill.—Miller v. Lanning, 71 N.E. 1115, 211 Ill. 620, 622.
47 C.J. p 347 note 9.

24. N.J.—Brown v. Garton, 98 A. 845, 86 N.J.Eq. 289.
47 C.J. p 347 note 10.

25. Ill.—Ames v. Ames, 36 N.E. 110, 148 Ill. 321.

26. Ga.—Waters v. Bridges, 191 S.E. 297, 55 Ga.App. 763.
31 C.J. p 1114 note 63.

27. Fla.—Toomer v. Jacksonville Fourth Nat. Bank, 67 So. 225, 68 Fla. 555.
Tenn.—Benton v. Pope, 5 Humphr. 392.

28. Ga.—Hurst v. Goodwin, 40 S.E. 764, 114 Ga. 585, 88 Am.S.R. 43.
Ill.—Stewart v. Howe, 17 Ill. 71.

No recovery for language not slanderous per se
N.Y.—Soderberg v. Proctor, 30 N.Y.S.2d 113, 262 App.Div. 971.

29. Mo.—Munden v. Harris, 134 S.W. 1076, 153 Mo.App. 652.

30. Cal.—Aubel v. Sosso, 236 P. 319, 72 Cal.App. 57.
Ga.—Waters v. Bridges, 191 S.E. 297, 55 Ga.App. 763—Coleman v. Dublin Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 170 S.E. 549, 47 Ga.App. 369.
Mich.—Gumienny v. Hess, 280 N.W. 809, 285 Mich. 411.
Mont.—Burns v. Eminger, 276 P. 437, 84 Mont. 397.
Tex.—Fall v. Weber, Civ.App., 47 S.W.2d 365.
Wis.—Callies v. Reliance Laundry Co., 206 N.W. 198, 188 Wis. 376, 42 A.L.R. 712.
31 C.J. p 1114 note 67.

Against state
N.Y.—Louden v. State, 41 N.Y.S.2d 455.
Contributory negligence of infant see the C.J.S. title Negligence §§ 144–149, also 45 C.J. p 998 note 85–p 1011 note 18.

31. Del.—Sund v. Wilmington & P. Traction Co., 114 A. 281, 1 W.W. Harr. 328.

32. Conn.—Ruthkowski v. Connecticut Light & Power Co., 123 A. 25, 100 Conn. 49.
Del.—Sund v. Wilmington & P. Traction Co., 114 P. 281, 1 W.W.Harr. 328.
Ga.—Western & A. R. Co. v. Young, 7 S.E. 912, 81 Ga. 397, 12 Am.S.R. 320—Waters v. Bridges, 191 S.E. 297, 55 Ga.App. 763—Coleman v. Dublin Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 170 S.E. 549, 47 Ga.App. 369.
Ky.—Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. v. Honaker, 226 S.W. 394, 190 Ky. 125—Reliance Textile & Dye Works v. Mitchell, 71 S.W. 425, 24 Ky.L. 1286.
Mo.—Evans v. Farmers Elevator Co., 147 S.W.2d 593, 347 Mo. 326.
Tenn.—Wolfe v. Vaughn, 152 S.W.2d 631, 177 Tenn. 678.
Tex.—Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Malone, 38 S.W. 538, 15 Tex.Civ.App. 56.
Wis.—Callies v. Reliance Laundry Co., 206 N.W. 198, 188 Wis. 376, 42 A.L.R. 712.
31 C.J. p 1115 note 74.

Damages awarded under the head of "temporary injury" will be considered as given for physical pain and suffering only, where the charge submitted the amount of damages sustained by reason of "physical pain" and the evidence was confined to such pain.—Texas & P. Ry. Co. v. Malone, 38 S.W. 538, 15 Tex.Civ. App. 56.

33. Conn.—Ruthkowski v. Connecti-er to earn money after arriving at majority,[34] although he has never earned anything and no one can tell with certainty what his earning capacity will be.[35]

Since the parent is entitled to the services and earnings of the child as long as the latter is legally under his custody or control, as discussed in the C.J.S. title Parent and Child §§ 28–39, also 46 C.J. p 1281 note 92–p 1294 note 94, ordinarily an infant suing for personal injuries cannot recover, as an element of his damages, for the impairment of his earning capacity during infancy,[36] or for loss of time or services,[37] when he is under the control of his parents.[38] Such a recovery, however, may be had by the infant where it is permitted by statute,[39] where the infant has been emancipated,[40] or where the parent waives or relinquishes his claim for damages that might accrue to him, in favor of the infant.[41] For the same reason, an infant is not enti-cut Light & Power Co., 123 A. 25, 100 Conn. 49.

Del.—Sund v. Wilmington & P. Traction Co., 114 A. 281, 1 W.W.Harr. 328.
Ga.—Western & A. R. Co. v. Young, 7 S.E. 912, 81 Ga. 397, 12 Am.S.R. 320.
Kan.—Murphy v. Ludowici Gas & Oil Co., 150 P. 581, 96 Kan. 321.
Ky.—Reliance Textile & Dye Works v. Mitchell, 71 S.W. 425, 24 Ky.L. 1286.
Mo.—Evans v. Farmers Elevator Co., 147 S.W.2d 593, 347 Mo. 326.

34. Ga.—Western & A. R. Co. v. Young, 7 S.E. 912, 81 Ga. 397, 12 Am.S.R. 320.
Ky.—City of Pineville v. Lawson, 9 S.W.2d 517, 225 Ky. 542—Bong v. Webster, 290 S.W. 662, 217 Ky. 781—Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. v. Honaker, 226 S.W. 394, 190 Ky. 125.
Mich.—Gumienny v. Hess, 280 N.W. 809, 285 Mich. 411—Sadlowski v. Meeron, 215 N.W. 422, 240 Mich. 306, opinion adhered to 220 N.W. 680, 243 Mich. 602.
Mo.—Evans v. Farmers Elevator Co., 147 S.W.2d 593, 347 Mo. 326—Schmits v. St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co., 24 S.W. 472, 119 Mo. 256, 23 L.R.A. 250—Rosenkranz v. Lindell Ry. Co., 18 S.W. 890, 108 Mo. 9, 32 Am.S.R. 588.
N.Y.—Traver v. Eighth Ave. R. Co., 42 N.Y. 497, 4 Abb.App.Dec. 422, 3 Keyes 497, 3 Transcr. 203, 6 Abb. Pr.,N.S., 46.
Okl.—City of Miami v. Finley, 240 P. 317, 112 Okl. 97.
Pa.—McGinley v. Philadelphia & R. Ry. Co., 101 A. 825, 257 Pa. 519.
Tenn.—Wolfe v. Vaughn, 152 S.W.2d 631, 177 Tenn. 678.
Tex.—Southern Traction Co. v. Owens, Civ.App., 198 S.W. 150, error refused.
Vt.—Rafus v. Daley, 154 A. 695, 103 Vt. 426.
Wis.—Callies v. Reliance Laundry Co., 206 N.W. 198, 188 Wis. 376, 42 A.L.R. 712.
31 C.J. p 1115 note 76.

35. Mo.—Rosenkranz v. Lindell Ry. Co., 18 S.W. 890, 108 Mo. 9, 32 Am. S.R. 588.
Okl.—City of Miami v. Finley, 240 P. 317, 112 Okl. 97.

36. Ariz.—S. A. Gerrard Co. v. Couch, 29 P.2d 151, 155, 43 Ariz. 57, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ill.—Orr v. Wahlfeld Mfg. Co., 179 Ill.App. 235.
Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Bryant, 252 S.W. 145, 200 Ky. 177.
Mich.—Harris v. Crawley, 126 N.W. 421, 161 Mich. 383.
Mo.—Evans v. Farmers Elevator Co., 147 S.W.2d 593, 599, 347 Mo. 326, quoting Corpus Juris.
Neb.—Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co. v. Krayenbuhl, 91 N.W. 880, 65 Neb. 889, 59 L.R.A. 920.
N.C.—Hurt v. Western Carolina Power Co., 140 S.E. 730, 194 N.C. 696—Gillis v. Transit Corporation of Norfolk, 137 S.E. 153, 193 N.C. 346—Shipp v. United Stage Lines, 135 S.E. 339, 341, 192 N.C. 475, citing Corpus Juris—Hayes v. Southern Ry. Co., 53 S.E. 847, 141 N. C. 195.
Tenn.—Wolfe v. Vaughn, 152 S.W. 2d 631, 634, 177 Tenn. 678, quoting Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Tyrrell Hardware Co. v. Orgeron, Civ.App., 289 S.W. 1040—Southern Traction Co. v. Owens, Civ.App., 198 S.W. 150.
W.Va.—Cook v. Virginian Ry. Co., 125 S.E. 106, 97 W.Va. 420.
31 C.J. p 1115 note 69.

Where parents sue solely as minor's representatives without asking anything in their own behalf, no amount can be awarded for medical expenses or other community expenditures caused by injury to son. —Miller, for Use of Miller, v. Trascher, La.App., 145 So. 27.
Parent's right of action see the C. J.S. title Parent and Child § 41, also 46 C.J. p 1294 note 97–p 1302 note 2.

37. Ala.—Doullut v. Hoffman, 86 So. 73, 204 Ala. 33.
Ariz.—S. A. Gerrard Co. v. Couch, 29 P.2d 151, 155, 43 Ariz. 57.
Minn.—Dentinger v. Uleberg, 213 N. W. 377, 171 Minn. 81.
N.C.—Gillis v. Transit Corporation of Norfolk, 137 S.E. 153, 193 N.C. 346 —Shipp v. United Stage Lines, 135 S.E. 339, 192 N.C. 475.
Okl.—Palacine Oil Co. v. Philpot, 289 P. 281, 144 Okl. 123.
Tenn.—Wolfe v. Vaughn, 152 S.W. 2d 631, 634, 177 Tenn. 678.

Services in home
An injured school girl cannot recover for herself the value to her parents of the services in the home which she was prevented from rendering because of her injuries.—Public Utilities Co. v. Whitehead, 134 N.E. 894, 78 Ind.App. 85.

38. Ariz.—S. A. Gerrard Co. v. Couch, 29 P.2d 151, 43 Ariz. 57.
Ill.—Meece v. Holland Furnace Co., 269 Ill.App. 164.
Tenn.—Wolfe v. Vaughn, 152 S.W.2d 631, 634, 177 Tenn. 678.
31 C.J. p 1115 note 72.

39. Me.—Close v. Portland Terminal Co., 145 A. 388, 128 Me. 6.

Under Federal Employers' Liability Act, 45 U.S.C.A. §§ 51–59, an unemancipated minor may maintain an action in his own name, by his next friend, to recover the loss of earnings and medical expenses resulting from a personal injury.—Close v. Portland Terminal Co., supra.

40. Mich.—Harris v. Crawley, 126 N.W. 421, 161 Mich. 383.
Minn.—Dentinger v. Uleberg, 213 N. W. 377, 171 Minn. 81.
Okl.—Harriss-Irby Cotton Co. v. Duncan, 157 P. 746, 57 Okl. 761.
Tex.—Schaff v. Sanders, Com.App., 269 S.W. 1034, affirming, Civ.App., 257 S.W. 670, and rehearing denied, Com.App., 271 S.W. xiv.
W.Va.—Cook v. Virginian Ry. Co., 125 S.E. 106, 97 W.Va. 420.

Statements by minor plaintiff tending to show his emancipation, in an action for injuries to a minor, whose father is not a party to the proceeding, where no issue as to emancipation of plaintiff is made by the pleadings, do not authorize the allowance of damages for his impaired earning capacity prior to attaining his majority, since a judgment for plaintiff for such damages in that action will not be binding against his father in an action for such impaired earning capacity.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Bryant, 252 S.W. 145, 200 Ky. 177.

41. Ky.—City of Pineville v. Lawson, 9 S.W.2d 517, 225 Ky. 542—Bong v. Webster, 290 S.W. 662, 217 Ky. 781.
Tex.—Schaff v. Sanders, Com.App., 269 S.W. 1034, affirming, Civ.App.,

tled to recover for medical, surgical, hospital, or nursing expenses incurred in curing or relieving his injuries,[42] unless he alone is responsible therefor by reason of his emancipation[43] or the incompetency or death of his parents;[44] unless he has paid such expenses or incurred responsibility therefor;[45] unless recovery therefor is permitted by statute;[46] or unless the parent waives or relinquishes the right to recover such expenses, in the infant's favor.[47]

Prenatal injury. At common law, and in the absence of a statute to the contrary, an infant has no right of action for injuries sustained by him while in ventre sa mere.[48] Under a statutory provision, however, that a child conceived but not yet born is to be deemed an existing person as far as may be necessary for its interests in the event of its subsequent birth, a child may maintain a suit for injuries sustained by it before its birth through the negligence of another.[49]

Against infant. An infant, being liable for his 257 S.W. 670, and rehearing denied, Com.App., 271 S.W. xiv.

A minor is entitled to recover for loss of earning capacity before, as well as after, becoming of age, where the suit is brought by the father as next friend, and father as guardian petitions to become a party plaintiff, since the father vests his right of action for services in the minor.—City of Pineville v. Lawson, 9 S.W.2d 517, 225 Ky. 542.

42. Ala.—Doullut v. Hoffman, 86 So. 73, 204 Ala. 33.
Ariz.—Pearson & Dickerson Contractors v. Harrington, 137 P.2d 381—S. A. Gerrard Co. v. Couch, 29 P.2d 151, 43 Ariz. 57.
Cal.—Sullivan v. Thompson, 87 P.2d 62, 30 Cal.App.2d 675—McManus v. Arnold Taxi Corporation, 255 P. 755, 82 Cal.App. 215.
Del.—Hobbs v. Lokey, 183 A. 631, 7 W.W.Harr. 408.
Ga.—Sheffield v. Lovering, 180 S.E. 523, 51 Ga.App. 353—Rogers v. McKinley, 172 S.E. 662, 48 Ga.App. 262.
Ill.—Meece v. Holland Furnace Co., 269 Ill.App. 164.
Minn.—Dentinger v. Uleberg, 213 N.W. 377, 171 Minn. 81.
Mo.—Butler v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., 93 S.W. 877, 117 Mo.App. 354.
N.Y.—Ferguson v. Ruppert, 3 N.Y.S.2d 9, 166 Misc. 530.
Okl.—Palacine Oil Co. v. Philpot, 289 P. 281, 144 Okl. 123.
Tenn.—Wolfe v. Vaughn, 152 S.W.2d 631, 177 Tenn. 678.
Tex.—Tyrrell Hardware Co. v. Orgeron, Civ.App., 289 S.W. 1040.
W.Va.—McCallam v. Hope Natural Gas Co., 117 S.E. 148, 93 W.Va. 426.
Wis.—Osborne v. Montgomery, 234 N.W. 372, 203 Wis. 223—Grimes v. Snell, 183 N.W. 895, 174 Wis. 557.

Medical expenses paid by parent or another
Wis.—Kliegel v. Aitken, 69 N.W. 67, 94 Wis. 432, 59 Am.S.R. 901, 35 L.R.A. 249—Peppercorn v. Black River Falls, 61 N.W. 78, 89 Wis. 38, 46 Am.S.R. 818.

43. Wis.—Tande v. Vernon County, 276 N.W. 359, 226 Wis. 602—Knutson v. Fenelon, 227 N.W. 857, 200 Wis. 261.

Expenses after infant reaches majority
N.J.—Sharkey v. Herman Bros., 127 A. 525, 3 N.J.Misc. 126, affirmed Sharkey v. Heymann Bros., 130 A. 920, 102 N.J.Law 224.

44. Tenn.—Wolfe v. Vaughn, 152 S.W.2d 631, 177 Tenn. 678.
W.Va.—Grim v. Moore, 3 S.E.2d 448, 121 W.Va. 299.
Wis.—Knutson v. Fenelon, 227 N.W. 857, 200 Wis. 261.

45. Cal.—Sullivan v. Thompson, 87 P.2d 62, 30 Cal.App.2d 675—Galwey v. Pacific Auto Stages, 273 P. 866, 96 Cal.App. 169—Aubel v. Sosso, 236 P. 319, 72 Cal.App. 57.
Del.—Hobbs v. Lokey, 183 A. 631, 7 W.W.Harr. 408.
Ind.—Central Indiana R. Co. v. Clark, 112 N.E. 892, 63 Ind.App. 49.
N.C.—Hawkins v. Mauney, 190 S.E. 715, 211 N.C. 467.
Wis.—Knutson v. Fenelon, 227 N.W. 857, 200 Wis. 261.

46. Me.—Close v. Portland Terminal Co., 145 A. 388, 128 Me. 6.

Under Federal Employers' Liability Act, 45 U.S.C.A. §§ 51–59, recovery for medical expenses is allowed.—Close v. Portland Terminal Co., supra.

Statute precluding action by parent
Under a statutory provision that no parent may sue a county on account of injuries to a minor child, the fact that father had made written assignment of all claims which he might have to his son does not entitle the minor son to recover medical expenses necessitated by injuries sustained through negligence of county, since father had no right of action against county.—Tande v. Vernon County, 276 N.W. 359, 226 Wis. 602.

In New York, under Lien L. § 189, in a personal injury action by an infant, the amount, for which a lien by hospital for hospitalization of infant has been filed in accordance with statute, may be recovered.—Ferguson v. Ruppert, 3 N.Y.S.2d 9, 166 Misc. 530.

47. Ariz.—Pearson & Dickerson Contractors v. Harrington, 137 P.2d 381.
Conn.—Carangelo v. Nutmeg Farm, 162 A. 4, 115 Conn. 457, 82 A.L.R. 1320.
Ill.—White v. Seitz, 258 Ill.App. 318.

A parent suing as the infant's next friend waives or relinquishes in the infant's favor the right to recover such expenses.
Conn.—Carangelo v. Nutmeg Farm, 162 A. 4, 115 Conn. 457, 82 A.L.R. 1320.
Ill.—McHugh v. Hirsch Clothing Co., 31 N.E.2d 326, 308 Ill.App. 272.

48. Ala.—Stanford v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., 108 So. 566, 214 Ala. 611.
Cal.—Scott v. McPheeters, 92 P.2d 678, 33 Cal.App.2d 629, hearing denied 93 P.2d 562, 33 Cal.App.2d 629.
Ill.—Smith v. Luckhardt, 19 N.E.2d 446, 299 Ill. 100.
Mich.—Newman v. City of Detroit, 274 N.W. 710, 281 Mich. 60.
Mo.—Buel v. United Rys. Co. of St. Louis, 154 S.W. 71, 72, 248 Mo. 126, 45 L.R.A.,N.S., 625, Ann.Cas.1914C 513.
N.J.—Stemmer v. Kline, 26 A.2d 489, 128 N.J.Law 455, concurring and dissenting opinions 26 A.2d 634, 128 N.J.Law 455, reversing 17 A.2d 58, 19 N.J.Misc. 15—Ryan v. Public Service Coordinated Transport, 14 A.2d 52, 18 N.J.Misc. 429.
N.Y.—In re Roberts' Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 476, 158 Misc. 698.
Ohio.—Krantz v. Cleveland, Akron, Canton Bus Co., 32 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 445.
Pa.—Berlin v. J. C. Penney Co., 16 A.2d 28, 339 Pa. 547.
Contra Kline v. Zuckerman, 4 Pa. Dist. & Co. 227.
R.I.—Gorman v. Budlong, 49 A. 704, 23 R.I. 169.
Tex.—Magnolia Coca Cola Bottling Co. v. Jordan, 78 S.W.2d 944, 124 Tex. 347, 97 A.L.R. 1513.
31 C.J. p 1115 note 77.

49. Cal.—Scott v. McPheeters, 92 P.2d 678, 33 Cal.App.2d 629, hearing denied 93 P.2d 562, 33 Cal.App.2d 629.

Malpractice suit against physician for injuries sustained by child before its birth by the alleged negligent use of metal clamps and forceps incident to the delivery of the child.—Scott v. McPheeters, supra.

torts, as stated supra § 87, may be sued therefor.[50]

§ 105. Protection of Infant's Interest by Court

It is the right and duty of the court to protect the rights and interests of an infant party, plaintiff or defendant, to a litigation, whether or not the proper relief is asked in the pleadings or the claim or defense is properly pleaded.

It is the policy of the law to protect the interests of minor children incapable of looking after their own affairs;[51] and, since, as stated heretofore, an infant becomes a ward of the court, particularly of a court of equity, on the institution of an action or proceeding affecting his person, as discussed supra § 7, or property, as discussed supra § 57, it is the right and duty of the court, even though it has appointed a representative for the infant,[52] to protect the rights and interests of an infant party to litigation[53] on its own motion,[54] whether he is a plaintiff[55] or defendant,[56] whether or not the proper relief is asked in the pleadings,[57] and whether or not the claim or defense is properly pleaded.[58]

50. Ala.—Oliver v. McClellan, 21 Ala. 675—Pritchett v. Fife, 62 So. 1001, 8 Ala.App. 462.

51. Cal.—In re Guardianship of Carlon's Estate, 110 P.2d 488, 43 Cal.App.2d 204.
Mich.—Zoski v. Gaines, 260 N.W. 99, 271 Mich. 1.
N.Y.—Pieri v. Nebbia, 34 N.Y.S.2d 317, 178 Misc. 388.

52. Ill.—Schorow v. Schorow, 20 N.E.2d 143, 299 Ill.App. 618.
Appointment of next friend or guardian ad litem see infra § 110.

53. U.S.—Montgomery v. Erie R. Co., C.C.A.N.J., 97 F.2d 289.
Ala.—Higdon v. Higdon, 11 So.2d 140, 243 Ala. 571.
Ark.—Morgan v. Stocks, 122 S.W.2d 953, 197 Ark. 368—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Meyer, 121 S.W.2d 873, 197 Ark. 42—Ingram v. Raiford, 298 S.W. 507, 174 Ark. 1127.
Colo.—Rausch v. Cozian, 282 P. 251, 86 Colo. 389.
Ga.—Clemmons v. State, 16 S.E.2d 883, 885, 66 Ga.App. 16, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—McReynolds v. Miller, 22 N.E.2d 951, 372 Ill. 151—Skaggs v. Industrial Commission, 21 N.E.2d 731, 371 Ill. 535—Waechter v. Industrial Commission, 11 N.E.2d 378, 367 Ill. 256—Swiney v. Womack, 175 N.E. 419, 343 Ill. 278—Millage v. Noble, 166 N.E. 50, 334 Ill. 315—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N.E. 393, 331 Ill. 420—Anderson v. Anderson, 49 N.E.2d 841, 320 Ill.App. 75—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E.2d 297, 319 Ill.App. 265—Desiron v. Peloza, 32 N.E.2d 316, 306 Ill.App. 582—Zozaski v. Mather Stock Car Co., 38 N.E.2d 825, 312 Ill.App. 585—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill.App. 209—Ellison v. Ward, 13 N.E.2d 649, 294 Ill.App. 197—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill.App. 397.
Ind.—Norris v. Mingle, 29 N.E.2d 400, 217 Ind. 516—Colvert v. Colvert, 180 N.E. 192, 95 Ind.App. 325.
Ky.—Ray v. Spencer, 162 S.W.2d 789, 290 Ky. 756—Wilson's Adm'r v. Wilson, 156 S.W.2d 832, 288 Ky. 522—Cornett v. Muncy, 15 S.W.2d 251, 228 Ky. 390—Farrow v. Caudill, 250 S.W. 989, 199 Ky. 290.
Mo.—Gray v. Clement, 246 S.W. 940, 296 Mo. 497.
N.Y.—Louden v. State, 41 N.Y.S.2d 455, 181 Misc. 139—Melnick v. Lazzio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791—In re Kempf's Estate, 289 N.Y.S. 74, 159 Misc. 298, reversed on other grounds In re Kempf's Will, 297 N.Y.S. 307, 252 App.Div. 28, affirmed 16 N.E.2d 123, 278 N.Y. 613—DeGristina v. Swift & Co., 285 N.Y.S. 34, 158 Misc. 91—In re Ferguson's Guardianship, 41 N.Y.S.2d 862, affirmed 46 N.Y.S.2d 222, 266 App. Div. 1016—Leonard v. Home Owners Loan Corporation, 39 N.Y.S.2d 127.
N.C.—Latta v. Trustees of General Assembly of Presbyterian Church in U. S., 196 S.E. 862, 213 N.C. 462.
Okl.—Harjo v. Johnston, 104 P.2d 985, 187 Okl. 561—Schulte v. Herndon, 84 P.2d 607, 184 Okl. 77—Tucker v. Leonard, 291 P. 124, 144 Okl. 264—Tucker v. Leonard, 291 P. 135, 144 Okl. 258—Tanner v. Schultz, 223 P. 174, 97 Okl. 132.
R.I.—Roullard v. McSoley, 172 A. 326, 54 R.I. 232.
S.C.—McDavid v. McDavid, 197 S.E. 204, 187 S.C. 127, 116 A.L.R. 1412—McCoy v. Provident Life Ins. Co., 153 S.E. 468, 156 S.C. 496.
Tenn.—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn. App. 319, 336, quoting Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Williams v. Patterson, Com. App., 288 S.W. 132, reversing, Civ. App., 276 S.W. 750—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, 175, quoting Corpus Juris.
Va.—Newman v. Light, 148 S.E. 818, 152 Va. 760.
Wash.—In re Deming's Guardianship, 73 P.2d 764, 192 Wash. 190.
W.Va.—Keller v. Norfolk & W. Ry. Co., 167 S.E. 448, 113 W.Va. 286.
31 C.J. p 1115 note 84.
Duty to protect property rights of infant see supra § 57.

54. Fla.—Mote v. Morton, 41 So. 607, 52 Fla. 548.
Ill.—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N.E. 393, 331 Ill. 420—Mason v. Truitt, 100 N.E. 202, 257 Ill. 18—Johnson v. Turner, 49 N.E.2d 297, 319 Ill. App. 265—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill. App. 209—Schrader v. Schrader, 280 Ill.App. 561.
Neb.—Everson v. Hurn, 131 N.W. 1130, 89 Neb. 716.
N.C.—Latta v. Trustees of General Assembly of Presbyterian Church in U. S., 196 S.E. 862, 213 N.C. 462.
Okl.—Harjo v. Johnston, 104 P.2d 985, 187 Okl. 561.
Tenn.—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn. App. 319.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.
Noticing objections
The court is bound to notice legitimate and substantial objections whether or not raised by the infant's representatives.—McReynolds v. Miller, 22 N.E.2d 951, 372 Ill. 151.

55. Fla.—Mote v. Morton, 41 So. 607, 52 Fla. 548.
N.Y.—Ambrosius v. Ambrosius, 152 N.Y.S. 562, 167 App.Div. 244.
Pa.—Dehart v. Kerlin, 4 Pa.Co. 396.
Tenn.—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn. App. 319.

56. N.J.—Bunting v. Brown, 99 A. 840, 87 N.J.Eq. 20.
Ohio.—Bennett v. Fleming, 137 N.E. 900, 105 Ohio St. 352.
Tenn.—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn. App. 319.

57. Tenn.—Wilson v. Mullen, 11 Tenn.App. 319.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.
31 C.J. p 1115 note 88.
Rights of infant disclosed by evidence are protected without regard to pleadings.—Magevney v. Karsch, 65 S.W.2d 562, 167 Tenn. 32, 92 A.L.R. 343.

58. Fla.—Parken v. Safford, 37 So. 567, 48 Fla. 290.
Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 287, 287 Ill. App. 397—Doubet v. Doubet, 196 Ill.App. 289.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 166, 89 A.L.R. 571.
"In all procedural matters the courts are uniformly more liberal

In order to protect fully the infant's interest the court should exercise a general supervision over the conduct of the next friend or guardian ad litem,[59] advise such representative as to what steps to take or what pleadings to file,[60] and see that the infant's rights are in no way sacrificed[61] or prejudiced or abandoned,[62] that all proper defenses are made for him,[63] and that he is given a fair and impartial hearing,[64] before judgment is rendered against him.[65]

Limitation. The duty and power of the court to protect the interest of an infant litigant are limited to cases wherein the adult parties to the litigation have no rights which are prejudiced thereby,[66] and will not allow infancy to be used as a means for the perpetration of fraud.[67] The court has no power to deny to the adult party the relief to which he shows himself entitled under the law merely because the interest of an infant might be promoted by such refusal.[68]

Compromise and settlement of litigation. The court, such as a court of equity, may authorize the compromise or settlement of a litigation affecting the rights of an infant party thereto, where the evidence shows that a compromise is proper and for the best interests of the infant,[69] and any proposed settlement is subject to the approval of the court.[70] The court, however, should not permit the opposing party to furnish or suggest an attorney to carry on the proceeding for the effectuation of a settlement agreement.[71]

§ 106. Parties in General

a. Infant as real party
b. Necessary and proper parties and joinder
c. Designation or description of parties
d. Substitution of parties

a. Infant as Real Party

An infant is the real party to a suit prosecuted or defended on his behalf by a next friend or guardian ad litem.

Although a suit is prosecuted or defended on behalf of an infant by a next friend or a guardian in dealing with the rights of children than with sui juris adults."—Smith v. Swope, 145 S.W.2d 827, 829, 284 Ky. 625.

59. Ala.—Midgley v. Ralls, 176 So. 799, 234 Ala. 685.
Ill.—Skaggs v. Industrial Commission, 21 N.E.2d 731, 371 Ill. 535.
Mo.—Spotts v. Spotts, 55 S.W.2d 977, 331 Mo. 917, 87 A.L.R. 660.
N.Y.—Downey v. Fogarty, 23 N.Y.S.2d 585, 175 Misc. 411.
Pa.—Bertinelli v. Galoni, 200 A. 58, 331 Pa. 73, 118 A.L.R. 398.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166.
Wis.—In re Jaeger's Will, 259 N.W. 852, 218 Wis. 1, 99 A.L.R. 738.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 90.

The court should examine the facts and circumstances carefully, in permitting an action for an infant by a next friend.—Kidd v. Kidd, 124 S.W.2d 66, 276 Ky. 271.

If guardian ad litem fails properly to protect interest of his ward, the court may compel him to do so.—Millage v. Noble, 166 N.E. 50, 334 Ill. 315.

Special guardian

(1) The duties of a special guardian appointed by the court are very similar to those of an attorney, but court is solely responsible for appointment of special guardian, and person for whom he acts has no voice in his employment and therefore the law supervises more strictly the performance of special guardian's duties and takes greater precaution against possibility of negligence on his part than in case of a private attorney.—Downey v. Fogarty, 23 N.Y.S.2d 585, 175 Misc. 411.

(2) The surrogate's court will not advise a special guardian as to the performance of his duties in matters of procedure.—In re Balfe's Will, 20 N.Y.S.2d 474, 174 Misc. 279, denying motion 274 N.Y.S. 284, 152 Misc. 739, modified on other grounds 280 N.Y.S. 128, 245 App.Div. 22, and affirmed Application of De Mott, 27 N.Y.S.2d 472, 261 App.Div. 996, appeal denied In re Balfe's Estate, 28 N.Y.S.2d 153, 262 App.Div. 746.

60. N.Y.—In re Chittenden, Tuck. Surr. 251.
Okl.—American Inv. Co. v. Brewer, 181 P. 294, 74 Okl. 271.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166.

61. Ark.—Morgan v. Stocks, 122 S.W.2d 953, 197 Ark. 368.
Wis.—In re Jaeger's Will, 259 N.W. 852, 218 Wis. 1, 99 A.L.R. 738.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 92.

Court has broad discretion to see that equity is done in minor's action.—Pereira v. Toscano, 258 P. 429, 84 Cal.App. 526.

62. Ill.—Skaggs v. Industrial Commission, 21 N.E.2d 731, 371 Ill. 535—Ellison v. Ward, 13 N.E.2d 649, 294 Ill.App. 197.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 93.

Court cannot permit infants' rights to be prejudiced by waiver, omission, neglect, or design of guardian or other person, as far as it is within the power of the court to prevent it.—Union Chevrolet Co. v. Arrington, 138 So. 593, 162 Miss. 816.

63. Okl.—Tanner v. Schultz, 223 P. 174, 97 Okl. 132.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 94.
Answer or defense for infants see infra § 116.

64. Ala.—Midgley v. Ralls, 176 So. 799, 234 Ala. 685.

65. Ky.—Shaefer v. Gates, 2 B.Mon. 453, 38 Am.D. 164.

66. Tex.—Morris v. Morris, 99 S.W. 872, 45 Tex.Civ.App. 60.

67. Ky.—Farrow v. Caudill, 250 S.W. 989, 199 Ky. 290.

The court especially will protect the innocent party, when to do otherwise involves an exception to the fundamental rule not to decree a forfeiture except on imperative grounds.—Farrow v. Caudill, supra.

68. Tex.—Morris v. Morris, 99 S.W. 872, 45 Tex.Civ.App. 60.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 99.

69. Ill.—Wolf v. Uhlemann, 156 N.E. 334, 325 Ill. 165—Matthews v. Doner, 127 N.E. 137, 292 Ill. 592.
N.C.—Reynolds v. Reynolds, 182 S.E. 341, 208 N.C. 578.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 96.
Compromise or settlement by or for infant generally see supra § 80.

70. N.Y.—In re Winkhous, 284 N.Y.S. 52, 157 Misc. 560.

Surrogate's court

Any proposed settlement in favor of infant child of deceased seaman in death action under federal statute would be wholly subject to approval of surrogate's court.—In re Winkhous, supra.

71. N.Y.—De Gristina v. Swift & Co., 285 N.Y.S. 34, 158 Misc. 91.

ad litem, the latter ordinarily cannot be considered a party to the cause,[72] but the infant is the real party,[73] whether the proceeding be one at law or one in equity;[74] and the infant's status as a party is not affected by his coming of age after the commencement of the suit.[75] However, a next friend may be regarded as a party for some purposes,[76] and is regarded as a party within the meaning of certain statutes relating to the conduct of suits.[77]

b. Necessary and Proper Parties and Joinder

An infant, and other persons, having an interest in the subject matter of a suit affecting the infant's estate or person are proper and necessary parties thereto, and generally should be joined as plaintiffs or defendants.

Persons who have an interest in, or claim on, the property or right in controversy are necessary parties,[78] and it is the duty of the court to direct that all persons be made parties to the litigation whose presence is necessary to give the court jurisdiction to grant the infant proper and adequate relief.[79] Persons who have no interest in the litigation are not necessary[80] or proper[81] parties.

Joining infants as parties. Whenever a suit is brought affecting the interests of infants, they are proper and necessary parties, and may or should be joined as such,[82] and a judgment or decree cannot affect an infant unless he was made a party to the suit in which it was rendered,[83] or unless his interest is properly represented in the suit by a party thereto, as considered in the C.J.S. title Judgments § 776, also 34 C.J. p 1000 notes 27, 28. On the other hand, they are not proper or necessary parties where their interests are not affected.[84] An infant cannot be made a party plaintiff to an action for the purpose only of defeating his rights.[85] Where infants and adults are joined as parties in the same action, the fact of infancy can be of no avail to the adults and they cannot claim that any more shall be proved against them than if all the parties were adults.[86]

In equity. It has been held that an infant party to a bill in equity, ordinarily should be made defendant rather than complainant;[87] but that, while the joining of an infant as plaintiff instead of as defendant may constitute error,[88] it is not such a jurisdictional defect as to render the decree void as against bona fide purchasers under it.[89] It has also

72. N.C.—Rabil v. Farris, 196 S.E. 321, 213 N.C. 414.
Pa.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.
Tex.—Safeway Stores of Texas v. Rutherford, Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 1055, affirmed 111 S.W.2d 688, 130 Tex. 465.
Va.—Kirby v. Gilliam, 28 S.E.2d 40, 182 Va. 111.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 10.

73. Ala.—Irwin v. Alabama Fuel & Iron Co., 110 So. 566, 215 Ala. 328.
N.C.—Rabil v. Farris, 196 S.E. 321, 213 N.C. 414.
N.Y.—Torrey v. State, 23 N.Y.S.2d 370, 175 Misc. 259.
Pa.—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa.Super. 290.
Tex.—Safeway Stores of Texas v. Rutherford, Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 1055, 1057, citing Corpus Juris, and affirmed 111 S.W.2d 688, 130 Tex. 465.
Va.—Kirby v. Gilliam, 28 S.E.2d 40, 182 Va. 111.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 11.

74. Vt.—Slafter v. Savage, 95 A. 790, 89 Vt. 352.

75. Pa.—Shoff v. Shoff, 46 Pa.Dist. & Co. 314, 48 Lanc.Rev. 177, 56 York Leg.Rec. 103.
Tex.—Deering v. Hurt, 2 S.W. 42.
31 C.J. p 1157 note 37.

76. Ala.—Irwin v. Alabama Fuel & Iron Co., 110 So. 566, 215 Ala. 328.
Nominal plaintiff
Ky.—Smith v. Swope, 145 S.W.2d 827, 284 Ky. 625.

77. Ala.—Swope v. Swope, 55 So. 418, 173 Ala. 157, Ann.Cas.1914A 537.
31 C.J. p 1116 note 14.

78. Ga.—Campbell v. Atlanta Coach Co., 200 S.E. 203, 58 Ga.App. 824, transferred, see 196 S.E. 769, 186 Ga. 77.
Okl.—American Inv. Co. v. Brewer, 181 P. 294, 74 Okl. 271.

79. Ky.—Andrews v. Hurt, 14 Ky.L. 765.
Okl.—American Inv. Co. v. Brewer, 181 P. 294, 74 Okl. 271.

80. N.Y.—Finn v. Post, 112 N.Y.S. 1046, 61 Misc. 136.
31 C.J. p 1117 note 17.

81. Ark.—Barker v. Fuestal, 147 S.W. 45, 103 Ark. 312.

82. Ala.—Hays v. McCarty, 195 So. 241, 239 Ala. 400—Amann v. Burke, 186 So. 769, 237 Ala. 380.
Cal.—Mabry v. Scott, 124 P.2d 659, 51 Cal.App.2d 245, certiorari denied Title Ins. & Trust Co. v. Mabry, 63 S.Ct. 75, 317 U.S. 670, 87 L.Ed. 538.
Ky.—Hickman County Board of Drainage Com'rs v. Union Stock Land Bank, 83 S.W.2d 511, 259 Ky. 823.
Mo.—In re Cordes' Estate, App., 116 S.W.2d 207.
Pa.—Slack v. Crozier, 31 Pa.Dist. & Co. 209, 26 North.Co. 150.
31 C.J. p 1117 note 21.
Minor and parent
Where a minor is injured and suit is brought by the father in his own right and as next friend of the minor, there is a proper joinder of plaintiffs.—Slack v. Crozier, supra.
Where infant joins in making of contract with an adult they may jointly sue for its enforcement.—American Film Co. v. Reilly, C.C.A. Cal., 278 F. 147.

83. Ky.—Hickman County Board of Drainage Com'rs v. Union Stock Land Bank, 83 S.W.2d 511, 259 Ky. 823.
N.Y.—Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. v. Proctor, 201 N.Y.S. 420, 206 App.Div. 510.
31 C.J. p 1117 note 22.

84. Ind.—Driscoll v. Penrod, 95 N.E. 313, 176 Ind. 19.
N.Y.—Gropper v. Gropper, 190 N.Y.S. 604, 198 App.Div. 528.

85. Ky.—Foster v. Ewing, 7 Ky.Op. 503.

86. Ill.—Cox v. Reed, 27 Ill. 434.

87. Tenn.—Davidson v. Bowden, 5 Sneed 129.
31 C.J. p 1117 note 26.
It is better practice in proceedings affecting land of infants to make the infants defendants and have a guardian ad litem appointed.—Highfill v. Konnerman, 43 S.W.2d 657, 241 Ky. 282—Clark v. Satterfield's Adm'r, 26 S.W.2d 516, 233 Ky. 600.

88. Tenn.—Davidson v. Bowden, 5 Sneed 129.

89. Tenn.—McGavock v. Bell, 2 Coldw. 512.

been held that the rule requiring the joining of an infant as defendant and not as plaintiff need not be applied strictly except when the infant has a substantial interest in the litigation,[90] that a proceeding which divests a minor of an estate in lands is not necessarily against his interest so that he must in every possible contingency be made defendant,[91] and that on a suggestion at any stage of the cause that an infant party is on the wrong side of the record, the court may order an inquiry, and if the fact is found as suggested the proceedings will be amended by placing the infant on the opposite side of the suit.[92] On the other hand, it has been held that where the suit relates to an infant's estate or person he need not be made a party defendant as he immediately becomes a ward of the court.[93]

In partition proceeding. Inasmuch as all the cotenants are indispensable parties to a proceeding for partition, as stated in the C.J.S. title Partition § 73, also 47 C.J. p 365 note 22-p 366 note 27, if infant cotenants do not join as plaintiffs, as they may do,[94] they must be made defendants by representation or otherwise.[95]

c. Designation or Description of Parties

The prosecution or defense of an action or suit in behalf of an infant should be in the name of the infant by his guardian ad litem or next friend.

An action or suit, whether at law or in equity,[96] respecting an infant's property or person must be prosecuted[97] or defended[98] in his own name by his guardian ad litem or next friend, and not in the name of the guardian ad litem or next friend.[99] If the infant is not named in the complaint or bill he is not a party,[1] although an answer is filed for him by a guardian ad litem.[2] Mere technical errors, however, in the designation or description of the parties will not invalidate the judgment or decree,[3] such as, for instance, the misnomer of the infant;[4] such errors may be corrected by amendment.[5] Where a parent sues in behalf of his infant child without designating himself as his next friend, the court will assume that he sustains that relationship and that the suit is brought by him as the child's next friend.[6]

d. Substitution of Parties

General rules regarding the substitution of parties apply.

90. N.Y.—Bowen v. Idley, 1 Edw. 148.
31 C.J. p 1117 note 29.

91. Ill.—Burger v. Potter, 32 Ill. 66.

92. N.Y.—Le Fort v. Delafield, 3 Edw. 32—Bowen v. Idley, 1 Edw. 160.

93. Ala.—McWhorter v. Cox, 195 So. 435, 239 Ala. 441—Rivers v. Durr, 46 Ala. 418.

Suit for distribution of partition proceeds
In suit by minors by next friend, for distribution of proceeds of partition sale of land which had been held in trust, such minors need not be made parties defendant.—McWhorter v. Cox, 195 So. 435, 239 Ala. 441.
Infant as ward of court generally see supra § 7.

94. Neb.—Nitz v. Widman, 184 N.W. 172, 106 Neb. 736.
47 C.J. p 368 note 84.

Authority to join infant as plaintiff
Where a power of attorney for the settlement of certain estates did not authorize the bringing of suit, the holder of the power had no authority, by reason of it, to join minors as parties plaintiff in a partition suit.—Scaife v. Jones, 99 So. 890, 156 La. 5.

95. Ala.—Dickinson v. Jordan, 98 So. 886, 210 Ala. 602.
Ky.—Blue v. Waters, 71 S.W. 889, 114 Ky. 859.
47 C.J. p 383 note 87.

96. Ala.—Bowie v. Minter, 2 Ala. 406.

97. Ala.—Southern Ry. Co. v. Penny, 114 So. 15, 22 Ala.App. 199.
Ga.—Huley v. Huley, 114 S.E. 184, 154 Ga. 321—Coleman v. Dublin Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 170 S.E. 549, 47 Ga.App. 369.
Ind.—Wilson v. Galey, 2 N.E. 736, 103 Ind. 257.
Md.—Hamill v. Hamill, 159 A. 247, 250, 162 Md. 159, citing Corpus Juris.
Minn.—Johnson v. Colp, 300 N.W. 791, 211 Minn. 245—Borowski v. Sargent, 246 N.W. 540, 188 Minn. 102—Lund v. Springsteel, 246 N.W. 116, 187 Minn. 577.
N.J.—Ratz v. Hillside Bus Owners' Ass'n, 135 A. 884, 103 N.J.Law 502—MacDonald v. Public Service Co-Ordinated Transport, 158 A. 407, 10 N.J.Misc. 177.
Tenn.—Newburger v. Newburger, 14 Tenn.App. 229.
Va.—Kirby v. Gilliam, 28 S.E.2d 40, 182 Va. 111—Garland v. Norfolk Nat. Bank of Commerce and Trusts, 158 S.E. 888, 156 Va. 653.
W.Va.—Ebbert v. Westfall, 17 S.E.2d 787, 789, 123 W.Va. 690, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1117 note 34.

Statutory provision that infants not having guardians must sue by next friend authorizes suits by minors in their own names by next friend, and not by person suing "for and on behalf of such minor."—Upshaw v. Eubank, 151 So. 837, 227 Ala. 653.

98. Ga.—Huley v. Huley, 114 S.E. 184, 154 Ga. 321.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 35.

99. Minn.—Borowski v. Sargent, 246 N.W. 540, 188 Minn. 102.
Va.—Kirby v. Gilliam, 28 S.E.2d 40, 43, 182 Va. 111, citing Corpus Juris.
W.Va.—Ebbert v. Westfall, 17 S.E.2d 787, 123 W.Va. 690.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 36.

Objection to action in name of guardian ad litem may be raised by demurrer.—Sandeen v. Tschider, N. D., 205 F. 252, 123 C.C.A. 456.

1. Ky.—Dixon v. Donaldson, 6 J.J. Marsh. 575.

2. Ky.—Dixon v. Donaldson, supra.

3. Miss.—Ætna Indemn. Co. v. State, 57 So. 980, 101 Miss. 703, 39 L.R.A.,N.S., 961.
Pa.—Shoff v. Shoff, 46 Pa.Dist. & Co. 314, 48 Lanc.Rev. 177, 56 York Leg.Rec. 103.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 39.

4. W.Va.—Tomblin v. Peck, 80 S.E. 450, 73 W.Va. 336.

5. Ga.—Coleman v. Dublin Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 170 S.E. 549, 47 Ga.App. 369.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 41.

6. Iowa.—In re Brackey, 147 N.W. 188, 166 Iowa 109.
Tex.—Thompson v. Thompson, Civ. App., 202 S.W. 175.

Governed by the general rules regarding the substitution of parties, proper parties may be substituted in actions by or against infants.[7] Where the person suing on behalf of the infant is not duly qualified to act, it is proper to allow an amendment substituting another person who is qualified to act.[8] If the infant sues alone the name of a next friend may be inserted;[9] a next friend may be substituted for a guardian ad litem;[10] or the name of a next friend may be stricken out and another substituted,[11] and such a substitution, when allowed, relates back to the commencement of the suit.[12]

§ 107. Representation by Guardian ad Litem or Next Friend

A guardian ad litem is a special guardian appointed by the court to prosecute or defend, in behalf of an infant, a suit to which he is a party. A next friend is one who, without being regularly appointed guardian, acts for the benefit of an infant.

A guardian ad litem is a special guardian, appointed by the court to prosecute or defend, in behalf of an infant, a suit to which he is a party.[13] A next friend[14] or prochein ami[15] is one who, without being regularly appointed guardian, acts for the benefit of an infant; one admitted to the court to prosecute for an infant.[16] Such persons are considered as agents or officers of the court,[17] their office being to represent the interest of the infant in the litigation.[18] While technically speaking a next friend or prochein ami represents an infant plain-

7. Ala.—Savage v. Smith, 31 So. 374, 132 Ala. 64.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 46.

Conditional substitution erroneous
In action by infant against executor of natural father on an agreement by father for infant's support, where infant's mother, by whom action was brought, did not testify, court erred in ordering substitution of parties in behalf of infant only on condition that mother should not testify, since competency of mother's testimony was to be determined when she offered herself as a witness.—Lee v. Leibold, 79 P.2d 1049, 102 Colo. 408, 116 A.L.R. 1319.

Substitution of guardian for next friend, and vice versa see Guardian and Ward § 176.

Substitution of parties:
In civil actions generally see the C.J.S. title Parties §§ 85–89, also 47 C.J. p 157 note 56–p 166 note 6.
In equity see Equity § 159.

8. Ala.—McWhorter v. Cox, 195 So. 435, 239 Ala. 441.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 47.

9. N.H.—Strong v. New Hampshire Box Co., 131 A. 688, 82 N.H. 221—Young v. Young, 3 N.H. 345.

10. Pa.—Dehart v. Kerlin, 4 Pa.Co. 396.

11. N.H.—Strong v. New Hampshire Box Co., 131 A. 688, 82 N.H. 221—Woodman v. Rowe, 59 N.H. 453.

12. N.H.—Strong v. New Hampshire Box Co., 131 A. 688, 82 N.H. 221—Woodman v. Rowe, 59 N.H. 453.

13. U.S.—Till v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co., C.C.A.Okl., 124 F.2d 405, 408, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris.
Or.—Benson v. Birch, 10 P.2d 1050, 1051, 139 Or. 459, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1118 notes 52, 53.

Similar definitions
(1) A guardian ad litem is "A guardian appointed to represent the ward in legal proceedings to which he is a party defendant."—King v. Emmons, 277 N.W. 851, 854, 283 Mich. 116, 115 A.L.R. 564.

(2) Other definitions.—Gary State Bank v. Gary State Bank, 2 N.E.2d 814, 102 Ind.App. 342.

14. U.S.—Till v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co., C.C.A.Okl., 124 F.2d 405, 408, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill.App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—In re Boulware's Will, 258 N.Y.S. 522, 144 Misc. 235.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 54.

15. Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill.App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 55.

16. Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill.App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 56–57.

"The sole purpose in having a next friend is to supply the want of capacity in the minor, to afford someone responsible for the costs."—Bertinelli v. Galoni, 200 A. 58, 59, 331 Pa. 73, 118 A.L.R. 398.

17. Fla.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682.
Ga.—Sanders v. Hinton, 156 S.E. 812, 171 Ga. 702.
Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill.App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris.
Kan.—Fotopoulos v. Gas Service Co., 96 P.2d 666, 668, 150 Kan. 738, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Hooker, 98 S.W.2d 922, 925, 266 Ky. 257, citing Corpus Juris—Kash v. Kash's Guardian, 85 S.W.2d 866, 867, 260 Ky. 377, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Spotts v. Spotts, 55 S.W.2d 977, 331 Mo. 917, 87 A.L.R. 660—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris—West St. Louis Trust Co. of St. Louis v. Brokaw, 102 S.W.2d 792, 795, 232 Mo.App. 209, citing Corpus Juris.
R.I.—Stanton v. Sullivan, 4 A.2d 269, 62 R.I. 154.
31 C.J. p 1118 notes 58, 59.

In limited sense
A guardian ad litem is an officer of the court in only a limited sense; he is not called on to weigh the merits of the proceeding and pass on the rights of the respective litigants.—In re Schrier's Will, 283 N.Y.S. 233, 157 Misc. 310.

Representatives
"In a special sense they are representatives of the court appointing them to protect unrepresented minors and the interests of those unborn."—In re Hallstead's Estate, 12 A.2d 912, 338 Pa. 257.

18. Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill.App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris.
Kan.—Fotopoulous v. Gas Service Co., 96 P.2d 666, 668, 150 Kan. 738, quoting Corpus Juris.
Ky.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Hooker, 98 S.W.2d 922, 925, 266 Ky. 257, citing Corpus Juris—Kash v. Kash's Guardian, 85 S.W.2d 866, 867, 260 Ky. 377, citing Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Crawford v. Amusement Synditiff, and a guardian ad litem represents an infant defendant,[19] there is little, if any, difference between their functions or powers.[20] A next friend is in the nature of a guardian ad litem,[21] or an attorney,[22] by whom the suit is brought or defended in behalf of another.

Curator ad hoc is one appointed for a particular purpose, that is, a special curator,[23] as where the interests of parent or curator conflict with those of the pupil, or where it is necessary to effect service of process on a nonresident.[24]

A special curator is a curator ad hoc.[25]

Curator ad litem is one appointed to represent the pupil in litigation.[26]

§ 108. —— Necessity for Representation

a. In general
b. Effect of lack of representation
c. Raising objection
d. Waiver or loss of right to object

a. In General

A guardian ad litem should be appointed to represent an infant party to the suit whose interests may be adversely affected thereby.

Although, as considered supra § 103, an infant is capable of suing or being sued, his incapacity requires that he be protected, as considered supra § 105, and, in the absence of a statute dispensing with the necessity of such representation,[27] to that end it is generally necessary that an infant litigant should be properly represented by some one who may adequately enforce or protect his rights,[28] throughout cate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris—West St. Louis Trust Co. of St. Louis v. Brokaw, 102 S.W.2d 792, 795, 232 Mo.App. 209, citing Corpus Juris.

Or.—Benson v. Birch, 10 P.2d 1050, 1051, 139 Or. 459, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1118 note 60.
"The purpose of appointing such an officer is to keep the judge judicial, and to put the burden of investigation and claim on someone else." —In re Steel's Estate, 32 Pa.Dist. & Co. 55, 57.

19. Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill.App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris—Ellison v. Ward, 13 N.E.2d 649, 651, 294 Ill.App. 197, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Campbell v. Campbell, 165 S.W.2d 851, 857, 350 Mo. 169, quoting Corpus Juris—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.J.—Weinstein v. Chelsea Securities & Investment Co., 145 A. 231, 104 N.J.Eq. 258—In re March's Estate, 6 A.2d 478, 17 N.J.Misc. 157.
Tex.—Greathouse v. Fort Worth & Denver City Ry. Co., Com.App., 65 S.W.2d 762, 765, citing Corpus Juris, reversing Fort Worth & Denver City Ry. Co. v. Greathouse, Civ.App., 41 S.W.2d 418—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 38 S.W.2d 292—Blackman v. Blackman, Civ.App., 128 S.W.2d 433, 442, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1119 note 61.

20. Ga.—Sanders v. Hinton, 156 S.E. 812, 171 Ga. 702.
Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill.App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris—Ellison v. Ward, 13 N.E.2d 649, 651, 294 Ill.App. 197, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Campbell v. Campbell, 165 S.W.2d 851, 857, 350 Mo. 169, quoting Corpus Juris—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris.
N.J.—La Bell v. Suasdorf, 184 A. 750, 116 N.J.Law 368.
31 C.J. p 1119 notes 62–63.
There is little distinction between a next friend and a guardian ad litem.—Till v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co., C.C.A.Okl., 124 F.2d 405.

21. Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill.App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581, 584, quoting Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Bertinelli v. Galoni, 200 A. 58, 331 Pa. 73, 118 A.L.R. 398.
31 C.J. p 1119 note 64.

22. Pa.—Bertinelli v. Galoni, supra.
31 C.J. p 1119 note 65.

23. La.—Derepas v. Shallus, 15 La. 371, 373—State v. Parish Ct. Judge, 15 La. 81, 83.

24. La.—Derepas v. Shallus, 15 La. 371, 374.

25. La.—Sallier v. Rosteet, 32 So. 383, 108 La. 378, 380.

26. N.Y.—Monroe v. Douglas, 4 Sandf.Ch. 126, 200.
17 C.J. p 403 note 17.
In Louisiana "in 1830 the legislature abolished the curators ad bona and ad litem, and in all cases placed the estates of minors under tutors and undertutors until the minors should attain majority or be emancipated. The curator ad hoc was then the only person under our system who could be appointed to represent a minor not represented by an undertutor."—Welch v. Baxter, 13 So. 629, 630, 45 La.Ann. 1062.

27. Compromise with parent
(1) Under some statutes, a minor's father is authorized to petition for an order of the superior court approving compromise of the minor's disputed claim for damages against a third person, but appointment of a guardian, appearance in court of the father or of the minor or taking of testimony relating to the extent of the minor's injuries is not required, and an attack on the order of approval based on such grounds is a collateral attack.—Rico v. Nasser Bros. Realty Co., 137 P.2d 861, 58 Cal.App.2d 878.

(2) In action for injuries sustained by minor where settlement approved by the superior court was pleaded as a bar, trial court properly rejected offers of proof which would have shown nothing more than a possible error or irregularity in the approval proceeding, where minor did not seek to set aside the order of settlement on any grounds on which a direct attack could be made.—Rico v. Nasser Bros. Realty Co., supra.

28. Cal.—Field v. Hughes, 20 P.2d 990, 131 Cal.App. 144.
Del.—Home Owners' Loan Corporation v. Stein, 176 A. 663, 6 W.W. Harr. 411.
Fla.—Wilkie v. Roberts, 109 So. 225, 91 Fla. 1064.
Ga.—Huley v. Huley, 114 S.E. 184, 154 Ga. 321.
Ill.—Skaggs v. Industrial Commission, 21 N.E.2d 731, 371 Ill. 535—Waechter v. Industrial Commission, 11 N.E.2d 378, 367 Ill. 256—Hasterlik v. Hasterlik, 146 N.E. 498, 316 Ill. 72, transferred, see 234 Ill.App. 572.
Iowa.—Parkins v. Alexander, 74 N.W. 769, 105 Iowa 74.

Ky.—Highfill v. Konnerman, 43 S.W. 2d 657, 241 Ky. 283—Hounshell v. Hounshell, 3 S.W.2d 620, 228 Ky. 289.
La.—McVay v. New Orleans Public Service, App., 148 So. 67.
Mich.—Cohen v. Home Life Ins. Co., 263 N.W. 857, 273 Mich. 469.
Miss.—Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gleason, 187 So. 229, 185 Miss. 243.
Mo.—Woods v. Woods, App., 170 S. W.2d 430.
N.H.—Roberts v. Hillsborough Mills, 161 A. 29, 85 N.H. 517.
N.J.—Scott v. Schisler, 153 A. 395, 107 N.J.Law 397.
N.Y.—In re Beban's Estate, 237 N.Y. S. 701, 135 Misc. 25—Grego v. Demario, 231 N.Y.S. 180, 133 Misc. 53, reversed on other grounds 234 N.Y.S. 805, 226 App.Div. 838—Horan v. Greig, 12 N.Y.S.2d 67.
Or.—Kessler v. Kerr, 43 P.2d 616, 150 Or. 447—Benson v. Birch, 10 P. 2d 1050, 1051, 139 Or. 459, citing Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Hamilton v. Moore, 6 A.2d 787, 335 Pa. 433—In re Komara's Estate, 166 A. 577, 311 Pa. 135—Camera & Radio Shop v. Zalewske, 157 A. 376, 102 Pa.Super. 562—In re Mitchell's Estate, 20 Pa.Dist. & Co. 101, 48 York Leg.Rec. 13—In re Stewart's Estate, 9 Som.Leg.J. 148, 52 York Leg.Rec. 53.
R.I.—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.
Tenn.—Freeman v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, 70 S.W.2d 25, 167 Tenn. 399.
Tex.—Williams v. Patterson, Com. App., 288 S.W. 132, reversing, Civ. App., 276 S.W. 750—De Proy v. Progakis, Com.App., 269 S.W. 78, reversing, Civ.App., 259 S.W. 620—Block v. Burch, Civ.App., 77 S.W. 2d 572, error dismissed—Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. v. Rainboldt, Civ. App., 40 S.W.2d 827, error dismissed—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, 175, quoting Corpus Juris, and reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.
Va.—Belcher v. Tredway, 118 S.E. 79, 136 Va. 181.
W.Va.—Johnson v. Hawkins, 157 S.E. 412, 110 W.Va. 199.
Wis.—In re Jaeger's Will, 259 N.W. 842, 218 Wis. 1, 99 A.L.R. 738.
31 C.J. p 1119 note 69—40 C.J. p 1293 note 63 [a].

Representation by general guardian see Guardian and Ward § 175.
Representation in:
- Adoption proceedings see Adoption of Children § 36.
- Agreement for compensation under Workmen's Compensation Acts see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts § 403, also 71 C.J. p 936 note 42.
- Bastardy proceedings see Bastards § 97.
- Condemnation proceeding see Eminent Domain § 226 b.
- Declaratory judgment actions see Actions § 18 d (14) (d).
- Divorce suits by or against infant wife see Divorce §§ 89, 90.
- Federal courts under federal practice see Federal Courts § 123 b.
- Proceedings for accounting by guardian see Guardian and Ward § 154 a.
- Proceedings for appointment of trustee see the C.J.S. title Trusts § 218, also 65 C.J. p 600 note 41.
- Proceedings to obtain judicial approval of guardian's investments see Guardian and Ward § 84 b (1).
- Proceedings to secure compensation under Workmen's Compensation Act see the C.J.S. title Workmen's Compensation Acts § 429, also 71 C.J. p 972 notes 9–21.
- Proceedings to sell realty under order of court see supra § 64.
- Statutory death action see Death §§ 59, 61.
- Will probate proceedings see the C.J.S. title Wills § 362, also 68 C.J. p 953 note 78 and 31 C.J. p 1120 note 76 [a].

Appearance

(1) Jurisdiction of defendant, while an infant, may be acquired only through the appearance by a guardian ad litem.—Pacillo v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586.

(2) Minor must appear by guardian ad litem.—Caskey v. Peterson, 263 N.W. 658, 220 Wis. 690.

Persons of full age

(1) It is proper not to appoint guardians ad litem to represent persons of full legal age.
Ark.—Federal Land Bank of St. Louis v. Cottrell, 126 S.W.2d 279, 197 Ark. 783.
Mo.—Audsley v. Hale, 261 S.W. 117, 303 Mo. 451.

(2) Accordingly, where a female becomes of full legal age at eighteen, the appointment of a guardian ad litem for a female over eighteen but under twenty-one is unnecessary.—Audsley v. Hale, supra.

(3) Where, however, a female does not become of full legal age until she is twenty-one, a failure to appoint a guardian ad litem for a female defendant twenty years old is erroneous.—Olsen v. East Side Packing Co., 3 S.W.2d 281, 221 Mo.App. 290.

Purpose of statutes

(1) The purpose of statutes providing for the appointment of guardians ad litem is to protect infants.
Cal.—Doyle v. Loyd, 114 P.2d 398, 45 Cal.App.2d 493.
Nev.—Baker v. Baker, 87 P.2d 800, 59 Nev. 163, modified 96 P.2d 200, 59 Nev. 163.

(2) Purpose of statute requiring guardians and curators to represent wards in all legal proceedings, to sue for, demand, and receive all their dues, give discharges therefor, and compound them on terms authorized by probate court, is to subject minors' affairs to supervision of probate court.—Fenn v. Hart Dairy Co., 83 S.W.2d 120, 231 Mo.App. 1005.

Tutor

(1) A tutor duly appointed should represent the infant.—Crayton v. Waters, 83 So. 540, 146 La. 238—Gilbert v. Mazerat, 46 So. 47, 121 La. 35.

(2) Where the tutor goes to another state and acquires a domicile there, he forfeits the tutorship, and a curator ad hoc should be appointed to represent the minors.—Matthews v. Olla State Bank, 114 So. 98, 164 La. 463.

Unborn persons

(1) Statutes authorizing courts to appoint guardians to represent unborn persons held valid.
Ill.—Gunnell v. Palmer, 18 N.E.2d 202, 370 Ill. 206, 120 A.L.R. 871.
N.Y.—Fisher v. Fisher, 237 N.Y.S. 162, 227 App.Div. 160, reversed on other grounds 170 N.E. 912, 253 N.Y. 260, 69 A.L.R. 918.

(2) The statute authorizing the appointment in cause in equity of competent disinterested person as trustee to protect the interests of persons not in being, where it appears that such persons might in the future claim an interest in the property involved in the suit, was designed in part to assist in safeguarding interests of unborn contingent remaindermen whose rights are represented by parties properly before the court. Under such statute, the interests of unborn persons may be brought within jurisdiction of the court, where they are not otherwise represented and final determination of conflicting claims may be made. Such a statute was applicable to suit seeking to extinguish interests of unborn persons as well as to suit for protection or recovery of some interest of unborn persons.—Gunnell v. Palmer, 18 N.E.2d 202, 370 Ill. 206, 120 A.L.R. 871.

(3) The appointment of guardians ad litem for minors and unborn persons at the audit of the account of an executor, administrator, or trustee is discretionary with the auditing judge.—In re Hall's Estate, 36 Pa.Dist. & Co. 582—In re Steel's Estate, 32 Pa.Dist. & Co. 55.

(4) Where judgment decreeing dissolution of trust sooner than was contemplated by testator and distributing assets was remanded by supreme court for judgment in accordance with complaint, appointment of guardian ad litem for unborn infants who might have some contingent interest in assets of trust the whole litigation,[29] although there are adults joined as litigants with the infant.[30] Ordinarily a guardian ad litem must be appointed to represent an infant whose interests may be adversely affected by the proceeding.[31] An infant may not need to be represented where he is not a substantial party to the action or proceeding and his interests are not involved[32] or where the court is, by force of statute, charged with the duty of protecting his interests.[33] Where the disabilities of an infant have been removed, it has been held that he can sue,[34] or be sued,[35] without the appointment of a guardian ad litem.

Infant femes covert. In the absence of a statute to the contrary, where an infant feme covert involved might be necessary in event trustee should desire to amend complaint so as to seek a closing or modification or change in the trust.—Wachovia Bank & Trust Co. v. Laws, 7 S.E.2d 470, 217 N.C. 171.

(5) Unborn children held not to be represented.—Lane v. Taylor, 152 S.W.2d 271, 287 Ky. 116.

29. Ala.—Smith v. Lambert, 72 So. 118, 196 Ala. 269.
Ill.—Union Bank of Chicago v. Wormser, 256 Ill.App. 291.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, 175, quoting Corpus Juris, and reversed on other grounds, Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.

30. Tex.—Dial v. Martin, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1119 note 71.

31. U.S.—Guerra v. American Colonial Bank of Porto Rico, C.C.A. Puerto Rico, 21 F.2d 56, certiorari denied American Colonial Bank of Porto Rico v. Guerra, 48 S.Ct. 140, 275 U.S. 567, 72 L.Ed. 430.
N.J.—Rothenberg v. Franklin Washington Trust Co., 19 A.2d 640, 129 N.J.Eq. 361, modifying 13 A.2d 667, 127 N.J.Eq. 406.
Pa.—In re Komara's Estate, 166 A. 577, 311 Pa. 135—In re Stover's Estate, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 599.
Tenn.—Hyder v. Hyder, 66 S.W.2d 235, 16 Tenn.App. 64.
31 C.J. p 1129 note 63—24 C.J. p 581 note 39.

Annulment of marriage

(1) Where defendant in a suit to annul a marriage is an infant, a guardian ad litem should be appointed.—Fodor v. Kunie, 112 A. 598, 92 N.J.Eq. 301—38 C.J. p 1353 note 9.

(2) Special guardian will be appointed for infant whose legitimacy was questioned in husband's annulment action.—Cesareo v. Cesareo, 234 N.Y.S. 44, 134 Misc. 88.

(3) Under the civil codes, where minors are emancipated by marriage, however, it is not necessary to appoint a guardian ad litem for infant defendants in suits to annul marriages.—Delpit v. Young, 25 So. 547, 51 La.Ann. 923.
38 C.J. p 1353 note 10.

Appointment held proper

Cal.—Loock v. Pioneer Title Insurance & Trust Co., 40 P.2d 526, 4 Cal.2d 245.

Insolvency and dissolution of partnership

(1) In insolvency proceedings against a partnership, when the petitioning creditors neither seek nor obtain an adjudication by the insolvent court against the infant partner or against his individual estate, the appointment of a guardian ad litem for him is not required.—Conary v. Sawyer, 43 A. 27, 92 Me. 463, 69 Am.S.R. 525.

(2) On a suit to dissolve a partnership and for an accounting, the court cannot require the infant defendant to pay money to the receiver where no guardian has been appointed for him.—Gross v. Gross, 112 N.Y.S. 790, 128 App.Div. 429.

Partition proceedings

(1) A court may not in its discretion dispense with requirement that a minor sue by next friend when it is expressly and plainly imposed by statute in a particular proceeding, particularly when the estate and interests of minors is seriously concerned as in partition of their real property.—Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gleason, 187 So. 229, 185 Miss. 243.

(2) Fact that guardians and curators of estates of minors are authorized to represent their wards in partition proceedings does not affect the trial court's power to appoint a guardian for a minor in a partition proceeding when he has no such guardian or curator.—Woods v. Woods, Mo.App., 170 S.W.2d 430.

Proceeds of sale

In proceedings by administrators for sale of property in which surplus was claimed by devisee's trustee in bankruptcy, and also by his widow and children, their interests, after verdict in their favor, being no longer identical, should be determined in adverse proceeding, which might be done in same action by appointment of guardian ad litem for minor children.—Irvin v. Harris, 127 S.E. 529, 189 N.C. 465.

32. Conn.—Wilson v. D'Atro, 145 A. 161, 109 Conn. 563.
Ill.—Illinois Valley Bank v. Newman, 184 N.E. 636, 351 Ill. 380.
Nev.—Johnson v. Johnson, 27 P.2d 532, 55 Nev. 109.
N.J.—In re Schlemm's Estate, 23 A. 2d 364, 130 N.J.Eq. 295.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 72.

Cancellation of citizenship

Where cancellation of citizenship is sought on ground of fraud, any derivative rights arising from the certificate of naturalization, such as right of a minor child, must rise or fall solely on basis of parent from whom they stem, and there are no rights to be protected independently by guardian ad litem. Consequently, it was not error to refuse to appoint guardian ad litem to protect interests of a three year old son born in Germany after defendant had obtained certificate of naturalization.—U. S. ex rel. Harrington v. Schlotfeldt, C.C.A.Ill., 136 F.2d 935.

33. Miss.—Jack v. Thompson, 41 Miss. 49.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 73.

Custody suits

Children need not always be represented by a guardian ad litem in suit regarding their custody.—Boone v. Boone, 132 F.2d 14, 76 U.S.App.D.C. 399, certiorari denied 63 S.Ct. 1319, 319 U.S. 762, 87 L.Ed. 1713.

Courts are vested with great discretion to protect interests of minors without legally qualified representatives.—McVay v. New Orleans Public Service, La.App., 148 So. 67.

Ward of court

The mere filing of a bill against an infant is sufficient to make him a ward of the court, and a guardian ad litem is not indispensable in a jurisdictional sense. Consequently a statute not requiring the appointment of a guardian ad litem under certain circumstances in particular proceedings is not invalid.—Polk v. Chase Nat. Co., 162 So. 521, 120 Fla. 243—McDaniel v. McElvy, 108 So. 820, 91 Fla. 770, 51 A.L.R. 731.

34. Ark.—Missouri Pac. Transp. Co. v. Norwood, 90 S.W.2d 480, 192 Ark. 170.

35. Ark.—Merriman v. Sarlo, 37 S. W. 879, 63 Ark. 151.

Separate maintenance

Where a husband, although of sufficient age to contract a marriage, is a minor, the wife cannot, without the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the husband, sue for separate maintenance.—Huley v. Huley, 114 S.E. 184, 154 Ga. 321.
Parties to action for separate maintenance generally see Husband and Wife § 617.

sues as sole plaintiff, she must be represented by a guardian ad litem or next friend.[36] Where the adult husband is joined with her as a coplaintiff, it is not necessary;[37] but in some jurisdictions it is held that, even though her husband is coplaintiff, the action must be brought by guardian ad litem.[38] Where an infant feme covert is sued, the appointment of a guardian ad litem is ordinarily necessary.[39]

In probate proceedings. A guardian ad litem need not be appointed in a probate court, if the statutes instituting and regulating the practice in such courts do not require such appointment.[40] However, such appointment may be proper and required by the court where the interests of the infant demand it.[41] In some jurisdictions, it is held that probate proceedings are not civil actions or proceedings within the statutory provisions requiring the appointment of guardians ad litem in civil actions or proceedings;[42] but in other jurisdictions the contrary is held.[43] Under some statutes the probate court must appoint a special guardian to represent an infant, where the infant does not appear by general guardian, and where he does so appear, the court must appoint a special guardian, if for any reason the interest of the infant requires it.[44]

Nonresident infants. The rule requiring that infant litigants be represented is ordinarily applicable to nonresident infants.[45] A guardian ad litem may be appointed for nonresident infant plaintiffs[46] or defendants.[47] Under some statutes it is the duty of the court to appoint a guardian for a nonresident infant defendant, whether or not plaintiff applies for such appointment;[48] and it is error to render a judgment or decree against an absent infant defendant without such appointment having been made.[49] Where, however, under the statutes there is no difference in the procedure against a nonresident infant and a nonresident adult, a guardian ad litem need not be appointed for a nonresident infant defendant who is proceeded against by warning order.[50]

Unknown heirs. Where the names and the number of infant heirs are unknown, it is not practicable to appoint guardians ad litem for them, but they must be proceeded against as unknown heirs.[51]

b. Effect of Lack of Representation

The fact that an infant party is not represented by a guardian ad litem or next friend, as a general rule, renders the proceedings erroneous, but the judgment entered therein is not void.

While in some jurisdictions it has been held that a judgment against a minor not represented is void,[52] subject to collateral attack,[53] without resort to an appeal or action of nullity,[54] the weight of 36. Ala.—Hays v. Bowdoin, 49 So. 122, 159 Ala. 600.

31 C.J. p 1120 note 90.

37. Ind.—Welch v. Bunce, 83 Ind. 382.
31 C.J. p 1121 note 91.

38. S.C.—Hiers v. Atlantic Coast Line R Co., 55 S.E. 457, 75 S.C. 311, 9 Ann.Cas. 1114.

39. Ga.—Nicholson v. Wilborn, 13 Ga. 467.
31 C.J. p 1121 note 93.

40. Mich.—Thaw v. Detroit Trust Co., 11 N.W.2d 305, 307 Mich. 6.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 76.

Distribution
Since there is no mandatory statute requiring the appointment of a guardian ad litem for minor absentee beneficiaries in proceedings for a decree for distribution, such an appointment is permissive and not mandatory.—Hibbard v. Ætna Casualty & Surety Co., 16 N.E.2d 241, 301 Mass. 442.

41. Mass.—Peters v. Peters, 8 Cush. 529.
Pa.—Gill's Estate, 20 Pa.Dist. 302.

42. Cal.—Carpenter v. San Joaquin County Super. Ct., 19 P. 174, 75 Cal. 596.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 78.

43. Ill.—Simpson v. Simpson, 112 N.E. 276, 273 Ill. 90.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 79.

44. N.Y.—In re Jaffe's Will, 300 N.Y.S. 1045, 165 Misc. 407.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 80.

In Georgia
The statute, Code 1933, § 49-111, authorizing appointment of guardian ad litem in probate proceeding for minor who "shall have no guardian" does not make appointment of guardian essential, or indicate that proceeding which appointed guardian ad litem would be irregular or void if existing guardian be not made a party.—Griffin v. Suber, 12 S.E.2d 621, 191 Ga. 269.

45. La.—Petrie v. Wofford, 3 La. Ann. 562.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 82.

46. Utah.—Schuyler v. Southern Pac. Co., 109 P. 458, 37 Utah 581.

47. Utah.—Schuyler v. Southern Pac. Co., supra.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 84.

48. Ky.—Covington & Lexington R. Co. v. Bowler, 9 Bush 468.

49. Ky.—Cravens v. Dyer, 1 Litt. 153.

50. Ky.—Bowles v. Bowles, 300 S.W. 880, 222 Ky. 325—Gentry v. Gentry, 290 S.W. 665, 217 Ky. 806—Bethel College v. Gladdish, 263 S.W. 659, 204 Ky. 32—Massingale v. Parker, 230 S.W. 932, 191 Ky. 515.
31 C.J. p 1120 note 88.

51. Ark.—Kountz v. Davis, 34 Ark. 590.

Partition of land of full-blood Indians is binding against unknown minor heirs without appointment of guardian ad litem unless set aside under statutes.—Haymes v. McDermott, 256 P. 908, 125 Okl. 147.

52. La.—Scaife v. Jones, 99 So. 890, 156 La. 5—Broussard v. Rosenblum, 5 La.App. 245.
Va.—Kanter v. Holland, 152 S.E. 328, 154 Va. 120.
31 C.J. p 1121 note 95.

Plaintiff is charged with burden of ascertaining whether defendant is an infant or an adult, and a personal judgment rendered against infant for whom no guardian ad litem was appointed is void.—Broyhill v. Dawson, 191 S.E. 779, 168 Va. 321.

53. La.—Sanders v. Schilling, 49 So. 689, 123 La. 1009.
Va.—Broyhill v. Dawson, 191 S.E. 779, 168 Va. 321—Kanter v. Holland, 152 S.E. 328, 154 Va. 120.

54. La.—Sanders v. Schilling, 49 So. 689, 123 La. 1009.

authority is to the effect that, where the court has otherwise jurisdiction, a judgment or decree rendered against an infant without the appointment of a guardian ad litem, while it may be erroneous,[55] and subject to be reversed[56] or set aside[57] or to be ground for a new trial,[58] at most is only voidable,[59] but not absolutely void;[60] and it may not be even necessarily erroneous and subject to reversal;[61] the

55. Ala.—Johnson v. Pugh, 193 So. 317, 239 Ala. 12—Jones v. Henderson, 153 So. 214, 228 Ala. 273—Garner v. Empire Land Co., 117 So. 64, 217 Ala. 528.
Ark.—Sauve v. Ingram, 143 S.W.2d 541, 200 Ark. 1181—Arkansas Trust Co. v. Sims, 133 S.W.2d 854, 198 Ark. 1143.
Cal.—King v. Wilson, 2 P.2d 833, 116 Cal.App. 191.
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.
Fla.—Grimsley v. Rosenberg, 114 So. 553, 94 Fla. 673.
Ill.—People v. Scott, 157 N.E. 247, 326 Ill. 327—Collins v. Hastings, 283 Ill.App. 304, 306, quoting Corpus Juris at length.
Ky.—Ohio Oil Co. v. West, 145 S.W.2d 1035, 284 Ky. 796.
Mo.—State ex rel. and to Use of Marlowe v. Nolan, 146 S.W.2d 598, 347 Mo. 124.
N.J.—Weining v. Selitto, 187 A. 368, 121 N.J.Eq. 60, 192 A. 233, 121 N.J. Eq. 613—Weinstein v. Chelsea Securities & Investment Co., 145 A. 231, 104 N.J.Eq. 258—Camden Commercial College v. Piper, 137 A. 555, 5 N.J.Misc. 535.
N.Y.—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586.
Pa.—In re Elkins' Estate, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 578.
Wis.—In re Jaeger's Will, 259 N.W. 842, 218 Wis. 1, 99 A.L.R. 738.
31 C.J. p 1121 note 98.

56. Ala.—Garner v. Empire Land Co., 117 So. 64, 217 Ala. 528.
Ill.—Rapp v. Goerlitz, 40 N.E.2d 766, second case, 314 Ill.App. 189—Ridenour v. Johns, 258 Ill.App. 48.
Ky.—Smith v. Smith, 72 S.W.2d 425, 255 Ky. 191—Hounshell v. Hounshell, 3 S.W.2d 620, 223 Ky. 289.
N.J.—Camden Commercial College v. Piper, 137 A. 555, 5 N.J.Misc. 535.
31 C.J. p 1122 note 99.

57. Ala.—Bell v. Bannister, 101 So. 653, 212 Ala. 31.
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.
Ga.—Brown v. Anderson, 197 S.E. 761, 186 Ga. 220, followed in 197 S.E. 833, 186 Ga. 222.
Ill.—Rapp v. Goerlitz, 40 N.E.2d 766, first case, 314 Ill.App. 191—Collins v. Hastings, 283 Ill.App. 304, 306, quoting Corpus Juris.
Kan.—Fidelity State Bank v. Kirk, 32 P.2d 239, 139 Kan. 491.
Mich.—De Guzman v. Shepherd, 196 S.W. 522, 255 Mich. 606.
Mo.—Hente v. Michie, 151 S.W.2d 107, 236 Mo.App. 322.
N.J.—Weining v. Selitto, 187 A. 368, 121 N.J.Eq. 60, affirmed 192 A. 233, 121 N.J.Eq. 613.
Pa.—Hamilton v. Moore, 6 A.2d 787, 335 Pa. 433. See Ward v. Bostick, 29 Del.Co. 231.
Wis.—In re Brandstedter's Estate, 224 N.W. 735, 198 Wis. 457.
31 C.J. p 1122 note 1.

58. Ill.—Bellchambers v. Ebeling, 13 N.E.2d 804, 808, 294 Ill.App. 247, quoting Corpus Juris.
Pa.—Guilian v. Grover, 9 Pa.Dist. & Co. 62, 18 Del.Co. 8.
31 C.J. p 1122 note 2.

Where infants who were apparently adults appeared in the case, employed counsel, and made their defense without making any request for the appointment of a guardian ad litem, and their minority was not in any way disclosed to the court, it was held that the failure to appoint a guardian ad litem was not, under the circumstances, a ground for a new trial.—Smith v. Wagner, 30 P.2d 1020, 137 Cal.App. 556—King v. Wilson, 2 P.2d 833, 116 Cal.App. 191—31 C.J. p 1122 note 2 [a].

59. Ala.—Johnson v. Pugh, 193 So. 317, 239 Ala. 12.
Cal.—Field v. Hughes, 20 P.2d 990, 991, 131 Cal.App. 144, citing Corpus Juris—Field v. Hughes, 16 P. 2d 160, 161, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—Skaggs v. Industrial Commission, 21 N.E.2d 731, 371 Ill. 535—Bellchambers v. Ebeling, 13 N.E.2d 804, 808, 294 Ill.App. 247, quoting Corpus Juris—Collins v. Hastings, 283 Ill.App. 304, 306, quoting Corpus Juris—Martin v. Starr, 255 Ill. App. 189.
Mich.—De Guzman v. Shepherd, 196 N.W. 523, 225 Mich. 606.
Mo.—Olsen v. East Side Packing Co., 3 S.W.2d 281, 221 Mo.App. 290.
N.Y.—Belcher v. Haskell, 292 N.Y.S. 387, 249 App.Div. 251—Grieshaber v. Knoepfel, 198 N.Y.S. 302, 119 Misc. 827.
Pa.—Hamilton v. Moore, 6 A.2d 787, 335 Pa. 433—Young v. Findley, 31 Pa.Dist. & Co. 630, 5 Sch.Reg. 176.
R.I.—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.
Tex.—Levy v. Roper, Civ.App., 230 S.W. 514, modified on other grounds 256 S.W. 251, 113 Tex. 356.
31 C.J. p 1122 note 3.

60. Ala.—Jones v. Henderson, 153 So. 214, 228 Ala. 273—Bell v. Bannister, 101 So. 653, 212 Ala. 31.
Ark.—Sauve v. Ingram, 143 S.W.2d 541, 200 Ark. 1181—Arkansas Trust Co. v. Sims, 133 S.W.2d 854, 198 Ark. 1143.
Cal.—Brown v. Roland, 104 P.2d 138, 40 Cal.App.2d Supp. 825—Cikuth v. Loero, 57 P.2d 1009, 14 Cal.App.2d 82—Hughes v. Quackenbush, 37 P. 2d 99, 1 Cal.App.2d 349—Field v. Hughes, App., 16 P.2d 160—King v. Wilson, 2 P.2d 833, 116 Cal.App. 191.
Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 6 W.W.Harr. 418.
Fla.—Polk v. Chase Nat. Co., 162 So. 521, 523, 120 Fla. 243, citing Corpus Juris—McDaniel v. McElvy, 108 So. 820, 835, 91 Fla. 770, 51 A.L.R. 731, citing Corpus Juris.
Iowa.—Equitable Life Ins. Co. v. Cook, 295 N.W. 428, 229 Iowa 911.
Ky.—White v. White, 172 S.W.2d 72, 294 Ky. 563—Ohio Oil Co. v. West, 145 S.W.2d 1035, 284 Ky. 796.
Miss.—Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gleason, 187 So. 229, 232, citing Corpus Juris.
Mont.—State v. District Court, Sixteenth Judicial District, 81 P.2d 422, 425, 106 Mont. 578, citing Corpus Juris.
N.J.—In re March's Estate, 6 A.2d 478, 17 N.J.Misc. 157—Weining v. Selitto, 187 A. 368, 121 N.J.Eq. 60, affirmed 192 A. 233, 121 N.J.Eq. 613—La Bell v. Quasdorf, 184 A. 750, 116 N.J.Law 368.
N.Y.—Malicky v. Rosenberg, 273 N. Y.S. 818, 152 Misc. 197—Smith v. R. B. I. Bldg. Corporation, 215 N. Y.S. 1, 126 Misc. 826.
Okl.—Young v. Egger, 141 P.2d 1007—Johnston v. Guy, 25 P.2d 625, 165 Okl. 156—Slemp v. City of Tulsa, 281 P. 280, 282, 139 Okl. 76, quoting Corpus Juris, and appeal dismissed and certiorari denied 50 S.Ct. 407, 281 U.S. 703, 74 L.Ed. 1127.
R.I.—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.
Tex.—Safeway Stores of Texas v. Rutherford, 111 S.W.2d 688, 130 Tex. 465, affirming, Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 1055—Austin v. First State Bank & Trust Co., Civ.App., 275 S.W. 156.
Wis.—In re Jaeger's Will, 259 N.W. 842, 218 Wis. 1, 99 A.L.R. 738—In re Thompson's Will, 248 N.W. 167, 212 Wis. 172.
31 C.J. p 1122 note 4—24 C.J. p 582 notes 41, 43.

61. Idaho.—Trolinger v. Cluff, 57 P. 2d 332, 334, 56 Idaho 570, quoting Corpus Juris at length.
Pa.—Hamilton v. Moore, 6 A.2d 787, 335 Pa. 433.
31 C.J. p 1122 note 5.

Decree in favor of infant

Where it clearly appears that a decree is in favor of infant defend-error may be amended or cured.[62] It remains in full force and effect until it is reversed on appeal or error or set aside by direct proceedings,[63] and is not subject to collateral attack;[64] and this rule applies to decrees in equity as well as judgments at law.[65] Where the court has not obtained jurisdiction of the infant by service of process and no guardian ad litem has been appointed for him then the judgment is void.[66] Adult parties cannot invoke the infancy of another party not represented by guardian ad litem to set aside the decree as to themselves.[67]

Action by infant. It is not an absolute prerequisite to jurisdiction of an action by an infant that he should sue by guardian ad litem or next friend,[68] and the suit or action is not void on that ground alone;[69] it merely affects the regularity of the proceedings,[70] and the defect is amendable;[71] the judgment or decree is not void.[72] ant, the failure to appoint a guardian ad litem for him is not reversible error.—Langston v. Bassette, 51 S.E. 218, 104 Va. 47.

Discretion

Summary motion to vacate judgment against infant for whom guardian ad litem has not been appointed is addressed to discretion of court in exercise of which considerations of justice and equity govern, "judicial discretion" meaning sound discretion, guided by law, and not by whim or humor. This discretionary authority should be liberally exercised to protect infant's interests, and unless it is evident that infant did not suffer substantial injury because of failure to designate guardian, relief should be awarded. —La Bell v. Quasdorf, 184 A. 750, 116 N.J.Law 368.

62. Ga.—Sams v. Covington Buggy Co., 73 S.E. 18, 10 Ga.App. 191.
Vt.—Sears v. Duling, 61 A. 518, 77 Vt. 496.

Order after decree, appointing a guardian ad litem, however, has been held to be a nullity, the court stating that the appointment served no purpose and that it could not be entered nunc pro tunc.—Curtis v. Curtis, 229 N.W. 622, 250 Mich. 105.

63. Fla.—Polk v. Chase Nat. Co., 162 So. 521, 523, 120 Fla. 243, citing Corpus Juris—McDaniel v. McElvy, 108 So. 820, 835, 91 Fla. 770, 51 A.L.R. 731, citing Corpus Juris.
Iowa.—Equitable Life Ins. Co. v. Cook, 295 N.W. 428, 229 Iowa 911.
31 C.J. p 1122 note 7.

Injunction against enforcement of judgment against infant without guardian ad litem is a proper remedy.—Olsen v. East Side Packing Co., 3 S.W.2d 281, 221 Mo.App. 290.

64. U.S.—Colt v. Colt, Conn., 4 S.Ct. 553, 111 U.S. 566, 28 L.Ed. 520.
Fla.—Polk v. Chase Nat. Co., 162 So. 521, 523, 120 Fla. 243, citing Corpus Juris—McDaniel v. McElvy, 108 So. 820, 835, 91 Fla. 770, 51 A.L.R. 731, citing Corpus Juris.
Mont.—State v. District Court, Sixteenth Judicial District, 61 P.2d 422, 425, 106 Mont. 578, citing Corpus Juris.
N.J.—La Bell v. Quasdorf, 184 A. 750, 752, 116 N.J.Law 368, citing Corpus Juris—Weinstein v. Chelsea Securities & Investment Co., 145 A. 231, 104 N.J.Eq. 258.
N.Y.—Grieshaber v. Knoepfel, 198 N.Y.S. 302, 119 Misc. 827.
Okl.—Johnston v. Guy, 25 P.2d 625, 165 Okl. 156—Slemp v. City of Tulsa, 281 P. 280, 139 Okl. 76, appeal dismissed and certiorari denied 50 S.Ct. 407, 281 U.S. 703, 74 L.Ed. 1127.
31 C.J. p 1122 note 8.

Consent decree

Under North Carolina law, a judgment against an infant personally served with process although no guardian is appointed is not subject to collateral attack; but a consent judgment against an infant does not bind the infant and can be impeached in trial of an action in which it is set up as a defense, although such a judgment is valid when the court investigates and approves the settlement.—Watson v. U. S., D.C.N.C., 34 F.Supp. 777.

65. Ala.—Conway v. Clark, 58 So. 441, 177 Ala. 99.

66. U.S.—Hatch v. Ferguson, C.C.A. Wash. 68 F. 43, 15 C.C.A. 201, 33 L.R.A. 759.
N.Y.—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586—Melnick v. Laszio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791—Marty v. Roberts, 261 N.Y.S. 144, 146 Misc. 332.
N.C.—Gay v. Grant, 8 S.E. 99, 106, 101 N.C. 206.

Where curator ad hoc was appointed to represent tutor who had forfeited tutorship by emigrating to another jurisdiction, judgment obtained against minors was an absolute nullity, as curator ad hoc was without authority to represent them. —Matthews v. Olla State Bank, 114 So. 98, 164 La. 463.

67. N.Y.—De Groat v. Tompkins Bus Corporation, 254 N.Y.S. 878, 142 Misc. 528.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 13.

68. Cal.—Cikuth v. Leoro, 57 P.2d 1009, 14 Cal.App.2d 32—Hughes v. Quackenbush, 37 P.2d 99, 1 Cal. App.2d 349—King v. Wilson, 2 P.2d 833, 116 Cal.App. 191.
Idaho.—Trolinger v. Cluff, 57 P.2d 332, 334, 56 Idaho 570, quoting Corpus Juris.
Mo.—Woods v. Woods, App., 170 S.W.2d 430.
N.J.—La Bell v. Quasdorf, 184 A. 750, 116 N.J.Law 368.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 14.

Delay in the appointment of a guardian ad litem for a minor neither deprives the court of jurisdiction nor constitutes reversible error, where there is no showing of prejudice resulting therefrom.—Johnston v. Calvin, Iowa, 5 N.W.2d 840.

69. Tex.—Gross v. Griffin, Civ.App., 221 S.W. 764.

70. U.S.—Erie R. Co. v. Fritsch, C.C.A.N.J., 72 F.2d 766, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 213, 293 U.S. 620, 79 L.Ed. 708—Erie R. Co. v. Landau, C.C.A.N.J., 72 F.2d 766, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 213, 293 U.S. 620, 79 L.Ed. 708.
N.Y.—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586—De Grost v. Tompkins Bus Corporation, 254 N.Y.S. 878, 142 Misc. 528—Feigenbaum v. Narragansett Stables Co., 215 N.Y.S. 328, 127 Misc. 114, affirmed 219 N.Y.S. 811, 219 App.Div. 729, affirmed 157 N.E. 886, 245 N.Y. 628.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 16.

71. N.Y.—Inakay v. Sun Laundry Corporation, 42 N.Y.S.2d 344, 180 Misc. 550—Louden v. State, 41 N.Y.S.2d 455—De Groat v. Tompkins Bus Corporation, 254 N.Y.S. 878, 142 Misc. 528.
Wyo.—Urback v. Urback, 73 P.2d 953, 52 Wyo. 207, 113 A.L.R. 889.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 17.

72. U.S.—Erie R. Co. v. Fritsch, C.C.A.N.J., 72 F.2d 766, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 213, 293 U.S. 620, 79 L.Ed. 708—Erie R. Co. v. Landau, C.C.A.N.J., 72 F.2d 766, certiorari denied 55 S.Ct. 213, 293 U.S. 620, 79 L.Ed. 708.
Cal.—Foley v. California Horseshoe Co., 47 P. 42, 115 Cal. 184, 56 Am. S.R. 87.
Ga.—Levy v. McPhail, 127 S.E. 793, 33 Ga.App. 784.
Tex.—Breckenridge Ice & Cold Storage Co. v. Hutchens, Civ.App., 260 S.W. 684.

Ratification. If the judgment is considered merely voidable but not void, it may be affirmed by the infant,[73] and it will be considered as affirmed by him if he takes any action in reference thereto after he becomes of age, which is consistent only with assuming its validity.[74]

c. Raising Objection

Objection to the incapacity of an infant plaintiff should be taken by a plea in abatement, or by answer or demurrer, if infancy appears on the face of the pleading. The fact that an infant party is not represented is no ground for a dismissal.

Plaintiff, if of lawful age, is not required to allege it; but if defendant relies on plaintiff's incapacity to sue because of infancy he must plead it.[75] The objection of the incapacity of an infant plaintiff should be taken by a plea in abatement, as considered in Abatement and Revival § 92 d; but it has also been held that it may be taken by answer, or, if the infancy appears on the face of the writ, by demurrer.[76] Infancy of plaintiff is not a sufficient plea in bar.[77]

Dismissal or nonsuit. In some cases it is held that the fact that an infant plaintiff[78] or defendant[79] is not represented by next friend or guardian ad litem is no ground for a dismissal, nor is it ground to authorize the direction of a judgment in favor of the infant defendant;[80] but the defect is amendable by permitting the introduction of a representative;[81] nor is the fact that an infant plaintiff is not represented by guardian or next friend a ground for nonsuit.[82] In other cases it is held that it is proper to dismiss the action or suit because the infant plaintiff[83] or defendant[84] is not duly represented; also that it is proper to nonsuit an infant plaintiff not duly represented.[85]

d. Waiver or Loss of Right to Object

Although an infant cannot waive the objection that a representative has not been appointed for him, it has been held that he cannot raise the objection, where his interests have been properly protected, after verdict or judgment. If the other party does not object to an infant plaintiff's incapacity, the objection is waived.

Generally, it may be said that an infant cannot, during his infancy, waive the objection that his rights as litigant have not been protected in the manner prescribed by law;[86] hence an infant defendant who was not represented by a guardian ad litem may raise the objection after verdict to prevent the entry of judgment,[87] and it has been held that he may even do so after judgment.[88] However, since, as considered supra subdivision b of this section, the defect of want of a guardian ad litem for an infant defendant is a mere irregularity not affecting the jurisdiction of the court, it has been held that, where an infant defendant has had his interest in the litigation properly protected, he cannot after verdict[89] or judgment[90] raise the objection

73. Cal.—Childs v. Lanterman, 37 P. 382, 103 Cal. 381, 42 Am.S.R. 121.

No ratification

Partition proceeding which was invalid because minors were represented therein as next friend by another minor was not ratified by subsequent partition in pais of the land set aside to the minors, nor were minors estopped from asserting invalidity.—Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gleason, 187 So. 229, 185 Miss. 243.

Right of disaffirmance

If guardian was not appointed under statute for minor defendant, minor has right of disaffirmance after attaining majority until barred by laches.—Pacific Coast Joint Stock Land Bank of San Francisco v. Clausen, 65 P.2d 352, 8 Cal.2d 364—Gouanillou v. Industrial Accident Commission, 193 P. 937, 184 Cal. 418—Field v. Hughes, 20 P.2d 990, 131 Cal.App. 144—Neilson v. Walker, 286 P. 1091, 105 Cal.App. 23.

74. Cal.—Childs v. Lanterman, 37 P. 382, 103 Cal. 387, 42 Am.S.R. 121.

75. La.—House v. Croft, 8 Mart.,N. S., 704.

76. Mo.—Jones v. Steele, 36 Mo. 324.
31 C.J. p 1123 notes 26, 27.

Irregularity of appointment of next friend may be raised by demurrer or answer.—Mabe v. Gille Mfg. Co., 271 S.W. 1023, 219 Mo.App. 234.

77. Ala.—Howland v. Wallace, 2 So. 96, 81 Ala. 238.

78. Cal.—Doyle v. Loyd, 114 P.2d 398, 45 Cal.App.2d 493.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 31–32.

79. N.J.—Fodor v. Kunie, 112 A. 598, 92 N.J.Eq. 301.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 33.

80. Ind.—Daugherty v. Reveal, 102 N.E. 381, 54 Ind.App. 71.

81. N.J.—Moore v. Moore, 70 A. 684, 74 N.J.Eq. 733.
N.C.—Hicks v. Beam, 17 S.E. 490, 112 N.C. 642, 34 Am.S.R. 521.

82. N.C.—Carroll v. Montgomery, 38 S.E. 874, 128 N.C. 278.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 37.

83. N.Y.—Dunn v. Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York, 30 N.Y.S.2d 639, 177 Misc. 865.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 39.

84. Me.—Marston v. Humphrey, 24 Me. 513.
31 C.J. p 1123 note 40.

85. S.C.—McDaniel v. Nicholson, 9 S.C.L. 344.

86. N.Y.—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N. Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 43.

Mere filing of answer and participation by infant in legal proceedings or trial in his own behalf or through attorney employed by him would not operate as estoppel or legal waiver of the statutory requirements. Accordingly, a statement in infant's answer that it was filed through his guardian would not create estoppel or otherwise bind infant where guardian did not employ attorney who represented infant and prepared answer, and statement was made without knowledge of guardian or infant.—Brown v. Anderson, 197 S.E. 761, 186 Ga. 220, followed in 197 S. E.2d 833, 186 Ga. 222.

87. Pa.—Guilian v. Grover, 9 Pa. Dist. & Co. 62, 18 Del.Co. 8—Blouse v. Geesey, 35 Pa.Co. 181.

88. Ky.—Reynolds v. Steel, 185 S. W. 820, 170 Ky. 153.

89. Ind.—Watson v. Wrightsman, 59 N.E. 1064, 26 Ind.App. 437.
Iowa.—Johnston v. Calvin, 5 N.W. 2d 840, 845, quoting Corpus Juris.

90. Vt.—Adams v. Cook, 100 A. 42, 91 Vt. 281.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 48.

so as to defeat the entry of judgment or the judgment itself; and this rule has been applied where the infant was represented by his parent as natural guardian,[91] by attorney,[92] and by guardian of his own selection.[93] Also an infant defendant may after attaining majority lose his right to object to the want or lack of a guardian ad litem, as where he acquiesces in the judgment for a number of years thereafter.[94]

If defendant does not in a proper manner raise the objection to plaintiff's capacity to sue, it is considered as waived.[95] He waives the objection that plaintiff is an infant suing without representative by pleading to the merits,[96] or by not objecting by demurrer or answer.[97] He cannot after plea or answer move on this ground to set aside the proceedings[98] or to arrest judgment.[99]

Codefendants. If one defendant does not in a proper manner raise the objection that a guardian ad litem has not been appointed for his codefendant, he cannot subsequently complain that one was not appointed, even though the failure so to appoint a guardian may deprive him of a statutory right that recourse must first be had against the property of the codefendant.[1]

§ 109. —— Authority to Represent

a. Who may represent
b. By guardian ad litem or next friend
c. Authority to act or appointment

a. Who May Represent

The authority to represent an infant party in a legal action or proceeding is frequently regulated by statute.

Who may represent an infant in legal suits and proceedings is frequently a matter of statutory regulation.[2] Under some statutes a guardian ad litem is appointed for the county by the governor, and he is required to represent and defend the interests of minors in all courts of law and equity.[3] His appearance in court in pursuance of that duty, and his denial of the allegations of the bill against the minors, brings him before the court as the representative of their interests as effectually as though he had been affirmatively appointed by the court.[4] Under such a statute, there is no occasion to appoint a guardian ad litem, except where the interests of the minors are conflicting among themselves, if the general guardian ad litem appears and represents them.[5] The father of a minor child, in Louisiana, being clothed during marriage with the functions of the tutor, is the proper party to bring suit in behalf of the minor.[6] This authority of the father may be taken away from him only by the authority of justice, and after he has been pronounced incapable and unworthy of his trust.[7]

The authority of a general guardian to represent his ward in legal suits and proceedings is discussed in Guardian and Ward § 175.

What law governs. The question as to who shall represent the infant litigant is governed by the law

91. Vt.—Adams v. Cook, supra.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 49.

92. Ind.—Watson v. Wrightsman, 59 N.E. 1064, 26 Ind.App. 437.
Iowa.—Johnston v. Calvin, 5 N.W.2d 840, 845, quoting Corpus Juris.

93. Ky.—Woods v. Thompson, 4 Ky. Op. 207.

94. N.Y.—Howard v. Dusenbury, 44 How.Pr. 423.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 52.
Relief against judgment generally see infra § 123.

95. N.Y.—Perkins v. Stimmel, 21 N. E. 729, 114 N.Y. 359, 11 Am.S.R. 659.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 54.

96. Ark.—Davie v. Padgett, 176 S. W. 333, 117 Ark. 544.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 56.

97. N.Y.—Perkins v. Stimmel, 21 N. E. 729, 114 N.Y. 359, 11 Am.S.R. 659.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 57.

98. Ind.—Smith v. Allen, 16 Ind. 316.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 58.

99. Mo.—Jones v. Steele, 36 Mo. 324.

1. Cal.—Holland v. Kodimer, 77 P. 2d 843, 11 Cal.2d 40.

2. Cal.—Rico v. Nasser Bros. Realty Co., 137 P.2d 861, 58 Cal.App.2d 878.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 64.

3. Ala.—Jones v. Henderson, 153 So. 214, 228 Ala. 273.

4. Saves decree from invalidity
Appearance and representation of minors by guardian ad litem for county appointed by governor saves decree from invalidity for failure of due service on minors.—Jones v. Henderson, 153 So. 214, 228 Ala. 273.

5. Ala.—Jones v. Henderson, supra.

6. La.—Grantham v. Smith, 132 So. 805, 18 La.App. 519, rehearing denied 134 So. 263, reversed on other grounds, Lorance v. Smith, 138 So. 871, 173 La. 883, which reverses Grantham v. Smith, 132 So. 810, 18 La.App. 519—Solomon v. Faggard (second case), 127 So. 8, 13 La.App. 433.
31 C.J. p 1124 note 64 [a].

7. Abandonment by husband
Exception to capacity of mother to bring suit on behalf of unemancipated minor was held properly overruled, notwithstanding absence of allegation as to mother's qualifications in original petition, where mother thereafter obtained appointment as natural tutrix on showing of abandonment by her husband and filed a supplemental petition as natural tutrix.—Payton v. Ideal Savings & Homestead Ass'n, La.App., 160 So. 648.

Court had no power to authorize mother to institute suit to recover for personal injuries to child by ex parte order without showing husband was either incapable or unworthy of administering estate of minor.—Grantham v. Smith, 132 So. 805, 18 La.App. 519, rehearing denied 134 So. 263, reversed on other grounds Lorance v. Smith, 138 So. 871, 173 La. 883, which reverses Grantham v. Smith, 132 So. 810, 18 La.App. 519.

of the forum, and not by the law of the infant's domicile.[8]

b. By Guardian ad Litem or Next Friend

Subject to statutory variations, an infant plaintiff is properly represented by a next friend, and an infant defendant by a guardian ad litem.

In the absence of a statute to the contrary, an infant plaintiff may properly be represented by a next friend,[9] rather than by a guardian ad litem.[10] The subject, however, may and often is a matter of statutory regulation,[11] and accordingly it may be optional to bring the action by guardian ad litem[12] or next friend,[13] or it may be required to be brought by guardian ad litem[14] or by next friend.[15] The bringing of a suit or action by guardian ad litem instead of by next friend or vice versa, while erroneous,[16] is only a mere irregularity which is not jurisdictional and does not render the judgment void.[17]

While in some of the jurisdictions that adhere to the strict distinction as to the functions of a guardian ad litem and a next friend it has been held that a cross complaint must be by next friend and not by guardian ad litem,[18] in other jurisdictions, having regard for the infant's interest, it is held that the guardian ad litem has authority to plead whatever might defeat the action, and in a proper case, he may file a cross complaint.[19] Indeed, it has been held that it is his duty to prosecute a cross complaint if necessary to protect the infant's interests.[20]

Infant defendants. Where an infant defendant is not represented by his general guardian, he should be represented by a guardian ad litem appointed for that purpose,[21] and not by next friend.[22] It has

8. Minn.—Brunette v. Minneapolis, St. P. & R. Co., 137 N.W. 172, 118 Minn. 444.

9. Ala.—Johnson v. Pugh, 193 So. 317, 239 Ala. 12—Trucks v. Sessions, 66 So. 79, 189 Ala. 149.
Conn.—Tulin v. Tulin, 200 A. 819, 124 Conn. 518.
Fla.—Flewwellin v. Jeter, 189 So. 651, 138 Fla. 540.
Ga.—Pardue Medicine Co. v. Pardue, 22 S.E.2d 143, 194 Ga. 516—Sanders v. Hinton, 156 S.E. 812, 171 Ga. 702—Kite v. Brooks, 181 S.E. 107, 51 Ga.App. 531.
Me.—Ayer v. Androscoggin & K. Ry. Co., 163 A. 270, 131 Me. 381.
Miss.—Tate v. Bush, 62 Miss. 145.
N.J.—In re Braunstein's Will, 171 A. 788, 115 N.J.Eq. 556.
Okl.—First State Bank of Vinita v. Fay, 159 P. 505, 60 Okl. 132.
Tenn.—Freeman v. Freeman, 9 Heisk. 301.
Tex.—Loewenstein v. Watts, Civ. App., 119 S.W.2d 176, affirmed 137 S.W.2d 2, 134 Tex. 660, 128 A.L.R. 910—Wesner v. Woodson, Civ.App., 111 S.W.2d 354, error refused—Fall v. Weber, Civ.App., 47 S.W.2d 365, error refused—Bearden v. Texas Co., Civ.App., 41 S.W.2d 447, affirmed, Com.App., 60 S.W.2d 1031.
31 C.J. p 1125 note 71.

At common law, where an infant plaintiff was not represented by his general guardian, he was required to sue by guardian ad litem; but by the statute of Westminster he was authorized to sue by next friend, and this remedy was held to be cumulative, leaving it optional for the suit to be brought by guardian or next friend.—Cavender v. Smith, 5 Iowa 157—31 C.J. p 1124 note 68, p 1125 notes 69, 70.

Federal Employers' Liability Act
Action by minor, by his next friend, is maintainable under Federal Employers' Liability Act.—Close v. Portland Terminal Co., 145 A. 386, 128 Me. 6.

Nonresident infant
Infant who resided in a sister state resided in a "foreign country" within the statute authorizing action of an infant, who resides in a foreign country and who has a guardian, curator, or committee residing therein, to bring suit by such guardian, curator, or committee or by next friend.—Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. of Kentucky v. Hazelip, 144 S.W. 2d 798, 284 Ky. 333.

Partition proceedings
In suit by minors by next friend, for distribution of proceeds of partition sale of land which had been held in trust, such minors need not be made parties defendant and need not have guardian ad litem appointed to represent them.—McWhorter v. Cox, 195 So. 435, 239 Ala. 441.

Surplusage
In suit by minor it was unnecessary to join minor's next friend as guardian, and hence words "and guardian" would be treated as surplusage and stricken.—Artille v. Davidson, 170 So. 707, 126 Fla. 219, affirmed State ex rel. Davidson v. Parks, 175 So. 792, 129 Fla. 64, following State ex rel. H. E. Wolfe Const. Co. v. Parks, 175 So. 786, 129 Fla. 50.

10. Ind.—Spencer v. Robbins, 5 N.E. 726, 106 Ind. 580.
31 C.J. p 1125 note 72.

11. N.Y.—Clark v. Clark, 14 Abb. Pr. 299, 21 How.Pr. 479—Lyle v. Lyle, 13 How.Pr. 104.
31 C.J. p 1125 note 73.

12. Okl.—Hill v. Reed, 103 P. 855, 23 Okl. 616.
Tex.—Long v. Behan, 48 S.W. 555, 19 Tex.Civ.App. 325.

13. Okl.—Hill v. Reed, 103 P. 855, 23 Okl. 616.
Pa.—Ferencz v. Greek Catholic Union, 54 Pa.Super. 642.
31 C.J. p 1125 note 75.

14. N.Y.—Frehe v. Schildwachter, 45 N.E.2d 427, 289 N.Y. 250, affirming 33 N.Y.S.2d 171, 263 App.Div. 879—Brand v. Union Ry. Co. of New York City, 17 N.Y.S.2d 504, 173 Misc. 224.
Pa.—Potter v. Potter, 43 Pa.Dist. & Co. 413.
31 C.J. p 1125 note 76.

15. Ind.—Spencer v. Robbins, 5 N.E. 726, 106 Ind. 580.

16. N.Y.—Wilkiming v. Schmale, 1 Hilt. 263.
Pa.—Potter v. Potter, 43 Pa.Dist. & Co. 413.

17. Tex.—Wygal v. Myers, 13 S.W. 567, 76 Tex. 598.
31 C.J. p 1125 notes 79, 80.

Leave to amend will be given where a decree has not been entered. —Potter v. Potter, 43 Pa.Dist. & Co. 413.

18. Ind.—Gibbs v. Potter, 77 N.E. 942, 166 Ind. 471, 9 Ann.Cas. 481.
31 C.J. p 1125 note 81.

19. Wis.—Tyson v. Tyson, 68 N.W. 1015, 94 Wis. 225.
31 C.J. p 1125 notes 82, 83.

20. Neb.—Schade v. Connor, 120 N. W. 1012, 84 Neb. 51.

21. U.S.—O'Hara v. McConnell, Pa., 93 U.S. 150, 23 L.Ed. 840.
Ill.—Cost v. Rose, 17 Ill. 276.
S.C.—Sligh v. Sligh, 3 S.C.L. 176.
Tex.—Montgomery v. Carlton, 56 Tex. 361.
31 C.J. p 1125 note 86.

22. Pa.—Manning v. Baylinson, 68 Pa.Super. 512.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 87.

been held that judgment may be had on a cross bill against an infant plaintiff represented by a next friend[23] or general guardian[24] without the appointment of a guardian ad litem. On the other hand, although an infant sued by next friend, it has been held that he is entitled to a guardian ad litem to conduct his defense against a cross bill.[25]

c. Authority to Act or Appointment

(1) Consent or wish of infant
(2) Necessity of formal appointment

(1) Consent or Wish of Infant

As a general rule, the consent of an infant is not necessary to the appointment of a guardian ad litem or for a next friend to act for him.

It has been held that the consent of an infant is not necessary to the appointment of a guardian ad litem for him.[26] While some cases hold that a suit should not be maintained without the authority of the infant,[27] and that a next friend should not be allowed to compel him to prosecute an action contrary to his wishes where the infant has arrived at the age of discretion,[28] it has also been held that it is not necessary for the next friend to be authorized by the infant,[29] and that the suit may be brought without the infant's knowledge[30] and even against his wishes.[31] However, the next friend acts at his peril.[32] On proper application the court may direct an inquiry or reference to determine whether or not the suit is for the benefit of the infant, and it may stay all the proceedings in the meantime.[33]

(2) Necessity of Formal Appointment
(a) Infant plaintiffs
(b) Infant defendants

(a) Infant Plaintiffs

It is generally held that no formal order of appointment of a next friend is necessary.

On general principles, there must be an authority somewhere to allow or prohibit a suit to be brought in the name of an infant, by any person assuming to act for him.[34] Hence, in theory of law, it is only by permission of the court that the suit is permitted to be brought in the name of the infant by the person who assumes to act for him.[35] Theoretically, such person is appointed by the court,[36] and there are some cases that seem to hold that a formal appointment is necessary; and in some jurisdictions, by force of statute, a next friend must be duly appointed.[37] It is generally held, however, that no formal order is necessary,[38] the admission of the next friend by the court being implied,[39] it being necessary only that the court should recognize the representative capacity of the person acting as next friend.[40] A recital or allegation in the pleadings that plaintiff sues by next friend is sufficient without a formal order.[41] Even though the court

23. Mo.—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W.2d 581.

24. Judgment quieting title
Defendant, in suit by infant by legal guardian to recover realty, may secure judgment quieting title without necessity of appointing guardian.—Steil v. Leverett, 272 P. 412, 133 Okl. 300.

25. Ala.—Pritchett v. Dixon, 133 So. 283, 222 Ala. 597.

26. N.M.—In re Dye, 120 P. 306, 16 N.M. 297.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 89.
Application for appointment by infant who has reached age of discretion see infra § 110.

Formal consent is unnecessary.—Bell v. Bell, 39 P.2d 629, 44 Ariz. 520.

27. Ind.—Underwood v. Deckard, 70 N.E. 383, 34 Ind.App. 198.

28. Ky.—Kash v. Kash's Guardian, 85 S.W.2d 866, 260 Ky. 377—Anderson v. Anderson, 11 Bush 327.

29. Conn.—McCarrick v. Kealy, 40 A. 603, 70 Conn. 642.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 93.

30. N.Y.—Fulton v. Rosevelt, 1 Paige 178, 19 Am.D. 409.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 94.

31. Ill.—Chudleigh v. Chicago, R. I. & P. R. Co., 51 Ill.App. 491.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 95.

32. N.Y.—Fulton v. Rosevelt, 1 Paige 178, 19 Am.D. 409.

33. Mass.—Guild v. Cranston, 8 Cush. 506.
31 C.J. p 1126 notes 97, 98.

34. Tex.—Stephens v. Hewett, 54 S. W. 301, 22 Tex.Civ.App. 303.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 1.

35. Ga.—Mize v. Harber, 8 S.E.2d 1, 189 Ga. 737.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 2.

36. Mass.—Butler v. Winchester Home, 104 N.E. 451, 216 Mass. 567.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 3.

At common law, the next friend was appointed by the court.—Bertinelli v. Galoni, 200 A. 58, 331 Pa. 73, 118 A.L.R. 398.

37. Mich.—Moebius v. McCracken, 246 N.W. 163, 261 Mich. 409.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 4, p 1127 note 5.

38. Cal.—In re Smith's Estate, 254 P. 567, 200 Cal. 654.
Ga.—Mize v. Harber, 8 S.E.2d 1, 189 Ga. 737.
Mich.—Moebius v. McCracken, 246 N. W. 163, 261 Mich. 409.
Ohio.—Tuttle v. Furi, 22 Ohio Cir. Ct.,N.S., 388, 43 Ohio Cir.Ct. 626.
Pa.—Bertinelli v. Galoni, 200 A. 58, 331 Pa. 73, 118 A.L.R. 398—Haines v. Fitzgerald, 165 A. 52, 108 Pa. Super. 290.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 6.

Father
Even if father was not duly appointed as next friend, infant plaintiff could not have judgment set aside where what father did was necessary and proper to be done by next friend.—Oates v. Texas Co., 166 S.E. 317, 203 N.C. 474.

39. Ill.—Packewie v. East St. Louis & Suburban R. Co., 197 Ill.App. 1.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 7.
"The court, in allowing the case to proceed, is presumed to have approved the appearance of the person acting as next friend."—Mize v. Harber, 8 S.E.2d 1, 6, 189 Ga. 737.

40. U.S.—Gillespie v. Collier, Okl., 224 F. 298, 139 C.C.A. 534.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 8.

41. Mass.—Butler v. Winchester Home, 104 N.E. 451, 216 Mass. 567.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 9.

itself fails in its duty to appoint the next friend, its approval or ratification of the judgment will cure the omission.[42]

Affidavit of right to sue. In some jurisdictions a person suing as the next friend of an infant is required to file an affidavit showing his right to sue in that capacity.[43] The failure to file the affidavit is not a jurisdictional defect.[44] It may be filed nunc pro tunc.[45] While the requirement may be waived by defendant,[46] and it will be considered waived if an answer is filed without objecting,[47] a motion to dismiss should be sustained if the affidavit is not made, but, if the affidavit is made while the motion is pending, it is sufficient.[48] It has been held that the defect can be reached only by special demurrer and that the objection is waived by a general demurrer.[49]

Record. Where no formal order of appointment of a next friend needs to be entered, it is not necessary that the record should show that the appointment was made.[50]

Raising objection. The incapacity of a next friend suing in behalf of an infant should be duly objected to in order to be available.[51] It is not ground for reversing a judgment in favor of an infant plaintiff that the next friend was not duly appointed.[52] If defendant appears and pleads, it is then too late to question the authority of the next friend.[53] After verdict the objection is considered waived.[54] Where the allegations of the complaint showing the due appointment are admitted because not properly put in issue, the due appointment is a matter concluded and adjudicated by a judgment in favor of plaintiff.[55] An issue as to such appointment is not raised by a general denial.[56] It may be raised by answer[57] or demurrer,[58] but the demurrer or answer must be by special pleading.[59] The objection cannot be raised by an instruction in the nature of a demurrer to the plaintiff's evidence.[60] It has been held that the better and more convenient practice is to take a preliminary objection by motion before interposing an answer to the merits.[61] A reply in an action by an infant suing by next friend, in which infancy is alleged in answer to defendant's plea of limitations, is not subject to demurrer in failing to allege that the next friend is sui juris.[62]

(b) Infant Defendants

A guardian ad litem for an infant defendant must be appointed by the court, and no one has authority to appear and answer for the infant without such appointment.

No one has authority to appear and answer for an infant defendant without having been first appointed by the court for that purpose,[63] and a decree rendered on the answer or defense of a person who has assumed to act as guardian ad litem for the infant without any such appointment is erroneous,[64] and does not conclude the infant.[65] While it has

42. U.S.—Gillespie v. Collier, Okl., 224 F. 298, 139 C.C.A. 534.

43. Ky.—Spicer v. Holbrook, 66 S.W. 180, 23 Ky.L. 1812.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 14.

44. Ky.—Henning v. Barringer, 10 S.W. 136, 10 Ky.L. 674.

45. N.Y.—Bogert v. Bogert, 45 Barb. 121.

46. Ky.—Campbell v. Dreher, 110 S. W. 353, 33 Ky.L. 444—Staton v. Bryant, 5 Ky.L. 336, 12 Ky.Op. 336.

47. Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corp. v. Guttadora, 228 S.W. 420, 190 Ky. 770—Staton v. Bryant, 5 Ky.L. 426, 12 Ky.Op. 336.

48. Ky.—Campbell v. Dreher, 110 S. W. 353, 33 Ky.L. 444.

49. Ky.—Maiden v. Stewart, 174 S. W. 5, 163 Ky. 551.

50. Mass.—Butler v. Winchester Home, 104 N.E. 451, 216 Mass. 567.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 12.

51. U.S.—State of Mississippi, for Use of Smith, C.C.A.Miss., 96 F.2d 210, rehearing denied 97 F.2d 251, certiorari denied State of Mississippi, for Use of Smith v. Brabham, 59 S.Ct. 103, 305 U.S. 636, 83 L.Ed. 409.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 23.

52. Mo.—Harviston v. St. Louis United R. Co., 119 S.W. 481, 139 Mo.App. 41.

53. U.S.—Brabham v. State of Mississippi, for Use of Smith, C.C.A. Miss., 96 F.2d 210, rehearing denied 97 F.2d 251, certiorari denied State of Mississippi, for Use of Smith v. Brabham, 59 S.Ct. 103, 305 U.S. 636, 83 L.Ed. 409.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 25.

54. Ind.—Wortman v. Ash, 4 Ind. 74.

55. Wis.—Hughes v. Chicago, St. P., M. & O. R. Co., 106 N.W. 526, 126 Wis. 525.

56. Mo.—Cohn v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., 81 S.W. 846, 182 Mo. 577.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 28.

57. Mo.—Cohn v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., supra.

58. Mo.—Cohn v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., supra.

59. Mo.—Dudley v. Wabash R. Co., 142 S.W. 338, 238 Mo. 184.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 31.

60. Mo.—Wegenschiede v. St. Louis Transit Co., 94 S.W. 774, 118 Mo. App. 295.

61. Minn.—Schuek v. Hagar, 24 Minn. 339.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 33.

62. R.I.—Bliven v. Wheeler, 50 A. 644, 23 R.I. 379.

63. Ill.—Cost v. Rose, 17 Ill. 276.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 35.
No legal right of parentage or of natural guardianship will enable one to act for an infant without an appointment as guardian.
Ky.—Herr v. Humphrey, 126 S.W.2d 809, 277 Ky. 421, 121 A.L.R. 954.
Mont.—Maloney v. Schnadelmier, 212 P. 493, 65 Mont. 531.

64. Mont.—Maloney v. Schnadelmier, supra.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 36.

65. Mass.—Johnson v. Waterhouse, 26 N.E. 234, 152 Mass. 585, 23 Am. S.R. 858, 11 L.R.A. 440.
Opening decree
Where A appeared as special guardian for infant heirs of B, but there was no order of court appointing him, and it did not appear from the record how many of the heirs were infants, it was held that the cause must be reopened.—Madibeen held that no formal order need be made for the appointment of a guardian ad litem,[66] that the want or lack of the entry of such order is no ground for reversing the decree or judgment,[67] and that any action on the part of the court whereby the person assuming to act as guardian ad litem is recognized as such is equivalent to an appointment,[68] an order of the court appointing a guardian ad litem is usually required.[69] It is presumed that the appointment was regularly and properly made and that the necessary proofs were before the court to justify its action in making the order.[70] Where the guardian ad litem answers for the infant defendant, and is recognized as such, his authority cannot be questioned in a collateral proceeding.[71]

No letters of guardianship are ordinarily issued to a guardian ad litem, but his authority is evidenced by the entry in the minutes of the court appointing him.[72]

Record. In some jurisdictions, it is required that the record should affirmatively show that a guardian ad litem was appointed to appear and answer for infant parties; otherwise the judgment or decree will be reversed on error or appeal;[73] but the failure of the record to show the appointment does not render the judgment void.[74] Where the record is silent on the subject, the appointment will not be presumed;[75] nor will it be presumed that the infant defendant attained his majority before the time of trial.[76] It cannot be presumed that a guardian ad litem was appointed for an infant defendant in the absence of proof that the records were lost or destroyed.[77] The recital in a decree or judgment of the appointment and appearance of a guardian ad litem imports verity,[78] and, ordinarily, it is sufficient to establish his authority.[79]

§ 110. —— Appointment, Eligibility, and Qualification

a. Authority and duty of court
b. Conditions precedent to appointment
c. Time for appointment
d. Who may apply
e. Who may be appointed
f. Proceedings
g. Effect of appointment

a. Authority and Duty of Court

A court has the authority and duty to appoint guardians ad litem or next friends to protect the interests of infant parties in proceedings before it.

For the purpose of protecting the rights of infant litigants, under either its inherent power[80] or the power conferred on it by statute,[81] the court may, and should, protect their interests by the appointment of special guardians or guardians ad litem or next friends.[82] The jurisdiction of particular courts to appoint guardians ad litem may be, and is usually, regulated by statute,[83] but as a general rule a guardian ad litem for an infant party should be appointed by the court in which the acson v. Wallace, 2 J.J.Marsh., Ky., 581.

31 C.J. p 1128 note 37.

66. Hawaii.—Lukua v. Manaia, 21 Hawaii 160.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 38.

67. U.S.—Simmons v. Baynard, C.C. S.C., 30 F. 532.
Ill.—Crane v. Stafford, 75 N.E. 424, 217 Ill. 21—Tuttle v. Garrett, 74 Ill. 444.

68. Fla.—Shepherd v. State, 119 So. 866, 96 Fla. 873.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 40.

69. Mich.—Stevenson v. Kurtz, 57 N.W. 580, 98 Mich. 493.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 41.

70. Cal.—Welsh v. Koch, 88 P. 604, 4 Cal.App. 571.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 42.

71. N.C.—Harris v. Bennett, 76 S.E. 217, 160 N.C. 339.

72. Cal.—Foley v. Northern California Power Co., 130 P. 1183, 165 Cal. 103—In re Hathaway, 43 P. 754, 111 Cal. 270.

73. Va.—Kanter v. Holland, 152 S.E. 328, 154 Va. 120.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 52.

74. Tex.—Davis v. Wells, 37 Tex. 606.

75. Va.—Kanter v. Holland, 152 S.E. 328, 154 Va. 120—Catron v. Bostic, 96 S.E. 845, 123 Va. 355.

76. Iowa.—Cavender v. Smith, 5 Iowa 157.

77. W.Va.—McDonald v. McDonald, 3 W.Va. 676.

78. Mo.—Arn v. Arn, 173 S.W. 1062, 264 Mo. 19.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 57.

79. Ark.—Benjamin v. Birmingham, 8 S.W. 183, 50 Ark. 433.

80. Cal.—Mabry v. Scott, 124 P.2d 659, 51 Cal.App.2d 245, certiorari denied Title Ins. & Trust Co. v. Mabry, 63 S.Ct. 75, 317 U.S. 670, 87 L.Ed. 538.
31 C.J. p 1129 note 61.

81. Hawaii.—Lalakea v. Laupahoehoe Sugar Co., 35 Hawaii 262.
31 C.J. p 1129 note 62.

82. Ill.—Skaggs v. Industrial Commission, 21 N.E.2d 731, 371 Ill. 535—Rapp v. Goerlitz, 40 N.E.2d 766, first case, 314 Ill.App. 191—Schorow v. Schorow, 20 N.E.2d 143, 299 Ill.App. 618.
Mo.—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 87 S.W.2d 581.
N.J.—Towner v. Mansfield Tp. Board of Education, 128 A. 602, 3 N.J. Misc. 448.
N.C.—Irvin v. Harris, 127 S.E. 529, 189 N.C. 465.
Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292—Smith v. Mann, Civ. App., 296 S.W. 613.
31 C.J. p 1129 note 63.
Necessity for representation see supra § 108.

Appellate court

Where no one appeared in the appellate court as guardian ad litem for minor party whose interests were involved, court was required to have a guardian ad litem appointed in order that proper action might be taken for protection of the minor's rights.—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill.App. 209.

83. Pa.—In re Harber, 41 Pa.Dist. & Co. 590.
31 C.J. p 1129 note 64.

tion is brought and is pending.[84] The power to appoint guardians ad litem for infant defendants may be discretionary with the court,[85] and under ordinary circumstances the exercise of that discretion is not subject to revision.[86] Under some statutes the appointment of a guardian ad litem can be made by the clerk of the court[87] or his deputy.[88]

b. Conditions Precedent to Appointment

In order to authorize the appointment of a guardian ad litem there must be a litigation of which the court has jurisdiction, and in which the infant is a party; and, as a general rule, the infant should have been served with process. A prior appointment of a guardian ad litem should be revoked before another is appointed.

In order to authorize the appointment of a guardian ad litem there must be a litigation of which the court has jurisdiction.[89] If the infant is not a party to the suit the appointment is a nullity.[90]

Former appointments. A guardian ad litem may be appointed without removing the general guardian.[91] The appointment of another guardian ad litem without reversing or setting aside a former appointment has been held to be void.[92] Where, however, the tutor and the minor are absentees at the time of trial, the appointment of a curator ad hoc is proper,[93] and the presence of the undertutor in the parish does not prevent such appointment.[94]

Service of process on infant. Before the appointment of a guardian ad litem for an infant defendant the general rule is that there should have been such service of process on the infant as is necessary to bring him within the jurisdiction of the court;[95] and a premature appointment in such cases usually is held to constitute error.[96] Some cases hold that this error is a jurisdictional defect rendering the appointment absolutely void,[97] but others

84. Mich.—King v. Emmons, 277 N.W. 851, 283 Mich. 116, 115 A.L.R. 564.
Pa.—In re Harber, 41 Pa.Dist. & Co. 590.
31 C.J. p 1129 note 65.

Cure of irregularity
Where guardian ad litem prosecuted claim for infant in court of claims but had been appointed by supreme court instead of by court of claims as strict conformance with civil practice act required, court of claims was authorized to appoint the guardian ad litem nunc pro tunc as of date appointed by supreme court or of filing of claim.—Mackney v. State, 29 N.Y.S.2d 1004, 177 Misc. 94.

That court only
A guardian ad litem can be appointed only by the court before which the proceeding necessitating the appointment is pending.—In re Elkins' Estate, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 578.

85. Cal.—In re Snowball, 104 P. 446, 156 Cal. 235.
31 C.J. p 1130 note 66.

Two guardians
In trespass to try title, where there was nothing to show which of two guardians was legal guardian of minor, trial court properly exercised discretion in appointing guardian ad litem of its own choice to represent minor's interest.—Brown v. Stumpff, Tex.Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 806.

86. Tex.—Smith v. Taylor, 34 Tex. 589.

87. Mo.—Mabe v. Gillie Mfg. Co., 271 S.W. 1023, 219 Mo.App. 234.
31 C.J. p 1129 note 64 [e].

88. During court's vacation
Ky.—Monroes' Guardian ad Litem v. Monroe, 285 S.W. 250, 215 Ky. 449.

89. Iowa.—Nothem v. Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 48.
31 C.J. p 1130 note 68.

90. Wis.—In re McNaughton, 118 N.W. 997, 120 N.W. 288, 138 Wis. 179.
31 C.J. p 1130 note 69.

91. Wash.—Ponti v. Hoffman, 151 P. 249, 87 Wash. 137.

92. Pa.—In re Strickler's Estate, 14 A.2d 341, 140 Pa.Super. 372.
31 C.J. p 1130 note 71.

93. La.—Saenger Amusement Co. v. Masur, 104 So. 701, 158 La. 745.

94. La.—Saenger Amusement Co. v. Masur, supra.

95. Ala.—Hamilton v. Tolley, 96 So. 584, 209 Ala. 533.
Kan.—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 299 P. 627, 133 Kan. 262.
Ky.—Herr v. Humphrey, 126 S.W.2d 809, 277 Ky. 421, 121 A.L.R. 954—Rachford v. Rachford, 7 S.W.2d 234, 224 Ky. 831—Cain v. Hall, 278 S.W. 152, 211 Ky. 817.
N.Y.—Lella v. Holman, 3 N.Y.S.2d 352, 166 Misc. 796—In re Morris' Estate, 267 N.Y.S. 644, 149 Misc. 483.
Ohio.—Carroll v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corporation, Limited, of London, England, 190 N.E. 590, 47 Ohio App. 146.
Okl.—Tanner v. Schultz, 223 P. 174, 97 Okl. 132.
S.C.—Lanham v. Bomar, 124 S.E. 635, 128 S.C. 483.
Tenn.—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn. App. 68.
Tex.—Ginn v. Southwest Bitulithic Co., Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 201, error dismissed, judgment correct.
31 C.J. p 1130 note 76.

Appearance
(1) A guardian ad litem appointed before service of summons on the infants has no right to enter their appearance by filing an answer.—Gannon v. Moore, 104 S.W. 139, 83 Ark. 196.

(2) The answer of a guardian ad litem will not operate as an appearance for the infant, when the guardian was appointed before service by publication on the infant had been perfected.—Standard Oil Co. v. Mehrtens, 118 So. 216, 96 Fla. 455—Laflin, v. Gato, 42 So. 387, 52 Fla. 529.

Cross action
Guardian ad litem or next friend has no right to appear in answer to cross action, in which minor becomes defendant but is not served with process.—Wright v. Jones, Tex.Com. App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ. App., 33 S.W.2d 292.

Nonresident infant
(1) The appointment of a guardian ad litem, for nonresident infant defendants is a nullity, where made before service of process upon them was complete.—Donovan v. Flynn, 220 N.Y.S. 44, 219 App.Div. 471.

(2) Other cases see 31 C.J. p 1130 note 76 [d].

96. Ala.—Hall v. Hall, 121 So. 718, 219 Ala. 199.
Ariz.—Bell v. Bell, 39 P.2d 629, 44 Ariz. 520.
N.Y.—Chilson v. Battey, 22 N.Y.S.2d 556, 260 App.Div. 838.
Tex.—Morris v. Drescher, Civ.App., 123 S.W.2d 958, error refused.
31 C.J. p 1130 note 77.

97. Cal.—Akley v. Bassett, 209 P. 576, 189 Cal. 625.
31 C.J. p 1131 note 78.

Waiver
An infant cannot waive the issuance and service of summons, nor can any person, not even his guardian, do so for him.—Tanner v. Schultz, 223 P. 174, 97 Okl. 132.

hold that the appointment in such cases is voidable only and not void,[98] and hence that it may be cured,[99] as by the service of summons on the infant thereafter and the filing of an answer by the guardian ad litem.[1] If the infant is already in court or voluntarily appears, failure to serve process on him before the appointment of a guardian ad litem will not render the appointment invalid;[2] if the guardian ad litem is appointed before the infant has been properly summoned, the irregularity may be corrected by a subsequent order confirming the appointment after the infant has been summoned.[3]

In a number of cases a distinction is drawn between purely personal actions and actions in rem, or quasi in rem.[4] In the former class of cases it has been held that jurisdiction can be acquired only by service of process,[5] while in the latter class it has been held that service of process is not essential to jurisdiction[6] and that the appointment of a guardian ad litem brings the minor into court;[7] and, although such proceedings may be erroneous,[8] the judgment or decree is not void.[9]

c. Time for Appointment

In the absence of a mandatory statute providing when a person must be appointed to represent an infant party, it usually is held necessary and sufficient if the appointment is made at such time as to protect the interests of the infant.

The application for the appointment of the person to represent the infant should be made at such a time as will permit of an appointment in time to protect the interests of the infant.[10] The question as to at what particular step in the proceeding an application for the appointment of a guardian ad litem or next friend may be entertained so that the appointment will effect a binding decree or judgment on the infant is determined by how far the proceedings have gone so as to affect adversely the interest of the infant litigant,[11] and in the absence

98. Tex.—Morris v. Drescher, Civ. App., 123 S.W.2d 958, error refused.
31 C.J. p 1131 note 79.

Admissibility as evidence

Fact that guardian ad litem for minors was appointed before minors were served with petition and process did not make proceeding inadmissible in evidence where guardian ad litem, after minors were served, acted in their interest.—Steele v. Graves, 127 S.E. 465, 160 Ga. 120.

Attainment of majority

Judgment against defendant, was not error as entered against minor who had no guardian ad litem appointed before service of summons, where defendant was served when still a minor, but court's former unimpeached findings showed that defendant became of age before trial, verdict, and judgment.—Carroll v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corporation, Limited, of London, England, 190 N.E. 590, 47 Ohio App. 146.

Court general guardian

The chancery court is the general guardian of all infants within its jurisdiction, and, by virtue of its general powers, has ample authority to protect the rights of minors when parties to pending actions. If the infant was not brought into court by service before the appointment of a guardian was made, the chancellor had the power to make the appointment without service, and the judgment or decree cannot be collaterally attacked as void.—Jones v. Henderson, 153 So. 214, 228 Ala. 273—Hubbard v. Vredenburgh Sawmill Co., 145 So. 320, 226 Ala. 54—Warren v. Southall, 141 So. 632, 224 Ala. 653—Hamilton v. Tolley, 96 So. 584, 209 Ala. 533.

In absence of fraud

Court of equity, in absence of limiting statute, may appoint guardian ad litem for resident minor defendant in cases affecting realty of minor situated within territorial jurisdiction of court without service of summons on minor, and such appointment is at most merely erroneous and not void unless it appears from record that there was actual or constructive fraud prejudicial to minor as result of appointment.—Bell v. Bell, 39 P.2d 629, 44 Ariz. 520.

99. N.C.—Cates v. Pickett, 1 S.E. 763, 97 N.C. 21.
31 C.J. p 1131 note 80.

1. U.S.—Mason v. Royal Indemnity Co., D.C.Ga., 35 F.Supp. 477, affirmed, C.C.A., 123 F.2d 335.
31 C.J. p 1131 note 81.

2. Ariz.—Bell v. Bell, 39 P.2d 629, 44 Ariz. 520.
N.Y.—In re Seabra's Will, 38 Hun 218.
31 C.J. p 1131 note 82.

Compliance with statute

Appointment of mother as guardian of minor over fourteen years of age after service on and nomination by minor, and as guardian ad litem of minors under that age by register without service, where mother appeared and answered bill to mortgage wards' property, was held to be a compliance with rule and statute.—Warren v. Southall, 141 So. 632, 224 Ala. 653.

Cross bill

The appointment of guardian ad litem for infant complainant, on filing of cross bill, without summons to minor, was proper.—Cogburn v. Callier, 104 So. 330, 213 Ala. 46.

3. Ky.—Caulder v. Chenault, 159 S.W. 578, 154 Ky. 777.

4. U.S.—New York L. Ins. Co. v. Bangs, Minn., 103 U.S. 435, 26 L.Ed. 580.
N.Y.—Sloane v. Martin, 40 N.E. 217, 145 N.Y. 524, 45 Am.S.R. 630, 28 L.R.A. 347, affirming 28 N.Y.S. 332, 77 Hun 249.

5. U.S.—New York L. Ins. Co. v. Bangs, Minn., 103 U.S. 435, 26 L.Ed. 580.
N.Y.—Sloane v. Martin, 40 N.E. 217, 145 N.Y. 524, 45 Am.S.R. 630, 28 L.R.A. 347, affirming 28 N.Y.S. 332, 77 Hun 249.

6. N.Y.—Sloane v. Martin, supra—Gotendorf v. Goldschmidt, 83 N.Y. 110.

7. U.S.—Manson v. Duncanson, App. D.C., 17 S.Ct. 647, 166 U.S. 533, 41 L.Ed. 1105.
31 C.J. p 1131 note 87.

8. N.Y.—Sloane v. Martin, 40 N.E. 217, 145 N.Y. 524, 45 Am.S.R. 630, 28 L.R.A. 347, affirming 28 N.Y.S. 332, 77 Hun 249.

9. U.S.—Manson v. Duncanson, App. D.C., 17 S.Ct. 647, 166 U.S. 533, 41 L.Ed. 1105.
31 C.J. p 1131 note 89.

10. Ark.—Blanton v. Davis, 154 S.W. 947, 107 Ark. 1.
Tenn.—Kelley v. Kelley, 15 Lea 194.

11. N.Y.—Anderson v. Anderson, 105 N.Y.S. 359, 164 App.Div. 812—Starr v. MacNamara, 182 N.Y.S. 746, 111 Misc. 242.

From minor's standpoint

In determining whether substantial rights of minor were protected, court was required to consider case from minor's standpoint and determine whether failure of appointment of statute providing otherwise the subject is largely within the discretion of the court.[12]

Infant plaintiff. Since, as discussed supra § 108, the want of a guardian ad litem or next friend generally is regarded as a mere irregularity and not jurisdictional, it is not a jurisdictional requirement that there should be a next friend or guardian ad litem for an infant at the time of suing out process.[13] Hence, where during the progress of the trial it appears that plaintiff is an infant, the court may then appoint a next friend or guardian ad litem for him and allow the pleadings to be amended accordingly,[14] and where defendant pleads that plaintiff, an infant, did not commence his action by next friend, the court may allow a responsible person to appear as next friend and qualify, even over the objection of defendant.[15] It has been held that an appointment after trial and judgment in favor of the infant plaintiff, on a hearing of a motion for a new trial, is a mere irregularity which does not vitiate the proceedings,[16] but under a statute requiring such appointment to be made before issue of process it has been held that the appointment should not be made nunc pro tunc after a judgment has been rendered adversely to the infant.[17] The appointment of a next friend for an infant plaintiff at the term to which the writ is returnable does not entitle defendant to a continuance.[18]

Infant defendant. Process having been served on an infant defendant, it has been held that, even in the absence of a statute controlling the matter, the first proceeding after the return of process served on an infant defendant is properly the appointment of a guardian ad litem,[19] or at least that such guardian should be appointed before any steps are taken as to which the infant is entitled to be heard.[20] In the absence of a mandatory statute to the contrary,[21] it is generally held that the failure to appoint a guardian ad litem for an infant defendant before any steps in the proceedings are taken is a mere irregularity[22] which may be cured,[23] and will not constitute error, if no binding decree is entered until the infant is properly represented.[24] Thus it has been held that a guardian ad litem may of guardian required reversal.—Bellchambers v. Ebeling, 13 N.E.2d 804, 294 Ill.App. 247.

12. Kan.—Earl v. Cotton, 96 P. 348, 78 Kan. 405.
Minn.—Patterson v. Melchior, 119 N. W. 402, 106 Minn. 437.

13. Mo.—Woods v. Woods, App., 170 S.W.2d 430.
N.Y.—Feigenbaum v. Narragansett Stables Co., 215 N.Y.S. 328, 127 Misc. 114, affirmed 219 N.Y.S. 811, 219 App.Div. 729, affirmed 157 N.E. 886, 245 N.Y. 628.
31 C.J. p 1132 notes 94, 96.

14. Cal.—Doyle v. Loyd, 114 P.2d 398, 45 Cal.App.2d 493.
Miss.—Sam v. Allen, 120 So. 568, 152 Miss. 572.
Mo.—State ex rel. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Cox, 267 S.W. 382, 306 Mo. 27.
N.Y.—Asaro v. Lilienfeld, 36 N.Y.S. 2d 802.
Wyo.—Urbach v. Urbach, 73 P.2d 953, 956, 52 Wyo. 207, 113 A.L.R. 889, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1132 note 97.

After verdict

Court, even after verdict, may appoint next friend on disclosure that infant is party.—Baker v. Mardis, 1 S.W.2d 223, 221 Mo.App. 1185.

15. Ind.—Greenman v. Cohee, 61 Ind. 201.
Wash.—Kongsbach v. Casey, 120 P. 103, 66 Wash. 643.

16. Idaho.—Trask v. Boise King Placers Co., 142 P. 1073, 26 Idaho 290.
N.Y.—Mackney v. State, 29 N.Y.S.2d 1004, 177 Misc. 94.

17. N.Y.—Anderson v. Anderson, 105 N.Y.S. 359, 164 App.Div. 812.

18. Ind.—Harvey v. Coffin, 5 Blackf. 566.

19. Mo.—Graden v. Patrick, App., 162 S.W.2d 287.
N.Y.—Harvey v. Large, 51 Barb. 222.
Infant cannot appear until a guardian is appointed.—Maloney v. Schandelmier, 212 P. 493, 65 Mont. 531.

20. Ill.—Cost v. Rose, 17 Ill. 276—Crocker v. Smith, 10 Ill.App. 376.
31 C.J. p 1132 note 8.

Before plea

To be regular, the appointment of a guardian ad litem must be made before plea.—Rapp v. Goerlitz, 40 N. E.2d 766, first case, 314 Ill.App. 191—31 C.J. p 1132 note 8 [a].

Day of trial

The statute respecting appointment of guardians ad litem does not contemplate appointment of such guardian for minor respondents in partition proceedings on day of trial and his acceptance of service of summons and copies of pleadings and filing of answer on same day.—Simms v. Sampson, 20 S.E.2d 554, 221 N.C. 379.

21. Particular statutes

(1) Under some statutes it has been held that after the service and return of the summons against an infant defendant no other proceeding can be taken in the action until the appointment of a guardian ad litem.—Winterroth v. Cox, 133 N. Y.S. 445, 75 Misc. 467—31 C.J. p 1133 note 9.

(2) Under such a statute, the appointment cannot be made after the case has been called for trial.—Cowan v. Ganung, 110 N.Y.S. 470, 58 Misc. 141.

(3) Also, under such a statute after verdict adverse to an infant defendant, before judgment, a guardian ad litem cannot be appointed for the purpose of entering judgment, but the verdict must be set aside and leave given to apply for the appointment of a guardian ad litem in the regular way.—Starr v. MacNamara, 182 N.Y.S. 746, 111 Misc. 242.

22. Mo.—Graden v. Patrick, App., 162 S.W.2d 287, 289, citing Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Kelley v. Kelley, 15 Lea 194.

23. Mo.—Graden v. Patrick, App., 162 S.W.2d 287, 289, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1133 note 15.

24. Iowa.—Johnston v. Calvin, 5 N. W.2d 840.
Mo.—Graden v. Patrick, App., 162 S. W.2d 287, 289, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Williams v. Patterson, Com. App., 288 S.W. 132, reversing, Civ. App., 276 S.W. 750.
31 C.J. p 1133 note 16.

Appeal from judgment of alderman

A guardian of a minor defendant can be appointed by the court after a case has been appealed from the judgment of the alderman in favor of the plaintiff to the court of common pleas.—Beauer v. Engle, 45 Pa. Dist. & Co. 411, 48 Lanc.Rev. 51.

Vacation of judgment

Where plaintiff filed a motion to be appointed during trial,[25] after introduction of the evidence but before the decision of the case.[26]

The time prescribed, either by statute or by the rules of practice, in which an infant may apply to have a guardian ad litem appointed for him, must elapse before the court can appoint one on its motion,[27] or on the application of another.[28] It has been held, however, that, where the infant at no time objects to the guardian appointed for him, the failure to allow such time is a mere irregularity.[29]

After becoming of age, as discussed infra § 113, the infant being entitled to control and management of the litigation, a guardian ad litem need not be appointed, although he was an infant at the commencement of the suit or action;[30] in fact he should not be appointed,[31] and it is error to appoint him.[32]

d. Who May Apply

An infant who has reached the age of discretion may apply for the appointment of a guardian ad litem to represent him, and, if the infant is under that age, or fails so to apply, the application may be made by the other party to the action, or by a relative or friend.

Where an infant has arrived at such an age that he is presumed to possess sufficient discretion to select a suitable person to represent him, which age is usually fixed at fourteen years, a guardian ad litem may be appointed on his application;[33] and under some statutes it is required that a guardian ad litem, appointed for an infant plaintiff over a certain age, must be so appointed on the application of the infant only, in which case an appointment made on the application of anyone else is not a legal appointment.[34] Where the infant is under the age referred to above, or where he fails to apply, the application may be made on his behalf by any other party to the action or by a relative or friend of the infant.[35] In case an infant is made a party defendant to an action, plaintiff has a right to apply to the court for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for such infant,[36] and indeed it has been held to be not only the right but the duty of plaintiff to do so.[37]

e. Who May Be Appointed

(1) In general
(2) Relationship to infant
(3) Persons having adverse interest

(1) In General

Competent and suitable persons should be selected to represent an infant party.

Competent and suitable persons should be selected as guardians ad litem.[38] The person appointed vacate the judgment to avoid delay incident to defendant's writ of error, sued out on the ground that defendant was an unrepresented minor, it was not essential to appoint a guardian ad litem before granting the motion to vacate.—Lee v. Fowler, 161 N.E. 910, 268 Mass. 440.

25. N.Y.—Bartley v. Pitcher, 227 N.Y.S. 46, 131 Misc. 597.
31 C.J. p 1133 note 17.

Discovery of minority during trial

Appointment of guardian ad litem on discovering defendant's minority after trial commenced was not error.
Ind.—Mayfield v. Rumford, 166 N.E. 773, 89 Ind.App. 632.
Iowa.—Brien v. Davidson, 281 N.W. 150, 225 Iowa 595, rehearing denied 282 N.W. 480, 225 Iowa 595.
31 C.J. p 1133 note 17 [a].

Duty of court

The court should appoint a guardian ad litem as soon as the fact of defendant's infancy is called to its attention.—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.

26. Kan.—Earl v. Cotton, 96 P. 348, 78 Kan. 405.
Presumptions on appeal see infra § 126 f.

27. Mo.—Kuhrts v. Eisenstein, 100 S.W. 574, 123 Mo.App. 288.
Pa.—Reilly's Estate, 36 Pa.Co. 122.

28. N.Y.—Ward v. Ward, 242 N.Y.S. 171, 136 Misc. 234.
31 C.J. p 1130 note 74.

29. Ohio.—Thomas v. Monroe, 65 P. 2d 1008, 179 Okl. 416.

30. Kan.—Patton v. Furthmier, 16 Kan. 29.
N.Y.—In re Rousos, 119 N.Y.S. 34.
Vt.—Wilder v. Eldridge, 17 Vt. 226.

31. Kan.—Patton v. Furthmier, 16 Kan. 29.

32. N.Y.—In re Rousos, 119 N.Y.S. 34.

33. Mont.—Maloney v. Schandelmier, 212 P. 493, 65 Mont. 531.
31 C.J. p 1133 note 25.

34. Or.—Everart v. Fischer, 145 P. 33, 147 P. 189, 75 Or. 316.

35. Del.—Flannigan v. Wilmington & N. Electric R. Co., 45 A. 346, 18 Del. 415.
Mich.—Peck v. Adsit, 57 N.W. 804, 98 Mich. 639.
31 C.J. p 1133 note 29.

Father's responsibility

Responsibility of having tutor appointed to represent minor devisee at time devisor's succession was opened was on minor's father and not on minor's uncle who was codevisee.—Succession of Grivaud, 187 So. 284, 192 La. 181.

Mother of minors, to whom will, bequeathing portion of estate to bank in trust for payment of net income to her for life, directed conveyance of remainder on her death, was obligated, as their natural guardian, to see that their rights were protected by appointment of guardian ad litem, if advisable, but no such duty rested on bank.—Ringwalt v. Bank of America Nat. Trust & Savings Ass'n, 45 P.2d 967, 3 Cal.2d 680.

36. Mo.—Coulson v. Coulson, 79 S.W. 473, 180 Mo. 709.
31 C.J. p 1133 note 30, p 1134 note 33.

No conflict in interest

A guardian ad litem for infant defendants may properly be appointed on petition of their mother, who is plaintiff, where the complaint shows that there is no conflict in interest between herself and the infants.—Ex parte Pearson, 60 S.E. 706, 79 S.C. 302.

37. Mo.—Coulson v. Coulson, 79 S.W. 473, 180 Mo. 709.
31 C.J. p 1134 note 32.

38. Mich.—Rabidon v. Muskegon Cir. Judge, 68 N.W. 147, 110 Mich. 297.
31 C.J. p 1134 note 34.

Attorney trying case

The appointment as guardian ad litem for a minor defendant, of a member of the firm which had the case for other defendants, and who should be an adult,[39] and a real, not a fictitious, person.[40] One who could have acted as next friend for an infant can employ and indemnify another to allow the use of his name as such.[41]

The objection to the qualification of a guardian ad litem cannot be made after he has discharged his duties and has ceased to act in that capacity.[42] It has also been held that the qualification of a person to act as next friend cannot be challenged by a general demurrer.[43]

Court officer. In a proper case a court officer may be appointed to act as guardian ad litem.[44] Where an infant is not able to obtain a responsible guardian or where no one will consent to act for him and in other proper cases the court may appoint one of its own officers.[45]

Financial ability of appointee. While in some cases it has been held that it is not required that the next friend of an infant plaintiff be absolutely responsible financially,[46] a next friend or guardian ad litem for an infant plaintiff, being ordinarily liable for costs, as discussed infra § 127, should be a person of substance.[47]

General or testamentary guardian. Ordinarily the general or testamentary guardian of the infant will be appointed,[48] but it is not necessary that he should be appointed; and if for any reason it appears that such guardian is not the best person to represent the infant the court may in its discretion appoint someone else.[49]

Married woman. Where the disability of coverture has not been removed, a married woman should not be appointed next friend or guardian ad litem,[50] without being joined by her husband.[51] Where, however, the disability of a married woman to act in a fiduciary capacity has been removed by statute, a married woman may act as next friend.[52]

Nomination by adverse party. Although a guard-was fully cognizant of everything which had transpired in the case, was held to be proper.—Brien v. Davidson, 281 N.W. 150, 225 Iowa 595, rehearing denied 282 N.W. 480, 225 Iowa 595.

Representative of adverse interests

Order directing attorney to act as guardian ad litem, notwithstanding attorney had told court his convictions were such that he could represent only interests of those opposed to infants, was erroneous, and did not give attorney right to file brief for infants on appeal.—In re Jaeger's Will, 259 N.W. 842, 218 Wis. 1, 99 A.L.R. 738.

Ordinary

Under a statute providing that an ordinary cannot, during his term of office, be executor, administrator, or guardian or other agent of a fiduciary nature required to account to his court, and under a statute authorizing action by the ordinary of the county to recover money due a minor under insurance policies, the ordinary is not prohibited from acting as a guardian of a minor residing in the county of which he is ordinary.—Foster v. Wood, 137 S.E. 847, 36 Ga.App. 734.

39. N.Y.—Wolford v. Oakley, Sheld. 261, 43 How.Pr. 118.

"The law being that a minor, on account of his incompetency of minority, may not sue except by the aid and assistance of a competent next friend, that next friend must not be under the same disability, but must be an adult."—Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gleason, 187 So. 229, 232, 185 Miss. 243.

Collateral attack

A decree in partition proceeding wherein petition revealed that minors were represented as next friend by another minor was subject to collateral attack.—Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gleason, 187 So. 229, 185 Miss. 243.

Partial removal of disability

A partition proceeding wherein minors were represented as next friend by another minor was void as to all parties, notwithstanding minor's disability had purportedly been specially removed for purpose of empowering her to act with reference to her own property.—Prudential Ins. Co. v. Gleason, supra.

40. N.Y.—Bullard v. Spoor, 2 Cow. 430.
N.C.—In re Roediger's Will, 184 S.E. 74, 209 N.C. 470.

41. Tenn.—Evans v. Mason, 1 Lea 26.

42. Puerto Rico.—Graham v. Crosas, 19 Puerto Rico 184.

43. Tex.—Sims v. University Interscholastic League, Civ.App., 111 S.W.2d 814, vacated as moot University Interscholastic League v. Sims, 131 S.W.2d 94, 133 Tex. 605.

44. W.Va.—Ferrell v. Deverick, 100 S.E. 850, 85 W.Va. 1.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 69.

45. U.S.—Brown v. The Henry Pratt, D.C.N.Y., 4 F.Cas.No.2,010.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 70.

46. Mich.—Rabidon v. Muskegon Cir. Judge, 68 N.W. 147, 110 Mich. 297.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 53.

47. N.Y.—Matter of Mang, 50 N.Y. Super. 96, 5 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 162.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 55.

48. Ga.—Scott v. Winningham, 4 S.E. 390, 79 Ga. 492.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 57.

Legal capacity

In proceeding on application of administrators with wills annexed to resign and for final accounting, to which contest was filed by guardian of persons and next friend of minor beneficiaries of wills, person who had been designated by will of mother as guardian of persons of infant daughters had legal capacity to represent minors as next friend in proceeding.—Loewenstein v. Watts, Civ.App., 119 S.W.2d 176, affirmed 137 S.W.2d 2, 134 Tex. 660, 128 A.L.R. 910.

49. W.Va.—Stewart v. Parr, 82 S.E. 259, 74 W.Va. 327.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 59.

50. Ala.—Savage v. Smith, 31 So. 374, 132 Ala. 64, 90 Am.S.R. 932.

Amendment

Refusing to permit father to file amended petition asking to be allowed to sue as next friend for son instead of his wife was improper.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Hooker, 98 S.W.2d 922, 266 Ky. 257.

Waiver

Under a statute providing that no person shall sue as next friend unless he reside in the state and be free from disability, the right to object to a married woman's acting as next friend is one which may be waived.—Louisville & N. R. Co. v. Hooker, 98 S.W.2d 922, 266 Ky. 257.

51. Tex.—Carroll v. Embry, Civ. App., 229 S.W. 575.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 62.

52. Ky.—Chenault v. State Bank & Trust Co., 128 S.W.2d 715, 278 Ky. 453.
Tex.—Safeway Stores of Texas v. Rutherford, Civ.App., 101 S.W.2d 1055, affirmed 111 S.W.2d 688, 130 Tex. 465.

ian ad litem may be appointed on the application of plaintiff, the court should not permit the adverse party or his attorney to select the person to be appointed.[53] It does not follow, however, that such appointment is fraudulent,[54] or that it will render a judgment void[55] or voidable,[56] in the absence of collusion or deception on the court.[57]

Nonresidents. Although the court should permit the substitution of a resident next friend in place of a nonresident,[58] in the absence of any statutory prohibition a nonresident may act or be appointed as next friend[59] or guardian ad litem.[60] In some jurisdictions, however, by force of statute, a nonresident is not permitted to sue as next friend.[61]

Selection by, and consulting with, infant. It is not necessary that the next friend should be selected by the infant;[62] but it has been held that an infant above the age of fourteen years has the right to select his own next friend.[63] Where the infant is above the age of fourteen years, although it has been held that it is not necessary to consult him with regard to the appointment of a guardian ad litem,[64] it is proper to do so;[65] and, where it is shown that the guardian nominated by such an infant is qualified to act, it has been held to be error to refuse to appoint him,[66] although it has also been held that the matter rests in the sound discretion of the court.[67]

Trustees of juvenile institutions. Where the trustees of juvenile institutions have all the powers of a parent over a minor committed to their charge, the board can act as next friend.[68]

Wishes of natural guardian. The wishes of the natural guardian of the infant, who is shown to have no adverse interest, as to who should be appointed guardian ad litem should not be ignored,[69] but the appointment of the person nominated by him is not compulsory.[70]

(2) Relationship to Infant

It is customary to appoint as guardian ad litem or next friend some near relative of the infant who is qualified to act, but it is not essential that this practice be followed.

The usual practice is to appoint as guardian ad litem or next friend the nearest relative of the infant who is not concerned in point of interest in the matter in question and is otherwise qualified to act.[71] In application of this rule the father,[72] or mother,[73] or stepfather,[74] or grandfather,[75] or grandmother,[76] or uncle[77] of the infant may, when

53. Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.
31 C.J. p 1134 note 47.

54. Ind.—Young v. Wiley, 107 N.E. 278, 183 Ind. 449, reversing, App., 102 N.E. 54—McKern v. Beck, 126 N.E. 641, 73 Ind.App. 92.

55. Ind.—Young v. Wiley, 107 N.E. 278, 183 Ind. 449, reversing, App., 102 N.E. 54—McKern v. Beck, 126 N.E. 641, 73 Ind.App. 92.

56. Ind.—McKern v. Beck, supra.

57. Ind.—Young v. Wiley, 107 N.E. 278, 183 Ind. 449, reversing, App., 102 N.E. 54—McKern v. Beck, 126 N.E. 641, 73 Ind.App. 92.

58. Tenn.—Vezolles v. Tennessee Cent. Ry. Co., 136 S.W.2d 502, 175 Tenn. 554.

59. Mo.—Aley v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 111 S.W. 102, 211 Mo. 460.

60. Idaho.—Pine v. Callahan, 71 P. 473, 8 Idaho 684.
Wash.—Shannon v. Consolidated Tiger & Poorman Min. Co., 64 P. 169, 24 Wash. 119.

61. Ky.—Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. of Kentucky v. Haselip, 144 S.W.2d 798, 284 Ky. 333—Stevenson v. Stevenson, 7 Ky.L. 674, 13 Ky.Op. 1012.

62. Ky.—Chenault v. State Bank & Trust Co., 128 S.W.2d 715, 278 Ky. 453.
31 C.J. p 1134 note 42.

63. Ky.—Metzger Bros. v. Watson's Guardian, 65 S.W.2d 460, 251 Ky. 446.

64. Ark.—Beddinger v. Smith, 13 S. W. 734.
Ky.—Banta v. Calhoen, 2 A.K.Marsh. 166.
N.Y.—Brick's Estate, 15 Abb.Pr. 12.

65. Ala.—Roach v. Hix, 57 Ala. 576—Stammers v. McNaughton, 57 Ala. 277—Walker v. Hallett, 1 Ala. 379.

66. N.Y.—In re Dumbra's Estate, 4 N.Y.S.2d 778, 254 App.Div. 776.

67. Ala.—Walker v. Hallett, 1 Ala. 379.

68. Me.—Harding v. Skolfield, 134 A. 567, 125 Me. 438.

69. N.Y.—Polk v. Hawkins, 34 N.Y.S.2d 417, 264 App.Div. 58—Walter v. Bernheimer, 233 N.Y.S. 90, 225 App.Div. 343.

70. Circumstances warranting other appointment
Where justice, who was dissatisfied with petition by parents of infants for appointment of parents' nominee for guardian ad litem, personally communicated directly with the nominee, informing nominee of reason why order for his appointment was not signed, and invited nominee to see the justice the following day, but neither the nominee nor any other person interested appeared or communicated with the justice during period of seventeen days, the justice was warranted in not naming the nominee as guardian ad litem, but in naming a lawyer of high standing.—Polk v. Hawkins, 34 N.Y.S.2d 417, 264 App.Div. 58.

71. U.S.—Jarvis v. Crozier, C.C.W. Va., 98 F. 753.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 73.

72. U.S.—Brabham v. State of Mississippi, for Use of Smith, C.C.A. Miss., 96 F.2d 210, rehearing denied 97 F.2d 251, certiorari denied State of Mississippi, for Use of Smith v. Brabham, 59 S.Ct. 103, 305 U.S. 636, 83 L.Ed. 409.
Tex.—Fall v. Weber, Civ.App., 47 S. W.2d 365, error refused.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 74.

73. Ky.—Chenault v. State Bank & Trust Co., 128 S.W.2d 715, 278 Ky. 453.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 75.

74. Tex.—International & G. N. R. Co. v. Kuehn, 8 S.W. 484, 70 Tex. 582.

75. N.J.—Anonymous, 10 N.J.L.J. 142.

76. Parents alive
A grandmother could maintain a personal injury action in infant's behalf, as next friend, even though the infant's parents were alive and were supporting the infant in their home.—Bertinelli v. Galoni, 200 A. 58, 331 Pa. 73, 118 A.L.R. 398.

77. N.Y.—O'Reilly v. King, 25 N.Y. Super. 587, 28 How.Pr. 408.

not otherwise disqualified, represent him. The mother, however, may become disqualified by reason of her coverture where her husband refuses to join her.[78] It is not necessary to the validity of the appointment that this practice should be adhered to,[79] or even that the person appointed should be a relative of the infant, although the appointment of a stranger where the parents of the infant are living is a circumstance to awaken attention.[80] Following the rule that there should be no conflicting interests between the infant and the person representing him, if the relative has an interest in the subject matter of the suit or action which is adverse to that of the infant he should not be appointed.[81]

(3) Persons Having Adverse Interest

A person whose interests are adverse to those of the infant should not be appointed to represent him in the proceedings.

There should be no conflicting interests between the infant and the person representing him,[82] and hence a person whose interest in a suit is adverse to an infant should not be appointed guardian ad litem,[83] or permitted to act as the next friend of the infant.[84] In order to disqualify, however, the adverse interest must be clear and substantial.[85] The attorney of an adverse party should not be appointed guardian ad litem of infants,[86] and even a person connected in business with the attorney of the adverse party should not be appointed.[87] Where there are two or more infant parties whose interests conflict they should be represented by different guardians,[88] but where no adverse interest exists between several minor defendants the same guardian ad litem may represent all of them.[89] While the holding of an adverse interest to the infant may constitute the appointment erroneous,[90] it has been held that the error is not jurisdictional,[91] and that the judgment or decree is not subject on that ground alone to be avoided, in the absence of fraud or collusion;[92] but it has also been held that the appointment is void on that ground.[93]

78. Tex.—Carroll v. Embry, Civ. App., 229 S.W. 575.

79. Ga.—Hargrove v. Youmans, 183 S.E. 564, 181 Ga. 614.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 80.

Any person
At common law, any person could serve as next friend of an infant.—Bertinelli v. Galoni, 200 A. 58, 331 Pa. 73, 118 A.L.R. 398.

Father need not be named as next friend.—Kite v. Brooks, 181 S.E. 107, 51 Ga.App. 531.

Husband is not only person qualified to act as next friend of married woman under twenty-one in matters affecting her separate estate.—In re Hay's Guardianship, 17 P.2d 943, 37 N.M. 55.

No particular person is required to act as next friend.—Mize v. Harber, 8 S.E.2d 1, 189 Ga. 737.

80. U.S.—U. S. Bank v. Ritchie, D. C., 8 Pet. 128, 8 L.Ed. 890.
31 C.J. p 1135 note 81.

81. Miss.—Standard Oil Co. v. Magee, 85 So. 186.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 84.

Father having identical interest is not disqualified.—Wilson v. Fisher, Tex.Civ.App., 105 S.W.2d 304, error refused, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 264, 302 U.S. 746, 82 L.Ed. 577.

82. U.S.—U. S. v. 15,883.55 Acres of Land in Spartanburg County, S. C., D.C.S.C., 45 F.Supp. 558.
31 C.J. p 1134 note 37, p 1136 note 85.

Interests held not adverse
La.—Tickfaw Homegrowers' Ass'n v. Gallodoro, 132 So. 767, 15 La.App. 686.
N.H.—Merchants Mut. Casualty Co. v. Kiley, 30 A.2d 681.

Guardian of insane person
Appointment of one guardian ad litem for both insane person and minor whose interests were antagonistic was error.—Millage v. Noble, 166 N.E. 50, 334 Ill. 315.

83. U.S.—U. S. v. 15,883.55 Acres of Land in Spartanburg County, S. C., D.C.S.C., 45 F.Supp. 558.
Ala.—Dickinson v. Jordan, 98 So. 886, 210 Ala. 602.
Ill.—In re Ahlrich's Estate, 235 Ill. App. 63.
N.C.—Graham v. Floyd, 197 S.E. 873, 214 N.C. 77.
R.I.—Stanton v. Sullivan, 4 A.2d 269, 62 R.I. 154.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 86.

84. U.S.—Marlin v. Texas Co., D.C. Tex., 26 F.Supp. 611, reversed on other grounds, C.C.A., Texas Co. v. Marlin, 109 F.2d 305.
Ala.—Midgley v. Ralls, 176 So. 799, 234 Ala. 685.
Ky.—Kidd v. Kidd, 124 S.W.2d 66, 276 Ky. 271.
Tex.—Missouri-Kansas-Texas R. Co. of Texas v. Pluto, 156 S.W.2d 265, 267, 138 Tex. 1, citing Corpus Juris, and reversing, Civ.App., 130 S.W.2d 1048—Greathouse v. Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., Com.App., 65 S.W.2d 762, 765, citing Corpus Juris, and reversing Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Greathouse, Civ. App., 41 S.W.2d 418.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 87.

Dual capacity
A parent of a minor may prosecute an action in the dual capacity of next friend and of plaintiff in his own right.—Wilson v. Fisher, Tex. Civ.App., 105 S.W.2d 304, error refused, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 264, 302 U.S. 746, 82 L.Ed. 577.

85. Tex.—Saladiner v. Polanco, Civ. App., 160 S.W.2d 531, error refused.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 88.

86. R.I.—Stanton v. Sullivan, 4 A.2d 269, 62 R.I. 154.
31 C.J. p 1136 notes 89, 90.

87. N.Y.—Parish v. Parish, 78 N.Y. S. 1089, 77 App.Div. 267, reversed on other grounds 67 N.E. 298, 175 N.Y. 181—Lake v. Kessel, 72 N.Y.S. 311, 64 App.Div. 540.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 91.

88. Ala.—Estes v. Bridgforth, 21 So. 512, 114 Ala. 221.
N.Y.—In re Gould, 48 N.Y.S. 872.

89. Ala.—Hamilton v. Tolley, 96 So. 584, 209 Ala. 533.

Allegation of coöwnership is insufficient averment of opposite interests requiring appointment of tutor ad hoc for each absentee minor in partition proceedings.—Jacob v. Rochel, 113 So. 786, 164 La. 114.

90. Wash.—Coleman v. Crawford, 248 P. 386, 388, 140 Wash. 117, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 94.

91. N.Y.—Parrish v. Parrish, 67 N. E. 298, 175 N.Y. 181.
Wash.—Coleman v. Crawford, 248 P. 386, 388, 140 Wash. 117, quoting Corpus Juris.

92. Wash.—Coleman v. Crawford, supra, quoting Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 96.

93. Puerto Rico.—Alverez v. Registrar of Property, 16 Puerto Rico 572.

Decree not binding on minor
A partition decree was not binding on minor owner who was made a party thereto, where grandmother

f. Proceedings

(1) In general
(2) Application or motion, and notice thereof
(3) Affidavits
(4) Consent of guardian ad litem or next friend
(5) Order of appointment and notice of appointment
(6) Bond
(7) Oath

(1) In General

Mere irregularities in the proceedings for the appointment of a representative for an infant party do not render the appointment, or the judgment or decree obtained in the proceedings, void.

The provisions of the constitutions,[94] the statutes,[95] and of the rules of practice[96] respecting the appointment must be observed. In some cases a strict compliance with such provisions has been required;[97] but in other cases a substantial compliance has been held to be sufficient.[98] Mere irregularities which do not affect substantial rights do not affect the jurisdiction;[99] they may be corrected and cured before verdict and judgment,[1] and at most they merely render the appointment voidable;[2] and they do not vitiate the appointment[3] or the judgment or decree obtained in the action.[4] The right to object may be lost by laches.[5] Any defects in the proceedings may be cured by the ratification of the proceedings by the infant after attaining majority.[6]

It is not necessary for an infant defendant to appear or be brought into court before a guardian ad litem can be appointed;[7] his presence in court is necessary only for the purpose of ascertaining his infancy.[8]

Before the appointment of a guardian ad litem the court should be satisfied of the infancy of defendant,[9] but where there is sufficient evidence that an order appointing a guardian ad litem was actually made the presumption is that it was made on sufficient proof.[10]

The appointment should be made only after due inquiry as to the fitness of the person to be appointed,[11] and the court should always select such person as will be most likely to protect the rights of the infant.[12]

(2) Application or Motion, and Notice Thereof

It appears to be the better practice to appoint a representative for an infant party only on formal petition therefor, but in the absence of a statute or court rule to representing minor as next friend had a conflict of interest with minor, and minor's attorney contended that minor owned no interest in land, notwithstanding minor was given interest in other lands partitioned at the same time.—Clarkson v. Ruiz, Tex.Civ.App., 108 S.W.2d 281, error dismissed.

94. La.—Gates v. Gaither, 15 So. 50, 46 La.Ann. 286.

95. Okl.—Sealey v. Smith, 197 P. 490, 81 Okl. 97.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 99.

96. N.Y.—Torrey v. State, 23 N.Y.S. 2d 370, 175 Misc. 259.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 1.

97. Okl.—Sealey v. Smith, 197 P. 490, 81 Okl. 97.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 2.

98. Mich.—Peck v. Adsit, 57 N.W. 804, 98 Mich. 639.

99. Tex.—Peters v. Allen, Civ.App., 296 S.W. 929.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 44.

1. Ariz.—Arizona Eastern R. Co. v. Carillo, 149 P. 313, 17 Ariz. 115.

2. Ala.—Bondurant v. Sibley, 37 Ala. 565.

3. Mo.—Baker v. Mardis, 1 S.W.2d 223, 221 Mo.App. 1185.
N.Y.—Torrey v. State, 23 N.Y.S.2d 370, 175 Misc. 259.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 4.

4. Mo.—Sullinger v. West, 211 S.W. 65.
N.C.—Ward v. Lowndes, 2 S.E. 591, 96 N.C. 367.
31 C.J. p 1127 note 11, p 1128 notes 47, 48.

5. Mo.—Vaile v. Sprague, 78 S.W. 609, 179 Mo. 393.
31 C.J. p 1128 note 46.

6. Cal.—Johnston v. Southern Pac. Co., 89 P. 348, 150 Cal. 535, 11 Ann.Cas. 841.

7. Ky.—Banta v. Calhoon, 2 A.K. Marsh. 166—Ray v. McIlroy, 1 A. K.Marsh. 612.

8. Ky.—Ray v. McIlroy, supra.

9. Ala.—Rhett v. Mastin, 43 Ala. 86 —Walker v. Hallett, 1 Ala. 379.

10. Mich.—Stevenson v. Kurtz, 57 N.W. 580, 98 Mich. 493.
Tenn.—Martin v. Porter, 4 Heisk. 407.

11. N.C.—In re Roediger's Will, 184 S.E. 74, 209 N.C. 470.
31 C.J. p 1134 note 35.

Burden of proof

Petitioner seeking to nominate guardian ad litem for infant must show to court's satisfaction that nominee is qualified.—Walter v. Bernheimer, 233 N.Y.S. 90, 225 App. Div. 343.

12. Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.
31 C.J. p 1134 note 36.

Appointment held not abuse of discretion

Kan.—Galloway v. Wesley, 73 P.2d 1073, 146 Kan. 937.

Member of bar

"It was the duty of the court to select . . . a person of sufficient capacity to understand the rights of the child, and to manage his interests in the subject of the litigation. It was eminently proper, therefore, that the court should choose from the gentlemen of the bar. Indeed, in the appointment of guardians ad litem it is the duty of the court to select men learned in the law and capable of taking care of the interests of their wards."—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 454, 80 Ind.App. 282.

Wise discretion

Fact that some one must be appointed next friend in suit by infants does not eliminate duty vested in court to use wise discretion in making appointment.—Cheney v. Cheney, 82 S.W.2d 1024, reversed on other grounds Cheney v. Coffey, 113 S.W.2d 162, 131 Tex. 212, rehearing denied 114 S.W.2d 533, 131 Tex. 212.

the contrary a formal application is not necessary. Some statutes provide for the giving of notice of such an application.

While an application for the appointment is not necessary,[13] and the appointment may be made on mere suggestion or application ore tenus in open court,[14] or on motion[15] of the court itself without petition from any person[16] or without issuing a commission,[17] it is better and the more usual practice to make the appointment only on formal petition in writing,[18] stating the name of the person proposed,[19] his pecuniary responsibility,[20] his consent to be appointed,[21] and the facts giving the court authority to make the appointment.[22] If the infant has arrived at years of discretion, it is the better practice that he should sign the petition[23] and that it be verified by him;[24] however, his verification is not absolutely necessary.[25] While a petition not alleging sufficient facts to give the court jurisdiction to make the appointment is erroneous, so that the infant may not be bound by the judgment in the action,[26] the insufficiency of the petition may be cured by a reference to the complaint in the case setting forth facts sufficient to justify the appointment.[27] Erroneous statements, which are not prejudicial, may be considered as immaterial;[28] and mere irregularities may be cured by amendment,[29] even after judgment has been rendered in the action.[30] The lack of a petition for the appointment of next friend, as required by statute, is merely an irregularity where substantial rights are not affected thereby.[31]

Notice of application. It is sometimes required that notice on the application for the appointment should be given to the infant where he has arrived at an age of discretion.[32] Also sometimes it is required that notice be served on the infant's next of kin,[33] or on his general or testamentary guardian if he has one, or, if he has none, on the person with whom the infant resides.[34] In special cases notice of the application may be dispensed with.[35] If the infant is already in court, the failure to give him notice is not reversible error.[36]

(3) Affidavits

In some jurisdictions the filing of an affidavit showing the necessity and propriety of the appointment is required.

In some jurisdictions it is necessary that there should be presented to the court an affidavit of the fact of infancy,[37] that there is no general guard-

13. N.Y.—Matter of Ludlow, 5 Redf. Surr. 391.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 16.

14. Cal.—Emerio v. Alvarado, 2 P. 418, 64 Cal. 529.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 17.

15. U.S.—Barclay v. Govers, C.C. D.C., 2 F.Cas.No.973, 1 Cranch C.C. 147.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 18.

16. Cal.—In re Snowball, 104 P. 446, 156 Cal. 235.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 19.

17. U.S.—Reinhart v. Orme, C.C.D. C., 20 F.Cas.No.11,682, 1 Cranch C. C. 244.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 21.

18. Ariz.—Arizona Eastern R. Co. v. Carillo, 149 P. 313, 17 Ariz. 115.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 22.

19. U.S.—Rhinelander v. Sanford, C. C., 20 F.Cas.No.11,739, 3 Day, Conn., 279.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 23.

20. N.Y.—McDonald v. Brass Goods Mfg. Co., 2 Abb.N.Cas. 434.

21. U.S.—Rhinelander v. Sanford, C. C., 20 F.Cas.No.11,739, 3 Day, Conn., 279.

22. N.Y.—Smith v. Reid, 81 N.E. 1082, 184 N.Y. 568, affirming 11 N. Y.S. 739, 19 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 363.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 27.

23. S.C.—Carrigan v. Drake, 15 S.E. 339, 36 S.C. 354.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 28.

24. N.Y.—Rogers v. McLean, 11 Abb.Dec. 440, reversing 31 Barb. 304, and affirmed 34 N.Y. 536, 31 How.Pr. 279.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 29.

25. N.Y.—Van Wyck v. Hardy, 4 Abb.Dec. 496, 39 How.Pr. 392, affirming 11 Abb.Pr. 473, 20 How.Pr. 222.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 30.

26. N.Y.—Van Williams v. Elias, 94 N.Y.S. 611, 106 App.Div. 288.

27. Ariz.—Arizona Eastern R. Co. v. Carillo, 149 P. 313, 17 Ariz. 115.

28. Mo.—Eisenman v. Griffith, 167 S. W. 1142, 181 Mo.App. 183.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 34.

29. N.Y.—Rogers v. McLean, 34 N. Y. 536, 31 How.Pr. 279, affirming 11 Abb.Pr. 440, reversing 31 Barb. 304—Baumeister v. Demuth, 82 N. Y.S. 831, 84 App.Div. 394, reversing 81 N.Y.S. 143, 40 Misc. 22, and affirmed 71 N.E. 1128, 178 N.Y. 630.

30. N.Y.—Baumeister v. Demuth, 82 N.Y.S. 831, 84 App.Div. 394, affirmed 71 N.E. 1128, 178 N.Y. 630.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 36.

31. Mo.—Baker v. Mardis, 1 S.W.2d 223, 221 Mo.App. 1185.

32. Pa.—Yost v. Yost, 17 Pa.Dist. & Co. 11.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 11.

If infant is under fourteen years of age, service of notice of the application on the infant is merely permissive.—Railroad Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Wolchyk, 296 N.Y. S. 843, 251 App.Div. 568.

33. Pa.—Yost v. Yost, 17 Pa.Dist. & Co. 11—Ressler v. Ressler, 35 Berks Co.L.J. 176.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 12.

34. N.Y.—In re Lopilato's Guardianship, 42 N.Y.S.2d 813, 180 Misc. 699—Lella v. Holman, 3 N.Y.S.2d 352, 166 Misc. 796.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 13.

Irregularity

Failure to give such notice is merely an irregularity where it does not affect substantial rights.—Baker v. Mardis, 1 S.W.2d 223, 221 Mo.App. 1185.

35. N.Y.—Railroad Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Wolchyk, 296 N.Y. S. 843, 251 App.Div. 568.
31 C.J. p 1137 note 14.

36. Ind.—Gillispie v. Darroch, 107 N.E. 475, 57 Ind.App. 482.

37. Ala.—Rhett v. Mastin, 43 Ala. 86—Carter v. Ingerham, 43 Ala. 78.
31 C.J. p 1136 note 37.

Verified pleadings

In suit to cancel deed, allegations in verified intervening petition as to age of grantee's children were sufficient to justify appointment of guardian ad litem.—Thomas v. King, 281 S.W. 816, 213 Ky. 720.

ian,[38] that all the persons on whom by statute a summons for an infant defendant might be served are plaintiffs,[39] or as to the fitness or qualifications of the person to be appointed.[40] A failure to file a proper affidavit, however, is not reversible error, unless it also appears that the interest of the infant has been sacrificed in the procedure,[41] and the judgment obtained in the action is not subject to collateral attack.[42]

(4) Consent of Guardian ad Litem or Next Friend

The consent of the person appointed to act as representative for an infant party is necessary to a valid appointment.

It is necessary to a complete and valid appointment that the person so appointed should accept the appointment and consent to act in such capacity.[43] Although in some jurisdictions it is not necessary that the acceptance be in writing,[44] in other jurisdictions it is required that the consent shall be in writing,[45] and that there shall be an acknowledgment of the written consent.[46] In some cases it has been held that, in the absence of proof of such assent, the decree will be declared void for want of jurisdiction.[47] Other cases have held that, while the absence of the consent may be reversible error,[48] the defect is a mere irregularity,[49] not jurisdictional,[50] which may be cured by the court.[51] Thus the defect is cured where the guardian ad litem appears and performs his duties as such.[52] While perhaps an acceptance in writing may be waived by the guardian ad litem, if he in fact accepts and performs the duties of his office the waiver must be specifically shown.[53]

(5) Order of Appointment and Notice of Appointment

The order of appointment, where such an order is necessary, should disclose the court's authority to make it and designate the appointee and the infant for whom he is to act. Notice of the appointment should be given the infant and the appointee.

Where an order of appointment is necessary, as discussed supra § 109 c (2), it should recite sufficient facts to show the authority to make it[54] and should designate the person who is appointed.[55] The order should designate for what defendants the guardian is to act,[56] and this must usually be done by naming the infants in the order.[57] Sometimes the order must contain special directions respecting the service on the infant,[58] and, if the statute requires a bond from the guardian, the order must direct that it be given.[59] An order appointing a 38. Ky.—Donaldson v. Stone, 11 S.W. 462, 11 Ky.L. 27.

31 C.J. p 1138 note 38.

39. Ky.—Walch v. Davis, 32 S.W. 281, 17 Ky.L. 634.
31 C.J. p 1138 note 39.

By whom made

(1) Under some statutes a guardian for the purpose of defending an action can be appointed on the affidavit of plaintiff or his attorney, but the affidavit for the appointment of a guardian ad litem for service of process must be made by one or more of the plaintiffs, and cannot be made by the attorney, unless all the plaintiffs are absent from the county.—Kitchens v. Edwards, 269 S.W. 1022, 207 Ky. 664—31 C.J. p 1138 note 38 [b].

(2) An affidavit by plaintiff's attorney which does not state facts authorizing him to make it is fatally defective.—Gentry v. Gentry, 290 S.W. 665, 217 Ky. 806.

40. N.Y.—Baumeister v. Demuth, 82 N.Y.S. 831, 84 App.Div. 394, reversing 81 N.Y.S. 148, 40 Misc. 22, and affirmed 71 N.E. 1128, 178 N.Y. 630.
31 C.J. p 1138 note 40.

41. Ky.—Bond v. Dean, 4 S.W.2d 721, 223 Ky. 713.
31 C.J. p 1138 note 38 [a].

42. Ala.—Hamilton v. Tolley, 96 So. 584, 209 Ala. 538.
Ky.—Goosling v. Varney's Trustee, 105 S.W.2d 178, 268 Ky. 394.

43. W.Va.—Alexander v. Davis, 26 S.E. 291, 42 W.Va. 465.
31 C.J. p 1138 note 41.

An appearance for infants by guardian ad litem amounted to acceptance by guardian of his appointment as such.—Old Colony Trust Co. v. Wolfman, 42 N.E.2d 574, 311 Mass. 614.

44. La.—Saenger Amusement Co. v. Masur, 104 So. 701, 158 La. 745—Morris v. Mabry, 97 So. 20, 153 La. 1004.

45. Mo.—Reineman v. Larkin, 121 S.W. 307, 222 Mo. 156.
31 C.J. p 1138 note 42.

46. N.Y.—Cole v. McGravey, 6 N.Y. Civ.Proc. 305.
31 C.J. p 1138 note 43.

Acknowledgment before notary

Under a statute requiring the consent to be acknowledged before, or proved to, the court making the appointment, an acknowledgment of consent executed before a notary public is sufficient.—Mabe v. Gille Mfg. Co., 271 S.W. 1023, 219 Mo.App. 234.

47. Ala.—Frierson v. Travis, 39 Ala. 150.
31 C.J. p 1138 note 44.

48. Mo.—Creech v. Creech, 16 Mo. App. 586.

49. Ga.—Deyton v. Bell, 8 S.E. 620, 81 Ga. 370.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 46.

50. Mo.—Arn v. Arn, 173 S.W. 1062, 264 Mo. 19.

51. Ga.—Deyton v. Bell, 8 S.E. 620, 81 Ga. 370.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 48.

52. Mo.—Arn v. Arn, 173 S.W. 1062, 264 Mo. 19.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 49.

53. Mo.—Reineman v. Larkin, 121 S.W. 307, 222 Mo. 156.

54. Miss.—Erwin v. Carson, 54 Miss. 282.
N.Y.—Albrecht v. Canfield, 36 N.Y.S. 940, 92 Hun 240.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 54.

55. Ill.—Hess v. Voss, 52 Ill. 472.
S.C.—Barrett v. Moise, 39 S.E. 755, 61 S.C. 569.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 55.

56. Ky.—Bond v. Dean, 4 S.W.2d 721, 223 Ky. 713.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 56.

57. Ill.—Sullivan v. Sullivan, 42 Ill. 315.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 57.

58. N.Y.—Uhl v. Loughran, 4 N.Y.S. 827, 16 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 386, affirming 2 N.Y.S. 190, 14 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 344.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 58.

59. N.Y.—Walter v. De Graaf, 19 Abb.N.Cas. 406—Kennedy v. Arthur, 18 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 390.

guardian ad litem has been considered not to be appealable,[60] but such an order may be rescinded by the court where another person has been previously appointed and has filed an answer.[61]

A clerical misprision in the order, appointing an "attorney" instead of a guardian ad litem, is not fatal where the error is corrected by the court.[62] It has also been held that possible ambiguities in the order may be cured by the guardian's report and the order of court ordering it to be filed.[63]

Notice of appointment. It is usually required that notice of the appointment be given to the infant[64] and to the appointee,[65] or that a summons or subpoena shall be served on the appointee.[66]

(6) Bond

In the absence of a statute so requiring, the representative for a minor need not file a bond, and, even where a statute requires bond, the failure to file such bond ordinarily is not jurisdictional.

In some jurisdictions, in the absence of statute requiring it, a guardian ad litem need not file a bond;[67] but, by force of statute, the giving of a bond conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of the guardian ad litem,[68] or as a prerequisite to his exercising any form or control over the money recovered by the infant,[69] may be necessary. It has been held that the omission of the guardian ad litem to file his bond is a mere irregularity[70] which is curable,[71] and does not affect the jurisdiction of the court[72] or the validity of a sale under its judgment;[73] the bond may be filed nunc pro tunc[74] even after judgment.[75] Under a statute providing that a guardian ad litem for an infant plaintiff shall not receive any money or property of such minor until he has filed a bond as security therefor in such form, and with such surety, as the court may prescribe and approve, the court has no discretion to dispense with the giving of bond,[76] and a payment made by a debtor to such a guardian who has not given bond is without effect.[77]

Where an infant sues by next friend it is not usually considered necessary that the next friend should give a bond for the security of the infant,[78] but under some statutes a next friend must give bond before he can receive any of the funds belonging to the infant.[79] Under some statutes, whether a bond should be required from a next friend is a matter within the discretion of the court,[80] and, on the court's failing to demand the bond, the next friend may prosecute the action without giving bond;[81] the appointment is not invalidated by the failure to require the bond,[82] nor does it affect his right to receive payment of the judgment debt.[83]

60. Cal.—Hathaway's Estate, 43 P. 754, 111 Cal. 270.

A defendant cannot appeal from the court's selection of a next friend for the infant plaintiff.—Carroll v. Montgomery, 38 S.E. 874, 128 N.C. 278.

61. Ala.—Walker v. Mobile Bank, 6 Ala. 452.

62. Ky.—Monroes' Guardian ad Litem v. Monroe, 285 S.W. 250, 215 Ky. 440.

63. Ky.—Bond v. Dean, 4 S.W.2d 721, 223 Ky. 713.

64. U.S.—Nelson v. Moon, C.C.Ohio, 17 F.Cas.No.10,111, 3 McLean 319.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 62.

65. Va.—Strayer v. Long, 3 S.E. 372, 83 Va. 715.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 63.

66. Fla.—McDermott v. Thompson, 10 So. 584, 29 Fla. 299.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 64.

67. Cal.—Foley v. Northern California Power Co., 130 P. 1183, 165 Cal. 103.
Neb.—In re Robertson, 125 N.W. 1093, 86 Neb. 490.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 65.

Law applicable to general guardians requiring bond is inapplicable to guardian ad litem.—Benson v. Birch, 10 P.2d 1050, 139 Or. 459.

68. N.Y.—Minai v. New York R. Co., 167 N.Y.S. 308.
31 C.J. p 1139 notes 66, 67.

69. N.Y.—Lewin v. Brown Drive It Yourself Corporation, 280 N.Y.S. 912, 155 Misc. 225.
31 C.J. p 1139 note 68.

70. Or.—Benson v. Birch, 10 P.2d 1050, 139 Or. 459.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 69.

71. N.Y.—Croghan v. Livingston, 17 N.Y. 218, affirming 25 Barb. 336—Noethinger v. Jeffries, 177 N.Y.S. 577, 108 Misc. 372.

72. N.Y.—Noethinger v. Jeffries, supra.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 71.

73. N.Y.—Croghan v. Livingston, 17 N.Y. 218, affirming 25 Barb. 336.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 72.

74. N.Y.—Noethinger v. Jeffries, 177 N.Y.S. 577, 108 Misc. 372.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 73.

75. N.Y.—Croghan v. Livingston, 17 N.Y. 218.

76. Ariz.—Pacheco v. Delgardo, 52 P.2d 479, 46 Ariz. 401, 103 A.L.R. 494.

77. Repudiation of compromise
Where payment of compromise settlement was not made to infant in person but to guardian ad litem who had not given bond and who was therefore not authorized to receive it, guardian's release was nugatory, and court was justified in treating compromise as repudiated by debtor and in ordering original action reinstated.—Pacheco v. Delgardo, supra.

78. Ill.—Paskewie v. East St. Louis & S. R. Co. 117 N.E. 1035, 281 Ill. 385, L.R.A.1918C 52.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 75.

79. Suit on bond
Petition against next friend's widow, his surety, and surety's daughter for judgment of bond and to subject properties conveyed by next friend and surety to widow and daughter to payment of judgment, stated cause of action, where it alleged that conveyances were made without consideration for purpose, known to grantees, of avoiding payment to plaintiff.—Robertson v. Cox, 189 S.E. 844, 183 Ga. 744.

80. Mo.—Aley v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 111 S.W. 102, 211 Mo. 460—Stephens v. Curtner, 222 S.W. 497, 205 Mo.App. 255.

81. Mo.—Aley v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 111 S.W. 102, 211 Mo. 460.

82. Mo.—Henderson v. Kansas City, 76 S.W. 1045, 177 Mo. 477—West St. Louis Trust Co. of St. Louis v. Brokaw, 102 S.W.2d 792, 232 Mo. App. 209.

83. Mo.—West St. Louis Trust Co. of St. Louis v. Brokaw, supra.

(7) Oath

In the absence of a statute requiring it, a guardian ad litem need not subscribe to any oath.

In some jurisdictions, in the absence of statute requiring it, it is not necessary for the guardian ad litem to subscribe any oath;[84] but, where a statute so requires, guardians ad litem should qualify by oath faithfully to perform their duties.[85]

g. Effect of Appointment

An order appointing a representative for an infant party is presumptively correct, and, for the purpose of the appointment, is conclusive evidence of infancy.

The appointment of a guardian ad litem[86] is conclusive evidence of infancy, for the purpose of the appointment, but for that purpose alone;[87] it does not otherwise affect the question of infancy, which may be subsequently raised by the proper plea.[88] Presumptions will be indulged in favor of an order appointing a representative for a minor party,[89] and it has been held that the appointment and qualification of such a representative cannot be attacked collaterally.[90]

§ 111. —— Powers, Duties, and Liabilities

a. In general
b. Protection of infant's interest
c. Compromise or settlement
d. Consent, waiver, or admissions
e. Employment of attorney
f. Purchase of infant's property

a. In General

The rights and powers of a guardian ad litem or next friend are limited to the performance of the duties imposed on him by law.

The rights and powers of a guardian ad litem or a next friend are strictly limited to the performance of the precise duties imposed on him by law.[91] Ordinarily, his authority is recognized only for certain specific purposes,[92] and it is restricted to matters connected with the litigation at hand;[93] he has no authority to act in any other matters[94] and he cannot otherwise bind the infant or his estate;[95] and it has been held that he cannot bind the infant by anything that he may do,[96] except with the consent of the court.[97] He is always subject to the supervision and control of the court.[98] The general

84. La.—Saenger Amusement Co. v. Masur, 104 So. 701, 158 La. 745—Morris v. Mabry, 97 So. 20, 153 La. 1004.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 82.

85. La.—Crayton v. Waters, 83 So. 540, 146 La. 238.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 84.

86. Ill.—Peak v. Pricer, 21 Ill. 164.

87. N.Y.—Scott v. Prudential Outfitting Co., 155 N.Y.S. 497, 92 Misc. 195.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 86.

88. Ill.—Peak v. Pricer, 21 Ill. 164.

89. Cal.—O'Callaghan v. Bode, 34 P. 269, 84 Cal. 489.
4 C.J. p 754 note 64.

90. La.—Wells v. White-Grandin Lumber Co., 129 So. 171, 13 La. App. 696.

91. Cal.—Walters v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 18 P.2d 343, 129 Cal.App. 19.
N.Y.—Schwartz v. Kutsher, 29 N.Y.S.2d 168, 176 Misc. 815.
Tenn.—Roberts v. Vaughn, 219 S.W. 1034, 142 Tenn. 361, 9 A.L.R. 1528.
"A guardian ad litem is an officer of the court, and his powers and duties are strictly limited by law. He can only act in accordance with the instructions of the court and within the law under which appointed."—Honadle v. Stafford, 193 N.E. 172, 173, 265 N.Y. 354, reversing 272 N.Y.S. 444, 241 App.Div. 395, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 27, 150 Misc. 412, motion denied 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 854 (first case), and 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 857 (second case).

92. Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com. App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ. App., 33 S.W.2d 292.
31 C.J. p 1140 note 90.

93. Ky.—Ambrose v. Graziani, 247 S. W. 953, 197 Ky. 679.
N.J.—Dorsa v. Public Service Co-Ordinated Transport, 152 A. 863, 9 N. J.Misc. 23.
N.Y.—Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co. v. Procter, 201 N.Y.S. 420, 206 App.Div. 510.
Pa.—In re Elkins' Estate, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 578.
Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 91.
"A next friend is a fiduciary only in the sense that he may institute and prosecute a suit in behalf of a minor if, and to the extent that, he is recognized by the court as a proper person to act in such capacity."—Mitchell v. Thompson, Tex.Civ. App., 286 S.W. 642, 646, reversed on other grounds, Com.App., 292 S.W. 862.

Control of trial

Guardian ad litem for minors interested may be heard on claim against decedent's estate, but cannot control trial.—In re Patterson's Estate, 214 N.W. 344, 193 Wis. 392.

94. Ky.—Shaw v. Shaw, 192 S.W. 524, 174 Ky. 398.
Mo.—Gray v. Clement, 227 S.W. 111, 286 Mo. 100.

95. U.S.—Montgomery v. Erie R. Co., C.C.A.N.J., 97 F.2d 289.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 93.

Unauthorized payments

(1) Unauthorized payments made to guardian ad litem or unauthorized agreements entered into with him do not bind the infant.—Honadle v. Stafford, 193 N.E. 172, 265 N.Y. 354, reversing 272 N.Y.S. 444, 241 App. Div. 395, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 27, 150 Misc. 412, motion denied 279 N. Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 854 (first case), and 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 857 (second case).

(2) Next friend of infant need not tender back payment made to him as general guardian as condition precedent to recovery in circuit court. —Dudex v. Sterling Brick Co., 212 N. W. 92, 237 Mich. 470.
Right to receive payment and enter satisfaction of judgment see infra § 124.

96. Ill.—Rhoads v. Rhoads, 43 Ill. 239.

Contracts

A guardian ad litem is not authorized to contract on behalf of his ward.—Lalakea v. Laupahoehoe Sugar Co., 35 Hawaii 262.

97. Ark.—Biggs v. St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co., 120 S.W. 970, 91 Ark. 122.

98. Pa.—Bertinelli v. Galoni, 200 A. 58, 331 Pa. 73, 118 A.L.R. 398.
R.I.—Stanton v. Sullivan, 4 A.2d 269, 62 R.I. 154—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 96.
Protection of infant's interest by court see supra § 105.

rules of agency are not applicable to his conduct, and persons dealing with him are bound at their peril to ascertain the extent of his authority.[99] However, as he fully represents the rights and interests of the infant in the particular litigation,[1] and his rights and powers generally extend to all matters affecting the interest of the ward in the case,[2] in the absence of fraud or gross misconduct the acts of a guardian ad litem or next friend duly authorized to act and acting within the limits of his authority are binding on the infant.[3] It has even been held that, in such case, the infant is bound by the knowledge of his representative.[4] The motives of the guardian ad litem are immaterial if the acts themselves are lawful and proper.[5] A guardian ad litem should not act in the capacity of commissioner to make a report on which the decree is based; but the decree is not void on that account.[6]

Compared with guardian. A guardian ad litem or next friend ordinarily does not have the powers of a trustee or guardian,[7] and is not entitled to the custody of the person or property of the infant.[8] In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, he is endowed with powers similar to those of the general guardian for the purposes of the litigation at hand.

Appearance. The mere appointment of a guardian ad litem and his appearance for an infant does not of itself make the infant a party to the suit, if in fact there was no suit to which he was a party and to which the appointment was applicable.[9] Ordinarily, however, where a guardian ad litem for an infant party to an action has been duly appointed, appears, and defends, the infant is properly in court for all purposes,[10] as though he were an adult;[11] he is subject to the same rules of procedure;[12] and he is bound by the decree or judgment.[13]

Disposition of funds. It has been held that a next friend should not pay over the funds of the infant in his hands to the general guardian until he has been authorized by the court to do so.[14]

Election for infant. Neither a guardian ad litem[15] nor a next friend[16] may make an election for an infant without the consent of the court; but it may be done with such consent.[17]

Power to prosecute. A next friend may bring a suit without first obtaining leave of the court;[18] but it has been held that as the power of a next friend commences with the suit he may maintain a suit for such causes of action only as may be prosecuted without a previous special demand, unless defendant has waived the necessity of a demand.[19] A next friend may select the tribunal in which a suit brought on behalf of an infant shall be prosecuted.[20]

Submission to arbitration. A guardian ad litem or next friend cannot submit the rights of the infant to arbitration so as to bind the infant.[21]

99. N.Y.—Honadle v. Stafford, 193 N.E. 172, 265 N.Y. 354, reversing 272 N.Y.S. 444, 241 App.Div. 395, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 27, 150 Misc. 412, motion denied 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 854 (first case), and 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 857 (second case).

1. Ky.—Shaw v. Shaw, 192 S.W. 524, 174 Ky. 398—Bell v. Bell, 180 S.W. 803, 167 Ky. 430.
Miss.—Burrus v. Burrus, 56 Miss. 92.

2. Ohio.—McDowell v. Nims, 9 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 624, 15 Cinc.L.Bul. 359.
Tenn.—Roberts v. Vaughn, 219 S.W. 1034, 142 Tenn. 361, 9 A.L.R. 1528.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 98.

Authorizing mother to assist
After settlement of minor's claim for personal injuries had been agreed on between father and defendant, father could authorize mother to attend to necessary details which followed.—Ayer v. Androscoggin & K. Ry. Co., 163 A. 270, 131 Me. 381.

3. Wash.—Burke v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 149 P. 335, 86 Wash. 37, Ann.Cas.1917B 919.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 99.

4. Wash.—Burke v. Northern Pac. R. Co., supra.

5. N.Y.—Shea v. Bergen, 110 N.Y.S. 572, 59 Misc. 294, affirmed 110 N.Y.S. 1145, 126 App.Div. 934.

6. Va.—American Bonding Co. v. American Surety Co., 103 S.E. 599, 127 Va. 209.

7. Pa.—Turner v. Patridge, 3 Penr. & W. 172.

8. Ohio.—Marsh v. Marsh, 5 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 290, 4 Am.L.Rec. 257.
S.C.—Mitchell v. Connolly, 17 S.C.L. 203.

9. Tenn.—Frazier v. Pankey, 1 Swan 75.

10. Wis.—In re West's Estate, 284 N.W. 565, 231 Wis. 377.
31 C.J. p 1142 note 36.

General appearance
Where, on petition by trustee of inter vivos trust for accounting in chancery, infant beneficiary was served in the manner directed by the court, and a guardian ad litem was appointed, and there was no special appearance filed by consent of court, there was a "general appearance".—In re Rothenberg's Trust, 19 A.2d 639, 129 N.J.Eq. 377.

11. Ark.—Estes v. Lucky, 201 S.W. 815, 133 Ark. 97.

12. Ark.—Estes v. Lucky, supra.

13. Ky.—Cochran v. Tripplett, 9 Ky. Op. 280.
W.Va.—Hansford v. Tate, 56 S.E. 372, 61 W.Va. 207.

14. Mich.—Dudex v. Sterling Brick Co., 212 N.W. 92, 237 Mich. 470.

15. Iowa.—In re Burkholder's Adoption, 233 N.W. 702, 703, 211 Iowa 1222, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Chipman v. Montgomery, 63 N. Y. 221.

16. Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, 97 S.W. 2d 454, 458, 20 Tenn.App. 233, citing Corpus Juris—Haggard v. Benson, 3 Tenn.Ch. 268.

17. Ala.—Andrews v. Hall, 15 Ala. 85.
N.Y.—Train v. Davis, 98 N.Y.S. 816, 49 Misc. 162.
31 C.J. p 1142 note 34.

18. Ala.—Barwick v. Rackley, 45 Ala. 215—Bethea v. McCall, 23 Ala. 449.

19. Mass.—Miles v. Boyden, 3 Pick. 213.

20. U.S.—In re Moore, Mo., 28 S.Ct. 585, 209 U.S. 490, 52 L.Ed. 904, 14 Ann.Cas. 1164.

21. N.C.—Millsaps v. Estes, 50 S.E. 227, 137 N.C. 535, 107 Am.S.R. 496, 70 L.R.A. 170.
31 C.J. p 1143 note 52.

b. Protection of Infant's Interest

It is the duty of a guardian ad litem or next friend to protect the infant's interest in the litigation.

It is the duty of a guardian ad litem or next friend fully to protect the infant's interest in all matters relating to the litigation,[22] and to act for him in all matters relating to the suit as he might act for himself if he were able to do so.[23] His duty requires him to acquaint himself with all the rights of the infant in order to protect them,[24] and to submit to the court for its consideration and decision every question involving the rights of the infant affected by the suit.[25] He should be as careful as the court from which he receives his appointment not to do anything, or allow anything to be done, to the prejudice of his ward's interests.[26] If in consequence of the culpable omission or neglect of the guardian ad litem the interests of the infant are sacrificed, the guardian may be punished for his neglect[27] as well as made to respond to the infant for the damage sustained.[28] The misconduct of a guardian ad litem or next friend in protecting the infant's interests does not affect the jurisdiction of the court in rendering the judgment in the suit or action;[29] the judgment is not rendered thereby void;[30] it is merely a matter

22. Ark.—Sager v. American Inv. Co., 280 S.W. 654, 170 Ark. 568.
Ga.—Speck v. Speck, 156 S.E. 706, 707, 42 Ga.App. 517, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—Millage v. Noble, 166 N.E. 50, 334 Ill. 315—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N.E. 393, 331 Ill. 420—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill.App. 209—Schrader v. Schrader, 280 Ill.App. 561.
Ind.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 80 Ind.App. 282.
Mo.—Campbell v. Campbell, 165 S.W. 2d 851, 350 Mo. 169—Crawford v. Amusement Syndicate Co., 37 S.W. 2d 581.
N.Y.—In re Wechsler's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 968, 152 Misc. 564.
N.C.—Graham v. Floyd, 197 S.E. 873, 214 N.C. 77.
Pa.—In re Mark's Estate, 38 Pa.Dist. & Co. 489—Shouey v. Shouey, 16 Pa.Dist. & Co. 693, 17 West.Co. 259.
S.C.—Simpson v. Doggett, 156 S.E. 771, 773, 159 S.C. 294, quoting Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Missouri-Kansas-Texas R. Co. of Texas v. Pluto, 156 S.W.2d 265, 138 Tex. 1, reversing, Com.App., 130 S.W.2d 1048—Greathouse v. Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., Com. App., 65 S.W.2d 762, reversing Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Greathouse, Civ.App., 41 S.W.2d 418.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 12.
Duty to answer and defend see infra § 116.

Construction of will

When the interests of a minor are involved in the construction of a will, it is proper for guardian ad litem to contend for any reasonable construction favorable to ward, and, where there are two possible constructions, the guardian must contend for the one most favorable to ward.—Kennard v. Wiggins, 160 S.W. 2d 706, 349 Mo. 283, certiorari denied Wiggins v. Kennard, 63 S.Ct. 47, 317 U. S. 652, 87 L.Ed. 524.

Every honorable means

As long as his wards possess any potential rights, it is the duty of the special guardian to protect and advance those rights by every honorable means and expedient which is known and available to him.—In re Schrier's Will, 283 N.Y.S. 233, 157 Misc. 310.

Position of trust and confidence

The position of guardian ad litem is one of trust and confidence toward the ward as well as toward the court.—Cowie v. Strohmeyer, 136 N. W. 956, 150 Wis. 401, reheard 137 N. W. 778, 150 Wis. 401.

Reasonable litigant

"The guardian's duty is to be a reasonable litigant, asserting only what is arguable. Only if the judge thinks that he is clearly taking the wrong position should there be interference, and then the remedy is to appoint someone else."—In re Steel's Estate, 32 Pa.Dist. & Co. 55, 57.

Withdrawal on failure

If guardian ad litem fails properly to protect interests of ward, he should withdraw and another be appointed.—Millage v. Noble, 166 N.E. 50, 334 Ill. 315.

23. Mo.—Kennard v. Wiggins, 160 S.W.2d 706, 349 Mo. 283, certiorari denied Wiggins v. Kennard, 63 S. Ct. 47, 317 U.S. 652, 87 L.Ed. 524—Spotts v. Spotts, 55 S.W.2d 977, 331 Mo. 917, 87 A.L.R. 660.
N.H.—Clarke v. Gilmanton, 12 N.H. 515.
S.C.—Cagle v. Schaefer, 104 S.E. 321, 115 S.C. 35.

Duty not perfunctory

Duty of guardian ad litem is not perfunctory or to be lightly regarded in ward's interest.—Peters v. Allen, Tex.Civ.App., 296 S.W. 929.

Filing of answer

The mere filing by a guardian ad litem of an answer submitting ward's interest to protection of court and taking no steps on behalf of ward is not compliance with guardian's duty of looking after ward's interest.—U. S. v. 15,883.55 Acres of Land in Spartanburg County, S. C., D.C.S.C., 45 F.Supp. 558.

24. Ill.—Millage v. Noble, 166 N.E. 50, 334 Ill. 315—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N.E. 393, 331 Ill. 420.
Ohio.—Bennett v. Fleming, 137 N.E. 900, 105 Ohio St. 352.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 14.

25. Ill.—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N. E. 393, 331 Ill. 420.
Okl.—Bennett v. Fleming, 137 N.E. 900, 105 Ohio St. 352.
Okl.—Tucker v. Leonard, 291 P. 124, 144 Okl. 264—Tucker v. Leonard, 291 P. 135, 144 Okl. 258.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 15.

Every question available

A guardian ad litem must see to it that every question available in the defense of his ward is urged and acted on by the court.—Tanner v. Schultz, 223 P. 174, 97 Okl. 132.

26. Wis.—Cowie v. Strohmeyer, 136 N.W. 956, 150 Wis. 401, reheard 137 N.W. 778, 150 Wis. 401.

27. Ala.—Andrews v. Hall, 15 Ala. 85.
S.C.—McIver v. Thompson, 108 S.E. 411, 117 S.C. 175—Cagle v. Schaefer, 104 S.E. 321, 115 S.C. 35.

28. Wis.—In re Jaeger's Will, 259 N.W. 842, 218 Wis. 1, 99 A.L.R. 738.
31 C.J. p 1141 note 18.

Actions

(1) Ward may sue guardian ad litem for damages sustained by guardian's consent to judgment if allegations of petition are in fact untrue, regardless of whether or not judgment might have been set aside on motion.—Speck v. Speck, 156 S.E. 706, 42 Ga.App. 517.

(2) A guardian ad litem so sued cannot defend on ground that ward's interests were represented in case by executor, and the guardian is not relieved from the consequences of his default, even though the executor may also be liable to the infant.—Speck v. Speck, supra.

29. Cal.—Welsh v. Koch, 88 P. 604, 4 Cal.App. 571.

30. Ind.—Colvert v. Colvert, 180 N.

of error,[31] for which a judgment may be set aside.[32]

Duty to appeal. A guardian ad litem has been held to have discharged his full duty when he has represented his ward's interests in the litigation before the court of first instance, and due fidelity to his duties does not require him to appeal to the court of last resort.[33]

c. Compromise or Settlement

As a general rule, a guardian ad litem or next friend cannot, without the consent of the court, compromise or settle the infant's claim.

A guardian ad litem or next friend has no authority to enter into a compromise or settlement.[34] Although it has been held that a compromise without the order or sanction of the court is void,[35] ordinarily a compromise not prejudicial to the infant is not necessarily absolutely void,[36] and may be ratified by the infant after he reaches his majority.[37] Under some statutes, however, the person suing on behalf of the infant has authority to compromise or settle the suit or cause of action.[38]

A guardian ad litem or next friend has no authority to collect the proceeds of the infant's claim.[39] Under some statutes a guardian ad litem cannot receive payment in settlement of the cause of action except on giving proper security approved by the court, and payment to a guardian ad litem who has not given such security is not a satisfaction of the claim.[40]

By leave of court. Ordinarily a guardian ad litem or next friend may, with the consent of the court, agree to a settlement or compromise beneficial to the infant,[41] and the court has power to au-

E. 192, 95 Ind.App. 325, citing Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1141 note 20.

Collateral attack

Failure of next friend properly to prosecute suit cannot avoid decree on collateral attack.—Irwin v. Alabama Fuel & Iron Co., 110 So. 566, 215 Ala. 328.

31. Cal.—Welsh v. Koch, 88 P. 604, 4 Cal.App. 571.

32. Ga.—Nelson v. Estill, 9 S.E.2d 73, 77, 190 Ga. 235, citing Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1141 note 22.

33. Pa.—In re McGlinn's Estate, 35 Pa.Dist. & Co. 75, 55 Montg. 52.

34. U.S.—Horzepa v. Dauski, D.C.N.Y., 40 F.Supp. 476.

Ark.—Johnson v. Baum, 250 S.W. 354, 158 Ark. 441.

Fla.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 839, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682, citing Corpus Juris.

Ky.—Metzger Bros. v. Watson's Guardian, 65 S.W.2d 460, 251 Ky. 446—Ambrose v. Graziani, 247 S.W. 953, 197 Ky. 679.

N.J.—Rubin v. L. H. Trowbridge Sign Co., 122 A. 768, 99 N.J.Law 216.

N.Y.—In re Uran, 238 N.Y.S. 596, 227 App.Div. 496.

R.I.—Abbott v. Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co., 140 A. 356, 49 R.I. 87.

Tenn.—Kates v. Anderson, Dulin, Varnell Co., 9 Tenn.App. 396.

31 C.J. p 1142 notes 41, 42.

Consent judgment see infra § 122.

35. Ark.—Rankin v. Schofield, 98 S.W. 674, 81 Ark. 440.

36. Fla.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 893, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682, citing Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1142 note 44.

37. N.Y.—Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. v. Brown, 30 N.Y.S.2d 85.

38. Md.—Clark v. Southern Can Co., 81 A. 271, 116 Md. 85, 36 L.R.A., N.S., 980.

39. Ky.—Metzger Bros. v. Watson's Guardian, 65 S.W.2d 460, 251 Ky. 446.

N.Y.—Honadle v. Stafford, 193 N.E. 172, 265 N.Y. 354, reversing 272 N.Y.S. 444, 241 App.Div. 395, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 27, 150 Misc. 412, motion denied 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 854 (first case), and 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 857 (second case).

Tenn.—Kates v. Anderson, Dulin, Varnell Co., 9 Tenn.App. 396.

Right to collect proceeds of judgment in infant's favor see infra § 124.

40. N.Y.—Joyce v. Washington Storage Warehouse & Van Co., 163 N.Y.S. 519, 176 App.Div. 538—Heiter v. Joline, 119 N.Y.S. 819, 135 App.Div. 13.

41. Mass.—Wallace v. Boston Elevated Ry. Co., 80 N.E. 461, 194 Mass. 328.

Mich.—Hightower v. Detroit Edison Co., 247 N.W. 97, 262 Mich. 1, 86 A.L.R. 509—Dudex v. Sterling Brick Co., 212 N.W. 92, 94, 237 Mich. 470, citing Corpus Juris.

Neb.—In re Shierman's Estate, 261 N.W. 155, 159, 129 Neb. 230, citing Corpus Juris.

N.J.—Rubin v. L. H. Trowbridge Sign Co., 122 A. 768, 99 N.J.Law 216.

N.Y.—In re Balfe's Will, 20 N.Y.S.2d 474, 174 Misc. 279, denying motion 274 N.Y. 284, 152 Misc. 739, modified on other grounds 280 N.Y.S. 128, 258 App.Div. 22, and affirmed Application of De Mott, 27 N.Y.S.2d 472, 261 App.Div. 996, appeal denied In re Balfe's Estate, 28 N.Y.S.2d 153, 262 App.Div. 746—In re Beresford's Estate, 262 N.Y.S. 78, 146 Misc. 140.

Okl.—Lambert v. Hill, 73 P.2d 124, 181 Okl. 225.

R.I.—Young v. Geoffroy, 152 A. 793, 51 R.I. 162.

31 C.J. p 1142 note 48.

Compliance with order

Defendant who seeks to compromise an infant's claim must comply strictly with order of court permitting guardian ad litem to enter into the compromise.—Snider v. Renner, 279 N.Y.S. 384, 155 Misc. 352.

Infant's desire

Settlements may be made by the guardian ad litem, without regard to the infant's desire, if approved by the court.—Golshen v. Samor Realty Co., 4 N.Y.S.2d 107, 167 Misc. 477.

Parent prosecuting action in dual capacity of next friend for minor and of plaintiff in his own right may, with the court's approval, make a compromise agreement if, in making agreement, his interest is not preferred to detriment of minor.—Wilson v. Fisher, Tex.Civ.App., 105 S.W.2d 304, error refused, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 264, 302 U.S. 746, 82 L.Ed. 577.

Payment

(1) Where court authorized settlement on payment to infant plaintiff's guardian ad litem and authorized guardian to retain a certain sum for services of attorney and hold balance as general guardian, and guardian ad litem, before appointment as general guardian, executed general release, payment of amount of settlement by defendant to plaintiff's attorney who converted the money to his own use did not discharge defendant from liability, although atthorize it.[42] It has been held that a compromise entered without the order or sanction of the court, and considered void, cannot be validated by the subsequent approval thereof by the court.[43]

d. Consent, Waiver, or Admissions

A guardian ad litem or next friend cannot concede, waive, or admit away any substantial rights of the infant.

The guardian ad litem or next friend can make no concessions.[44] He cannot waive,[45] or admit away any substantial rights of the infant,[46] or, likewise, relinquish any substantial rights of the intorney delivered such release to defendant.—Honadle v. Stafford, 193 N. E. 172, 265 N.Y. 354, reversing 272 N.Y.S. 444, 241 App.Div. 395, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 27, 150 Misc. 412, motion denied 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App. Div. 854 (first case), and 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 857 (second case).

(2) Court was without power, after litigation had terminated, to direct payment to guardian ad litem of money received in settlement of infant's action for injuries and deposited with city chamberlain by court order.—Lewin v. Brown Drive It Yourself Corporation, 280 N.Y.S. 912, 155 Misc. 225.

Procedure

(1) A compromise may become effective only when it is approved by the court after independent consideration and a finding that the proposed agreement is clearly for the advantage of the minor.

Ark.—Kuykendall v. Zachary, 16 S. W.2d 590, 179 Ark. 478.

R.I.—Abbott v. Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co., 140 A. 356, 49 R.I. 87.

(2) The proposed settlement will not be approved if the court is not satisfied that it is reasonable.—Horan v. Greig, 12 N.Y.S.2d 67.

(3) Affidavits of a physician as to the condition of the injured infant may be required.—Maguire v. New York Rapid Transit Corporation, 253 N.Y.S. 855, 141 Misc. 807—Lentine v. Jacobs, 243 N.Y.S. 114, 137 Misc. 403.

(4) If dissatisfied with the proposed settlement, the court may appoint a special guardian to make examination into the facts regarding reasonableness of proposed settlement, and may authorize the guardian to appoint physicians to examine the infant the fees of special guardian and physicians to be paid by defendant.—Horan v. Greig, supra.

(5) On application by guardian ad litem to compromise infant's action, it must be disclosed what settlement is proposed for such action and amount attorney expects to receive from action, so that compensation of attorneys may be fixed in the infant's action, based on amount so to be received.—Ferguson v. Ruppert, 3 N. Y.S.2d 9, 166 Misc. 530.

(6) For court to approve terms of settlement, counsel representing minor plaintiff need not personally investigate case or present evidence to court.—Ayer v. Androscoggin & K. Ry. Co., 163 A. 270, 131 Me. 381.

(7) Neither minor nor next friend need be present when court considers approving settlement of action in which minor is plaintiff; nor need evidence be formally introduced unless court requires it.—Ayer v. Androscoggin & K. Ry. Co., supra.

(8) Procedure to be observed stated.—Lentine v. Jacobs, supra.

Relief against stipulation

An infant will not be relieved from a stipulation of settlement by his guardian ad litem, if the status quo ante cannot be restored; but, where there has been no change of status, a refusal to exercise discretion in favor of infant plaintiff to relieve him from a stipulation of settlement made by his guardian ad litem was improper.—Bruder v. Schwartz, 24 N.Y. S.2d 443, 260 App.Div. 1048.

42. R.I.—Young v. Geoffroy, 152 A. 793, 51 R.I. 162.

31 C.J. p 1142 note 49.

Compromise approved as beneficial to the infant.—Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co. v. Davis, R.I., 33 A.2d 197.

Considerable discretion is permitted court in inquiring into reasonableness and propriety of settlement of infant's cause of action.—Maguire v. New York Rapid Transit Corporation, 253 N.Y.S. 855, 141 Misc. 807.

No suit brought

The district court has jurisdiction to approve a settlement, although no suit has actually been begun on the claim.—Ernst v. Daily, 278 N.W. 516, 202 Minn. 358.

43. Ark.—Rankin v. Schofield, 98 S. W. 674, 81 Ark. 440.

44. Ark.—Jeffery v. Patton, 31 S.W. 2d 738, 182 Ark. 449—Johnson v. Baum, 250 S.W. 354, 158 Ark. 441.

Iowa.—Stephens v. Wood, 195 N.W. 239, 196 Iowa 1394.

Tex.—Greathouse v. Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., Com.App., 65 S.W.2d 762, reversing Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Greathouse, Civ.App., 41 S.W.2d 418—Wright v. Jones, Com. App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ. App., 33 S.W.2d 292.

31 C.J. p 1143 note 54.

Consent judgment see infra § 122.

45. Colo.—Rausch v. Cosian, 282 P. 251, 86 Colo. 389.

Fla.—Miles v. Miles, 158 So. 520, 117 Fla. 884—Knights of Pythias v. Henry, 99 So. 557, 87 Fla. 209.

Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.

Kan.—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 299 P. 627, 630, 133 Kan. 262, citing Corpus Juris.

La.—Saenger Amusement Co. v. Masur, 104 So. 701, 158 La. 745.

Mo.—Campbell v. Campbell, 165 S. W.2d 851, 350 Mo. 169—Kennard v. Wiggins, 160 S.W.2d 706, 712, 349 Mo. 283, citing Corpus Juris, and certiorari denied Wiggins v. Kennard, 63 S.Ct. 47, 317 U.S. 652, 87 L.Ed. 524—Spotts v. Spotts, 55 S. W.2d 977, 331 Mo. 917, 87 A.L.R. 660.

N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.

Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, 97 S.W.2d 454, 458, 20 Tenn.App. 233, citing Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Greathouse v. Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., Com.App., 65 S.W.2d 762, reversing Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Greathouse, Civ.App., 41 S.W.2d 418—Wright v. Jones, Com. App., 52 S.W.2d 247, 252, citing Corpus Juris, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292—Watson v. Glenn, Civ.App., 82 S.W.2d 704, 705, citing Corpus Juris—Long v. Galveston Electric Co., Civ.App., 59 S.W.2d 228, 229, citing Corpus Juris.

31 C.J. p 1143 note 55.

Waiver of process see infra § 115.

46. Ark.—Jeffery v. Patton, 31 S.W. 2d 738, 182 Ark. 449.

Ga.—Deck v. Shields, 25 S.E.2d 514, 195 Ga. 697.

Ill.—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill.App. 209.

Mo.—Kennard v. Wiggins, 160 S.W. 2d 706, 712, 349 Mo. 283, citing Corpus Juris, and certiorari denied Wiggins v. Kennard, 63 S.Ct. 47, 317 U.S. 652, 87 L.Ed. 524.

N.J.—Caruso v. Caruso, 141 A. 16, 102 N.J.Eq. 393, reversed on other grounds 148 A. 882, 106 N.J.Eq. 130.

Pa.—In re Mark's Estate, 38 Pa.Dist. & Co. 489.

R.I.—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.

Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, 97 S.W.2d 454, 458, 20 Tenn.App. 233, citing Corpus Juris.

Tex.—Greathouse v. Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., Com.App., 65 S.W.2d 762, reversing Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Greathouse, Civ.App., 41 S.W.2d 418—Wright v. Jones, Com. App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing Civ.

fant,[47] or consent to anything which may be prejudicial to him,[48] even by neglect or omission;[49] and any admission or waiver is ineffectual and not binding on the infant,[50] although it is contained in a pleading.[51]

On the other hand, a guardian ad litem or next friend may make a valid consent or waiver as to matters which merely facilitate a trial and cannot prejudicially affect the rights of an infant.[52] Also, with permission of the court, he may waive a mere irregularity, either expressly or by conduct.[53]

e. Employment of Attorney

A guardian ad litem or next friend may employ an attorney to conduct the suit, but he cannot, without the court's permission, contract as to the attorney's fees.

Although a next friend or guardian ad litem may employ an attorney to conduct the suit,[54] he cannot make a contract for the payment of a specified compensation which will bind the infant or his es-

App., 33 S.W.2d 292—Watson v. Glenn, Civ.App., 32 S.W.2d 704.
31 C.J.p 1143 note 56.

Omission of name

Guardian ad litem of minor could not admit, in answer in proceeding to construe will, that omission of her name from will was intentional.—Woodworth v. Baker, 135 A. 606, 48 R.I. 99.

47. Hawaii.—Lalakea v. Laupahoehoe Sugar Co., 35 Hawaii 262.

Contingent interest

In proceeding to terminate a testamentary trust where parents of named infants and unborn issue assigned to a legatee all their interest in trust property, guardian ad litem of minor children in the absence of valid consideration was without authority to relinquish minors' contingent interest in trust property to the immediate beneficiary of the trust estate.—Deal v. Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., 11 S.E.2d 464, 218 N.C. 483.

48. R.I.—Woodworth v. Baker, 135 A. 606, 607, 48 R.I. 99, citing Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, 97 S.W.2d 454, 458, 20 Tenn.App. 233, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Greathouse v. Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co., Com.App., 65 S.W.2d 762, reversing, Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Greathouse, Civ.App., 41 S.W.2d 418—Wright v. Jones, Com. App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ. App., 33 S.W.2d 292.
31 C.J. p 1143 note 57.

Jurisdiction or proof

(1) Questions of jurisdiction or proof by competent evidence of material issues or of procedure in accordance with established rules cannot, as against infant defendants, be waived.
Fla.—Knights of Pythias v. Henry, 99 So. 557, 87 Fla. 209.
N.J.—Anderson v. Anderson, 32 A. 2d 83, 133 N.J.Eq. 311.

(2) Accordingly, in suit for partition of real estate, in which a curator was appointed for an absent minor defendant, and default was entered, evidence of ownership, consisting of statement of counsel for plaintiff as to what official records indicated as to ownership, although not objected to, does not support judgment against minors, as objection thereto could not be waived by curator.—Saenger Amusement Co. v. Masur, 104 So. 701, 158 La. 745.

(3) Also, in case of a minor, represented by curator appointed by court, all objections which should have been are considered as having been made.—Succession of Walsh, 131 So. 214, 15 La.App. 332.

49. Kan.—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 299 P. 627, 630, 133 Kan. 262, citing Corpus Juris.
Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, 97 S.W.2d 454, 458, 20 Tenn.App. 233, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1143 note 58.

Failure to file exceptions

Guardian ad litem must represent infant throughout suit, and, on failure to file exceptions to sheriff's return of sale made before expiration of six months from entry of decree of foreclosure, cannot preclude infant defendant from having error reviewed any time after confirmation and within twelve months after attaining full age.—Cudjo v. Harris, 248 P. 343, 119 Okl. 69.

50. Okl.—Cudjo v. Harris, supra.
Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, 97 S.W.2d 454, 458, 20 Tenn.App. 233, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1143 note 59.

51. U.S.—Stolte v. Larkin, C.C.A. Minn., 110 F.2d 226, 233, citing Corpus Juris.
N.J.—Anderson v. Anderson, 32 A.2d 83, 133 N.J.Eq. 311—Weining v. Selitto, 187 A. 368, 121 N.J.Eq. 60, affirmed 192 A. 233, 121 N.J.Eq. 613—Caruso v. Caruso, 139 A. 812, 101 N.J.Eq. 350, reversed on other grounds 148 A. 882, 106 N.J.Eq. 130.
R.I.—Woodworth v. Baker, 135 A. 606, 48 R.I. 99.
Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, 97 S.W.2d 454, 458, 20 Tenn.App. 233, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Watson v. Glenn, Civ.App., 32 S.W.2d 704.
31 C.J. p 1143 note 60.

52. Ark.—Morgan v. Stocks, 122 S. W.2d 953, 197 Ark. 368—Burks v. Cantley, 86 S.W.2d 34, 191 Ark. 347.
N.J.—Anderson v. Anderson, 32 A. 2d 83, 133 N.J.Eq. 311—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661—Caruso v. Caruso, 139 A. 812, 101 N.J.Eq. 350, reversed on other grounds 148 A. 882, 106 N.J.Eq. 130.
Tenn.—Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Newsom, 2 Tenn.App. 70, 73, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1143 note 61.

53. Wis.—In re Koch, 134 N.W. 663, 148 Wis. 548.

54. Ala.—Smoot v. Ryan, 65 So. 828, 187 Ala. 396.
Colo.—Lee v. Leibold, 79 P.2d 1049, 102 Colo. 408, 116 A.L.R. 1319.
Fla.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682.
Ill.—Goldberg v. Perlmutter, 31 N.E.2d 333, 308 Ill.App. 84—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 812, 300 Ill. App. 582, quoting Corpus Juris—Zasove v. Minneapolis, St. P. & S. S. M. Ry. Co., 218 Ill.App. 534.
N.H.—Strong v. New Hampshire Box Co., 131 A. 688, 82 N.H. 221.
Tenn.—Kates v. Anderson, Dulin, Varnell Co., 9 Tenn.App. 396.
31 C.J. p 1143 note 65.

Control of court

The employment of counsel and the fees to be paid counsel for services rendered to minors are within the control of the court.—Hepp v. Petrie, 200 N.W. 857, 185 Wis. 350.

Evidence held insufficient to show the employment of an attorney or an agreement that the estate of the infants should pay him for his services.—In re Price, 215 P. 710, 61 Cal. App. 592.

Sufficiency of employment

Attorney representing minor plaintiff need not be directly employed or paid by plaintiff or next friend, and, in the absence of fraud, any arrangement with regard to employment of counsel for minor plaintiff, acceded to by next friend, is sufficient.—Ayer v. Androscoggin & K. Ry. Co., 168 A. 270, 131 Me. 381.

tate,[55] unless the agreement meets with the approval of the court;[56] but the compensation of the attorney will be fixed by the court without regard to any such contract.[57] There are cases holding that the next friend may employ counsel to represent him and agree on the compensation to be paid, subject, however, to the limitation that the fee agreed on shall be reasonable,[58] which is a question for the court.[59]

Order of court. The court may direct that counsel be employed when the interest of the infant requires it.[60] It is the better practice to apply to the court for an order authorizing the employment and fixing the compensation,[61] for, if the guardian ad litem acts without such order, he takes on himself the burden of showing the court that the employment was necessary.[62]

f. Purchase of Infant's Property

A guardian ad litem or next friend cannot, as a general rule, purchase the infant's property for himself.

A guardian ad litem or next friend cannot acquire the infant's property for himself pending litigation with respect to it,[63] or, it has been held, purchase the infant's property or property in which the infant is interested at a sale ordered in the action or proceedings in which he represents the infant.[64] Although it has been held that courts are without power to make effectual a sale of the infant's property to the next friend,[65] it has also been held that a guardian ad litem may so purchase, with the consent of the court, if the purchase is in good faith and for a valuable consideration.[66] In any event, it is generally held that such a purchase is not, in the absence of statute providing otherwise,[67] absolutely void,[68] but is merely voidable.[69] Being considered voidable, it may become valid or ratified by acquiescence.[70]

§ 112. —— Compensation and Allowances

a. In general

b. How allowance made

55. Cal.—Leonard v. Alexander, 122 P.2d 984, 50 Cal.App.2d 385.
Colo.—Lee v. Leibold, 79 P.2d 1049, 102 Colo. 408, 116 A.L.R. 1319.
Mo.—Campbell v. Campbell, 165 S.W. 2d 851, 350 Mo. 169.
N.J.—Peraino v. De Mayo, 177 A. 692, 13 N.J.Misc. 233.
Tenn.—City of Nashville v. Williams, 82 S.W.2d 541, 169 Tenn. 38.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 66.

Gratuitous services

The rule that services rendered to another with his consent and acquiescence without an understanding that they are gratuitous imply a promise to pay does not apply to the employment of attorneys by the mother of minors to represent them in a suit in which a guardian ad litem has been appointed, and the evidence without conflict shows that, as far as the estate of the minors was concerned, the understanding was that the services were to be rendered gratuitously.—In re Price, 215 P. 710, 61 Cal.App. 592.

56. U.S.—Ryan v. Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co., C.C.N.Y., 189 F. 253.
Tenn.—Yourie v. Nelson, 1 Tenn.Ch. 614.

57. Cal.—Leonard v. Alexander, 122 P.2d 984, 50 Cal.App.2d 385.
Pa.—In re Mikasinovich, 168 A. 506, 110 Pa.Super. 252.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 68.

Allowance held reasonable

Ill.—Zasove v. Minneapolis, St. P. & S. S. M. Ry. Co., 218 Ill.App. 534.

58. Ky.—Elk Valley Coal Min. Co. v. Willis, 149 S.W. 894, 149 Ky. 449—Sanders v. Woodbury, 142 S.W. 207, 146 Ky. 153.

Reasonable sum

An agreement by the next friend to pay the attorney a reasonable sum as his fee is valid and enforceable. —Goldberg v. Perlmutter, 31 N.E.2d 333, 308 Ill.App. 84.

Necessaries

Services of attorneys in suit instituted on behalf of minors by next friend were "necessaries" for which the minor or next friend could make a binding agreement to pay reasonable compensation.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 300 Ill.App. 582—Burns v. Illinois Central R. Co., 190 Ill. App. 191.

59. Ky.—Sanders v. Woodbury, 142 S.W. 207, 146 Ky. 153.

60. Md.—Tatem v. Wright, 114 A. 836, 139 Md. 20.
N.J.—Colgate v. Colgate, 23 N.J.Eq. 372.

61. Ill.—Smith v. Smith, 69 Ill. 308.
Wis.—Richardson v. Tyson, 86 N.W. 250, 110 Wis. 572, 84 Am.S.R. 937.

62. Ill.—Smith v. Smith, 69 Ill. 308.
Wis.—Richardson v. Tyson, 86 N.W. 250, 110 Wis. 572, 84 Am.S.R. 937.

63. Ohio.—Massie v. Matthews, 12 Ohio 351.

64. Tex.—Mitchell v. Thompson, Com.App., 292 S.W. 862, 863, citing Corpus Juris, reversing, Civ.App. 286 S.W. 642, and rehearing denied, Com.App., 297 S.W. xix.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 73.
Who may purchase at sales under order of court generally see supra § 66.

Liability for value

An infant's guardian ad litem, purchasing ward's deceased mother's land at sale to pay debts of her estate, against which he asserted claim, and having title conveyed to his wife, may be charged with full value of land after conveyance thereof to innocent purchasers, without regard to question of fraud.—Graham v. Floyd, 197 S.E. 873, 214 N.C. 77.

65. Tex.—Mitchell v. Thompson, 292 S.W. 862, reversing, Civ.App., 286 S.W. 642, and rehearing denied, Com.App., 297 S.W. xix.

66. N.Y.—Jackson v. Woolsey, 11 Johns. 446.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 77.

67. N.Y.—Dugan v. Sharkey, 85 N. Y.S. 778, 89 App.Div. 161.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 78.

Grantee

In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, the purchase is void and a subsequent grantee acquires no title. —McLaughlin v. Morris, 234 S.W. 259, 150 Ark. 347.

68. Miss.—Memphis Stone & Gravel Co. v. Archer, 82 So. 315, 120 Miss. 453.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 79.

69. Miss.—Smith v. Strickland, 103 So. 782, 139 Miss. 1.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 80.

Notice

Grantees of father, purchasing minor children's property at judicial sale, in suit by him as next friend, were charged with notice and were not innocent purchasers.—Mitchell v. Thompson, Com.App., 292 S.W. 862, reversing, Civ.App., 286 S.W. 642, and rehearing denied, Com.App., 297 S.W. xix.

70. Ky.—Mitchell v. Berry, 1 Metc. 602.

c. Amount of allowance
d. By whom allowance payable

a. In General

A guardian ad litem is entitled to reasonable compensation for his services, and to reimbursement for his necessary expenses. A next friend is entitled to reimbursement for necessary expenses, and in some jurisdictions he is entitled to compensation for his services.

The allowance of compensation or disbursements ordinarily is a matter within the discretion of the court.[71] The guardian ad litem is entitled to reasonable compensation for his services,[72] rendered in the trial court as well as on appeal,[73] and to a reimbursement for reasonable and necessary expenses,[74] such as counsel fees.[75]

A next friend is entitled to be reimbursed for all his expenditures,[76] even though he is unsuccessful, if he has acted in good faith and with reasonable caution.[77] Although it has been held that a next friend is not entitled to any compensation for personal services,[78] it has also been held that he should be allowed compensation for personal services performed within the powers granted him by law,[79] and he has been allowed such compensation even in the absence of a statute governing the actions of a next friend or fixing his compensation.[80]

The fact that the litigation has been unsuccessful to the infant does not per se forfeit the right to compensation where there has been good faith and reasonable caution,[81] but it is otherwise where there was no probable cause for the litigation.[82] A guardian ad litem[83] or next friend[84] who also represents interests adverse to the infant is not entitled to compensation, and if he has received any compensation it may be recovered.[85]

b. How Allowance Made

There must be a compliance with any statutory procedure prescribed for the allowance of compensation and allowances. In some jurisdictions such allowances may be taxed in the bill of costs.

Where a statute provides the manner for making the allowances, there must be a compliance therewith.[86] Ordinarily it is a matter within the judicial discretion of the court.[87] Generally it is made by the court making the appointment,[88] or by the 71. Wis.—In re McNaughton, 118 N.W. 997, 138 Wis. 179, motion denied 120 N.W. 288, 138 Wis. 179.

Power

The power to appoint a guardian ad litem necessarily implies the additional power to compensate him for the services rendered by him on behalf of the minor.—Lalakea v. Laupahoehoe Sugar Co., 35 Hawaii 262.

72. Ind.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 80 Ind.App. 282.
N.Y.—City Bank Farmers Trust Co. v. Meyn, 34 N.Y.S.2d 373, 263 App. Div. 671.
Tex.—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Storey, Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 913, affirmed, Com.App., 17 S.W.2d 458.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 86.

73. Hawaii.—Focke v. Gay, 27 Hawaii 132.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 87.

74. Hawaii.—Focke v. Gay, supra.
N.Y.—Leopold v. Myers, 2 Hilt. 580, 10 Abb.Pr. 40.

75. Wis.—Richardson v. Tyson, 86 N.W. 250, 110 Wis. 572, 84 Am.S.R. 937.
31 C.J. p 1144 note 89.

Guardian acting as attorney

"Where the services as guardian ad litem and as an attorney are rendered by the same person, a separate allowance should be made for each service; the amount allowed for services as guardian ad litem being taxable as costs and the amount allowed for services as counsel fees assessable against the estate of the incompetent."—Franz v. Buder, C.C.A.Mo., 38 F.2d 605, 607.

However, it has been held that the orphans' court normally appoints lawyers as guardians ad litem in order to avoid double expense, and it is not proper practice for a guardian ad litem who is an attorney to engage other counsel to act for him.—In re Wanamaker's Trust, 38 Pa.Dist. & Co. 347, affirmed 17 A.2d 380, 340 Pa. 419.

76. N.Y.—In re Boulware's Will, 258 N.Y.S. 522, 144 Misc. 235.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 90.

Approval of account

"Before the next friend may charge the infant with reasonable and necessary expenditures for attorneys' fees and the like, his account should be examined and approved by the circuit court."—Dudex v. Sterling Brick Co., 212 N.W. 92, 94, 237 Mich. 470.

77. N.Y.—In re Boulware's Will, 258 N.Y.S. 522, 144 Misc. 235.
W.Va.—Brown v. Erwin, 108 S.E. 605, 89 W.Va. 113.

78. Ga.—Daniel v. Powell, 29 Ga. 730.

79. Tenn.—Roberts v. Vaughn, 219 S.W. 1034, 142 Tenn. 361, 9 A.L.R. 1528.

80. Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 300 Ill.App. 582.

81. Ill.—Carlberg v. State Sav. Bank & Trust Co. of Moline, 143 N.E. 441, 321 Ill. 181.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 94.

82. Mass.—Libby v. Todd, 80 N.E. 584, 194 Mass. 507.

83. N.Y.—Heuel v. Stein, 150 N.Y.S. 540, 165 App.Div. 14.

84. Proceedings held necessary and not to have been brought to establish next friend's adverse interest so as to preclude him from compensation for his services.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 300 Ill.App. 582.

85. N.Y.—Heuel v. Stein, 150 N.Y.S. 540, 165 App.Div. 14.

86. Idaho.—Fraser v. Davis, 156 P. 913, 29 Idaho 70, modified and rehearing denied 158 P. 233, 29 Idaho 70.
31 C.J. p 1145 notes 98, 99.

87. Ill.—Wright v. Upson, 135 N.E. 209, 303 Ill. 120.
Wis.—In re McNaughton's Will, 118 N.W. 997, 138 Wis. 179, rehearing denied 120 N.W. 288, 138 Wis. 179.

88. Ky.—Lacey v. Lacey, 186 S.W. 501, 170 Ky. 625.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 2.
"As the court has the power to appoint a guardian ad litem and impose duties upon him for the benefit of a minor, it is but an incident to that power that it may allow him suitable compensation to be paid as the equity of the case shall require."—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 454, 80 Ind.App. 282.

court wherein the services are rendered,[89] or by the court in which the action is brought,[90] before the case is finally disposed of,[91] although in some jurisdictions the appellate court may fix the compensation in such sum as is deemed just and right.[92] While moneys recovered for an infant are in the custody of the court, it will order the allowance to be reimbursed; but after payment to the general guardian such allowance can be reimbursed only by an ordinary action or proceeding against the moneys in the hands of the guardian.[93] It cannot be recovered in a subsequent action to which plaintiff in the original action is not a party, but, if the fee has not been allowed in the original action, such action should be opened after due notice to plaintiff and then the guardian may move for his reasonable compensation.[94] The allowance is not required to be taxed in the manner of taxing costs,[95] but it may be, and is sometimes, taxed in the bill of costs.[96] An allowance of solicitor's fees cannot be included as part of such costs to be paid by the opposing party.[97] The allowance may be in solido for several infant defendants.[98]

The court may make an allowance of a fee to a guardian ad litem of its own volition and without awaiting a request therefor,[99] or the allowance may be made on motion or on the filing of an account,[1] or an application in the form of a petition is a proper manner of presenting the subject to the court.[2] Although an allowance of a fee to a guardian ad litem without any proofs being offered to support the charge has been held to be error,[3] it has also been held that it is the privilege of the court to hear evidence of what would be a reasonable fee, but that it is not incumbent on the court to do so.[4] Under some statutes no order allowing compensation shall be made except on an affidavit by the guardian ad litem, or, if the guardian is not an attorney, then on his affidavit and an affidavit to be made by an attorney of the court who has acted in the matter in behalf of such guardian, showing that he has examined into the circumstances of the case and, to the best of his ability, has made himself acquainted with the rights of the ward and that such guardian has taken all steps necessary for the protection of such rights to the best of his knowledge and as he believes, stating what has been done by him for the purpose of ascertaining the rights of the ward.[5]

Under a statute providing that a particular court has power to open, vacate, modify, or set aside a decree or order of the court for fraud, newly discovered evidence, clerical error, or other sufficient cause, a decree approving an allowance for a guard-

89. Mo.—Walton v. Yore, 58 Mo. App. 562.

90. Tex.—Simmons v. Arnim, 220 S. W. 66, 110 Tex. 309.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 4.

91. Ind.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 80 Ind.App. 282.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 5.

92. Look to record
The supreme court would look to the entire record, including finding of register and of trial judge, to determine allowance to be made to guardian ad litem representing minor in proceeding resulting in construction of will favorable to vesting of entire estate in minor, and would apply supreme court's own judgment to determine what would be just between the parties.—Frazer v. First Nat. Bank, 178 So. 441, 235 Ala. 252, 126 A.L.R. 1.

93. N.Y.—Leopold v. Myers, 2 Hilt. 580, 10 Abb.Pr. 40.

94. Ky.—Pope v. Lyttle, 163 S.W. 1121, 157 Ky. 659.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 9.

95. Wis.—In re McNaughton's Will, 118 N.W. 997, 138 Wis. 179, rehearing denied 120 N.W. 288, 138 Wis. 179.

Failure to set out reason
Failure of judgment allowing guardian ad litem's fee against ward to set out reason for not taxing fee as costs did not render judgment void and the party attacking the judgment must show that the failure to tax fee as costs was without sufficient reason.—Kunze v. Krueger, Tex.Civ.App., 30 S.W.2d 385, error refused.

96. U.S.—Franz v. Buder, C.C.A.Mo., 38 F.2d 605.
Hawaii.—Lalakea v. Laupahoehoe Sugar Co., 35 Hawaii 262.
Ill.—Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. v. Hays, 171 N.E. 178, 339 Ill. 230.
Kan.—Galloway v. Wesley, 73 P.2d 1073, 146 Kan. 937.
Neb.—Ben B. Wood Realty Co. v. Wood, 273 N.W. 493, 132 Neb. 817.
Tex.—Flenniken v. Foot, Civ.App., 270 S.W. 903—Fulwiler Electric Co. v. Spann, Civ.App., 252 S.W. 892.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 11.

By whom incurred
Fee of guardian ad litem in cases in which his service is required is item of costs "incurred" by plaintiff by bringing suit within statute making each party liable for costs incurred by him.—Hays v. Spangenberg, Tex.Civ.App., 94 S.W.2d 899.

97. Ill.—Hutchinson v. Hutchinson, 38 N.E. 926, 152 Ill. 347, affirming 50 Ill.App. 87.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 12.

98. Mo.—Walton v. Yore, 58 Mo. App. 562.

99. Ind.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 80 Ind.App. 282.

1. Ind.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, supra.

2. Ind.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, supra.

3. Ill.—Judson v. First Trust & Sav. Bank of Springfield, 238 Ill. App. 531.

Attorney's fees
Notwithstanding consent by the guardian ad litem to the proposed allowance, proof should be made of the reasonable value of the attorney's services, on proper notice to the guardian ad litem.—Amato v. State, 9 N.Y.S.2d 934, 170 Misc. 136.

4. Familiarity with services
Allowing fee without hearing expert testimony was proper, where court was familiar with services rendered.—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Storey, Tex.Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 913, affirmed, Com.App., 17 S.W.2d 458.

5. N.Y.—City Bank Farmers Trust Co. v. Meyn, 34 N.Y.S.2d 373, 263 App.Div. 671.

ian ad litem will be vacated where it was procured by fraud,[6] but such an order cannot be set aside because of a mistake of law.[7]

Services in appellate court. The question as to what court has power to make the allowances for services rendered on appeal is largely governed by statute.[8] Under some statutes the allowance is made by the lower court and not by the court of appeals,[9] or it is held that it is permissive for the lower court to make the allowance.[10] Under other statutes the allowance may be made by the appellate court for services rendered therein,[11] but not for services rendered in the lower court.[12]

Appointment of another guardian ad litem. While, where there is a controversy with regard to the allowance to be made to the guardian ad litem, another guardian ad litem should be appointed to represent the interests of the infant,[13] the failure to appoint such other guardian, following the general rule discussed supra § 108 b, is not jurisdictional and does not render the judgment void, but merely voidable.[14]

c. Amount of Allowance

The amount of compensation allowed must be reasonable.

Where the statute provides the amount of the allowances that may be made there must be a compliance with its provisions.[15] Ordinarily the allowance should be reasonable,[16] and is to be fixed by the court exercising its judicial discretion.[17] In fixing the amount the court should consider the character of the litigation,[18] the amount involved therein,[19] the labor or services performed,[20] the results achieved,[21] and the character of the com-

6. N.Y.—In re Jaffe's Will, 300 N.Y.S. 1045, 165 Misc. 407.

7. N.Y.—In re Conolly's Estate, 42 N.Y.S.2d 301, 266 App.Div. 333, appeal denied 43 N.Y.S.2d 507, 266 App.Div. 910.

8. N.Y.—Matter of Bull, 6 N.Y.S. 565, 1 Conn.Surr. 395.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 14.

9. Ky.—Williams v. Williams, 72 S.W. 271, 24 Ky.L. 1753.
31 C.J. p 1145 note 15.

10. Ky.—Staggenborg v. Bailey, 80 S.W. 1109, 118 Ky. 801, 26 Ky.L. 188.

11. Wis.—In re Mathews' Will, 223 N.W. 434, 198 Wis. 128.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 17.

In Pennsylvania a guardian and trustee ad litem is not entitled to an allowance by the orphans' court out of principal of the estate for costs and counsel fees of an appeal to be taken to the supreme court from a decree of the orphans' court resolving questions raised by him against interests he represents.—In re McGlinn's Estate, 35 Pa.Dist. & Co. 75, 55 Montg.Co. 52.

12. Wis.—In re Allis, 157 N.W. 548, 163 Wis. 452, mandate amended 158 N.W. 330, 163 Wis. 452.

13. Tenn.—Loftis v. Butler, Ch. App., 58 S.W. 886.

14. Tex.—Simmons v. Arnim, 220 S.W. 66, 110 Tex. 309.

15. Ala.—First Nat. Bank v. Watters, 79 So. 242, 201 Ala. 670.

16. N.Y.—In re Schaefer's Estate, 44 N.Y.S.2d 301.
N.C.—Hood ex rel. North Carolina Bank & Trust Co. v. Cheshire, 189 S.E. 189, 211 N.C. 103.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 25.

Allowances held reasonable
U.S.—Franz v. Buder, C.C.A.Mo., 38 F.2d 605.
Ky.—Combs v. Shields' Ex'r, 109 S.W.2d 601, 270 Ky. 232—Shawler v. Carter, 298 S.W. 714, 221 Ky. 248.
Neb.—Ben B. Wood Realty Co. v. Wood, 273 N.W. 493, 132 Neb. 817.
N.Y.—In re Jaffe's Will, 300 N.Y.S. 1045, 165 Misc. 407.
Tex.—Kunze v. Krueger, Civ.App., 30 S.W.2d 385, error refused.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 25 [b].

Allowances held excessive
Hawaii.—Lalakea v. Laupahoehoe Sugar Co., 35 Hawaii 262.
Ky.—Cornett v. Muncy, 15 S.W.2d 251, 228 Ky. 390.
N.Y.—In re Ewald's Estate, 42 N.Y.S.2d 39, 266 App.Div. 799—Bond v. Bond, 17 N.Y.S.2d 515, 258 App.Div. 978.
Pa.—In re Hallstead's Estate, 12 A.2d 912, 338 Pa. 257—In re Wanamaker's Trust, 38 Pa.Dist. & Co. 347, affirmed 17 A.2d 880, 340 Pa. 419.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 25 [c].

Contract
Offer by guardian ad litem to accept a certain sum for services in suit, neither accepted nor rejected by executor, was an incompleted contract.—Ex parte Johnson, 164 S.E. 847, 166 S.C. 294.

17. U.S.—Franz v. Buder, C.C.A.Mo., 38 F.2d 605.
Ill.—Carlberg v. State Sav. Bank & Trust Co. of Moline, 143 N.E. 441, 312 Ill. 181.
Ind.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 80 Ind.App. 282.
S.C.—Ex parte Johnson, 164 S.E. 847, 166 S.C. 294.
Tex.—Kunze v. Krueger, Civ.App., 30 S.W.2d 385, error refused—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Storey, Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 913, affirmed, Com.App., 17 S.W.2d 458.
31 C.J. p 1146 notes 26, 27.

18. N.C.—Hood ex rel. North Carolina Bank & Trust Co. v. Cheshire, 189 S.E. 189, 211 N.C. 103.
Tex.—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Storey, Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 913, affirmed, Com.App., 17 S.W.2d 458.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 28.

19. Ill.—Carlberg v. State Sav. Bank & Trust Co. of Moline, 143 N.E. 441, 312 Ill. 181.
Tex.—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Storey, Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 913, affirmed, Com.App., 17 S.W.2d 458.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 29.

20. Ill.—Carlberg v. State Sav. Bank & Trust Co. of Moline, 143 N.E. 441, 312 Ill. 181—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 300 Ill.App. 582.
Ky.—Combs v. Shields' Ex'r, 109 S.W.2d 601, 270 Ky. 232—Shawler v. Carter, 298 S.W. 714, 221 Ky. 248.
N.C.—Hood ex rel. North Carolina Bank & Trust Co. v. Cheshire, 189 S.E. 189, 211 N.C. 103.
Tex.—Kunze v. Krueger, Civ.App., 30 S.W.2d 385, error refused—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Storey, Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 913, affirmed, Com.App., 17 S.W.2d 458.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 30.

The services for which costs may be taxed include his services in looking after the interests of his wards in the litigation to the same extent that an individual sui juris would ordinarily look after his own affairs.—Franz v. Buder, C.C.A.Mo., 38 F.2d 605.

21. Ala.—Frazer v. First Nat. Bank, 178 So. 441, 235 Ala. 252, 126 A.L.R. 1.
Ky.—Combs v. Shields' Ex'r, 109 S.W.2d 601, 270 Ky. 232.
Tex.—Kunze v. Krueger, Civ.App., 30 S.W.2d 385, error refused—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Storey, pensation, whether contingent or fixed.[22] It has also been held that the standard for determining the amount to be allowed usually is the customary fee for similar services where the fee is the subject of contract between a solicitor and a client.[23] The compensation which may be given a guardian ad litem is not limited to the allowance by way of taxed costs;[24] but where extra compensation is to be made it must be out of the estate of the infant,[25] for where compensation is to be made to a guardian ad litem out of the general fund, and not from the estate of the infant, the compensation is limited to the taxed costs of the suit as authorized by statute.[26]

d. By Whom Allowance Payable

The allowance should, as a general rule, be made out of the property or fund of the infant, although in a proper case the allowance may be made out of the property or fund in controversy.

The question as to who should pay the allowance is often a matter within the discretion of the court.[27] It is generally held that the allowance should be made out of the property or fund of the infant;[28] and this may be done, although the infant is the successful litigant, within the discretion of the court.[29] In some cases it may be charged against the property in controversy,[30] at least where the services of the guardian ad litem have been necessary in its preservation,[31] notwithstanding the infant is found to have no interest in Civ.App., 7 S.W.2d 918, affirmed, Com.App., 17 S.W.2d 458.

31 C.J. p 1146 note 31.

In particular case

Where a statute provides that costs which may be occasioned by contest as to particular shares or interests shall be charged against the particular shares or interests involved and paid as determined by the result of the trial of such particular issue, the compensation of the guardian ad litem for services rendered with respect to such particular issue must be confined to the services rendered by him in the particular case, uninfluenced by the effect of the results obtained on the property of the minor not involved in the partition proceedings.—Lalakea v. Laupahoehoe Sugar Co., 35 Hawaii 262.

22. Tex.—Kunze v. Krueger, Civ. App., 30 S.W.2d 385, error refused —Japhet v. Pullen, Civ.App., 15 S. W. 1188.

23. Tex.—Carlberg v. State Sav. Bank & Trust Co. of Moline, 143 N.E. 441, 312 Ill. 181.

24. N.Y.—New York Life Ins. & Trust Co. v. Sands, 56 N.Y.S. 741, 26 Misc. 252—McCue v. Hara, 5 Redf.Surr. 336.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 33.

25. N.Y.—Union Ins. Co. v. Van Rensselaer, 4 Paige 85.

26. Wis.—In re McNaughton's Will, 118 N.W. 997, 138 Wis. 179, motion denied 120 N.W. 288, 138 Wis. 179.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 35.

27. Kan.—Galloway v. Wesley, 73 P.2d 1073, 146 Kan. 937.
Neb.—Ben B. Wood Realty Co. v. Wood, 273 N.W. 493, 132 Neb. 817.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 36.

28. La.—Stewart v. Metairie Cemetery Ass'n, 111 So. 616, 163 La. 108.
N.J.—Peraino v. De Mayo, 177 A. 692, 13 N.J.Misc. 233.
Tex.—Wilson v. Fisher, Civ.App., 105 S.W.2d 304, error refused, certiorari denied 58 S.Ct. 264, 302 U.S. 746, 82 L.Ed. 577.
31 C.J. p 1146 note 37.

Payment from income

The counsel fee awarded to a guardian ad litem for minors should be paid out of the income due such minors rather than out of income generally.—In re Rosenthal's Estate, 41 Pa.Dist. & Co. 292.

Several minors

Compensation of guardian ad litem may be ordered paid in equal portions from the funds of each of the minors represented by him.—Ex parte Johnson, 164 S.E. 847, 166 S.C. 294.

29. Tex.—Simmons v. Arnim, 220 S. W. 66, 110 Tex. 309.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 38.

30. Wis.—In re Mathews' Will, 223 N.W. 434, 198 Wis. 128.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 40.

Trust property

Where a trustee filed a complaint for the sale of trust property, compensation of the guardian ad litem of the infant defendants who resisted the sale should be paid out of the trust estate.—Whinery v. Hammond Trust & Savings Bank, 140 N.E. 451, 80 Ind.App. 282.

In New York

(1) Under Civ.Pract.Act § 207, if a guardian ad litem shall have been appointed for an infant defendant who is not entitled to any money or property under the terms of the final judgment, such guardian may, nevertheless, receive such compensation as the court shall deem reasonable, which shall be paid by any party to the action or proceeding or out of the proceeds of any property which is the subject matter of the action, as the court shall direct. This discretion vested in the court is a judicial discretion, and there must be circumstances shown which justify the manner of its exercise.—Livingston v. Ward, 161 N.E. 468, 248 N.Y. 193, amending remittitur 159 N.E. 875, 247 N.Y. 97, which reversed 216 N.Y.S. 37, 216 App.Div. 675 and amending remittitur Livingston v. Livingston, 161 N.E. 165, 247 N.Y. 517, which reversed 216 N.Y.S. 58, 216 App.Div. 698.

(2) Where plaintiff and defendants ask the court to determine what parties have title to, or interest in, real property which is the subject matter of the action, and where infant defendants are necessary parties, the services rendered by the guardians appointed for the infants are beneficial to adverse parties, even though such infants are found to have no interest in the property, and the court has power to allow compensation to the guardians payable by the adverse parties or out of the proceeds of the property.—Livingston v. Ward, supra.

(3) Guardian ad litem for infant defendants adjudged not entitled to property was held entitled to compensation for his services.—Bartos v. Bartos, 244 N.Y.S. 713, 138 Misc. 117.

(4) An allowance to the guardian ad litem of infant defendants payable out of the estate was held proper.—Rezzemini v. Brooks, 140 N.E. 237, 236 N.Y. 184, modifying 197 N.Y. S. 872, 204 App.Div. 157, which reversed 194 N.Y.S. 748, 118 Misc. 791.

(5) Guardian ad litem of infants having contingent interests in realty sold in proceeding by life tenant was entitled to allowance for services and disbursements out of proceeds.—In re Roosevelt's Estate, 228 N.Y.S. 323, 131 Misc. 800.

31. Ill.—Union Bank of Chicago v Wormser, 256 Ill.App. 291.

the property.[32] It is not as a rule payable by the successful adverse party;[33] and, where there is no fund belonging to the minor, it has been held to be the duty of an attorney, acting as guardian ad litem, to render his services without compensation.[34] Under some statutes, however, the adverse party plaintiff, although successful, may be liable for such compensation,[35] at least where the infant defendant is unable to pay.[36] Under some statutes, plaintiff[37] or the person who procured the appointment of the guardian ad litem,[38] is liable. An adult co-defendant is not liable for the compensation of an infant defendant's guardian ad litem.[39]

A guardian ad litem may be entitled to a lien for his services on the property which he has protected.[40]

§ 113. —— Termination of Authority

The authority of a guardian ad litem may terminate or expire by his death or removal, or by the infant's arriving at majority, or by the end of the suit.

The authority of a guardian ad litem or next friend of an infant to represent him in the conduct of the cause expires with the minority of the infant;[41] and the infant may, on becoming of age, discontinue the action,[42] although if he elects to proceed in the cause after he is of age the next friend is discharged from his liability, and the infant will be liable in the same manner as though the suit had been commenced by an adult.[43]

Where there are two conflicting appointments in separate actions brought for the same cause of action, the prior appointment will not be vacated except on terms affording proper protection to the attorney who represented the first appointee.[44]

Death. As discussed in Abatement and Revival §§ 120, 168, the death of the next friend or guardian ad litem does not abate the action, and the action continues by or against his successor in office, the court having power to appoint another person to represent the infant.[45]

End of suit. The authority of a guardian ad litem or next friend continues until the termination of the cause,[46] at which time his authority terminates.[47] His authority, however, does not necessarily terminate with the rendition of judgment in the trial court;[48] it is not ended or suspended by the withdrawal of the summons and the commencement of a new action,[49] or by a change of adverse parties connected with the subject matter of the suit,[50] or by an appeal to a higher court;[51] nor 32. S.C.—Beckwith v. McAllister, 172 S.E. 311, 171 S.C. 344.

Tenn.—Sims v. Bank of Commerce & Trust Co., 14 Tenn.App. 672.
33. Tenn.—Patton v. Dixon, 58 S.W. 299, 105 Tenn. 97.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 41.
34. Tenn.—Massengill v. Fox, 7 Tenn.App. 157.
35. Kan.—Galloway v. Wesley, 73 P.2d 1073, 146 Kan. 937.
Neb.—Ben B. Wood Realty Co. v. Wood, 273 N.W. 493, 132 Neb. 817.
36. Tex.—Ashe v. Young, 3 S.W. 454, 68 Tex. 123.
37. Ark.—Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 43.
38. Tex.—Rogers v. Rogers, Com.App., 240 S.W. 1104.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 44.
39. N.Y.—Richardson v. Van Voorhis, 3 N.Y.S. 396.
40. Wis.—Tyson v. Richardson, 79 N.W. 439, 103 Wis. 397.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 46.

Remainder

Only bodily heir of life tenant vested with fee simple had vested fee simple title in remainder, and a limitation that remainder be shared with other children that might be born to life tenant was condition subsequent as regards court's power to tax guardian ad litem's fee and to create a lien therefor against the property.—Kunze v. Krueger, Tex.Civ.App., 30 S.W.2d 385, error refused.

41. U.S.—Mason v. Royal Indemnity Co., D.C.Ga., 35 F.Supp. 477, affirmed, C.C.A., 123 F.2d 335.
Mo.—West St. Louis Trust Co. of St. Louis v. Brokaw, 102 S.W.2d 792, 795, 232 Mo.App. 209, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1157 note 35.

Dropping guardian's name

After plaintiff reached his majority, the name of his guardian ad litem in the trial of the action should have been dropped, but a failure so to drop the name of the guardian does not affect the merits of the case.—Cahn v. Schmitz, 108 P.2d 1006, 56 Ariz. 469.

42. N.Y.—McCarthy v. Anable, 7 N.Y.S.2d 887, 169 Misc. 595.
31 C.J. p 1156 note 26.
43. N.Y.—McCarthy v. Anable, supra.
44. U.S.—De Benedetto v. Alpha Portland Cement Co., D.C.N.Y., 199 F. 540.
45. Md.—Richards v. Swan, 7 Gill 366.
Mo.—Raming v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., 50 S.W. 791.
31 C.J. p 1148 note 79.
46. Ky.—Luck v. Schabell, 216 S.W. 1066, 186 Ky. 335—Parks v. Barnes, 191 S.W. 447, 173 Ky. 589.
47. Cal.—Morris v. Standard Oil Co., 219 P. 998, 192 Cal. 343, 30 A.L.R. 1103.
Ill.—Wojtas v. Rachel, 267 Ill.App. 148.
Mo.—West St. Louis Trust Co. of St. Louis v. Brokaw, 102 S.W.2d 792, 795, 232 Mo.App. 209, citing Corpus Juris.
N.Y.—Nicolosi v. Olshansky, 1 N.Y.S.2d 943, 166 Misc. 55.
Pa.—In re Strickler's Estate, 14 A.2d 341, 343, 140 Pa.Super. 372, citing Corpus Juris—In re Elkins' Estate, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 578.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 53.
48. Ky.—Parks v. Barnes, 191 S.W. 447, 173 Ky. 589—Staggenborg v. Bailey, 80 S.W. 1109, 118 Ky. 301, 26 Ky.L. 188.

Foreclosure sale

A guardian ad litem is appointed "for the suit," and sale proceedings, although subsequent and ancillary to the foreclosure decree, are a part of the suit because they are necessary to complete the remedy sought in the action.—Cudjo v. Harris, 248 P. 343, 119 Okl. 69.

49. S.C.—Griffith v. Cromley, 36 S.E. 738, 58 S.C. 448.
50. Cal.—Skinner v. Knickrehm, 102 P. 947, 10 Cal.App. 596.
51. Ky.—Parks v. Barnes, 191 S.W. 447, 173 Ky. 589.
Minn.—Covell v. Porter, 84 N.W. 107, 81 Minn. 302.

is it necessary that there should be a new guardian ad litem every time a pleading is amended.[52]

Removal. The court has power to remove, or revoke the authority of, a guardian ad litem,[53] or next friend,[54] at its discretion,[55] and it is its duty to do so[56] where it is necessary in order to protect the interests of the infant,[57] or where his interests are adverse to those of the infant,[58] or where such action is necessary to prevent the infant's being prejudiced by his acts or omissions,[59] where he has been improperly appointed,[60] where he fails in his duty,[61] is guilty of misconduct,[62] or is incompetent.[63] A written authority of an infant appointing his next friend to file a caveat to a will is revocable.[64]

As a general rule, the financial irresponsibility of the appointee may be ground for his removal or the revocation of his authority.[65] It has been held that an irresponsible guardian ad litem should not be allowed to continue to act merely on giving security for costs.[66]

§ 114. Appearance and Representation by Attorney

a. In general

b. Authority

c. Compensation

a. In General

An infant cannot appear or plead by attorney. However, this rule does not deprive the infant of the professional aid of an attorney, when the infant is properly represented by next friend or guardian ad litem.

An infant cannot appear or plead by attorney;[67] he must do so by his general guardian, as discussed in Guardian and Ward § 175, or by a guardian ad litem or next friend, as discussed supra § 111. However, this rule relates merely to the appearance on the record and does not deprive the infant of the professional aid of an attorney,[68] and hence, when the infant is properly represented by next friend or guardian ad litem, the conduct of the prosecution[69] or defense[70] may be carried on by an attorney, and the effect of the appearance of the attorney is on the same footing as the appearance of any other litigant.[71]

The defect of an appearance by attorney instead of next friend or guardian ad litem is amendable.[72] The judgment rendered in the action is not, on this

W.Va.—Fisher v. Bell, 63 S.E. 620, 65 W.Va. 10.

52. Cal.—Carpenter v. San Joaquin County Super. Ct., 19 P. 174, 75 Cal. 596.

53. Mo.—West St. Louis Trust Co. of St. Louis v. Brokaw, 102 S.W. 2d 792, 795, 232 Mo.App. 209, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 59.

54. Tex.—Texas Indemnity Ins. Co. v. Hubbard, Civ.App., 138 S.W.2d 626, error dismissed, judgment correct.
31 C.J. p 1147 note 60.

55. Ark.—Nashville Lumber Co. v. Barefield, 124 S.W. 758, 93 Ark. 353, 20 Ann.Cas. 968.
Tex.—Texas Indemnity Ins. Co. v. Hubbard, Civ.App., 138 S.W.2d 626, error dismissed, judgment correct.
Review of order see infra § 126 f.

56. Ky.—Parks v. Barnes, 191 S.W. 447, 173 Ky. 589.

57. Tex.—Peters v. Allen, Civ.App., 296 S.W. 929.
31 C.J. p 1148 note 63.

58. Tex.—Texas Indemnity Ins. Co. v. Hubbard, Civ.App., 138 S.W.2d 626, error dismissed, judgment correct.
31 C.J. p 1148 note 64.

59. Ky.—Parks v. Barnes, 191 S.W. 447, 173 Ky. 589—Robinson v. Talbot, 78 S.W. 1108, 25 Ky.L. 1914.

60. N.Y.—Matter of Water Comrs., 4 Edw. 545.

61. Tex.—Peters v. Allen, Civ.App., 296 S.W. 929.
31 C.J. p 1148 note 68.
Petition dismissed
Petition by mother as next friend that another guardian ad litem be appointed was properly dismissed where the guardian appointed was acting ably and conscientiously.—Patterson v. Old Dominion Trust Co., 140 S.E. 810, 149 Va. 597, modified on other grounds 141 S.E. 759, 149 Va. 597.

62. Partisanship
A special guardian is not removable for asserting strong partisanship in behalf of his ward.—In re Schrier's Will, 283 N.Y.S. 233, 157 Misc. 310.

63. Ind.—Budd v. Rutherford, 30 N. E. 1111, 4 Ind.App. 386.
31 C.J. p 1148 note 70.

64. Md.—Reichard v. Izer, 52 A. 592, 95 Md. 451.

65. Ind.—Budd v. Rutherford, 30 N. E. 1111, 4 Ind.App. 386.
31 C.J. p 1148 note 75.

66. N.Y.—Backerman v. Coccola, 178 N.Y.S. 423, 189 App.Div. 235.
31 C.J. p 1148 note 76.

67. Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 307, 6 W.W.Harr. 418, citing Corpus Juris.
Ill.—Skaggs v. Industrial Commission, 21 N.E.2d 731, 371 Ill. 535.
Minn.—In re Fiske's Estate, 291 N. W. 289, 207 Minn. 44.
Miss.—Parker v. Smith, 117 So. 249, 150 Miss. 849.
N.J.—Laute v. Gearhart, 165 A. 115, 11 N.J.Misc. 117, affirmed 170 A. 646, 112 N.J.Law 382.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586—Melnick v. Laszio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791—In re Friend's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 923.
Pa.—Camera & Radio Shop v. Zalewske, 157 A. 376, 102 Pa.Super. 562.
Tex.—Russell v. Texas & P. R. Co., 5 S.W. 686, 68 Tex. 646—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 292, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292—De Proy v. Progakis, Com.App., 269 S.W. 78, reversing, Civ.App., 259 S.W. 620.
Wis.—Caskey v. Peterson, 263 N.W. 658, 220 Wis. 690.
31 C.J. p 1148 note 81.

68. N.Y.—People v. New York C. Pl., 11 Wend. 164.
Power of guardian ad litem or next friend to employ attorney see supra § 111.

69. Colo.—Lee v. Leibold, 79 P.2d 1049, 102 Colo. 408.
N.Y.—People v. New York C. Pl., 11 Wend. 164.

70. Ind.—Alexander v. Frary, 9 Ind. 481—Doe v. Scoggin, 2 Ind. 208—Doe v. Brown, 8 Blackf. 443.

71. Tex.—Hart v. Hunter, 114 S.W. 882, 52 Tex.Civ.App. 75.

72. An attorney engaged by the next friend of an infant is the attorney for the infant, who is the real party in interest.

ground alone, void,[73] but merely erroneous and voidable.[74] When the judgment is in favor of the infant, the fact that he appeared by attorney does not even render the judgment voidable or erroneous.[75] If the infant has not been properly served and guardian ad litem has not been appointed, the unauthorized appearance of an attorney for him confers no jurisdiction over him.[76]

Probate proceedings. In some jurisdictions, in probate proceedings, infants may be represented by an attorney appointed by the court,[77] in the discretion of the court.[78]

Qualifications. The attorney must not have interest adverse to the infant.[79]

Withdrawal of attorney. An attorney for an infant may withdraw in a proper case.[80]

b. Authority

The authority and powers of the attorney are limited to those possessed by the guardian ad litem or next friend. An infant ordinarily is bound by the acts of his counsel while acting within the limits of his authority.

The authority and powers of the attorney are limited to those possessed by the guardian ad litem or next friend.[81] An infant client ordinarily is bound by the acts of his counsel who is duly authorized to act and while acting within the limits of his authority.[82]

The attorney cannot waive[83] or admit away[84] any substantial rights of the infant, or consent to anything which may be prejudicial to the infant.[85] However, he may make a valid consent or waiver as to matters which merely facilitate the litigation and cannot prejudicially affect the rights of the infant.[86]

Fla.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682.
N.J.—Smith v. Minor, 1 N.J.Law 416.
Vt.—Sears v. Duling, 61 A. 518, 77 Vt. 496.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 89.

73. Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 307, 6 W.W.Harr. 418, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 90.

74. Del.—King v. Cordrey, 177 A. 303, 307, 6 W.W.Harr. 418, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 91.

75. Mo.—Padgett v. Smith, 103 S.W. 942, 205 Mo. 122.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 92.

76. N.Y.—Hope v. Shevill, 122 N.Y.S. 127, 137 App.Div. 86, affirmed 97 N.E. 1106, 204 N.Y. 563.

77. Idaho.—Schwarz v. Taeger, 258 P. 1085, 44 Idaho 633.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 94.

78. Mont.—State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 87 P. 615, 34 Mont. 306.

79. U.S.—Glover v. Bradley, S.C., 233 F. 721, 147 C.C.A. 487, Ann.Cas. 1917A 921.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 97.

80. N.Y.—Lichtenstein v. Reilly, 16 N.Y.S.2d 1006.

Motion to withdraw denied

Where action for injuries received by an infant plaintiff was about to be reached for trial, a motion by plaintiffs' attorneys for leave to withdraw from action and to fix attorneys' liens thereon was denied, although motion was unopposed, especially where there were no other attorneys ready and willing to take over the case, and attorneys seeking to withdraw had been substituted for a former attorney upon their own consent.—Lichtenstein v. Reilly, supra.

81. Minn.—Eidam v. Finnegan, 50 N.W. 933, 48 Minn. 53, 16 L.R.A. 507.
N.Y.—Honadle v. Stafford, 193 N.E. 172, 265 N.Y. 354, reversing 272 N.Y.S. 444, 241 App.Div. 395, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 27, 150 Misc. 412, motion denied 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 854 (first case), and 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 857 (second case)—Greenburg v. New York Cent. & H. R. R. Co., 104 N.E. 931, 210 N.Y. 505.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 7.

Authority to bring suit

Where father of minor executed power appointing attorney to commence prosecution and enforce or to defend action touching an automobile accident which occurred to the minor, the power authorized the attorney to bring suit of the minor by her father and next friend for injury sustained in the accident.—Merchants Mut. Casualty Co. v. Kiley, N.H., 30 A.2d 681.

General agent

Where an attorney is appointed by next friend of infant, attorney becomes general agent of infant and responsible to him for faithful discharge of duties required of him as officer of the court under oath.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682.

Powers of attorney of record

An infant's attorney is empowered as an officer of the court, in the interests of the infant, to exercise all the powers and duties of an attorney of record.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682.

82. Cal.—Morris v. Standard Oil Co., 219 P. 998, 192 Cal. 343, 30 A.L.R. 1104.
Ill.—Miller v. Chicago & N. W. Ry. Co., 23 N.E.2d 70, 301 Ill.App. 386.
N.H.—Strong v. New Hampshire Box Co., 131 A. 688, 82 N.H. 221.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 8.

Acts in good faith

An infant ordinarily is bound by acts done in good faith by his counsel in the course of a suit, to the same extent as a person of full age.
U.S.—Thompson v. Maxell Land-Grant & R. Co., N.M., 18 S.Ct. 121, 168 U.S. 451, 42 L.Ed. 539.
Ind.—Dearing v. Speedway Realty Co., 40 N.E.2d 414, 111 Ind.App. 585—Colvert v. Colvert, 180 N.E. 192, 95 Ind.App. 325.

Remission of judgment

Where an attorney representing a guardian ad litem, in order to avoid a new trial, made a remission of more than half of a judgment secured in a personal injury action brought by the ward, such remission was binding, and it was not necessary to obtain the approbation of the court.—Morris v. Standard Oil Co., 219 P. 998, 192 Cal. 343, 30 A.L.R. 1104.

Stipulation of fact

Ordinarily an infant is bound by a stipulation of fact entered by his attorney with court's consent.—Keller v. Norfolk & W. Ry. Co., 167 S.E. 448, 113 W.Va. 286.

83. Fla.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682.
N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 10.

84. Ark.—Webster v. Horton, 67 S.W.2d 200, 188 Ark. 610.

85. Ark.—Webster v. Horton, supra.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 12.

86. N.J.—Morris v. Glaser, 151 A. 766, 106 N.J.Eq. 585, affirmed 160 A. 578, 110 N.J.Eq. 661.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 13.

Compromise or settlement. An attorney has no authority to enter into a compromise or settlement[87] without a prior order of the court.[88]

c. Compensation

An attorney is entitled to a reasonable fee for services beneficial to the infant.

Where the attorney has rendered service which has been beneficial to the infant, he is entitled to a reasonable fee[89] to be allowed from the infant's estate,[90] or from the funds recovered for the infant[91] in view of all the circumstances.[92] There is authority to the effect that the amount of compensation to be allowed should be governed more by what the infant's estate can pay than by the actual value of the services.[93]

The attorney is entitled to be reimbursed for proper expenditures, and it has been held that, for that purpose, he has a lien on the funds recovered.[94]

§ 115. Process

a. Form and requisites
b. Necessity and sufficiency of service
c. Acceptance or acknowledgment of service
d. Waiver
e. Return
f. Record of service
g. Conclusiveness of service
h. Attainment of majority pending action

a. Form and Requisites

The form and requisites of the process are generally governed by the rules applicable to process in other civil actions. Irregularities in form will not vitiate the process.

The form and requisites of the process are generally governed by the rules applicable to process in other civil actions.[95] The notice must be addressed to the infant,[96] even though personal service is not required on him but on his parent or guardian,[97]

87. Fla.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682.
N.Y.—Honadle v. Stafford, 193 N.E. 172, 265 N.Y. 354, reversing 272 N.Y.S. 444, 241 App.Div. 395, affirming 269 N.Y.S. 27, 150 Misc. 412, motion denied 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 854 (first case), and 279 N.Y.S. 36, 243 App.Div. 857 (second case).

88. Fla.—Garner v. I. E. Schilling Co., 174 So. 837, 128 Fla. 353, 111 A.L.R. 682.
Confirmation
A compromise benefiting an infant will be confirmed by the court.—Dearing v. Speedway Realty Co., 40 N.E.2d 414, 111 Ind.App. 585.

89. Colo.—Lee v. Leibold, 79 P.2d 1049, 102 Colo. 408.
Ill.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 300 Ill.App. 582.
N.Y.—Amato v. State, 9 N.Y.S. 934, 170 Misc. 136.
Pa.—In re Mikasinovich, 168 A. 506, 110 Pa.Super. 252.
Tenn.—City of Nashville v. Williams, 82 S.W.2d 541, 169 Tenn. 38.
31 C.J. p 1149 note 99.
Attorney's services as necessaries see supra § 78.
Power of next friend or guardian ad litem to contract for specified compensation see supra § 111.
Proceedings
(1) Supreme court is without jurisdiction of petition seeking to fix compensation for counsel representing a minor who sued by next friend, since amount of compensation is to be determined on reference as to what would be reasonable remuneration for counsel in a proceeding wherein infant is made defendant and a guardian ad litem appointed to represent him.—City of Nashville v. Williams, 82 S.W.2d 541, 169 Tenn. 38.
(2) The fees of the attorney for infant plaintiffs are properly fixed by reference in the action in which the services are rendered. All the parties interested should have notice of the reference to fix the fees, but although they have no notice thereof the order confirming the master's report fixing the fees is not void but only voidable, being made in a case where the court had jurisdiction of the subject matter and of the parties, and disclosing no infirmity on its face.—Connor v. Ashley, 35 S.E. 546, 57 S.C. 305.
(3) In determining the amount of fees to be paid counsel for a minor, the relationship of counsel and infant is antagonistic.—City of Nashville v. Williams, supra.
(4) Proper notice should be given to guardian ad litem on application of attorney for allowance of fees.—Amato v. State, 9 N.Y.S.2d 934, 170 Misc. 136.

90. Ark.—Greenlee v. Rowland, 107 S.W. 193, 85 Ark. 101—Owens v. Gunther, 86 S.W. 851, 75 Ark. 37, 5 Ann.Cas. 130.

91. U.S.—U. S. v. Equitable Trust Co. of New York, N.Y., 51 S.Ct. 539, 283 U.S. 738, 75 L.Ed. 1379, modifying, C.C.A., Barnett v. Equitable Trust Co. of New York, 34 F.2d 916, certiorari granted U. S. v. Equitable Trust Co. of New York, 50 S.Ct. 160, 280 U.S. 550, 74 L.Ed. 609.
N.C.—In re Stone, 97 S.E. 216, 176 N. C. 336.
Pa.—In re Mikasinovich, 168 A. 506, 110 Pa.Super. 252.
Fee of minor's former attorney
Whether the fee of a minor plaintiff's former attorney could be deducted from sum which defendant would be required to pay under a judgment for minor in a personal injury action was within district court's discretion.—Montgomery v. Erie R. Co., C.C.A.N.J., 97 F.2d 289.

92. Wash.—Plummer v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 167 P. 73, 98 Wash. 67, 7 A.L.R. 104.
Matters to be shown
The time actually consumed in performing such services must be shown in addition to estimates concerning the value of the services.—City Nat. Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago v. Sewell, 21 N.E.2d 810, 300 Ill.App. 582.
Allowance held adequate
Pa.—In re Dunmore's Estate, 14 Pa. Dist. & Co. 630.
Allowance held excessive
N.Y.—Grannemann v. Grannemann, 88 N.Y.S. 405, 95 App.Div. 37, affirmed 77 N.E. 1187, 184 N.Y. 586.

93. N.C.—In re Stone, 97 S.E. 216, 176 N.C. 336.

94. W.Va.—Brown v. Erwin, 108 S. E. 605, 89 W.Va. 113.

95. U.S.—Thomson v. Butler, C.C.A. Mo., 136 F.2d 644.
Iowa.—Cummings v. Landes, 117 N. W. 22, 140 Iowa 80.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 15.

96. Iowa.—Sleeper v. Killion, 147 N. W. 314, 166 Iowa 205.
N.Y.—In re Friend's Estate, 298 N. Y.S. 923.

97. Iowa.—Sleeper v. Killion, 147 N. W. 314, 166 Iowa 205.

showing his age,[98] and directing him to appear by guardian.[99]

Irregularities in form will not vitiate the process.[1] Where the summons was regularly served on infants and on their guardian, a failure to name them in the summons as defendants is amendable and on collateral attack will be considered as amended, and the decree based on such service is not void.[2] Where an infant, properly served with process, is sued in his wrong name and he fails duly to object, he is bound by the decree.[3]

Infant plaintiff. It has been held that, where an infant is plaintiff, the form of the writ may be the same as in other cases.[4]

b. Necessity and Sufficiency of Service

(1) In general
(2) On infant
(3) On parent, guardian, etc.
(4) On guardian ad litem

(1) In General

Process must be issued against an infant in order to give the court jurisdiction of his person. Statutes governing the method of acquiring such jurisdiction must be complied with.

To give the court jurisdiction over the person of the infant, process must be issued against him.[5] It is within the power of the legislature to prescribe the method by which jurisdiction over an infant can be acquired.[6] There is a lack of uniformity in the statutes and practice of the different jurisdictions respecting the person or persons on whom process should be served in a suit against an infant.[7] The matter being largely governed by statute,[8] its requirements must be complied with.[9] While generally strict compliance is required,[10] in which case it is sufficient,[11] in some cases a substantial compliance has been considered sufficient.[12]

(2) On Infant
(a) In general
(b) Mode and sufficiency of service
(c) Effect of failure to serve

(a) In General

As a general rule, when an infant is made a party to an action, he must be served with process, unless he is already before the court in some proper manner.

While there is authority that there need not be service of process on an infant, the appointment of a guardian ad litem and his answer for the infant standing in the place of such service,[13] as a general rule, when an infant is made a party to an action, he must be served with process,[14] unless he is al-

98. Ohio.—Keys v. McDonald, 1 Handy 287, 12 Ohio Dec., Reprint, 146.

99. N.Y.—Kellett v. Rathbun, 4 Paige 102.

1. Ky.—Auxier v. Auxier, 206 S.W. 789, 182 Ky. 588.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 20.

2. Ark.—Burgett v. Williford, 19 S. W. 750, 56 Ark. 187, 35 Am.S.R. 96.

3. Ill.—Bear v. Fletcher, 96 N.E. 997, 252 Ill. 206.

4. Ind.—Bouche v. Ryan, 3 Blackf. 472.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 23.

5. Ky.—Wales v. Williams, 287 S.W. 705, 216 Ky. 260.
La.—Spears v. Spears, 136 So. 614, 178 La. 294.
Miss.—Parker v. Smith, 117 So. 249, 150 Miss. 849.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 24.
Infants under guardianship see Guardian and Ward § 177.

6. Fla.—Price v. Winter, 15 Fla. 66.
N.Y.—Taylor v. Emmet, 122 N.Y.S. 66, 137 App.Div. 202.

7. U.S.—Woolridge v. McKenna, C. C.Tenn., 8 F. 650.

8. U.S.—Thomson v. Butler, C.C.A. Mo., 136 F.2d 644.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 27.

9. Ala.—Bank of Luverne v. Turk, 133 So. 52, 222 Ala. 549.
Cal.—Akley v. Bassett, 209 P. 576, 189 Cal. 625.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Lella v. Holman, 3 N.Y.S.2d 352, 166 Misc. 796.
Ohio.—Templeman v. Hester, 29 N.E. 2d 216, 65 Ohio App. 62—Feigi v. Lopartkovich, 176 N.E. 670, 38 Ohio App. 338.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 28.
Service held sufficient
Iowa.—John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Dower, 271 N.W. 193, 222 Iowa 1377.

10. N.Y.—Jacobson v. Krekell, 228 N.Y.S. 371, 223 App.Div. 440.
Okl.—Babb v. National Life Ass'n, 86 P.2d 771, 184 Okl. 273.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 29.

11. Miss.—Culley v. Rhodes, 87 So. 136, 124 Miss. 640.

12. Ark.—Holt v. Manuel, 54 S.W.2d 66, 186 Ark. 435—Purcell v. Gann, 168 S.W. 1102, 113 Ark. 332.
31 C.J. p 1150 note 31.
Service held sufficient
Ark.—Purcell v. Gann, 168 S.W. 1102, 113 Ark. 332.
Ill.—Chicago Ry. Equipment Co. v. Wilson, 250 Ill.App. 231.
Ohio.—Matthews v. Vandervoort, 18 Ohio App. 174.

13. W.Va.—Ferrell v. Ferrell, 44 S. E. 187, 53 W.Va. 515.

14. Ala.—Garner v. Empire Land Co., 117 So. 64, 217 Ala. 528.
Ark.—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W.2d 310, 180 Ark. 41.
Kan.—Hurd v. Baty, 88 P.2d 1031, 149 Kan. 665—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 26 P.2d 591, 138 Kan. 317—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 299 P. 627, 133 Kan. 262.
Miss.—Parker v. Smith, 117 So. 249, 150 Miss. 849.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Jacobson v. Krekell, 228 N.Y.S. 371, 223 App. Div. 440—Lella v. Holman, 3 N.Y. S.2d 352, 166 Misc. 796—Melnick v. Laszio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791—McGrath v. Roefs, 196 N.Y.S. 891, 119 Misc. 641—In re Friend's Estate, 298 N.Y.S. 923.
Ohio.—Feigi v. Lopartkovich, 176 N. E. 670, 38 Ohio App. 338.
Tenn.—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn. App. 68.
Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 38 S.W.2d 292—De Proy v. Progaready before the court in some proper manner.[15] Since the service of process on an infant is a condition precedent to the appointment of guardian ad litem, as discussed supra § 110, as a general rule a failure to serve the infant is not cured by the appointment of a guardian ad litem who appears or answers for him.[16]

(b) Mode and Sufficiency of Service

An infant usually is served with process in the same manner as an adult. Personal service ordinarily is required. However, where an infant cannot be actually or personally served, he may be served by substituted service, or service by publication as authorized by statute.

An infant usually is to be served with process in the same manner as an adult,[17] especially where he has arrived at an age of discretion.[18]

Personal service ordinarily is required when the infant is within the jurisdiction,[19] although there are other codefendants on whom proper service has been made.[20] It is sometimes required that infants shall be served in the presence of the legal guardian, or of the person who has the present care and custody of them.[21]

Service other than personal. The legislature may provide or authorize constructive instead of actual service,[22] and such constructive service pursuant to the statute will bind the infant.[23] Ordinarily, where an infant defendant cannot be actually or personally served, he may be served in the same manner as an adult defendant,[24] as by substituted service[25] or service by publication;[26] and statutory provisions kis, Com.App., 269 S.W. 78, reversing, Civ.App., 259 S.W. 620.

31 C.J. p 1151 note 36.
Service as prerequisite to appointment of guardian ad litem see supra § 110.

15. Ill.—Suiter v. McWard, 159 N.E. 799, 328 Ill. 462—First Trust Joint Stock Land Bank of Chicago v. Cutler, 12 N.E.2d 705, 293 Ill.App. 354.
Ky.—Grooms v. Grooms, 7 S.W.2d 863, 225 Ky. 228.
Okl.—Johnson v. Thornburgh, 254 P. 53, 124 Okl. 123, certiorari granted 48 S.Ct. 28, 275 U.S. 513, 72 L.Ed. 400, certiorari dismissed 48 S.Ct. 322, 276 U.S. 601, 72 L.Ed. 725.
31 C.J. p 1151 note 37.

Cross action

(1) Where suit is instituted by minors through next friend seeking title or possession, defendants may obtain affirmative relief with respect to property without citing minors to answer cross action.—Baumgardner v. Russell Realty Co., Tex.Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 561, error dismissed.

(2) Other cases as to necessity of process see 31 C.J. p 1151 note 37 [b].

Notice of substitution of party plaintiff

In a foreclosure action by a trust company against minors, wherein receiver of trust company was substituted as plaintiff, minors were not entitled to be served with additional notice showing substitution.—Watson v. Glenn, Tex.Civ.App., 82 S.W.2d 704.

16. Ala.—Bank of Luverne v. Turk, 133 So. 52, 222 Ala. 549.
Ark.—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W.2d 310, 180 Ark. 41.
Ky.—Rachford v. Rachford, 7 S.W. 2d 234, 224 Ky. 831.
N.Y.—Lella v. Holman, 3 N.Y.S.2d 352, 166 Misc. 796.
31 C.J. p 1151 note 40.

17. Kan.—Hurd v. Baty, 88 P.2d 1031, 149 Kan. 665.
Ky.—Moseley v. Mayton, 245 S.W. 872, 196 Ky. 827.
Okl.—Babb v. National Life Ass'n, 86 P.2d 771, 184 Okl. 273.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 51.

Who may urge defects

Defects in service of notice on nonresident infant defendants is not matter of which complainants can complain, where infants were before court and represented by properly appointed guardian ad litem, and even where no guardian ad litem is appointed none but infants can complain.—Cogburn v. Callier, 104 So. 330, 213 Ala. 46.

18. Pa.—Erskine v. Adams, 9 Pa. Dist. 444, 24 Pa.Co. 382.

19. Cal.—Akley v. Bassett, 209 P. 576, 189 Cal. 625.
Kan.—Missouri State Life Ins. Co. v. Butts, 293 P. 499, 131 Kan. 775.
Ky.—White v. White, 172 S.W.2d 72, 294 Ky. 563—Moseley v. Mayton, 245 S.W. 872, 196 Ky. 827.
N.J.—Laute v. Gearhart, 165 A. 115, 11 N.J.Misc. 117, affirmed 170 A. 646, 112 N.J.Law 382.
Pa.—Minerd v. Minerd, 3 Fay.L.J. 180.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 53.

A mere reading of the summons to the infant is insufficient.—Parker v. Smith, 117 So. 249, 150 Miss. 849.

Where infant very young

Where an infant defendant in partition was only two years old, service on the mother, in the presence of the infant, of two duly certified copies of the notice, one for the infant and the other for the mother as his natural guardian, was sufficient.—Havens v. Drake, 23 P. 621, 43 Kan. 484.

Personal service outside jurisdiction

A nonresident minor motorist, on whom personal service was made in Canada by duly qualified officer, was properly served with process under provision in vehicle code relating to service of process on nonresident motorist.—Silver Swan Liquor Corporation v. Adams, 110 P.2d 1097, 43 Cal.App.2d Supp. 851.

20. N.C.—Hughes v. Pritchard, 69 S.E. 3, 153 N.C. 135, 138 Am.S.R. 649.

21. Fla.—McDermott v. Thompson, 10 So. 584, 29 Fla. 299.
N.Y.—Kellett v. Rathbun, 4 Paige 102.

Competent person

N.J.—Laute v. Gearhart, 165 A. 115, 11 N.J.Misc. 117, affirmed 170 A. 646, 112 N.J.Law 382.

22. Ky.—Kidd v. Kidd, 124 S.W.2d 66, 276 Ky. 271—Bryant v. Wade, 3 Ky.Op. 213.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 56.

23. Fla.—Polk v. Chase Nat. Co., 162 So. 521, 120 Fla. 243—Goodrich v. Thompson, 118 So. 60, 96 Fla. 327—Quigley v. Cremin, 113 So. 892, 94 Fla. 104, modifying 109 So. 312.
N.Y.—Smith v. Reid, 31 N.E. 1082, 134 N.Y. 568—Taylor v. Emmet, 122 N.Y.S. 66, 137 App.Div. 202.

24. Kan.—Hurd v. Baty, 88 P.2d 1031, 149 Kan. 665.
N.Y.—Merritt's Will, 5 Dem.Surr. 544.
Pa.—Yerkes v. Stetson, 13 Pa.Dist. 696, 30 Pa.Co. 429.

25. Fla.—Polk v. Chase Nat. Co., 162 So. 521, 120 Fla. 243—Goodrich v. Thompson, 118 So. 60, 96 Fla. 327—Quigley v. Cremin, 113 So. 892, 94 Fla. 104, modifying 109 So. 312.
Wis.—Caskey v. Peterson, 263 N.W. 658, 220 Wis. 690.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 59.

26. Fla.—Peacock v. City of Miami, 109 So. 458, 92 Fla. 360.

relating to service on defendants, other than by personal service, generally apply to infant defendants.[27]

As a prerequisite to service by publication, a sufficient[28] affidavit must be made showing the existence of facts authorizing recourse to that substitute for personal service.[29] Also there must be an order for such publication,[30] and publication must conform to the requirements of the law in such cases.[31]

While service by publication on nonresident infants may give jurisdiction to determine the title to infants' lands situated within the state, there is authority that with regard to lands situated in another state the court must obtain jurisdiction by personal service, and it cannot obtain jurisdiction by publication.[32]

(c) Effect of Failure to Serve

A judgment rendered against an infant who has not been served with process is not binding on him, but is erroneous and voidable on direct attack.

A judgment rendered against an infant who has not been served with process is not binding on him,[33] but is erroneous and voidable on direct attack.[34] There is authority that a judgment or decree rendered against or affecting the interests of an infant who has not been served with process is void,[35] especially where the infant was not represented by a guardian ad litem properly appointed;[36] but there is also authority to the effect that such lack of service does not render the judgment void, if the infant was represented in the proceeding by a guardian ad litem.[37] There is also authority that, although there is an absence of process, the appointment of, and appearance and defense by, a guardian ad litem is sufficient to protect the judgment as against a collateral attack.[38]

Curative statute. The legislature may, and sometimes does, declare valid judgments against infant defendants, not personally served.[39] Such statute cures a judgment against an infant not personally served but who was represented in the action by a guardian ad litem,[40] but it has no application where there has been no service on the infant or anyone representing him,[41] even though there are adult codefendants on whom proper service has been made.[42]

(3) On Parent, Guardian, Etc.

Service of process usually is required to be made on the parent, guardian, or person having custody of the infant, or with whom he resides, or in whose service he is employed.

It usually is required that, when an action is brought against an infant, process shall be served on the parent,[43] and, likewise, process shall be

Kan.—Hurd v. Baty, 88 P.2d 1031, 149 Kan. 665.
Tenn.—Smartt v. Smartt, 1 Tenn. App. 68.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 60.

27. Ky.—Bowles v. Bowles, 300 S. W. 880, 222 Ky. 325.
N.Y.—Lella v. Holman, 3 N.Y.S.2d 352, 166 Misc. 796.
Wis.—Caskey v. Peterson, 263 N.W. 658, 220 Wis. 690.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 61.
Nonresident minor motorist
The statutory designation of director of motor vehicles as attorney on whom process may be served in action against nonresident motorist is binding on minor nonresident motorist using highways of state, notwithstanding the general rule that delegation of power attempted by minor himself is void.—Silver Swan Liquor Corporation v. Adams, 110 P.2d 1097, 43 Cal.App.2d Supp. 851.

28. Kan.—Claypoole v. Houston, 12 Kan. 324.

29. Ind.—People v. Stanley, 6 Ind. 410.
N.Y.—Syracuse Sav. Bank v. Burton, 6 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 216.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 64.

30. Ala.—Woods v. Montevallo Coal & Transp. Co., 18 So. 108, 107 Ala. 364.
N.Y.—Moulton v. Moulton, 47 Hun 606, 13 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 420.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 65.

31. Ill.—McDermaid v. Russell, 41 Ill. 489.
N.Y.—Syracuse Sav. Bank v. Burton, 6 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 216.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 66.

32. Kan.—Terry v. Miller, 164 P. 151, 100 Kan. 324.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 69.

33. N.Y.—Smith v. Reid, 31 N.E. 1082, 134 N.Y. 568, affirming 11 N.Y.S. 739, 19 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 363.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 41.

34. Ala.—Garner v. Empire Land Co., 117 So. 64, 217 Ala. 528.
Tex.—Ginn v. Southwest Bitulithic Co., Civ.App., 149 S.W.2d 201, error dismissed, judgment correct—Pennebaker v. Thrash, Civ.App., 84 S.W.2d 1081, error dismissed—Perdue v. Miller, Civ.App., 64 S. W.2d 1002, error refused.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 42.

35. Cal.—Akley v. Bassett, 209 P. 576, 189 Cal. 625.
Ky.—May v. Sword, 33 S.W.2d 314, 236 Ky. 412.
N.Y.—Melnick v. Lazzo, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 43.

36. Ky.—Hulsewede v. Churchman, 63 S.W. 1, 111 Ky. 51, 23 Ky.L. 487.
N.C.—Gay v. Grant, 8 S.E. 99, 106, 101 N.C. 206.

37. Ala.—Jones v. Henderson, 153 So. 214, 228 Ala. 273.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 45.

38. Ky.—Ratliff v. Childers, 198 S. W. 718, 178 Ky. 102.

39. N.C.—Smith v. Gray, 21 S.E. 200, 116 N.C. 311.
31 C.J. p 1152 notes 48–50.

40. N.C.—Harris v. Bennett, 76 S.E. 217, 160 N.C. 339.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 48.

41. N.C.—Hughes v. Pritchard, 69 S. E. 3, 153 N.C. 135, 138 Am.S.R. 649.
31 C.J. p 1152 note 49.

42. N.C.—Hughes v. Pritchard, supra.

43. Cal.—Akley v. Bassett, 209 P. 576, 189 Cal. 625.
Kan.—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 26 P.2d 591, 138 Kan. 317—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 299 P. 627, 133 Kan. 262.
Ky.—Skidmore v. Napier, 166 S.W.2d 439, 292 Ky. 311—Cain v. Hall, 278 S.W. 152, 211 Ky. 817.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 328—Jacobson v. Krekell, 228 N.Y.S. 371, 223 App. Div. 440—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586—Melnick served on the guardian,[44] or person having custody of the infant[45] or with whom he resides[46] or in whose service he is employed,[47] if such person be resident within the state.[48] Ordinarily, however, the requirement of such service is limited to cases where the infant is under the age of fourteen years.[49] Where such a requirement exists, service on the infant personally is not alone sufficient,[50] unless none of the other persons against whom process is required to be served is in existence or can be found,[51] and there is authority that a judgment rendered without service on such persons is void.[52] However, there is also authority that, where personal service has been had on the infant and a guardian ad litem has been appointed who has answered for him, the failure to serve the father, mother, or guardian, cannot invalidate the judgment.[53] Service of process on such person usually is in addition to service on the infant;[54] however, in some jurisdictions personal service on infants un-

v. Lassio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791—McGrath v. Roefs, 196 N.Y.S. 891, 119 Misc. 641.
Tex.—Jameson v. Farmers' State Bank of Burkburnett, Civ.App., 299 S.W. 458, affirmed Farmers' State Bank of Burkburnett v. Jameson, Com.App., 11 S.W.2d 299, rehearing denied 16 S.W.2d 526.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 70.

Service on mother

Where the father is dead and there is no guardian, service is required to be made on the mother of the infant. —White v. White, 172 S.W.2d 72, 294 Ky. 563—Townsend v. Tipton, 160 S. W.2d 161, 289 Ky. 766—Cain v. Hall, 278 S.W. 152, 211 Ky. 817—Moseley v. Mayton, 245 S.W. 872, 196 Ky. 827 —31 C.J. p 1153 note 70 [a] (2), (3).

Adverse interest of parent

(1) Where the father is the plaintiff, and the infant has no guardian, service on the mother is required.—Lowe v. Taylor, 21 S.W.2d 284, 231 Ky. 273.

(2) Infant defendants were not properly before court by virtue of service on mother as statutory guardian, where she was plaintiff in action and occupying adverse position.—Rachford v. Rachford, 7 S.W. 2d 234, 224 Ky. 831.

(3) A summons for a minor defendant cannot be left with a parent who, although not a nominal complainant, is a party interested and benefited by the decree granting relief prayed in the bill.—Sharp v. Sharp, 164 N.E. 685, 333 Ill. 267—Manternach v. Studt, 82 N.E. 829, 230 Ill. 356.

(4) A decree in such a case has been held void for want of jurisdiction.—Sharp v. Sharp, supra.

(5) Other cases see 31 C.J. p 1153 note 70 [e].

Appointment nunc pro tunc of guardian ad litem for infant defendant did not cure jurisdictional defect existing by reason of failure to serve parent.—Ward v. Ward, 242 N. Y.S. 171, 136 Misc. 234.

Service beyond territorial jurisdiction

Service of summons beyond territorial jurisdiction of court on father of infant, a nonresident defendant, would not give court jurisdiction of infant.—Herr v. Humphrey, 126 S.W. 2d 809, 277 Ky. 421, 121 A.L.R. 954.

Service held insufficient

Service of summons on the father of a minor defendant for whom a guardian ad litem had been appointed to make defense was insufficient to give trial court jurisdiction over minor, where minor was not living with father and had not lived with him for several years.—Baker v. Boyd, 119 S.W.2d 524, 196 Ark. 563.

44. Cal.—Akley v. Bassett, 209 P. 576, 189 Cal. 625.
Fla.—Grimsley v. Rosenberg, 114 So. 553, 94 Fla. 673.
Ga.—Spooner v. Spooner, 172 S.E. 5, 178 Ga. 105.
Kan.—Hurd v. Baty, 88 P.2d 1031, 149 Kan. 665—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 26 P.2d 591, 138 Kan. 317—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 299 P. 627, 133 Kan. 262—Missouri State Life Ins. Co. v. Butts, 293 P. 499, 131 Kan. 775.
Miss.—Parker v. Smith, 117 So. 249, 150 Miss. 849.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Jacobson v. Krekell, 228 N.Y.S. 371, 223 App. Div. 440—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586—Melnick v. Lassio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791—McGrath v. Roefs, 196 N.Y. S. 891, 119 Misc. 641.
31 C.J. p 1153 note 71.
Necessity of service on guardian of infant under general guardianship see Guardian and Ward § 177.

45. Fla.—Grimsley v. Rosenberg, 114 So. 553, 94 Fla. 673.
Kan.—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 26 P.2d 591, 138 Kan. 317—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 299 P. 627, 133 Kan. 262.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Jacobson v. Krekell, 228 N.Y.S. 371, 223 App. Div. 440—McGrath v. Roefs, 196 N.Y.S. 891, 119 Misc. 641.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 72.

46. U.S.—Hatch v. Ferguson, C.C. Wash., 57 F. 966, affirmed 68 F. 43, 15 C.C.A. 201, 33 L.R.A. 759.
Kan.—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 26 P. 2d 591, 138 Kan. 317—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 299 P. 627, 133 Kan. 262.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Jacobson v. Krekell, 228 N.Y.S. 371, 223 App. Div. 440.

47. N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y. S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Jacobson v. Krekell, 228 N.Y.S. 371, 223 App. Div. 440.

48. N.C.—Ward v. Lowndes, 2 S.E. 591, 96 N.C. 367.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 74.

49. Ky.—White v. White, 172 S.W. 2d 72, 294 Ky. 563—Townsend v. Tipton, 160 S.W.2d 161, 289 Ky. 766 —Cain v. Hall, 278 S.W. 152, 211 Ky. 817.
Okl.—Babb v. National Life Ass'n, 86 P.2d 771, 184 Okl. 273.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 75.

50. Kan.—Hurd v. Baty, 88 P.2d 1031, 149 Kan. 665.
Ky.—Kitchens v. Edwards, 269 S.W. 1022, 207 Ky. 664.
N.Y.—Leahy v. Hardy, 232 N.Y.S. 543, 225 App.Div. 323—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586—Ward v. Ward, 242 N.Y.S. 171, 136 Misc. 234—McGrath v. Roefs, 196 N.Y.S. 891, 119 Misc. 641.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 76.

51. Okl.—Bolling v. Gibson, 128 P. 1093, 36 Okl. 678—Bolling v. Campbell, 128 P. 1091, 36 Okl. 671.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 77.

In Kentucky, where the persons enumerated in the statute cannot be served, it is proper to appoint a guardian ad litem on whom the service of process is made.—Brown v Allen, 194 S.W. 801, 175 Ky. 570—31 C.J. p 1154 note 77 [a].

52. Fla.—Grimsley v. Rosenberg, 114 So. 553, 94 Fla. 673.
Ky.—Townsend v. Tipton, 160 S.W 2d 161, 289 Ky. 766, 142 A.L.R. 306 —Lowe v. Taylor, 21 S.W.2d 284, 231 Ky. 273.
N.Y.—Issem v. Slater, 27 N.Y.S.2d 871, 262 App.Div. 59, reargument denied 29 N.Y.S.2d 505, 262 App. Div. 834, appeal dismissed 37 N.E. 2d 144, 286 N.Y. 703—Jacobson v. Krekell, 228 N.Y.S. 371, 223 App. Div. 440—Melnick v. Lassio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 78.

53. N.C.—Roseman v. Roseman, 37 S.E. 518, 127 N.C. 494.

54. Okl.—Taylor v. Scott, 200 P. 427, 83 Okl. 30.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 80.

der fourteen years of age is or may be dispensed with, service on the parent, guardian, or person having custody of the infant being in such case sufficient.[55]

The object of the service on the parent or guardian being simply notice, where there are several infant defendants, it is not necessary to serve the parent or guardian with a copy of the summons for each of the infants, but one copy served on him is sufficient;[56] and there is authority that, where the parent is plaintiff, he need not be served;[57] and where the parent, guardian, etc., is a codefendant it is not necessary that he should be served with a copy of the summons in addition to that served on him as a defendant in his own right.[58] However, there is also authority that it is necessary to serve on the parent or guardian a copy of the summons for the infant in addition to that served on him as defendant.[59]

(4) On Guardian ad Litem

The guardian ad litem should be served with the summons and complaint, and with notice of all proceedings in the case.

The guardian ad litem should be served with the summons and complaint,[60] and with notice of all proceedings in the case in which notice to parties is required.[61]

c. Acceptance or Acknowledgment of Service

An infant cannot accept or acknowledge service so as to bind himself; nor can any other person do so for him.

An infant cannot accept or acknowledge service so as to bind himself,[62] nor can any other person accept or acknowledge service for the infant,[63] although such person may accept service for himself in an action against the infant.[64]

d. Waiver

An infant cannot waive personal service of process; nor can any other person do so for him.

Where personal service of process on an infant is required he cannot waive such service,[65] as by voluntary appearance;[66] nor can any other person do so for him.[67] A guardian ad litem may waive

55. Ky.—Palmer v. Husbands, 119 S. W. 762, 134 Ky. 152.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 81.

56. Ark.—Leach v. Maxwell, 286 S. W. 1029, 171 Ark. 1188.
31 C.J. p 1154 note 82.

57. Cal.—Brown v. Lawson, 51 Cal. 615.
S.C.—Kennedy v. Williams, 38 S.E. 8, 59 S.C. 378.

58. Ark.—Leach v. Maxwell, 286 S. W. 1029, 171 Ark. 1188.
Ky.—Skidmore v. Napier, 166 S.W.2d 439, 292 Ky. 311—McComas v. Hull, 145 S.W.2d 841, 284 Ky. 654—Cain v. Hall, 278 S.W. 152, 211 Ky. 817.
Miss.—Baldwyn v. Thompson, 95 So. 835, 132 Miss. 125, overruling suggestion of error Baldwin v. Thompson, 95 So. 327.
Okl.—Babb v. National Life Ass'n, 86 P.2d 771, 773, 184 Okl. 273, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 84.

59. Ala.—Hodges v. Wise, 16 Ala. 509.
Kan.—Suter Bros. v. Hebert, 26 P.2d 591, 138 Kan. 317.
Wis.—Helms v. Chadbourne, 45 Wis. 60.

60. Ky.—Walker v. Perkins, 76 S.W. 2d 251, 256 Ky. 442.
Pa.—Minerd v. Minerd, 3 Fay.L.J. 180.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 86.

61. Ill.—Crane v. Stafford, 75 N.E. 424, 217 Ill. 21.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 87.

62. U.S.—Thomson v. Butler, C.C.A. Mo., 136 F.2d 644.
Ark.—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W.2d 310, 180 Ark. 41.
Ky.—Herr v. Humphrey, 126 S.W.2d 809, 810, 277 Ky. 421, 121 A.L.R. 954, citing Corpus Juris.
Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 88.
On attaining majority see infra subdivision h of this section.

63. U.S.—Thomson v. Butler, C.C.A. Mo., 136 F.2d 644.
Mo.—Kansas City, St. J. & C. B. R. Co. v. Campbell, 62 Mo. 585.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 89.

An attorney is unauthorized to acknowledge service for infant defendant.—Laute v. Gearhart, 165 A. 115, 11 N.J.Misc. 117, affirmed 170 A. 646, 112 N.J.Law 382.

Tutor ad hoc

An attorney appointed as a tutor ad hoc for minor defendants has been held authorized to accept service of petition for partition.—Powell v. Larance, 155 So. 13, 179 La. 751.

In partition proceeding, in which guardian ad litem was appointed for infant defendant, on petition of father with whom she resided, without notice to infant, and in which service on infant was accepted for her by her father, the court did not have jurisdiction over infant and could not compel successful bidder to accept property.—Lanham v. Bomar, 124 S. E. 635, 123 S.C. 483.

64. S.C.—Barrett v. Moise, 39 S.E. 755, 61 S.C. 569.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 90.

65. Ark.—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W. 2d 310, 180 Ark. 41.
Fla.—Wise v. Wise, 184 So. 91, 134 Fla. 553.
Ky.—Herr v. Humphrey, 126 S.W.2d 809, 810, 277 Ky. 421, 121 A.L.R. 954, citing Corpus Juris.
Ohio.—Templeman v. Hester, 29 N.E. 2d 216, 65 Ohio App. 62—Feigi v. Lopartkovich, 176 N.E. 670, 38 Ohio App. 338.
Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292—Johnson v. Moss, Civ. App., 108 S.W.2d 1110, error dismissed.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 92.
On attaining majority see infra subdivision h of this section.

66. Fla.—Wise v. Wise, 184 So. 91, 134 Fla. 553.
N.Y.—Melnick v. Lazzio, 293 N.Y.S. 261, 161 Misc. 791—McGrath v. Roefs, 196 N.Y.S. 891, 119 Misc. 641.
Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 93.

67. Fla.—Miles v. Miles, 158 So. 520, 117 Fla. 884.
Ohio.—Templeman v. Hester, 29 N.E. 2d 216, 65 Ohio App. 62—Feigi v. Lopartkovich, 176 N.E. 670, 38 Ohio App. 338.
Tex.—Wright v. Jones, Com.App., 52 S.W.2d 247, reversing, Civ.App., 33 S.W.2d 292.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 94.
Waiver by general guardian see Guardian and Ward § 178.

service on himself.[68]

An irregularity in the service of summons, which is not prejudicial, is waived when the infant defendant appears and answers, even though he appears and answers by guardian ad litem.[69]

e. Return

The return should show that the process has been duly executed.

The return should show that the process has been duly executed.[70] Thus it should show proper service on the infant.[71] If it is necessary to serve any person other than the infant, such service must also be shown,[72] and the return should show that the person served was the proper person under the statute;[73] and if service is not made on such person the return should show that there is no such person in the county,[74] or to be found, or, it has been held, that the infant is of age when the service on him alone is sufficient.[75]

Amendment. The return may be amended so as to show that proper service was actually made.[76]

False return. Where the court has otherwise jurisdiction in the absence of fraud or collusion on the part of the adult plaintiff or his attorney, the falsity of the return does not invalidate the judgment.[77]

Conclusiveness. A sheriff's return showing that infants were served is conclusive in the absence of fraud or mistake.[78]

f. Record of Service

The record should show affirmatively that process was duly served on the infant. A recital of service in the record is presumed to be true.

The record should show affirmatively that process was duly served on the infant,[79] and a recital of service in the record is presumed to be true;[80] but an infant defendant is at liberty to show that the service was not in fact made.[81] The failure of the record to show due service, it has been held, does not per se render the judgment or decree void.[82] If the record shows service on the infant, but does not show with whom he was residing, it may be presumed for the purpose of sustaining the jurisdiction that he was residing with his father.[83]

g. Conclusiveness of Service

If the court rendering the judgment is a court of general jurisdiction, as against a collateral attack, it will be presumed, unless expressly contrary to the record, that proper process was issued and served.

In accordance with the general rule stated in the C.J.S. title Judgments § 425, also 34 C.J. p 542 note 98, if the court rendering the judgment is a court of general jurisdiction, as against a collateral attack, it will be presumed, unless expressly contrary to what is shown by the record, that proper process was issued and served,[84] especially where the infant was represented by guardian ad litem.[85] Where the record shows that a guardian ad litem was ap-

In Louisiana

(1) There is authority that a curator ad hoc to represent absent minor defendants may waive citation.—Powell v. Larance, 155 So. 13, 179 La. 751—Brown v. Furlong, 117 So. 583, 166 La. 537.

(2) However, there is also authority that a curator ad hoc cannot waive citation.—Spears v. Spears, 136 So. 614, 173 La. 294—Haley v. Woods, 113 So. 144, 163 La. 911—Jacobs v. Kansas City, S. & G. R. Co., 64 So. 150, 134 La. 389—Walker v. Waller, 2 La.App. 781.

68. Ala.—Whitaker v. Patton, 1 Port. 9.

69. N.Y.—Thistle v. Thistle, 66 How. Pr. 472, 5 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 43.
N.C.—Turner v. Douglass, 72 N.C. 127.

70. Miss.—Culley v. Rhodes, 87 So. 136, 124 Miss. 640.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 98 [a].

71. Or.—Cobb v. Klosterman, 114 P. 96, 58 Or. 211.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 99.

72. Okl.—Bolling v. Campbell, 128 P. 1091, 36 Okl. 671, followed in Bolling v. Gibson, 128 P. 1093, 36 Okl. 678.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 2.

73. Iowa.—Allen v. Saylor, 14 Iowa 435.
Ky.—Jenkins v. Crofton, 9 S.W. 406, 10 Ky.L. 456.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 3.

74. Miss.—Erwin v. Carson, 54 Miss. 282.
Pa.—Girard L. Ins. Annuity & Trust Co. v. Farmers' & Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 57 Pa. 388.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 4.

75. Ohio.—Keys v. McDonald, 1 Handy 287, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 146.

76. Ky.—Moseley v. Mayton, 245 S. W. 872, 196 Ky. 827.
31 C.J. p 1155 note 7.

Where sheriff dead

Where a sheriff's return showed that summons issued for a minor defendant under fourteen years of age, whose father was dead, was served, not on her mother, but on the mother of other infant defendants, and the deputy sheriff who served the process was dead, it has been held that the defect could not be remedied by showing by affidavits that summons was in fact served on the mother of such infant.—Moseley v. Mayton, supra.

77. Ind.—Miedreich v. Lauenstein, 86 N.E. 963, 87 N.E. 1029, 172 Ind. 140.

78. Ky.—White v. White, 172 S.W. 2d 72, 294 Ky. 563.

79. Ala.—Bank of Luverne v. Turk, 133 So. 52, 222 Ala. 549.
Ark.—Ross v. Stroud, 291 S.W. 996, 173 Ark. 66.
31 C.J. p 1156 note 9.

80. N.Y.—Smith v. Reid, 31 N.E. 1082, 134 N.Y. 568, affirming 11 N.Y.S. 739, 19 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 363.
N.C.—Sledge v. Elliott, 21 S.E. 797, 116 N.C. 712.

81. Mo.—Little v. Browning, 230 S. W. 92, 287 Mo. 278.
N.Y.—Smith v. Reid, 31 N.E. 1082, 134 N.Y. 568, affirming 11 N.Y.S. 739, 19 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 363.

82. Ga.—Taliaferro v. Calhoun, 73 S. E. 675, 137 Ga. 417.

83. Cal.—Brown v. Lawson, 51 Cal. 615.
31 C.J. p 1156 note 13.

84. Ky.—May v. Sword, 33 S.W.2d 314, 236 Ky. 412.
La.—Mariana v. Eureka Homestead Soc., 158 So. 642, 181 La. 125.
31 C.J. p 1156 note 15.

85. Ill.—Horn v. Horn, 84 N.E. 904, 234 Ill. 268.
31 C.J. p 1156 note 16.

pointed and that he accepted the appointment and filed an answer, a recital in the decree that the cause was heard on an answer is conclusive as to the service of legal notice on the infant.[86] Where the record itself shows failure duly to serve the infant, the judgment may be collaterally attacked.[87] A recital in the decree to the effect that the infant defendant was served in the manner provided by law, with nothing in the record contradictory thereof, will control on appeal.[88]

h. Attainment of Majority pending Action

Service on an infant in such a manner as not to confer jurisdiction of him as an infant will not compel his appearance after arriving at majority. However, it is competent for him to acknowledge or waive process where he attains majority during the pendency of the action.

It has been held that service on an infant not conferring jurisdiction of him as such will not compel his appearance after arriving at majority.[89] However, it is competent for him to acknowledge or waive process where he attains majority during the pendency of the action.[90]

Under a statute providing that a judgment in ejectment is conclusive on the party against whom it is recovered, not under disability at the time of its recovery, it has been held that where a judgment in ejectment rendered in favor of an infant is reversed on appeal after he comes of age, but there is nothing in the record showing his appearance as an adult, the judgment is not conclusive against him.[91]

§ 116. Pleading

a. In general

b. Allegations concerning particular matters

c. Verification of pleadings

d. Issues, proof, and variance

a. In General

(1) Of, or on behalf of, infant plaintiff

(2) Of, or on behalf of, infant defendant

(3) Of party adverse to infant

(1) Of, or on Behalf of, Infant Plaintiff

In a bill or complaint by, or on behalf of, an infant it is necessary to state a cause of action; and even though the suit is brought by a next friend, indebtedness or liability to the infant, rather than the next friend, should be averred. An amendment available to any party as a matter of right should not be denied an infant plaintiff.

A cause of action must be stated in a bill or complaint by a minor.[92] Where the suit is brought by next friend the declaration should allege the indebtedness or liability of defendant to the infant and not to the next friend as such.[93] In a suit by an infant to recover back money obtained from him, it is not necessary to make any other than the general allegations of damage to plaintiff.[94] It is error to disallow to an infant plaintiff an amendment which is available to any party as a matter of right.[95] Protection by court of interests of infant party regardless of pleadings see supra § 105.

(2) Of, or on Behalf of, Infant Defendant

(a) Necessity of answer or defense

86. Ark.—Beddinger v. Smith, 13 S. W. 734.

87. U.S.—New York L. Ins. Co. v. Bangs, Minn., 103 U.S. 435, 26 L. Ed. 580.
31 C.J. p 1156 note 18.

88. Ark.—Price v. Hartsell, 205 S. W. 829, 135 Ark. 440.

89. Ga.—Wheeler v. Martin, 88 S.E. 951, 145 Ga. 164—Welch v. Agar, 11 S.E. 149, 84 Ga. 583, 20 Am.S.R. 380.
N.Y.—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586.

Legal service or voluntary appearance necessary

Where action was pending when defendant, who was a minor when action was commenced, became an adult, relief could not be granted to plaintiff unless and until trial court obtained jurisdiction over defendant's person by legal service of summons on defendant, or by defendant's voluntarily submitting to trial court's jurisdiction by entering his appearance.—Templeman v. Hester, 29 N.E. 2d 216, 65 Ohio App. 62.

90. La.—Eureka Homestead Soc. v. Sladovich, 108 So. 477, 161 La. 265.
N.Y.—Pacilio v. Scarpati, 300 N.Y.S. 473, 165 Misc. 586.
Ohio.—Templeman v. Hester, 29 N.E. 2d 216, 65 Ohio App. 62—Hobert v. Francis, 178 N.E. 715, 40 Ohio App. 491.
31 C.J. p 1157 note 47.

91. Tenn.—Boro v. Harris, 13 Lea 36.

92. Bill against two defendants

A bill by a minor buyer of automobile against seller of automobile and third person to whom seller sold automobile which buyer traded in, for damages resulting from seller's alleged fraudulent statement that automobile was in first-class running condition, and for rescission and cancellation of contract of sale, and for return of automobile traded in, was properly dismissed as to third person, in absence of allegation that third person had acted fraudulently, or had knowledge of alleged fraud practiced on minor, or that third person was other than innocent purchaser.—Russell v. Donaldson, 195 So. 198, 142 Fla. 394.

Cause of action against employer stated

A complaint alleging that plaintiff, a minor, was emancipated in that he was entirely free, received his own pay, paid his own bills, and supported himself without any contribution from his father, and alleging that plaintiff's employer wrongfully turned over deductions from his wages to third party who had demised certain farm lands to father, stated cause of action against employer.—Zozaski v. Mather Stock Car Co., 26 N.E.2d 663, 304 Ill.App. 459.

93. W.Va.—Shirley v. Bonham, 5 W. Va. 501.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 64.

94. Mass.—Kellogg v. Kimball, 122 Mass. 168.

95. Ga.—Kanes v. Merchants' & Mechanics' Banking & Loan Co., 168 S.E. 560, 176 Ga. 684.

(b) Duty and authority to answer or defend

(c) Form and sufficiency of answer or demurrer

(a) Necessity of Answer or Defense

Ordinarily, it is considered irregular and erroneous to hear a case and render judgment against an infant defendant without the prior filing in his behalf of a proper answer interposing whatever defense he may have; and where a judgment is so rendered, it may be opened or set aside in a proper proceeding for that purpose; but the defect is not jurisdictional and does not render the judgment absolutely void.

Where there is an infant defendant, the case is not at issue,[96] and cannot properly and regularly be heard,[97] until an answer or plea has been interposed on his behalf; but there are cases in which an answer on behalf of an infant has been held to be not necessary, as in a partition case,[98] where the infant properly unites as plaintiff in an action or proceeding to partition his real estate,[99] or in some jurisdictions, by force of statute, where the guardian ad litem is unable to make any defense and reports his inability so to do.[1]

It is irregular and erroneous to render a judgment or decree against an infant defendant without a proper answer, interposing whatever defense he may have, having been previously filed in his behalf;[2] and where a judgment or decree is so rendered, it may be opened or set aside in a proper proceeding for that purpose.[3] However, if the infant is properly before the court the defect is not jurisdictional;[4] it does not render the judgment absolutely void,[5] but it is voidable only,[6] and, being a mere irregularity, the judgment will not be vacated or set aside unless there is a sufficient showing that there is a defense to the action.[7] The judgment or decree will not be disturbed by reason of the fact that the guardian ad litem did not make an active defense, so long as the facts on which the defense rested were fairly before the court.[8] Judicial protection of interests of infant party regardless of pleadings is considered supra § 105.

Defense to cross complaint. The necessity of a material and substantial defense for an infant applies to the defense of a cross complaint in an action by the infant.[9]

(b) Duty and Authority to Answer or Defend

A guardian ad litem not only may file an answer for the ward, but it is his duty to do so and to make such defense as is necessary to protect the rights and interests of the ward. If an infant defendant comes of age during the pendency of the action, he is thenceforth entitled to manage his own defense.

It is the duty of a guardian ad litem to make proper defense for his ward;[10] and the court may[11] and should[12] compel him so to do. While a guardian ad litem is not required to make a defense not founded in fact[13] or law,[14] and he is not warranted in interposing useless or vexatious defenses,[15] it is his duty to make such defense as the exercise of care may dictate[16] and as may be necessary to protect the rights and interests of the ward,[17] and to make the defense in the interest of his infant ward as vigorous as the nature of the case will admit.[18]

The control of the defense by the guardian ad

96. Ill.—Illinois Valley Bank v. Newman, 184 N.E. 636, 351 Ill. 380.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 68.

97. Ala.—Howell v. Randle, 54 So. 563, 171 Ala. 451.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 9.

98. N.Y.—Bogert v. Bogert, 45 Barb. 121.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 70 [a].

99. Ky.—Shelby v. Harrison, 84 Ky. 144.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 71.

1. Ky.—Ramsey v. Keith, 76 S.W. 142, 25 Ky.L. 582.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 72.

2. Ark.—Arkansas Trust Co. v. Sims, 133 S.W.2d 854, 198 Ark. 1143—Baker v. Boyd, 119 S.W.2d 524, 196 Ark. 563.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 10.

3. Ark.—Arkansas Trust Co. v. Sims, 133 S.W.2d 854, 198 Ark. 1143.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 11.

4. Ill.—Goudy v. Hall, 36 Ill. 313, 87 Am.D. 217.
Kan.—Swartwood v. Sage, 75 P. 508, 68 Kan. 817.

5. Ark.—Arkansas Trust Co. v. Sims, 133 S.W.2d 854, 198 Ark. 1143.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 13.

6. Ark.—Arkansas Trust Co. v. Sims, supra.
Ky.—Harrod v. Harrod, 180 S.W. 797, 167 Ky. 308.

7. Iowa.—Reints v. Engle, 107 N. W. 947, 130 Iowa 726.

8. Iowa.—Harris v. Bigley, 111 N. W. 432, 136 Iowa 307.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 16.

9. Ky.—Whalen v. Hopper, 154 S. W. 40, 152 Ky. 727.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 73.

10. Mo.—Kennard v. Wiggins, 160 S.W.2d 706, 349 Mo. 283, certiorari denied Wiggins v. Kennard, 63 S. Ct. 47, 317 U.S. 652, 87 L.Ed. 524—Spotts v. Spotts, 55 S.W.2d 977, 331 Mo. 917, 87 A.L.R. 660.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 78.
Duties of guardian ad litem generally see supra § 111.

11. Ind.—Richards v. Richards, 17 Ind. 636.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 79.

12. Ky.—Henly v. Gore, 4 Dana 133.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 80.

13. Ark.—Price v. Hartsell, 205 S. W. 829, 135 Ark. 440.

14. Ill.—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N. E. 393, 331 Ill. 420.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 1.

15. Ill.—Tymony v. Tymony, supra—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill.App. 209.

16. Ill.—Millage v. Noble, 166 N.E. 50, 334 Ill. 315—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N.E. 393, 331 Ill. 420.

17. Ill.—Tymony v. Tymony, supra—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill.App. 209.

18. Ill.—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N. E. 393, 331 Ill. 420.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 24.

litem is not complete,[19] and the court should not, in the decree appointing him, authorize him to file whatever pleadings he may deem proper.[20] It is the duty of a guardian ad litem to file an answer to protect the minor's interest;[21] and it has been held to be the duty of the complainant to see that a guardian ad litem interposes an answer for his ward.[22] Where a guardian ad litem has been appointed the answer of an infant defendant may only be interposed by him.[23] While a guardian ad litem does not perform his duty by perfunctorily filing a formal answer for his ward and then abandoning the case,[24] he may do so by filing a general denial and orally advising the court of the facts as disclosed by his investigation, without offering contesting proof where none is available to him.[25]

Time to plead. A rule of court limiting the time within which dilatory pleas may be filed, when applied to action against an infant defending by guardian ad litem, should be so construed or extended as at least to allow the guardian to file such a plea within the time limited after his appointment.[26] Where a guardian ad litem was appointed for an infant defendant but had neither knowledge nor notice of the appointment until after final judgment had been recovered and entered in the case, and on learning of his appointment he promptly applied for leave to answer, such leave should be granted unless plaintiff consents to strike out the infant's name as a party to the action.[27]

Where infant defendant comes of age during the pendency of the action, he is entitled personally to manage his own defense.[28] He may disregard the answer set up for him by his guardian ad litem, and file an entirely new answer for himself,[29] or have the former answer amended;[30] but after decree or judgment he cannot file a defendant's pleading.[31]

(c) Form and Sufficiency of Answer or Demurrer

The answer of a guardian ad litem in behalf of an infant defendant may and should be so framed as to let in every defense to which the infant is entitled and to deny, or request proof of, every material allegation of the complaint which is prejudicial to the infant.

Infants answering by guardian ad litem may deny generally the allegations of the complaint or petition,[32] or they may answer specially,[33] or they may even adopt an answer already on file.[34] It has been said to be irregular practice for a guardian ad litem to join in an answer with other defendants;[35] but it has been held that where infant defendant has no special or separate defense, no separate answer is necessary, and joinder in the general answer of defendants is sufficient.[36] The answer must be that of the infant himself, and not the personal answer of the guardian ad litem.[37] It should set up every defense to which the infant is entitled,[38] and it should deny every material allegation of the complaint prejudicial to the infant,[39] or at least call

19. R.I.—Stanton v. Sullivan, 4 A. 2d 269, 62 R.I. 154—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.
Powers of guardian ad litem generally see supra § 111.

20. R.I.—Stanton v. Sullivan, 4 A. 2d 269, 62 R.I. 154.
Protection of infant's interest by court see supra § 105.

21. N.C.—Deal v. Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., 11 S.E.2d 464, 218 N.C. 483.

22. Ala.—Roach v. Hix, 57 Ala. 576.

23. Del.—Bancroft v. Bancroft, 85 A. 561, 27 Del. 9.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 82.

24. Ill.—McCarthy v. Cain, 134 N.E. 62, 301 Ill. 534.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 95.

25. Iowa.—Stephens v. Wood, 195 N. W. 239, 196 Iowa 1394.

26. Vt.—Fall River Foundry Co. v. Doty, 42 Vt. 412.

27. N.Y.—Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Erie R. Co., 9 Abb.N.Cas. 264.

28. N.Y.—In re Rouse, 119 N.Y.S. 34—Dow v. Dow, 21 N.Y.S. 487, 66 Hun 631, affirming 18 N.Y.S. 222, 63 Hun 622.
31 C.J. p 1157 note 39.

29. Ky.—Shields v. Bryant, 2 A.K. Marsh. 342.
N.M.—Thompson v. Maxwell Land Grant & Ry. Co., 6 P. 193, 3 N.M. 269.

30. U.S.—Erie R. Co. v. Fritsch, C. C.A.N.J., 72 F.2d 766, 767, citing Corpus Juris.
Va.—Winston v. Campbell, 4 Hen. & M. 477, 14 Va. 477.

31. Md.—Tessier v. Wyse, 3 Bland 28.

32. Okl.—Sims v. Hedges, 123 P. 155, 32 Okl. 683.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 84.

33. N.Y.—Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Reid, 3 Edw. 414.
Answer held to allege facts warranting relief
Ala.—First Nat. Bank v. Robertson, 127 So. 221, 220 Ala. 654.

34. N.C.—White v. Morris, 12 S.E. 80, 107 N.C. 92.

35. Mich.—Wood v. Truax, 39 Mich. 628.

36. Cal.—Western Lumber Co. v. Phillips, 29 P. 328, 94 Cal. 54.

37. Miss.—Bull v. Dagenhard, 55 Miss. 602.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 89.

Signature
(1) The signature to an answer consisting of the name of the guardian ad litem, followed by the words "guardian ad litem," was, when considered with the contents of the answer, held not to be the signature of a person in his individual, rather than his representative, capacity.—Sinnett v. Goff, 109 S.E. 820, 89 W. Va. 629.

(2) Where a guardian ad litem did not sign his answer, but it was verified and filed and treated as properly drawn, this was a mere irregularity not affecting the title of a purchaser in the proceedings.—Rieman v. Von Kapff, 25 A. 387, 76 Md. 417.

38. Okl.—Iowa Land & Trust Co. v. Dawson, 134 P. 39, 37 Okl. 593.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 97.

39. Ala.—Howell v. Randle, 54 So. 563, 171 Ala. 451.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 96.
This requirement is statutory in some states.—Morgan v. Stocks, 122 S.W.2d 953, 197 Ark. 868.
Admission or agreement to demands
(1) Where plaintiff claimed rights as against interests of minor defendant, guardian ad litem for the minor for strict proof.[40] Indeed, it has been stated to be the duty of the guardian to deny all allegations of the complaint and require strict proof thereof.[41] The answer of an infant by his guardian cannot be excepted to for insufficiency.[42]

Formal answer. In some cases it has been the practice to file a mere formal answer disclaiming all knowledge or information with respect to the matters alleged in the complaint, and requiring strict proof thereof and invoking the protection of the court.[43] This formal answer submits the infant to the care and protection of the court,[44] stands as a denial so as to put the complainant on proof of all the material allegations of his bill,[45] and is sufficient to let in any defense to which the infant appears entitled by the evidence.[46] Such an answer, however, has in some cases been disapproved.[47]

Demurrer. The common law gave an infant the right to resort to his parol demurrer,[48] which was not properly a demurrer at all, but rather a stay or suspension of proceedings in the action during the nonage of the infant.[49] In one state, the common law rule has in effect been preserved by statute,[50] but in most states is now obsolete.[51] Obviously, where the petition is good as against a demurrer, the defense of an infant should be made by answer and not by demurrer.[52]

(3) Of Party Adverse to Infant

In an action against an infant, the bill, petition, or complaint must, of course, state a cause of action; and in an action by an infant, it is incumbent on defendant to plead such claims or defenses as he wishes to assert.

In an action by an infant to rescind the purchase of an automobile, no recovery can be had by defendant for deterioration of the automobile,[53] or for the reasonable value of its use,[54] while it was in plaintiff's possession, where he has not pleaded such claim. So, too, a claim by defendant that the return of the automobile did not restore him to his original position is a purely defensive matter and is properly raised only in the answer.[55] In an action by a minor to recover a down payment made on the purchase price of real estate on the ground that he has repudiated the purchase, an affidavit of defense is sufficient to prevent summary judgment where it avers that the minor has no interest in the contract, the purchase having been made by another person acting for plaintiff's parents, and the money involved, although in an account carried in the name of the minor, having been deposited in the account by the parents to prevent its being attached on a judgment owing to a third person.[56]

Action for personal injuries. In an action against a child to recover damages for personal injuries, a petition alleging that the child is incapable of negligence because of his tender years does not state a cause of action.[57] Where the institution or maintenance of a suit by an infant to recover damages for personal injuries amounts to a repudiation and disaffirmance of a contract of settlement, a plea in such suit which merely sets up the contract of settlement in accord and satisfaction of plaintiff's claim, and does not allege that the infant has not dissipated and squandered the consideration of the contract and is able to restore, and has not restored, it, is insufficient.[58]

On the foreclosure of a mortgage against infant wrongfully agreed by answer to the demands of plaintiff.—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill.App. 209.

(2) However, filing of answer by guardian ad litem, admitting truth of certain allegations in answer and cross petition of another defendant, does not render judgment void, although it does constitute an irregularity.—Thomas v. Monroe, 65 P.2d 1008, 179 Okl. 416.

(3) Admissions by guardian ad litem generally see supra § 111.

40. Fla.—Mote v. Morton, 41 So. 607, 52 Fla. 548.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 98.

41. Ark.—Sager v. American Inv. Co., 280 S.W. 654, 170 Ark. 568.

42. N.Y.—Leggett v. Sellon, 3 Paige 84.

43. Ohio.—Wood v. Butler, 23 Ohio St. 520.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 2.

Custom

The rights of an infant respondent are customarily submitted to protection of court by suitable answer filed by guardian, which puts opposing party on his proof and allows guardian to avail himself of every defense of law and fact open to infant.—Stanton v. Sullivan, 4 A. 2d 269, 62 R.I. 154.

44. Miss.—Price v. Crone, 44 Miss. 571.
Mo.—Beach v. Lynn, 252 S.W. 437, 299 Mo. 127.

45. Miss.—Gregory v. Orr, 61 Miss. 307.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 4.

46. S.C.—Boozer v. Teaque, 3 S.E. 551, 27 S.C. 348.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 5.

47. Me.—Tucker v. Bean, 65 Me. 352.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 6.

48. Ill.—Enos v. Cappa, 15 Ill. 277.
31 C.J. p 1178 note 74.

49. Black L.D.

50. Md.—Tise v. Shaw, 11 A. 363, 582, 68 Md. 1.

51. Cal.—Joyce v. McAvoy, 31 Cal. 273, 89 Am.D. 172.
31 C.J. p 1158 note 75.

52. Kan.—Crawford v. Firmin, 59 P.2d 27, 144 Kan. 270.

53. Wis.—Schoenung v. Gallet, 238 N.W. 852, 206 Wis. 52, 78 A.L.R. 387.

54. Or.—Blomquist v. Jennings, 250 P. 1101, 119 Or. 691.
Wis.—Schoenung v. Gallet, 238 N.W. 852, 206 Wis. 52, 78 A.L.R. 387.

55. Conn.—Creer v. Active Automobile Exch., 121 A. 888, 99 Conn. 266.

56. Pa.—Eckstein v. Ignasiak, 24 Erie Co. 1.

57. Ga.—Davis v. Gavalas, 139 S.E. 577, 37 Ga.App. 242.

58. Ga.—Tharpe v. Cudahy Packing Co., 4 S.E.2d 49, 60 Ga.App. 449.

defendants the complaint must allege the requisite facts to show what are the interests of the infants in the premises.[59]

After attainment of majority. The fact that an infant defendant attains majority during the pendency of the suit does not render a supplemental bill necessary unless his interest in the suit is changed by that event.[60] Where a late infant cannot recover what he has paid or parted with, where the transaction was fair and reasonable and the other party has acted bona fide, without deducting the benefits derived by the infant from the consideration received by him, as considered supra § 75, it is not necessary for defendant to plead in his answer the provident character of the transaction, or that there was no fraud.[61]

b. Allegations Concerning Particular Matters

(1) Lack of jurisdiction
(2) Infancy and representation of infant
(3) Disaffirmance or ratification of transaction
(4) Necessaries

(1) Lack of Jurisdiction

Statutes prescribing the mode and time of raising objections to the jurisdiction of the court apply to infants.

Infants must raise objections to the jurisdiction of the court in the mode and time prescribed by statute the same as adults.[62]

(2) Infancy and Representation of Infant

Infancy and matters in avoidance of an allegation or plea of infancy are to be pleaded, infancy as a defense being waived when not pleaded. Also, the proper representation of an infant party is to be pleaded; but defective allegations in this regard may not be fatal, and objections thereto are waived when not presented by special demurrer.

The petition or complaint in an action by an infant should allege his infancy,[63] his representation by guardian ad litem or next friend,[64] and, where an appointment is necessary, the due appointment of the person acting in that capacity,[65] or where, under statute, some other fact, such as the lack of a legal guardian, is necessary, the existence of such fact.[66] Although the age of the infant need not be set out,[67] it is proper for the complaint or declaration to allege the age of the infant in order to prove the right to sue in such manner.[68] It has been held that if defendant would deny the infancy of plaintiff suing by guardian he must plead in abatement;[69] but it has also been held that where the complaint alleges that plaintiff is an infant, an answer attempting to set up the affirmative defense of a release is insufficient unless it contains an allegation that plaintiff is not an infant.[70]

Where a statutory proceeding to relieve a minor of the disabilities of nonage is relied on to authorize a suit against the minor, it should be specifically pleaded by setting out the proceeding in the bill, or by attaching a copy thereof as an exhibit, so that the court on examination of the bill may determine the right of complainant to proceed without the appointment of a guardian ad litem to represent the minor.[71] Averments as to such matters based on information and belief are not permissible.[72] The

59. N.Y.—Aldrich v. Lapham, 6 How.Pr. 129, Code Rep.,N.S., 408.

60. N.Y.—Campbell v. Bowne, 5 Paige 34.

61. Minn.—Berglund v. American Multigraph Sales Co., 160 N.W. 191, 135 Minn. 67.

62. Tenn.—Boyd v. Martin, 9 Heisk. 382.
63. Mo.—Taylor v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., App., 257 S.W. 511.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 18.

Allegation that plaintiff was not "sui juris," may, when considered with the context, be so qualified as not to be an allegation that plaintiff had not attained majority.—Brown v. Federal Land Bank of Columbia, 168 S.E. 775, 176 Ga. 670.

64. Rule of court, authorized by, and having the effect of, a statute, respecting the entitling of the suit and allegations as to the representative, should be followed.—Garmella v. Woodlawn Farm Dairy Co., 44 Lack.Jur., Pa., 31, 56 York Leg.Rec. 212.

Allegations held sufficient

Ala.—Sovereign Camp, W. O. W., v. Reed, 94 So. 910, 208 Ala. 457.

Del.—Spooner v. Delaware, L. & W. R. Co., 1 N.Y.St. 558, affirmed 21 N. E. 696, 115 N.Y. 22.

65. Mo.—Rogers v. Marsh, 73 Mo. 64.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 21.

Qualification

In action by mother on behalf of her minor daughter, where petition failed to allege that mother qualified as tutrix, an exception of want of capacity was properly maintained. —Coignard v. F. W. Woolworth & Co., La.App., 175 So. 123.

66. Tex.—Spears Dairy v. Davis, Civ.App., 124 S.W.2d 159.

67. Iowa.—Stewart v. Chadwick, 8 Iowa 463.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 22.

68. Cal.—Todd v. Orcutt, 183 P. 963, 42 Cal.App. 687.

Marital status

Petition in personal injury suit by minor, suing by next friend, was not demurrable for failure to allege that minor was unmarried female, where petition showed that minor was female aged thirteen and was in school.—Sheffield v. Lovering, 180 S. E. 523, 51 Ga.App. 353.

69. Del.—Graham v. Cain, 2 Del. 97.

70. N.Y.—Pollack v. Court Taxi Service, 237 N.Y.S. 229, 227 App. Div. 805.

Allegation construed

In infant's personal injury action, wherein infant disaffirms a contract of settlement with defendant by instituting or maintaining the suit; an allegation in the plea or answer that settlement was made when infant was a "small child" was equivalent to an allegation that plaintiff at the time was an infant.—Tharpe v. Cudahy Packing Co., 4 S.E.2d 49, 60 Ga.App. 449.

71. Ala.—Garth v. Ewing, 117 So. 665, 218 Ala. 143.

72. Ala.—Garth v. Ewing, supra.

answer of an infant by a guardian ad litem should at least recite the appointment of the guardian ad litem,[73] and disclose for whom the appointment was made.[74]

Defective or improper allegations concerning representation of a minor in an action prosecuted for him by another person are not necessarily fatal, as the defects therein may be cured by verdict,[75] part thereof may be treated as surplusage, and the remainder may show proper representation,[76] or defendant may not be denied the right to offer any evidence he has in defense or be surprised by any evidence offered under plaintiff's pleading.[77] The fact of adequate representation is more important than the characterization thereof in a pleading.[78] An objection that a pleading of a minor shows on its face that the person representing him is not the kind of representative required by statute may be raised by demurrer,[79] and when not raised in apt time it is waived.[80] The failure of the representative to allege his right, under the statutes, to represent the minor on account of the latter having no legal guardian may[81] and must[82] be taken advantage of by special demurrer, and is waived by a general demurrer.[83] So, also, where it appears from the substance of the suit that it is brought by a minor through another person as next friend, failure to employ the regular and technical form of pleading to manifest this fact does not render the petition subject to general demurrer.[84]

Infancy as defense. Infancy is a special,[85] personal,[86] and affirmative[87] defense which ordinarily must be pleaded,[88] and which is waived if not pleaded.[89] In a state, however, where the practice does not permit a reply or replication, minority, as a defense to an averment of set-off and avoidance contained in the answer, is open to plaintiff without being pleaded.[90]

Infancy is not a dilatory plea.[91] Defendant has a right to plead that he was an infant at the time of signing the note sued on;[92] and this right is not lost because the person possessing it is sued together with other persons liable;[93] but a joint plea of the infancy of one defendant in an action on a joint and several bond is bad on demurrer.[94] An allegation that at the time of the transaction defendant was an infant is sufficient without alleging that the transaction was voidable.[95] In a suit on a note or check where the plea of infancy is set up it is not necessary to negative that it was given for necessaries, or that the infant was practicing a profession or trade,[96] nor is it necessary to allege disaffirmance or lack of ratification, as considered in-

73. Ga.—Nicholson v. Wilborn, 13 Ga. 467.
31 C.J. p 1159 note 90.

74. Cal.—Newman v. Maldonado, 30 P. 833, 3 Cal.Unrep.Cas. 540.

75. Tex.—Gulf, C. & S. F. R. Co. v. Reagan, Civ.App., 34 S.W. 796.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 19 [c].

76. Mo.—State ex rel. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Cox, 267 S.W. 382, 306 Mo. 27—Taylor v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., App., 257 S.W. 511.

77. Tex.—Spears Dairy v. Davis, Civ.App., 124 S.W.2d 159.

78. Miss.—Hill v. Ouzts, 200 So. 254, 190 Miss. 341.

79. Ark.—Cannon v. Price, 150 S.W. 2d 755, 202 Ark. 464.
S.D.—Olsen v. Steele, 215 N.W. 531, 51 S.D. 505.

80. Ark.—Cannon v. Price, 150 S.W. 2d 755, 202 Ark. 464.

81. Ga.—Foster v. Wood, 137 S.E. 847, 36 Ga.App. 734.

82. Ky.—Bartley v. Bigford, 268 S. W. 820, 207 Ky. 48.

83. Ky.—Bartley v. Bigford, supra.

84. Ga.—Spencer v. Peace, 156 S.E. 729, first case, 42 Ga.App. 516, followed in 156 S.E. 729 (second case), 42 Ga.App. 517—Vale Royal Mfg. Co. v. Bradley, 70 S.E. 36, 8 Ga.App. 483.

85. Ala.—Maness v. Woodall, 148 So. 744, 227 Ala. 38.

86. Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.
S.C.—McCoy v. Provident Life Ins. Co., 153 S.E. 468, 156 S.C. 496.

87. Mass.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N.E. 477, 271 Mass. 302.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 40.

88. Ala.—Maness v. Woodall, 148 So. 744, 227 Ala. 38—Sanders v. Williams, 50 So. 893, 163 Ala. 451.
Tenn.—Homer v. Duncan, 7 Tenn. App. 674.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 40.

Time to plead

(1) It is proper to refuse to permit a plea of infancy to be interposed after the close of the evidence. —Forrestell v. Wood, Md., 23 A. 133.

(2) Where an infant has signed a mortgage, the proper time to plead infancy to avoid it is in the action of foreclosure, and he can have no relief in an independent action after foreclosure on the sole ground of infancy when he executed the mortgage.—Hunter v. Bearn, 3 Ky.L. 327.

Pleading in cross complaint under one cover with answer

Defense of minority was sufficiently pleaded, although set forth only in cross complaint, where answer and cross complaint were filed under one cover.—Maddox v. Hamp Williams Hardware Co., 26 S.W.2d 85, 181 Ark. 403.

89. Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.
S.C.—McCoy v. Provident Life Ins. Co., 153 S.E. 468, 156 S.C. 496.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 41.

Estoppel

Defendant, proceeding to trial with able counsel's assistance and submitting cause to court and jury on merits, is estopped to set up defense of infancy.—Steelman v. Gilbert, 186 A. 47, 14 N.J.Misc. 490.

90. La.—Nichols v. Tall Timber Lumber Co. of Louisiana, App., 145 So. 691.

91. Ill.—Greer v. Wheeler, 2 Ill. 554.

92. N.J.—Camden Commercial College v. Piper, 137 A. 555, 5 N.J. Misc. 535.

93. Nev.—W. M. Barnett Bank v. Chiatovich, 232 P. 206, 48 Nev. 319.

94. N.J.—Bordentown Tp. v. Wallace, 11 A. 267, 50 N.J.Law 13.

95. Ky.—Stern v. Freeman, 4 Metc. 309.

96. Ga.—Medders v. Baxley Banking Co., 88 S.E. 407, 17 Ga.App. 730.

fra, subdivision b (3) of this section, or to plead a tender of the consideration received.[97]

Matter in avoidance of a plea of infancy must be pleaded in the replication in an action at law.[98] Estoppel to assert the defense of infancy must be specifically pleaded.[99]

Concealment or misrepresentation of age. In an action by an infant, defendant may plead that the infant fraudulently represented his age and thereby induced the contract in question;[1] but such a plea is insufficient where it does not allege that the infant intended that defendant act on the misrepresentation[2] and that defendant did so act.[3] Where plaintiff alleges that defendant concealed his infancy at the time of the transaction on which the action is based, a denial by defendant that he concealed his infancy is not a good plea, but if he notified plaintiff of his infancy he should plead such notice affirmatively.[4]

(3) Disaffirmance or Ratification of Transaction

Disaffirmance or ratification may be pleaded; but ratification need not be alleged in the initial pleading based on the contract or transaction, as distinguished from the pleading opposing a claim or plea of infancy; and there is some divergence of authority as to whether disaffirmance must be specially pleaded.

The avoidance of a transaction by an infant may,[5] and, according to some authorities, must,[6] be specially pleaded to avail a party affected thereby. However, it has been held that, when a minor conveys land, and, after attaining majority, brings an action of ejectment to recover it, it is not necessary to set out in the petition a disaffirmance of the conveyance.[7] Also, in an action on a note and for the price of goods sold and delivered, it is sufficient for defendant to plead infancy and that the goods sold and for which the note was given were not necessaries without alleging his disaffirmance or lack of ratification of the contract.[8] A pleaded defense that plaintiff never disaffirmed his contracts or acts is sham and insufficient in law where it is admitted that, shortly after plaintiff attained majority, he disaffirmed by notice in writing and defendant received such notice.[9]

In an action to enforce rights under a transaction entered into while an infant, it is not necessary that plaintiff should expressly allege ratification.[10] A transaction which has been ratified may be declared on without noticing the ratification.[11] Where infancy is pleaded by defendant the facts constituting ratification are in avoidance of the plea and ordinarily must be introduced into the pleadings, in actions at law, by a replication;[12] but where a code provision dispenses with a reply except where a counterclaim or set-off is pleaded in the answer, plaintiff may prove a ratification without alleging it in a reply or an amended petition.[13] In an action by a late infant to recover back a consideration paid by him, defendant may plead ratifica-

97. N.Y.—Leaman v. Schell, 39 N.Y.S.2d 417, 265 App.Div. 1041, appeal withdrawn 41 N.Y.S.2d 205, 266 App.Div. 662.

98. Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 232 P. 531, 72 Mont. 166.

99. Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., supra.

1. N.Y.—Chasser v. Hutton, 248 N.Y.S. 136, 139 Misc. 623.

2. Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 160 So. 761, 235 Ala. 275.

3. Ala.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, supra.

4. Ky.—Adam Roth Grocery Co. v. Hopkins, 29 S.W. 293, 16 Ky.L. 678.

5. Complaint for rescission held to state cause of action
Or.—Blomquist v. Jennings, 250 P. 1101, 119 Or. 691.

Equity of bill
(1) Bill of infant to set aside settlement of claim for wrongful death for administrator's fraud presented ground for equitable relief.—Irwin v. Alabama Fuel & Iron Co., 110 So. 566, 215 Ala. 328.

(2) Minor's suit to cancel deed was not without equity because she alleged in her original bill that she did not receive any purchase money and after the reception of evidence to the contrary amended her bill and tendered purchase price received.—Dulion v. Folkes, 120 So. 437, 153 Miss. 91.

Consistent allegations
Complaint does not assert inconsistent grounds of recovery where it is based on both rescission of the contract according to its terms and disaffirmance on the ground of infancy.—Rayburn v. Hopkins, 197 S.W. 1180, 130 Ark. 501—31 C.J. p 1157 note 63 [a].

6. Ala.—Sanders v. Williams, 50 So. 893, 168 Ala. 451.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 25.

Compromise settlement
In minor's suit by next friend, minor could not recover for personal injuries where minor's mother, who had been appointed guardian of minor's property and had compromised the matter as a doubtful claim, was not a party and the pleadings did not request the setting aside of the compromise settlement.—Campbell v. Atlanta Coach Co., 200 S.E. 293, 58 Ga.App. 824, transferred, see 196 S.E. 769, 186 Ga. 77.

In suit to cancel deed plaintiff must allege the disaffirmance of the transaction before bringing the suit.—O'Donohue v. Smith, 114 N.Y.S. 536, 130 App.Div. 214.

7. Mo.—Craig v. Van Bebber, 13 S.W. 906, 100 Mo. 584, 18 Am.S.R. 560.

8. N.Y.—Morgan v. Smith, 224 N.Y.S. 400, 130 Misc. 412.

9. N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J.Misc. 455.

10. Ind.—Nolte v. Libbert, 34 Ind. 163.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 31.

11. Ala.—American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. v. Dykes, 18 So. 292, 111 Ala. 178, 56 Am.S.R. 38—West v. Penny, 16 Ala. 186.

12. Ala.—American Freehold Land Mortg. Co. v. Dykes, 18 So. 292, 11 Ala. 178, 56 Am.S.R. 38.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 33.

13. Ky.—Stern v. Freeman, 4 Metc. 309.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 34.

tion as an affirmative defense;[14] but allegations in the complaint in a mortgage foreclosure suit that defendant, after arriving at majority, made substantial payments of principal and interest are of no avail to the mortgagee where the complaint is formulated on the theory that the note and mortgage were binding on defendant while he was a minor and not on the theory of ratification.[15]

New promise after majority. Where defendant pleads infancy plaintiff may by his replication set up a new promise by defendant after reaching majority.[16]

(4) Necessaries

The proper pleading, in an action against an infant to recover for necessaries, is to allege in the declaration or complaint merely what is sufficient at common law in a declaration for debt for board and lodging or goods furnished, and, after defendant has set up infancy as a defense, to allege in the reply or replication that the articles furnished were necessaries.

At common law, in an action to recover against an infant for necessaries, the declaration is required to contain only counts as in an action for debt for board and lodging or goods furnished,[17] and it is not necessary to allege that there were no persons on whom the law placed the responsibility for the necessaries.[18] No additional requirements are imposed by code provisions[19] and a complaint is sufficient if it contains allegations which would have rendered a declaration sufficient at common law.[20] However, where a declaration on a note shows that the maker was an infant, but does not allege that the note was given for necessaries, the suit may be dismissed on demurrer.[21]

If defendant sets up infancy as a defense plaintiff in his replication must allege that the articles furnished were necessaries.[22] In one state, in order to raise the question whether or not a contract is one for necessaries, a minor defendant must do so by an affidavit of defense.[23]

c. Verification of Pleadings

Ordinarily, and in the absence of a statutory provision to the contrary, the necessity, or lack of necessity, of verification of a pleading is the same where the pleading is that of an infant represented by next friend or guardian ad litem as where it is that of another person; but the verification is made by the next friend or guardian ad litem and not by the infant.

A petition or complaint in an action by an infant may be verified by his next friend or guardian ad litem.[24] Generally speaking, an infant suing by next friend or guardian ad litem does not[25] and may not[26] verify the petition or complaint. It has been held, however, that, if an infant plaintiff is old enough to understand the obligation of an oath, he should be required to verify the petition in accordance with the statutory provisions, but that the rule is otherwise if the infant is of tender years.[27]

Where a decree recites that the cause came on to be heard on the answer of the guardian ad litem for an infant defendant, it will be presumed that the answer was sworn to, although there is no evidence of the fact on record.[28] A merely formal answer of a guardian ad litem submitting the rights of the infant to the protection of the court need not be under oath.[29]

Answer under oath as evidence. An infant's answer on oath, by his guardian, is not evidence either in his favor[30] or against him.[31]

Execution of instruments. Although defendant is a minor and answers by a guardian ad litem, the execution of written instruments averred in the petition is admitted unless denied under oath;[32] but the verified general denial of the guardian ad litem puts in issue the execution of a written instrument.[33]

14. N.Y.—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751, affirmed 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 689, 251 App.Div. 722.

15. Ill.—First Trust Joint Stock Land Bank of Chicago v. Cutler, 12 N.E.2d 705, 293 Ill.App. 354.

16. Ala.—Fant v. Cathcart, 8 Ala. 725.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 28.

17. N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 153 Misc. 673.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 35.

18. N.Y.—In re Taylor, supra.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 36.

19. Mo.—Gibbs v. Poplar Bluff Light & Power Co., 125 S.W. 840, 142 Mo.App. 19.
N.Y.—Goodman v. Alexander, 59 N.E. 145, 165 N.Y. 289, 55 L.R.A. 781, 31 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 342, reversing 50 N.Y.S. 884, 28 App.Div. 227.

20. N.Y.—In re Taylor, 275 N.Y.S. 934, 153 Misc. 673.

21. Ga.—Latham v. Kolb, 76 Ga. 291.

22. Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 232 P. 531, 536, 72 Mont. 166, citing Corpus Juris.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 37.

23. Pa.—Torbin v. Eber, 39 Lack. Jur. 20.

24. Wis.—Phillips v. Postage Transit Co., 118 N.W. 539, 137 Wis. 189.
31 C.J. p 1161 note 51.

25. N.Y.—Goishen v. Samor Realty Co., 4 N.Y.S.2d 107, 167 Misc. 477.
Inapplicability to infant of general statute requiring party to verify pleading see the C.J.S. title Pleading § 355, also 49 C.J. p 593 note 63.

26. Ohio.—Menke v. Motor Car Co., 21 Ohio N.P.,N.S., 534.

27. Ky.—Goins v. Herndon, 5 Ky.Op. 70.

28. Va.—Durrett v. Davis, 24 Gratt. 302, 65 Va. 302.

29. Miss.—Johnson v. McCabe, 42 Miss. 255.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 54.

30. N.Y.—Bulkley v. Van Wyck, 5 Paige 536.

31. Md.—Harris v. Harris, 6 Gill & J. 111.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 57.

32. Kan.—McLean v. Webster, 26 P. 10, 45 Kan. 644.

33. Okl.—Sims v. Hedges, 123 P. 155, 32 Okl. 683.

d. Issues, Proof, and Variance

Although they are applied as against the adverse party, the ordinary rules as to issues and proof are sometimes relaxed or not applied as against an infant party.

In actions by or against infants or their representatives, the courts sometimes apply general rules dealing with issues and proof, such as the rules that the issues are confined to such matters as are sufficiently raised by the pleadings,[34] that a general denial in the answer puts in issue every allegation of the complaint or petition,[35] but ordinarily does not put in issue facts not alleged,[36] and that evidence, otherwise competent, is admissible[37] or inadmissible[38] according as it does or does not relate to matters within the issues raised by the pleadings; and it is true that the courts will apply general rules as against an adult party opposed to an infant, as by requiring proof of a new promise after majority alleged by him in the replication,[39] excluding evidence of a matter not pleaded by him,[40] and giving effect to an admission arising from his failure to deny an allegation in the pleading of the infant or late infant.[41] However, general rules are frequently relaxed or not applied as against an infant party. In an action against an infant all the facts entitling plaintiff to judgment must be sustained by proof,[42] whatever the answer may be,[43] whether it denies[44] or fails to traverse[45] the allegations of the petition or complaint, and even though there is a guardian;[46] and the necessity of establishing the case as against an infant party cannot be obviated by making him a plaintiff.[47] An infant defendant, in a suit to enforce a vendor's lien, has been allowed to show a waiver of the lien without specially pleading it.[48]

Necessity of answer in behalf of infant defendant to put case at issue is discussed supra subdivision a (2) (a) of this section. Verified denial of execution of written instrument, or lack of such denial, as putting in issue or admitting execution is discussed supra subdivision c of this section. Proof of ratification without allegation thereof is discussed supra subdivision b (3) of this section.

Infancy and representation of infant party. Where suit is brought by next friend, it is proper to prove the infancy of the real plaintiff and hence his right to sue in this manner.[49] Infancy as a ground of relief must be proved,[50] unless it is admitted by the adverse party;[51] but it has been held that, although in an action prosecuted by next friend the answer denies the infancy of plaintiff, he need not prove that he is an infant where his right of action does not depend on that fact.[52] Where a suit is brought by guardian or next friend, a plea

34. Ill.—Bliss v. Perryman, 2 Ill. 484.

35. Okl.—Sims v. Hedges, 123 P. 155, 32 Okl. 683.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 67.

36. Ala.—Sanders v. Williams, 50 So. 893, 163 Ala. 451.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 68.

Counterclaim
In infant's action to recover money paid on purchase price of automobile, counterclaim for damage resulting to defendant from plaintiff's misrepresentation of age was not available under general issue to common counts.—Drennen Motor Car Co. v. Smith, 169 So. 761, 235 Ala. 275.

37. N.J.—Brinkmann v. Dorsey Motors, 1 A.2d 473, 121 N.J.Law 115, affirmed 5 A.2d 686, 22 N.J.Law 378.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 64.

In absence of special exception to the pleading or objection to the testimony, an infant's allegation that he had paid certain sum on purchase price of cash register would warrant proof that part of payment was made by trading in old cash register, in lieu of money, for a specified agreed amount.—Lockhart v. National Cash Register Co., Tex.Civ.App., 66 S.W.2d 796.

Written notice of disaffirmance of a deed executed by a minor may be given in evidence under a pleading which alleges disaffirmance either in general terms or by setting out such notice specially.—George v. Brooks, 94 Ind. 274.

38. Mass.—Kelly v. Halox, 152 N.E. 236, 256 Mass. 5.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 63.

39. Ala.—Fant v. Cathcart, 8 Ala. 725—Dockery v. Day, 7 Port. 518.

40. Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 232 P. 531, 72 Mont. 166.

41. N.C.—Faircloth v. Johnson, 127 S.E. 346, 189 N.C. 429.

42. Ark.—Arkansas Trust Co. v. Sims, 133 S.W.2d 854, 198 Ark. 1143.
Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.
N.J.—Anderson v. Anderson, 32 A.2d 83, 133 N.J.Eq. 211.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, 175, quoting Corpus Juris, and reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.
31 C.J. p 1163 note 87.

Law requires introduction of evidence either for or against minors whose rights are to be considered.—Kroot v. Liberty Bank of Chicago, 30 N.E.2d 92, 307 Ill.App. 309.

43. Ill.—Tymony v. Tymony, 163 N. E. 393, 331 Ill. 420.

44. Ark.—Baker v. Boyd, 119 S.W.2d 524, 196 Ark. 563.

45. Ky.—Buttermore v. Hensley, 103 S.W.2d 68, 267 Ky. 669.
31 C.J. p 1163 note 89.

46. Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.

47. Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., supra.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S. W.2d 166, 175, quoting Corpus Juris, and reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W. 2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.
31 C.J. p 1163 note 88.

48. Fla.—Lucas v. Wade, 31 So. 231, 43 Fla. 419.

49. Cal.—Todd v. Orcutt, 183 P. 963, 42 Cal.App. 687.
Iowa.—Byers v. Des Moines Valley R. Co., 21 Iowa 54.

50. Ky.—Harlan County Bd. of Education v. Hensley, 144 S.W. 63, 147 Ky. 441, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 643.
31 C.J. p 1163 note 95.

51. Md.—Boyd v. Boyd, 6 Gill & J. 25.

52. Minn.—Meyerberg v. Eldred, 35 N.W. 371, 37 Minn. 503.

of the general issue[53] or of accord and satisfaction[54] admits plaintiff's infancy, and hence it need not be proved. Also, the truth of a plea of infancy is admitted by a replication setting up a new promise by defendant after reaching majority, and hence need not be proved.[55]

In an action by an infant it is not necessary to make proof of the appointment of a guardian ad litem,[56] unless defendant makes the objection that no such appointment has been made.[57] There is no fatal variance between an allegation in the petition that plaintiff's next friend was appointed by the court and the fact that he was appointed by the clerk of court in vacation.[58] Also, a variance in the name of an infant defendant as stated in the complaint and in the petition for the appointment of a guardian ad litem will be disregarded when it is not pretended that neither is the true name.[59]

In some cases, it has been held that evidence of infancy may be given under the general issue;[60] but it has also been held that it may not be proved under a plea of nil debit,[61] although it may be proved under a plea of non assumpsit.[62] The necessity of pleading defense of infancy is discussed supra subdivision b (2) of this section.

Where there are several issues, one of which is on the plea of infancy, and that is found for defendant, it disposes of the whole case, and entitles defendant to a judgment; and the jury need not pass on the other issues.[63]

§ 117. Evidence

a. Presumptions and burden of proof
b. Admissibility
c. Weight and sufficiency
d. Preservation of evidence in record

a. Presumptions and Burden of Proof

Ordinarily, presumptions are indulged in favor of, but not against, infants. However, infancy as a ground of relief is not presumed; and the party, whether plaintiff or defendant, who relies on infancy at the time of a contractual transaction to defeat such transaction has the burden of proving it, while the adverse party has the burden of proving ratification or other matter rendering the contract binding notwithstanding the infancy.

Ordinarily, no presumption against an infant can be permitted,[64] but, on the contrary, every presumption is indulged in his favor.[65] However, infancy

53. Ind.—Linnville v. Earlywine, 4 Blackf. 469.
31 C.J. p 116 note 93.

54. Ala.—Hubbert v. Collier, 6 Ala. 269.

55. Ala.—Fant v. Cathcart, 8 Ala. 725.
31 C.J. p 1160 note 29.

56. N.Y.—Strong v. Jenkins, 15 N.Y. S. 120, 21 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 9.

Superfluous allegation

Where an allegation as to prosecution of the suit by next friend may be treated as surplusage, the petition otherwise showing adequate representation, proof of appointment as next friend is unnecessary.—State ex rel. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Cox, 267 S.W. 382, 306 Mo. 27.

57. N.Y.—Strong v. Jenkins, 15 N.Y. S. 120, 21 N.Y.Civ.Proc. 9.

58. Mo.—Adams v. St. Louis-San Francisco Ry. Co., App., 251 S.W. 124.

59. N.Y.—Varian v. Stevens, 9 N.Y. Super. 635.

60. Me.—Cutts v. Gordon, 13 Me. 474, 29 Am.D. 520.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 69.

61. U.S.—Young v. Bell, D.C., 30 F. Cas.No.18,152, 1 Cranch C.C. 342.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 70—8 C.J. p 932 note 75.

62. U.S.—Young v. Bell, supra.

63. Ohio.—Rohrer v. Morningstar, 18 Ohio 579.

64. Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.
Okl.—Harjo v. Johnston, 104 P.2d 985, 187 Okl. 561—Tanner v. Schultz, 223 P. 174, 97 Okl. 132.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, 37 S.W.2d 166, 175, quoting Corpus Juris, and reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.
31 C.J. p 1163 note 85.

Execution of power of attorney

Where voluntary partition was made of land at a time when claimants thereto were minors, a presumption cannot be entertained that claimants executed powers of attorney or other authority to represent them which they were incapable in law of executing.—Hinnant v. Rodriguez, Tex.Civ.App., 255 S.W. 1000, affirmed, Com.App., 267 S.W. 471.

Consideration

(1) Contract of infant does not import consideration so as to cast burden on him of proving want of consideration or dispense with proof of adequate consideration to support it against him or his representative.—Bankers' Trust Co. v. Bank of Rockville Center Trust Co., 168 A. 733, 114 N.J.Eq. 391, 89 A.L.R. 697, reversing 159 A. 505, 110 N.J.Eq. 203.

(2) Since prima facie an infant is not liable on a note given during infancy, no presumption of legality of consideration as to such a note attaches.—Swoboda v. Nowak, 255 S.W. 1079, 213 Mo.App. 452.

Knowledge at time of reaching lawful age

One suing to repudiate a contract entered into during his minority will not be presumed to have known of defects in the contract at the time of reaching his lawful age.—Miller v. McAden, Tex.Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901.

Intention to ratify will not be inferred from an act which may be otherwise explained.—International Accountants Soc. v. Santana, 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276, affirming 7 La.App. 594.

Consent to transfer of property by inheritance

One's consent on his becoming of age to transfer of property to him by inheritance while a minor is not so readily presumed as would be an act in ratification of contract by minor, since in case of contract minor would have full and complete knowledge of transaction.—Banking Commission of Wisconsin v. Hamilton, 281 N.W. 693, 229 Wis. 89.

65. Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.
Okl.—Harjo v. Johnston, 104 P.2d 985, 187 Okl. 561—Tanner v. Schultz, 223 P. 174, 97 Okl. 132—In re Hildebrand, 197 P. 445, 81 Okl. 197.
Tex.—Dial v. Martin, Civ.App., 37 S.W.2d 166, 175, quoting Corpus as a ground of relief is never presumed;[66] and, when nothing appears to the contrary, persons entering into an agreement are presumed to be adults, and competent to contract.[67]

In an action by or against an infant, the rules applicable in civil actions generally govern the burden of proof.[68] Whether asking for affirmative relief[69] or interposing an affirmative defense,[70] the party who relies on infancy, at the time of the act or transaction in question,[71] for the purpose of attacking and defeating such act or transaction,[72] has the burden of proving infancy at that time. On the other hand, the party who asserts that a contract is binding has the burden of proving matters in avoidance of the infancy asserted, by the adverse party,[73] such as fraudulent concealment or misrepresentation of age,[74] ratification after reaching majority,[75] or engaging in trade.[76] It is sufficient for plaintiff to show a new promise or ratification since the making of the contract without showing that defendant was of age at the time, and it then devolves on defendant to prove that he was an infant when he made the alleged ratification if he claims that such was the fact.[77] Where it is alleged that a defendant at the time of the transaction in question was in business holding himself out as of full age, and concealed from plaintiff the fact of his infancy, and defendant alleges that plaintiff knew of his infancy, which plaintiff denies, the burden of proof is on defendant to show such knowledge on the part of plaintiff.[78]

As to necessaries. A person seeking to recover for necessaries furnished an infant has the burden of proving that the things furnished were necessaries[79] suitable to the infant's station and circum-

Juris, and reversed on other grounds Martin v. Dial, Com.App., 57 S.W.2d 75, 89 A.L.R. 571.

Acceptance of beneficial settlement

Where a voluntary settlement is made for the benefit of minors, an acceptance is presumed. See Penn Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Forbes, 200 Ill. App. 441.

66. Ky.—Harlan County Bd. of Education v. Hensley, 144 S.W. 63, 147 Ky. 441, 42 L.R.A.,N.S., 643.
31 C.J. p 1163 note 95.

67. Okl.—McKeever v. Carter, 157 P. 56, 53 Okl. 360.
31 C.J. p 1163 note 98.

68. N.Y.—Polachek v. New York Life Ins. Co., 263 N.Y.S. 230, 147 Misc. 16, affirmed 268 N.Y.S. 995, 240 App.Div. 1028.
R.I.—Misch v. Montgomery, 200 A. 999, 61 R.I. 345, reheard 3 A.2d 816, 62 R.I. 142.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 76 [a], [b].

Excuse for not restoring cash received

Where a minor mortgaged an automobile for two hundred dollars, receiving one hundred dollars in cash and a check for one hundred dollars, and the evidence in his suit to recover value of the car after attaining his majority and repudiating the transaction showed that he had parted with the check in payment of a garage bill, the burden was on him to show facts excusing him from restoration of the cash received.—Whitman v. Allen, 121 A. 160, 123 Me. 1, 36 A.L.R. 776.

Termination of infant's title

Where infants' original title to securities was admitted, alleged bona fide purchaser of securities had burden of establishing that such title was terminated and became vested in some one other than the infants.—Application of Goodchild, 290 N.Y.S. 683, 160 Misc. 738.

Creation of agency

Where infants signed names, at request of their father and natural guardian without any explanation as to nature of transaction, on documents regarding benefits of deposit agreement in respect of infants' bonds, alleged bona fide purchaser of bonds had burden of establishing creation of supposed agency in father by infants.—Application of Goodchild, supra.

69. Okl.—Camp v. Whitney, 12 P.2d 500, 158 Okl. 32—Brown v. Miller, 215 P. 748, 89 Okl. 287.

70. R.I.—Wike v. Edwards, 160 A. 782.

71. Ky.—Pinnacle Motor Co. v. Daugherty, 21 S.W.2d 1001, 231 Ky. 626.

72. Okl.—Caton v. Brubaker, 236 P. 420, 108 Okl. 268.
31 C.J. p 1163 note 99, p 1164 note 1.

73. Iowa.—Harrison v. Burnes, 51 N. W. 165, 84 Iowa 446.
31 C.J. p 1164 note 7.

74. Iowa.—Harrison v. Burnes, supra.
Ky.—Young v. Daniel, 255 S.W. 854, 201 Ky. 65.
La.—Smith v. Hempen, 8 La.App. 120.

75. La.—International Accountants Soc. v. Santana, 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276, affirming 7 La.App. 594.
N.J.—Hermenau v. Zazzarino, 155 A. 459, 108 N.J.Eq. 451.
N.Y.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 248 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266—Saxe v. Neil, 224 N.Y.S. 660, 221 App.Div. 492—Hook v. Harmon Nat. Real Estate Corporation, 297 N.Y.S. 79, 162 Misc. 751, affirmed 295 N.Y.S. 249, 250 App.Div. 889, 251 App.Div. 722—Farnum v. O'Neill, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 141 Misc. 555.
31 C.J. p 1066 note 93.

76. Iowa.—Harrison v. Burnes, 51 N. W. 165, 84 Iowa 446.
La.—Holliday v. Marionneaux, 9 Rob. 504.

Statutory conditions

Where, under statute, in order to hold an infant on a contract not made for necessaries, it must appear not only that he was practicing a profession or trade, or was engaged in a business, but also that he had the permission of his parent or guardian or of the law to do so, and that the contract was connected with that profession, trade, or business, the burden of proving the existence of all these conditions rests on the party asserting the validity of the contract.—James v. Sasser, 60 S.E. 329, 3 Ga.App. 568.

77. N.Y.—Bigelow v. Grannis, 4 Hill 206—Bay v. Gunn, 1 Den. 108.

78. Ky.—Adam Roth Grocery Co. v. Hopkins, 29 S.W. 293, 16 Ky.L. 678.

79. Miss.—Williams v. Pool, 110 So. 224, 114 Miss. 459.
Mo.—De Woody v. Goss, App., 86 S. W.2d 194.
N.Y.—Stetson v. Russell, 225 N.Y.S. 139, 130 Misc. 713.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 88.

Instruction or education

(1) Lessor seeking to recover on contract leasing rooms to minor college student had burden of proving that college education was necessary.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N.E. 477, 271 Mass. 302.

(2) In action to recover tuition fees paid by plaintiff when a minor for course of electrical instruction, defendant had burden to prove such stances;[80] that they were furnished under circumstances creating an obligation on the part of the infant to pay therefor;[81] and the reasonable value thereof.[82] In the absence of proof to the contrary, the presumption is that repairs on an infant's automobile are not necessaries.[83] While in some jurisdictions it has been held that, where the defense is that the infant was already supplied with necessaries, the burden of proof is on defendant to establish that fact,[84] in other jurisdictions it has been held that the person seeking recovery has the burden to prove that the necessaries, or the money therefor, were not already supplied.[85] The law presumes that a minor is supplied by his parents with necessaries, as long as the minor continues to live with them;[86] and plaintiff has the burden of proving the inability or refusal of the father to furnish the necessaries in question.[87] When the infant has been furnished with money sufficient to supply him with necessaries, the presumption is that he has been fully supplied from that fund, and the burden is on the person claiming for necessaries furnished on credit to rebut that presumption.[88]

In an action by a minor to recover damages for personal injuries, including medical expense incurred, he has the burden of proving special facts rendering him liable for such expense notwithstanding his minority.[89]

b. Admissibility

General rules of evidence govern the admissibility of evidence in an action by or against an infant or a person claiming to have been an infant at the time of the transaction involved in the suit.

The rules applicable in civil actions generally govern the admissibility of evidence in an action by or against an infant.[90] In accordance with such rules, particular evidence may be held admissible,[91] while other evidence may be held inadmissible.[92] An infant is not bound by the admissions of an adult codefendant;[93] and the answer of complainant to the cross bill of adult defendants, stating the consideration of a note sued on, cannot be taken as proof against infant defendants.[94] The admissibility of admissions of an infant is discussed in Evidence § 313, and of guardian ad litem or next friend in Evidence § 319. The question of whether an infant is bound by his admissions is considered supra § 22.

School census reports are admissible on the issue of whether or not a person was an infant at the time he executed a deed;[95] and, where there is reasonable doubt concerning his age, evidence of his acts, conduct, and appearance is admissible.[96] Also, when the defense of infancy rests on the uncorroborated testimony of defendant, his physical appearance, in connection with all the other circumstances of the case, may be considered by the jury in determining whether or not his testimony is de-nstruction was a necessary.—Crandall v. Coyne Electrical School, 256 Ill.App. 322.

80. Miss.—Williams v. Pool, 110 So. 224, 144 Miss. 459.

81. Mo.—De Woody v. Goss, App., 86 S.W.2d 194.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 88.

Lack of other way of obtaining necessaries

Plaintiff has burden of proving that defendant had no way of obtaining the thing claimed to be a necessary except by his own contract.—Moskow v. Marshall, 171 N. E. 477, 271 Mass. 302—L. P. Hollander Co. v. Porter, 166 N.E. 724, 267 Mass. 378.

82. Mo.—O'Donniley v. Kinley, 286 S.W. 140, 220 Mo.App. 284.

83. N.Y.—Egnaczyk v. Rowland, 267 N.Y.S. 14, 148 Misc. 889.

84. Tex.—Parsons v. Keys, 43 Tex. 557.

85. Miss.—Brent v. Williams, 30 So. 713, 79 Miss. 355.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 90.

86. Mo.—Perrin v. Wilson, 10 Mo. 451.
S.C.—Jones v. Colvin, 26 S.C.L. 14.

87. N.Y.—Stetson v. Russell, 225 N. Y.S. 139, 130 Misc. 713.

88. Ga.—Nicholson v. Wilborn, 13 Ga. 467.

89. Tex.—Bering Mfg. Co. v. Peterson, 67 S.W. 133, 26 Tex.Civ.App. 194.

90. N.Y.—Polachek v. New York Life Ins. Co., 263 N.Y.S. 230, 147 Misc. 16, affirmed 268 N.Y.S. 995, 240 App.Div. 1028.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 77.

91. N.Y.—Sneze v. National Acc. Soc., 231 N.Y.S. 589, 133 Misc. 406.
Tex.—Newberry v. Johnson, Civ.App., 274 S.W. 667.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 77 [c].

Wages or value of time lost

(1) In an action by a minor for damages for personal injuries, evidence of wages received by plaintiff prior to injury is admissible only as tending to establish probable loss in earning capacity after plaintiff should attain her majority.—Willis v. Schertz, 175 N.W. 321, 188 Iowa 712.

(2) However, there was evidence of the minor's emancipation, testimony of time lost by him and the value thereof was properly admitted.—Central of Georgia Ry. Co. v. McNab, 43 So. 222, 150 Ala. 332.

Depriving infant of testimony otherwise available to him

The judiciary should not permit an assumed authority on part of mother or lawyer, or misadvertence of either, to deprive an infant of testimony otherwise available to him in the prosecution of litigation in his behalf.—Lee v. Leibold, 79 P.2d 1049, 102 Colo. 408, 116 A.L.R. 1319.

92. Ark.—Bailey v. Runyan, 27 S. W.2d 1020, 181 Ark. 755.
Ga.—Siegelstein v. Fenner & Beane, 17 S.E.2d 907, 66 Ga.App. 345.
Iowa.—Perry Auto Co. v. Mainland, 294 N.W. 281, 229 Iowa 187.
Mich.—Valenti v. Mayer, 4 N.W.2d 5, 301 Mich. 551.
Or.—Blomquist v. Jennings, 250 P. 1101, 119 Or. 691.
Tex.—Kansas City, M. & O. Ry. Co. of Texas v. Meakin, Civ.App., 146 S.W. 1057.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 77 [a], [b], [d].

93. W.Va.—Holderby v. Hagan, 50 S.E. 437, 57 W.Va. 341, 4 Ann.Cas. 401.

94. Ind.—Campbell v. Campbell, 1 Ind. 220.

95. Ky.—Adkins v. Bently, 197 S.W. 1086, 177 Ky. 616.

96. Ark.—Moore v. Smith, 155 S.W. 2d 572, 202 Ark. 1197.

serving of credit.[97] Evidence to prove the age of a person generally is discussed in Evidence §§ 169, 227b, 493, 609. The intelligence of a person who disaffirmed a deed executed during infancy may be considered in determining whether or not disaffirmance was within a reasonable time after attainment of majority.[98]

On question of ratification. Ratification may be shown by circumstantial evidence;[99] and evidence explanatory of what occurred after the infant reached majority has been held admissible on the issue of ratification,[1] as has other evidence;[2] but a transcript of the late infant's testimony before a referee in bankruptcy is inadmissible where it does not meet the statutory requirements of a valid ratification and does not appear to have any probative value on the question of ratification.[3]

A deposition cannot be read against an infant where it does not appear that the guardian ad litem was served with notice.[4] It would seem that a motion may be entertained for the purpose of obtaining an order for the examination of infants under a statute relating to the taking of testimony by deposition before an action is begun and for the appointment of a special guardian for the infant so as to bind him with such notice as will permit the reading of the depositions in any actions that may be brought in which the infant may be interested.[5] In some jurisdictions, by force of statute, where the only defendant against whom a deposition is to be read is under the disability of infancy alone, the deposition must be taken on interrogatories except in certain stated proceedings;[6] and, under the statutes of other states a deposition cannot be read in a suit for the lease or sale of the land of an infant, unless taken in the presence of the guardian ad litem or on interrogatories agreed on by him,[7] but such provision does not apply to suits against infants generally.[8] If a deposition is taken in a case to which an infant is a party, before it is at issue, and it does not appear to have been taken de bene esse and there is reason to believe that there was collusion between the guardian ad litem or next friend of the infant and the adverse party, the deposition will be rejected.[9] It is no valid objection to proceedings against an infant that depositions were taken before the same person as commissioner who was the guardian ad litem of the infant.[10]

c. Weight and Sufficiency

Clear or strict proof is required to establish infancy or a matter in avoidance thereof; doubtful evidence is insufficient.

In an action by a minor to recover for personal injuries, he has the burden of proving his case by a fair preponderance of the evidence.[11] On the other hand, strict proof is required against infants.[12] Clear, certain, and unequivocal evidence is required to prove estoppel[13] or a partnership[14] on the part of a minor. Also, an intention to ratify must be clearly and unequivocally shown;[15] and, if there is a doubt respecting ratification, the person against

97. N.Y.—Waterman v. Waterman, 85 N.Y.S. 377, 42 Misc. 195, 14 N.Y.Ann.Cas. 276—Gabarski v. Simkin, 73 N.Y.S. 199, 36 Misc. 195.

98. Ga.—Holbrook v. Bank of Cumming, 147 S.E. 526, 168 Ga. 245.

99. W.Va.—Hobbs v. Hinton Foundry, Machine & Plumbing Co., 82 S.E. 267, 74 W.Va. 443, Ann.Cas. 1917D 410.
31 C.J. p 1066 note 98.

1. N.C.—Owens v. Phelps, 95 N.C. 286.

2. Mass.—McDonald v. Sargent, 51 N.E. 17, 171 Mass. 492.
31 C.J. p 1066 note 96 [a].

Retention or offer to restore proceeds of contract

Retention, after maturity, of proceeds of contract, made during infancy, is admissible as evidence of ratification, and offer to restore such proceeds is admissible as tending to negative ratification.—Bryan v. First Nat. Bank, 114 So. 576, 217 Ala. 50.

3. Me.—Sawyer Boot & Shoe Co. v. Braveman, 155 A. 290, 126 Me. 70.

4. W.Va.—Queen v. Caldwell, 164 S.E. 35, 113 W.Va. 215.
31 C.J. p 1164 note 10.

5. N.Y.—In re New York Central R. Co., 44 N.Y.S.2d 104, reversing 41 N.Y.S.2d 614.

6. Ky.—Womble v. Price's Guardian, 66 S.W. 370, 112 Ky. 533, 23 Ky.L. 1939, petition denied 67 S.W. 9.
31 C.J. p 1164 note 15.

7. Va.—Moore v. Triplett, 22 S.E. 69.
W.Va.—Hurst v. Coe, 3 S.E. 564, 39 W.Va. 158.

8. Va.—Moore v. Triplett, 22 S.E. 69.

9. Tenn.—Gaugh v. Henderson, 2 Head 628.
31 C.J. p 1164 note 13.

10. Va.—Durrett v. Davis, 24 Gratt. 302, 65 Va. 302.

11. R.I.—Misch v. Montgomery, 200 A. 999, 61 R.I. 345, reheard 3 A.2d 816, 62 R.I. 142.

12. Ill.—Rhoads v. Rhoads, 43 Ill. 239.
31 C.J. p 1162 note 87 [a].

13. Mo.—Gerkey v. Hampe, App., 274 S.W. 510.

14. Mo.—Gerkey v. Hampe, supra.

15. La.—International Accountants Soc. v. Santana, 117 So. 768, 166 La. 671, 59 A.L.R. 276, affirming 7 La.App. 594.

Strong evidence

Before a court of equity will imply an adoption of a void contract, involving a mineral grant to a minor's land, the evidence should be very strong, and the position of the ward in denying adoption after attaining majority revoltingly unjust and inconsistent with his conduct toward the other parties to the contract.—Cosden Oil & Gas Co. v. Hendrickson, 221 P. 86, 96 Okl. 206.

Inconclusive evidence

Communications from vaudeville performer to theatrical manager, shortly after performer attained majority, remitting commissions on wages earned during minority, are not conclusive on issue of ratification of contract for performer's services.—Farnum v. O'Neill, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 141 Misc. 555.

whom the ratification is claimed must have the benefit of the doubt.[16]

In regard to the sufficiency of evidence required to establish or show infancy, it has been held that it should be established by clear evidence,[17] by clear and satisfactory evidence,[18] or by a preponderance of the evidence.[19] Also, it has been held that strict proof of nonage is required of a person who, when near majority, publicly transacted business as though of full age and held himself out as such.[20] Doubtful evidence is insufficient;[21] but, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, defendant's answer stating that plaintiff is a minor and exhibits showing the signature of plaintiff as a minor are sufficient proof of minority;[22] and the positive testimony of witnesses as to the minority of a party is not overcome by his misrepresentation of his age.[23]

The evidence in a particular case may be sufficient or insufficient according as it meets, or fails to meet, the requirements of the pertinent rule.[24]

16. La.—Kothe v. Von Behren, App., 5 So.2d 571.

17. U.S.—Moore v. Sawyer, C.C.Okl., 167 F. 826.
Okl.—Bell v. Bearman, 133 P. 188, 37 Okl. 645.

18. Va.—McCauley v. Grim, 79 S.E. 1041, 115 Va. 610.

19. Okl.—Tyrell v. Shaffer, 174 P. 1074, 70 Okl. 228, certiorari granted 39 S.Ct. 19, 248 U.S. 556, 63 L.Ed. 420, affirmed 39 S.Ct. 258, 249 U.S. 582, 63 L.Ed. 787.

20. La.—Davis v. Coan, 14 La. 257. 31 C.J. p 1164 note 6 [a].

21. Ky.—Walker v. Walker, 69 S.W. 2d 716, 253 Ky. 378.

22. Ill.—Lewellyn v. Hawkins, 253 Ill.App. 368.

23. Ark.—Foreman v. Dickinson, 6 S.W.2d 829, 177 Ark. 121.

24. Evidence held sufficient
(1) To justify for support judgment for plaintiff.
Ga.—Stephens v. Wilson, 197 S.E. 350, 58 Ga.App. 24.
Okl.—Johnson v. Estill, 223 P. 121, 97 Okl. 125.

(2) To show infancy.—Collins v. Peters Real Estate Improvement Corporation, 252 Ill.App. 348—31 C.J. p 1164 note 4 [a] (1).

(3) To show infancy at time of execution of deed.
Ark.—Tays v. Johnson, 292 S.W. 122, 173 Ark. 223.
Ky.—Hart v. Davidson, 120 S.W.2d 214, 274 Ky. 663—Mitchell v. Swartz, 270 S.W. 22, 207 Ky. 780.
Tex.—Teat v. Jones, 89 S.W.2d 987, 126 Tex. 480, affirming Jones v. Teat, Civ.App., 57 S.W.2d 617.

(4) To sustain finding of majority at time of execution of deed.—Moore v. Smith, 155 S.W.2d 572, 202 Ark. 1197—31 C.J. p 1164 note 4 [a] (2), (3), (5).

(5) To support implied finding, in connection with general finding, that plaintiff was over eighteen years of age at time she executed deed.—Smart v. Billings, 35 P.2d 923, 169 Okl. 26.

(6) To show that purchaser knew of infancy of mortgagee.—Faircloth v. Johnson, 127 S.E. 346, 189 N.C. 428.

(7) To support finding that defendant's agent knew of infancy of person to whom he sold automobile.—Snodderly v. Brotherton, 21 P. 2d 1036, 173 Wash. 86.

(8) To warrant finding that infant represented that he was of age.—Eckrich v. Hogan Bros., 263 N.W. 308, 220 Iowa 755.

(9) To show that plaintiffs knew that they could not enter into a legal contract and that they endeavored to and did deceive defendants as to their age, except for which defendants would not have made the contract.—Young v. Daniel, 255 S.W. 854, 201 Ky. 65.

(10) To sustain finding that infant did not misrepresent his age.—Pinnacle Motor Co. v. Daugherty, 21 S.W.2d 1001, 231 Ky. 626—Marceiliac v. Stevens, 267 S.W. 229, 206 Ky. 383—31 C.J. p 1162 note 78 [a] (3).

(11) To show that contract to purchase trousseau was made by daughter and not by her father.—Moskovitz v. Kerman Stores Co., 259 Ill. App. 480.

(12) To justify setting aside assignment on ground that eighteen-year-old girl had been misled, placed under influence of liquor, and induced to execute assignment when not in a condition to exercise reasonable judgment.—Waldrep v. Merkle, D.C.Okl., 38 F.Supp. 165.

(13) To justify or sustain judgment allowing plaintiff to recover sum paid under contract and disaffirming, or terminating all liability under contract on ground that plaintiff was under twenty-one years of age at time of entering into contract.
Ill.—Bryniarski v. Peoples Finance Co., 5 N.E.2d 621, 287 Ill.App. 634.
Iowa.—Roeper v. Danese, 221 N.W. 506, 206 Iowa 964.

(14) To sustain or justify verdict or finding denying disaffirmance.
Ark.—Bailey v. Runyan, 27 S.W.2d 1020, 181 Ark. 755.
Wash.—Stone v. Knutzen, 265 P. 161, 147 Wash. 54.

(15) To show disaffirmance or rescission by infant.
Cal.—Spencer v. Collins, 104 P. 320, 156 Cal. 298, 20 Ann.Cas. 49.
Ill.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Vaughn, 193 N.E. 483, 358 Ill. 541.

(16) To sustain finding that late infant did not intend to disaffirm deed.—Holden v. Murphy, Tex.Civ. App., 62 S.W.2d 189, error refused.

(17) To sustain a verdict that the contract was repudiated within a reasonable time.—Miller v. McAden, Tex.Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901.

(18) To sustain verdict refusing cancellation for failure to disaffirm within reasonable time after majority.—Holbrook v. Bank of Cumming, 147 S.E. 526, 168 Ga. 245.

(19) To show ratification.—Smith v. Mooney, 85 A. 619, 76 N.H. 521—31 C.J. p 1066 note 93 [a].

(20) To sustain finding that minor had returned the entire consideration received by him.—La Baron v. Berryessa Cattle Co., 248 P. 779, 78 Cal. App. 536—31 C.J. p 1162 note 78 [a] (10).

(21) To justify trial judge in believing that it was not within plaintiff's power to make restitution.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E.2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191.

(22) To show that plaintiffs who were minors when partition was made received their allotted shares in personalty after majority.—De Rodriguez v. Hinnant, Tex.Com.App., 267 S.W. 471, affirming Hinnant v. Rodriguez, Civ.App., 255 S.W. 1000.

(23) To warrant chancellor in concluding that contest of will giving bulk of property in trust for infant great-grandchildren was in good faith, and that compromise whereby such property was to be divided equally between the great-grandchildren and the testator's children was for the best interests of the infants.—Metzner v. Newman, 194 N.W. 1008, 224 Mich. 324, 33 A.L.R. 98.

(24) To establish market value of automobile involved at the time it was delivered by infant to another person.—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A.L.R. 1363.

(25) To show other matters see 31 C.J. p 1162 note 78 [a] (1), (2), (4)–(8), p 1164 note 4 [a] (4).

d. Preservation of Evidence in Record

Different rules obtain in different states as to the necessity of preserving in the record all the evidence necessary to establish a decree against an infant. Unless imposed by statute, no duty rests on a guardian ad litem in respect of preserving the evidence in the record.

In some jurisdictions it has been held that all the evidence necessary to establish a decree against an infant should be preserved in the record;[25] but, in other jurisdictions, it has been held that a decree against an infant will not be reversed simply because the evidence is not in the record.[26] In the absence of statute requiring it, the guardian ad litem is not in duty bound to preserve the evidence in the record.[27]

§ 118. Dismissal and Nonsuit

The dismissal of a suit by or against an infant may be allowed or denied in accordance with ordinary rules as qualified by considerations applicable when the interests of a minor are involved.

Subject to the limitation that a minor's rights cannot be prejudiced by neglect or dereliction of his next friend, a chancery rule respecting dismissal of a cause is as applicable to minors as to adults.[28] A suit or action brought on behalf of an infant by next friend may be dismissed by the court where it appears that the suit or action is not for the infant's interests,[29] or is against the wishes of the infant and his natural guardian and is not authorized by him or a court.[30] Also, where, in an action by a late infant against several defendants, it appears that the transaction in suit involved directly only plaintiff and one defendant, it is proper to dismiss such defendant's cross action, as well as plaintiff's action, against the other defendants.[31] However, a dismissal with prejudice against commencement of another action is beyond the jurisdiction of the court and void where it is made without a trial on, and determination of, the merits and is based on a settlement negotiated by the next friend and not approved by another court having jurisdiction of the estate of the infant,[32] even though the court finds it to be for the best interest of the minor that the case be settled rather than tried.[33] A minor suing

Evidence held insufficient

(1) To show infancy.—Leaman v. Schell, 39 N.Y.S.2d 417, 265 App.Div. 1041, appeal withdrawn 41 N.Y.S.2d 205, 266 App.Div. 662—31 C.J. p 1164 note 4 [b].

(2) To support finding that defendant did not appear to be twenty-one years of age when he borrowed money from plaintiff to buy land.—Kinnebrew v. McAfee, Tex.Civ.App., 272 S.W. 242.

(3) To show fraudulent misrepresentation of age.

Ill.—Shellabarger v. Jacobs, 45 N.E. 2d 184, 316 Ill.App. 191—Hauser v. Marmon Chicago Co., 208 Ill. App. 171.

Ky.—Hart v. Davidson, 120 S.W.2d 214, 274 Ky. 663.

(4) To sustain jury's finding that defendant disaffirmed within a reasonable time after majority a note executed during his minority.—Kinnebrew v. McAfee, Tex.Civ.App., 272 S.W. 242.

(5) To show why disaffirmance was not made before answering or within reasonable time after majority.—Robinson v. Roquemore, Tex. Civ.App., 2 S.W.2d 873.

(6) To show ratification after reaching majority.

Ky.—Elkhorn Coal Corporation v. Tackett, 88 S.W.2d 943, 261 Ky. 795.

N.J.—Hermenau v. Zamarino, 155 A. 459, 108 N.J.Eq. 451.

N.Y.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266—Farnum v. O'Neill, 252 N.Y.S. 900, 141 Misc. 555.

Tex.—Walker v. Stokes Bros. & Co., Civ.App., 262 S.W. 158.

31 C.J. p 1066 note 93 [b].

(7) To prove ratification by female minor after her marriage.—Kothe v. Von Behren, La.App., 5 So. 2d 571.

(8) To show that articles furnished infant were necessaries.

Ariz.—Worman Motor Co. v. Hill, 94 P.2d 865, 54 Ariz. 227, 124 A.L.R. 1363.

Miss.—Foster-McLaurin Furniture Co. v. Duvall, 106 So. 825, 141 Miss. 556.

Mo.—De Woody v. Goss, App., 86 S. W.2d 194.

(9) To establish a partnership between father and minor son or to raise estoppel against son.—Gerkey v. Hampe, Mo.App., 274 S.W. 510.

(10) To warrant determination that agency on behalf of infants existed so as to render applicable doctrine of estoppel.—Application of Goodchild, 290 N.Y.S. 683, 160 Misc. 738.

(11) To sustain finding that minor was hit in eye by missile fired from slingshot of playmate.—Misch v. Montgomery, 200 A. 999, 61 R.I. 345, reheard 3 A.2d 816, 62 R.I. 142.

(12) To show other matters see 31 C.J. p 1162 note 78 [b] (1)–(4), (6).

25. Ill.—Rhoads v. Rhoads, 43 Ill. 239.
31 C.J. p 1164 note 17.

26. Ind.—Bennett v. Welch, 15 Ind. 332.
31 C.J. p 1164 note 18.

27. Ark.—Price v. Hartzell, 205 S. W. 829, 135 Ark. 440.

28. Ala.—Alexander v. Alexander, 150 So. 142, 227 Ala. 322.

29. Ohio.—Hanna v. Titus, 39 N.E. 2d 556, 68 Ohio App. 127.
31 C.J. p 1126 note 99.

Statute so providing is codification of the common-law rule.—Hanna v. Titus, supra.

Before answer, defendant may move to dismiss on ground that the action is not for the benefit of the infant; the court may hear evidence on the issue raised; and, if evidence supports the motion, court may dismiss the petition.—Hanna v. Titus, supra.

After judgment and appeal, action by next friends may be dismissed if prosecution to final judgment is not for minors' benefit.—Jones v. Jones, 265 P. 66, 125 Kan. 403.

30. Ky.—Kash v. Kash's Guardian, 85 S.W.2d 866, 260 Ky. 377.

Affidavits in support of the motion to dismiss may be considered on the hearing of the motion.—Kash v. Kash's Guardian, supra.

31. Ky.—National Savings & Building Ass'n v. Hutchinson, 144 S.W. 2d 1029, 284 Ky. 408.

32. Okl.—Tucker v. Leonard, 291 P. 124, 144 Okl. 264—Tucker v. Leonard, 291 P. 135, 144 Okl. 258.

33. Okl.—Tucker v. Leonard, 291 P. 124, 144 Okl. 264—Tucker v. Leonard, 291 P. 135, 144 Okl. 258.

on a contract cannot properly be nonsuited on the ground that, until he reaches his majority and elects to ratify, no action can be maintained on the contract.[34]

While it is said that a next friend may dismiss the suit because he is himself liable for costs, it is also stated that it may well be questioned whether or not he can do so to the prejudice of the infant,[35] and it has been held that the infant cannot be estopped from subsequently suing on the same cause of action.[36] Neglect or dereliction of the next friend in allowing a dismissal of the suit ought not to be permitted to prejudice the rights or remedies of the minor; but application of this rule is not called for where there is no prejudice to such rights; and it is proper for the court to grant a motion of the next friend to dismiss where it is apparent from the history of prior litigation concerning the subject-matter and the lack of new proof that further litigation would be fruitless.[37] It may be proper, in view of the previous steps taken after the commencement of the action, to deny a motion for dismissal made by a guardian appointed for the express purpose of bringing suit, as where he has previously defeated a declaratory judgment proceeding on the ground of the pendency of the suit, a companion case has been adversely decided, and he has brought suit as next friend in another court on the same cause of action.[38]

Action against infant. Where an infant defendant has been personally served with process, the fact that another person has not also been served as required by statute furnishes no reason for dismissal of the action.[39] It is error to dismiss a suit against infant defendants after the filing of an answer and without a hearing on evidence where it appears from the answer that the infants claim their interests are identical or allied with those of plaintiffs, and consequently the dismissal is in fact a finding against the minors and their interests.[40] A suit must be continued where there are infant defendants interested therein notwithstanding infant plaintiffs are without interest.[41]

§ 119. Trial and New Trial

a. In general
b. Instructions and questions of law or fact
c. Reference
d. Verdict and findings

a. In General

Subject to specific statutory variation, and to such variation as is called for by the status of an infant litigant, ordinary rules govern the trial, and the grant or refusal of a new trial, in an action by or against an infant.

Notwithstanding the minority of one of the parties a lawsuit is a contest in which neither side is under any legal obligation to give to the other any information or assistance, save such as is exacted under the processes provided by law.[42] In case an infant appears by guardian and makes an issue, it may be noticed for trial at once like other issues.[43] An infant party cannot waive trial by jury.[44]

New trial. Under some statutes an infant defendant is entitled to a new trial for erroneous proceedings against him where the condition of defendant does not appear in the record nor the error in the proceedings.[45] When it appears in evidence that defendant, sued as an adult, is an infant, if the court renders judgment against defendant without requiring plaintiff to proceed against defendant as an infant, it should grant relief on a motion for a new trial.[46] While, under statute, the right of an infant to a new trial for certain specified reasons may be asserted either by petition in the trial court or by appeal, he may not adopt both means of procuring a rehearing for the same error.[47] It has been held that a new trial should be granted where a guardian ad litem was not appointed in time to represent an infant defendant at the trial;[48] but the contrary conclusion has been reached where defendant was ably represented by counsel and his substantial rights were not prejudiced by the irregularity.[49]

34. R.I.—Vaughn v. Carr, 95 A. 569, 38 R.I. 307.

35. Ala.—Isaacs v. Boyd, 5 Port. 388.

36. Ill.—Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific R. Co. v. Kennedy, 70 Ill. 350.

37. Ala.—Alexander v. Alexander, 150 So. 142, 227 Ala. 322.

38. Miss.—Mitchell v. Film Transit Co., 13 So.2d 154.

39. N.Y.—Ward v. Ward, 242 N.Y.S. 171, 136 Misc. 234.

40. Ill.—Leonard v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 5 N.E.2d 282, 287 Ill. App. 397.

41. S.C.—Beckwith v. McAlister, 162 S.E. 623, 165 S.C. 1.

42. La.—Broussard v. Rosenblum, 5 La.App. 245.

43. Ky.—Childers v. Bales, 124 S. W. 295.
31 C.J. p 1165 note 20.

44. Ill.—Liserowitz v. West Chicago St. R. Co., 80 Ill.App. 248.
31 C.J. p 1165 note 21.

45. Ky.—Jamison v. Petit, 6 Bush 669.

46. Ky.—Shrout v. Burgess, 5 Ky.L. 691.

47. Ky.—Chenault v. State Bank & Trust Co., 128 S.W.2d 715, 278 Ky. 453.

48. R.I.—Keenan v. Flanagan, 147 A. 617, 50 R.I. 321.

Necessity of good defense

Where a judgment was rendered against a minor without a defense having been made by a guardian in an action for rescission of a contract on ground of fraud, the minor was not entitled to have a new trial unless he showed that he had a good defense to the action.—Beardsley v. Clark, 294 N.W. 887, 229 Iowa 601.

49. Cal.—King v. Wilson, 2 P.2d 833, 116 Cal.App. 191.

A new trial may be granted the unsuccessful adverse party on the ground of newly discovered evidence of the majority of the successful party at the time of execution of the deed in question.[50]

Rehearing in equity. The matter of granting a rehearing in equity is, as in the case of adults, within the discretion of the court.[51]

Bill of review. An infant may bring a bill of review to set aside a decree of foreclosure to which he was a party, although he does not have a right to possession.[52]

b. Instructions and Questions of Law or Fact

The questions of fact which, when the evidence warrants the submission thereof to the jury, are to be determined by the jury under proper instructions by the court include infancy and ratification or disaffirmance of an infant's deed or contract. What are necessaries is a mixed question of law and fact.

In accordance with the rules pertaining to questions of law or fact in civil trials generally, it is the province of the court to determine all questions of law,[53] but questions of fact ordinarily are to be determined by the jury[54] under proper instructions from the court.[55] If the evidence on a question of fact is sufficient to be submitted to the jury, and is conflicting or is of such a character that different inferences might reasonably be drawn therefrom, the question should be submitted to the jury.[56] Where, however, there is no evidence on an issue of fact, or the evidence thereon is undisputed or conclusive, or so slight that a finding in favor of the party asserting the existence or nonexistence of the fact would not be sustained, the question should

Iowa.—Johnston v. Calvin, 5 N.W.2d 840.

50. S.C.—Prudential Ins. Co. of America v. Reynolds, 177 S.E. 889, 174 S.C. 547.

51. Miss.—Hebron v. Kelly, 23 So. 641, 77 Miss. 48, reheard 25 So. 877, 77 Miss. 48.
31 C.J. p 1165 note 26.

52. U.S.—McCampbell v. Warrich Corporation, C.C.A.Ill., 109 F.2d 115, certiorari denied 60 S.Ct. 1077, 310 U.S. 631, 84 L.Ed. 1401, rehearing denied 61 S.Ct. 55, second case, 311 U.S. 612, 85 L.Ed. 388, and 61 S.Ct. 1089, 313 U.S. 599, 85 L. Ed. 1551.

53. Mo.—Heinsle v. Metropolitan St. R. Co., 81 S.W. 848, 182 Mo. 528.
31 C.J. p 1165 note 29.

54. N.J.—Mandell v. Passaic Nat. Bank & Trust Co., 14 A.2d 523, 18 N.J.Misc. 455.
Pa.—Pentimall v. Bankers' Automobile Finance Corporation, 92 Pa. Super. 110.
31 C.J. p 1165 note 30 [a].

Whether minor son was emancipated by father, is for jury or judge sitting without jury.—Keller v. Ray Motor Co., 114 So. 422, 22 Ala.App. 252.

Whether plaintiff misrepresented his age is for jury.—Pinnacle Motor Co. v. Daugherty, 21 S.W.2d 1001, 231 Ky. 626.

Estoppel by conduct

In action to foreclose a chattel mortgage, defended on the ground that defendant was a minor at the time the notes and mortgage were executed, and that he promptly disaffirmed the contracts on coming of age, the question of whether defendant was estopped from setting up his minority as a defense, by his conduct in obtaining loan, leading mortgagee to believe that he was of full age, was for the jury.—First State Bank v. Edwards, Tex.Civ.App., 245 S.W. 478.

Sufficient capacity of child to charge him with contributory negligence see the C.J.S. title Negligence § 260, also 45 C.J. p 1311 note 68-p 1314 note 75.

55. Ga.—McGarrity v. Cook, 114 S. E. 213, 154 Ga. 311.

Instructions upheld as proper
Ga.—Holbrook v. Bank of Cumming, 147 S.E. 526, 168 Ga. 245.
Ill.—Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Jernigan, 101 Ill.App. 1, affirmed 65 N. E. 88, 198 Ill. 297.
R.I.—Correy v. Michaelovitch, 128 A. 673, 46 R.I. 387, 39 A.L.R. 374.

Erroneous instructions are properly refused
Mo.—Swoboda v. Nowak, 255 S.W. 1079, 213 Mo.App. 452.
31 C.J. p 1164 note 19 [a].

Instruction held erroneous
Ga.—Siegelstein v. Fenner & Beane, 17 S.E.2d 907, 66 Ga.App. 345.

Instruction held not erroneous
N.C.—General Motors Acceptance Corporation v. Edwards, 197 S.E. 613, 213 N.C. 736, 116 A.L.R. 1217.

Confusing or misleading instructions are properly refused
Ga.—Siegelstein v. Fenner & Beane, 17 S.E.2d 907, 66 Ga.App. 345.

Charge held not misleading or confusing
N.H.—Charbonneau v. MacRury, 153 A. 457, 84 N.H. 501, 73 A.L.R. 1266.

Absence of request

As regards married minor's contention that home purchased by him was not a necessary, instruction, defining term necessary, was not erroneous as excluding idea that minor might rent or lease such home, and as disregarding question whether he was able to pay therefor, or bought it for speculative purpose, where submission of issue as to his inability to pay, or purchase for speculative purpose, was not requested.—Newberry v. Johnson, Tex.Civ.App., 274 S.W. 667.

56. Ala.—Taylor v. White, 56 So. 2 1 Ala.App. 593.

Evidence held sufficient

(1) To be submitted to jury generally.—Bay v. Gunn, 1 Den. (N.Y.) 108.

(2) To present jury question whether plaintiff had good reason to believe defendant capable of contracting.—Titonka First Nat. Bank v. Casey, 138 N.W. 897, 158 Iowa 349.

(3) To require charge as to effect of minority on release, although infancy was not pleaded as defense.—McCoy v. Provident Life Ins. Co., 153 S.E. 468, 156 S.C. 496.

(4) To go to jury on question of ratification.
Ala.—Bryan v. First Nat. Bank, 114 So. 576, 217 Ala. 50.
N.C.—Long v. Town of Rockingham, 121 S.E. 461, 187 N.C. 199.

Refusal to charge against recovery held proper

(1) Where minor plaintiff's evidence reasonably supported recovery, overruling demurrer thereto and refusing requested instruction directing verdict against him were not error.—First Nat. Bank v. Jones, 238 P. 488, 111 Okl. 116.

(2) In an infant's action, after disaffirmance of contract of purchase, court properly refused to instruct that plaintiff could not recover under count for money received by defendant for plaintiff's use, where the evidence showed that plaintiff had himself paid fifty dollars in cash, and that only part of the amount claimed under such count was paid by his father.—Carpenter v. Grew, 141 N.E. 859, 247 Mass. 133.

not be submitted to the jury, but it becomes one of law for the court, which it may dispose of by nonsuit, dismissal, direction of verdict, or otherwise;[57] and in such case the court may direct a nonsuit notwithstanding the fact that plaintiff is an infant[58] or was an infant at the time of the transaction in question.[59] Generally, and subject to the foregoing qualification of a proper evidential basis, where a question of infancy vel non arises directly, it must be determined as a question of fact[60] by the jury[61] or the trial judge sitting without a jury;[62] and, subject to the same qualification, it is a question of fact for the jury whether the deed, contract, etc., of an infant has been ratified[63] or avoided.[64] So, also, where the question of what is a reasonable time for disaffirmance after reaching majority is one of fact, as it ordinarily is, as discussed supra § 75, it is a question for the jury.[65]

The question as to what are necessaries is a mixed one of law and fact.[66] Whether articles are of those classes for which an infant shall be bound to pay is a matter of law for the court;[67] if they fall under those general descriptions, then whether they were actually necessary and suitable to the condition and state of the infant is a question of fact for the jury.[68] The question whether the education furnished to an infant is to be considered a necessary, under the circumstances of the particular case,

57. Wis.—Larson v. Knapp, Stout & Co., 73 N.W. 992, 98 Wis. 178.

Absence of evidence of emancipation

(1) Permitting jury's consideration of minor plaintiff's loss or diminution of earning capacity was erroneous where there was no evidence of emancipation.

Mo.—Ellington v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., App., 45 S.W.2d 105.

Tex.—Tyrrell Hardware Co. v. Orgeron, Civ.App., 289 S.W. 1040.

(2) Instructions as to damages for permanent injuries to, and loss of, earnings by minor plaintiff were erroneous, in absence of evidence that he had been emancipated.—S. A. Gerrard Co. v. Couch, 29 P.2d 151, 43 Ariz. 57.

Evidence held insufficient to raise jury question

(1) As to whether minor was hit in eye by missile from playmate's slingshot.—Misch v. Montgomery, 3 A.2d 816, 62 R.I. 142, rehearing 200 A. 999, 61 R.I. 345.

(2) As to minor's representing himself to be eighteen years old when purchasing car.—Turben v. Wilson, 271 P. 842, 133 Okl. 158.

(3) As to disaffirmance of contract during infancy or after reaching majority.—Washington St. Garage v. Maloy, 243 N.Y.S. 467, 230 App.Div. 266.

Instructions dispensed with by undisputed evidence

In ejectment, where it was undisputed and uncontradicted that grantee in deed under which plaintiff claimed was minor at time of its execution, it was not error to omit to charge as to necessity of delivery and acceptance of deeds or as to effect of nondelivery thereof.—Harrison v. Hester, 129 S.E. 528, 160 Ga. 865.

Direction of verdict

(1) In minor's action, plaintiff's motion for directed verdict was properly granted, where there was no evidence before the jury which contradicted plaintiff's claim, the facts as alleged being practically admitted.—Kelly v. Halox, 152 N.E. 236, 256 Mass. 5.

(2) A directed verdict against a party claiming disaffirmance after majority of a deed executed during minority may be proper under the evidence.—Floyd v. Rimes, 149 S.E. 907, 169 Ga. 78.

(3) Directed verdict for defendant was proper on account annexed for merchandise, plea being infancy, where infancy and absence of ratification were undisputed.—Sawyer Boot & Shoe Co. v. Braveman, 136 A. 290, 126 Me. 70.

(4) Court may peremptorily instruct in favor of infant in absence of evidence that articles furnished were actually needed by him.—Foster-McLaurin Furniture Co. v. Duvall, 106 So. 825, 141 Miss. 556.

(5) Since, however, the issue arising from a traverse of an allegation of appointment of next friend relates merely to capacity to sue, defendant, in absence of proof supporting such allegation, is not entitled to directed verdict, but only to a dismissal.—State ex rel. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Cox, 267 S.W. 382, 306 Mo. 27.

58. Wis.—Larson v. Knapp, Stout & Co., 73 N.W. 992, 98 Wis. 178.

59. Absence of proof of payment

In assumpsit by married woman for return of moneys paid by her during coverture and during infancy, under contract for purchase of land, where there was no proof of any amount paid by her under the contract, judgment of nonsuit was proper.—Wharen v. Funk, 31 A.2d 450, 152 Pa.Super. 133.

60. Mass.—Stykowski v. Kaplan, 177 N.E. 909, 277 Mass. 138.

61. Mich.—Schweitzer v. Bird, 170 N.W. 57, 204 Mich. 333.
31 C.J. p 1165 note 34.

62. N.J.—Brinkmann v. Dorsey Motors, 1 A.2d 473, 121 N.J.Law 115, affirmed 5 A.2d 686, 122 N.J.Law 378.

63. U.S.—New Departure Mfg. Co. v. Rockwell-Drake Corporation, C. C.A.Conn., 287 F. 328, modifying, D.C., 270 F. 219.

Neb.—Brownell v. Adams, 236 N.W. 750, 121 Neb. 304.

Okl.—Shipman v. Conrad, 223 P. 183, 97 Okl. 216.

Tex.—Miller v. McAden, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 901.

31 C.J. p 1066 note 91, p 1165 note 35.

Ratification is question of fact or of mixed law and fact

Minn.—Gislason v. Henry L. Doherty & Co., 260 N.W. 883, 194 Minn. 476.

64. Ala.—Slaughter v. Cunningham, 24 Ala. 260, 60 Am.D. 463.

Tex.—Johnson v. Johnson, 85 S.W. 1023, 38 Tex.Civ.App. 385.

65. Tex.—Kinnebrew v. McAfee, Civ.App., 272 S.W. 242.

If not over seven years, reasonable time after majority for disaffirming deed by infant is for jury.—Holbrook v. Bank of Cumming, 147 S.E. 526, 168 Ga. 245—Holbrook v. Montgomery, 141 S.E. 408, 165 Ga. 514.

66. Tex.—Johnson v. Newberry, Com.App., 267 S.W. 476, reversing Newberry v. Johnson, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 456.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 81.

67. Miss.—Decell v. Lewenthal, 57 Miss. 331, 34 Am.R. 449.
31 C.J. p 1080 note 82.

68. Me.—Nielson v. International Text Book Co., 75 A. 330, 106 Me. 104, 20 Ann.Cas. 591.
31 C.J. p 1081 note 83.

What particular kind of lodging is necessary for minor is inquiry of fact for jury in given case.—Johnson v. Newberry, Tex.Com.App., 267 S.W. 476, reversing Newberry v. Johnson, Civ.App., 248 S.W. 456.

ordinarily is a question of fact.[69] The quantity,[70] quality,[71] and value[72] of what was furnished are of course questions for the jury.

c. Reference

In deciding matters relating to a reference in a suit to which an infant is a party, due consideration is given to the status of the infant litigant and the duty to protect his interest.

An infant is not capable of consenting to a reference in an action to which he is a party,[73] and the guardian ad litem of an infant defendant should not consent to a general reference to a master to take an account against an infant until he has ascertained that the rights of the infant may be protected on such reference.[74] Ex parte proofs before a master in a foreclosure suit are not permissible where there are infant defendants;[75] and, where testimony is taken before a master or commissioner in chancery without notice to the guardian ad litem of infant defendants, it is not admissible as against the infants[76] notwithstanding the guardian may make no objection on the hearing.[77] Since it is the practice of courts to protect the interest of infant litigants, as discussed supra § 105, the court may, where the guardian ad litem of an infant defendant has not excepted to the master's report, allow the infant to do so at any time before or at the hearing.[78] It is proper, after a hearing before the master, for the next friend of a minor first to obtain consent and leave of court before filing a petition asking that the cause be remanded for further proof.[79] The report of a special guardian for the purpose of acquainting the court with the infant's interest and the manner in which to protect the infant is not open to the filing of exception to the findings or recommendations contained in it.[80]

d. Verdict and Findings

An appropriate verdict may be rendered, or findings of fact made, in an action by or against an infant. Under statute, findings of fact may be waived.

A statutory provision that findings of fact may be waived by the several parties to an issue of fact applies to infants as well as to adults.[81] In an action against several defendants, one of whom is an infant, the jury may find for the infant and against the other defendants;[82] but, under an issue formed to try the question of property between a claimant and a plaintiff in execution, the jury cannot render a verdict against claimant on the ground of infancy; the proper course in such case being to move for an issue to try the question of infancy, or for the appointment of a guardian.[83]

§ 120. Judgment

The court should not render a judgment or decree affecting the interests of a minor as a matter of course, but only after consideration of the merits and a real and vigorous defense of the minor's interests. The judgment or decree should be responsive and warranted by the pleadings and the evidence. The general rules govern its construction.

In general a court should not enter judgment or decree for or against a minor as a matter of course, but only after a consideration of the merits of the case,[84] and after a real and vigorous defense of his interests has been made.[85] The failure of a regular guardian or guardian ad litem to make defense or file a report prior to judgment, as required by statute, will render the judgment erroneous but not void.[86]

The judgment or decree should be responsive and warranted by the pleadings,[87] supported by compe-

69. Conn.—International Text Book Co. v. Doran, 68 A. 255, 80 Conn. 307.
Me.—Nielson v. International Text Book Co., 75 A. 330, 106 Me. 104, 20 Ann.Cas. 591.
70. Ind.—Henderson v. Fox, 5 Ind. 489.
71. Ind.—Henderson v. Fox, supra.
72. Ind.—Henderson v. Fox, supra.
N.C.—Cole v. Wagner, 150 S.E. 339, 197 N.C. 692.
73. Mo.—Gamache v. Prevost, 71 Mo. 84—Garesche v. Gambs, 3 Mo. App. 572.
74. N.Y.—Jenkins v. Freyer, 4 Paige 47.
75. N.J.—Co-Investors Building & Loan Ass'n v. Billet, 175 A. 90.
76. W.Va.—Henry v. Musgrave, 158 S.E. 783, 110 W.Va. 467.
31 C.J. p 1165 note 41.
77. Ill.—Boyer v. Boyer, 89 Ill. 447—Turner v. Jenkins, 79 Ill. 228.
78. S.C.—McFaddin v. Lumpkin, 100 S.E. 168, 112 S.C. 431.
79. Tenn.—Flanigan v. Landmon, 8 Tenn.App. 361.
80. N.Y.—Matter of Gill, 155 N.Y.S. 1019, 92 Misc. 661.
81. Cal.—Western Lumber Co. v. Phillips, 29 P. 328, 94 Cal. 54.
82. Me.—Cutts v. Gordon, 13 Me. 474, 29 Am.D. 520.
N.Y.—Hartness v. Thompson, 5 Johns. 160.
83. Ala.—Mundine v. Perry, 2 Stew. & P. 130.
84. Mich.—Palassolo v. Verdier, 208 N.W. 677, 234 Mich. 547.
Duty of court to protect interests of infant see supra § 105.
85. Ark.—Baker v. Boyd, 119 S.W.2d 524, 196 Ark. 563—Moore v. Wilson, 20 S.W.2d 310, 180 Ark. 41.
Effect of want or insufficiency of answer or defense see supra § 116.
Defense held sufficient
Ark.—Leach v. Maxwell, 286 S.W. 1029, 171 Ark. 1188.
86. Iowa.—Beardsley v. Clark, 294 N.W. 887, 229 Iowa 601.
Ky.—Cain v. Hall, 278 S.W. 152, 211 Ky. 817—Reynolds v. Steel, 185 S. W. 820, 170 Ky. 153.
Omission to state representative capacity
Ky.—Robinson v. Clark, 34 S.W. 1083, 17 Ky.L. 1401.
87. Mo.—Campbell v. Campbell, 165 S.W.2d 851, 350 Mo. 169.
31 C.J. p 1166 note 52.
Pleadings held to support relief granted
Tex.—Miller v. McAden, Civ.App., 253 S.W. 991.

tent evidence,[88] and not inconsistent.[89]

In a statutory suit to try title in which one of the parties is a minor the court may not only adjudge the infant to be the owner of an undivided interest in the property, but may divest him of his title thereto by an order under which specified parties are directed to take the land and pay the ascertained value thereof to the owners, including the minor.[90]

Where a minor's father is made a party to a suit by a minor to rescind a conveyance and the court finds that the father was the real owner of the property conveyed, judgment may be entered against the father ordering him to execute a conveyance of the property involved to the grantees.[91]

Construction. The rules governing the construction of judgments and decrees generally, considered in Equity §§ 612–615, and the C.J.S. title Judgments §§ 436–443, also 34 C.J. p 501 note 4–p 507 note 76, apply.[92]

§ 121. —— Rendition, Form, and Entry

The general rules governing the form, rendition, and entry of judgment control, except as modified by statute, or varied by the conditions arising from the peculiar rights of infants.

The general rules governing the form, rendition, and entry of judgments, considered in the C.J.S. title Judgments §§ 62–86, also 33 C.J. p 1188 note 87–p 1214 note 90, §§ 100–121, also 34 C.J. p 44 note 57–p 82 note 15, and decrees, considered in Equity §§ 587–598, apply to judgments and decrees for or against infants.[93] Thus the rules and principles controlling the time for the rendition and entry of the judgment or decree should be followed.[94]

Where a statute prohibits a minor from alienating his immovable property a judgment cannot be given in general terms against an emancipated minor, but should direct that execution be levied only on the movables and not on immovables.[95]

A judgment entered on the record in an action commenced by a minor without the advice and assistance of a next friend in which the court by an entry made on the back of the writ ordered the minor's father to maintain the action as next friend is not voidable because of the failure of the clerk to minute such order on the docket or of counsel to file a formal amendment of the writ in accordance therewith.[96]

It is error to give a joint decree in favor of several complainants for the aggregate of all their debts against defendant where one of the complainants is an infant.[97] A minor is entitled to a judgment against all persons liable, although he is entitled to only one satisfaction.[98]

In whose name judgment entered. Where an infant party is successful the judgment should be in favor of the infant and not in favor of the next friend or guardian ad litem,[99] and where he is unsuccessful the judgment should be against the infant and not against the guardian ad litem.[1] On the other hand, it has been held that in an action against a minor's tutor based on a liability of the minor judgment should properly go against the defendant as tutor.[2]

§ 122. —— Validity and Conclusiveness

a. In general
b. Judgment by default
c. Consent judgment
d. Confession of judgment
e. Decree for conveyance of land

88. Ill.—McReynolds v. Miller, 22 N.E.2d 951, 372 Ill. 151.

89. Judgment held inconsistent
Ark.—Maddox v. Hamp Williams Hardware Co., 26 S.W.2d 85, 181 Ark. 403.

90. Mo.—Talbert v. Grist, 201 S.W. 906, 198 Mo.App. 492.

91. Minn.—Johanson v. Lunda, 195 N.W. 917, 157 Minn. 260.
Recovery on disaffirmance of contract of purchase see supra § 47.

92. Judgments and decrees construed
Ill.—Sharp v. Sharp, 164 N.E. 685, 333 Ill. 267.
Ohio.—Harvey v. Sampson, App., 50 N.E.2d 423.

93. Judgment pursuant to agreement
Mass.—Wallace v. Boston Elevated Ry. Co., 80 N.E. 461, 194 Mass. 328.

94. Fla.—Grimsley v. Rosenberg, 114 So. 553, 94 Fla. 673.
Clerk's unauthorized early entry immaterial
Mass.—Wallace v. Boston Elevated Ry. Co., 80 N.E. 461, 194 Mass. 328.
Proper time
Ark.—Morgan v. Stocks, 122 S.W.2d 953, 197 Ark. 368.
Fla.—Grimsley v. Rosenberg, 114 So. 553, 94 Fla. 673.
31 C.J. p 1166 note 51 [b].

95. La.—Broussard v. Mallet, 8 Mart.,N.S., 269.

96. N.H.—Strong v. New Hampshire Box Co., 131 A. 688, 82 N.H. 221.

97. Va.—Armstrong v. Walkup, 9 Gratt. 372, 50 Va. 372.

98. Ark.—Merchants & Planters Bank & Trust Co. v. Deaton, 141 S.W.2d 543, 200 Ark. 828.

99. Tex.—Standard Motor Co. v. Stillians, Civ.App., 1 S.W.2d 332, error dismissed.
31 C.J. p 1166 note 54.
Where majority attained before judgment
Where infant attained majority pending disposition of suit, judgment could be entered in his name notwithstanding he sued by next friend.—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Crooks, Tex.Civ.App., 56 S.W.2d 476.

1. Iowa.—Tucker v. McClure, 17 Iowa 583.

2. La.—Citizens' Bank of Waynesboro, Ga., v. Hibernia Bank & Trust Co., 140 So. 705, 19 La.App. 461.

a. In General

In general an adjudication for or against an infant is at most voidable because of matters arising out of his infancy, and, except as to the time allowed to attack it, binds him as to matters directly in issue to the same extent as though he had been an adult. It cannot be attacked collaterally unless it is absolutely void, and a presumption exists in favor of its validity.

As a general rule, subject to the exceptions considered infra subdivisions a–e of this section and, in many jurisdictions, to the extended period of time in which an infant is allowed to attack the judgment, considered infra § 123 b, an infant before the court and properly represented is bound by the adjudication to the same extent as though he were an adult, as considered in the C.J.S. title Judgments § 766, also 31 C.J. p 1166 note 58–p 1167 note 59, and 34 C.J. p 990 note 44[b]. It follows that infancy cannot be pleaded to an action on a judgment,[3] and that the judgment is not absolutely void by the mere reason of infancy; at most it is only voidable.[4] However, an infant is not bound by the judgment of a court which did not have jurisdiction of the subject matter,[5] or of his person, considered generally in the C.J.S. title Judgments § 766, also 31 C.J. p 1167 note 65, as where he was not a party before the court,[6] or was not served with process, considered supra § 115 b (2), or in some jurisdictions where process was not served on his parent, guardian, or other specified person, considered supra § 115 b (3). Also the rule as to the conclusiveness of a judgment in an action in which the minor was represented by a next friend is subject to an exception in case of fraud, collusion, or like conduct on the part of the next friend.[7]

By the judgment a minor is concluded as to issues raised directly by the pleadings,[8] but he is not concluded as to issues only incidentally involved.[9]

The fact that a judgment is void as against an infant does not render it void as to his adult codefendants,[10] and the action of the court in setting aside a judgment for a minor will not affect a judgment entered in the same proceeding in favor of the minor's parents where the rights of action are different although arising out of the same state of facts.[11]

One who conducts a suit as guardian or next friend for an infant is not a party thereto so as to be bound by the judgment in another action brought in his own right on a cause arising out of the same facts.[12]

The fact that the person in whose favor a judgment has been obtained is an infant does not prevent the dormancy statute from running against it.[13]

Collateral attack. In general an infant has no more right to attack collaterally a judgment or decree against him than has an adult.[14] Its conclusiveness depends on whether it is void or merely voidable.[15] In conformity with the rule applicable to judgments generally, considered in the C.J.S. title Judgments § 401, also 34 C.J. p 511 note 46–p 514 note 57, unless it is wholly void it cannot be attacked collaterally.[16] If void it has no effect as an estoppel,[17] and is subject to collateral attack,[18] pro-

2. Ind.—Cohee v. Baer, 32 N.E. 920, 134 Ind. 375, 39 Am.S.R. 270.
31 C.J. p 1167 note 60.

4. Mo.—Reineman v. Larkin, 121 S.W. 307, 222 Mo. 156.
Wash.—Kongsbach v. Casey, 120 P. 108, 66 Wash. 643.

5. Mo.—Boone v. Oetting, 114 S.W. 2d 981, 342 Mo. 269.

No estoppel from payment to guardian

Where claim to realty was made under a void partition sale wherein land was sold to life tenant and proceeds of sale distributed among remaindermen, the minor child of a deceased remainderman, who was represented by guardian ad litem in partition suit and whose share therein had been paid to guardian, was not estopped to assert interest in land, in absence of showing that child had knowledge that payment was for her interest in land, even if payment by guardian to child was presumed.—Boone v. Oetting, supra.

6. Ala.—Amann v. Burke, 186 So. 769, 237 Ala. 380.
Ark.—Moudy v. Bradley, 140 S.W.2d 113, 200 Ark. 630.

7. Ga.—Nelson v. Estill, 9 S.E.2d 73, 190 Ga. 235.
Fraud or collusion as constituting ground for setting judgment aside see infra § 123 d.

8. Ala.—Matthews v. Lovelady, 100 So. 855, 211 Ala. 495.
Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, 97 S.W.2d 454, 20 Tenn.App. 233.

9. Tenn.—Hodges v. Hale, supra.

10. Ky.—Carney v. Yocum, 195 S.W. 482, 176 Ky. 173.
N.Y.—Belcher v. Haskell, 292 N.Y.S. 387, 249 App.Div. 251.
Okl.—Fowler v. Humphrey Inv. Co., 286 P. 867, 142 Okl. 221.
Tex.—Austin v. First State Bank & Trust Co., Civ.App., 275 S.W. 156.

11. Pa.—Rebic v. Gulf Refining Co., 186 A. 236, 122 Pa.Super. 149.

12. N.C.—Rabil v. Farris, 196 S.E. 321, 213 N.C. 414.

13. Ga.—Williams v. Merritt, 34 S.E. 212, 109 Ga. 213.

14. Cal.—Stevens v. Kelley, 134 P. 2d 56, 57 Cal.App.2d 318.
Iowa.—Reinsurance Life Co. of America v. Houser, 227 N.W. 116, 208 Iowa 1226.
31 C.J. p 1167 note 64.

15. Okl.—Conner v. Bartlett, 238 P. 411, 111 Okl. 8, certiorari denied 46 S.Ct. 101, 269 U.S. 573, 70 L.Ed. 419, and error dismissed 47 S.Ct. 447, 273 U.S. 661, 71 L.Ed. 827.

16. Ohio.—Kinsinger v. Cummins, 182 N.E. 524, 42 Ohio App. 468.

17. Okl.—Conner v. Bartlett, 238 P. 411, 111 Okl. 8, certiorari denied 46 S.Ct. 101, 269 U.S. 573, 70 L.Ed. 419, and error dismissed 47 S.Ct. 447, 273 U.S. 661, 71 L.Ed. 827.

18. Ark.—Dalton v. Bradley Lumber Co., 205 S.W. 695, 135 Ark. 392.
Ill.—Sharp v. Sharp, 164 N.E. 685, 338 Ill. 267.
Tex.—Newton v. Easterwood, Civ.App., 154 S.W. 646.

vided its invalidity is apparent on the face of the record.[19] If, however, it is merely voidable, regardless of how irregular or erroneous it may be, it is conclusive until reversed or set aside in some appropriate proceeding[20] and cannot be attacked collaterally.[21] Thus, if the court had jurisdiction of the subject matter and of the person, the proceedings are not void even though they were irregular,[22] or the court erred in the application of the law to the case,[23] and regardless of how erroneous it may be in other respects the judgment or decree will be sustained against collateral attack;[24] but where the court does not have jurisdiction,[25] as where it does not have jurisdiction of the subject matter,[26] the judgment or decree may be attacked collaterally. A judgment in an action by an infant by his next friend, in the absence of a charge of misconduct against the next friend, is not subject to collateral attack.[27]

A default[28] or consent[29] judgment or decree, whether held improper and erroneous as such in proceedings to which minors are parties,[30] or valid and binding,[31] cannot be attacked collaterally on grounds based on its consent or default nature; but where such a judgment or decree is void and that fact is apparent from the records it is subject to collateral attack.[32]

Where, in a proceeding for the sale of a decedent's land to pay debts, a defendant, although not a minor, is brought before the court by a guardian ad litem, such defendant cannot, after appearing before the commissioners and failing to object to the appointment of the guardian ad litem, attack

Jurisdiction proper subject of inquiry

Court in which decree against minor defendants of court of another jurisdiction is attacked as void may inquire whether court had jurisdiction of such defendants.—Salinas v. Jones, D.C.Tex., 60 F.2d 1049.

19. Ark.—Kuykendall v. Zachary, 16 S.W.2d 590, 179 Ark. 478.
Cal.—Stevens v. Kelley, 134 P.2d 56, 57 Cal.App.2d 318.
Ky.—Goosling v. Varney's Trustee, 105 S.W.2d 178, 268 Ky. 394—May v. Sword, 33 S.W.2d 314, 236 Ky. 412.
La.—Matthews v. Olla State Bank, 114 So. 98, 164 La. 463.
N.C.—Butler v. Winston, 27 S.E.2d 124, 223 N.C. 421.

How invalidity determined

Whether judgment is void on its face must be determined from consideration of judgment roll alone.—Stevens v. Kelley, 134 P.2d 56, 57 Cal.App.2d 318.

20. Ark.—James v. Wade, 141 S.W. 2d 13, 200 Ark. 786.
Ga.—Hargrove v. Youmans, 183 S.E. 564, 181 Ga. 614.
Ill.—Millard v. Marmon, 7 N.E. 468, 116 Ill. 649.
Iowa.—Reinsurance Life Co. of America v. Houser, 227 N.W. 116, 208 Iowa 1226.
Okl.—Conner v. Bartlett, 238 P. 411, 111 Okl. 3, certiorari denied 46 S. Ct. 101, 269 U.S. 573, 70 L.Ed. 419, and error dismissed 47 S.Ct. 447, 273 U.S. 661, 71 L.Ed. 827.
W.Va.—Musick v. Musick, 138 S.E. 458, 104 W.Va. 27.
31 C.J. p 1167 note 63.

Statute extending time for redemption by infants inapplicable

If infant owners are properly before the court and represented by guardian ad litem in suit to foreclose tax certificate, they are bound by judgment, since statute relating to right of infant to redeem within one year after expiration of disability has no application.—Hill v. Street, 1 S.E.2d 850, 215 N.C. 312.

Judgments held conclusive on infant

Ala.—Matthews v. Lovelady, 100 So. 855, 211 Ala. 495.
Miss.—Phelps v. Port Gibson Oil Works, 181 So. 135, 182 Miss. 735.
N.Y.—In re Sciscente's Estate, 2 N.Y.S.2d 230, 166 Misc. 162—In re Lachenmeyer's Estate, 258 N.Y.S. 641, 144 Misc. 678.
Tex.—Fowler v. Roden, 105 S.W.2d 187, 129 Tex. 599, affirming, Civ. App., 76 S.W.2d 858—Austin v. First State Bank & Trust Co., Civ. App., 275 S.W. 156.
Va.—Gimbert v. Norfolk Southern R. Co., 148 S.E. 680, 152 Va. 684.

21. U.S.—Colt v. Colt, Conn., 4 S. Ct. 553, 111 U.S. 566, 28 L.Ed. 520.
Ill.—Millard v. Marmon, 7 N.E. 468, 116 Ill. 649.
Ind.—Cohee v. Baer, 32 N.E. 920, 134 Ind. 375, 39 Am.S.R. 270.
Ky.—May v. Sword, 33 S.W.2d 314, 236 Ky. 412—Cain v. Hall, 278 S. W. 152, 211 Ky. 817.
N.H.—Strong v. New Hampshire Box Co., 131 A. 688, 82 N.H. 221.
N.C.—Smith v. Gray, 21 S.E. 200, 116 N.C. 311.
Ohio.—Kinsinger v. Cummins, 182 N. E. 524, 42 Ohio App. 468.

22. Fla.—Polk v. Chase Nat. Co., 162 So. 521, 120 Fla. 242.
Ill.—Millard v. Marmon, 7 N.E. 468, 116 Ill. 649.
Ky.—May v. Sword, 33 S.W.2d 314, 236 Ky. 412.
N.C.—England v. Garner, 90 N.C. 197.
Effect of lack of representation by guardian or next friend see supra § 108 b.

After appearance and trial de novo on appeal

U.S.—Palmer v. Palmer, D.C.Conn., 31 F.Supp. 861.

23. Ill.—Millard v. Marmon, 7 N.E. 468, 116 Ill. 649.

24. U.S.—McCampbell v. Warrich Corporation, C.C.A.Ill., 109 F.2d 115, certiorari denied 60 S.Ct. 1077, 310 U.S. 631, 84 L.Ed. 1401, rehearing denied 61 S.Ct. 55, second case, 311 U.S. 612, 85 L.Ed. 388, and 61 S.Ct. 1089, 313 U.S. 599, 85 L.Ed. 1551.
Ill.—Millard v. Marmon, 7 N.E. 468, 116 Ill. 649—Allman v. Taylor, 101 Ill. 185.
Mich.—Dudex v. Sterling Brick Co., 212 N.W. 92, 237 Mich. 470.

25. Ark.—Dalton v. Bradley Lumber Co., 205 S.W. 695, 135 Ark. 392.
Mich.—Dudex v. Sterling Brick Co., 212 N.W. 92, 237 Mich. 470.

26. Mass.—Welch v. King, 181 N.E. 846, 279 Mass. 445.

27. Tex.—Benavides v. Garcia, Civ. App., 283 S.W. 611, affirmed, Com. App., 290 S.W. 739.

28. U.S.—Seay v. Hawkins, C.C.A. Okl., 17 F.2d 710.
N.J.—Springgarden Building & Loan Ass'n of Nutley v. Fusaro, 1 A.2d 320, 124 N.J.Eq. 205.

29. U.S.—Seay v. Hawkins, C.C.A. Okl., 17 F.2d 710.
Consent judgment as merely voidable see infra subdivision c of this section.

30. Ky.—Brooks v. Stuart, 37 S.W. 2d 56, 238 Ky. 235.
N.C.—Rawls v. Mayo, 79 S.E. 298, 163 N.C. 177.

31. U.S.—Dickson v. Neal, C.C.A. Ark., 2 F.2d 533, certiorari denied 46 S.Ct. 19, 269 U.S. 556, 70 L.Ed. 409.

32. N.C.—Butler v. Winston, 27 S. E.2d 124, 223 N.C. 421—Wyatt v. Berry, 170 S.E. 131, 205 N.C. 118.

the proceedings collaterally by proof that he was not a minor when his answer was taken.[33]

